

A.I.R. COMMENTARIES

THE TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT

Vol. 2

MANOHAR & CHITALEY

AIR Commentaries

The TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT

(IV of 1882)

WITH EXHAUSTIVE, ANALYTICAL AND CRITICAL COMMENTARIES

6th (2001) Edition
(In 3 Volumes)

VOLUME 2
SECTIONS 52—104

By
Manohar and Chitale

ALL INDIA REPORTER PVT. LTD.
CONGRESS NAGAR, NAGPUR

[Vol. 2] 6 T. P. Act Contents/1(1) (8 Pp)

FIRST EDITION, 1943
SECOND EDITION, 1945
THIRD EDITION, 1950
FOURTH EDITION, 1968
FIFTH EDITION, 1984
SIXTH EDITION, 2001

Printed by P. V. Chitaley at the All India Reporter
Rotary Printing Press &
Published by S. W.
Chitaley on behalf of and in the name of All India Reporter Pvt. Ltd., Congress Nagar, Nagpur-12.

No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise without the prior permission of the publisher.

The Statute Law and Case Law herein stated are as on 12th November, 2002

ALL INDIA REPORTER PVT. LTD.

Post Box No. 209, Congress Nagar, Nagpur-440 012

Phone Nos. : 2534321, 2525123

Fax : 091-712-2526283

Registered Office :- Meadows House, Nagindas Master Road, Fort, Mumbai-400 023

Please Note :- Although due care and caution have been taken to avoid any mistakes, errors or omissions while editing, printing and publishing the Statutes, Law points or matter published in these commentary. Readers should verify its correctness respectively from the concerned Gazette, full text of the certified copy of Judgment. Neither the Author nor the Company nor its Officers, Editors, Directors, Printers or Publishers be held responsible or liable in any manner for any damage or loss caused to its Subscribers/ Readers or any other persons concerned in any way due to mistakes, errors or omissions occurring despite care and caution. For binding mistake, misprints or missing pages the Publisher's liability is limited to replacement within one month of purchase. The sale of this commentary is subject to the abovesaid terms and conditions.

— All India Reporter Pvt. Ltd.

GENERAL CONTENTS

	Page
Preface	v
Contents	vi
Abbreviations	viii
The Commentary (Sections 52 to 104)	1-1235

PREFACE TO SIXTH EDITION

The Transfer of Property Act, 1882 covers almost the whole ground occupied by law relating to transfer inter vivos of interests in property. With speedy urbanisation; spurt in construction activities and rising prices of agricultural lands and residential sites, and the complexities of transactions relating to immovable properties, it is essential for those dealing in the matter to understand and comprehend properly the fundamentals relating to property rights.

A large number of decisions, rendered both by the Supreme Court and the High Courts for about 16 years since previous Edition are incorporated in this Edition. Special care is taken to include latest case law in the Commentary. The statute law is also updated by incorporating the Central and State amendments. The proposition given in the Commentary are abundantly supported by Footnotes so as to comprehensively illustrate the ratios underlying those decisions.

Topical Index is given in Third Volume so as to facilitate easy and quick search of the required subject.

We hope to receive liberal patronage from the Bar and the Bench, as usual.

We record our appreciation to Shri D. V. Thakre, Retd. Asstt. Editor, AIR Pvt. Ltd., for rendering help in revising and bringing out this Edition.

D/- 13-08-2001

V. R. Manohar

CONTENTS

Sections	Pages
52. Transfer of Property pending suit relating thereto.	1
53. Fraudulent transfer.	80
53A. Part performance.	147
CHAPTER III OF SALES OF IMMOVEABLE PROPERTY
54. "Sale" defined.	216
Sale how made.	216
Contract for sale.	216
55. Rights and liabilities of buyer and seller.	293
56. Marshalling by subsequent purchaser.	380
Discharge of Incumbrances on Sale
57. Provision by Court for incumbrances and sale freed therefrom.	392
CHAPTER IV OF MORTGAGES OF IMMOVEABLE PROPERTY AND CHARGES
58. "Mortgage", "mortgagor", "mortgagee", "mortgage-money" and "mortgage-deed" defined.	398
Simple mortgage.	398
Mortgage by conditional sale.	399
Usufructuary mortgage.	399
English mortgage.	399
Mortgage by deposit of title-deeds.	399
Anomalous mortgage.	399
59. Mortgage when to be by assurance.	548
59A. References to mortgagors and mortgagees to include persons deriving title from them.	575
Rights and Liabilities of Mortgagor
60. Right of mortgagor to redeem.	578
Redemption of portion of mortgaged property.	578
60A. Obligation to, transfer to third party instead of retransference to mortgagor.	694
60B. Right to inspection and production of documents.	696
61. Right to redeem separately or simultaneously.	697
62. Right of usufructuary mortgagor to recover possession.	706
63. Accession to mortgaged property.	718
Accession acquired in virtue of transferred ownership.	718
63A. Improvements to mortgaged property.	727
64. Renewal of mortgaged lease.	737
65. Implied contracts by mortgagor.	739
65A. Mortgagor's power to lease.	748
66. Waste by mortgagor in possession.	755
Rights and Liabilities of Mortgagee
67. Right to foreclosure or sale.	758

Sections	Pages
67A. Mortgagee when bound to bring one suit on several mortgages.	792
68. Right to sue for mortgage-money	800
69. Power of sale when valid.	835
69A. Appointment of receiver.	857
70. Accession to mortgaged property.	865
71. Renewal of mortgaged lease.	870
72. Rights of mortgagee in possession.	873
73. Right to proceeds of revenue sale or compensation on acquisition.	891
74. [Repealed].	905
75. [Repealed].	906
76. Liabilities of mortgagee in possession	906
Loss occasioned by his default.	907
77. Receipts in lieu of interest.	953
Priority
78. Postponement of prior mortgagee.	959
79. Mortgage to secure uncertain amount when maximum is expressed	972
80. [Repealed].	978
Marshalling and Contribution
81. Marshalling securities.	978
82. Contribution to mortgage-debt.	983
Deposit in Court
83. Power to deposit in Court money due on mortgage.	1013
Right to money deposited by mortgagor.	1013
84. Cessation of interest.	1034
85 to 90. [Repealed].	1055
Redemption
91. Persons who may sue for redemption	1055
92. Subrogation.	1091
93. Prohibition of tacking.	1135
94. Rights of mesne mortgagee.	1138
95. Right of redeeming co-mortgagor to expenses.	1140
96. Mortgage by deposit of title-deeds.	1146
97. [Repealed].	1148
Anomalous Mortgages
98. Rights and liabilities of parties to anomalous mortgages	1148
99. [Repealed].	1155
Charges
100. Charges.	1155
101. No merger in case of subsequent encumbrance.	1210
Notice and Tender
102. Service or tender on or to agent.	1227
103. Notice, etc., to or by person incompetent to contract.	1230
104. Power to make rules.	1233

Abbreviations Relating to Indian Law Reports

- A.C.C. ... Accident & Compensation Cases.
 A.C.J. ... Accident Claims Journal.
 A.H.C.R. ... Agra High Court Reports.
 A.I.H.C. ... All India High Court Cases (Published by AIR)
 A.I.R. ... 1914 All., Bom., etc. ... All India Reporter, Allahabad, Bombay etc., sections of the respective years.
 A.I.R. (N.O.C.) ... All India Reporter (Notes of Cases) (All., Andh. Pra.) etc.
 A.I.R. (N.S.C.) ... All India Reporter (Notes of Supreme Court Cases).
 A.I.R. (N.U.C.) (All) (Andh) ... All India Reporter (Notes of Unreported Cases) (Allahabad, Andh. Pra. etc.)
 A.I.R S.C.W. ... All-India Reporter Supreme Court Weekly (Published by AIR)
 A.D. (SC) ... Apex Decisions (Supreme Court).
 A.D. (Delhi) ... Apex Decisions (Delhi)
 A.I.T.C. ... All India Tribunal Cases.
 A.M.L.J. ... Ajmer-Merwara Law Journal.
 A.T.C. ... Administrative Tribunal Cases.
 A.T.R. ... Administrative Tribunal Reporter.
 A.T.L.T. ... Administrative Tribunals Law Times.
 All or I.L.R. All ... Indian Law Reports, Allahabad Series.
 All. A.C. (Cri) ... Allahabad Appeal Cases (Criminal).
 All. C.J. ... Allahabad Civil Journal.
 All. Cr. C. ... Allahabad Criminal Cases.
 All. Cri. L.J. ... Allahabad Criminal Law Journal.
 All. Cr. R. ... Allahabad Criminal Reports.
 All. Cri. R. ... Allahabad Criminal Rulings.
 All. L.J. ... Allahabad Law Journal, (Published by A.I.R.)
 All. L.J. (N.O.C.) ... Allahabad Law Journal (Notes of Cases), (Published by A.I.R.)
 All. L.R. ... Allahabad Law Reports.
 All. L.T. ... Allahabad Law Times.
 All. Ren. Cas ... Allahabad Rent Cases.
 All. Cri. L.R. ... All India Criminal Law Reporter.
 All. Serv. Rep. ... All India Services Reports.
 All. Tax J. ... Allahabad Tax Judgments.
 All. W.C. ... Allahabad Weekly Cases.
 All. W.N. ... Allahabad Weekly Notes.
 All. W.R. ... Allahabad Weekly Reporter.
 All. Mah. L.R. ... All Maharashtra Law Reporter.
 I.L.R. Andhra (Andh Pra.) ... Indian Law Reports, Andhra (Andhra Pradesh) Series.
 Andh. L.D. ... Andhra Legal Decisions.
 A.P.L.J. ... Andhra Pradesh Law Journal.
 A.P.L.J. (Cri.) ... Andhra Pradesh Law Journal (Criminal).
 Andh. L.T. ... Andhra Law Times.
 Andh. W.R. ... Andhra Weekly Reporter.
 Aps. Labour Cases ... Aps. Labour Cases.
 A.T.R. or ArbiTLR ... Arbitration and Trade Mark Law Reporter.
 Arbi. L.R. ... Arbitration Law Reporter.
 Arbi. L.R. ... Arbitration Law Reporter with Trade Mark Cases.
 I.L.R. Assam ... India Law Reports, Assam Series.
 Assam L.R. ... Assam Law Reports.
 Bank. C. ... Banking Cases.
 Bank C.L.R. ... Banking Commercial Law Reporter.
 Bank. J. ... Banker's Journal.
 Bank. L.J. ... Baking Law Judgment.
 Bank. L.R. ... Banking Law Reporter.
 Beng. L.R. ... Bengal Law Reports.
 B.B.C.J. ... Bihar Bar Council Journal.
 Bihar Cri. C. ... Bihar Criminal Cases.
 B.L.J. or Bihar L.J. ... Bihar Law Judgments.
 B.L.J.R. or Bihar L.J.R. ... Bihar Law Journal Reports.
 B.L.T. (Rep.) or Bihar L.T. (Rep) ... Bihar Law Times (Reports).
 B.R. ... Bihar Reports.
 B.R.L.J. ... Bihar Revenue and Labour Journal.
 Bom. or I.L.R. Bom ... Indian Law Reports, Bombay Series.
 Bom. C.J. ... Bombay Civil Journal
 Bom. C.R. ... Bombay Cases Reporter.
 B.H.C.R. or Bom. H.C.R. ... Bombay High Court Reports.
 Bom. L.R. ... Bombay Law Reporter.
 Bom. P.J. ... Bombay Printed Judgments.
 Bom. R.C. ... Bombay Rent Cases.
 Bur. L.J. ... Burma Law Journal.
 Bur. L.R. ... Burma Law Reports.
 Bur. L.T. ... Burma Law Times.
 Cal. or I.L.R. Cal ... Indian Law Reports Calcutta Series.
 Cal. Cri. L.R. ... Calcutta Criminal Law Reports.
 Cal. H.N. or Cal. H.C.N. ... Calcutta High Court Notes.
 Cal. L.J. ... Calcutta Law Journal.
 Cal. L.R. ... Calcutta Law Reports.
 Cal. L.T. ... Calcutta Law Times.
 Cal. Tax. C. ... Calcutta Tax Cases.
 Cal. W.N. ... Calcutta Weekly Notes.
 Cal. W.N. (D.R.) ... Calcutta Weekly Notes (Dacca Reports).
 Cencus (Now E.C.R.) ... Excise & Customs Reporter.
 C.P.L.R. ... Central Provinces Law Reports.
 Chand. Cri. C. ... Chandigarh Criminal Cases.
 Chand. L.R. ... Chandigarh Law Reporter.
 Chand L.R. (Cri.) ... Chandigarh Law Reports (Criminal).

- Civ. App. J (SC) ... Civil Appeals Judgments (Supreme Court).
- Civil. C.C. ... Civil Court Cases
- Civil L.J. ... Civil Law Journal.
- Civil L. Jud ... Civil Law Judgments.
- Com. Cas ... Company Cases.
- Com L.J. ... Company Law Journal.
- Com. N.R. ... Company News and Reporter.
- Co-op. L.J. ... Co-operative Law Journal.
- Co-op. L.R. ... Co-operative Law Reporter.
- Co-op. T.D. ... Co-operative Tribunal Decisions.
- Co-op. T.J. ... Co-operative Tribunal Journal.
- Crimes ... Crimes.
- Cri. App. Rep. (S.C.) ... Criminal Appeals Reporter (Supreme Court).
- Cri. C.J. ... Criminal Court Judgment
- Cri. L.C. ... Criminal Law Cases.
- Cr. or Cri. L.J. ... Criminal Law Journal (Published by A.I.R.).
- Cri. L.J. (N.O.C.) ... Criminal Law Journal (Notes of Cases) (All., Andh. Pra., etc.) (Published by A.I.R.)
- Cri. L.R. (S.C., Guj. & Mah.) ... Criminal Law Reporter (Supreme Court, Gujarat and Maharashtra).
- Cri. L.R. (S.C., M.P.) ... Criminal Law Reports (Supreme Court, Madhya Pradesh).
- Cri. L.R. (Raj.) ... Criminal Law Reports (Rajasthan).
- Cri. L.T. ... Criminal Law Times (Punj.).
- Cur. C.C. ... Current Civil Cases.
- Cur. C.L.J. ... Current Civil Law Judgments.
- Cur. Cri. J. ... Current Criminal Judgments.
- Cur. Cri. R. ... Current Criminal Reports.
- Cur. I.S. (I.J.) ... Current Indian Statutes (Important Judgments).
- Cur. L.R. ... Current Labour Reports.
- Cur. L.J. (CCR) ... Current Law Journal (Civil, Criminal & Revenue).
- Cur. L.J. (Tax.) ... Current Law Journal (Taxation).
- Cur. S.N.R. ... Current Sales Tax News and Reports.
- Cur. Serv. J. ... Current Service Journal.
- C.T.C. ... Current Tamil Nadu Cases.
- Cur. Tax. Rep. ... Current Tax Reporter.
- I.L.R. Cut ... Indian Law Reports, Cuttack Series.
- Cut. L.R. (Cri.) ... Cuttack Law Reports (Criminal).
- Cut. L.T. ... Cuttack Law Times.
- Cut. W.R. ... Cuttack Weekly Reports.
- D.E.C. ... Doabia's Election Cases.
- Delhi or I.L.R. Delhi ... Indian Law Reports Delhi Series
- D.L. ... Delhi Lawyer.
- D.L.T. ... Delhi Law Times.
- D.M.C. ... Divorce and Matrimonial Cases.
- D.R.J. ... Delhi Rent Judgments
- D. Rep. J. ... Delhi Reported Judgments
- E.P. or East Punj ... East Punjab,
- I.L.R. E.P. or East Punj ... Indian Law Reports, East Punjab Series.
- East Cri. C. ... Eastern Criminal Cases.
- East L.R. ... Eastern Law Reporter.
- Ed. Cas. ... Education Cases.
- E.S.C. ... Education and Service Cases.
- E.L.Rs. ... Election Law Reports (Delhi).
- E.L.J. (L.S.) ... Epitomised Legal Judgments (Labour & Service).
- Ex. C.C. ... Excise and Customs Cases.
- Ex. C.R. ... Excise and Customs Reporter.
- Ex. F.R. ... Excise and Food Adulteration Reports.
- Ex. L.T. ... Excise and Law Times.
- F.A.C. ... Prevention of Food Adulteration Cases.
- F.A.J. ... Prevention of Food Adulteration Journal.
- F.C.R. ... Federal Court Reports.
- F.J.R. ... Factories Journal Reports.
- F.L.J. ... Federal Law Journal.
- Fac. L.R. ... Factories and Labour Reports.
- Gau. L.R. ... Gauhati Law Reporter.
- Goa. L.T. ... Goa Law Times.
- G.O.C. (SC.) ... Gist of Cases (Supreme Court)
- I.L.R. Guj ... Indian Law Reports, Gujarat Series.
- Guj. Cri. R. ... Gujarat Criminal Reporter.
- Guj. H.C.R. ... Gujarat High Court Reporter.
- Guj. L.H. ... Gujarat Law Herald.
- Guj. L.R. ... Gujarat Law Reporter.
- Har. Rent R. ... Haryana Rent Reporter.
- H.P. or I.L.R. Him. Pra. ... India Law Reports, Himachal Pradesh Series.
- Hindu L.R. ... Hindu Law Reporter.
- Hyd. or I.L.R. Hyd. ... Indian Law Reports, Hyderabad Series.
- H.R. ... Hyde's Reports.
- I.T.A.T.R. ... Income-tax Appellate Tribunal Reporter.
- I.T.C. ... Income-tax Tribunal Cases.
- I.T.J. ... Income-tax Journal.
- I.T.R. ... Income-tax Reports.
- I.T.D. or I.T.T.D. ... Income-tax Tribunal Decisions.
- Ind. App. ... Law Reports, Indian Appeals.
- Ind. Cas. ... Indian Cases.
- I.C.C. ... Indian Civil Cases.
- I.J.R. ... Indian Judgment Reporter.
- I.J.R. ... Indian Judicial Reports See Reports.
- Ind. Tax. Cas. ... Indian Tax Cases.
- I.C.R. ... Industrial Court Reporter.
- Ind. J. ... Indian Jurist.
- Ind. R. ... Indian Rulings.
- Int. L.R. ... International Law Reporter.
- Jab. L.J. ... Jabalpur Law Journal.

- J. & K.L.R. ... Jammu & Kashmir Law Reports.
 J.L.R. or Jaipur L.R. ... Jaipur Law Reports.
 J.S.C.T.L. ... Journal of Shipping, Customs and Transport Laws.
 J.T. ... Judgment Today.
 Karachi or I.L.R. Karachi ... Indian Law Reports, Karachi Series.
 Kant or I.L.R. Kant ... Indian Law Reports, Karnataka Series.
 Kant. L.C. ... Karnataka Law Chronicle.
 Kant. L.J. ... Karnataka Law Journal.
 Kant. Serv. L.J. ... Karnataka Service Law Journal.
 Kash. L.J. ... Kashmir Law Journal.
 Kerala or I.L.R. Ker. ... Indian Law Reports, Kerala Series.
 Ker. H.C.N. ... Kerala High Court Notes.
 Ker. L.J. ... Kerala Law Journal.
 Ker. L.J. (Tax) ... Kerala Law Journal (Tax Cases).
 Ker. L.R. ... Kerala Law Reports.
 Ker. L.T. ... Kerala Law Times.
 Lab. A.C. ... Labour Appeal Cases.
 Lab. I.C. ... Labour and Industrial Cases (Published by A.I.R.).
 Lab. I.C. (N.O.C.) (All.) (Bom.) ... Labour and Industrial Cases (Notes of Cases) Allahabad, Bombay, etc. (Published by A.I.R.).
 Lab. L.J. ... Labour Law Journal.
 Lab. L.N. ... Labour Law Notes.
 Lab. L.R. ... Labour Law Reporter.
 Lah. or I.L.R. Lahore ... Indian Law Reports, Lahore.
 Lahore L.J. ... Lahore Law Journal.
 Lah. L.T. ... Lahore Law Times.
 L.A.C.C. ... Land Acquisition & Compensation Cases.
 Land L.R. ... (All India) Land Laws Reporter.
 L.J.R. ... Latest Judicial Reports.
 L.R. ... Law Reporter (All).
 Law. Rep. ... Law Reports (Mys.).
 L.S. (A.P.) ... Law Summary (Andhra Pradesh).
 Lawyers ... Lawyers.
 L.R.S. (Punjab) ... Punjab Legal Reports & Statutes.
 Legal Surv. ... Legal Surveyor.
 Low. Bur. R. ... Lower Burma Rulings.
 Luck or I.L.R. Luck ... Indian Law Reports, Lucknow Series.
 Luck. L.J. ... Lucknow Law Journal.
 Luck. L.T. ... Lucknow Law Times.
 Madh. B. or M.B. ... Madhya Bharat
 I.L.R. Madh. B. ... Indian Law Reports, Madhya Bharat Series.
 Madh. B.L.J. ... Madhya Bharat Law Journal.
 Madh. B.L.R. ... Madhya Bharat Law Reporter.
 I.L.R. M.P. ... Indian Law Reports, Madhya Pradesh.
 M.P.C. ... Madhya Pradesh Cases.
 M.P.L.J. ... Madhya Pradesh Law Journal.
 M.P.L.T. ... Madhya Pradesh Law Times.
 M.P.R.C.J. ... Madhya Pradesh Rent Control Journal.
 M.P.W.R. ... Madhya Pradesh Weekly Reporter.
 Mad. or I.L.R. Mad. ... Indian Law Reports, Madras Series.
 Mad. H.C.R. ... Madras High Court Reports.
 Mad. L.J. ... Madras Law Journal.
 Mad. L.J. (Cri.) ... Madras Law Journal (Criminal).
 Mad. L. Tim. ... Madras Law Times.
 Mad. L.W. ... Madras Law Weekly.
 Mad. L.W. (Cri.) ... Madras Law Weekly (Criminal).
 Mad. W.N. ... Madras Weekly Notes.
 Mah. Cri. R. ... Maharashtra Criminal Reporter.
 Mah. L.J. ... Maharashtra Law Journal.
 Mah. L.R. ... (Braham) Maharashtra Law Reporter.
 Marr. L.J. ... Marriage Law Journal.
 Marwar L.R. ... Marwar Law Reporter.
 Mat. L.R. ... Matrimonial Law Reporter.
 Mer. L.R. ... Mercantile Law Reporter.
 Moo. Ind. App. ... Moore's Indian Appeals.
 Moo. P.C.C. ... Moore's Privy Council Cases.
 Mun. C.C. ... Municipalities and Corporation Cases.
 Mun. L.J. ... Municipal Law Journal.
 Mys. I.L.R. ... Indian Law Reports, Mysore Series.
 Mys. C.C.R. ... Mysore Chief Court Reporter.
 Mys. H.C.R. ... Mysore High Court Reports.
 Mys. L.J. ... Mysore Law Journal.
 Mys. L.R. ... Mysore Law Reports.
 Nag. I.L.R. ... Indian Law Reports, Nagpur Series.
 Nag. L.J. ... Nagpur Law Journal.
 Nag. L.R. ... Nagpur Law Reports.
 N.W.P.H.C.R. ... North West Provinces High Court Reports.
 O.C.R. or Orissa Cri. R. ... Orissa Criminal Reports.
 Orissa J.D. ... Orissa Judicial Decisions.
 Orissa L.R. ... Orissa Law Reviews.
 Oudh. Cas. ... Oudh. Cases.
 Oudh. L.J. ... Oudh. Law Journal.
 Oudh. L.R. ... Oudh. Law Reports.
 Oudh. S.C. ... Oudh. Select Cases.
 Oudh. W.N. ... Oudh. Weekly Notes.
 I.L.R. Patiala. ... Indian Law Reports, Patiala Series.
 Pat. or I.L.R. Pat. ... Indian Law Reports, Patna Series.
 Pat. H.C.C. ... Patna High Court Cases.
 Pat. L.J. ... Patna Law Journal.
 Pat. L.J.R. ... Patna Law Journal Reports.
 Pat. L.R. ... Patna Law Reporter.

- Pat. L. Tim. ... Patna Law Times.
 Pat. L.W. ... Patna Law Weekly.
 Pat. W.N. ... Patna Weekly Notes.
 Pepsu L.R. ... Pepsu Law Reports.
 I.L.R. Punj. ... Indian Law Reports, Punjab Series.
 Punj. L.J. ... Punjab Law Journal.
 Pun. L.J. (Crl.) ... Punjab Law Journal (Criminal).
 Pun. L.R. ... Punjab Law Reporter.
 Pun. L.R. (D) ... Punjab Law Reporter (Delhi).
 Pun. L.R.S. ... Punjab Legal Reports and Statutes.
 Pun. Re. ... Punjab Records.
 Pun. W.R. ... Punjab Weekly Reporter
 I.L.R. Raj. ... Indian Law Reports, Rajasthan Series.
 Raj. Cri. C. ... Rajasthan Criminal Cases.
 Rajasthan L.R. ... Rajasthan Law Reporter
 Raj L.W. ... Rajasthan Law Weekly
 Rajdhani L.R. ... Rajdhani Law Reporter.
 Rang. or I.L.R. Rang. ... Indian Law Reports, Rangoon Series.
 Rang. L.R. ... Rangoon Law Reports.
 Rat. or Ri. Un. Cr. C. ... Ratanlal's Unreported Criminal Cases.
 Rec. Civ. R. ... Recent Civil Reports.
 Rec. Cri. R. ... Recent Criminal Reports.
 Rec. Rev. R. ... Recent Revenue Reports.
 Recent Law (R) ... Recent Laws Reports
 Rent. Cas. ... Rent Cases.
 Ren. C.J. ... Rent Control Journal.
 Re. C.R. ... Rent Control Reports.
 Rent. L.R. ... Rent Law Reporter.
 Reports ... Reports
 R D. ... Revenue Decisions.
 Rev. L.R. ... Revenue Law Reporter.
 Rev. Rul. ... Revenue Rulings.
 S.T.A. ... Sales Tax Advices.
 S.T. Aff. ... Sales Tax Affairs.
 S.T.C. ... Sales Tax Cases.
 S.T.D. ... Sales Tax Tribunal Decisions.
 S T I ... Sales Tax Interpretations.
 S T L ... Sales Tax Literature.
 S T R ... Sales Tax Rulings.
 Sar. ... Saraswati's Privy Council Judgments
 Sau. L.R. ... Saurashtra Law Reporter.
 S Civ. Dec. ... Selected Civil Decisions
 S.C.T. ... Service Cases Today.
 Ser. L.C. ... Services Law Cases.
 Serv. L.J. ... Service Law Journal.
 Serv. L.R. ... Services Law Reporter.
 S.L.W.R. ... Service Law Weekly Reporter.
 Shome L.R. ... Shome's Law Reports.
 Sikkim L.J. ... Sikkim Law Journal.
 Sim. L.C. ... Simla Law Cases.
 Sim. L.J. ... Simla Law Journal.
 Sind. L.R. ... Sind Law Reporter.
 S P.J. ... Speed Post Judgments.
 Srinagar L.J. ... Srinagar Law Journal
 Supreme. ... Supreme.
 Scale. ... Supreme Court Almanac.
 Scale S.P. ... Supreme Court Almanac Short Points.
 S.C.A. ... Supreme Court Appeals.
 S.C.C. ... Supreme Court Cases.
 S.C.C. (Crl.) ... Supreme Court Cases (Criminal)
 S.C.C. (L & S) ... Supreme Court Cases (Labour & Services).
 S.C.C. (Suppl.) ... Supreme Court Cases (Supplement).
 S.C.C. (Tax.) ... Supreme Court Cases (Taxation)
 S.C.Cr. R. ... Supreme Court Criminal Rulings
 S.C.D. ... Supreme Court Decisions.
 S.C.F B R C. ... Supreme Court and Full Bench Rent Cases.
 S C J. ... Supreme Court Journal
 S C.N. or S.C. Notes ... Supreme Court Notes.
 S C R. ... Supreme Court Reports
 S C S T J. ... Supreme Court Sales Tax Judgments
 S C.W.R. ... Supreme Court Weekly Reporter.
 Suther ... Sutherland's Privy Council Judgments.
 Suth. W.R. ... Sutherland's Weekly Reporter.
 T.N L.J. ... Tamil Nadu Law Notes Journal
 T.N L.J. (Crl.) ... Tamil Nadu Law Notes Journal (Criminal)
 Tax. ... Taxation.
 Tax. Affairs. ... Tax Affairs
 Tax. Ref. ... The Tax Referencer
 Tax. B.R. ... Tax Bar Reporter.
 Tax Dec. (SC) ... Tax Decisions (Supreme Court)
 Tax. L.D. ... Tax Law Decisions
 T.L.R. or Tax. L.R. ... Taxation Law Reports (Published by A.I.R.).
 Tax. L.R. (N.O.C.) (All) (Bom). ... Taxation Law Reports (Notes of Cases) Allahabad, Bombay (Published by A.I.R.)
 Tax. L.Rev. ... Tax Law Review.
 Taxmann ... Taxmann
 Tax. Rep. ... Tax Reporter.
 Tax. Tri. J. ... [All India] Tax Tribunal Judgments
 T.A.C. ... (All India) Transport and Accidents Cases.
 I.L.R. Trav-Co. or T.C. ... Indian Law Reports, Travancore-Cochin Series
 T.C.L.R. or Trav-Co. L.R. ... Travancore-Cochin Law Reports.
 T.L.J. or Trav. L.J. ... Travancore Law Journal.
 U.C.R. (Bom.) ... Unreported Cases (Reporter) (Bombay).
 Uch. N.P. ... Uchcha Nyayalaya Nirnaya Patrika.

Um N P ... Uchchatam Nyayalaya Nirnaya Patrika
 U.P.L.R. ... United Provinces Law Reports.
 U.J. (S.C.) ... Unreported Judgments (Supreme Court).
 Upp. Bur. Rul. ... Upper Burma Rulings.
 U.P.Cri.C. ... Uttar Pradesh Criminal Cases.
 U.P.Cri. L.C. ... Uttar Pradesh Criminal Law Cases.
 U.P. Cri. L.R. ... Uttar Pradesh Criminal Law Reports.
 U.P. Cri. R. ... Uttar Pradesh Criminal Rulings.
 U.P.L.B.E.C. ... Uttar Pradesh Local Bodies and Educational Cases.
 U.P.L.R. ... Uttar Pradesh Law Reports.
 U.P.L.T. ... Uttar Pradesh Law Tribune. (Published by A.I.R.).
 U.P.L.T. (N.O.C) ... Uttar Pradesh Law Tribune (Notes of Cases) (Published by A.I.R.).
 U.P.R.C.C. ... Uttar Pradesh Rent Control Cases.

U.P.R.J. ... U.P. Rent Journal.
 U.P.S.C. ... Uttar Pradesh Services Cases.
 U.P.S.T.J. ... Uttar Pradesh Sales Tax Journal.
 U.P.T.C. ... Uttar Pradesh Tax Cases.
 V.K.N. ... Vikraya Kar Nirnaya.
 Vind. Pra. or V.P. ... Vindhya Pradesh.
 Weir. ... Weir's Criminal Rulings.
 W.L.N. ... Weekly Law Notes.
 W.L.N. (U.C.) ... Weekly Law Notes (Unreported Cases).
 W.L.C. ... Western Law Cases.
 Writ L.R. ... Writ Law Reporter.

Relating to Foreign Journals

All. E.R. ... All England Law Reports.
 Malayan. L.J. ... Malayan Law Journal.
 Pak. L.D. ... Pakistan Legal Decisions.
 Pak. L.R. (Lahore) ... Pakistan Law Reports (Lahore).
 W.L.R. ... Weekly Law Reports (English).

OTHER ABBREVIATIONS

A. or * ... Superior A or * place above the word or words in a square bracket indicates that the word or words is or are the last in the series of general adaptations directed to be made by one or more of the Adaptation Orders published in the Gazette of India from 1937 to 1957.

A.C. ... Appellate Jurisdiction, Civil.
 A.Cr. ... Appellate Jurisdiction, Criminal.
 A.L.O. ... Adaptation of Laws Order.
 App. ... Appendix or Appeal.
 Appr. ... Approved.
 Art. or A. ... Article.
 B.R. ... Board of Revenue.
 C.A. ... Court of Appeal.
 C.A.T. ... Central Administrative Tribunals.
 Civ. ... Civil.
 Cl. ... Clause.
 Cons. ... Considered.
 Cr. ... Criminal.
 Diss. ... Dissented.
 Dist. ... Distinguished.
 D.B. ... Division Bench.
 E. ... Entry.
 Expl. ... Explained.
 F.A. ... First Appeal.
 F.B. ... Full Bench.
 F.C. ... Federal Court.
 F.N. ... Foot Note.
 Foll. ... Followed.
 G.I. ... Government of India.
 I.O. ... The India (Adaptation of Existing Indian Laws) Orders, 1947.
 Illus. ... Illustrations.

J.C.R. ... Joint Committee Report
 Jour. ... Journal.
 L. ... List.
 L.P. ... Letters Patent.
 N. ... Note.
 No. ... Number.
 O. ... Order.
 O.C. ... Original Jurisdiction, Civil.
 O.Cr. ... Original Jurisdiction, Criminal.
 Over. ... Overruled.
 P. ... Page.
 Pr. or P. ... Para.
 Pt. ... Point.
 P.C. ... Privy Council.
 Pre. ... Preamble.
 R. ... Rule.
 Ref. ... Referred or Reference.
 Rel. on ... Relied on.
 R.S.C. ... Rules of Supreme Court.
 Rev. ... Revenue.
 Revers. ... Reversed.
 S. ... Section.
 S.A. ... Second Appeal.
 S.B. ... Special Bench.
 S.C. ... Supreme Court.
 S.C.R. ... Select Committee Report.
 S.O.R. ... Statement of Objects and Reasons.
 S.N. ... Short Notes of Cases.
 U.P.B.R. ... United Provinces Board of Revenue.
 w.r.e.f. ... With retrospective effect from.

IN FOOT-NOTES,—

Indicates that citation of a different case begins.

THE TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

VOLUME 2

52. TRANSFER OF PROPERTY PENDING SUIT RELATING THERETO.— During the ^A[pendency] in any Court having authority ^B[^C within the limits of India excluding the State of Jammu and Kashmir] or established beyond such limits] by ^D[the Central Government ' * * *]], of '[any] suit or proceeding ^E[which is not collusive and] in which any right to immoveable property is directly and specifically in question, the property cannot be transferred or otherwise dealt with by any party to the suit or proceeding so as to affect the rights of any other party thereto under any decree or order which may be made therein, except under the authority of the Court and on such terms as it may impose

^G[Explanation.— For the purposes of this section, the pendency of a suit or proceeding shall be deemed to commence from the date of the presentation of the plaint or the institution of the proceeding in a Court of competent jurisdiction, and to continue until the suit or proceeding has been disposed of by a final decree or order, and complete satisfaction or discharge of such decree or order has been obtained, or has become unobtainable by reason of the expiration of any period of limitation prescribed for the execution thereof by any law for the time being in force.]

- [A] Substituted for the words "active prosecution" by the Transfer of Property (Amendment) Act 1929 (XX of 1929), S. 14
- [B] Substituted for the words "in the Provinces or established beyond the limits of the Provinces" by A.O. 1950 [26-4-1950].
- [C] Substituted for the words "within the limits of Part A State and Part C States" by the Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951 (3 of 1951), S. 3 and Schedule [1-4-1951]
- [D] Substituted for the words "the Governor General in Council" by A.O. 1937 [1-4-1937]
- [E] Substituted for the words "or the Crown Representative" were omitted by A.O. 1948 [23-3-1948].
- [F] Substituted for the words "a contentious" by Act XX of 1929, S. 14
- [G] Inserted ibid

STATE AMENDMENTS

Gujarat

In its application to the State of Gujarat, the amendments made in section 52 are the same as those of Maharashtra.

Maharashtra

In its application to the pre Reorganisation State of Bombay—

- (1) the Transfer of Property and the Indian Registration (Bombay Amendment) Act, 1939, Bom XIV of 1939) shall apply to notices in respect of suits or proceedings which relate to immoveable properties situate wholly or partly in the [Greater Bombay], with effect from such date as may be directed by the State Government in this behalf by notification in the Official Gazette

Provided that the State Government may by similar notification direct that the provisions of the said Act shall apply to such notices relating to immovable properties situate wholly or partly in such other area as may be specified in the said notification

[a] Substituted for "City of Bombay" by Bom Act XVII of 1945, S. 9 and Sch. F read with Bom Act LVII of 1956, S. 3

(2) Section 52 shall be renumbered as sub-section (1) of that section and

(i) in sub-section (1) so renumbered after the word "question" the words and figures "if a notice of the pendency of such suit or proceeding is registered under section 18 of the Indian Registration Act, 1908," and after the word "property" where it occurs for the second time the word "after the notice is so registered," shall be inserted; and

(ii) after the said sub-section (1) so renumbered the following shall be inserted, namely

"(2) Every notice of pendency of a suit or a proceeding referred to in sub-section (1) shall contain the following particulars, namely :—

- (a) the name and address of the owner of immoveable property or other person whose right to the immoveable property is in question;
- (b) the description of the immoveable property the right to which is in question
- (c) the Court in which the suit or proceeding is pending,
- (d) the nature and title of the suit or proceeding,
- (e) the date on which the suit or proceeding was instituted."

—Bom Act 14 of 1939, Ss. 2 and 3 [15-6-1939]

(3) "The provisions of the Transfer of Property and the Indian Registration (Bombay Amendment) Act, 1939 (Bom 14 of 1939) which amend the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 in its application to the pre-Reorganisation State of Bombay are hereby extended to, and shall be in force in that part of the State of Bombay to which they did not extend immediately before the commencement of this Act [namely, the Transfer of Property (Bombay Provision for Uniformity and Amendment) Act, 1959], and, the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 shall from the commencement of this Act, be deemed to be amended accordingly also in that part of the State

—Bom Act LVII of 1959, S. 3 [14-10-1959]

(4) The provisions of Bom Act 14 of 1939 were extended to Shahada, Nadurbat and Taloda Talukas of West Khandesh District and Dohad Taluka and Jhalod Mahal of Panch Mahals District (now in Gujarat) by the Bombay Extension of Laws to Non-scheduled (partially excluded) Areas Act 1954 (LXVIII of 1954), S. 2 [15-11-1954].

Synopsis

1. Scope of the section.
2. Applicability of section.
3. This section and S. 51.
4. This section and res judicata.
5. This section and Government grants.
6. This section and S. 41 — See Note 16 on Section 41.
- 6A. This section and S. 100.
- 6AA. This section and S. 65-A — See Notes on S. 65-A.
7. Rights existing before suit not affected.
8. "During the pendency."
- 8A. "Suit or proceeding" — See Note 12.
9. Proceeding must be pending before a Court.
10. Pendency of suit when commences.
11. Pendency of suit, how long continues.
12. Pendency of proceeding when commences and how long it continues.
13. "Which is not collusive."
14. Right to immovable property must be directly and specifically in question.
15. Applicability of doctrine of lis pendens to movable property.
16. Only property in litigation cannot be transferred.
17. Administration suit.
18. Mortgage suits.
19. Partition suits.
20. Suits for maintenance.
- 20A. Suit for permanent injunction.
21. Pre-emption suit.
22. Suit for establishing will.
23. Suit for cancellation of trust deed.

24. Suit for specific performance of contract.
25. Winding up proceedings.
26. Suits for declaration of title.
27. "Transferred or otherwise dealt with."
28. Transfer executed before suit.
29. Transfer executed before but registered after suit.
30. Transfers by operation of law.
- 30A. Effect of provision in Tenancy Laws.
31. Transfer by or in execution of decree or order.
32. Compulsory sales for recovery of Government dues.
33. Sale under S. 88 of the Criminal Procedure Code (1898).
34. Transfer by permission of Court.
35. "So as to affect the rights of."
36. "Any party."
37. "Any other party" — Co-defendants.
38. "Any decree or order."
39. Lease pendente lite.
40. Transferee pending suit is representative of transferor — If entitled to be made party to suit
41. Injunction on party to suit not to transfer.
42. Subsequent reversal or modification of decree or order, how far affects sale in execution of such decree, or the assignment of such decree.
43. Registration of lis pendens.
44. Writ proceedings.

1. Scope of the section.

This section is an expression of the principle of the maxim pendente lite nihil innovetur (pending a litigation nothing new should be introduced) (1) and provides that pendente lite — i.e. the party to the litigation, in which any right to immovable property is in question — can alienate or otherwise deal with such property so as to affect his appointment (2) Section 52 is based on equity and good conscience and is intended to protect the parties to a litigation against alienations by their opponent during the pendency of the suit (3) The principle of lis pendens rests on the formulation that it would plainly be impossible that any action or suit could be brought to a successful termination if alienations lis pendens were permitted to prevail. The right under S. 52 can be used both as a sword and a shield depending upon the facts of the case (4) Doctrine of lis pendens is based not on the doctrine of notice but on the doctrine of expediency (5) Alienation made during pendency of suit is hit by doctrine of lis pendens (6) Where there was no transfer by one of the parties within meaning of this section, the doctrine of lis pendens incorporated under section 52 of Act would

Section 52 — Note 1

1. AIR 1932 PC 57 (60) : 54 All 189  AIR 1965 Punj 415 (420) • II R (1965) 2 Punj 97 (FB)  ILR (1959) 38 Pat 389 (421-422) (DB)  1986 All LJ 965 (969) 1986 All WC 319  AIR 1957 Pat 729 (730-731) 36 Pat 1139 (DB)  AIR 1943 Cal 227 (236) (DB)  AIR 1939 Bom 403 (404) (Doctrine applies to a suit for maintenance by a Hindu widow claiming a charge on specific property and if a decree creating a charge is passed)
2. AIR 1965 Punj 415 (420) : ILR (1965) 2 Punj 97 (FB)  1997 (2) All RC 83 (87)  1997 (3) Kant LJ 193 (211) (Where the judgment debtor is aware of the decree — he attachment before judgment and also attachment in the execution case and still sells the suit property — the transfer is intended to defeat and delay the creditors. There was also no passing of consideration. The private sale embarked upon by the judgment debtor was hit by lis pendens and no title can pass on the vendee)  II R (1973) Kant 235 • AIR 1957 Pat 729 (731) 36 Pat 1139 (DB)  1950 Trav-Co LR 23 (29) (DB)  (1926) 98 Ind Cas 1039 (1042) (DB) (Oudh).
3. AIR 1918 Mad 578 (579) • 41 Mad 458 (SB)  (1992) 2 Mad LJ 140 (143)  (1991) 2 Cur Civ Cas 50 (53) (Mad)
4. 2000 (1) All Rent Cas 189
5. 2000 (124) Pun LR 540 (541)
6. 1996 (5) SCC 539 (541)  2002 (2) Cur Civ Cas 164 (165) 2002 Cg LJ (C 44)  2000 (2) Orissa LR 512 (513)  1997 (30) All LR 441 (445)  (1973) 2 Mys LJ 176 (DB)  (1966) 1 Mys LJ 451 (Purpose of principle of lis pendens is to discountenance alienation)

not be attracted.(7) The law of lis pendens is an extension of the law of res judicata and makes the adjudication in the suit binding on alienees from parties pending suit, just as much as the law of res judicata makes the adjudication binding on the parties themselves and on alienees from them after the decree (8) Rule of lis pendens is based on equity, good conscience and justice. Rule is based not on doctrine of notice but on expediency. Rule does not annul alienation pendente lite but makes it subservient to the rights of the parties to the litigation.(9)

The effect of S 52 of the TP Act is that a lis pendens transferee is bound by the decree whether on contest, ex parte or on compromise. The plaintiff is under no obligation to implead a lis pendens transferee. Section 52 has been enacted with a view to safeguarding the interest of the plaintiff so that his decree is not defeated at the instance of a third party in whose favour there has been a lis pendens transfer.(10)

The doctrine of lis pendens is applicable in cases where the pending litigation is ultimately compromised by the parties and a compromise decree is passed in terms of the compromise (11)

The doctrine of lis pendens has been recognised in England from very ancient times (12) But the theory on which it was rested was not clearly settled until the decision in Bellamy v. Sabine (13) in 1857.

In Worsley v The Earl of Scarborough (14) decided in 1746 the Lord Chancellor rested the doctrine on 'implied notice' to the purchaser of the pending litigation. He observed as follows :

"for as it is a transaction in a sovereign Court of Justice, it is supposed all people are attentive to what passes there, and it is to prevent a greater mischief that would arise by peoples' purchasing a right under litigation, and then in contest.(15)

In Bishop of Winchester v Paine(16) decided in 1805 Sir William Grant rested the doctrine on general convenience and not on any implied notice. He observed as follows

"Ordinarily it is true, the decree of the Court binds only the parties to the suit. But he, who purchases during the pendency of the suit is bound by the decree, that may be made against the person from whom he derives title. The litigating parties are exempted from the necessity of taking any notice of made by parties to suit during its pendency exposing plaintiff in that suit to multiplicity of proceedings)  AIR 1959 Punj 490 (496)  AIR 1957 Pat 729 (731) : 36 Pat 1139 (DB)  AIR 1915 Cal 536 (538) (DB).

7. AIR 1983 Punj 321 (323).

8. AIR 1918 Mad 578 (580) : 41 Mad 458 (SB). (Section applies to auction sale as well)  (1991) 2 Ren CR 609 (611, 612) (All)  1988 Pat LJR (HC) 190  (1973) 2 Mys LJ 176 (DB) (Doctrine of lis pendens is only one aspect of general rule of res judicata)  AIR 1959 Punj 490 (496)  AIR 1957 Pat 729 (731) : 36 Pat 1139.

9 (1991) 2 Cur LJ (CCR) 345 (346) (Punj & Har)  2002 (2) Cal LJ 1 (15)  AIR 1994 Ker 122 (126) : 1994 (2) Ren CR 336.

10. AIR 1992 Orissa 47 : 1992 SCFBRC 199 (FB)  AIR 1989 Raj 43 (46, 47, 48) : (1988) 1 Rajasthan LR 466.

11. AIR 1989 Raj 43 (46, 47, 48) : (1988) 1 Rajasthan LR 466.

12. (1687) 23 ER 585 (585) : 1 Vern 459, Self v Madox  (1728) 24 ER 825 (825) : 2 P Wms 482 Sorrell v Carpenter  (1832) 58 ER 329 (335) : 5 Sim 247 London v Morris

13. (1857) 44 ER 842 : 26 LJ Ch 796.

14. (1746) 26 ER 1025 (1025) : 3 Atk 392

15. See also (1862-63) 1 Hyde 160 (168) : (1871) 15 Suth WR 372 (374) (If a purchase is made of property in litigation while such litigation is actually going on the purchaser is affected in the same manner as if he had notice of the dispute though in point of fact he had no express notice or actual knowledge of the circumstances)

16. (1805) 32 ER 1062 (1063, 1064) : 8 RR 131.

a title so acquired. As to them it is as if no such title existed. Otherwise suits would be indeterminate or which would be the same in effect, it would be in the pleasure of one party at what period the suit should be determined. The rule may sometimes operate with hardship upon those, who purchase without actual notice, yet general convenience requires its adoption, and a mortgage, taken pendente lite cannot be exempted from its operation."

The leading case on the subject is Bellamy v Sabine(17) decided in 1857. The Lord Chancellor (Lord Cranworth) observed :

"It is scarcely correct to speak of lis pendens as affecting a purchaser through the doctrine of notice though undoubtedly the language of the Courts often so describes its operation. It affects him not because it amounts to notice, but because the law does not allow litigant parties to give to others pending the litigation, rights to the property in dispute, so as to prejudice the opposite party.

"Where a litigation is pending between a plaintiff and a defendant as to the right to a particular estate the necessities of mankind require that the decision of the Court in the suit shall be binding not only on the litigant parties, but also on those who derive title under them by alienations made pending the suit whether such alienees had or had not notice of the pending proceedings. If this were not so there would be no certainty that the litigation would ever come to an end.

After referring to certain cases which were to the effect that lis pendens was implied notice to all the world, his Lordship continued :

"The language of the Court in these cases as well as in Worsely v The Earl of Scarborough(18) certainly is to the effect that lis pendens is implied notice to all the world. I confess I think that is not a perfectly correct mode of stating the doctrine. What ought to be said is that pendente lite neither party to the litigation can alienate the property in dispute so as to affect his opponent. The doctrine is not peculiar to Courts of Equity."

Turner, LJ, in the same case observed that the doctrine rested not on any peculiar tenets as to implied or constructive notice but "upon this foundation that it would be plainly impossible that any action or suit could be brought to a successful termination if alienations pendente lite were permitted to prevail.

See also the undermentioned cases(19) arising in this country following the same view. The doctrine of lis pendens as applied in England was applied in this country even before the enactment

17. (1857) 1 De G & J 566 (578) · 44 ER 842 (847-848).

18. (1746) 26 ER 1025 (1026) : 3 Ark 392.

19. (1907) 29 All 339 (345) : 10 Oudh Cas 314 (PC)  AIR 1920 Mad 391 (392) · 43 Mad 37 (SB)  AIR 1965 Punj 415 (420) : ILR (1965) 2 Punj 97 (FB)  AIR 1946 Lah 142 (144) : ILR (1946) Lah 467 (FB). (Transferee pendente lite is affected though he took the transfer without notice of the lis)  (1905) 29 Bom 435 (447) (FB)  (1880) 6 Bom 168 (173) (FB)  1981 UPTC (NOC) 16  AIR 1973 Mys 131 (133) (1973) 1 Mys LJ 130  AIR 1970 Ker 188 (189-190) · 1969 Ker LT 326 (DB)  AIR 1966 Madh Pra 328 (323)  ILR (1966) 1 Mad 538 (547)  AIR 1962 Ker 309 (312) · ILR (1962) 2 Ker 55  AIR 1962 Madh Pra 34 (35) · ILR (1960) Madh Pra 797 (DB)  AIR 1959 Bom 475 (477) · ILR (1959) Bom 94 (Notice of suit to transferee not essential)  AIR 1957 Pat 729 (731) · 36 Pat 1339 (DB)  AIR 1954 Sau 82 (84)  (1950) 55 Mys HCR 174 (178) (DB)  AIR 1949 Bom 367 (371) · ILR (1949) Bom 480 (DB)  AIR 1943 Cal 227 (230) (DB)  AIR 1937 Bom 244 (254) (DB) (Doctrine is not based upon notice but upon expediency)  AIR 1934 Mad 585 (587)  AIR 1932 Pat 270 (271) · 11 Pat 415 (DB) (Transfer was held good as it was made prior to the person's being impleaded in a property suit)  AIR 1931 Bom 539 (542)  AIR 1930 Cal 539 (543) (DB)  AIR 1929 A 943 (945) · 52 All 139 (DB) (Subsequent mortgagee paying off prior encumbrance is entitled to claim charge — Doctrine does not apply to such a case — Ohler)  AIR 1929 A 601 (602)  AIR 1928 Bom 65 (66) · 52 Bom 208 (DB)  AIR 1927 Bom 93 (95) · 51 Bom 37 (DB) (Per Fawcett J)  AIR 1925 Cal 239 (244) (DB)  AIR 1922 Pat 394 (395) · 1 Pat 5 (DB) (It is doubtful as to whether the doctrine applies to movable property)  (1913) 16 Oudh Cas 148 (152) (DB)  (1910) 13 Oudh Cas 98 (102) (DB)  (1907) 29 All 76 (81)  (1907) 9 Bom LR 1173 (1177) (DB) (Effect of the doctrine is not to annul of this Act (20) This section is merely a legislative enactment of the doctrine so applied (21) The right created by this section is a 'statutory right' and the mere fact that a person has made certain admissions against his interest would not deprive him of the right which the statute gives him If, however, a person makes certain false statements which mislead the transferee, he will not be allowed by the Courts to take advantage of his own fraud.(22)

The scope of the section was described by Pal, J of the Calcutta High Court in the undermentioned case(23) as follows :

"The requirements of the section are (1) the pendency of a suit, (2) non-collusive character of the suit, (3) any right to immovable property being in question in that suit being in question directly and specifically, (4) the other party (other than the party making the transfer pendente lite) having some right under the decree in that suit The consequence of the doctrine is that the transaction pendente lite shall not be allowed to affect the right under the decree."

In order to constitute a lis pendens the following elements must be present :—

- 1 There must be a suit or proceeding pending in a Court of competent jurisdiction having authority in India, or established beyond the limits of India by the Central Government
2. The suit or proceeding must not be collusive.
- 3 The litigation must be one in which right to immovable property is directly and specifically in question.
- 4 There must be a transfer of or otherwise dealing with the property in dispute by any party to the litigation.
- 5 Such transfer must affect the rights of the other party that may ultimately accrue under the terms of the decree or order.(24)

the conveyance but to render it subservient to the rights of the parties to the litigation) 1906 Pun Re No 7, p 17 (19) (Litigating parties are exempted from taking notice of a title acquired during the litigation)  (1903) 27 Bom 266 (268, 269) (DB) (Rule applies to Court sales)  (1901) 28 Cal 23 (27) (DB)  (1900) 23 All 60 (62) (DB)  (1891) 13 All 371 (373) (DB)  (1889) 12 Mad 439 (441, 442) (DB)  1889 All WN 91 (92) (DB)  (1888) 1 CPLR 19 (22) (Where the period of appeal was only one month, and the appeal was duly filed—held that there was all along active prosecution of the suit within the meaning of the section)  (1886) 9 Mad 92 (96) (DB)  (1882) 8 Cal 690 (698) (DB)  1877 Bom PJ 81 (DB)  (1874-1875) 7 Mad HCR 104 (111) (DB)  (1874) 22 Suth WR 547 (547) (DB)  (1874) 21 Suth WR 349 (351) (DB)  (1874) 11 Bom HCR 24 (28, 29) (DB)  (1874) 11 Bom HCR 64 (66, 67) (DB)  (1872-1873) 6 Mad HCR 75 (80) (DB)  (1872-1873) 6 Mad HCR 234 (238) (DB)

[See also AIR 1924 Bom 467 (468) (DB).]

See also Note 6A

20. (1880) 6 Bom 168 (172) (FB)  (1880) 2 All 826 (827) (DB)  (1878) 4 Cal 789 (792) (DB)  (1874) 21 Suth WR 349 (351) (DB)  (1874) 22 Suth WR 547 (547) (DB)  1874 Bom PJ 189 (DB)  (1874) 11 Bom HCR 139  (1874) 11 Bom HCR 24 (30) (DB)  (1874) 11 Bom HCR 64 (66, 67)  (1874-1875) 7 Mad HCR 610 (611) (DB) (The doctrine of lis pendens does not depend upon notice)  (1873) 10 Suth WR 469 (473) (DB)  (1873) 20 Suth WR 204 (205) (DB)  (1871) 8 Bom HCR (AC) 55 (61) (DB)  (1872-1873) 6 Mad HCR 75 (80) (DB)  (1867) 2 Suth WR 225 (226) (DB)  (1862) 63 J Hyde 160 (167)

21. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 280 (285) (DB)  AIR 1931 Oudh 63 (64) (DB).

22. (1940) 44 Cal WN 783 (786).

23. AIR 1943 Cal 227 (230) (DB)

[See also AIR 2000 Punj & Har 271 (273) (Prior possession on basis of mortgage could not be sustained when there was no mention of mortgage in the sale deed)  ILR (1984) 1 Delhi 913 (935, 936)]

24. 1988 Pat LJR (HC) 190

Transaction suit by lis pendens is not void but voidable and subject to rights under the decree
Collusive proceedings are excluded.(25)

See also the undermentioned cases to the same effect (26)

Where the suit for possession on basis of title is decreed, the transferee pending litigation is bound by the decree and could not resist execution of the decree (27)

The broad purpose of this section is to maintain the status quo unaffected by the act of any party to the litigation pending its determination. The applicability of the section cannot depend on the matters of proof or the strength or weakness of the case on one side or the other in bona fide proceedings. To apply any such test is to misconceive the object of the enactment (28)

There is no absolute rule either to grant injunction or to refuse the same on ground of lis pendens. It varies on the facts of each case.(29)

Where a person purchases property during pendency of suit, he is not entitled to take plea of bona fide purchaser for value without notice of previous agreement in view of clear bar imposed by S 52.(30)

Explanation.— Explanation cannot go beyond the section. The presentation of the plaint stated in explanation to S. 52 denotes a proper prosecution of the plaint with all necessary parties, who ought to have been added as defendants. If any necessary party is additionally impleaded the suit as against him must be deemed to have been presented and the limitation also commence only from the date when summons has been served and subject to provision of S 21 of the Limitation Act.(31)

The limitation imposed by this section on the right to dispose of property which is subject-matter of litigation is not violative of Arts 19 and 31 of the Constitution of India (32)

The doctrine of lis pendens contained in S 52 would not arrest the running of period of limitation during the pendency of the earlier suit (33) Any transaction with regard to immovable property taking place during pendency of suit would be hit by S 52 and therefore the period of limitation for challenging the sale deed independent of the provision of lis pendens cannot be taken.(34)

25. 2000 (2) Mad LJ 59 (63)  2000 AIHC 661 (672)

26. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 34 (35) · II R (1960) Madh Pra 797  (1966) 1 Mys LJ 680  AIR 1957 Pat 729 (731) · 36 Pat 1139 (DB)

27. 2000 (2) MPLJ 402 (405)

28. AIR 1948 PC 147 (149) · II R (1949) 1 Cal 234. (Where a suit ends in a compromise decree, if the section otherwise applies to the case its applicability will not be affected by the fact that the suit was based on an instrument which required registration but which was not registered — AIR 1943 Cal 227. Confirmed)  AIR 1970 SC 1717 (1722) · 1971 BLJR 86 (Doctrine of lis pendens applies irrespective of strength or weakness of the case on one side or other — There is, however, one condition that proceedings must be bona fide — If proceedings are bona fide, applicability of S 52 was not avoided AIR 1957 Pat 408. Reversed.)  1996 (1) BLJR 633 (635)  AIR 1987 Orissa 142 (145)  AIR 1957 Pat 729 (731) · 36 Pat 1139 (DB).

29. 1996 AIHC 1873 (1874) (Punj & Har).

30. 1999 (2) Cal WN 222 (224)

31. 2000 (3) Mad LW 487 (496).

32. 1967 Raj LW 234 (236)

33. 1990 Rev Dec 205 (207) (All).

34. 2002 (2) Rec Civ Rep 674 (676) · 2002 (2) Pun LR 398

Where the plaintiff failed to establish that he is the owner of the property alienated by the defendant, the doctrine of lis pendens would not be attracted (35)

2. Applicability of section.

The Act does not apply to the Punjab. This section does not therefore in terms apply to it. But the section is only an enactment of a general principle of law and, therefore, the general principles underlying the section have been applied in the Punjab (1). See also the undermentioned cases (2). The principle of this section applies to agricultural leases also (3).

The effect of S. 36(2) of the Bengal Money-lenders Act (10 of 1940) is to preclude the doctrine of lis pendens from applying in so far as it concerns restoration of possession of properties sold by the decree-holder pendente lite. (4)

The doctrine of lis pendens has no application when two creditors are pursuing their claims in two different suits unknown to each other, one being a money suit and another on a mortgage by deposit of title deeds. (5)

3. This section and Section 51.

In Vehusamy Naicker v Bommachi Naicker (1) it was observed by the High Court of Madras that a party to a pending litigation is not entitled to claim any compensation for improvements made by him pendente lite with full knowledge of the risk he runs in doing so. In Moti Chand v British India Corporation Ltd (2) where the transferee pendente lite made improvements pending litigation, it was held by the Allahabad High Court that such transferee had no right to claim any compensation from the decree-holder who ousted him under the decree. The view was rested on the principle enunciated by that Court in Shafiq v Samualla, (3) where it was observed that S. 52 was a special section and S. 41 a general provision and, in the case of a conflict between the two, the special section must prevail over the general. The Kerala High Court has held that S. 51 is not applicable to a case covered by S. 52. An alienee pendente lite cannot claim compensation for improvements made by him. Investment made by the purchaser of transaction pendente lite which is declared illegal, is no ground to deny relief to decree-holder (6).

35. 2000 (1) All Rent Cas 189

Section 52 — Note 2

1. AIR 1930 Lah 356 (357) : 11 Lah 258 (FB)  1903 Pun Re No. 80, p. 345 (349) (FB)  (1926) 96 Ind Cas 450 (451) (Lah).
2. AIR 1956 Trav-Co 147 (151) : ILR (1955) Trav-Co 823 (FB). (Though T.P. Act was not on the statute book of Travancore the rules of S. 52 were being enforced by the Courts in that area)  AIR 1951 Trav Co 187 (188) (DB) (Principles underlying S. 52 apply in Travancore-Cochin though Act does not)  ILR (1951) Trav Co 570 (574) (DB) (Though the Transfer of Property Act is not law in Travancore its principles have invariably been adopted by Courts in that State when questions covered by its provisions came up for decision.)  AIR 1942 Pesh 43 (45).
3. ILR (1955) Madh B 416 (420)  AIR 1949 All 257 (260) : ILR (1949) All 449
4. ILR (1953) 1 Cal 101 (104).
5. AIR 1977 (NOC) 343 (Mad)

Section 52 — Note 3

1. (1913) 21 Ind Cas 219 (221) (DB) (Mad)
2. AIR 1932 All 210 (214) (DB)
3. AIR 1929 All 943 (945) : 52 All 139 (DB)
4. 1958 Ker LT 557 (558).
5. AIR 1975 Punj 205 (210) : 77 Pun LR 21  (1966) 68 Pun LR (D) 44
6. 2001 (4) Pat LJ (HC) 732 (742) : 2002 (1) BLJR 63

However the A P High Court has struck a different note: it held that, the doctrine of lis pendens is based not on the doctrine of notice but of expediency. The effect of the maxim is not to annul the conveyance but only render it subservient to the rights of the parties to the litigation. The right of the alienee is subject to ultimate decree that may be passed. The doctrine applies irrespective of the fact whether the transferee has notice of the litigation or not and his rights are subject to the command of the Court. The rights of successful litigant under S. 52 is subject to the right of compensation for improvements made by the alienee. Sections 51 and 52 should be interpreted harmoniously and S. 52 cannot be interpreted in isolation (7).

See also the undermentioned case (8).

4. This section and res judicata.

As seen in note 1, the law of lis pendens is an extension of the law of res judicata and makes the adjudication in the suits binding on alienees from parties pending suit. This section however cannot prevail against the rule of res judicata. When there is an apparent conflict between the rule of lis pendens and the bar of res judicata the latter will prevail (1).

X mortgaged certain property to A on 29th June, 1909. A filed a suit on the mortgage in 1920 and obtained a decree in 1922, and on 7th November of that year purchased the property in execution of his decree. Meanwhile, on 28th October, 1920, X mortgaged the property to B. B sued on 17th July, 1924 on his mortgage making A a party to the suit. Nothing was alleged in derogation of A's right to priority under his mortgage. B obtained a decree in 1924 and purchased the property in execution of his decree in 1926. The question was, as between A and B, who had the better title. It was held that although the mortgage in favour of B was made pending A's mortgage suit and was therefore vitiated by lis pendens, nevertheless, if A was bound to have raised a plea as to his priority rights, and did not raise it, the rule of res judicata would prevail over the rule of lis pendens, but in view of the fact that A's priority right was not questioned in B's suit, it was held that he was not bound to have the plea, that the rule of res judicata did not apply, and that therefore A was entitled to the property in priority to B (2).

5. This section and Government grants.

A "Government grant" within the meaning of the Government Grants Act, 1895, is not governed by any of the provisions of this Act and is consequently not governed by this section also (1). But every transfer made by a Government Officer is not necessarily a "Government grant" within the meaning of that Act. A lease granted by a Government Officer in charge of a Khas mahal is not a "Government grant" and consequently if such lease is made pending a suit in respect of such property, the doctrine of lis pendens would apply to such lease (2).

7. 1997 (1) APLJ 41 (49, 55); 1997 (2) Andh LD 334.

8. 1969 Ker LR 52 (Purchase of land by B from A, member of Turwad pending partition suit by C another member of Turwad — B's claim for compensation for improvements — His claim not affecting C's right for partition — Doctrine of lis pendens did not apply.)

Section 52 — Note 4

1. ILR (1951) Trav-Co 32 (39) (AIR 1934 Cal 552, Rel. on 1  ILR (1966) 1 Ker 158 (Finding in earlier suit between lessee and third person that such property was not included in lease — Not binding on lessor)  AIR 1949 Bom 367, 370; 1 Ker (1949) Bom 480 (DB) (Once a judgment is duly pronounced by a competent Court in regard to the subject-matter of the suit in which the doctrine of lis pendens applies that decision is res judicata and binds not only the parties thereto but also the transferees, pendente lite from them.)

[See AIR 1982 (NOC) 42 (Cal).]

2. AIR 1934 Cal 552 (553); 61 Cal 494 (DB).

Section 52 — Note 5

1. AIR 1935 Cal 746 (747); 63 Cal 523 (DB)  AIR 1974 Pun 46 (50); 71 Pun LR 642.

2. AIR 1935 Cal 746 (747); 63 Cal 523 (DB).

6. This section and Section 41.

The plea of bona fide purchaser is not available to persons who purchase property during pendency of suit relating thereto. It is hit by doctrine of lis pendens (1) The principle embodied in S. 41 is an exception to the general rule that a person cannot pass a better title in property than he himself has and the result could be avoided only under the equitable principle of estoppel laid down in S. 41 but this principle must yield to the doctrine of lis pendens under S. 52 which is the rule of public policy otherwise such alienation during the pendency of suit will defeat the very purpose of litigation. S. 52 also binds the party who is not a party to the litigation case if it may cause hardship to him.

Thus where in spite of the direction by Court not to alienate suit property it is alienated with knowledge of the pendency of suit, the transferee cannot claim protection under S. 41 of the T.P. Act. (2)

See also Note 16 on Section 41.

6A. This section and S. 100.

Where in a suit for maintenance the plaintiff seeks a charge over the property and obtains a decree creating a charge over the property but the defendant transfers the property for consideration to a stranger during the pendency of the suit and before the passing of the Decree, can the transferee plead that the charge created by the decree subsequent to the transfer in his favour cannot be enforced against the property in his hands on the ground that he is a transferee for valuable consideration and without notice of the charge and, therefore, protected under S. 100 of the Transfer of Property Act? No, the transferee cannot claim such protection. The reason is that the provisions of S. 100 would not apply to a case of transfer during the pendency of a litigation. That section is a general provision relating to a charge and provides that a transferee after the charge would be affected only if he has notice of the same. It does not provide as to what might happen if the transfer takes place before the charge is created. Such a case when it happens pending the suit covered by S. 52 under which the transfer cannot take place to the detriment of the person in whose favour the charge is created (1) When a decree creating a charge and providing for its execution is passed, it does not put an end to the suit. The lis in such a case continues so long as the maintenance is due under the decree. Hence a transfer of property over which a charge is created is affected by the doctrine of lis pendens even though the transfer is after the decree, if the properties remain charged.

Section 52 — Note 6

1. 2001 AIHC 4803 (4805) : 2002 (1) Rec Civ Rep 458 (Punj & Har)
2. 1996 (2) Civ Court Cas 326 (329) : 1996 (2) RRR 693 (Him Pra)

Section 52 — Note 6A

1. 1959 Andh LT 509 (510),  AIR 1959 Bom 475-477, 1LR 1959, Bom 94, AIR 1927 Mad 502 Diss. from.  (1958) 62 Cal WN 288 (290)  AIR 1953 Mad 71 (72) (DB)  AIR 1945 Mad 126 (127) : 1LR (1945) Mad 726 (DB) (Section 100 of the T.P. Act as amended in 1929, does not override S. 52, and cannot be read without regard to what is said in S. 52.)  AIR 1944 Bom 191 (193) : 1LR (1944) Bom 274 (DB).

[See also AIR 1959 Bom 269 (271) 1LR (1959) Bom 266 (Charge decree obtained in money suit by consent of parties can be enforced against purchaser pendente lite). * AIR 1955 Trav-Co 234 (235) (The principle of lis pendens applies not only to a case where the plaintiff seeks to enforce a pre-existing charge but also to a case in which the plaintiff asks for the grant of a charge)]

[But see (1948) 53 Mys HCR 219 (240) (FB). (A charge created by the decree in a suit for maintenance does not relate back to the institution of the suit for maintenance claiming charge so as to affect alienation of property after the filing of the suit but before the decree is made)] the transferee would be bound by the charge whether he takes it with or without notice (2) [See also Note 20 and S 100 Note 28.]

6AA. This section and S. 65-A.

See Notes on S. 65-A.

7. Right existing before suit not affected.

The doctrine of lis pendens does not operate so as to defeat any right existing before the date of the suit (1) Thus a mortgagee who has a power of sale under S 69 can exercise his power even

2. AIR 1951 All 141 (151, 153) : ILR (1953) 1 All 284 (FB) (AIR 1939 All 687 Overruled.)  AIR 1969 Orissa 4 (116) : 34 Cal LT 1296 (HS 52 is applicable to a case that controls second part of S 100)  AIR 1930 Mad 988 (1990) (DB) (Where a person purchases property from one of the parties after an order creating a charge is passed in an inter pleader suit the transfer is pendente lite)  AIR 1945 Mad 350 (353) (There is no conflict between Ss 52 and 100. S 52 expressly provides for all cases of decrees in suits relating to immovable property whether they involve a mortgage or a charge or recovery of possession and provides that no party to the suit can transfer or otherwise deal with the property so as to affect the rights of any other party thereto and any decree or order which may be made therein except under the authority of the Court. It takes its exception in favour of a bona fide transferee for value without notice.)

See also Notes 11 and 20.

Section 52 — Note 7

1. AIR 1967 SC 1390 (1395) (Lease by mortgagee before institution of suit by mortgagee for sale — Lessee acquires interest in right of redemption and is entitled to redeem — Lessee not made party to suit by mortgagee — Decree in suit does not bind him and his right of redemption will continue to exist.)  AIR 1976 SC 1810 : (1977) 1 SCJ 159 (Suit for ejectment against sub-tenant pending at commencement of W.B. Premises Tenancy Act of 1956 — Right under S 160 of that Act is available to such sub-tenant. Doctrine of lis pendens not attract — ILR 1968 2 Cal 575 Reversed.)  AIR 1958 SC 838 (844) : ILR (1958) Punj 2225  AIR 2000 Cal 158 (2001) Cal J 529 (Property purchased prior to filing of suit and not during its pendency doctrine of lis pendens would not apply)  (1982) 95 Mad LW 213 (218) (The doctrine of lis pendens applies to proceedings or creation of rights pending the suit and it will not affect a right existing before the suit.)  1976 Rev LR 626 (629) (Punj) (Doctrine of lis pendens does not apply to transfers which are made in recognition of pre-existing and subsisting right which is enforceable by legal action though it may not create interest in the property.)  1975 2 Andh WR 408 (Municipality having charge on house — Charge can not be affected by some other person by filing suit earlier than the suit by Municipality.)  AIR 1945 Cal 111 (2) (Sale during pendency of suit — Contract for that sale entered into after suit — Suit is hit by S 52 — Contract for sale cannot be a part of sale.)  (1966) 1 Mys LJ 451 (Partition suit by sons against father — Father and sons liable for debt incurred by father's father — Creditor obtaining decree and attaching part of family property before partition suit — Attachment conferring right on creditor to proceed against suit not hit by doctrine of lis pendens.)  ILR (1966) 1 Ker 158 (Holder of antecedent right — Taking transfer pending litigation — Antecedent right not affected — A giving lease of property to B — Subsequent execution proceeding concerning that property — During such proceeding B surrendering possession to A — A's right to receive rent and seek eviction is antecedent right — His right to be in immediate possession of property not part and parcel of his antecedent right — Surrender by B held hit by lis pendens.)  ILR (1963) Bom 246 (254) (DB)  ILR (1963) Madh Pra 712 (712) (Where the earlier contractees had a superior right of specific performance against the subsequent contractees the sale deed taken by them privately during the pendency of the subsequent contractees suit would not be affected by the decree in favour of the subsequent contractees.) AIR 1958 Andh Pra 722 (723) : ILR (1958) Andh Pra 595 (DB)  AIR 1957 Punj 238 (243) (DB) * AIR during the pendency of suit for redemption (2) An attaching creditor who is entitled to redeem a mortgage does not lose this right by reason of the fact that he gets the property sold in execution of his decree after a suit is instituted on the mortgage (3) A sale pendente lite in execution of a decree on a mortgage executed before the date of suit will be subject to the doctrine of lis pendens and will not affect the rights of the parties under any decree or order passed in the suit. But this will not take away the right of the mortgagee under his mortgage which was executed before the date of the suit. It has been held in some cases (4) that a sale in pursuance of a decree on a mortgage executed before suit is merely a logical result of a transfer which has been made before suit and consequently the doctrine of lis pendens does not affect such a sale which is therefore valid and is not affected by any decree or order passed in the suit. A contrary view has also been expressed in the undermentioned cases (5) It is submitted that the last view is correct. As to whether a sale to a person made in

1951 Pat 613 (615)  (1945) 50 Mys HCR 258 (DB)  AIR 1950 Orissa 210 (211) ILR (1950) Cut 486 (DB)  AIR 1943 Cal 577 (584)  AIR 1937 All 108 (110) (DB) (Final decree in a mortgage suit passed before a suit for redemption was filed — Lis pendens does not apply)  AIR 1934 Mad 585 (587) (Decree in favour of prior mortgagee to which subsequent mortgagee was not a party — Decree in suit on second mortgage — Sale to A in execution of second mortgage decree — Then sale to B in execution of prior mortgage decree — Sale to A not affected by lis pendens though it was during the pendency of a suit on prior mortgage — The reason is that if rights are not affected, the remedy to enforce those rights must also continue)  AIR 1931 Lah 435 (436) (DB) (Do)  1908 Pun Re No 26 p 144 (145) (DB)  AIR 1929 Lah 589 (590) (The right of the defendants pre-emptors had accrued before the declaratory suit was instituted and also they had obtained their decree for pre-emption long prior to the institution of this suit. Held that the doctrine did not affect their right)  (1912) 6 Ind Cas 779 (779) (DB) (Mad) (Suit by puisne mortgagee — Private purchase pendente lite by prior mortgagee in discharge of his debt — Prior mortgagee disregarding his sale and suing on his mortgage — Held the sale was affected by lis pendens but his rights as a mortgagee were intact and he could proceed on the basis of his mortgage)  (1880) 2 All 826 (827) (DB) (Prior mortgage with a stipulation prohibiting subsequent mortgage — Mortgagor subsequently mortgaging the property — Suit by second mortgagee — Sale to prior mortgagee by mortgagor during the suit — Held sale is affected by lis pendens but the prior mortgagee's right under the stipulation is not affected.)

[See also AIR 1916 Pat 282 (284) (DB) (Mortgage in favour of plaintiff — Suit on mortgage and purchase by plaintiff in execution of mortgage decree — In the meantime property sold to defendant for arrears of revenue — Held purchase at revenue sale was subject to plaintiff's mortgage — Interest of original mortgagor having passed at the revenue sale to defendant — purchase at execution sale of mortgage decree against original mortgagor did not give plaintiff right to possession — Plaintiff held had right to put mortgaged property to sale if defendant failed to redeem.)]

2. AIR 1922 Mad 390 (391) 45 Mad 774 (DB)  (1878) 2 Bom 252 (255) (DB)
3. AIR 1932 All 356 (357) (DB)  AIR 1928 Nag 97 (98) 23 Nag LR 164 (Attaching creditor purchasing equity of redemption pending mortgage suit — Right to redeem under S. 91 existing before the suit — Held that right was not affected by lis pendens — Overruled on another point by AIR 1936 Nag 209 (FB)).
4. AIR 1931 All 466 (485) : 53 All 1023 (FB). (Per Mukerji, J. Minority view)  (1948) 53 Mys HCR 219 (240) (FB) : AIR 1999 Ker 213 (224) : 1999 ATHC 2281 : 1999 (1) Ker LJ 702 (FB). (Majority view in AIR 1931 All 466 Dissented from.)  1955 Ker LT 836 (838-839)  AIR 1957 Ker 48 (50) ILR (1957) Ker 35 (DB)  AIR 1950 Mad 189 (190)  (1949) 27 Mys LJ 61 (69) (DB)  AIR 1945 Nag 86 (93) ILR (1944) Nag 852 (DB)  AIR 1939 Cal 655 (656) (DB) (Mortgage prior to institution of maintenance suit — Mortgage sale taking place during pendency of it — Purchaser is not affected)  AIR 1934 Nag 36 (38) 30 Nag LR 284 (Foreclosure)  AIR 1934 Nag 585 (587)  AIR 1932 Mad 566 (573) 56 Mad 115 (DB)  (1905) 32 Cal 891 (905) (DB) (Per Mitra, J.)

Also see Note 31

5. AIR 1931 All 466 (480, 481) : 53 All 1023 (FB). (Per majority of Full Bench — Mukherji, recognition of his pre-existing superior or equal pre-emptory rights is affected by doctrine of lis pendens see Note 21.

Doctrine of lis pendens cannot be extended to cover an involuntary alienation in execution of a mortgage or charged decree, where the mortgage or charge came into effect prior to the filing of a suit. (6)

See also the undermentioned case (7)

8. "During the pendency."

The words used in the old section were "during the active prosecution." This was apparently based on certain decisions of the English Courts that in order that the doctrine of lis pendens may apply the suit should be "kept alive and in activity." (1) But the words led to much uncertainty in the application of the rule and caused a divergence of judicial opinion. Thus, it was held in some cases that if a decree was not executed for a long time it was not "actively prosecuted" within the meaning of this section and that the doctrine did not apply to a sale made after such decree. (2) In other cases a delay in the execution of the decree was held not to affect the right of the decree-holder. (3) In a third class of cases it was held that the active prosecution of a suit or proceeding ended with the

J. Contra.  AIR 1962 Bom 19, (196) 11LR (1961) Bom 927  AIR 1959 Pat 490 (495-496)  AIR 1943 Cal 577 (585) (Sale by prior simple mortgagee without impleading puisne mortgagee. Puisne simple mortgagee filing suit to which prior mortgagee was a party. During pendency of suit by puisne mortgagee, property was sold in execution of decree of prior mortgagee and was purchased by prior mortgagee. Sale held was affected by lis pendens.)  AIR 1928 Lah 505 (507)

6. 1983 TLNJ 111

7. (1983) 1 Cal HN 57 (65, 66) (1983) 1 Cal LJ 306 (In the instant case, a Hindu female had a right to recover the maintenance allowance out of property, which right was created when the property was charged for payment of maintenance to her under a final decree for partition of property long before the suit brought by the Howrah Municipality to enforce the statutory charge for arrears of rates. She sought remedy for non-payment of maintenance to her by enforcing her right to recover the same in execution of the said partition decree, and herself auction purchased the said holding in a Court sale during the pendency of the suit brought by Howrah Municipality to enforce the statutory charge. Further there was no evidence that she knew about the suit brought by the Municipality to get opportunity to be added as party. Held that the Court sale was not hit by doctrine of lis pendens under S. 52 of T.P. Act as the said doctrine did not affect pre-existing rights.)  AIR 1980 Andh Pra 305 (1980) 2 APLJ (HC) 152 (DB) (lis pendens does not apply to successive mortgages created prior to any suit in a Civil Court or in matters arising for enforcement of the rights under such mortgages.)

Section 52 — Note 8

1. (1831) 39 ER 236 (238-239) 9 LJ Ch 276 Kinsman v. Kinsman  (1888) 13 Bom 217 (221) (DB)
2. AIR 1960 Ker 98 (100) 11LR (1959) Ker 820 (Where a transfer was executed by the defendant on the date of filing the suit, there is no presumption that the filing of the plaint is to be considered as taking place at the earlier period of the day.)  AIR 1933 Nag 138 (140) (Suit for specific performance — Decree passed — No execution over two years — Delay being inordinate lis held not to continue.)  (1913) 32 Bom 621 (628) (DB) (Decree obtained in 1902 — Alienation in 1906 — Execution proceedings commenced in 1907 — Held, lis not continued.)  (1913) Nag LR 155 (157)
[See also AIR 1932 Bom 301 (303).]
3. (1911) 9 Ind Cas 840 (841) (Cal) (Four years.)  (1905) 32 Cal 891 (906) (DB) (Per Mitra, J.)

decree or final order,(4) though it was recognized that if the decree or order was the inception of further proceedings, the lis might continue till final orders were passed in such proceedings (5) Thus, it was held that a decree in a suit for account did not determine the lis (6) In a fourth class of cases it was held that if an appeal was filed after a deal, there was no active prosecution.(7) It was to remove this uncertainty, the words 'active prosecution' were removed and the word 'pendency' and the Explanation were substituted (8) It did not introduce any new rule of law but merely gave legislative sanction to judicial pronouncements in which it had been held that the lis continued till the end of the proceedings in execution (9) The amendment is not retrospective in operation and in cases of transfers before the date of the amendment, the question whether the suit was actually prosecuted must be determined with reference to the law as interpreted by decisions before that date.(10)

Where the appeal against cancellation of earlier allotment of plot and its resumption by the Development Authority was dismissed and reallotment of the said plot to another person was made thereafter by the Authority, the doctrine of lis pendens would not apply since no litigation was pending on the date of re-allotment.(11)

To attract the principles of lis pendens as contained in S. 52, the property concerned need not be in dispute right from the inception of the suit. The property may get involved at any stage throughout the span of the commencement of the suit or proceeding and its termination. That too would be during the pendency. 'During' signifies "throughout the course of, throughout the continuance of, in the time of, after the commencement and before the execution of." The submission that unless the property forms part of the plaint, the third party will have no notice of the proceedings

4. See (1905) 2 All LJ 294 (296) (DB).

5. AIR 1917 Mad 128 (132) (SB)  AIR 1932 Bom 301 (302),  AIR 1921 Mad 30 (37) 44 Mad 232 (DB)  (1888) 12 Bom 217 (220) (DB)  (1898) 22 Bom 939 (942) (DB) (The lis pendens, except in administration suits and suits for an account, and in suits of a similar nature in which the decree is the inception of subsequent proceedings, ends with the decree.)  1898 Bom PJ 386 (DB)  (1913) 37 Bom 621 (628) (DB)

[See also 1889 Bom PJ 99 (DB), (12 Bom 217, Followed.)]

6. (1746) 26 ER 1025 (1026) 3 Atk 392 Worsley v. Scarborough (Earl),  (1842) 59 RR 726 (729) 2 Dr & War 356, Higgins v. Shaw  (1901) 23 All 331 (334) (DB).

7. AIR 1917 Lah 13 (14) (DB) (Cross-objection filed after a delay of two and a half years. Cross objections whether treated as an appeal or not, plea of lis pendens not available as they were filed after delay.)

[See also (1911) 12 Ind Cas 849 (850) (Low Bur.) (Held that even if the application for review was held to reopen the lis pendens, the applicant was not entitled to the benefit of the right, as he was clearly guilty of laches in not prosecuting his proceeding actively and without remission.)]

8. AIR 1937 PC 260 (261). (Question of active prosecution of a suit is one of fact.)  AIR 1959 Bom 475 (477) : ILR (1959) Bom 94.

9. AIR 1932 All 210 (212, 213) (DB)

10. AIR 1944 PC 96 (99) : 24 Pat 89. (When the mortgage came into existence before the amendment of 1929 came into force, the doctrine of lis pendens applicable to the case is that enacted in S. 52 before it was amended by Act XX of 1929.)  AIR 1931 Nag 138 (140) (Decree not executed for two years — Held, no active prosecution.)

[But see AIR 1945 Bom 409 (412) (DB) (Section 52 as amended is retrospective — Submitted not good law in view of the Privy Council decision in AIR 1944 PC 96 which is not noticed.)]

Also see S. 2, Note 5

11. AIR 1999 Punj & Har 140 (141) : 1999 (123) Pun LR 757

to put in defence carries little weight. The reason being that to apply S. 52 notice to the third party affected by the suit or proceeding is not a pre-requisite (12)

8A. "Suit or proceeding."

The words "suits or proceedings" used in S. 52 cannot be extended to proceedings initiated by Magistrate under S. 145 of Cr. P.C. since an enquiry under S. 145 of Cr. P.C. has no reference to merits of title of the parties.(1)

A proceeding instituted under Arts. 226 and 227 of the Constitution which is not collusive and in which any right to immovable property is directly and specifically in question will be a proceeding attracting S. 52 of the Transfer of Property Act and as such the property concerned in the proceeding cannot be transferred or otherwise dealt with by any party to the proceeding so as to affect the rights of any other party thereto under an order which may be passed therein, except under the authority of the High Court and on such terms as it may impose.

It cannot be said that the words any 'suit' or 'proceeding' occurring in S. 52 of the Transfer of Property Act must be read as contemplating either a suit or a proceeding instituted in an ordinary Civil Court. In other words, it cannot be said that the word 'proceeding' occurring in S. 52 of the Transfer of Property Act only relates to original proceeding. A proceeding under Arts. 226 and 227 of the Constitution apart from being a civil or criminal or some other proceeding depending upon the nature of the right enforced in that proceeding is also an original proceeding. No doubt it is not an ordinary original jurisdiction but it is an extraordinary original jurisdiction. It is an independent proceeding and not a continuation of the proceeding before the authorities below. If the plea that S. 52 of the TP Act does not contemplate writ proceeding or does not take into its fold the writ proceeding, is accepted, it would lead to disastrous consequences. In many cases it may so happen that even when the petitioner succeeds in the writ petition, the alienation if any made during the pendency of the writ petition shall have to remain unaffected, the order passed under Arts. 226 and 227 of the Constitution would be rendered infructuous or ineffective. The parties would be deprived of the fruits of the litigation.(2)

Transfer of immovable property relating to which an arbitration award is passed, would be invalid in view of S. 52. When the transferor had no right, title or interest in the property transferred after passing of the award, the transferee would not acquire any right, title or interest in his favour.(3)

Where a person initiated restoration proceedings before Tahsildar for recovery of possession of land and the proceedings were not in the nature of suit nor for execution of any decree but was only summary proceedings, the sale deed of the land executed during pendency of those proceedings would not be affected by the doctrine of lis pendens.(4)

See also Note 12

9. Proceeding must be pending before a Court.

The doctrine applies only where the lis is pending before a Court. A Collector acting under S. 43 of the Madras Marumakkathavam Act (XXII of 1933) is not a Court for the purposes of this section.(1) Pendency of proceedings before the Magistrate under S. 145 of Cr. P.C. cannot be said

12. 1987 All LJ 27 (31) : (1987) 1 Civ LJ 459

Section 52 — Note 8A

1. 1984 Mah LJ 99 : 1983 Cri LR (Mah) 124
2. AIR 1992 Kant 71 (76) : ILR (1991) Kant 3288
3. AIR 1990 Punj & Har 254 (258)
4. AIR 2002 Madh Pra 130 (138) : 2002 (1) MPLJ 200.

Section 52 — Note 9

1. AIR 1939 Mad 151 (152)

to be such as to attract operation of S 52 of T.P Act (2) It was held in the undermentioned Madras case(3) that a Registrar of Co-operative Societies acting under the Co-operative Societies Act (11 of 1912) as a Court and a proceeding before him operated as a lis pendens. This view has been overruled by the Supreme Court(4) and it has been held that nominee of Registrar appointed under S 95 of the Maharashtra Co-operative Societies Act is not a Court within S 45, Criminal PC. A Revenue Court dealing with partition proceedings is a Court and the proceedings will operate as lis pendens (5)

The Court must be one which has authority within the limits of India excluding the State of Jammu and Kashmir or is established beyond such limits by the Central Government. A foreign Court is not a Court for the purposes of this section.

Thus, the Courts in England and France are foreign Courts (6) A suit in a foreign Court is therefore, not lis pendens.(7)

The Court contemplated is a Court competent to try the suit. Where the Court has no jurisdiction to try the suit, a transfer pending such suit cannot operate as lis pendens and cannot affect any decrees or orders in such suit (8) In the undermentioned case(9) it was held that a suit filed on the equity side of the Supreme Court of Calcutta did not operate as lis pendens so as to affect a transfer of immovable property in the mofussil inasmuch as the Supreme Court has no jurisdiction over property in the mofussil. The present High Courts have, under their Letters Patents power to try suits relating to land partly within their jurisdiction and partly without it, provided that leave of the Court is obtained for doing so. When the High Court so acquires jurisdiction to determine the suit the suit will operate as lis pendens (10) It must be noted that a higher Court cannot be said to have no jurisdiction merely because the suit should, under S 15 of the Civil Procedure Code, be filed in a Court of a lower grade (11) Auction of the assets of a small scale limit by the State Financial Corporation during pendency of writ petitions against the Corporation was held to be hit by lis pendens.(12)

2. 1984 Mah LJ 99 : 1983 Cri LR (Mah) 124

3. AIR 1934 Mad 40 (42) : 57 Mad 426 (FB). (Overruled in AIR 1969 SC 724.)

[See AIR 1942 Mad 24 (25) (Madras Co-operative Societies Act VI of 1932) (No longer good law in view of AIR 1969 SC 724.)]

4. AIR 1969 SC 724 : 1969 Cri LJ 1069 : (1969) 1 SCA 629.

5. AIR 1927 All 679 (680) : 50 All 22 (DB)

[See also 1977 WLN (LC) 317 (319) (Raj) (Proceedings for determination of ceiling area)  AIR 1968 Orissa 36 (37) 1968 Cri LJ 336 33 Cut LT 974 (Principle under the section applies to proceeding before Revenue or a Rent Court)  AIR 1948 Nag 283 (284) ILR (1948) Nag 324 (Proceedings before a Revenue Court may also operate as lis pendens - Even if S 52 does not apply proprio vigore principle underlying it must apply — Case under C P Tenancy Act)]

6. (1884) 8 Bom 571 (574)

7. (1896) 19 Mad 257 (262) (DB). (Suit in the Court at Singapore)

8. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 573 (574)  AIR 1938 Bom 121 (125) ILR (1937) Bom 895 (DB)

[See also AIR 1957 Mad 214 (216) (Section 52 expressly limits the operation of the doctrine of lis pendens to suits in respect of immovable properties situated within India and not in territories outside India)]

9. (1869) 11 Suth WR 554 (555) (DB).

10. AIR 1931 Cal 763 (767) : 58 Cal 598 (DB).

11. (1910) 5 Ind Cas 691 (692) (DB) (Cal).

12. AIR 1998 Raj 42 (48).

Also see Note 10

10. Pendency of suit when commences.

The explanation to the section makes it clear that a suit commences from the date of the presentation of the plaint in a Court of competent jurisdiction. This is in accordance with the provisions of O 4, R 1 of the Code of Civil Procedure. The doctrine of lis pendens therefore, applies to all alienations made from the date of the presentation of the plaint itself (1). Accordingly, the doctrine of 'lis pendens' has been held to be applicable to transfers made between the date of the presentation of the plaint and the date of the service of summons (2).

It is necessary that the plaint should be presented to the competent Court, i.e. competent to try the suit. Where the Court is not competent to try the suit and consequently returns the plaint presented to it for presentation to the proper Court and the plaint is subsequently represented to the competent Court, the suit will be deemed to commence only from the date of such subsequent representation (3). The observations in the undermentioned cases (4) that the doctrine of lis pendens would apply even where the suit is presented in a wrong Court, must be deemed to be overruled by the explanation (5). A plaint presented to a Court of a higher grade must be taken to be presented to a competent Court, though, by virtue of S 15 of the Code of Civil Procedure the suit should be instituted in the Court of the lower grade competent to try it (6). Consequently, the suit must be deemed to be pending from the date of the presentation of the plaint to the Court of the higher grade, though the plaint is returned by that Court and is subsequently represented in the Court of the lower grade.

Where a plaint is rejected for insufficient stamp and is again presented after making good the deficiency, the suit cannot be deemed to be pending from the date of the original presentation (7). But where the Court instead of rejecting the plaint for insufficiency of stamp, receives the plaint and grants time to make good the deficiency the suit must be deemed to be pending from the date when it is first received (8). So also where a suit is dismissed for default and is restored, it must be

Section 52 — Note 10

1. AIR 1956 SC 593 (597) : 1LR (1956) Mys 152. (Pauper suit for maintenance and for creation of charge on specified property. — It commences on the date of plaint and not on the date of decree which creates charge.  AIR 1961 Pat 1, 299 (300). Rule of computation contained in explanation applies in Punjab.)  AIR 1958 All 24 (25) (DB). (Mortgage suit.)  AIR 1957 Pat 729 (731). 36 Pat 1139 (DB). (The lis commences on the date of the plaint and not on the date of the decree.)
2. AIR 1945 Mad 219 (221).
[See also AIR 1948 PC 147 (149). 1LR 1949 1 Cal 234. (Transfer effected next day after institution of suit. — Nothing to show that transferor was aware of institution of suit. — Section held to apply to transfer.)]
3. AIR 1957 Ker 10 (13). 1LR (1957) Ker 5 (DB).  AIR 1940 Nag 185 (186). 1LR (1941) Nag 652.  AIR 1933 Sind 117 (118) (DB).
4. AIR 1927 Rang 145 (148). 5 Rang 101 (DB).  (1910) 5 Ind Cas 691 (692) (DB) (Cal).
5. See AIR 1957 Ker 10 (13). 1LR (1957) Ker 5 (DB). AIR 1937 Rang 145. Held not good law after amendment in 1929.  AIR 1933 S 16 (17) (DB) (AIR 1927 Rang 145. No longer good law.)
6. (1910) 5 Ind Cas 691 (692) (DB) (Cal).
Also see Note 9.
7. AIR 1920 Cal 675 (676) (DB).
8. AIR 1943 Bom 27 (30). (Suit for specific performance of contract of sale. — Plaint presented on 2nd September, 1937 with defect Court fee. — Defect rectified with consent of Court on 28th September, 1936. — Attachment before judgment by a third transferee's property on 22nd September, 1936. — Held, principle of lis pendens applied to the attachment.)

deemed to be pending from the date of the original presentation.(9) In the undermentioned case(10) where a transfer was made after the application for restoration and before the order was passed on it restoring the suit, it was, however, held that the order had the effect of restoring the suit from the date of the application for restoration.

A suit instituted in forma pauperis commences from the date when the application for leave to sue as a pauper is made and not when the same is registered as a suit.(11)

11. Pendency of suit, how long continues.

Under the section as it stood prior to the amendment of 1929, there was a difference of opinion as to how long the pendency of a suit continued. On the one hand, it was held that the general rule was that the lis pendens ended with the decree(1) except in suits in which the decree was the inception of further subsequent proceedings, e.g., administration suits, suits for account and suits of a similar nature (2) It was, however, held that the taking of execution proceedings revived the lis pendens and while transfers made after decree and before the taking of execution proceedings were not subject to lis pendens, (3) transfers made during the pendency of execution proceedings were affected by the doctrine (4) On the other hand, it was held that the lis pendens continued until the decree was fully executed(5) and consequently that a transfer made after the decree but before execution was taken out was affected by lis pendens (6) An appeal was held to be a continuation of the suit(7) so as to make a transfer, made pending the suit or appeal(8) or after the

9. See the AIR Commentaries on the Code of Civil Procedure (1908) 10th (1985) Edn. O 9 R 9, Note 1.  AIR 1959 Bom 475 (477) : ILR (1959) Bom 94

10. AIR 1919 Cal 40 (42) (DB).

11. (1961) 65 Cal WN 701 (705) (DB)  (1953) 32 Pat 903 (916) AIR 1955 NLC (Pat) 231  AIR 1939 Mad 275 (275)  AIR 1936 Mad 853 (854, 855)  (1898) 30 A.L.J. 95 (102 103) (DB).

Section 52 — Note 11

1. AIR 1925 Cal 23 (25) (DB) (In order to constitute lis pendens there must be a continuance of litis contestates and, therefore, if the suit is ended by decree there is no longer any lis pendens.)  (1898) 22 Bom 939 (942, 943) (DB).

[See also (1873) 20 Suth WR 204 (205) (DB) (Case before T P Act — Per Glover J.)]

2. AIR 1931 Mad 120 (122) (Maintenance decree — Transfer in this case was made before the amendment)  (1898) 22 Bom 939 (942, 943) (DB)  (1911) 39 Cal 220 (225) (DB). (Suit for possession and mesne profits.)

3. (1913) 37 Bom 621 (625, 629) (DB).

4. (1898) 22 Bom 939 (942, 943) (DB)  (1876) 1 Cal 337 (344) (DB)  1898 Bom PJ 38 (DB).

[See also (1913) 37 Bom 621 (625) (DB).]

5. AIR 1944 PC 96 (99) : 24 Pat 89. (A mortgage executed after a mortgage decree and in the course of execution proceedings of the decree is subject to lis pendens.)  AIR 1927 Oudh 261 (263) 2 Luck 496 (DB)  (1909) 3 Ind Cas 696 (699 700) (DB) (Cal)

6. AIR 1945 Mad 350 (350)  AIR 1934 Mad 353 (355) (DB)  AIR 1931 Mad 120 (122) (Transfer before the amendment of the Act)  AIR 1918 Nag 221 (224) 14 Nag LR 176

7. AIR 1929 Bom 262 (264) 53 Bom 453 (DB) (3 Bom 214, Followed)

8. (1901) 23 All 60 (63) (DB) (Transfer made pending appeal though at the instance of Court — Doctrine applied)  (1888) 15 Cal 94 (99) (DB) (Transfer pending suit is subject to result to appeal.)  (1885) 9 Mad 130 91 32) (DB) (Purchase pendente lite)  (1884) 6 All 506 (509) (DB) (Do)  (1912) 13 Ind Cas 641 (641) (All) (Pending appeal mortgage was executed.)

decree and before the appeal was filed,(9) subject to the result of the appeal

The present explanation introduced in 1929 gives effect to the second of the two conflicting views expressed above(10) and provides that the pendency of a suit continues until the suit is disposed of by a final decree and until such decree is fully executed or becomes barred by limitation.(11) A transfer made—

(1) during the pendency of execution proceedings,(12) or of an appeal from the decree,(13) or

(2) between the date of the decree and the date of the execution application, or

(3) between the date of the decree and the date of filing the appeal,(14) or

(4) between the date of the death of the original defendant and the expiry of the time pre-

[See also (1884) 7 Mad 96 (99) (DB) (Pending appeal — Case before the Act)]

9. AIR 1915 Mad 495 (498) : 38 Mad 535 (DB)  (1908) 31 Mad 268 (270) (DB) (Transfer after decree but before appeal is affected)  (1900) 28 Cal. 23 (27) (DB)  (1888) 1 CPLR 19 (22)

[See also (1873) 20 South WR 204 (206) (DB) (Case before T.P. Act — Per Mitter J.)]

10. AIR 1945 Mad 350 (350)  AIR 1934 Mad 353 (355) (DB) (The explanation seems to embody the Madras view that the lis in a mortgage suit continues until the actual sale in execution of the decree.)  AIR 1931 Mad 120 (122)

11. AIR 1959 Ker 67 (71) : ILR (1958) Ker 1266 (FB)  AIR 1951 All 141 (153) : ILR (1953) 1 All 284 (FB)  AIR 1981 All 235 (1981) All LJ 769 (1981) 7 All LR 401 (FB)  AIR 1994 All 167 (168) : 1994 All LJ 663 : 1993 (2) All RC 383  ILR (1968) 1 Ker 281  AIR 1968 Pat 238 (244) (Suit or proceeding)  AIR 1958 All 24 (25) (DB)  AIR 1929 Mad 197 (197) (DB) (A mortgage suit does not finally come to an end with the passing of a preliminary decree)  AIR 1945 Mad 350 (350)  AIR 1930 Oudh 362 (364) (DB) (The section applies to transfers made during the pendency of execution proceedings also.)

[See also AIR 1953 Mad 71 (72) (DB)  AIR 1941 Pat 577 (580) : 20 Pat 346 (SB) (Lis pendens extends right to the conclusion of the litigation including the appellate stages and the execution proceedings.)]

12. (1953) 32 Pat 903 (906) : AIR 1955 NUC (Pat) 231  AIR 1975 SC 1810 (1813, 1814) : 1975 UJ (SC) 631 (Property attached in execution of decree against owner of property — Lease of property during attachment is hit by doctrine of lis pendens and also by provisions of S. 64 C of P.C.  1977 Pun LJ 352 (353) (DB)  AIR 1949 Pat 364 (367) : 27 Pat 1132 (DB)  AIR 1937 Oudh 127 (129) (DB)

[See also ILR (1977) Cut 516 (522) (Private purchasers purchased the property under attachment during execution proceedings — Transfer is void ab initio under S. 64 C.P.C. as well as under S. 52, T.P. Act.)]

13. AIR 1966 Orissa 98 (102) (DB)  AIR 1959 Ker 67 (71) : ILR (1958) Ker 1266 (FB)  1969 Raj LW 557  AIR 1963 Guj 30 (32) (Proceeding under O. 33 R. 1 C.P.C. — Question of sufficient means — Property sale under order of previous judgment — Appeal from which still pending — Property cannot be taken out of court)  1955 55 Mys HCR 174 (179) (DB)  AIR 1932 All 210 (212) (DB) (In mortgage suit is continues at least till the passing of a final decree.)

[See also AIR 1967 SC 1793 : (1968) 1 SCJ 257 (Suit by adopted son of R against widow of R for declaration of title and possession of suit lands — Suit decreed in favour of adopted son in 1951 — In 1952 widow ceased lands — Appeal preferred by widow from decree passed against her dismissed in 1954 — Held after passing of decree she could not create any right in favour of anybody.)]

14. ILR (1964) 14 Raj 1120 (1121)  AIR 1959 Bom 475 (477) : ILR (1959) Bom 94

scribed for bringing his legal representative on record,(15) or

(5) during the continuance in force of a charge created by a decree for maintenance (16) would, under the present explanation, be clearly affected by the lis pendens

The Madras High Court has held that even in the case of a declaratory charge decree the lis continues until the possibility of enforcing the charge by a separate suit remains (17) But the Allahabad High Court is of the view that in the case of declaratory decree not admitting of execution proceedings being taken by lis ends with the passing of the decree (18)

It was held in a case before the amendment that a cross-objection under O. 41, R. 22 is not an appeal and is not a continuation of the suit for the purpose of lis pendens (19) It is doubtful whether this view is correct in view of the explanation. It was also observed in a case(20) before the amendment that an application for review or revision cannot be said to be a continuation of the suit so as to attract the operation of the doctrine of lis pendens.

But in the undermentioned case(21) it has been held that a transfer pending revision against an order in consolidation proceeding is hit by doctrine of lis pendens provided the proceedings are not illusive or fraudulent. See also the undermentioned cases(22) taking the view that the expression "final decree or order means, decree or order, of ultimate Court of appeal or revision as the case may be."

Where the security bond was executed in favour of the Court by which a party undertook to pay the amount of ultimately found liable to pay the same and the reference to L. P appeal was only for the proper investigation of the case. Then it could not be contended that the security bond was given only for purpose of the L. P appeal and became unenforceable on the dismissal of the same. The security bond was enforceable when the decree of the trial Court was restored by the Supreme Court in appeal against the L. P appeal. In view of the specific undertaking not to alienate. The suit property during the pendency of litigation of the doctrine of lis pendens was applicable to alienation made in favour of the petitioner. In the circumstances the effect of such alienation, during the pendency of litigation would be that decree-holder can enforce the security bond to the extent of the amongst secured thereunder by the sale of the properties specified therein (23)

The remedy under Art. 136 of the Constitution is an extraordinary remedy and is not in ordinary line of appeal. By grant of leave, proceedings cannot be said to become pending and are in continuation of original suit.(24)

15. AIR 1945 Mad 219 (221).

16. (1958) 62 Cal WN 288 (290) (Transfer after preliminary decree declaring charge but before final decree,  AIR 1951 Orissa 306 (310) ILR (1949) 1 Cal 336 (DB)  AIR 1945 Mad 350 (351)

Also see Notes 6a and 20

17. AIR 1950 Mad 396 (396)

18. AIR 1951 All 141 (153) : ILR (1953) 1 All 284 (FB).

[See also AIR 1957 All 575 (582) (DB) (Where a decree declares an annual allowance to be a charge on the property but does not direct the sale of the property in enforcement of the claim, the transferees will not be subject to the doctrine of lis pendens)]

19. AIR 1917 Lah 13 (14) (DB).

20. (1911) 12 Ind Cas 849 (850) (Low Bur.)

21. 1971 All LJ 578 : 1971 All WR (HC) 108 (DB)

22. 1971 All LJ 578 : 1971 All WR (HC) 108 (DB)

23. (1984) 2 Andh WR 328 (332, 333)

24. AIR 1971 Punj 244 (246)

However, in a later decision of the same High Court it was held that the proceedings in a civil appeal before the Supreme Court in pursuance of grant of special leave under Art. 136 of the Constitution is a continuation of the proceedings in the original suit and the principle of lis pendens as well as restitution shall apply to the proceedings (25)

As to the retrospective effect of the amendment of the section in 1929. See Note 8

12. Pendency of proceeding when commences and how long it continues.

The words suit or proceeding show that the word proceeding is something different from suit. In the Code of Civil Procedure the word proceeding has been construed as referring to all proceedings of an original nature such as guardianship and probate proceedings (1). It is conceived that the same meaning will apply to the word proceeding as used in this section. Thus, an application under O. 21, R. 58, or under O. 21, R. 100 of the Code of Civil Procedure (2) is a proceeding which will operate as lis pendens on transfers made during the pendency thereof. So also an application to file an award in Court. (3)

The proceedings under Displaced Persons (Compensation and Rehabilitation) Act, 1954 are also ordered by this section and therefore transfer of property during pendency of such proceedings is hit by doctrine of lis pendens. (4)

The proceeding will commence on the making of an application or petition in a Court of competent jurisdiction and will continue till a final order is passed in it and complete satisfaction or discharge of such order has been obtained. The same principles as stated in Note 10 regarding the return, representation, etc. of a plaint will apply to a proceeding also.

A claim suit under the provisions of O. 21, R. 63, Civil P.C. now repealed must be regarded as a continuation of the claim proceedings or as a proceeding by way of appeal against the claim order and the claim proceedings must be deemed to continue until the claim suit is finally disposed of. Consequently a transfer executed between the date of the claim order and the claim suit will be affected by lis pendens. (5)

In the undermentioned case (6) it was observed that the claim order was not a final order within the meaning of this section until either a suit to contest the order is finally decided or the period of limitation has expired.

25. AIR 1996 Punj & Har 158 (159) : 1996 (113) Pun LR 138

Section 52 — Note 12

1. See S. 141 of the Civil Procedure Code and the AIR Commentaries thereon, 10th, 1985 Edn.
2. AIR 1935 Oudh 462 (464) : 14 Luck 283 (DB) (Application under O. 21, R. 100)  (1967) 1 Mad LJ 260 (DB) (Final decree in mortgage suit — Dismissal of application under Order 21, Rule 90 followed by confirmation of sale — Restoration of application on appeal — Confirmation of sale is vacated — Auction purchaser selling away property in the meantime — Such purchaser can be required to surrender possession under Order 34, Rule 5, doctrine of lis pendens being applicable.)
[But see AIR 1947 Mad 458 (460) : 11 LR (1948) Mad 455. Section 52 has no application to a petition under O. 21, R. 100, Civil P.C.]
3. AIR 1946 Bom 207 (210) : 11 LR (1945) Bom 885 (DB) (Application to file award claiming charge for maintenance is on same footing as plaint in ordinary maintenance suit in which charge is claimed.)  1892 Bom PJ 5 (6) (DB)
4. AIR 1980 (NOC) 153 : 1980 Land LR 228 (Punj)
5. (1957) 1 Andh WR 285 (288)  AIR 1951 Nag 194 (197) : 11 LR (1951) Nag 24  AIR 1949 Oudh 178 (179) : 14 Luck 543  AIR 1937 Rang 473 (474)  AIR 1925 Nag 82 (85) : 22 Nag LR 67  AIR 1915 Mad 495 (498) : 38 Mad 535 (DB)
6. AIR 1940 Lah 497 (498)

In The Official Assignee of Madras v Ramchandra Aiyar(7) Ramesam, J., doubted if the pendency of an insolvency petition, by reason of which there is an undischarged insolvent and his properties are vested in the Official Assignee so that they may be utilised for paying off the creditors, can be regarded as a pending litigation for the purpose of applying the doctrine of lis pendens.

Amendment proceedings — An application for amendment is similar to the plaint. Amendment proceedings commence from the date of the presentation of the amendment application and not from the date when the amendment is ordered. The delay caused by the Court in ordering the application ought not to prejudice the parties. Thus, where in a suit for maintenance claiming a charge on property X an application for amendment seeking to include property Y is made, an alienation of property Y made subsequent to the date of the application but prior to the date on which the amendment is ordered, will be affected by the doctrine of lis pendens (8).

13. "Which is not collusive."

The section used the words a contentious suit before it was amended in 1929. This gave rise to a conflict of opinions as to what exactly was meant by the word contentious. Prior to the decision of the Privy Council in Faiyab Husain v Prag Narain(1) the following views had been expressed

(1) A suit becomes contentious only when—

(i) the summons is served on the defendant;(2)

(ii) the written statement is filed;(3)

(iii) issues are framed in the case;(4)

(2) a suit is not contentious if it ends in a consent decree(5) or in an ex parte decree.(6)

(3) the word contentious is used in the sense which it has in probate practice and means the opposite of common form or voluntary business;(7)

7. AIR 1928 Mad 735 (741) : 51 Mad 417 (FB).

8. AIR 1945 Mad 219 (220) (Fact that transferor did not know that property Y was included until the amendment was ordered is of no consequence.)

[See also AIR 1982 NOC 81 : 1982 Pun LJ 57 (59) (Suit for maintenance or in alternative for possession of one-half of property of deceased husband — Sale of suit property — Plaint amended and claim in lieu of maintenance substituted by one for possession of one-half share of property as heir — Amendment related back to date of original suit — Sale of suit property was hit by doctrine of lis pendens whether by virtue of original plaint or by virtue of amendment)]

Section 52 — Note 13

1. (1907) 29 All 339 (345) : 10 Oudh Cas 314 (PC). (Suit contentious in its origin and nature is also contentious within the meaning of this section though a summons is not served on the opposite party.)

2. (1898) 1 Oudh Cas 280 (283)  (1899) 21 All 408 (409) (DB)  1891 Pun Re No. 30, p. 171 (178) (DB) (Doctrine will not apply to a case of sale made after an appeal was filed and before notice of the appeal)  (1888) 15 Cal 647 (651) (DB)  (1888) 12 Mad 180 (182) (DB)

3. (1904) 31 Cal 658 (662) (DB).

4. 1899 Pun Re No. 32, p. 161 (165) (DB)

5. See (1903) 6 Oudh Cas 294 (298) (Decree in suit going in appeal — Appeal struck off on request of the appellant who was not desirous of prosecuting it — Held suit was not continuous)

6. (1904) 31 Cal 745 (753) (DB).

7. (1906) 26 Mad 426 (430) (FB). (12 Mad 439, Overruled.)

- (4) a suit would become contentious even if one of several defendants was not served with the summons;(8)
- (5) if a suit is subsequently contested it becomes a contested suit from the beginning;(9)
- (6) a contentious suit means a real and not collusive suit (10)

In Faiyaz Husain's case(11) referred to above their Lordships of the Privy Council overruled the view that a suit cannot be contentious until the summons was served on the defendants. After the decision in Faiyaz Husain's case(12) the following views were expressed

- (1) a suit cannot be said to be not contentious on the ground that the summons was not served on the defendant;(13)
- (2) a suit cannot be said to be not contentious by reason of the fact that it ends in a compromise decree,(14) or in an ex parte decree;(15)

8. (1906) 28 All 196 (198-199) (DB) (It cannot be held that a suit can be regarded as contentious as against some of the defendants and not contentious as against the others.)

9. (1899) 27 Cal 77 (84) (DB).

[See also (1904) 31 Cal 745 (752) (DB)]

10. (1907) 31 Bom 393 (404) (DB)

11. (1907) 29 All 339 (345) : 10 Oudh Cas 314 (PC).

12. (1907) 29 All 339 (345) : 10 Oudh Cas 314 (PC).

13. AIR 1915 Nag 89 (91) : 11 Nag LR 21 (Lease granted during the pendency of a contentious partition proceeding)  AIR 1919 Lah 422 (423) (DB) (Re sale by a non-proprietor to a proprietor taking place after the institution of the suit)  (1908) 30 All 95 (102-103) (DB) (Suit in forma pauperis — It begins as soon as application to sue in forma pauperis is filed)  (1908) 30 All 467 (DB) (After the filing of a suit for pre-emption but before service of summons on the defendants, the defendant vendee sold the property claimed to a second vendee.)

14. (1906) 29 Mad 426 (429, 430) (FB)  1930 Mad WN 572 (576) (Case decided before the amendment came into force)  AIR 1930 All 354 (355) (DB) (Suit for pre-emption — Suit contentious at its inception)  AIR 1928 Oudh 146 (148) (DB) (Lease during pendency of suit — Suit by successful claimant to avoid lease and eject lessee)  AIR 1925 Pat 462 (464) : 4 Pat 619 (DB) (The fact that the compromise was the result of inducement in money makes no difference)  AIR 1924 Mad 359 (360) (DB) (A sale of property pending a mortgage suit relating to the same is affected by the doctrine of lis pendens — The fact that the suit was finally compromised does not make it non-contentious)  AIR 1923 Cal 252 (256) (DB)  AIR 1922 Cal 358 (361) : 49 Cal 230 (DB)  AIR 1919 Pat 146 (154) : 4 Pat LJ 580 (DB) (But a compromise should not be a collusive one in order to defraud the purchaser)  (1913) 18 Ind Cas 177 (181) (DB) (Cal) (Suit to enforce simple mortgage, ending in compromise)  (1910) 13 Oudh Cas 98 (100) (DB)  (1910) 6 Nag LR 140 (142) (A suit to enforce a mortgage lien on immovable property)  (1909) 3 Ind Cas 696 (699) (DB) (Cal) (Suit for specific performance — The doctrine of lis pendens applies notwithstanding that the conveyance had not been executed and that the vendee had not paid the purchase money)  (1908) 8 Cal LJ 153 (156) (DB) (A suit for sale on a mortgage praying relief against the mortgagors.)

15. AIR 1930 All 354 (355) (DB)  AIR 1920 All 246 (247) : 42 All 319 (DB)  (1909) 3 Ind Cas 791 (792) (DB) (Cal) (In this case after the passing of an ex parte preliminary mortgage decree but before that decree was made absolute the mortgagor sold his interest in the property)  (1908) 8 Cal LJ 153 (156) (DB)  (1911) 11 Ind Cas 464 (465) (DB) (Cal) (A purchase of the mortgaged property by the mortgagee in execution of an ex parte mortgage decree, has priority over a previous purchase by an execution creditor in execution of a money decree obtained against the mortgagor during the pendency of the mortgage suit.)

(3) a contentious suit is one other than a collusive or friendly suit brought by agreement of parties.(16)

(4) the section becomes operative from the very moment of the institution of a bona fide suit which is not collusive.(17)

The removal of the words "contentious suit" and the substitution of the words which is not collusive clearly express the law as laid down by their Lordships of the Privy Council in Farvaiz Husain's case(18) and by the various High Courts subsequent to Farvaiz Husain's case (19) It is now clear that the fact of suing in itself initiates a contest and starts the lis (20) The mere fact that the suit ended in a compromise decree.(21) or in an ex parte decree (22) or that the defendant admits the plaintiffs claim(23) does not render the suit a non contentious or collusive one

A collusive suit is not a real suit at all(24) and the doctrine of lis pendens does not apply to such suits (25) The doctrine of lis pendens does not apply where suit at its inception was collusive

16. AIR 1930 All 354 (355) (DB)  (1930) Mad WN 572 (577). Even real suit is contentious — Case before the amendment.)  AIR 1922 Cal 358 (361) 49 Cal 220 (DB)  AIR 1915 Mad 884 (884) 38 Mad 450 (DB) (31 Cal 658 and 745. Held to be erroneous)  (1899) 27 Cal 77 (92) (DB) (Transfer of an undivided share after the institution of a partition suit)

[But see (1907) 31 Bom 393 (398) (DB) (Friendly suits may be contentious)]

17. AIR 1929 All 943 (945) : 52 All 139 (DB)

18. (1907) 29 All 339 (345) : 10 Oudh Cas 314 (PC).

19. (1907) 29 All 339 (345) : 10 Oudh Cas 314 (PC).

20. AIR 1940 Nag 8 (13) (DB) (Essence of doctrine is that the property in question should form a subject-matter of a dispute.)

21. (1953) 52 Pat 903 (917) AIR 1955 NUC (Pat) 23.  AIR 1983 NOC 172 (All) (1983) 9 All LR 269 (Section 52 applies to transfers effected during pendency of a contentious suit or proceedings even when such a suit or proceeding is subsequently compromised. If a decree is passed in pursuance of such compromise not tainted by fraud or collusion, Section 52 is not attracted. A judgment entertained into by consent of parties in a cause in which the Court has jurisdiction of the subject-matter and of the parties is no less efficacious than if entered after a trial of suit by contempt)  AIR 1951 Nag 194 (196) ILR (1951) Nag 241  (1950) 55 Mys HCR 174 (179)  AIR 1949 Bom 367 (372) ILR (1949) Bom 480 (DB)  AIR 1934 Pat 270 (271)

[See also AIR 1948 PC 147 (149) : ILR (1949) 1 Cal 234. (Section applies to compromise decree)]

22. AIR 1949 Bom 367 (372) IL (1949) Bom 480 (DB)  AIR 1971 Mad 371 (374, 375) : (1971) 1 Mad LJ 65

23. AIR 1963 Nag 400 (402) : ILR (1937) Nag 452

[See also 1980 MPI 1805 (The provisions of S. 52 were not meant for enabling a party who had no right, title or interest to snatch away the property from the hands of a purchaser pendente lite on the basis of an admission made by the co-defendant transferor subsequent to the date of transfer stating that he had no right, title or interest and that the plaintiff was the owner.)] or decree therein was obtained in collusion (26). There is a fundamental distinction between a proceeding which is collusive and one which is fraudulent. In the former, the claim is fictitious, the contest is unreal and the decree is a mere mask. In the latter, the claim is untrue but the claimant obtains in his favour the verdict of the Court by practising fraud on the Court. While in collusive proceedings the combat is sham, in a fraudulent suit it is real and earnest (27). Whether the suit or the proceedings which resulted in the decree and the sale in execution thereof are collusive is essentially a question of fact (28). The collusion need not be at the inception but might well develop during pendency of the proceedings (29). When a compromise is effected into by a party to the suit with the opposite party subsequent to the transfer of his interest in favour of a stranger with a view to defraud that stranger transferee, the decree passed on such a compromise is said to be obtained in a collusive manner, and the principle of lis pendens will not apply to such a case (30).

24. AIR 1963 Mad 300 (301) ILR (1963) Mad 59 (DB)  (1967) 31 Bom 393 (398) (DB)  (1882) 6 Bom 703 (711, 712)

25. (1958) 71 Mad LW 391 (398) * 1984 Rev LR 169 (171) 1984 Cur LJ (Civ & Cr) 170 (Pun)  AIR 1954 Mys 26 (29) (1953) Mys 332 * AIR 1946 Oudh 99 (101) 21 Luck 185 (DB) * AIR 1935 Pat 230 (230) * (1913) 16 Oudh Cas 225 (231) (DB)

A friendly suit brought to obtain a declaration of the rights of parties cannot be said to be collusive within the meaning of the section (31). The conflict of opinion that had been expressed before the amendment as to whether a friendly suit was a collusive suit or not (32) is now settled of any importance. But though a collusive suit does not operate as lis pendens, a decree passed therein may be binding on the actual parties to the suit (33).

An abandoned suit is very much like a collusive one and the dismissal of a suit brought away by the abandonment by the plaintiff will not operate to affect the title secured by a purchase pendente lite (34).

14. Right to Immovable property must be directly and specifically in question.

The section applies only to suits or proceedings in which any right to immovable property is directly and specifically in question (1). The suits in which no right to immovable property are

26. AIR 2002 Kant 96 (100) : 2000 (6) Kant LJ 545

27. AIR 1956 SC 593 (599) Mys 152  (1975) 1 ALJ 764 (DB). (Merely because the parties to suit belong to the same caste, the even assuming they are related, collusion can not be inferred.)

28. AIR 1956 SC 593 (598) : ILR (1956) Mys 152  (1971) 2 Mys LJ 170 (DB). (Collusion cannot be inferred on the sole evidence that the defendants remained absent when the appeal was heard.)

29. (1958) 71 Maj LJ 39, 398 (1958) 1 ALJ 100 (DB). (The doctrine of lis pendens does not apply.)  AIR 1955 Trav-Co 3 (5) : ILR (1954) Trav-Co 794 (DB). (A suit may be collusive in its very inception or a decree may be obtained by collusion in a suit which was honestly begun.) 7 Trav LJ 42, 18 Trav LJ 478, 18 Trav LJ 524 (Diss. from.)

30. 1984 Rev LR 169 (172) : 1984 Cur LJ (Civ & Cri) 170 (Punj)

31. (1907) 31 Bom 393 (398) (DB)

32. See cases cited in foot note (16) to the effect that a friendly suit is not collusive.

33. (1887) 11 Bom 708 (713) (DB)

34. AIR 1963 Mad 300 (301) : ILR (1963) Mad 592 (DB)

Section 52 — Note 14

1. AIR 1963 Pat 319 (320). (Suit for declaration that defendant was not adopted by plaintiff's husband). — During pendency of suit certain properties transferred by plaintiff. — Compromise decree — Held scope of title suit could not be enlarged by compromise decree into a suit with respect to properties. — Doctrine of lis pendens not applicable. — (1974) 1 Kant 186 (191)  AIR 1975 Andh Pra 217 : (1974) 2 APLJ 325 (Cham to mashe pe, Pat.) 1975 MCC 186 (Delhi)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 454 (456) : ILR (1956) Andh Pra 132 (DB). (The property to which the doctrine of lis pendens applies is property which is the subject matter of the suit.)  AIR (1957) Pat 729 (731) : 36 Pat LJ 39 (DB). — (1950) 55 MLCR 174 (195) (DB) involved are outside the scope of S. 52 (2). The question whether a right to immovable property is directly and specifically in question is not one of mere form. It is really a question of substance of the litigation and if the property transferred is not actually in litigation the section will not apply even though the plaint prima facie includes it. (3) Suits or proceedings for personal reliefs against the defendants are outside this section. Thus, a proceeding under O. 34, R. 6 of the Code of Civil Procedure (4) or a suit for rent (5) or eviction of tenant (6) or a simple suit for money (7) does not operate as lis pendens. The mere fact that in such a suit an 'injunction' is granted against the defendant from alienating his property (8) or an attachment is made of his properties (9) does not make the suit one, in which a right to such property is directly and specifically in question. In

[See also AIR 1957 Pat 408 (413) (DB) (Section 52 prohibits alienation, or any transaction in respect of immovable property forming the subject-matter of a suit or proceeding.)]

2. 1996 (1) BLJR 633 (635).

3. AIR 1957 Pat 408 (413) (DB) (Where by virtue of the lease of a part of the mortgaged property, such property is free from encumbrance and consequently it is not in controversy at all in the proceedings for the mortgage award to the knowledge of both the mortgagor and the mortgagee, the inclusion of the property in the application for award does not alter the position.)  (1950) 55 Mys HCR 174 (195) (DB) (It is not enough if the property is specified without the right to it being directly in issue.)

[See 1976 Pun LJ 183 (186) (AIR 1928 Nag 198 AIR 194 Cal 436 Rel on.)]

4. AIR 1930 Oudh 93 (95) 51 Luck 625 (DB) (Simple money decree.)  AIR 1975 Ker 155 (157)
5. AIR 1952 Pat 9 (11) 30 Pat 317 (To make lis pendens act as notice to purchaser suit must relate specifically to estate and not to money secured on it.)  AIR 1949 Nag 114 (115) ILR (1948) Nag 573 (Suit for rent of holding — Sale of holding during pendency of execution proceedings in suit is not hit by lis pendens.)  AIR 1928 Cal 441 (442, 443) 53 Cal 701 (DB) (Lis pendens to be a notice to a purchaser suit must relate specifically to the estate and not to money secured on it.)  AIR 1926 Cal 191 (192) (DB) (Proceedings under Bengal Tenancy Act.)  AIR 1936 Cal 279 (281) 63 Cal 1117 (Do.)
6. 1996 (1) BLJR 633 (635) (A landlord filed a suit for eviction against a tenant and during its pendency sold the premises. The new owner thereafter filed suit for eviction against the tenant. In a suit for eviction no right or title of the tenant in the property is invoked and therefore the principle of lis pendens is inapplicable. Court's permission was not necessary for the landlord for selling the premises.)
7. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 280 (286) (DB) (Decree for mesne profits is nothing more than a simple decree for money.)  AIR 1957 Pat 408 (414) (DB)  AIR 1940 Oudh 104 (105) (Dower suit — Decree does not create charge on property in hands of heirs of the deceased Muhammadan — Section 52 does not therefore, apply if the heirs mortgage the property in their hands bona fide and for value subsequent to the decree but pending the appeal.)  AIR 1932 Bom 301 (302)  AIR 1931 Oudh 63 (65) (DB) (Claim for dower is simple money claim.)  1880 Pun Re No. 113 p. 276 (282) (DB) (Suit for merely a money decree on a mortgage bond.)
8. AIR 1930 All 387 (388, 389)
[See AIR 1914 Lah 356 (357)]
[See also AIR 1930 Lah 858 (859).]
9. AIR 1950 Bom 278 (285, 286) ILR (1950) Bom 114 (DB)  AIR 1941 Mad 208 (214) (DB) (AIR 1929 All 846 and 6 Ind Cas 40, Followed.)  AIR 1929 All 846 (846, 847) (Attachment operates as a valid prohibition against alienation only from the date of proclamation under O. 21, Rule 54.)  AIR 1915 Oudh 157 (158)  (1910) 6 Ind Cas 40 (42) (DB) (Cal)

Worsley v The Earl of Scarborough (10) where money was secured upon an estate and, in a suit in the Court of Chancery the main question was as to the right to the money and the question relating to the estate on which the money was charged was only collaterally and not directly in question it was held that the purchaser of the estate pending the suit was not affected by lis pendens. A suit against X a legal representative of Y for recovery of money to be realised from the assets of Y in the hands of X, is not one in which the right to the property constituting the assets is directly and specifically in question (11). In Anando Moyee v Dhanendra Chandra (12) which was a case before the Act, where X had attached certain properties in the motassil before a suit for foreclosure had been instituted in the High Court of Calcutta and purchased the same in execution pending the foreclosure suit their Lordships of the Privy Council held distinguishing the case of Barnard v Winchester v Paine (13) that the decree for sale made in the foreclosure suit could not operate as a judgment in rem in the motassil but operated only in personam and could not affect the title of persons who were no parties to the suit.

The underlying principle of this section is that no immovable property which is the subject-matter of the litigation can be transferred or dealt with by any party to the suit to the detriment of the other party. The decree may be for possession or sale of the property or it may only create a charge on the property. But whatever the nature of the decree, it is binding on the person to whom the property is transferred during the litigation (14). Though a charge is not an interest in immovable property, it amounts to a right to immovable property within the meaning of this section (15). The Calcutta High Court has held that though a decree for arrears of rent creates a first charge on the property it does not render the suit itself as one in which a right to immovable property is directly and specifically in issue (16). The Orissa High Court has held that a charge under S. 4 of the Orissa Tenancy Act is not a charge within the meaning of S. 100 of this Act and a proceeding in execution of a rent decree is not one in which any right to immovable property is directly and specifically in issue until a valid attachment is effected (17). The Patna High Court has held that a charge referred to in S. 65 of the Bihar Tenancy Act is not a charge within the meaning of S. 100 of this Act

10. (1746) 26 ER 1025 (1026) · 3 Ark 392.

11. (1910) 8 Ind Cas 1208 (1209) (Law Bur)  1908 Pun LR No. 52 p. 129 (135) (DB)  (1903) 26 All 28 (31, 32) (DB) (Dissenting from 19 All 504.)

[See also (1882) 9 Cal 406 (409) (DB)  (1906) 2 Cal LJ 138 (141) (DB).]

12. (1871) 14 Moo Ind App 101 (109) (PC).

13. (1805) 32 ER 1062 (1063) · 8 RR 131.

14. AIR 1944 Bom 191 (193) · ILR (1944) Bom 274 (DB). (The principle of lis pendens in S. 52 applies to a suit for maintenance in which it is sought to have certain properties charged for the maintenance and lis applies to those properties if they are charged under the decree. If the decree creates a charge, that charge is in all cases binding on the transferee and the question of notice is immaterial.)

15. AIR 1956 SC 593 (597) · ILR (1956) Mys 152. (Suit for maintenance with a decree for charge on specific properties)  AIR 1969 Orissa 114 (116) · 34 Cal LT 1296 (Charge created by maintenance decree)  AIR 1966 Madh Pra 318 (323)  AIR 1959 Bom 475 (477) · ILR (1959) Bom 94 (Suit by Hindu wife for maintenance claiming charge on husband's property — AIR 1957 Mad 502 Diss. from)  AIR 1951 All 141 (146, 151, 153) · ILR (1953) 1 All 284 (FB)  AIR 1945 Cal 22 (32) (DB)  AIR 1943 Cal 227 (231) (DB).

[But see AIR 1964 Bom 1 (4) · ILR (1963) Bom 509 (DB)  AIR 1943 Oudh 354 (360) · 19 Luck 1 (FB). The essence of the doctrine of lis pendens is that immovable property should form the subject-matter of the dispute and proceedings in respect of such property do not imply that a right to immovable property is directly and specifically in question.)] and a transfer after the rent decree but before execution will not attract the provisions of this section (18) Where the genuineness of a deed such as a deed of settlement, is only in question, there is no right to immovable property directly and specifically in question (19)

16. AIR 1951 Cal 221 (224) · ILR (1951) 1 Cal 283 (DB).

17. AIR 1951 Orissa 41 (45) · ILR (1950) Cut 195 (DB).

An easement being a right or interest in immovable property S 52 will apply to a case where A obtains a decree against B for an injunction restraining him from interfering with his right to drain off water through his lands and C purchases the property from B after the passing of the decree (20)

In suit under S 36, Bengal Money-lenders Act (10 of 1940), the right to immovable property is not directly and specifically in question.(21)

A suit or proceeding, in which, at its inception, no question as to right to any property is directly or specifically raised, may at a subsequent stage thereof, become a suit or proceeding in which such question is involved. Thus, a suit for maintenance in which no charge is asked for against any property is not at its inception, one in which any right to immovable property is in question. But if the decree declares a charge on any particular property, the litigation thereafter becomes one in which such right is in question and a subsequent transfer of the property will be affected by lis pendens (22) Similarly, where in a suit for mesne profits, the defendant furnishes security of specific immovable property for any amount that may be decreed in the suit, the litigation becomes, from the date the security is given, one in which a right to immovable property is in question. A transfer, therefore, of such property after the date on which it is given as security will be affected by lis pendens (23) Where a security bond for due performance of decree is executed not by any surety, but by the judgment-debtor himself and is accepted by the Court at a time when the decree is being enforced against his person, it is perfectly competent for the execution Court to enforce the liability that is created under the bond as accepted by Court. Persons who have taken the subsequent hypothecation bond from the judgment-debtor are not entitled in law to any notice of the proceedings in execution based on the order on the security bond and the rights acquired by these persons are clearly affected by the rule of lis pendens (24) So also where, in execution of a simple money decree against A as the legal representative of B certain properties of A were attached and A objected to such attachment, it was held in a case, before the Act, that from the moment the objection was raised, the right to the property became the subject-matter of the litigation, and that a subsequent transfer thereof would be affected by lis pendens (25) In Bazayer Hossein v Dooli Chand(26) where, in a suit by creditors of a deceased person against his heirs for recovery of money from out of the assets, a decree was passed directing the defendants to account for the property, a transferee, who took the property after the decree, was held affected by lis pendens. A contrary view has, however, been taken by the Nagpur High Court,(27) namely that the doctrine of lis pendens will not apply unless from the very beginning of the suit or proceeding the right to the 18. AIR 1952 Pat 9 (11) : 30 Pat 317 (DB).

19. AIR 1945 Mad 454 (456)

20. AIR 1955 Andh 199 (200) : ILR (1955) Andhra 257.

21. AIR 1955 NUC 2069 : ILR (1953) 1 Cal 101 (105).

22. AIR 1936 Mad 589 (592) (Essential to constitute lis pendens stated)

(See also AIR 1944 Bom 191 (193) (DB) (Decree creating charge for maintenance comes under section.))

23. AIR 1936 Mad 589 (592)

(See also AIR 1953 Trav-Co 364 (366) (DB) (AIR 1936 Mad 580, Rel on))

24. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 364 (366) (DB).

25. (1873) 19 Suth WR 197 (197) (DB)

26. (1879) 4 Cal 402 (410) (PC).

27. AIR 1940 Nag 8 (13) (DB) property was in question, and that, where a suit for money, a charge is declared by the decree on certain property, a transfer of the property subsequent to the decree, is not affected by lis pendens. Their Lordships relied upon the decision of the High Court of Patna in the undermentioned case (28). In that case the plaintiff sued for the recovery of money and also claimed that certain properties should be charged for the amount that may be decreed, but the Court granted merely a money decree without giving any charge on any property. It was held that a transfer of the property pending the suit was not affected by lis pendens for two reasons, firstly that the actual decree did not affect in any way the property transferred, and secondly that the suit, even though asking for a charge in the plaint, was not one in which any right to immovable property was in question. It is submitted that the Nagpur view is not correct. Nor is the second reason given by the Patna High Court correct.

A suit which, at its inception, is one in which a right to property is in question, may, at a subsequent stage, cease to involve any such question, in which case, it will cease to operate as lis pendens. Thus, where in a mortgage suit for sale of the mortgaged property, a money decree was passed against the defendant and subsequent to the decree, the defendant transferred the mortgaged property, it was observed by their Lordships of the Privy Council that so long as the decree stood, the title of the defendant to the property was not directly and specifically in question. (29) In such cases, really, the transfer does not affect in any way the rights of the parties under the decree (30).

A transfer made before the property is brought within the control and jurisdiction of the Court is not affected by lis pendens. Thus, where the plaintiff sued in respect of property 'x' and the defendant transferred property 'z' while the suit was pending, but subsequently the plaintiff got the plaint amended by substituting property 'y' for property 'x' in the plaint description of property, it was held that the amendment did not relate back to the date of the plaint, and that the transfer of 'z' was not affected by lis pendens (31). But the amendment order will relate back to the date of application for amendment, hence, a transfer of property 'z' in the above illustration after the date of application for amendment, but before it is ordered, will be clearly affected by lis pendens (32).

The section will apply only where the property transferred is the same as the property in litigation. It has been held in some cases (33) that in order that the doctrine of lis pendens may apply the property in litigation must be described with sufficient precision so that its identity can be ascertained. This view appears to be based on the theory that lis pendens operates as notice to the transferee, and that the description of the property must be sufficiently precise to put him on his guard. It was accordingly held in the undermentioned case (34) that an abnee who knew that the particular property was in litigation cannot rely upon the fact that the property was misdescribed in the plaint. In the case noted below (35) the High Court of Bombay pointed out that the doctrine of lis pendens is not based on any theory of notice, and that therefore the knowledge of the abnee as to the identity of the property he is buying, with the property described in the plaint is immaterial, but it held that the real question was whether the parties knew from the description given in the plaint what pro-

28. AIR 1936 Pat 571 (572).

29. (1905) 32 Cal 198 (212, 217) (PC).

30. AIR 1936 Pat 571 (572).

Also see Note 35.

31. AIR 1962 Mys 189 (189) ILR (1962) Mys 312  AIR 1920 Nag 92 (92-93)  AIR 919 All 320 (321, 322) : 41 All 534 (DB).

32. AIR 1945 Mad 219 (220).

33. AIR 1935 Oudh 49 (51) (DB)  (1940) 44 Cal WN 783 (784-785) (Whitely's case) it will be sufficient in a particular case to depend on the facts of that case.  AIR 1940 Cal 85 (86, 87) (Cal).

34. AIR 1921 Cal 730 (741) (DB).

35. AIR 1937 Bom 244 (252, 253) (DB).

erties exactly were included in the litigation. It is submitted that the doctrine of lis pendens is based neither upon the theory of notice to the alienee nor upon the fact that the party transferring know that the property is included in the litigation. If as a fact the property is the subject of litigation, then a transfer thereof will be affected by lis pendens. The question of the description of property in the plaint or proceeding is merely relevant in order to find out whether the property transferred is, or is not, included in the litigation.

15. Applicability of doctrine of lis pendens to movable property.

This section does not in terms apply to the transfers of movable property pendente lite. But does the principle underlying the section apply to such cases? In Wigram v. Buckley(1) it was held by the Court of Appeal in England that the doctrine of lis pendens does not apply to personal estate other than chattel interests in land. Lindley, L.J. observed :

"If the doctrine of lis pendens were applicable to personal property generally, bankers and others, could not safely make advances on ships or goods and that which represents them in commerce—for example, bills of lading, dock warrants, wharfingers receipts, nor upon stock and share certificates, nor upon debentures or policies, nor even on negotiable securities, without making searches in the Judgment Registry Office. Such a doctrine would paralyse the trade of the country, and there is no warrant for it either in the statutes relating to lis pendens or in the decisions of the Courts."

The view taken in Wigram's case(2) was followed in this country in the undermentioned cases(3) and it was held that the principle underlying the section had no application to movable property. A different view has, however, been taken in some cases. In Banka Benari Lal v. Raghunath Dayal(4) Sulaiman, J., expressed the view that the principle of the section would be applicable to movable property. In Itari v. Viswanathan(5) it was observed obiter that the principle of the section was applicable to movable property "if the alienee is proved to have had notice of the pending suit." (6) It is submitted that these views are not correct. In the undermentioned case(7) it was held that though S. 52 may not apply in strict sense to moveable property, still the cardinal principle for which it stands cannot be ignored.

16. Only property in litigation cannot be transferred.

The section applies only where the property in litigation actually is transferred. It cannot obviously, apply where the property transferred is other than the one in litigation (1)

Section 52 — Note 15

1. (1894) 63 LJ Ch 689 (692, 693) • (1894) 3 Ch 483 (493)
2. (1894) 63 LJ Ch 689 (692, 693) • (1894) 3 Ch 483, Wigram v. Buckley
3. AIR 1962 Ker 309 (312) • ILR (1962) 2 Ker 55  AIR 1952 Mad 59 (59, 60)  (1939) 29 Trav LJ 1252 (1255) (DB)  AIR 1943 Mad 94 (97) (DB) (36 Bom 189, followed.)  (1912) 36 Bom 189 (196) (DB)  (1901) 25 Bom 406 (422)  (1896) 9 CPLR 22 (24, 26)
[See (1901) 23 All 331 (335) (DB) (Assumed that doctrine does not apply to movable property — But mortgage decree held to be immovable property and the doctrine held applied to the transfer of such decree.)]
[See also AIR 1922 Pat 394 (395, 396) • 1 Pat 5 (DB) (It is more than doubtful if the doctrine of lis pendens is applicable to movable property.)]
4. AIR 1930 All 380 (381, 382) (DB). (Transfer of decree)
5. AIR 1915 Mad 502 (502) (DB)
6. See also AIR 1934 Mad 40 (43) • 57 Mad 426
7. 2000 (2) Mad LJ 417 (419).

Section 52 — Note 16

1. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 573 (574) (Where the suit is for redemption of the mortgage in favour

There is no general doctrine of law that nothing that accrued between the date of the suit and the date of the decree could alter the relations existing between the parties. Where therefore A a cosharer in a village sold his shares to a stranger, and B another cosharer instituted a suit for pre-emption but during the pendency of the suit the stranger obtained by gift from another cosharer another share in the village and thus himself became a cosharer, it was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that B lost his right to pre-emption (2). This case was decided on a state of law which existed prior to the enactment of the Agra Pre-emption Act, XI of 1922 which provided in S. 19 that the right of pre-emption must not only exist at the date of the suit, but also at the date of the decree. The Act has, however, now been amended by the Agra Pre-emption (Amendment) Act (U.P. Act IX of 1929), and as amended a right of pre-emption cannot be defeated by any voluntary transfer made in favour of the vendee after institution of a suit for pre-emption.

As for repeal of the Agra Pre-emption Act, see S. 139 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (I of 1951).

Even if a compromise decree covers a matter which was not subject-matter of the suit, it is executable and the principle of lis pendens applies; the judgment-debtor cannot object execution of the decree on ground that it contains certain terms which do not relate to the suit (3).

17. Administration suit.

An administration suit like any other suit will operate as lis pendens if the property transferred is directly and specifically in question in the suit. In a mere general claim for administration of a trust or of a deceased person's estate, the suit does not operate as lis pendens. For though a property included in the estate may be directly in question it cannot be said to be specifically in question (1). But where the particular property is sufficiently indicated in the suit, the suit would operate as lis pendens (2). Thus, where a Commissioner is appointed in the suit and he makes a report to the Court in which he finds that a particular land should be dealt with as the estate of the deceased person, the property comes from that line directly and specifically in question (3). So also where an administration order is passed in the suit for sale of certain specified property (4).

In Chatturpuri Singh v. Maharaj Bahadur (5) their Lordships of the Privy Council held that a transfer, after an order for sale by the Receiver in an administration suit, and before such sale is of defendant No. 1 and not for the redemption of the sub-mortgages made by defendant No. 1. It does not mean that the plaintiff was redeeming the sub-mortgages made by defendant No. 1, therefore transfer of possession by sub-mortgagee during the pendency of the suit for redemption cannot be vitiated.  AIR 1925 Nag 274 (277) 2 Nag 1 R 331 (1924) 34 Cal WN 783 (784, 785).

2. AIR 1932 PC 57 (60) : 54 All 189. (AIR 1929 All 53 (FB) Approved.)

3. AIR 1989 Raj 43 (48) : (1988) 1 Rajasthan LR 466

Section 52 — Note 17

1. AIR 1923 Rang 69 (70) (DB). (Suit between an heir and an administrator. Affirmed by the administrator.)  AIR 1924 Rang 221 (232) 2 Rang 4 (DB) (Do.)

[See also AIR 1927 Rang 186 (187) : 5 Rang 266 (DB).]

2. AIR 1924 Rang 221 (229) 2 Rang 4 (DB)  (1887) 35 Ch D 297 (305) : 56 LJ Ch 530 (535), Price v Price.

[See also (1768) 27 ER 439 (439) Amb 676 Walker v Smalwood.]

3. AIR 1930 Rang 132 (136) 7 Rang 734 (DB). (Doctrine applies to transfers after Court sales independently of T.P. Act.)

4. AIR 1925 Cal 395 (398) : 51 Cal 1033 (DB).

5. (1905) 32 Cal 198 (218) (PC).

[See also AIR 1925 Cal 395 (397) 51 Cal 1033 (DB)  AIR 1925 Cal 703 (704) (DB) * AIR 1941 Rang 79 (80) : 1940 Rang LR 826 (DB).]

subject to the result of the suit by virtue of the doctrine of lis pendens. Their Lordships also observed that apart from the doctrine of lis pendens there was a broader proposition of law applicable to such cases and their Lordships stated the proposition as follows:

"When the estate of a deceased person is under administration by the Court or out of Court, a purchaser from a residuary legatee or heir buys subject to any disposition which has been or may be made of the deceased's estate in due course of administration. In fact, the right of the residuary legatee or heir is only to share in the share ultimate residue which may remain for final distribution after all the liabilities of the estate, including the expenses of administration have been satisfied."

In Puran Chand v Monmotho Nath, (6) a suit was filed against the trustees of a certain estate for the ascertainment of the respective rights of the parties interested in the trust deed and for directions as to the administration of the trust. By an interim decree R. N. was declared entitled to one-sixth share of the property X and, after other declarations, it was ordered that the trustees should retain the costs of the suit out of the trust properties. Thereupon, while further proceedings in the suit were still pending, R. N. mortgaged his one-sixth share to M. Subsequently, a further order in the suit was passed that property X should be sold for raising monies for payment of the costs of the trustees and the property was sold to A. It was held that M took his mortgage only subject to the further orders of the Court in the suit and therefore took it only subject to the sale. Their Lordships of the Privy Council further held relying upon Chatturput Singh v Maharaj Bahadoor (7) that the principle of the decision applied equally to a suit for administration of the trust as to a suit for the administration of a deceased person's estate.

In Ma Chit Su v National Bank of India Ltd (8) where pending, a suit for administration in the Chief Court, the property comprised in the suit was sold under the permission granted by a subordinate Court to the administrator appointed by it in a proceeding under the Probate and Administration Act, 1881 and the administrator was a party to the suit in the Chief Court, their Lordships of the Privy Council observed as follows:

"The suit for an administration of the estate had been entertained by the Chief Court, and was pending in that Court, and it is difficult for their Lordships to understand that the Legislature could have intended that when a suit for administration of an estate is before a Court competent to entertain it and to order that accounts should be taken in the suit, any other Court should have power to grant permission for the sale of property (part of the estate), but it appears from the judgments in this suit of the Chief Court that according to some rules of practice of the Chief Court, the Chief Court recognised a power of another Court to grant permission, for the sale of property of the estate before the Chief Court."

18. Mortgage suits.

The doctrine of lis pendens applies to mortgage suits also. In such suits the equity of redemption of the mortgagor is directly and specifically in question (1) and a transfer either privately by the

6. AIR 1928 PC 38 (39) : 55 Cal 532 : 55 Ind App 81.

7. (1905) 32 Cal 198 (217) (PC).

8. AIR 1925 PC 261 (263).

Section 52 — Note 18

1. AIR 1931 All 466 (480) : 53 All 1023 (FB)  AIR 1922 Nag 89 (91) (FB)  AIR 1943 Cal 577 (584)  AIR 1954 Sau 82 (84)  AIR 1930 All 597 (599) (DB) (Transfer of property after final decree but before complete satisfaction of it)  AIR 1933 All 201 (202) : 55 All 235 (DB) (Transfer of property pending foreclosure proceeding)  (1910) 13 Oudh Cas 50 (52) (DB)  (1908) 8 Cal LJ 153 (155) (DB)  (1913) 18 Ind Cas 177 (178, 179) (DB) (Cal). (Suit to enforce a simple mortgage.)

[See also (1921) 63 Ind Cas 144 (144) (DB) All (Final decree for sale — Judgment-debtor transferring his interest in the property mortgaged — The transfer or the fact that the transferee's name did not appear in the decree held no impediment to the sale and did not affect the rights for the decree-holder to realise his money)] mortgagor(2) or by way of compulsory sale in execution of a decree or otherwise(3) would be

2. AIR 1967 SC 1390 (1395) : ILR 46 Pat 870. (Lease by mortgagor pending suit for sale by mortgagee)  AIR 1937 PC 260 (261)  (1888) 15 Cal 756 (761) (PC)  (1977) Mad LJ 196 (198) (Purchase after extinguishment of mortgage — Doctrine of lis pendens does not apply)  AIR 1957 Ker 121 (124) (DB)  AIR 1954 Trav Co 38 (40) (DB) (Suit on mortgage pending — Subsequent mortgage pending — subsequent mortgage on same property — Property sold in execution of decree obtained in suit — Property goes to auction purchaser free of charge created during pendency of suit)  AIR 1943 Lah 113 (118) (DB) (A subsequent mortgage effected during the pendency of a suit by a prior mortgagee against the mortgagor does not, under the rule of lis pendens, affect the rights of the prior mortgagee, and the subsequent mortgagee cannot impugn the rights of the latter except to the extent to which he is protected by the rule of subrogation)  AIR 1937 Pat 13 (13) 15 Pat 372 (DB) (Sale)  1936 Mad WN 1069 (1069) (Sale by assignee of prior mortgagee — Assignee obtaining decree and purchasing suit property — Suit by subsequent mortgagee — Prior mortgagee's assignee impleaded — Sale by assignee of prior mortgagee to stranger during pendency of latter suit — Transfer hit by doctrine of lis pendens)  AIR 1918 Bom 105 (106) 43 Bom 240 (DB) (Mortgage)  AIR 1916 Oudh 232 (233) 18 Oudh Cas 369  (1910) 22 All 243 (245) (DB) (A second mortgagee who takes a mortgage from a defendant mortgagor during the pendency of a suit on a prior mortgage should be treated as a representative of the defendant in execution of decree within the meaning of S 244 Civil Procedure Code, 1882)  1887 All WN 91 (91) (DB) (Mortgage)  (1884) 6 All 444 (446) (DB) (It makes no difference that the purchase is by a registered document while the suit is on an unregistered one relating to the same property)  (1874) 11 Bom HC R 64 (67) (DB) (Registration of mortgage during pendency of suit by mortgagee under unregistered deed for foreclosure and sale — Rule of lis pendens applied)  1874 Bom PJ 189 (DB) (Sale)  AIR 1935 Oudh 49 (51) (DB) (Do)  (1875) 23 South WR 382 (382) (DB) (Suit on an unregistered mortgage — During the suit sale by mortgagor by registered deed — Held, sale was subject to the doctrine of lis pendens.)
3. (1888) 15 Cal 756 (761) (PC)  AIR 1952 Nag 341 (347) : ILR (1952) Nag 211 (FB) (Purchaser in sale held under S 157 C P Land Revenue Act during pendency of mortgage suit in respect of that property is bound by the decree in view of S 52)  AIR 1941 All 466 (480) : 53 All 1023 (FB)  AIR 1983 Andh Pra 49 (56, 57) : (1982) 2 Andh LT 280 (DB) (Where the compromise decree was passed in a suit and before satisfaction of such decree the property in dispute was sold, the sale would be hit by the provisions of S 52)  AIR 1972 Ker 68 (70) 1971 Ker LT 730  AIR 1962 Bom 191 (196) : ILR (1961) Bom 977  (1962) 2 Mad LJ 336 (337)  AIR 1959 Ker 133 (135) : ILR (1958) Ker 480 (DB) (Sale in execution of money decree subsequent to mortgage suit)  AIR 1955 All 24 (25) (DB). (AIR 1931 All 466 (FB), Rel. on.)  ILR (1955) 1 All 673 (685) (DB) (House sold for realization of arrears of income tax after preliminary mortgage decree and during pendency of mortgage suit is hit by doctrine of lis pendens and is subject to the rights of the mortgagee)  AIR 1952 All 298 (299) (Revenue sale under S 162 C P Land Revenue Act (1901) for realisation of money due to a Co-operative Bank — Sale taking place during pendency of a mortgage suit — Subsequent sale in execution of mortgage decree — Purchaser under revenue sale is bound by sale in execution of mortgage decree)  AIR 1950 Orissa 36 (41) : ILR (1949) 1 Cut 557 (DB) (Rent decree under S 199 Orissa Tenancy Act — Mortgage suit on the holding pending — Execution sale under rent decree before passing of final decree in mortgage suit — Decree holder/purchaser gets only right of redemption which is barred on confirmation of sale under final decree in mortgage suit)  1950 Trav-Co LR 636 (640) (DB) (1 TLJ 28 and 16 TLJ 510 (FB), Rel. on)  AIR 1949 Mad 207 (208)  1943 Trav LR 33  AIR 1929 All 601 (602) (Auction sale in execution of Government dues)  AIR 1928 Lah 505 (507) (Sale in execution of decree in a suit by a puisne mortgagee during the pendency of suit by a prior mortgagee to which the puisne mortgagee was a party is affected by lis pendens)  affected by the doctrine of lis pendens. The transferee would be bound by the decree in the suit (4). He takes it subject to the incidents of the suit (5) and one of the incidents is that a purchaser under the decree in the suit gets a good title against all persons whom the suit binds (6). He cannot claim to redeem the mortgagee or purchaser in execution of the decree on the ground that he was not a party to the suit, though he could have redeemed the mortgagee before the sale (7).

(1911) 9 Ind Cas 772 (773) (Rang) (Sale in execution of money decree against mortgagor)  1898 Bom PJ 38 (DB) (Sale of the same property by Court in execution of money decree)  AIR 1925 Oudh 496 (498) 29 Oudh Cas 37 (DB) (Sale of property in execution of money decree)  AIR 1917 Bom 151 (152) 42 Bom 215 (DB) (Transfer effected under another Court's order pending suit)  (1874) 11 Bom HCR 139 (143) (DB) (Sale in execution of money decree pending suit.)

4. AIR 1954 Trav Co 38 (40) (Suit on mortgage pending — Subsequent mortgage — Properties sold in execution of decree obtained in suit — Property goes to auction purchaser free of charge created during pendency of suit)  (1975) 1 Andh WR 264 (DB) (Mortgage executed despite notice of pending suit in which charge in respect of the same properties was claimed — Held mortgage was hit by S 52)  (1973) 2 Mys LJ 76 (DB) (Mortgage with possession — Mortgagee acquiring equity of redemption in execution of money decree against mortgagor — Suit by mortgagor under S 16 Jamkhanda Agriculturists Relief Act 1939 — Mortgage of defendant is affected by doctrine of lis pendens)  (1933) 142 Ind Cas 188 (189) (Cochin) (DB)  AIR 1940 Cal 150 (152, 153) (DB)  AIR 1933 All 201 (202) 55 All 235 (DB)  AIR 1928 Mad 612 (613) (DB)  (1889) 16 Cal 335 (363) (DB) (Where a mortgage decree becomes inoperative by reason of the law of limitation a purchaser pendente lite is no longer bound by it)  (1885) 9 Bom 141 (145) (DB) (Redemption suit by mortgagor — Transfer of a part of the property pendente lite.)

Also see S 60, Note 54

5. AIR 1967 SC 1390 (1395) : ILR 46 Pat 870  (1991) 1 Bank LJ 382 (384) 1989 (2) Bank CLR 470 (MP)  AIR 1933 All 201 (202) 55 All 235 (DB)  AIR 1922 Cal 235 (236) (DB)
6. AIR 1967 SC 1390 (1395) : ILR 46 Pat 870  AIR 1954 Trav-Co 38 (40) (Suit on mortgage pending — Subsequent mortgage — Properties sold in execution of decree obtained in suit — Property goes to auction purchaser free of charge created during pendency of suit)  AIR 1918 Bom 105 (106) 43 Bom 240 (DB)  1874 Bom PJ 189 (DB) (Purchaser at sale in execution of decree acquires better title than the purchaser pendente lite.)
7. AIR 1967 SC 1390 (1395) : ILR 46 Pat 870  (1890) 18 Cal 164 (178) (PC)  AIR 1950 Orissa 36 (41) ILR (1949) 1 Cut 559 (DB) (Rent decree under S 199 Orissa Tenancy Act — Mortgage suit on the holding pending — Execution sale under rent decree before passing of final decree in mortgage suit — Decree-holder purchaser gets only right of redemption which is barred on confirmation of sale under final decree)  AIR 1948 Nag 97 (99) ILR (1947) Nag 719 (He is bound by the result of the lis and cannot claim a right to redeem the mortgaged property. The same principle applies to a person acquiring title by adverse possession)  AIR 1933 All 201 (203) 55 All 235 (DB) (Suit for foreclosure — No authority of the Court for transfer was obtained)  AIR 1929 All 601 (602)  AIR 1925 Oudh 496 (498) 29 Oudh Cas 37 (DB)  (1899) 26 Cal 966 (970) (DB)  (1909) 4 Ind Cas 731 (732) (DB) (Cal).

[See also AIR 1940 Cal 150 (152, 153) (DB)  AIR 1934 All 972 (973) (If a defendant wanted to take advantage of a private sale made by a mortgagor after the decree in mortgage suit it is his duty to intervene in the execution proceedings and to pay the mortgage money and to stop the sale and after the sale had taken place, it is not open to the purchaser from the mortgagor, against whom a decree for sale has been passed, to say that he could nullify the purchase under the mortgage decree)]

[See however AIR 1946 Mad 51 (52) (Maintenance decree creating charge — Execution

An application to file an award directing the sale of mortgaged property is an original proceeding to which the doctrine of lis pendens will apply (8) A suit for contribution under S 82 operates as a lis pendens and a transfer pending such a suit would be subject to the result of such suit (9)

Where pending a suit between the mortgagor and the mortgagees, the mortgagor sold the equity of redemption to a stranger and the amount decreed as due in the first Court was increased in appeal the purchaser was held bound by the result of the appeal and not entitled to claim that he was liable to pay only such sum as had been decreed at the time of the purchase as due to the mortgagees. (10)

The lis in a mortgage suit continues until the mortgage decree is fully executed. (11) or, where the suit is one for foreclosure, until a final decree foreclosing the mortgagor's right is passed (12) A transfer by the mortgagor of the mortgaged property between the date of the decree and before the date of the sale in execution of the decree, will be affected by lis pendens (13) So also will be a transfer by him between the dates of the preliminary and final decrees (14) In an old case before the and sale under decree — Mortgage of charged properties after decree but before sale Mortgagee was held entitled to redeem and pay off charge decree holder at any time before sale was confirmed)]

Also see S 60, Note 54

8. (1880) 4 Bom 34 (36, 37) (DB)

9. (1891) 13 All 371 (373) (DB)

10. AIR 1929 PC 243 (245) : 51 All 686.

11. AIR 1934 Mad 353, 354, 355 (DB)  AIR 1931 Mad 170 (172) (The same principle applies to maintenance suit  AIR 1929 Mad 197 (197) (DB) A mortgage suit does not finally come to an end with the passing of a preliminary decree)  AIR 1927 All 309 (310) (A person claiming under a transfer during the pendency of a mortgage suit cannot prescribe a title against the mortgagee by adverse possession until the latter becomes entitled to actual possession by virtue of his purchase in execution of his mortgage decree)  AIR 1925 Mad 1039 (1039, 1040)  AIR 1921 Cal 730 (74) (DB)  (1940) 44 Cal WN 783 (786) (Lis in mortgage suit does not terminate till the security has been realised for satisfaction of the judgment debt)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 1027 (1028) (DB) (Cal)  (1910) 6 Ind Cas 40 (41) (DB) (Cal)  (1910) 6 Nag LR 140, 142  (1901) 23 A 331, 334 (DB)

[See also (1867) 7 Suth WR 67 (67) (DB) (A purchaser under a decree for sale obtained by the mortgagee under a simple mortgage does not purchase subject to a conditional sale executed by the mortgagor after the prior mortgagee had obtained a decree of sale but before the property was actually sold)]

12. (1907) 29 All 76 (80, 81).

13. AIR 1931 All 466 (480) : 53 All 1023 (FB)  (1968) 1 Mys LJ 384 (Alienations made subsequent to decree were affected by doctrine of lis pendens)  AIR 1931 Pat 64 (67) 10 Pat 234 (DB)  AIR 1925 Mad 1039 (1040)  AIR 1918 Cal 524, 525 (DB) (Purchase in execution of a money decree after the passing of a mortgage decree but before the sale of the property in execution thereof)  AIR 1915 Snd 9, 9 (DB) (Second mortgage executed after the decree for sale on the first mortgage)  (1911) 10 Ind Cas 144 (144) (DB) (All)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 840 (840) (Cal)  (1911) 10 Ind Cas 49, 50 (DB) (Cal)  (1909) 3 Ind Cas 791 (792) (DB) (Cal) (Suit though proceeded ex parte still was held to be a contentious one)  (1909) 1 Ind Cas 213 (215) (DB) (Cal)  (1909) 1 Ind Cas 62 (66) (DB) (Cal)  (1909) 4 Ind Cas 731 (731, 732) (DB) (Cal) (Revenue sale of share of estate during pendency of execution proceedings on a mortgage decree)  (1908) 7 Cal LJ 1 (35) (DB) (Reversed on another point in 40 Cal 59, PC)  (1905) 2 Cal LJ 288 (300) (DB)  (1905) 32 Cal 891 (906) (DB)  (1904) 9 Cal WN 171 (174)  (1904) 28 Bom 361 (363) (DB)  (1898) 22 Bom 939 (943) (DB)

14. AIR 1935 Oudh 49 (51) (DB)  AIR 1932 All 210 (212) (DB)  AIR 1926 Nag 21 (22)

Act it was held that a transfer by the mortgagee of the mortgaged property when a suit by him for foreclosure was pending, could not be allowed to stand between the mortgagor and those rights to redeem which that suit, in its ultimate issue, may have left open and affirmed to him. (15)

Where the agreement to purchase mortgaged property is entered into by a person during pendency of the suit for enforcement of mortgage, the doctrine of lis pendens is attracted. A transfer pendente lite is not per se void or illegal but is subject to the decree that may be ultimately passed. Thus the person who has entered into the agreement to purchase property pendente lite is not precluded in law either on account of the rule of lis pendens or on account of S. 52 from filing a suit for specific performance or in filing an application under O. 2, R. 89, CPC to safeguard his interest under the agreement, when he has in fact filed such suit for specific performance and it is pending. The court auction sale of the property in the suit for enforcement of mortgage will also be subject to the rule of lis pendens. (16)

Though under the last para of S. 60, T. P. Act, the co-mortgagor cannot redeem the entire hypotheca and has to redeem only the mortgagor's share, that principle does not apply if the purchase of a share by the mortgagee is after the filing of the suit for redemption by the co-mortgagor. In that case the co-mortgagor can sue for redemption and possession of the entire hypotheca and the mortgagee can cling on to the possession of the property by purchasing after suit a share of the hypotheca, however small from the non-redeeming co-mortgagors. In that event he is subject to S. 52, T. P. Act and has to first surrender possession of the entire hypotheca qua-mortgagee and then sue for partition and possession. (17)

The plaintiff-Bank filed a suit against the defendant for recovery of loan amount and sale of the property mortgaged with the Bank. During pendency of the suit the defendant filed an application for permission to sell the suit property and produce an agreement of sale with third party. It was held that the court could not grant permission to the defendant-mortgagor on ground that he had right to decide what was the adequate price and that the sale would be beneficial to both the mortgagor and mortgagee. (18)

Where the lease deeds were executed by the tenants long after preliminary and final decrees were passed in a mortgage suit, and there was no material to show that the deeds were executed during the pendency of the execution petition, S. 52 would not apply. (19)

See also Note 7

19. Partition suits.

A suit for partition of immovable property is one in which rights to immovable property are directly and specifically in question. Such suits will therefore operate as lis pendens. A transferee of property pending such a suit will therefore be bound by the decree passed in the suit. (1) In some

23 Nag LR 86 (Decree for foreclosure)  AIR 1925 Nag 132 (134) 22 Nag LR 110 (Decree for foreclosure)  AIR 1915 All 27 (28) (DB)  (1910) 6 Nag LR 140 (142)

[See also ILR (1955) 1 All 673 (685) AIR 1955 NUC 1698 (Sale of property under S. 162, U.P. Land Revenue Act (1902) for recovery of arrears of income tax held after preliminary mortgage decree is affected by doctrine of lis pendens.)]

15. (1867) 8 Suth WR 399 (403) (DB).

16. (1987) 100 Mad LW 225 (231) (DB)

17. AIR 1988 Andh Pra 215 (225, 226) : (1987) 2 APLJ (HC) 27

18. (1989) 2 Bank CLR 470 (473) (MP)

19. 1993 (1) Andh LT 120 (128).

Section 52 — Note 19

1. AIR 1966 Orissa 98 (102) (DB)  AIR 1982 (NOC) 42 (Cal) (AIR 1926 Cal 714 (FB), AIR cases(2) before the amendment of the section it was however, held that a particular suit was not necessarily a contentious suit and that the question whether it was a contentious suit would depend upon the facts of the particular case. These cases are no longer law in view of the amended section. But it has been held in a case of the Calcutta High Court(3) that a partition suit in which there is no contest as to the fractional share of the parties is not one in which their rights to the immovable property are directly and specifically in question, and that S. 52 does not apply to such a case. A similar view has been expressed by the Oudh Chief Court in the undermentioned case (4)

Section 52 embodies in its ambit the term "proceedings" and this term will include partition proceedings also. The sale effected during partition proceedings pending before the Revenue Officer will be hit by the rule of lis pendens. Partition proceedings operate us lis pendens with the result that a purchaser of undivided share pending partition proceedings takes only that property which is allotted on partition to the vendor. The purchaser cannot avoid partition proceedings and is bound by it since his vendor was a party to the partition proceedings(5)

Where during pendency of partition suit a person purchased an item of property which was a subject-matter of that partition suit, he being interested party is entitled to be impleaded in appeal arising out of that suit, under O. 22, R. 10, CPC (6)

Where however, a person enters into agreement to purchase part of the property which is the subject-matter of a partition suit, he does not acquire any interest in the property in view of the last para of s. 54. Again, in view of the doctrine of lis pendens he could not be considered to be either necessary or proper party to the partition suit. Having no legal interest he could not be impleaded as a party in the partition suit.(7)

1926 Cal 714 (FB); AIR 1970 Ker 187; AIR 1964 Punj 525. Rel. on.  AIR 1970 Ker 188; 1969 Ker LT 326  AIR 1961 Ker 335 (335, 336). Tenant induced by party during pendency of partition suit is bound by decree.  (1958) 1 Andh WR 85 (86) (DB). Sale after institution of partition suit. — Prior agreement to sell does not affect application of S. 52. Overruled on another point in AIR 1959 Andh Pra 523 (FB).  1954 BLJR 356 (359); AIR 1955 NOC 1597  AIR 1946 Pat 306 (309); 25 Pat 13 (DB). (A partition suit operates as lis pendens with the result that the purchaser of an undivided share pending a suit takes only that property which is allotted on partition to his vendor.)  AIR 1939 Mad 275 (275). (Rule of lis pendens operates from date of application for leave to sue in forma pauperis, praying for partition.)  AIR 1936 Mad 887 (888, 889); 11 R (1937) Mad 66 (DB)  AIR 1936 Nag 125 (126); 11 R (1936) Nag 22 (DB)  AIR 1934 Lah 457, 458 (DB)  AIR 1931 All 45 (47) (DB). (Auction sale.)  AIR 1928 Bom 65 (66); 52 Bom 208 (DB)  AIR 1927 All 679 (680); 50 All 22 (DB). (Transfer during partition proceedings in Revenue Court — Doctrine of lis pendens applies.)  AIR 1934 Nag 393 (94) (DB)  AIR 1915 Nag 89 (90); 11 Nag LR 21. (Agricultural lease during pendency of transfer proceedings.)  1930 Mad WN 572 (576). (Partition suit is not non-contentious suit.)  (1898) 26 Cal 127 (128, 129)  (1926) 98 Ind Cas 1039 (1042) (DB) (Oudh (Mortgage of a grove)  (1913) 18 Ind Cas 492 (493) (DB) (All) (A transfer of mortgage debt during a partition suit is a transfer of immovable property)  (1900) 27 Cal 77 (83, 84) (DB).

[See also (1928) 107 Ind Cas 195 (197) (Nag)]

2. AIR 1928 Nag 198 (198, 199)  AIR 1917 Nag 44 (44, 45); 14 Nag LR 18. (Held, the doctrine of lis pendens did not affect a transfer made after institution of partition proceedings but before raising of question of title.)  (1987) 1 Cal WN 62 (64) (DB). (Overruled in AIR 1926 Cal 714 (FB).)
3. AIR 1941 Cal 436 (437, 438)
4. AIR 1946 Oudh 99 (101); 21 Luck 185 (DB).
5. (1992) 2 Cur LJ (CCR) 55 (57) (Punj & Har)
6. 1988 TLNJ 62 (64) (Mad)
7. 1999 (1) Cal LT 480 (488)

The alienation affected during the pendency of the suit is not void ab initio. It is subject to the decree that may be passed in the suit. Where alienation of one of the items of joint family property is made without authority of the court by a coparcener in favour of a stranger during pendency of the partition suit, the validity of alienation would depend upon the decree that may be passed. The alienee is entitled to exercise all rights of alienating co-parcener. The alienation made during pendency of the suit cannot be declared to have no effect in the eye of law (8)

Where in a partition suit a compromise decree was passed, a transferee by way of gift during the pendency of a suit could not claim any right to the property when transferor plaintiff in partition suit had admitted the claim about share in the property of contesting opposite party (9)

Where a co-owner seeks review of the final decree passed in partition suit and during its pendency sells his share to a third party and subsequently the review is allowed, the transfer would be hit by S. 52.(10)

Where tenants are inducted on a portion of the suit property (shops) by one of the co-owners during pendency of partition suit, and that portion came to the share of other co-owners, the tenancy would not be binding on them. It would be hit by lis pendens. The tenants would be liable to be ejected and would not be protected under the Rent Laws (11) Where a co-tenant lets out the suit property during pendency of the litigation, S. 52 will apply with all its vigour. Even otherwise the co-tenant could not create tenancy without consent of other co-owners (12)

A suit for permanent injunction restraining first defendant from alienating the suit property before partition between the parties was filed. The first defendant was not willing and did not adduce any evidence. The property was sold during pendency of the suit. The purchaser wanted to adduce evidence held that apart from the doctrine of lis pendens, the subsequent purchaser did not get any right to adduce evidence, since he stepped into the shoes of the first defendant (13)

Where joint family property belonging to A and B was mortgaged to C and pending a suit for partition between A and B, C purchased the whole property the share of the plaintiff A as well as of the defendant B in execution of his decree on the mortgage, it was held that the suit for partition could not continue, as C having purchased the property could not be both a plaintiff as well as a defendant, and that his purchase could not be annulled by invoking the doctrine of lis pendens (14) See also the undermentioned cases.(15)

8. ILR (1991) Kant 2761 (2774) (DB)

9. AIR 1985 All 163 (165) : 1984 (10) All LR 711

10. AIR 1987 Orissa 142 (145) : (1986) 2 Orissa LR 155.

11. 2002 (2) Rent CR 288 (290) (Punj & Har).

12. 2002 (97) DLT 22 (27) : 2002 (2) Pun LR (D) 3

13. 1997 (30) All LR 319 (320) (SC).

14. AIR 1929 Cal 697 (699) : 57 Cal 597 (DB).

[See also AIR 1946 Pat 306 (309) : 25 Pat 13 (DB) (Partition suit of joint family property - Sale of property pending suit in execution of decree for pre-partition debt binding on whole family - No provision made in decree in the partition suits as to above debt - Execution sale not affected by lis pendens AIR 1929 Cal 697, Rel. on)]

15. AIR 1971 Ker 154 (155) : 1971 Ker LJ 162 (Partition suit pending - Decree against some of the co-owners in suit to which other co-owners were not parties - Decree must be subject to result of partition suit - Execution sale will not operate to confer any title in the specific property on the auction-purchaser as against other co-owners and will not entitle former to restrain them from executing partition decree)  (1970) 2 Mad LJ 77 (Estate under the management of the Receiver appointed by the Court in a partition action - Preliminary decree for partition - Purchased of undivided coparcener's share is subject to the doctrine of lis pendens - It cannot prevail as against the later sale by Receiver - Purchaser of an undivided share of a Hindu coparcener gets only an equity to enforce

20. Suits for maintenance.

A maintenance suit in which a charge is asked for against properties described in the plaint is one wherein the right to immovable property is directly and specifically in question and the doctrine of lis pendens applies to such suits (1) The lis commences on the date of the plaint and not on the date of the decree which creates the charges (2) The fact that the whole family property is enumerated in the schedule of the plaint but the charge is asked to be given on a sufficient portion thereof (3) or the decree gives a charge only against some of the properties though a charge is asked for against all the properties (4) does not prevent the applicability of the doctrine of lis pendens.

Where a husband transferred all his property during pendency of suit for maintenance filed by his wife against him and there was no evidence of any consideration passing to him and thus the transfer was gratuitous, he died during the pendency of suit, and the purchaser had full notice of the right of the wife for maintenance, the suit for maintenance could be decreed against the purchasers under the Hindu Adoptions and Maintenance Act read with ss. 39-52 of the T. P. Act (5).

partition)  AIR 1968 Orissa 134 (137) 34 Cut LT 379 (Transfer of share in dwelling house of undivided family to stranger — Suit for partition by member of the family. Plaintiff entitled to right of pre-emption under S. 41 of Partition Act on date of institution of suit. Subsequent transfer back by stranger purchaser to co-sharer/transferor. Latter transfer is hit by doctrine of lis pendens. — Right of plaintiff under S. 41 is not affected — Overruled on another point in AIR 1971 Orissa 127.)

Section 52 — Note 20

1. AIR 1928 Mad 713 (719) (FB)  AIR 1951 All 141 (146, 151) : ILR (1953) 1 All 284 (FB). (AIR 1943 Oudh 354 (FB) Dissented from: AIR 1939 All 687. Overruled:  AIR 1974 Mad 89 (90) 86 Mad LW 651 (DB)  (1968) 2 Andh WR 26.  AIR 1967 Mad 126 (126)  AIR 1966 Madh Pra 318 (324)  (1966) 1 Mys LJ 680  1959 Andh LT 509 (510)  AIR 1959 Bom 475 (477) : ILR (1959) Bom 94 (AIR 1927 Mad 502 Diss. from.)  AIR 1955 Mad 571 (575)  1953, 32 Pat 903 (906) : AIR 1955 NCC 23 (1951) 1 Mad LJ 143 (145) (Suit by Hindu wife against her husband for maintenance and for charge — Alienation by husband pending such suit is affected by lis pendens — AIR 1927 Mad 502 Diss. from.)  AIR 1946 Bom 207 (209) : ILR (1945) Bom 885 (DB)  AIR 1945 Mad 219 (221)  AIR 1945 Mad 126 (127) : ILR 1945 Mad 126 (DB)  AIR 1944 Bom 191 (192) : ILR (1945) Bom 224 (DB)  AIR 1943 Cal 227 (232) (DB)  AIR 1940 Bom 395 (396) : ILR (1941) Bom 1 (DB) (Affirming AIR 1939 Bom 403)  AIR 1939 Cal 655 (656) (DB) (In this case, however, the mortgage was prior to the institution of maintenance suit — Purchaser at a mortgage sale which took place during pendency of the maintenance suit was held not to be hit by lis pendens)  AIR 1939 Bom 403 (404). (Even if the sale is to pay off the mortgage prior to the institution of the maintenance suit)  AIR 1936 Mad 84 (85) (DB)  AIR 1935 Mad 867 (868) 59 Mad 161 (DB)  AIR 1930 Mad 824 (832) 54 Mad 132 (DB)  AIR 1929 Sind 102 (105) 106 (Partition taking place subsequent to the institution of maintenance suit — Lis pendens applies)  (1906) 29 Mad 508 (510) (DB)  (1936) 169 Ind Cas 169 (171) (Nag).

[See also AIR 1938 Mad 357 (358, 359) : ILR (1938) Mad 829 (SB)  AIR 1956 SC 593 (603) : ILR (1956) Mys 152. (Charge decree for maintenance — Purchaser in execution acquires good title subject to right of person having right of redemption of prior mortgage — Decree not open to attack by person taking transfer pending maintenance suit)  AIR 1933 Mad 858 (859) (Doctrine of lis pendens not applied because the property had devolved on official assignee in bankruptcy by operation of law.)]

2. AIR 1956 SC 593 (597) : ILR (1956) Mys 152. (AIR 1927 Mad 502 and 53 Mys HCR 219 taking a contrary view must be held to be Overruled.)  AIR 1959 Bom 475 (477) : ILR (1959) Bom 94. (AIR 1927 Mad 502, Diss. from.)
3. AIR 1936 Mad 84 (85) (DB).
4. AIR 1936 Mad 84 (85) (DB).
5. AIR 1998 All 211 (217) 1998 All LJ 1371 1998 (34) All LR 351 (DB).

In a suit for maintenance filed by the wife an order of interim injunction was issued against the husband from non-alienating the two pieces of land held by the husband. A yadi to that effect was also directed to be sent to the office of the sub-registrar still the husband executed registered sale deed in favour of transferee. Hence in view of Ss. 52 and 39, T. P. Act. The transferee could not be held to have acquired a title to the said property. If the wife exhausts her remedy as against the unalienated piece of land and if any claim still remains due as against the husband, it will then be open for the wife to proceed as against the piece of land purchased by the transferee (6)

But where no charge is claimed in the maintenance suit and properties are described in the schedule of the plaint for the purpose merely of determining the amount of maintenance, no question of lis pendens arises. (7)

Where properties are charged by the decree awarding maintenance, a transfer of such properties is affected by the doctrine of lis pendens even though the transfer is after decree, so long as the properties remain charged under the decree (8). The lis in such a case continues so long as the maintenance is due under the decree (9). The fact that the transfer was effected to pay off the plaintiff's husband's debts does not affect the above rule (10).

6. (1988) 1 Cur CC 183 (184) (Bom)

7. (1906) 19 Mad 271 (272, 273) (DB)

8. AIR 1951 Orissa 306 (310) : ILR (1949) 1 Cut 336 (DB)  AIR 1968 Pat 238 (244)  AIR 1945 Mad 350 (351)  AIR 1939 Bom 403 (405)  AIR 1935 Mad 867 (869) : 59 Mad 101 (DB)  AIR 1928 Mad 612 (612) (DB)  (1939) 169 Ind Cas 169 (171) (Nag)

[See also AIR 1946 Mad 51 (52) (Maintenance decree charging properties — Sale in execution — Mortgage subsequent to decree and before sale — Right to pay off decree and redeem — Mortgagee is not barred by lis pendens from redeeming and paying off charge decree-holder so long as execution sale under charge decree had not been confirmed.)]

Also see Notes 6a and 11.

9. AIR 1951 All 141 (153) : ILR (1953) 1 All 284 (FB). (Suit for maintenance — Decree specifically creating charge on specific immovable property is not merely a declaratory decree but is executable — Transferee of property whether with notice or otherwise is bound by decree until it is fully satisfied — AIR 1943 Oudh 354 (FB) Dissented from; AIR 1939 All 687 Overruled.)  AIR 1969 Orissa 114 (116) : 34 Cut LT 1296 * AIR 1946 Bom 207 (209) : ILR (1945) Bom 885 (DB)  AIR 1945 Mad 350, 350) (Maintenance suit — Decree creating charge — Sale after decree but before execution — Purchaser cannot succeed against purchaser in execution of charge decree.)  AIR 1935 Mad 867 (869) : 59 Mad 101 (DB)  (1936) 169 Ind Cas 169 (171) (Nag) (A maintenance decree creating a charge and ordering periodical payments in future is in its nature an executory decree — It remains valid and operative during the period the decree-holder lives — The lis should therefore be held to be pending until the death of the decree-holder.)

[See also AIR 1950 Mad 396 (396) (Declaratory charge decree — Lis continues until possibility of enforcing charge by separate suit remains.)]

[See however AIR 1957 All 575 (582) (DB) (Decree declaring a sum to be a charge on property but not directing sale of property in enforcement of charge — Transferee not subject to doctrine of lis pendens.)]

10. AIR 1940 Bom 395 (396) : ILR (1941) Bom 1 (DB) (No distinction between the debt of husband and the debt of the joint family.)

[See also AIR 1944 Bom 191 (193) : ILR (1944) Bom 274 (DB) (Even if the purchaser has paid off a previous mortgage he is bound by the charge.)]

Where a maintenance suit is filed by wife in forma pauperis, a charge is created over suit property from date of filing suit. Sale of the property by husband during pendency of suit is hit by principles of lis pendens.(11)

It has been held that where the suit is only a personal claim for maintenance as, for example, by Hindu wife against her husband, this section has no application inasmuch as no right to any immovable property is in question in the suit and an alienation by the husband of his properties pending such a suit is therefore not affected by lis pendens (12)

Where a property is sold not in pursuance of a money decree but in pursuance of a charge created under the maintenance decree even before filing of the suit for specific performance, the maintenance decree is not hit by the principle of lis pendens (13)

An application to file an award creating a charge stands on the same footing as a plaint in the ordinary maintenance suit in which a charge is claimed. The doctrine of lis pendens applies to such proceedings.(14)

20A. Suit for permanent injunction.

Where the suit property is alienated during pendency of a suit for permanent injunction and affirmatively decree for permanent injunction is passed, the decree can be executed against the transferee. Injunction is a remedy in personam. Yet, the enforcement of the decree for injunction against a legal representative of the deceased as against the purchaser of the suit property pendente lite is saved by S. 50, C.P.C. and S. 52 T.P. Act respectively (1)

21. Pre-emption suit.

The doctrine of lis pendens applies also to suits for pre-emption, as in the case of other suits (1). Even a resale of the property by the vendee in favour of the vendor pending the suit for pre-

11. 2000 AIHC 2961 (2964), 2000 (3) Andh LT 178

12. AIR 1939 Bom 403 (404)

[See AIR 1927 Mad 502 (502)]. The mere fact that the plaintiff mentioned in the plaint all the property of the husband would not make the property subject-matter of the suit (1)

13. 1983 TLNJ 111 (115) (Mad)

14. AIR 1946 Bom 207 (210) - ILR (1945) Bom 885 (DB)

Section 52 — Note 20A

1. AIR 2000 Kant 298 (308), 2000 (5) Kant LJ 477  1999 AIHC 4469 (4476), 2000 (1) ICC 229 (Bom)

Section 52 — Note 21

1. AIR 1958 SC 838 (842) : ILR (1958) Punj 2225  AIR 1970 J & K 37 (40) : 1969 Kush LJ 454 (FB). (Suit property cannot be sold by vendee after period of limitation to one having equal right as plaintiff)  AIR 1946 Lah 142 (143) - ILR (1946) Lah 467 (FB)  AIR 1930 Lah 356 (357) : 11 Lah 258 (FB)  AIR 1941 Lah 433 (441) - ILR (1942) Lah 155 (FB)  AIR 1952 Nag 51 (53) - ILR (1951) Nag 830 (FB)  973 Pat LJ 350 (Vendor selling his land — Plaintiff filing suit for pre-emption — Vendor's son filing another suit against vendee in which suit vendee agreed to treat his sale as mortgage in his favour — As the transaction of converting sale into mortgage was during pendency of plaintiff's suit doctrine of lis pendens applied and plaintiff was entitled to pre-empt)  1971 BLJR 994 (DB) (Pre-emption — Purchaser transferring land to another — Execution and registration completed before filing of pre-emption application — Application filed against original purchaser will be of no effect when sale was completed under S. 54 of the Act)  ILR (1970) 2 Dehr 332 (DB)  AIR 1968 Orissa 134 (36) 137 (3) Cut LJ 379 (Transfer of share in dwelling house of undivided family to stranger — Suit for partition by member of the family — Plaintiff entitled to right of pre-emption under Section 4(1), Partition Act on date of institution of suit — Subsequent transfer back by stranger to purchaser to co-sharer transferor — Latter transfer is hit by doctrine of lis pendens)

emption will be affected by lis pendens and cannot affect the pre-emptor's claim to a decree for pre-emption (2) But it has been held that a sale pending a pre-emption suit in favour of a person having an equal or superior right of pre-emption to that of the plaintiff, does not conflict with the doctrine of lis pendens and is therefore valid (3) The reason given is that the sale does not really vest any new rights. All that the vendee does in such a case is to take the bargain in the assertion of his pre-existing pre-emption right and hence the sale does not offend the doctrine of lis pendens (4) It is necessary, however, that the transfer should have been in recognition of the superior right. A transfer made in favour of a person having a superior right but not in recognition of such right, will be affected by lis pendens (5) Where the transferee had, at the time of the transfer to him, lost his right of pre-emption by lapse of time, the transfer will be affected by lis pendens (6) although made in

Right of plaintiff under Section 4(1) is not affected.  1964 Cur LJ 200 (201),  AIR 1947 Lah 175 (176)  AIR 1946 Nag 367 (371) : ILR (1943) Nag 758 (Overruled on another point in AIR 1952 Nag 51 (FB))  AIR 1942 Pesh 43 (45)  AIR 1934 Oudh 303 (307) · 9 Luck 475  AIR 1930 All 354 (355) (DB)  AIR 1929 All 440 (441) (DB)  AIR 1927 All 336 (337) · 49 All 516 (DB)  AIR 1926 All 179 (180) · 47 All 923 (DB)  AIR 1926 All 180 (181) · 48 All 221 (DB)  AIR 1925 All 502 (502) (DB)  AIR 1925 All 487 (488) · 47 All 625 (DB)  AIR 1919 Lah 427 (427) (DB)  AIR 1914 Oudh 352 (353) : 17 Oudh Cas 150

2. AIR 1929 All 440 (441) (DB)  AIR 1926 All 179 (180) · 47 All 923 (DB)  AIR 1925 All 487 (488) · 47 All 625 (DB)  AIR 1925 All 502 (502) (DB)  AIR 1918 All 401 (401) (DB)  (1911) 11 Ind Cas 645 (646) (DB) (All)  (1909) 5 Nag LR 136 (145) (Pre-emption is a right of substitution and not of re-purchase)  (1906) 2 Nag LR 150 (157) (Sale to vendor after decree.)

3. AIR 1952 Nag 51 (54) : ILR (1951) Nag 830 (FB) (AIR 1946 Nag 367 Overruled)  AIR 1949 East Punj 193 (195) : ILR (1949) East Punj 305 (FB)  AIR 1946 Lah 142 (145) · ILR (1946) Lah 467 (FB)  AIR 1941 Lah 433 (436) · ILR (1942) Lah 155 (FB)  AIR 1930 Lah 356 (357) : 11 Lah 258 (FB)  AIR 1974 Punj 91 (92) · 1973 Punj LJ 528  AIR 1960 J & K 112 (114, 115) (DB). (Plaintiff pre-emptor in order to succeed must show his superior right of pre-emption.  AIR 1935 Lah 818 (809) (DB) (Superior right.)  1910 Pun Re No 7 · 5 Ind Cas 249 (251) (Do)  AIR 1935 Lah 529 (532) · 16 Lah 921 (DB) (Equal rights)  AIR 1923 All 294 (294) (DB) (Equal rights)  1911 Pun Re No 53 · 10 Ind Cas 367 (369) (DB) (Transfer to person having superior right of pre-emption)  (1911) 10 Ind Cas 842 (843) (Lah) (This equal or superior right must be subsisting at the date of sale.)

(See also (1906) 2 Nag LR 150 (157). (Equal right — Obiter))

[But see (1908) 30 All 467 (469) (DB) (Sale pendente lite to person having equal right — Lis pendens applies and plaintiff is entitled to a decree)  AIR 1926 All 180 (181) · 48 All 221 (DB) (Lis pendens applies even where sale is made to a person having an equal right — But proper procedure is to divide the property between the two plaintiffs and the vendee pending suit.)  AIR 1927 All 336 (337, 338) : 49 All 516 (DB). (Do.)]

4. AIR 1958 SC 838 (844) : ILR (1958) Punj 2225. (If the pre-existing right became unenforceable by reason of the fact of limitation or otherwise, the transfer though ostensibly made in recognition of such a right in fact creates only a new right pendente lite. AIR 1954 Pepsu 59 Reversed.)  AIR 1946 Lah 142 (145) · ILR (1946) Lah 467 (FB)  AIR 1966 Punj 179 (181) (DB) (1964 Cur LJ 200 Affirmed)  ILR (1963) Bom 246 (254) (DB)  AIR 1931 Lah 435 (435) (DB)  AIR 1929 Lah 589 (590)  1911 Pun Re No 53 : 10 Ind Cas 367 (370) (DB)  1908 Pun Re No. 26, p. 144 (146)
5. AIR 1949 East Punj 193 (195) : ILR (1949) East Punj 305 (FB)  AIR 1921 Lah 363 (363) (DB).
6. AIR 1958 SC 838 (844) : ILR (1958) Punj 2225  AIR 1946 Lah 142 (144) : ILR (1946) Lah 467 (FB)  AIR 1921 All 105 (106) (DB)  AIR 1914 All 356 (357) · 36 All 60 (DB)  AIR 1914 Oudh 352 (352) · 17 Oudh Cas 150  1891 Pun Re No. 30 · 10 Ind Cas 1007 (1008) (DB).

performance of an agreement entered into at a time when his right to sue for pre-emption was subsisting and in express recognition of such right (7) Where pending a suit for pre-emption the defendant vendee sold the property again to a third person and the plaintiff thereupon got the plaint amended by impleading the third person as a party who raised the question of his own preferential right of pre-emption, and the same was heard and decided against the plaintiff it was held that the latter could not thereafter fall back upon S. 52 and claim that the sale to the third party was affected by lis pendens. (8)

The vendee-defendant in a pre-emption suit can improve his status pending the suit by dealing with the land, so as to defeat the claim of the pre-emptor (9) Thus where a vendee with an equal right of pre-emption with the plaintiff has lost it by associating a stranger with himself as a joint purchaser, he can buy the stranger's share during the suit and thus remove the defect in his title (10)

If the transferee of property transfers it to a person other than the person claiming pre-emption by a document executed and registered before filing of the application for pre-emption the transferee gets good title, however, if the document is executed and registered after the filing of the application for pre-emption the transfer would be hit by the doctrine of lis pendens (11)

Where a registered sale deed was executed on the same day on which an application for pre-emption was filed against the vendor in terms of S. 163 of the Bihar Land Reforms (Exemption and Ceiling Area and Acquisition of Surplus Lands) Act, the lis about the claim for pre-emption would be deemed to be pending from the date of institution of the proceedings and thus the sale deed would be hit by the doctrine of "lis pendens" (12)

Certain land was sold to first purchaser who in turn sold it to second purchaser. The pre-emptor filed an application to pre-empt against first purchaser and filed application to implead second purchaser in that proceeding. But no application for pre-emption was filed against second purchaser. The sale deed in favour of second purchaser was executed and registered prior to filing of pre-emption application against first purchaser. Thus the second purchaser got his title to the property the moment sale deed was registered in his favour. His right could not be defeated by pre-emption application. The doctrine of lis pendens would not apply in such situation (13)

In somewhat similar circumstances the Kerala High Court, however held that where the plaintiff filed a suit for specific performance and on the same day the defendant executed a registered sale deed in respect of the suit property in favour of third party and the plaintiff failed to discharge his burden to prove that the transfer of the property under the sale deed was after the commencement of lis, it could not be said that the transfer was affected by S. 52 (14)

In a suit for possession on ground that plaintiff has right to pre-emption on the land in defendant's possession consent decree was passed on 6-10-1976 on basis of the compromise between the parties. It was agreed that defendant will sell the portion of land in his possession to plaintiff for Rs. 1500/- and will execute deed of conveyance within 15 days from date of decree. But defendant executed sale deed dated 12-10-1976 in favour of a third person. Plaintiff's execution petition was dismissed by executing court. Held under the consent decree defendant agreed and undertook to execute sale deed in respect of land in his possession and cultivation in favour of plaintiff within 15

7. AIR 1946 Lah 322 (325) : ILR (1947) Lah 213 (FB).

8. (1905) 27 All 544 (547) (FB)  AIR 1929 All 440 (441) (DB)

9. AIR 1941 Lah 433 (442) : ILR (1942) Lah 155 (FB).

10. AIR 1941 Lah 444 (446) : ILR (1942) Lah 190 (FB).

11. AIR 1984 (NOC) 207 : 1984 BBCJ (HC) 390 (394)

12. AIR 1994 Pat 34 (36) : 1993 (2) BLJR 1098 : 1984 BBCJ (HC) 890 Held per incuriam :

13. 1996 (2) BLJR 48 (50)

14. AIR 1990 Ker 177 (180) : 1989 (2) Ker LT 379

days of the date of decree. It is only when the judgment-debtor/defendant expresses his readiness and willingness to execute the deed of conveyance that the decreeholder was under obligation to pay the consideration. As a matter of fact the judgment-debtor has hardly within five days of the passing of the consent decree executed the conveyance deed in favour of third person on 18-10-76. In that state of affairs the plaintiff/decreeholder could not have tendered the amount. The executing court was clearly in error in expressing its inability to extend the time under O. 20, R. 14 of the CPC. Even if the consent decree in question is taken as a decree for pre-emption in respect of a particular sale of property. The decree did not specify any date on which the pre-emptor, i.e. the decreeholder had to deposit the amount, failing which the suit stood dismissed. The consent decree in question was not one decreeing the claim to pre-emption in respect of a particular sale of property. It is more in the nature of decree of specific performance of an agreement to sell and therefore the court would not be justified in rejecting the execution of the decree on the ground that the decreeholder has failed to pay the amount of consideration. The executing court has failed to exercise the jurisdiction which it was bound to exercise by executing the decree against defendant / judgment debtor and the third person/transferee pendente lite since the defendant had no right to transfer the property or otherwise deal with it so as to affect the rights of the decreeholder under the decree during the pendency of the suit in view of S. 52 of T. P. Act. Transferee pendente lite cannot successfully resist the claim of execution of the decree holder. The Transfer of Property Act No. 57 of 1959 merely extended the provision of T. P. Act and Indian Registration (Bombay Amendment) Act No. 14 of 1939 to other part of recognised State of Bombay but since there was no notification issued under proviso to S. 2 of Act No. 14 of 1939. The amended provision of S. 52 would not come in force in other areas of the recognised State of Bombay including Saurashtra where the property is situated. (15)

Where a sale-deed was executed and registered in favour of the petitioner and on the same date an application for pre-emption in terms of earlier sale deed in respect of the same property was filed by other party before the Collector, the lis about claim for pre-emption would be deemed to be pending before the Collector on the date of execution of sale deed and the deed would be hit by the doctrine of lis pendens. (16)

22. Suit for establishing will.

In a suit by devisees under a will for establishing the will, the heir at law is at liberty to invalidate the will. An alienation by the devisees pending the suit will be affected by lis pendens. (1)

Where the sale of property in favour of testator suffered from doctrine of lis pendens, the person claiming title to that property through the will executed by the testator in his favour is not entitled to declaration that he is owner and for injunction. (2)

23. Suit for cancellation of trust deed.

A suit for the cancellation of a trust deed and for recovery of the immovable property comprised in the trust is a suit in which the right to immovable property is directly and specifically in question. (1)

24. Suit for specific performance of contract.

Suits for specific performance of contracts to transfer immovable property are suits in which

15. AIR 1985 Guj 184 (185, 186) : 1985 Guj LH 39.

16. AIR 1994 Pat 34 (38) : 1993 (2) BLJR 1098

Section 52 — Note 22

1. (1742) 26 ER 509 (509) : 2 Atk 175, Garth v. Ward

2. 2001 (3) Mad LJ 512 (522)

Section 52 — Note 23

1. AIR 1925 Cal 239 (244) (DB)

the right to immovable property is directly and specifically in question and constitute lis pendens (1) The principle of lis pendens is applicable to suits for specific performance of contract to transfer immovable property (2) Even if a subsequent purchaser purchases the suit property after dismissal of the suit for specific performance of an agreement to sell the property. The purchaser is subject to lis pendens, if an appeal is afterwards filed against the dismissal of suit (3) The principles contained in S 52 are in accordance with the principle of equity good conscience and justice and it is well established that wherever T P Act is not applicable such principle in the provisions of the said Act, which are based on justice, equity and good conscience, are applicable (4)

Provisions of S 52 are applicable in a suit for specific performance of a contract of sale of immovable property, but in spite of the fact that in such a suit a plaintiff is protected by lis pendens the court does at times protect him further by an injunction restraining the defendant from transgressing the property during the pendency of the suit, particularly where the court prima facie finds that a valid contract of sale exists (5) It is true that the doctrine of lis pendens as enunciated in S 52 of the T P Act, takes care of all pendente lite transfers, but it may not always be good enough to take fullest care of the plaintiff's interest vis-à-vis such transfer. Where suit is one for specific performance of sale in respect of the suit property of the defendant is not restrained from selling the

Section 52 — Note 24

1. AIR 1948 PC 147 (149) : ILR (1949) 1 Cal 234  AIR 1964 Mys 269 (274) FB  (1980)

(1) All Rent Cas 427 (430)  AIR 1979 (NOC) 185 (1979) 48 Cal LT 25 (27)  AIR 1978 All 318 (1978 A) WC 54 (DB) (S 52 is not subject to S 52 of Specific Relief Act 1963)  (1976) 1 Andh WR 438 (443)  AIR 1975 All 25 (27) (X) (The transferee cannot rely upon Section 2 (b) of the Specific Relief Act 1963 or S 196 of the Specific Relief Act 1963 for avoiding the applicability of Section 52 of the T P Act. Nor is there any necessity for the Courts to go into the question whether the transfer pendente lite was bona fide and for value.)  ILR (1973) 2 Punj 142 (DB) (S 52 overrides S 196 of Specific Relief Act 1963)  AIR (1971) Madh Pra 100 (101) (DB) (MPLJ 4)  AIR 1962 Madh Pra 34 (36) ILR (1960) Madh Pra 797 (Suit for specific performance of subsequent agreement for sale of property pending execution of suit decreed on basis of prior agreement for sale — Hit by doctrine of lis pendens — No need of notice prior purchaser not necessary)  AIR 1962 Madh Pra 25 (27) ILR (1961) Madh Pra 5 (DB)  1958 Ker LT 836 (839)  AIR 1943 Bom 27 (30) (Attachment before judgment — such property pending suit subject to doctrine of lis pendens)  AIR 1943 Cal 22 (28) (DB) (DB)  AIR 1934 All 713 (714) (A lease of property pending a suit for specific performance of an agreement to lease)  AIR 1924 Mad 357 (367) (Agreement to sell)  AIR 1922 Cal 412 (414) 49 Cal 495 (DB)  1909 3 Ind Cas 606 (629) (DB) (C 1) (Purchaser at an execution sale is bound by the doctrine)  1909 2 Ind Cas 266 (267) (DB) (Cal) (Contract of lease.)

[See also AIR 1964 Orissa 176 (182) ILR 1964 Cal 89 (DB) (Agreeded party to establishing that under provisions of Specific Relief Act he is entitled to specific performance — S 52 not applicable)  AIR 1928 Nag 246 (247) (48) (S 52 contracting to purchase and obtaining decree for specific performance against C — Mortgage by C to A at the meantime — G purchasing subsequent to decree and redeeming the mortgage — S's decree is binding on G subject to proportionate repayment of the mortgage debt by S.)

[See however 1971 Raj LW 157 (Doctrine of lis pendens is not applicable to transfers and other transactions dealing with the property in suit which are made in recognition of pre-existing and subsisting right which is enforceable in law though it may not create interest in the property. AIR 1964 Mys 269, Dissented from.)]

2. AIR 1991 Mad 137 (140)  1999 (1) Cal HN 10 (13)  AIR 1994 All 167 (168) (1994 All LJ 663 (1993) (2) All RC 383 (That transferee was not party to the suit is no ground)

3. AIR 1996 Mad 353 (363)

4. AIR 1986 Delhi 364 (370, 371) : (1986) 2 Ren CR 446

5. AIR 1990 Delhi 13 (18) : (1989) 37 DLT 114.

property to a third party and accordingly, a third party purchases the same bona fide for value without any notice of pending litigation and spends a huge sum of the improvement whereof or for construction thereon the equity in his favour may intervene to persuade the court to decline in the exercise of his discretion. The equitable relief of specific performance to the plaintiff of the trial and to award damages only in favour of the plaintiff. It must be noted that R. 1 of O. 39 of the Code clearly provides for interim injunction restraining the alienation for sale of the suit property and if the doctrine of lis pendens as enacted in S. 52 of the T. P. Act was regarded to have provided all the panacea against pendente lite transfer, the legislature would not have provided in Rule 1 for interim injunction restraining the transfer of suit property. R. 1 of O. 39 clearly demonstrates that notwithstanding the rule of lis pendens in S. 52 of T. P. Act, there can be occasion for the stand of injunction restraining pendente lite transfers in a fit and proper case (6)

In a suit for specific performance, the plaintiff sought interlocutory injunction against alienation or otherwise encumbering the property during pendency of the suit, the same was, however, not granted since the plaintiff failed to deposit the stipulated amount in court within time. Held that non grant of injunction would not make any difference to the operation of rule of lis pendens under S. 52. Two months time granted to the plaintiff to have the lis registered (7)

Where the suit property was transferred to third person during pendency of the suit for specific performance of an agreement to sale and ultimately the decree for specific performance was passed, the subsequent transferee could not resist delivery of possession of the plaintiff decree-holder by raising objection under S. 47 CPC that he is a bona fide purchaser. The principle of lis pendens under S. 52 would supply (8) In an execution of decree for specific performance the transferees of the property in dispute filed objection u/S. 47 of the CPC asserting that the decree was not binding on them inasmuch as they were not parties to the suit and that the decree was not executable against them as they were the bona fide transferees for value. Lis comes into existence from the point of institution of suit and continues to survive till the satisfaction of the decree. In view of doctrine of lis pendens the transferees are as much bound by the decree and judgment as their transferor the judgment-debtor (9) If a third party purchases the property which is the subject-matter of the suit for specific performance during pendency of the suit, he would be bound by the decree passed against the vendor, plea that the third party was a bona fide purchaser without notice is of no consequence. In the case of transfer which is hit by the doctrine of lis pendens under S. 52, the question of good faith which is essential to be established before an equitable relief can be given in favour of a subsequent vendee under S. 41 or S. 51 is totally irrelevant (10) Section 19(6) of Specific Relief Act protects a transferee but not a transferee pending litigation. S. 52 of the Transfer of Property Act has an overriding effect (11) In a suit for specific performance of contract to sell immovable property to the plaintiff, the defendant sold the property to the third person, by a registered deed, pending litigation. The Court after finding that the subsequent sale could not affect the rights of plaintiff was, therefore, entitled to a decree sought for. A was held that the subsequent transferee could not pursue pendens lis remedies against defendant in present proceedings. The equities between the transferee and transferee pending litigation must be left to be decided in a future suit (12) Where during pendency of the suit for specific performance of agreement to sale the property was sold in auction in execution of decree against the vendor, the plaintiff is not

6. AIR 1988 Cal 25 (27, 28) : (1987) 91 Cal WN 1094

7. AIR 1992 SC 1200 (1201) : 1992 AIR SCW 1165.

8. (1989) 2 Rev LR 172 (2) (173) : (1989) 96 Pun LR 408

9. AIR 1994 All 167 (168) : 1994 All LJ 663 : 1993 (2) All RC 383

10. AIR 1987 Punj & Har 189 (190) : 1985 Pun LJ 354

11. AIR 1984 (NOC) 319 : (1984) 26 DLT 162.

12. AIR 1984 (NOC) 319 : (1984) 26 DLT 162

entitled to a decree for specific performance but is entitled to damages (13) It is axiomatic that the subject-matter of the contract entered into between the parties should be sufficient as adequate consideration of any attempt on alienation of property is made after filing of the suit for the specific performance S. 52 of T. P. Act comes into play and such contract is hit by the doctrine of lis pendens. The purchases would get no title. Even if the suit filed in the circumstances of the case is decreed only for refund of the earnest money, even then S. 56 of T. P. Act creates a statutory charge on the earnest money to be recovered from the property the subject of the contract under the circumstances the need to seek an attachment before judgment is redundant (14)

Plaintiff filed a suit for permanent injunction restraining the Union of India to auction certain immovable property for recovery of tax. The Court allowed that auction may take place during pendency of suit but the same will not be confirmed. Accordingly auction was held. The auction purchaser applied under O. 1, R. 10 CPC for being impleaded. Held that they have to accept the sale subject to the decision of the suit, since the auction took place during pendency of the suit. Their presence was not necessary to effectually and competently alienate the suit and therefore they were not entitled to be impleaded under O. 1, R. 10, CPC (15)

A sale after institution of the suit in pursuance of an agreement before the suit is not protected against the operation of S. 52. Sections 52 and 54 read together would mean that sale which takes place after the institution of the suit in pursuance of a prior agreement to sell is hit by S. 52. (16)

Where the vendor did not disclose that the attachment was subsisting at the time of sale of the property and thus cheated the vendee, the sale is hit by the rule of lis pendens (17) Where the suit property is transferred by the defendant to a near relative and at a less than market value pending suit for specific performance, the transfer is hit by S. 52 of the Act (18)

A suit for specific performance of an agreement to purchase suit property was decreed. The plaintiff decree holder could not deposit requisite amount within time specified by the Court and extension of time was refused the preferred revision and during its pendency the defendant sold the suit property to a third person. Held that the same is hit by lis pendens (19) In the instant case a suit for specific performance of an agreement to sale immovable property was decreed ex parte. However, instead of drawing correct decree for specific performance a wrong decree i.e. a mortgage decree was drawn up. Defective decree was allowed to stand without seeking its rectification by the parties. Plaintiffs did not acquire any rights to purchase the property under the said decree. The auction purchaser was not bound by the subsequently rectified/amended decree since he was not a party to that amendment proceedings. Therefore the doctrine of lis pendens could not be held operative against the purchase of the said property by the auction purchaser (20)

Where the property involved in a suit for specific performance is the subject matter of partition suit filed earlier, and was allotted to other co-sharer than the vendor of the plaintiff in the suit for specific performance, the plaintiff will be bound by it in view of S. 52 (21)

13. 1986 HRR 39 (43) (Punj & Har)

14. (1985) 2 Andh LT 431 (432)

15. 1982 Rev LR 193 (195) (Punj & Har)

16. 1988 Cur CLJ (MP) 190 (196)

17. (1987) 5 Reports 170 (176) (Mad).

18. AIR 1988 Punj & Har 60 (64) : (1987) 9J Pun LR 185

19. 1996 AIHC 1652 (1653) : 1995 (1) Civ LJ 196 (All)

20. AIR 1997 Kant 306 (311) : 1997 (3) Kant LJ 691.

21. 2002 (3) Andh LT 754 (777)

25. Winding up proceedings.

A petition to wind up a company does not constitute a lis pendens against a contributory of the company(1). As to insolvency proceedings, see Note 12.

26. Suit for declaration of title.

Suits for declaration of title to immovable property are suits in which rights to immovable property are directly and specifically in question and consequently the doctrine of lis pendens applies to such suits(1). Where a suit was for a declaration that the sale deed executed by the widow in respect of certain property was not binding on the reversioners, it was held that the right to the immovable property the alienation of which was sought to be set aside was involved directly and specifically in the suit(2).

27. "Transferred or otherwise dealt with."

The words "otherwise dealt with" will include the following :

- (1) The entering into a contract for sale of the land in suit, which is capable of specific performance(1).
- (2) Partition of the property in suit(2) though a mere filing of a suit for partition is not a 'dealing' with the property such as is contemplated by the section(3).
- (3) The obtaining of a collusive decree or order(4) relating to the property
- (4) The entering into a compromise with a third party regarding the subject-matter of the suit(5).
- (5) The erection of a fresh obstruction pending suit for removal of obstruction to property(6).

Section 52 — Note 25

1. (1866) LR 2 Ch 171 (177) 15 LT 523 In re Barnard's Banking Co Ex parte Thornton

Section 52 — Note 26

1. AIR 1957 Pat 729 (731) : 36 Pat 1139 (DB)  AIR 1938 Lah 448 (451)

[See also AIR 1916 Lah 379 (380) (DB)]

2. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 454 (456) : ILR (1954) Andh Pra 137 (DB)

Section 52 — Note 27

1. AIR 1917 Oudh 193 (194) : 20 Oudh Cas 13

2. (1913) 37 Bom 427 (439) (SB)  AIR 1959 Ker 67 (72) : ILR (1958) Ker 1266 (FB).
(ILR 37 Bom 427 Foll.)  AIR 1950 Assam 119 (126) ILR (1950) 2 Assam 225 (DB) *
1950 Trav-Co LR 23 (30) (DB).

[See also (1976) 2 UCR (Bom) 215 (219) (Auction sale during pendency of partition suit in the execution of award would be hit by the principle of lis pendens AIR 1970 SC 1717, AIR 1967 SC 1440, Foll.)]

3. AIR 1928 Mad 735 (741, 745) : 51 Mad 417 (FB). (Per Ramesan and Madhavan Nair, JJ)

4. (1934) 11 Oudh WN 390 (392-393) (DB)  AIR 1982 Punj 44 (47) (Pendente lite transfer in tenant's favour effected by means of the consent decree would be hit by the rule of lis pendens)  1906 Pun Re No. 7, p. 17 (19) (Consent decree in favour of another pre-emptor during pre-emption suit — Lis pendens applies)  (1926) 96 Ind Cas 450 (451, 452) (Lah).

[See also 1982 All LJ 188 (192) (Where during the pendency of suit the defendants transferred the suit property to some persons and subsequently a compromise decree was passed in the pending suit, the persons claiming title under the defendants could not in the subsequent suit, be permitted to go behind the compromise decree AIR 1948 PC 147 Rel. on)]

5. AIR 1952 Lah 403 (404) : 3 Lah 264

6. AIR 1934 Lah 978 (979)

(6) Surrendering property to a third person pending suit for possession(7).

See also the undermentioned cases(8).

In the undermentioned case(9), the doctrine of lis pendens has been applied to a case of acquisition of title by adverse possession pending a suit.

In the following cases, the acts of a party were held not to amount to any transfer or other dealing with the property in suit :

(1) Where a party to a pending suit entered into a compromise with a third party merely recognizing a transfer which had been made to him before suit(10).

(2) A executed a mortgage in favour of B of certain properties and afterwards executed a trust deed vesting such property in the trustees. Subsequently, the trustees were discharged and A took possession of the properties. B then brought a suit on the mortgage and, pending the suit, A appointed new trustees. It was held that A's act was not a "transfer or other dealing" with the property within the meaning of this section(11).

(3) An adoption pendente lite(12).

(4) An admission by a party to the suit of the execution of a deed before the Registering Officer(13).

7. ILR (1955) Madh B 416 (419-420) : AIR 1955 NCC 3706 (Words "otherwise dealt with" in S. 52 include such transactions as a surrender of holding by tenants to zamindar during pendency of suit filed against them by certain persons for enforcing right to purchase the property)  AIR 1925 Nag 421 (421) : 21 Nag LR 441  AIR 1925 Nag 132 (134) : 52 Nag LR 110

[See also AIR 1953 Trav Co 12 (13) (Surrender to a person having no title cannot operate as a surrender. It will, however, operate as an assignment)]

[See however AIR 1958 Pat 115 (118) (Surrender by a Hindu widow in favour of nearest reversioner during pendency of suit by reversioner is not hit by doctrine of lis pendens)]

8. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 573 (574) : Transfer of possession pendente lite will be a transfer of property within S. 52 :  2000 AIHC 1021 (1023) (Mad)  1981 LPLT (NOC) 106 (1) during pendency of suit by tenant to restrain landlord from disturbing use of open land, the landlord builds room, they are liable to be demolished if tenant succeeds :  1974 Ker LT 895 (DB) (Granting of right to cultivate on varam arrangement will amount to "dealing with property within meaning of section")  AIR 1970 All 648 (649) : 1969 All LJ 1155 (Suit for possession of vacant land — Defendant putting up superstructure after filing of suit — Cannot claim advantage out of the buildings wrongfully put up)  AIR 1968 Madh Pra 229 (231-232) : 1969 MPLJ 44 (The delivery of possession of land under the decree by the judgment debtors to the transferee during the pendency of the appeal fails within the bar imposed by the expression "cannot be otherwise dealt with" occurring in Section 42)  AIR 1924 Bom 434 (436) : 48 Bom 435 (DB) (Gift by A to B — Suit by A before registration of gift deed to revoke gift — B getting document registered pending suit — Held, per Macleod C.J. that lis pendens applies)  1888 Pan Re No. 101, p. 206 (271) (DB) (Mortgage with possession — Suit for pre-emption — Mortgagee executing simple money bond pending suit in substitution of mortgage bond — Pre-emption cannot be defeated by such act)  AIR 1918 Cal 277 (278) (DB) (Settlement by jadar with tenant during pendency of suit for ejectment held not binding on landlord)

9. AIR 1948 Nag 97 (99) : ILR (1947) Nag 719.

10. AIR 1929 Bom 337 (339) (DB).

11. AIR 1939 Oudh 161 (172) : 14 Luck 548 (DB).

12. (1880) 5 Bom 630 (634, 635) (DB).

13. AIR 1957 Punj 238 (243) (DB)  (1913) 9 Nag LR 155 (157)

- (5) Pending a mortgage suit, the mortgagor executed a mortgage to X for paying off other mortgages which had been executed prior to the suit in favour of Y and Z. It was held that X merely took over the prior mortgages and that the act of the mortgagor was not a new transaction or dealing with the property during the pendency of the suit(14).
- (6) An institution of a suit relating to the same property(15).
- (7) Taking of forcible possession by one party from another during pendency of a litigation(16).

See also the undermentioned cases(17).

28. Transfer executed before suit.

It has been seen in Note 7 that rights existing before the suit are not affected by lis pendens. It follows that this section has no application to transfers made before suit(1). Where a person is subsequent to the institution of a suit, added as a party to the suit, the general principle is that the suit must, as against him, be deemed to have been instituted only on the date when he was so made

14. (1910) 7 Ind Cas 473 (DB) (Cal).

(See also AIR 1929 All 943 (945) : 52 All 139 (DB))

15. AIR 1948 Pat 111 (112)

16. AIR 1965 Punj 415 (420, 423) : ILR (1965) 2 Punj 97 (FB). (Suit by A against B for declaration of title and possession — A taking forcible possession of suit land by evicting B during pendency of his suit — Suit dismissed — B's suit for possession after 12 years from date of his dispossession — Section 52 does not apply and A's adverse possession for more than 12 years is not affected — B's suit held barred by limitation under Art. 142, Limitation Act or alternatively under Art. 144. Per Grover and Dular JJ. (Dua J. contra)  AIR 1973 SC 2537 : (1975) 1 SCJ 470. (Takings of illegal possession or their continuance neither resemble nor are comparable to transfer. They are one-sided wrongful acts and not bilateral transactions of a kind which ordinarily constitute deals or dealings with property.)

17. (1963) 2 Andh WR 465 (471) (DB) (Suit for possession pending — One of the defendants redelivering land to another defendant on expiry of term of lease — Held there was no surrender but expiry of lease by efflux of time — Section 53 did not apply.  AIR 1982 Bom 191 (197) (Where during the pendency of the suit for possession of the disputed properties the ratification deed purporting to perfect the title of plaintiff was brought into effect and the defendants failed to prove their title by adverse possession, S. 52 would not be applicable in such case and the document could not be hit by doctrine of lis pendens.)  (1980) 6 All LR 557 (559) (Where the mortgagor during the pendency of suit for redemption had sold the equity of redemption, the sale would not be affected by rule of lis pendens.)  AIR 1924 Mad 602 (602) (DB) (Order under O. 21, R. 101 of Civil Procedure Code passed during the pendency of suit, by which defendant was put in possession of property and more than a year had elapsed before the suit was disposed of — Held lis pendens did not apply.)

Section 52 — Note 28

1. AIR 1949 East Punj 193 (195) : ILR (1949) East Punj 305 (FB). (Transfer before suit to person having equal or superior right of pre-emption — Transferee can resist suit by another pre-emptor on the strength of his own pre-emptive right irrespective of whether transfer to him was made in recognition of his superior pre-emptive right or not — Form of transfer so long as it can be shown that transferee acquired full title of vendee is immaterial.)  AIR 1957 Ker 48 (50) : ILR (1957) Ker 35 (DB)  AIR 1915 Mad 805 (806-807) (DB) (Sale by auction by Court before suit — Confirmation after suit — Lis pendens does not apply as purchaser's title arises on the date of sale though it is confirmed afterwards.)

[See (1982) 1 Mad LJ 425 : (1982) 95 Mad LW 213 (218) (The doctrine of lis pendens could not be applied to the case of a mortgage executed prior to the suit wherein the right of private sale was conferred on the mortgagee. AIR 1922 Mad 390. Foll.)]

a party(2). A transfer by such person before he was so made a party cannot, therefore, be affected by the doctrine of lis pendens(3). On the same principle where a person, not a party to the suit, transfers property pending suit, and subsequently, is made a legal representative of a party who dies, the transferee cannot be affected by the doctrine of lis pendens(4).

29. Transfer executed before but registered after suit.

The section cannot apply so as to affect a transfer of property made before suit but registered thereafter(1). As pointed out by their Lordships of the Privy Council, while registration is a necessary solemnity in order to enforce a transfer, it does not suspend the transfer until registration actually takes place(2). This view is also held by the undermentioned cases(3).

30. Transfers by operation of law.

The words "the property cannot be transferred or otherwise dealt with by any party to the suit" clearly show that the section in terms does not apply to a transfer by operation of law. Section 2, Cl (d) also makes this clear. A transfer by operation of law takes place in cases of succession, bankruptcy and forfeiture. Thus, where pending a suit, the defendant becomes an insolvent and his property vests in the Official Receiver, neither this section nor the principle of lis pendens applies(1). Section 52 of the Transfer of Property Act does not apply to acquisition by the State in

2. See Limitation Act, S. 21(c), and also Civil Procedure Code, O. 1, R. 10(c).

3. AIR 1932 Pat 270 (271) : 11 Pat 415 (DB)  AIR 1925 Mad 487 (488).

4. AIR 1925 Bom 176 (177) (DB).

Section 52 — Note 29

1. AIR 1960 Ker 98 (100) : 11 LR (1959) Ker 820. Transfer deed executed on date of filing suit but registered four days thereafter — Plaintiff not showing that he filed plaint earlier in point of time than the execution of transfer deed — Transfer held not vitiated by lis pendens —  (1984) 1 Andh WR 36 : (1983) 2 APLJ 312 (DB). Section 52 will not be applicable to a sale which had the effect of putting the third parties in possession of immovable property, under a valid and genuine agreement to sell, prior to the creation of the equitable mortgage in favour of the plaintiff (though a registered sale deed in respect of the sale was executed thereafter)  (1979) 2 Malayan LJ 267. (Even if a transfer is registered pending action for specific performance it cannot prevail over the earlier purchase)  AIR 1973 Pat 199 (205) : 1973 Pat LJR 534 (DB)  AIR 1969 Pat 304  AIR 1951 Pat 613 (616) (DB)  AIR 1925 Mad 710 (710) (DB). (Sale deed executed before but registered after suit)  AIR 1925 Mad 359 (359)  AIR 1922 Mad 249 (249) 258 (DB) (Suit on prior mortgage without impeding paise mortgage — Paise mortgage considered pendente lite — Effect of.)  1877 Bom PJ 81 (DB).

[See however AIR 1960 J & K 12 : 113, (DB) (Pre-emption suit — Deed of exchange between defendant 1 and defendant 3 executed before suit but registered after institution of suit — So far as plaintiff is concerned document is effective from date of registration under S. 47 of Registration Act (1908) — Plea of doctrine of lis pendens open to plaintiff — In order to succeed he must show his superior right of pre-emption)]

[But see AIR 1921 Pat 150 (152) : 5 Pat LJ 715 (DB)]

2. AIR 1927 PC 42 (44) : 50 Mad 193. (Case under S. 123, T. P. Act.)
3. AIR 1925 Bom 210 (219, 227) : 49 Bom 388 (FB). Deed duly executed — Donor cannot revoke before registration — Per Manton, Fawcett and Kincaid JJ.  AIR 1957 Pat 238 (243) (DB). Vendee selling house sought to be pre-empted before institution of pre-emption suit — Sale deed registered after suit — Doctrine of lis pendens not applicable  AIR 1948 Pat 60 (61) (DB).

Section 52 — Note 30

1. AIR 1951 Mad 687 (691) (DB)  AIR 1939 Nag 128 (129)  AIR 1922 Mad 335 (360)

exercise of its statutory powers viz. under Land Acquisition Act, 1894, even though notifications concerning acquisitions were issued during the pendency of a suit(2). But a sale by the Official Receiver is a private sale and not a sale by operation of law and therefore is governed by this section(3). It has been held by the Nagpur High Court that the doctrine of lis pendens will apply to a person who perfects his title to property by adverse possession during the pendency of a suit(4). But it is doubtful if this view is correct.

30A. Effect of provision in tenancy laws.

Where tenancy proceedings under S. 29(2) of the Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act was pending on day of purchase of suit property, the principle under S. 52 would apply(1).

When the question of tenancy is in issue in a Civil Court, a party to that proceeding cannot by-pass the Court and seek to obtain redress from a Tribunal by filing a petition under S. 72 of the Kerala Land Reforms Act. An attempt thus made to invite a decision on the question of tenancy by the Tribunal during the pendency of the suit cannot be encouraged or supported. The Tribunal shall either wait till the Civil Court renders its decision, or if the Tribunal proceeds to enter any finding on the tenancy, it will only be a tentative decision subject to the final decision of the Civil Court. Section 72 postulates a decision on the status of the applicant as a cultivating tenant and a consequent order for transfer of the landlord's rights. The first aspect is subject to the decision of a Civil Court which is already seized of the matter in the pending suit. The second aspect which is consequential and directing transfer of the landlord's rights is the prerogative of the Land Tribunal. The application of the doctrine of lis pendens in such a case therefore is not inconsistent with any provision of the Act. The Land Tribunal is a creature of the statute controlled by its provisions. While it cannot traverse outside its jurisdiction, it can function only subject to certain inherent limitations. It is as much bound by the principle of lis pendens just as it cannot flinch from the path of natural justice.(2)

There is no conflict between any provisions of the Karnataka Land Reforms Act and S. 52 of the T P Act. Even otherwise all that sub-s. (2) of S. 3 of the Karnataka Act deals with is the overriding effect of the provisions of that Act so far as they relate to Chapter V of the T P Act. Section 52 does not come under Chap. V.(3)

There is no conflict between S. 52 and the provisions of the Bihar Land Reforms (Fixation of Ceiling Area and Acquisition of Surplus Land) Act (1961).(4)

Where a person purchases agricultural land during pendency of the suit, the transaction is invalid and if he inducts a tenant in that land, the tenant cannot claim to be the cultivating tenant thereof and the occupancy right created in his favour would be hit by S. 108 of the T P Act (5)

(DB)  (1902) 25 Mad 406 (413, 423) (DB) (Official Receiver is not a 'voluntary purchaser'.)

[See (1903) 26 Mad 230 (236) (DB).]

[See also AIR 1933 Mad 858 (859) (Official assignee held not bound by the decree passed in a suit instituted against the insolvent and his son.)]

2. (1983) 9 All LR 594 : 1983 All WC 419 (DB).

3. AIR 1945 Mad 350 (351).

4. AIR 1948 Nag 97 (99) : ILR (1947) Nag 719.

Section 52 — Note 30-A

1. 1999 AIHC 4469 (4474) : 2000 (1) ICC 229 (Bom).

2. AIR 1984 Ker 135 (138) : 1984 Ker LJ 164.

3. 1998 AIHC 4403 (4405) : 1998 (6) Kant LJ 47.

4. 1984 BBCJ 890 (894) (DB)

5. 1999 AIHC 1837 (1840) : 1999 (1) Kant LJ 682.

A civil suit for eviction of tenant was filed. During its pendency Kerala Rent Control Act was extended to the concerned locality. Suit premises were purchased by a co-operative society and it was added as plaintiff held that it could not be said that the sale to the co-operative society during pendency of the suit should be totally ignored in view of the provisions of S. 52 of the T. P. Act. Civil Suit was not barred in view of exemption granted to the co-operative society. The doctrine of lis pendens could not be involved for purpose of ousting the jurisdiction of the Civil Court which originally had the jurisdiction.(6)

The rights of Thika tenants were held to be hit by the principle of lis pendens since the right of the original lessee has come to an end of passing of decree for eviction (7).

The principles of lis pendens adumbrated under section 52 of the Transfer of Property Act would apply to the ejectment proceedings under Sec. 13 of the Tenancy Act, pending adjudication of the rights between landlord and the tenant, when the former grants any lease in favour of the third party in respect of which the tenants therein are claiming entitlement, the doctrine of lis pendens would apply and the lease is hit by the principle of lis pendens(8).

31. Transfer by or in execution of decree or order.

A transfer by way of a Court sale in execution of a decree or order, though involuntary, cannot be said to be a transfer by operation of law within the meaning of this Act, inasmuch as S. 2, Cl. (d) draws a distinction between a transfer by operation of law and a transfer by or in execution of a decree or order. This section, in terms, does not apply to such transfers also(1). The general principle of the doctrine of lis pendens will, however, apply to such cases(2).

6. AIR 1994 Ker 122 (126, 128) : 1994 (2) Rent CR 336

7. AIR 2001 Cal 78 (84)

8. 1984 LS (AP) 9 (18, 19)

Section 52 — Note 31

1. AIR 1967 SC 1440 (1445) : (1968) 1 SCJ 68  1998 AHC 102 (105) : 1997 (1) Kant LJ 415  (1972) 2 Andh WR 78 (DB) (Save as provided by S. 57)  AIR 1958 All 24 (25)  AIR 1957 Pat 729 (731), 36 Pat 1139 (DB)  ILR (1957) 3 Cal 642, 643)  1954 BLJR 356 (358, 359) : AIR 1955 NLC 1597  AIR 1952 Orissa 64 (68) : ILR (1952) Cal 277 (DB)  ILR (1951) Trav-Co 570 (574) : AIR 1955 NLC 1043 (DB)  AIR 1950 Orissa 210 (211) : ILR (1950) Cal 486 (DB)  AIR 1930 Rang 132 (135)  Rang 734 (DB)  (1901) 23 All 60 (62) (DB) (Sale in execution pending an appeal in a suit under O. 21, R. 63.)

The contrary view expressed in the case below that the section applies to such cases is not correct.

 AIR 1931 All 466 (480) : 53 All 1023 (FB)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 840 (840) (Cal) (Word, "herein", in S. 2, T. P. Act, interpreted)  AIR 1931 All 45 (46, 47) (DB) (Suit for partition)  AIR 1923 Cal 252 (256) (DB)  AIR 1922 Nag 81 (82)  AIR 1915 All 27 (28) (DB)

2. AIR 1967 SC 1440 (1445) : (1968) 1 SCJ 68  AIR 1970 SC 1717 (1721, 1722) : 1971 BLJR 86 : (1969) 1 SCWR 74. (Principle of lis pendens applies to involuntary alienations)  AIR 1946 Lah 322 (328) : ILR (1947) Lah 213 (FB)  AIR 1922 Nag 89 (90, 92) (FB)  (1896) 24 Cal 62 (74, 75) (FB)  (1909) 32 Cal 891 (906) (SB)  (1989) 2 Ker LJ 668 (670)  AIR 1988 Kant 59 : ILR (1986) 2 Kant 3776 held obiter.  (1988) 65 Cut LT 328 (334)  1986 HRR 39 (43) (P & H) (Doctrine applies to court auction sales and revenue sales)  AIR 1983 All 310 (317) (DB) (Where the auction sale was held during the pendency of suit for specific performance of contract held, principle of lis pendens would be applicable to such auction sales)  AIR 1981 All 149  AIR 1981 Pat 27 : 1980 BLJR 493  AIR 1978 NOC 270 : (1978) 1 Mad LJ 146 : AIR 1975 Raj 45 (47) : 1974 Raj LW 220  1970 Ker LR 582  AIR 1918 Mad 578 (579) : 41 Mad 458  (1962) 2 Mad LJ 336 (337)  AIR 1960 Cal 299 (302) (DB) : AIR 1939 Cal 709 : Ap proved, AIR 1946 Pat 134 and AIR 1935 Pat 230 Dissented from.)  AIR 1959 Ker 133 (135) ILR (1958) Ker 480 (DB) (Sale in execution of money decree subsequent to mortgage suit)  AIR 1958 All 24 (25)  (1958) 37 Pat 176 (193) (DB)  (1957) ILR 3 Cal 642 (643) * AIR 1957 Pat 729 (731) 36 Pat 1139 (DB)  AIR 1954 BLJR 356 (358-359) AIR 1955 NLC 1597  AIR 1954 Trav-Co 299 (301) (DB)  AIR 1954 Trav-Co 122 (123) (DB)  AIR 1953 Pat 58 (59) 31 Pat 722 (DB) (Doctrine of lis pendens applies to purchase at auction sale in execution of a decree)  AIR 1952 Orissa 64 (68) ILR (1952) Cut 277  AIR 1952 Trav-Co 102 (103) 1950 Trav-Co LR 665 (DB)  AIR 1951 Cal 481 (484) ILR (1949) 1 Cal 378 (DB)  AIR 1951 Nag 194 (197) ILR (1951) Nag 241 (Principle enunciated in S 52 applies to auction sales)  ILR (1951) Trav-Co 570 (574) AIR 1955 NLC 1043 (DB)  AIR 1950 Orissa 260 (211) ILR (1950) Cut 486 (DB)  AIR 1950 Orissa 36 (41) : ILR (1949) 1 Cut 559 (DB) (In applying the doctrine of lis pendens law does not make any difference between a transfer inter vivos and an involuntary transfer)  1950 Trav-Co LR 636 (640) (DB) (1 TLJ 28 and 16 TLJ 510 (FB), Rel on)  AIR 1949 Mad 207 (208) AIR 1949 Nag 114 (115) ILR (1948) Nag 573  ILR (1948) Nag 133 (139) (DB)  AIR 1948 Pat 111 (112)  (1945) 50 Mys HCR 258 (DB) (The language of T P Act is plain. The rule of lis pendens only applies to transfers by the plaintiff or defendant to their respective interests after the suit including transfers by Court sale in execution of money decrees against either party)  AIR 1944 Bom 191 (193) ILR (1944) Bom 274 (DB)  AIR 1943 Bom 27 (30) (Doctrine of lis pendens applies to attachment before judgment)  1943 Trav-Co LR 133  AIR 1939 Cal 709 (710) ILR (1939) 2 Cal 63  AIR 1939 Cal 655 (656) (DB)  AIR 1939 Lah 146 (147)  AIR 1937 Nag 400 (401) ILR (1937) Nag 452  AIR 1937 Oudh 159 (163) 12 Luck 540 (DB)  AIR 1936 Cal 590 (592)  AIR 1936 Lah 512 (513)  AIR 1934 Nag 36 (38) 30 Nag LR 284  AIR 1933 Mad 838 (838)  AIR 1933 Lah 10 (11)  AIR 1933 Lah 71 (172)  AIR 1930 Mad 570 (572)  AIR 1930 Mad 824 (830-832) 54 Mad 132 (DB)  AIR 1930 Rang 132 (133-135) 7 Rang 734 (DB)  AIR 1929 All 601 (602)  AIR 1929 Bom 200 (201)  AIR 1927 Oudh 261 (263) 2 Luck 496 (DB)  AIR 1925 Pat 462 (464) 4 Pat 619 (DB)  AIR 1925 Oudh 496-497-498 29 Oudh Cas 37 (DB)  AIR 1925 Oudh 30 (33) (Absence of notice is immaterial)  AIR 1924 Mad 307 (308) (DB)  AIR 1924 Bom 467 (467) (DB)  AIR 1923 Mad 442 (443) (DB)  AIR 1922 Pat 542 (543) 1 Pat 287 (DB)  AIR 1920 Mad 126 (129) 43 Mad 696 (DB) (Per Seshagiri Aiyar J. It applies when the purchaser knows the pendency of the litigation and purchases property deliberately ignoring the suit)  AIR 1918 Mad 1098 (1098, 40) Mad 955 (DB) (Per Napier J.)  AIR 1917 Oudh 111 (112)  AIR 1915 Oudh 1 (3)  AIR 1915 Cal 536 (538) (DB)  (1909) 3 Ind Cas 696 (699) (DB) (Cal)  (1907) 11 Cal WN 828 (830) (DB)  (1902) 27 Bom 266 (270) (DB)  (1901) 28 Cal 23 (26) (DB)  (1901) 23 All 60 (64) (DB)  (1926) 95 Ind Cas 213 (214) (Oudh)  (1913) 16 Oudh Cas 148 (152) (DB)  (1913) 18 Ind Cas 177 (179) (DB) (Cal)  (1911) 11 Ind Cas 464 (465) (DB) (Cal)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 772 (773) (Low Bur)  (1910) 6 Ind Cas 40 (41) (DB) (Cal)  (1899) 3 Cal WN 323 (325)  (1891) 14 Mad 491 (492) (DB) * (1888) 15 Cal 94 (97, 99) (DB)  (1886) 12 Cal 299 (301) (DB)  (1882) 6 Bom 567 (570) (DB) (This would be so even when the property sold in execution was attached before suit)  (1878) 4 Cal 789 (792) (DB)  (1874) 7 Mad HCR 104 (111) (DB)  (1874) 21 South WR 349 (351) (DB)

[See also AIR 1952 Nag 341 (343) : ILR (1952) Nag 211 (FB). (There is no force in the contention that S 52 does not apply to involuntary sales)  AIR 1934 Mad 40 (43) 57 Mad 426 (Obiter)  (1886) 12 Cal 414 (421) : 12 Ind App 171 (PC)  AIR 1924 Mad 449 (450) (FB).  AIR 1930 All 638 (640) (DB) (Once a joint mortgage decree is passed against several items of property the mortgagee decree-holder is entitled to realise the entire amount from any part of these properties and he can also sell them in any order that he wishes to choose. Neither the judgment-debtor nor any transferee pendente lite from him is entitled to have the decretal amount split up and the liability apportioned)  ILR (1955) 1 All 673 (685) AIR 1955 NLC 1698 (Sale under S 162 of U P Land Revenue Act for realisation of arrears of income tax — Sale taking place after preliminary mortgage decree and during pendency of mortgage suit. Doctrine of lis pendens will apply)]

In Moti Lal v Karrabuldin(3), their Lordships of the Privy Council applied the doctrine of lis pendens to a transfer of property in execution of a decree pending a suit for declaration of title to that property. Their Lordships further stated that the transfer will be affected by lis pendens notwithstanding that the attachment under which the property was sold had been effected before the institution of the suit inasmuch as attachment did not confer any title on the attaching creditor(4).

There is, however, a difference of opinion on the question whether a sale in execution of a mortgage decree, the mortgage having been executed before the institution of the suit, is affected by the doctrine of lis pendens. In the undermentioned cases(5) it has been held that it is not affected, while a contrary view has been expressed in other cases(6). It is submitted that the latter view is correct. Motilal's case(7), referred to above, was one in which a sale in execution of a mortgage decree was held pending a suit for declaration and it was held that the doctrine of lis pendens will apply to the case. This decision has not been referred to in the cases holding that it is not affected.

It is settled law that doctrine of lis pendens does apply to auction sales held by the executing Court of any immovable property of judgment debtor which was subject of dispute in a pending

(See however AIR 1946 Pat 134 (135) : 24 Pat 695 (DB) (Doctrine of lis pendens not extended in 1882 by judicial decisions to transfers in invitum.)

(But see AIR 1935 Pat 230 (230) : 1886) 10 Bom 406, 405, 406) : 1900) 3 Oudh Cas 170 (171) : 1878-4 All 588 (590) (DB) : 1871) 15 Suth WR 308 (309) (DB)]

Also see Section 2, Note 6

3. (1898) 25 Cal 179 (185) : 24 Ind App 170 (PC).

4. Also see the following cases

(1906) 29 Cal 428 (431) (FB) : Attachment does not confer any title : 1950 Trav C. LR 636 (640) (DB) : AIR 1915 Oudh 1 (3) : 1874) 21 Suth WR 349 (351) (DB)

5. (1948) 53 Mys HCR 219 (240, 241) (FB). (Sale of mortgaged property in execution of mortgage decree during pendency of maintenance suit is not hit by doctrine of lis pendens when mortgage is prior to maintenance suit and mortgagee is not made party to that suit) : 1958 Ker LT 836 (838, 839) : AIR 1957 Ker 48 (50) : ILR (1957) Ker (5) (DB) : AIR 1950 Mad 189 (190) (The reason being that the title of such purchaser relates back to the date of the mortgage) : AIR 1950 Orissa 210 (211) : ILR (1950) Cal 486 (DB) : 1949) 27 Mys LJ 61 (69) (DB) : Suit on mortgage before suit for maintenance was instituted against mortgagor — Sale held in mortgage suit during pendency of maintenance suit is not affected by charge created in the maintenance suit) : AIR 1945 Mad 91 (92) : ILR (1945) Mad 578 (DB) (AIR 1931 All 466 (FB) Dissented from; AIR 1932 Mad 566 Approved.) : AIR 1945 Nag 86 (94) : ILR (1944) Nag 852 (DB) : AIR 1942 Cal 394 (401) (DB) : AIR 1932 Mad 566, 573 : 56 Mad 115 (DB) : Dissented from AIR 1917 Mad 751) : AIR 1926 All 480 (486) (DB) : (1905) 32 Cal 871 (906) (DB) (Per Mitra J., Bret J., contra.) Also see Note 7.

6. AIR 1922 Nag 89 (91) (FB) : AIR 1931 All 466 (480, 481) : 53 All 1023 (FB). (Per Mukerjee J., contra. : 25 Cal 179 (PC), Followed) : AIR 1962 Bom 191 (196) : 11 R (1961) Bom 977 (AIR 1950 Orissa 210 and AIR 1945 Mad 91 and AIR 1945 Nag 86 Dissent from; AIR 1931 All 466 (FB) and AIR 1958 All 24 and 24 Ind App 170 (PC) Reason) : AIR 1959 Punj 490 (495, 496) : AIR 1948 Pat 111 (112) (Suits by prior and subsequent mortgagees without impleading each other — Sale in execution of decree on prior mortgage during pendency of suit on subsequent mortgage — Is affected by lis pendens — AIR 1931 All 466 (FB) Followed) : AIR 1914 Sind 13, (132) : 8 Sind LR 264 (DB)

(See also AIR 1921 Cal 792 (795) (DB) (Mortgage-decree — Suit for redemption — During pendency of litigation sale in execution of mortgage decree — Held Court should not have ignored the event))

7. (1898) 25 Cal 179 (185) : 24 Ind App 170 (PC).

suit (8) A decree for specific performance of an agreement to sell immovable property was passed in favour of plaintiff. During pendency of execution of the decree, the property was sold in auction in execution of another decree and possession was given to sanction purchaser. Held that the principle of lis pendens applies to Court auction sale. (9)

Where a person purchases a mortgaged property in execution of the money decree during the pendency of mortgage suit, he has to be treated as the representative-in-interest of the judgment-debtor. Thus he is bound by the mortgage decree and is bound to give possession (10)

During the pendency of suit for enforcing rights under the equitable mortgage, the suit property was auctioned in execution of money decree obtained by another person. The auction purchaser was, therefore, bound by the decree passed in the pending suit in view of doctrine of lis pendens (11) Where after filing a suit on mortgage and during its pendency, the suit property was auctioned in execution of another decree and the auction purchaser subsequently sold that property to the appellant, thereafter a charged decree was passed in the suit on mortgage and the respondent purchased the property in auction sale and delivery was affected, the Court sale and delivery to appellant in execution of the earlier decree is hit by S. 52. He is not entitled to re-delivery of the property from the respondent (12) Where the symbolic possession of the property is handed over by a person to auction purchaser in execution of the decree, he could not have parted with possession of the party in favour of the third person and the third person could not acquire any right in the property in view of the principle of lis pendens. (13)

Section 52 of the Transfer of Property Act, which embodies the rule of lis pendens in relation to a suit for proceeding in which any right to immovable property is in question, specifically provides that the vice of that rule is not attracted where property is transferred or otherwise dealt with under authority of the competent Court. The rationale of this exemption is that a purchaser in court-sale has a right to presume that the Court has properly investigated the rights of the parties before ordering the sale. It is, therefore, of the greatest importance that sales made under the authority of the Court are not lightly set aside. This exception to the rule in S. 52 has no application in respect of private alienations where parties deal with each other at arms length. Significantly the rule in S. 52 has application only in cases where right to immovable property is in question. It has no application to a suit for money. A sale in execution of a money decree, subject to the rule of restitution contained in S. 144 of the CPC, is not affected by the subsequent reversal of the decree. No statutory bar is attracted to such a sale. The decision cited on behalf of the appellants concerned court-sales in execution of money decrees. The subsequent reversal of the decree in such a case did not affect the bona fide transferee without notice who is entitled to claim relaxation of the rule of restitution contained in S. 144 of the C. P. C. That principle has no application, whatever to a case which squarely falls within the mischief of S. 52 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. The rule of lis pendens "affects not because it amounts to notice, but because the law does not allow litigant parties to give to others, pending litigation, rights to the property in dispute, so as to prejudice the opposite party".

Where the suit related to a right of immovable property and the purchaser purchases the property, not in a Court-auction, but from the decree-holder in a private sale, such sale during the pendency of the application under O. 9, R. 13 of the C. P. C. is a transaction during the pendency of the "suit or proceeding" within the meaning of S. 52 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. The

8. AIR 1997 Kant 306 (308) : 1997 (3) Kant LJ 691

9. 1989 TLN 40 (41) (Mad)

10. 1987 TNLJ 206 (210) (Mad)

11. AIR 1988 Kant 59 : ILR (1987) Kant 1242 (ILR (1966) 2 Kant 3776, held obiter.)

12. (1989) 2 Ker LJ 668 (670) (DB).

13. 1984 Rajasthan LR 437 (440).

prohibition contained in that Section provides for no exemption in favour of a bona fide purchaser without notice. Whether or not the purchasers are of such a category when they purchased the suit property by a private sale, and not by an involuntary sale ordered by the Court, the statutory prohibition, invalidated the sale.(14)

A transferee of land from a judgment debtor in a money decree cannot contend that the transfer was not attracted by mischief of lis pendens when the judgment debtor had brought a title suit to set aside the money decree and applied for stay of execution proceedings in which the suit land was sought to be sold to realise the decretal amount and the Court granted the stay after the judgment debtor's furnishing a security bond and consequently the said title suit was dismissed and land was sold in auction. Though a charge under S. 100 T. P. Act does not involve transfer of an interest to the immovable property, it creates a right to immovable property for the purpose of executing a decree and charge within the meaning of S. 100 T. P. Act is quite competent to attract the provisions of S. 52, moreover, although no question as to right to any property was directly and specifically raised at the inception of a suit or proceeding, it may at subsequent stage appear there in to fall within the ambit of S. 52.

Moreover by virtue of the provisions of S. 100, T. P. Act, the land in hand of the transferee can be pursued for realisation of the decretal dues unless the appellant can prove that he purchased the property without notice of the charge and for consideration (15)

Where the properties are brought to sale in pursuance of the same decree, the principle of lis pendens has no application.(16)

A transferee pendente lite is bound by the decree just as much as he were a party to the suit. Such transferee puts himself in privity with the suit, and must be treated not as a stranger to the suit but as a party to the suit and consequently bound by the terms of the decree in full. A decree based upon a compromise is just as much binding as a decree founded upon a decision on merits (17)

The authorities while determination of excess land under the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, which was lying vacant, did not consider the choice of the landowner. Subsequently the land was transferred. The transferee filed an appeal against order declaring the land as excess and also objected to the non-consideration of choice of transferor by the authorities. The fact whether the transfer deed was valid or not in view of S. 27 of the 'Ceiling Act' was to be considered only after choice given by transferor was taken into consideration. The purchaser of land was certainly entitled to urge before the authorities, the objection taken by the transferor regarding choice given by her. The transferee to property is subject to provisions of S. 52 of T. P. Act. The transferee is entitled to take such plea which the transferor of such property had already taken the principles which is involved under O. 22, R. 10 read with S. 141 of C. P. C. will be applicable (18)

32. Compulsory sales for recovery of Government dues.

A compulsory sale for the recovery of Government dues is sometimes free of all incumbrances under the particular law applicable to the case, and is sometimes subject to incumbrances. Like an ordinary sale in execution of a decree of a Civil Court, conveying only the right, title and interest of the judgment-debtor. In the former case the moment the sale takes place, the mortgage or other incumbrance is extinguished. Consequently, the sale, even though it takes place, pending a suit or

14. (1987) 2 Ker LT 401 (403)

15. AIR 1984 (NOC) 85 (Gau)

16. AIR 1953 Mad 692 (693) : ILR (1953) Mad 1009 (DB)

17. AIR 1985 All 163 (166)

18. AIR 1993 All 83 (84) : 1993 All LJ 464 • 1993 All CJ 1024

the mortgage or other encumbrance is not affected by lis pendens(1). In the latter case, the sale would be governed by the general doctrine of lis pendens(2).

Where a person claimed to be purchaser of suit property in Government auction held for recovery of debt due to Government and the liability of the Government had arisen prior to the suit for specific performance of agreement for sale filed by the plaintiff, the person who purchased the property in auction is entitled to be impleaded. Strictly speaking S. 52 would not be attracted. State debt has to be given precedence over private liabilities (3). Where the property which is the subject matter of a suit for specific performance is already attached and auctioned by the Government in order to recover State debt due to owner, the auction purchaser is entitled to be impleaded in the pending suit for specific performance. Strictly speaking provisions of S. 52 are not attracted in case of proceeding for recovery of State debt (4). See also the undermentioned cases (5).

Section 52 — Note 32

1. AIR 1954 Trav-Co 122 (123) (DB) (Compulsory sale for arrears of Jenmikarom under Travancore Jenmi and Kudiyam Act (5 of 1971))  AIR 1973 SC 569 (573, 574, 578, 579 to 581) : (1974) 4 Civ App J 154 (The liability of the land to be sold under Section 7(c) of the Land Improvement Loans Act, 1883 was a pre-existing charge and that subsisted as from the date of the loan. This was not affected by the institution of the suit for partition. This charge could be enforced by the State notwithstanding the pendency of the partition suit. (1969) 2 Mad LJ 209, Affirmed)  AIR 1952 Orissa 64 (68) ILR (1952) Cut 277 (Rent sale of tenancy holding subject to Orissa Tenancy Act pending execution of mortgage decree against holding. Purchaser at rent sale is not affected by lis pendens by reason of provisions embodied in S. 220 of the Tenancy Act)  AIR 1952 Trav-Co 230 (234) (DB)  AIR 1952 Trav-Co 96 (97) ILR (1951) Trav-Co 554 (DB)  AIR 1952 Trav-Co 61 (62) : 1950 Trav-Co LR 333,  ILR (1951) Trav-Co 570 (574) : AIR 1955 NUC 1043 (DB) (The prohibition is only against litigant parties dealing with properties in dispute and not against a paramount claim like that of State or a local body being enforced)  1950 Ker LT 322 (327)  AIR 1939 Mad 256 (256) (Sale of land by Collector for arrears of rent due from ryot to land-holder is not affected by doctrine of lis pendens)  AIR 1929 Rang 175 (176) 7 Rang 113 (DB) (Sale for arrears of property tax under the Rangoon Municipal Act — Sale under that Act is free of encumbrances.)
[See also (1958) 37 Pat 176 (193) (DB) (Disputed property given in security by K for loan taken from Government under Bihar and Orissa Natural Calamities Loans Act, 1 of 1934) — Collector's right to put up disputed property to sale in proceedings for realisation of loan held to be paramount. Purchaser at such sale acquired the property free from all encumbrances.)]
2. ILR (1955) 1 All 673 (675) : AIR 1955 NUC 1698 (Sale under S. 162 of U. P. Land Revenue Act (3 of 1901) for recovery of arrears of income-tax)  AIR 1982 Ker 222 (225, 226) (AIR 1967 SC 1440 AIR 1972 Ker 68, Foll.)  AIR 1952 All 298 (299) (Revenue sale under S. 162 U. P. Land Revenue Act (1901) — Sale during pendency of mortgage suit — Doctrine of lis pendens affects the sale — Purchaser's claim cannot prevail over the claim for possession by purchaser in sale held in execution of mortgage decree)  AIR 1926 Mad 1161 (1163) (Sale for recovery of dues under Abkari Act)  (1899) 26 Cal 966 (970) (DB) (Property sold at a revenue sale under Ss. 13 and 54 of Act 11 of 1859)  (1908) 7 Cal LJ 1 (35) (DB) (Reversed on other grounds in 40 Cal 89 (PC)  AIR 1922 Pat 542 (544) 1 Pat 287 (DB) (15 Cal 546 Followed)  (1909) 4 Ind Cas 73, (731) (DB) (Cal) (Do)  (1903) 26 Mad 230 (236) (DB) (Sale for arrears of income tax)
3. 2001 AIHC 1421 (1422) (Punj & Har)
4. 2001 AIHC 1421 (1422) (Punj & Har).
5. AIR 1952 Nag 341 (347) : ILR (1952) Nag 211 (FB)  (1884) 7 Mad 31 (37) (FB). (A sale by a landlord of a tenant's interest in his holding for non-payment of rent under the provisions of S. 38 of the Rent Recovery Act (Madras Act 8 of 1865) does not defeat

33. Sale under Section 88 of the Criminal Procedure Code (1898).

Where after the institution of a suit for the specific performance of a contract to sell a particular property the same was sold under the provisions of Ss. 88 and 89 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (1898) in proceedings taken against the defendant it was held by the Bombay High Court that the doctrine of lis pendens will apply to such a sale (1). Now see Ss. 91 and 92 of the Code of 1973.

34. Transfer by permission of Court.

The doctrine of lis pendens will not apply to a transfer made pending a suit after obtaining the sanction of the Court in which the suit is pending for such transfer (1). The sanction by another Court for a transfer cannot except the transfer from the operation of lis pendens (2). Otherwise every sale in execution of a decree pending a suit will be valid and this as has been seen already is not the law. A sale by the Official Receiver on a Hindu father's insolvency pending a suit for partition by the son is not affected by lis pendens where the sale is held after an application by the son for an injunction against the Receiver to stay the sale has been refused. In such a case the sale must be deemed to be one which is held with the leave of the Court (3).

35. "So as to affect the rights of."

A transfer or dealing pendente lite by a party to a suit or proceeding is not ipso facto void; it merely cannot affect the rights of any other party to the suit under any decree or order that may be made in the suit or proceeding (1), and it is only voidable at the instance of such existing encumbrances. 5 Mad 371, Overruled.)  AIR 1971 Ker 192. 1970 Ker LT 290. (If a sale is for recovery of revenue charged on that property it may extinguish encumbrances over property. If, on the other hand, the revenue sale is not in enforcement of a charge on the very property which is sold, the subsisting encumbrances in the property would continue and a pending suit will not in any way be affected by the revenue sale held.)  (1969) 2 Mad LJ 209. (Doctrine of lis pendens does not apply to revenue sales.)  ILR (1959) Mys 242. 246. (Recovery proceedings under Revenue Code for recovery of certain amount due to co-operative societies on certificate issued under S. 59(1) b of Bombay Co-operative Societies Act, 1925) — Cancellation pendency of such proceeding is not hit by doctrine of lis pendens.)

Section 52 — Note 33

1. AIR 1929 Bom 200 (201)

Section 52 — Note 34

1. AIR 1926 Pat 94 (98) (DB)
2. AIR 1917 Bom 151 (152). 42 Bom 215 (DB). (Suit on mortgage pending in High Court — Sanction for transfer taken in District Court in Poona — Transfer held not excepted.)
3. AIR 1943 Nag 101 (109); ILR (1943) Nag 390 (DB)

Section 52 — Note 35

1. AIR 1956 SC 593 (593, 602); ILR (1956) Mys 152.  AIR 1941 Lah 433 (442). ILR (1942) Lah 155 (FB).  AIR 1965 Punj 415 (420). ILR (1965) 2 Punj 97 (FB). * 197 All LJ 1273 (1276). 1979 All CJ 412.  1978 Pun LJ 206 (207) (Obiter).  1976 Tax LR 921 (922). 81 Cal WN 1 (DB).  (1978) 19 Guj LR 737. (1978) 1 Ren CJ 82 (87).  AIR 1971 Goa 42 (43, 44).  ILR (1963) Madh Pra 702 (721). (Therefore, in each case it will have to be ascertained as to what right are declared by the Decree, which would be binding on the transferees pendente lite AIR 1956 SC 593. Followed.  AIR 1968 Bom 19. (197. ILR (1961) Bom 977.  AIR 1959 Andh Pr. 286 (285). (Property covered by transfer not affected by partition decree passed in suit pending at the time of transfer — Property allotted to plaintiff not from and out of properties covered by transfer — No charge for mesne profits created in partition decree. — Doctrine of lis pendens not attracted.)  1959 Andh LT 436 (438).  AIR 1959 Mad 225 (226). 1959 88 Pat 389 (422, 423) (DB).  AIR 195 Cal 106 (109).  AIR 1957 Ker 21 (24) (DB). AIR 1957 Pat 721 (731). 36 Pat 1139 (DB). AIR 1956 SC 593. Rel on. AIR 1956 Pat 389 party (2) In other words, the doctrine of lis pendens applies only to transfers and other dealings which are inconsistent with the rights declared by the decree or order in the suit or proceeding. (3) Under S 52 the transfer of property effected during pendency of the civil suit would be deemed to be non est for the purpose of lis pendens. The transferor will be regarded as owner of the property notwithstanding that he has transferred it. However, there is nothing in this Section which can lead to the conclusion that the transfer pendente lite cannot be held valid and operative as between the parties thereto. This section does not wipe out the transaction altogether but makes it subservient to

147 (151) : ILR (1955) Trav Co 823 (DB)  ILR (1954) Bom 322 (328) AIR 1955 NUC 912  AIR 1954 Hyd 185 (188, 190) ILR (1954) Hyd 250 (DB) (Per Ansari, J) — (Suit ending in compromise decree — Defendant getting contingent interest in the property — Condition precedent not fulfilled — Vendee's right to possession is not affected)  AIR 1951 Cal 481 (484) ILR (1949) 1 Cal 378 (DB)  ILR (1951) Trav Co 570 (574) AIR 1955 NUC 1043 (DB)  (1950) 55 Mys HCR 174 (180) (DB)  AIR 1947 Mad 18 (30) (DB)  AIR 1937 Bom 244 (251) (DB) (Misdescription of land in pleadings prevents operation of doctrine)  AIR 1936 Nag 125 (126) ILR (1936) Nag 22  AIR 1937 Oudh 157 (158) (DB)  AIR 1928 Mad 635 (637) (DB)  AIR 1925 Nag 341 (342)  AIR 1920 Mad 26 (128) 43 Mad 696 (DB) (Per Oldfield, J)  AIR 1918 Mad 564 (2) (568)  (1898) 2 Oudh Cas 330 (335)  (1913) 16 Oudh Cas 148 (152) (DB)  1907 9 Bom LR 1173 (1177) (DB) (The effect of the doctrine of lis pendens is not to annul the conveyance but only to render it subservient to the rights of the parties to the litigation)  AIR 1940 All 141 (142, 143). (Do)

[See (1913) 37 Bom 427 (436, 441) (DB) (A partition between defendants pendente lite affects the plaintiff's rights under his redemption decree)]

[See also AIR 1959 Ker 67 (71) : ILR (1958) Ker 1266 (FB). (A transfer or other dealing with suit property pendente lite is void as against decree holder and he is entitled to ignore it)  AIR 1964 Orissa 176 (182) ILR (1964) Cut 89 (DB) (The words 'so as to affect the rights of any other party' assume that the parties' right must first be established)  AIR 1959 Bom 475 (477) ILR (1959) Bom 94 (Application of rule in S 52 has to be adjudged by reference to claim made in suit and decree passed and not on academic consideration as to what true state of law applicable to the dispute between parties is and whether the decree was properly passed)  1936 Mad WN 1069 (1069) (Pendente lite transfer does not confer any title on transferee against plaintiffs)  AIR 1916 Sind 37 (42) 10 Sind LR 42 (Mortgage)  AIR 1928 Mad 878 (879) (DB) (Assignment of a decree during the pendency of another suit to which the assignor was a party — Assignee held bound by the decree passed in the suit)  AIR 1928 Mad 612 (613) (DB) (Mortgage after maintenance decree had been passed — Mortgaged property held bound by the charge.)]

2. AIR 1928 All 3 (5) : 50 All 290 (SB). (Per Sulaiman, J)  AIR 1987 Orissa 142 (145) (1986) 2 Orissa LR 155  AIR 1959 Orissa 157 (159) ILR (1959) Cut 273 (DB) AIR 1957 Cal 106 (109)  AIR 1954 Hyd 185 (188) ILR (1954) Hyd 250  AIR 1953 Nag 236 (236) ILR (1952) Nag 150  AIR 1945 Mad 454 (456) (A stranger to a suit cannot question transfer on ground of lis pendens.)  AIR 1940 All 141 (142, 143)
3. AIR 1956 SC 593 (602) : ILR (1956) Mys 152. (The contention that a transferor pendente lite must for purposes of S 52 be treated as still retaining title to the properties cannot be accepted)  1976 Ker LT 919 (924) (FB)  AIR 1954 Hyd 185 (188) ILR (1954) Hyd 250 (DB) (Compromise decree held, not inconsistent with vendee's right) * AIR 1948 Nag 316, 322 ILR (1947) Nag 912 (DB) (Where the only right which a party to suit had in the litigation was to have the property brought to sale in satisfaction of a first charge which, as such, obtains priority over all other charges, it was held that the creation of an encumbrance pending litigation did not affect that right)  AIR 1943 Cal 577 (584) (The rule simply protects a certain class of rights. It does not add to the potency of those rights. If the rights are themselves wanting in certain potency the rule of lis pendens shall not fill them with it. (Case relating to competing rights of prior and puisne mortgagees)) * AIR 1918 Mad 1015 (1097) : 40 Mad 955 (DB).

the rights based on the decree in the suit (4) That this is the true legal effect of the provision will be clear from the latter part of the rule which states that the property cannot be transferred or otherwise dealt with by any party to the suit or proceeding so as to affect the rights of any other party thereto under any decree or order which may be made therein (5) Section 52 creates only a right to be enforced to avoid a transfer made pendente lite because such transfers are not void but voidable and that too at the option of the affected party to the proceeding pending which the transfer is effected. The right ex hypothesi accrues only to such parties and in such circumstances as are expressly envisaged under S. 52. It would, therefore, be reasonable to hold that one who claims the right must establish the same before he can enforce it. The right contemplated under S. 52, no doubt, can be used, both as a sword and a shield, depending on such facts as to what right or interest is transferred, who the affected party is and how and in what manner the transfer is likely to "affect" any party to the pending 'proceeding'. It can be used as a shield in a subsequent stage of the same proceeding between the same parties or their representatives-in-interest. For no need or occasion to establish the right arises in such a case as acts of parties bind them and their representatives-in-interest. Any person who would like to use it as a sword must, however, first establish his right to do so when, in any subsequent proceeding, objection is taken to his claim to do so. Indeed, if the transfer was not avoided by any of the parties to the earlier proceedings, likely to be affected by such transfer, the transferee is not prevented from claiming that the right to avoid transfer was lost and nothing survived to be enforced (6) Absence of an alienor cannot seek equities and his right is subordinate to the decree/order passed in a suit. Immediate purchaser or successive purchaser are bound by the result of the litigation (7) Rights not embodied in the decree or order are not protected by this section.(8)

The alienation of property made by the defendant during pendency of suit for declaration of title and in violation of the order of interim injunction is only voidable and not void (9)

By reason of the provision of Section 52 of the Transfer of Property Act, a transfer made during the pendency of the suit does not become illegal and in-operative. But Section 52 of the said Act prevents any prejudice being caused to the other litigating party. A lis may come to an end only by a reason of positive action on the part of the party to the suit and not by mere inaction. The consequence for not taking steps in a suit would fall in terms of mere inaction. The consequence for not taking steps in a suit would fall in terms of the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure but it cannot be said that 'lis' itself comes to an end or for that matter the inaction on the part of the substituted heirs of Demini Mandalin rendered abandonment of the defence itself. The aforementioned conclusion is based on the fact that an ex parte decree, unless the same is set aside, is as good as a contested decree and only because a defendant does not appear in a suit it does not mean that there was no lis by and between the plaintiff abandons his defence, if any, inasmuch as even in even in such a case the plaintiff will have to, in order to obtain an ex parte decree, prove his case to the satisfaction of the Court. There is no doubt that in such an event the Court shall be deprived of having assistance from the other litigating party but for that, only the absenting party is to be blamed.(10)

4. AIR 1990 Punj & Har 347 (349) : 1990 (1) 97 Pun LR 252  AIR 1994 Ker 122 (126) : 1994 (2) Ren CR 336

5. AIR 1994 Ker 122 (126) : 1994 (2) Ren CR 336

6. AIR 1987 Madh Pra 78 (81) : 1987 MPRCJ 49

7. 1997 (4) Andh LD 310 (315, 317)

8. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 280 (285, 286) (DB)  AIR 1945 Nag 281 (283, 284) : 11 R (1945) Nag 651 (Held, rule of lis pendens did not apply because rights which defendants claimed did not arise under decree or order but arose under Land Revenue Act read with Rules of Rules made under Co-operative Societies Act (1912) and were confined to recovery of sum of money and not recovery of property under award)  AIR 1919 Law Bur 93 (103, 104) : 10 Low Bur Rul 43 (DB).

9. AIR 1989 Orissa 148 (150) : (1988) 2 Orissa LR 521

10. 1988 Pat LJR (HC) 190.

Illustrations

- (1) Where the plaintiff's suit is 'dismissed' a transfer by the defendant pendente lite cannot be said to affect the plaintiff's rights under the decree. The transfer is, therefore, not vitiated by lis pendens (11).
- (2) Where in a suit on a mortgage only a money decree is passed a transfer pendente lite by the defendant of the mortgaged property cannot be said to affect the rights of the plaintiff under the decree (12).
- (3) During the pendency of a mortgage suit, the defendant executed a lease of the mortgaged property to a third party. But after the mortgagee obtained a decree in his suit he purchased by private sale from the mortgagor, the mortgaged property in full discharge of his decree. It was held that the decree having been satisfied, the lease could not be said to affect the rights of the mortgagee under his decree and was therefore not invalid (13).
- (4) A having purchased the equity of redemption in certain property from the guardian of B sued C the mortgagee for redemption. Pending that suit B filed a suit against A for setting aside the sale by the guardian and the suit was compromised to the effect that both A and B should be entitled to the equity of redemption in certain shares. B was made a co-plaintiff in the redemption suit. It was held that the compromise did not affect the rights of C the mortgagee (14).
- (5) Where the defendant in a mortgage suit mortgaged the property pendente lite and with that money paid off the mortgage in suit, it was held that the subsequent mortgage was not one which affected the rights of the mortgagee-plaintiff and was not vitiated (15). Similarly, where during the pendency of a suit upon a later mortgage the property in suit is sold to a third person who covenants to pay off an earlier mortgage and does so, the fact that the purchaser becomes unavailable by virtue of this section as against the person who filed his suit prior to the sale is not a ground for excluding the purchaser's right of subrogation. (16).
- (6) On 6th October 1888 W sued D for maintenance and alleged that a mortgage which had been made by D in favour of V could not affect the charge for maintenance on the property. A decree was passed on 22nd August 1890 for maintenance against D's interests in the properties but subject to the right of V. In execution of a decree which V had obtained against D on his mortgage before 6th October 1888 V purchased the property in 1889. In execution of the maintenance decree the properties were sold to M in 1920. It was held that V's purchase did not affect the rights of the plaintiff in the maintenance suit inasmuch as V's rights were expressly saved from its operation (17).
- (7) Where pending a suit by a legatee to establish his rights to represent the deceased person, a creditor sold the property of the deceased in execution of a decree obtained by him against the widow as the legal representative of the deceased person, it was held that inasmuch as the plaintiff claimed only to represent the deceased, and as the widow was also a legal representative and the decree was against her as such the plaintiff was not affected by the transfer (18).

11. AIR 1938 Nag 30, 34, 35 : ILR (1940) Nag 94 (DB) (Application to leave to sue in forma pauperis in respect of certain lands dismissed.)

12. See 1880 Pun Re No. 113 p. 276 (279, 280) (DB) (Suit against heirs of mortgagor for recovery of money due on the bond without making reference to collateral security)  AIR 1936 Pat 571 (572) (Plaint in a simple money suit for contribution containing prayer that decree to be passed may be declared to be charge on defendant's share of property. Held that plaint was not one involving a claim against immovable property — Purchase of defendant's property during pendency of the suit held not affected by the doctrine of lis pendens.)

Also see Note 14

13. AIR 1939 All 611 (612) : ILR (1939) All 809

14. AIR 1929 Bom 337 (339) (DB).

15. AIR 1925 Nag 21 (24).

16. AIR 1947 Mad 18 (30) (DB). (21 Mad 143, Rel. on.)

17. AIR 1924 Mad 449 (450) (FB).

18. AIR 1930 Mad 930 (938) : 54 Mad 212

- (8) The landowner entered into an agreement with 'A' to sell his land and received earnest money but without executing sale deed he entered into another agreement to sell the same land to 'B' who were leaseholders of the land. 'A' filed suit for specific performance of contract which was decreed in his favour. The claim of 'A' for actual possession of suit land was objected by 'B' on ground that they were in possession as tenants before they entered into an agreement to sell with the landowner and that 'A' was not entitled to actual physical possession of the suit land.

Held, that the sale made by the landowner in favour of 'B' was valid as between them and the effect of this sale was that the lease hold rights of 'B' merged with the ownership again as 'B' can not at the sale time be both landlord and tenant and 'B' could not claim that they were as tenants on the suit land and defeat the claim of 'A' for recovering actual physical possession in execution of the decree for specific performance. (19)

- (9) Where the suit property is sold during pendency of the execution suit, the suit brought in the name of original landlord, the decree will be binding on the subsequent transferee though he was not a party to the suit. (20)

See also undermentioned cases. (21)

19. AIR 1990 Punj & Har 347 (349) : 1990 (1) 97 Pun LR 252

20. 1992 All LJ 285 (287) : 1991 All WC 1216

21. AIR 1959 Ker 67 (72) : ILR (1958) Ker 1266 (18) : Decree in redemption of kamoni property against karnavan — Partition during pendency of suit in appellate Court — After dismissal of appeal, possession of property devolved upon plaintiff — Appeal allowed — Application under O 21 R 100 for re-delivery filed by shapers — Plaintiff's right here would not be defeated.  AIR 1982 All 317 (318) : (1982) 8 All LR 357 : The attachment of property before judgment comes to an end after the dismissal of the suit and the sale made during attachment must be deemed to have been made as if there was no attachment and therefore would be valid.  1978 : Cut WR 52 : 88 : (Where a compromise was entered into by a party to the suit subsequent to the transfer of his interest in the property, yet with a view to defeat that interest — Justice for compromise — Attachment — Effect of the transferee and the decree passed on such compromise will be binding on the transferee that is to say the principle of lis pendens will not apply to such a case. (AIR 1952 Trav-Cu 309 Foll.)  1977 Sim LC 365 (372) : ILR (1977) Him Pra 176 : Application of tenant under S. 111 of H.P. Abolition of Big Landed Estates and Land Revenue Act, 1956, by the doctrine of lis pendens.  1973 : 2 Mys LJ 16 (DB) : Transfer of land — Whether a decree or order is one which may be made in a suit or proceeding within meaning of Section 52 the test that should be applied is whether the decree or order which is ultimately passed is entire & given to the issue raised between the parties, not as a hearing though not directly on the relief claim, the nature of the case, character of the controversy and scope of the suit.)  1968 All LJ 177 : 1968 All WR (HC) 156 : Dispute regarding possession of land — Pendency of appeal — Hearing of appeal set aside on ground of consolidation proceedings in respect of suit land — Transfer of land during pendency of appeal — Transfer is not void but subject to decision in appeal and can be recognised for purpose of consolidation proceedings.  AIR 1966 Orissa 98 (102) (DB) : Partition suit filed by mother against her sons A and B — During pendency of appeal filed by A, plaintiff making gift of her share in favour of B — Transfer is not by rule of lis pendens but does not affect rights of appellant A who will be entitled to his legitimate share.  AIR 1968 Mad 497 (501) : ILR 1966 1 Mad 326 : Suit filed in 1958 by reversioner for declaration that alienation made in 1948 by widow would not be binding on him after death of widow — Reconveyance of property by donee during pendency of suit — Widow became absolute owner of property under S. 14 of Hindu Succession Act (1956) — Doctrine of lis pendens would not confer upon reversioner any rights higher than what he had on date of suit — Held, suit became infructuous.  AIR 1946 Mad 51 (52) : Maintenance decree charging properties — Sale in execution — Mortgage subsequent to decree and before sale — Right to pay off decree and redeem — Mortgagee is not barred by lis pendens from redeeming and paying off charge decree-holder so long as execution sale and charge

Where a party assents to a transfer by the other party pendente lite it cannot be said that his rights under the decree are affected by the transfer, consequently he cannot object to the transfer on the ground of lis pendens(22). In Mangat Rai v Duli Chand(23) A obtained a decree against B and in execution thereof purchased B's property. The sale was set aside and A filed an appeal. Thereafter B sold the property to C who deposited the decree amount into Court and the same was withdrawn by A in full satisfaction of the decree. Nevertheless the appeal was continued and ended in favour of A. It was held that having withdrawn the money from Court A could not be allowed to invoke S 52 in order to impeach the sale by B to C. A brought a suit to enforce the contract for sale in his favour. When the suit was pending B brought a suit for redemption on the basis of purchase of the property from the original mortgagor during the pendency of the suit of A. A filed his written statement in it but did not make B a party to his suit. He proceeded against his vendor and obtained an ex parte decree. It was held that when A filed a written statement in B's suit clearly he knew what B was claiming and as he did not make B a party to his suit he could not later on say that he was entitled to defeat the claim of B on the doctrine of lis pendens(24). Where certain property was sold under a mortgage-decree but the decree-holder had not disclosed, in the sale proclamation, the existence of another incumbrance on the property in his favour, it was held that he was estopped from contending that the purchase having been made during the pendency of the suit on that other mortgage was affected by lis pendens(25).

Where in a suit on behalf of a minor plaintiff the next friend on behalf of the plaintiff and the defendant compromise the suit, under which certain property is transferred by the defendant to the minor plaintiff it cannot be said that the compromise is vitiated by lis pendens though if it is not for the benefit of the minor it may not be binding on the minor (26)

decree had not been confirmed)  AIR 1945 Bom 409 (413) (DB) (Mortgage decree — One of co-mortgagors A transferring his share during execution to B — Subsequent sale of mortgaged property in execution of decree held void so far as it affected A's share — B held not in worse position than A and not affected by doctrine of lis pendens)  AIR 1921 Nag 69 (70) 17 Nag LR 33 (First mortgagee X foreclosing without impleading second mortgagee Y — Y obstructing delivery of possession to X — X applying under O 21 R 100 C P C — Y transferring his right to Z pending the proceedings — Z then suing for redemption of mortgage in favour of X — Held, the order for restoration of possession does not affect the right of redemption which Z had obtained from Y and as part of such right to obtain possession from X)  AIR 1918 Oudh 318 (319) (Mortgagee purchasing share of co-mortgagor pending redemption suit by another mortgagor — Latter's right to redeem his share not affected)  (1912) 16 Ind Cas 102 (103) (DB) (All) (Mortgage-decree — Subsequent lease — Sale thereafter to discharge mortgage decree and decree discharged — Lease is not void against private purchaser)  (1911, 10 Ind Cas 16 (18) (DB) (Oudh) (In 1880 one C mortgaged certain share to R and S with possession — Three deeds of further charges were also executed — One B became entitled to a one-fourth of the interest of the mortgage executed by C — In 1896 B sub mortgaged that one-fourth share to the appellant undertaking to put him in possession — In 1905 the appellant sued for possession and summons was served upon C on 22nd January 1905 — On February 16 1905 C mortgaged his share to the respondents who subsequently redeemed the four mortgages of C — The appellant got a decree for possession — In a suit by the respondents for possession of the said share against appellant it was held that under S 52 the respondent could not take a valid mortgage and that he could get possession only by paying one-fourth of the total mortgage share to appellant)

22. AIR 1926 Cal 204 (207) (DB) (Alienation by Receiver — Party and Receiver taking advantage — Held that S 52 did not apply)  AIR 1918 Pat 299 (300) (DB)
23. AIR 1933 All 579 (581) : 55 All 735 (DB).
24. (1955) 34 Pat 156 (163) : AIR 1955 NUC 1095.
25. AIR 1953 Pat 58 (60) 31 Pat 722 (DB) (A 1933 All 577 Foll)
26. AIR 1935 Bom 54 (64) (DB).

Similarly, where pending a suit for partition, both the plaintiff and the defendant transfer their respective shares to the same person the doctrine of lis pendens cannot come into play (27).

36. "Any party."

The doctrine of lis pendens cannot obviously apply to any alienation or other dealings made by a person who is not a party to the suit (1). Thus, an assignment by a puisne mortgagee of his rights pending a suit to which he is not a party is not affected by lis pendens (2). A person who is represented by an actual party to the suit is also a party to the suit for the purpose of this section. Thus where one of several legal representatives of a deceased mortgagor was made a defendant to a suit on the mortgage, it was held that he sufficiently represented the other heirs and that a transfer, pending the suit, by another heir who though not an actual party was represented by the defendant, was affected by lis pendens (3). See also the undermentioned cases (4).

Where the defendant to a suit dies the lis continues against his legal representative even before he is brought on the record. Hence, an alienation made by the legal representative after the original defendant's death and before such legal representative is brought on the record is liable to be affected by the provisions of this section. (5)

37. "Any other party" — Co-defendants.

The words "any other party" obviously mean a party other than the transferor himself. The transferor himself and his representatives in interest cannot invoke the doctrine as against the transferee. (1)

Illustrations

- (1) T sued D for possession of certain property and pending it he executed a mortgage of the property in favour of W. The suit was subsequently compromised to the effect that T and D should each take half the property D was to pay off W's mortgage and T was not to be liable for it. W then sued T on his

27. AIR 1929 Cal 697 (699) : 57 Cal 597 (DB).

Section 52 — Note 36

- (1958) 37 Pat 176 (193) (DB)  (1973) 3 Sim LJ (HP) 229 (DB)  1971 Ker LT 529 (DB)  AIR 1957 Pat 408 (414) (DB)  ILR (1954) Nag 505 (510) AIR 1955 NCC 1736  AIR 1953 Trav Co 12 (13)  AIR 1925 Bom 176 (177) (DB). Sale by a person who was subsequently brought on record as legal representative of original defendant.

[See also AIR 1949 Mad 886 (892) ILR (1949) Mad 904 (DB)]

- AIR 1932 Pat 270 (271) : 11 Pat 415 (DB)

- (1903) 26 Mad 230 (234) (DB)

- AIR 1968 Orissa 36 (38) : 33 Cr LJ 974 : 968 Cr LT 336. Proceedings under Orissa Tenants Protection Act pending between landlord and defendants. First defendant B in proceedings purchasing the disputed lands from the landlord during the pendency of proceedings and inducing B as tenant. Revenue Board decreed in favour of defendants 1 to 3 and holding that they cannot be evicted by the landlord A or B. Finding B was not a party to proceedings he was bound by doctrine of lis pendens being a party to A.  AIR 1981 SC 981 : 1981 UJ (SC) 641. S. 52 in clear terms speaks of third party to the suit or proceeding.  1967) 69 Bom LR 739. Compromise decree with regard to easements of light and air between owners of adjacent houses. — It is not a settlement. — Such decree cannot be executed against third party purchasing house after decree although decree provided that it shall bind assigns of parties. — Such provision not valid under law of execution.)

- AIR 1945 Mad 219 (221)

Section 52 — Note 37

- AIR 1928 Oudh 1 (7)  1981 All LJ NOC 98 (1981) 7 All LR 578  AIR 1971 Cal 159 (160) : 74 Cal WN 962

See also the illustrations mortgage. It was held that T could not invoke the doctrine of lis pendens as against his transferee W and claim that W should not enforce the mortgage against the property in his hands (2)

- (2) X obtained a money decree against Y and got his property attached in execution. Subsequently Y mortgaged the property to Z, and still later, sold the property to M with the leave of the Court under O 21, R 83 of the Civil Procedure Code, and paid off the decree. Z then sued M on the mortgage. It was held that M merely stood in the shoes of Y the transferor, and could not invoke the doctrine of lis pendens as against Z (3)
- (3) A conveyed certain property to B by a Kobala. By a separate agreement B agreed to reconvey the property to A. A filed suit against B to enforce the agreement of reconveyance. During the pendency of that suit A's right, title and interest under the agreement of reconveyance was attached and sold in execution of money decree and purchased by B. It was held that the purchase by B was not hit by rule of lis pendens in S. 52 (4)

See also the undermentioned cases for other illustrations (5)

In the undermentioned cases, (6) the Court auction-purchaser in execution of a mortgage decree was held to be a party to an order which might be made in the suit and could therefore impeach a transfer made by the mortgagor pending suit on the ground of lis pendens.

The doctrine cannot be applied between parties to a suit who are arrayed on the same side and between whom there is no dispute to be adjudicated. (7)

Does the doctrine of lis pendens apply to co-defendants in the same suit? In other words, can one defendant question the alienation made pendente lite by another defendant in the suit? The answer will depend upon, whether the former can be said to be "any other party to the decree or order" which may be made in the suit.

In Bellamy v. Sabine (8) Lord Justice Turner stated that an alienee from a co-defendant pending a suit in which 'no decree could be made between the co-defendants' was exactly in the position of an alienee from a stranger to the suit and was not affected by lis pendens. He observed:

2. AIR 1928 All 3 (5, 9) : 50 All 290 (SB). (Transferee is bound by the decree so far as it goes against his transferor.)

3. AIR 1941 Mad 208 (214) (DB).

4. ILR (1957) 3 Cal 642 (645).

5. (1971) 75 Cal WN 502 (DB) (Where pending a suit for eviction and possession of premises by co-sharers A and B against C, D purchases B's share and is substituted for B and transposed as pro forma defendant the plaintiff is entitled to a decree for eviction against C alone and for joint possession of the premises with D, the plaintiff being left to work out his further rights in separate suit)  AIR 1971 Bom 151 (156, 157) : 73 Bom LR 293 (FB). (Where a decree in a pre-emption suit passed in favour of the pre-emptor, subject to the rights of the maintenance holder in possession to lease out the property, and the maintenance holder who was a party to the suit, leased out the property after the decree but before its execution (assuming that the suit is considered to be pending) the doctrine of lis pendens has no application)  AIR 1976 Mad 70 (1976) 1 Mad LJ 96 (DB) (Suit for partition of joint family property - Agreement by some of coparceners to sell their shares executed pending suit - Suit ending in compromise decree - Other coparceners allottees cannot be regarded as claiming under coparceners who had executed agreements)

6. (1898) 20 All 349 (351) (Lease)  1982 Rev LR 193 (195) (Punj) (Where the applicants had acquired the rights during the pendency of the suit in auction sale and the sale could not be confirmed in their favour because of the ad interim injunction passed by the trial Court, they cannot claim themselves to be impleaded as parties to the suit under O 1, R 10, C P C.)

7. 1950 Trav-Co LR 23 (28) (DB)  AIR 1953 Pat 58 (59) : 31 Pat 722 (DB)  (1958) 37 Pat 176 (193) (DB)

8. (1857) 44 ER 842 (850) : 26 LJ Ch 797.

"Generally speaking between co-defendants there can be no decree — is it to be said that there is a lis pendens between them?" Leaving out of consideration the cases in which decrees can be made between co-defendants (which are rare and for the most part go no further than where it is necessary for the purpose of the plaintiff to adjudicate between the defendants) upon what ground is the case of a co-defendant to stand in a different position from that of a stranger?

But in Tyler v Thomas(9) it was held that in certain cases the doctrine of lis pendens would apply even though the plaintiff may have no interest at all and the contest is between co-defendants only such as interpleader suits and administration suits. An alienation made by a defendant pending such a suit would be bound by the decree made against him in favour of the other defendant in the suit. In a suit instituted by creditors for the administration of a testator's estate the deficiency of the personal estate for the payment of the debts was payable out of two real estates devised separately to A and B. In 1846, the debts were ordered to be paid out of A's estate alone without prejudice to his right of contribution against B's estate. In 1852 the suit was registered as a lis pendens(10), and two months afterwards B mortgaged his estate to C who had no notice of A's rights. It was held that there was a lis pendens as regards A's rights and that C's mortgage must be postponed to A's claims.

It is, however, necessary that there should be an issue to be decided between the co-defendants even though the decision of such issue may not be necessary to give relief to the plaintiff in the suit (11). Where there is no such issue one defendant cannot invoke the doctrine of lis pendens as against the acts of another. Where therefore M sued X and Y for declarations that a sale deed executed by M in favour of X and a subsequent mortgage executed by X of that property in favour of Y were not binding on him and, pending that suit, Z, in execution of a decree obtained by him against X purchased the property it was held in a suit by Y upon his mortgage against X and Z that Z was not precluded from questioning the validity of the mortgage by the doctrine of lis pendens. In the suit by M against X and Y there was no contest between X and Y as to the validity of the mortgage at all, and the result of M's suit simply upheld the title of X to the property and his right to mortgage it to Y.(12)

Legal representatives of the same deceased person — Where a person is suing in his capacity as the legal representative of a deceased person he is not "any other party" vis à vis a person who is another legal representative of the same deceased person. Thus suppose, a decree is passed against A as representing the estate of a deceased person B another legal representative of the same deceased person and claiming to represent the same estate sues to have the decree passed against A set aside. Pending this suit, a certain property belonging to the estate is sold in execution of the decree against A. The sale is not affected by the provisions of this section as B cannot be said to be "any other party" within the meaning of this section.(13)

9. (1858) 53 ER 553 (556) : 19 RR 325.

10. For the understanding of the procedure of registration of a suit as a lis pendens see Note 43.

11. 1950 Trav Co LR 23 (28) (DB)  AIR 1918 Mad 578 (579, 580) : 41 Mad 458 (SB)  AIR 1938 Pat 487 (493) (DB). (Obiter.)

[See also (1950) 55 Mys HCR 174 (84) (DB) (The words "other party" are to be understood not as applying to a party other than or apart from or besides the transferor but a party between whom and the transferor there is a contest which would be affected by the alienation — It is not any party to a suit under any decree passed in his favour who can invoke it)  (1945) 50 Mys HCR 113 (DB) (When one co-defendant claims contribution from another in respect of a payment which he has made to save the properties of himself and the other from a threatened sale in execution of a decree affecting all the properties the party claiming contribution cannot rely on the doctrine of lis pendens to make the property of the other co-defendant liable for his claim to contribution.)

12. AIR 1918 Mad 578 (579, 580) : 41 Mad 458 (SB).

13. AIR 1947 Sind 181 (184) (DB)

38. "Any decree or order."

These words will include a decree or order made on a compromise between the parties to the suit, provided that such compromise is not tainted by fraud or collusion (1). The decree will be binding on the transferee (2). He cannot question it on the ground that it was wrongly passed, (3) though he can question it on the ground of fraud (4).

The words "decree or order" will also include a decree or order passed ex parte in the absence of any fraud or collusion. (5)

The words "under a decree or order therein" imply that the right to the property must be the outcome of the decree i.e., it should be the result of an affirmation or adjudication by the decree. In

Section 52 — Note 38

1. AIR 1948 PC 147 (149) : ILR (1949) 1 Cal 234. (Though S. 52 may not contemplate a decree or order which is entirely alien to the issues raised between the parties — it applies to a compromise decree. AIR 1943 Cal 227. Affirmed.)  AIR 1928 All 3 (7) : 50 All 290 (SB)  AIR 1920 Mad 391 (394) : 43 Mad 37 (SB)  (1906) 28 Mad 426 (430, 433) (FB)  AIR 1982 NOC 25 : 1981 BLJR 462  AIR 1955 Trav Co 5 (5) : ILR (1954) Trav Co 794 (DB)  AIR 1954 Mad 592 (593) : ILR (1955) Mad 519 (DB)  1950 55 Mys HCR 174 (179) (DB)  AIR 1949 Bom 367 (372) : ILR (1949) Bom 480  AIR 1943 Cal 227 (230) (DB). (It is immaterial how the decree is obtained in that suit whether after contest or by compromise. It is immaterial whether the decree in that suit is right or wrong. It is beyond the competence of the Court invited to apply the doctrine of lis pendens to sit in judgment on the previous decree.)  AIR 1946 Bom 462 (464) : ILR (1946) Bom 462  AIR 1926 Mad 50 (50)  AIR 1924 Mad 359 (360)  AIR 1919 Low Bur 103 (103) : 10 Low Bur Rule 43 (DB).

[See also AIR 1952 Trav-Co 309 (310) (DB). (Compromise entered into with a view to defraud stranger transferee — Compromise will not affect interests of transferee. Principle of lis pendens will not apply.)  AIR 1944 Bom 191 (193) : ILR (1944) Bom 274 (DB). (Suit for maintenance — Compromise — decree creating charge over property — Transferee of property during pendency of suit held bound by the decree.)  (1910) 6 Ind Cas 168 (169) (DB) (All)  1982 All LJ (NOC) 109 : (1982) 8 All LR 722. (Where during the pendency of the appeal against the order of dismissal of suit for declaration under S. 229B U.P.Z.A. and L.R. Act 1951, the defendant had sold the land in dispute and the appeal was decided in the terms of the compromise entered into by the parties and the compromise was found to be collusive in nature, the principle of lis pendens would not be applicable.)]

2. AIR 1954 Mad 592 (593) : ILR (1955) Mad 519 (DB)

[See (1907) 31 Bom 393 (400). (Hardship to the purchaser cannot affect the decision of the case.)]

See also Note 28

3. AIR 1955 NUC 231 : (1958) 32 Pat 903 (918, 919)  (1910) 13 Oudh Cas 50 (52) (DB)

[See also AIR 1948 PC 147 (149) : ILR (1949) 1 Cal 234. (Applicability of Section cannot depend on matters of proof or strength or weakness of case on one side or other. — Suit based on instrument requiring registration but not registered — Suit ending in compromise decree in favour of plaintiff — Transfer of property by defendant pending suit — Transferee is bound by decree — The non-registration of the instrument is no answer to plea of lis pendens.)]

4. AIR 1954 Mad 592 (593) : ILR (1955) Mad 519 (DB)  AIR 1946 Bom 462 (464) : ILR (1946) Bom 462. (If the final decision in the pending litigation is brought about by fraud or collusion it cannot be said that lis pendens was fairly decided, and that decision cannot affect the rights of the transferee pendente lite.  AIR 1919 Oudh 317 : 319 : 22 Oudh Cas 171) of a Calceolus to assist the formation of the egg case (2).

5. AIR 1949 Bom 367 (372) : ILR (1946) Bom 480 (DB).

1. The first part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which appears to be a directory or a list of contacts. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are listed below them.

2. The second part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which appears to be a directory or a list of contacts. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are listed below them.

3. The third part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which appears to be a directory or a list of contacts. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are listed below them.

4. The fourth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which appears to be a directory or a list of contacts. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are listed below them.

5. The fifth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which appears to be a directory or a list of contacts. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are listed below them.

1. The first part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which are arranged in a columnar format. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are written in a more formal, printed style. The list is organized into two columns, with the names on the left and the addresses on the right.

2. The second part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which are arranged in a columnar format. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are written in a more formal, printed style. The list is organized into two columns, with the names on the left and the addresses on the right.

3. The third part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which are arranged in a columnar format. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are written in a more formal, printed style. The list is organized into two columns, with the names on the left and the addresses on the right.

4. The fourth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which are arranged in a columnar format. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are written in a more formal, printed style. The list is organized into two columns, with the names on the left and the addresses on the right.

5. The fifth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which are arranged in a columnar format. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are written in a more formal, printed style. The list is organized into two columns, with the names on the left and the addresses on the right.

6. The sixth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which are arranged in a columnar format. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are written in a more formal, printed style. The list is organized into two columns, with the names on the left and the addresses on the right.

7. The seventh part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which are arranged in a columnar format. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are written in a more formal, printed style. The list is organized into two columns, with the names on the left and the addresses on the right.

8. The eighth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which are arranged in a columnar format. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are written in a more formal, printed style. The list is organized into two columns, with the names on the left and the addresses on the right.

9. The ninth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which are arranged in a columnar format. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are written in a more formal, printed style. The list is organized into two columns, with the names on the left and the addresses on the right.

10. The tenth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which are arranged in a columnar format. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are written in a more formal, printed style. The list is organized into two columns, with the names on the left and the addresses on the right.

- [illegible]

See also ... Held

- 2.2.2. B. ... 1. P. ...

under Bombay Rent Act)  AIR 1941 Pat 577 (580) : 26 Pat 346 (SB)  AIR 1917 Mad 128 (130, 131) (SB). (Per Seshagiri Aiyer J)  AIR 1976 All 250 (1976) 2 A 1 LR 35  AIR 1974 All 82 (85, 86) (Provisions of UPZ A and L R Act do not override provisions of S 52)  1970 All LJ 420 1970 All WR (HC) 263 (DB)  1970 WLN (Part 1) 755 1971 Ren CR 695 (Raj)  AIR 1969 Ker 121 (124) (DB) (Rule of lis pendens is not entirely abrogated by S 7 and S 19 of Kerala Land Reforms Act)  AIR 1968 Guj 193 9 Guj LR 161 (DB)  1967 Ker LT 1060 (Recovery of possession of land from tenant — Suit for redemption decreed — Mortgagee making a lease pendente lite — Application by mortgagor decree holder under Order 21, R 97, C P Code, against obstruction by tenant — Dispossession of tenant is not eviction under Section 2(12) — Tenant is not entitled to protection under Section 106 — Tenant's claim is not lawful under Section 52 T P Act and Order 21 Rule 102 C P Code)  1966 76 Cal WN 1027  AIR 1961 Ker 335 (335, 336) (Tenant induced by party during pendency of partition suit is bound by decree)  1961 Ker LT 639 (641) (Kerala Agrarian Relations Act (4 of 1961) does not override provisions of S 52 T P Act)  AIR 1957 Bom 117 (119) (DB) (Lessees pendente lite must be treated as representative in interest under S 52 and as such bound by the result of the suit)  (1950) 85 Cal LJ 81 (88) (Tenant subletting pending suit for his ejection — Sub-letting cannot prevail against decree for possession which the landlord may subsequently obtain)  AIR 1957 Trav-Co 292 (293) ILR (1956) Trav Co 716  AIR 1943 Cal 577 (585, 586) (During pendency of the suit by puisne mortgagee prior mortgagee caused the property to be sold in execution of his decree and purchased it — Puisne mortgagee was not made a party to suit by prior mortgagee — After purchase in execution prior mortgagee granting lease of the property — Lease held was affected by lis pendens — The power given under S 65 A will not affect the doctrine of lis pendens)  AIR 1936 All 661 (662) (DB)  AIR 1936 Mad 942 (942) (Even under S 65 A the doctrine of lis pendens is not inapplicable)  AIR 1936 Mad 887 (891) ILR (1937) Mad 66 (DB) (Grant of permanent occupancy rights in a home farm land, i.e., land cultivated by the zamindar himself, held not binding being made during the pendency of partition suit)  AIR 1935 Oudh 462 (464) 11 Luck 283 (DB)  (1833) 142 Ind Cas 188 (189) (Cochin) (DB) (Though while a mortgage suit is pending the mortgagor may have power in the ordinary course of management of his property to grant leases, he cannot effect transfers by way of leases to enure beyond the time when the property passed by sale to his mortgagee)  AIR 1931 Bom 539 (542) (Lease must to some extent affect the rights of the other party)  AIR 1927 All 657 (658) 50 All 202 (DB) (Although a defendant mortgagor in a mortgage suit has power, so long as he retains his possession to grant leases in the ordinary course of management of his property, he cannot make transfers to enure beyond the time when the property passes by sale to his mortgagees)  AIR 1927 Oudh 602 (604) 2 Luck 659  AIR 1925 Cal 251 (252)  AIR 1924 Nag 211 (215)  AIR 1923 Oudh 1(3)  AIR 1918 Nag 218 (219) : 14 Nag LR 133 (15 CPLR 6, Followed)  AIR 1915 Nag 89 (90) 11 Nag LR 21  (1902) 15 CPLR 6, 7)  (1898) 20 All 349 (351) (A lease whatever its object cannot but have the effect of defeating to some extent the rights of the auction purchaser under the decree)  (1894) 21 Cal 340 (343) (DB) (Tenant pendente lite is liable to be removed in restitution proceedings)  (1888) 1 CPLR 19 (23) (Lease granted after suit for foreclosure was dismissed but before appeal was filed — Lessee held bound by the foreclosure decree)  (1936) 19 Nag LJ 316 (318) (Suit on mortgage — Lease by mortgagor pendente lite taking premium or nazarana.)  (1931) 15 RD 589 (592)  1862 Marsh 122 (123)  (1912) 17 Ind Cus 1 (2) (DB) (Cal) (Lease pending a mortgage suit — Purchaser of property in execution of mortgage decree can eject lessee.)  (1910) 6 Nag LR 140 (143).

[See also (1963) 4 Guj LR 681 (684) (DB) (Tenancy pendente lite can subsist subject to the result of suit — Tenant of mortgagee became tenant of mortgagor on redemption of mortgage under S 4, Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948))  AIR 1918 Cal 277 (278) (DB) (A filed suit against B to recover khas possession of her share in certain land — During the pendency of that suit B made settlement of those lands on rayats — Rayats held were liable to be ejected.)] passed in the suit or proceeding (3) It is submitted that the second of the views expressed above is correct. This view appears to have the support of Supreme Court decision in Anand Nivas v. Anandji (4) where a decree passed in a suit for ejectment and arrears of rent against the statutory tenant was held binding on the sub-lessee who had taken the sub lease pending the institution of the suit. Before suit, the owner of the property can certainly lease out his properties in the ordinary course of management. A mortgagor can, under S. 65-A, lease out the mortgaged property in the ordinary course of management and such lease will, after the mortgage but before a suit on the mortgage is filed, be binding on the mortgagee (5) A mortgagee in possession may also under S. 76, cl. (a) lease out the mortgaged property in the ordinary course of management and such a lease, if made before any suit is filed for redemption, will be binding on the mortgagor. But where a suit is filed, no party to the suit can prejudice the rights of the other party to any extent by the execution of a lease or any other kind of transfer even though he may have the power to make a lease of the property in the ordinary course of management and at a time when there is no suit pending. The question of ordinary management does not arise under S. 52 (6) and it does not seem to be permissible to create exceptions to the applicability of the section which is very wide, by saying that a lease in the ordinary course of management cannot be said to affect the rights of the other party under any circumstances. Thus it has been held that in spite of the provisions of S. 65-A, the mortgagor cannot lease out the mortgaged property during the pendency of the suit for redemption or a suit on the mortgage to the prejudice of the mortgagee's or auction-purchaser's right. The mortgagor cannot for the same reason accept any advance rent. If the tenant makes any payment to the mortgagor during the pendency of the suit he does so at his own risk. He cannot claim protection under S. 50. (7)

The word 'transfer' in S. 52 includes the grant of lease. Therefore, lease of property during pendency of suit or proceedings relating thereto would be hit by the rule of lis pendens (8). Grant of lease pendente lite amounts to otherwise dealing with the property within the meaning of Section 52. If any rights are created by the vendor in suit for specific performance during the pendency of the suit, those could not outlast the pendency of suit. Even if any tenancy rights in favour of a third party had been created, they must come to an end on suit being decreed in favour of the plaintiff.

3. AIR 1937 All 9 (9-10) (DB). (Mortgage decree pending execution — Permanent leases granted by mortgagor — Not binding.  AIR 1932 All 480 (481) (DB). (Lease for 20 years.)  (1884, 7 Mad 96 (99) (DB). (Permanent lease).  1939 All WR (BR) 37 (38). (A permanent lease during the pendency of a mortgage suit is not in the ordinary course of management of zamindari property and hence is a nullity under S. 52 of the T. P. Act.)

4. AIR 1965 SC 414 (426, 427). (Per Majority: Sarkar J. contra. A sub-lessee from a statutory tenant under Bombay Rents, Hotel and Lodging House Rates Control Act (57 of 1947) acquires no right of a tenant in the premises occupied by him.)

5. AIR 1973 Bom 75 (79) : 74 Bom LR 666 (FB). (AIR 1968 Guj 193. Rel. on.)

[See (1970) 1 Mad LJ 11. (As long as lease created by mortgagor in possession is in conformity with provisions of Section 65A, it would hold good against mortgagee, even though it was created during pendency of suit by mortgagee.)]

6. (1910) 6 Nag LR 140 (143)

7. AIR 1957 Trav Co 292 (293) : ILR, 1956 Trav-Co 716. (Suit on simple mortgage.)  AIR 1954 Sau 82 (84).

[See also (1978) 2 Mad LJ 393 (397) (DB). (Second defendant had executed a lease deed in favour of plaintiff during the pendency of mortgage suit. The first defendant who was the successful bidder in auction had made attempt to take possession of the land — Held, that plaintiff would be entitled to protection under the T. N. Cultivating Tenants Protection Act 1955.)]

8. 1986 All LJ 965 (969)  ILR (1984) 1 Delhi 913

The lessee therefore could not claim any right to remain in possession of property beyond that period or to resist dispossession on that ground.(9)

Where an ex parte decree was passed in a suit and possession of premises was obtained in execution of the ex parte decree and thereafter, tenants were inducted therein, then on the ex parte decree being ultimately set aside, the creation of tenancy in favour of the tenants would be hit by S 52.(10)

A transferee, even a bona fide tenant cannot resist an order of restitution under S 144 CPC having regard to the Rule of lis pendens enunciated in S 52 of the T P Act. Section 52 embodies the maxim pendente lite tunc innovetur pending litigation nothing new should be introduced (11)

In a money suit the plaintiff had filed an application for attachment before judgment of the defendant's property. The defendant gave undertaking to the Court that he will not alienate the property till disposal of suit and therefore application for attachment was dismissed. However, the defendant inducted a tenant in that property. Ultimately decree was passed in favour of the plaintiff. The property was attached and the decree-holder purchased it in auction sale. In the circumstances it was held that though S 52 is not applicable to money decree on the principles contained therein the judgment-debtor was not entitled to violate the undertaking given by him. Consequently the tenant could not resist delivery of possession of the property to the decree-holder on ground that he is entitled to protection under the Rent Control law. The rule of lis pendens is based on public policy which is an entirely different field from Rent Control Legislation. The non-obstante clause in the Rent Control Act should not be extended to other laws evicted on the basis of public policy meant for finality of pronouncements of Courts which have nothing to do with the object and purpose sought to be achieved by the Rent Control Act.(12)

In the undermentioned Supreme Court case it has been held that where a theatre was attached in execution of a decree against the owner of the theatre, a lease of the theatre executed in favour of another during the attachment was struck by the doctrine of lis pendens and also by the provisions of Section 64, C P Code.(13)

Where a tenant is inducted as a tenant in suit premises much after the suit for possession was filed by the decree holder, the tenant has no locus standi to resist execution in view of O 21, R 102, C. P. C. Section 52 would also be attracted.(14)

It is, however, only to the extent to which it prejudices the other party under the decree or order that the lease is bad. Where pending a suit for redemption of a usufructuary mortgage the mortgagee leased out the property, it was held in the undermentioned case (15) that the lessee could go on cultivating the land under his lease till the mortgage was actually redeemed and it by the operation of S 21 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, the lessee, obtained an occupancy right by reason of such possession, the mortgagor would be bound by the right of occupancy so acquired, though the lease, as a lease, would not have been binding upon him after redemption.

The principle of this section applies to agricultural leases also (16)

9. 1989 (1) All Rent Cas 427 (430)

10. (1991) 2 Ren CJ 148 (152) (Cal)

11. AIR 1993 Kant 338 (343) : 1993 (2) Kant LJ 638

12. 1987 Ker LJ 1144 (1151, 1152) (DB).

13. AIR 1975 SC 1810 (1813, 1814) : 1975 UJ (SC) 631.

[See 1978 MPLJ 302 (308) (AIR 1975 SC 1810 and AIR 1968 Guj 193 (Foll 1)]

14. 1994 (1) Ren CR 394 (397) (Delhi).

15. AIR 1937 Cal 763 (764) : ILR (1937) 2 Cal 181 (DB)

16. AIR 1955 NUC 3706 ILR (1955) Madh B 416 (420)  (1976) 2 Mad LJ 349 (352)
(Where the lease, is granted by the defendants in the suit for specific performance during

A landlord filed a suit in Civil Court for eviction of tenant. On the date of filing the suit the Civil Court had jurisdiction to enter the suit, during pendency of the suit the Rent Act came into force and the landlord sold the suit property to a co-operative society. In the circumstances it was held that it was strange and inappropriate for the tenant to have invoked the doctrine of pendens for the purpose of taking the plea of ouster of Civil Court's jurisdiction (17).

40. Transferee pending suit is representative of transferor — If entitled to be made party to suit.

A transferee, pendente lite from a party to a suit will be bound by the decree or order passed in the suit even if he is not made a party to the suit (1). The effect of S. 52 is that a lis pendens transferee is bound by the decree whether on contest, ex parte or on compromise (2). He must be regarded as a representative in interest of the party in the property in suit. For the purposes of S. 47 of the Code of Civil Procedure (3). Thus, if the suit is for foreclosure of a mortgage and the pur-the pendency of the suit it is hit by S. 52.  AIR 1970 Ker 188 (189 to 191); 1969 Ker 11326 (DB). (Pendency of suit for partition of farward — Lease during pendency — Lessee is not entitled to benefits under Kerala Land Reforms Act of 1964) or Kerala Compensation for Tenants Improvement Act XXXIX of 1958.  AIR 1989 Ker 122 (DB). Provisions in Kerala Land Reforms Act do not abrogate rule of pendens.  AIR 1949 All 257 (260). ILR (1949) All 449.

17. AIR 1994 Ker 122 (126); 1994 (2) Ren CR 336

Section 52 — Note 40

1. AIR 1958 SC 394 (398). Where a purchaser pendente lite is vitally interested in the determination of substantial questions arising in the appeal, he should be brought on record as an additional appellant.  AIR 1937 PC 260 (261); 31 Sind LR 652.  AIR 1959 Ker 67 (72); 11 R (1958) Ker 1266 (FB).  AIR 1956 Trav-Co 147 (151); 11 R (1955) Trav-Co 823 (FB).  (1964) 66 Pw LR 625 (626).  11 R (1964) 34 R 878 (886). (Purchaser relying upon doctrine of pendens not obliged to bring on record transferee pendente lite).  AIR 1961 Bom 288 (291). ILR (1961) Bom 649. (Tenant induced pendente lite — Liable to be evicted in restitution proceedings).  AIR 1960 Madh 100 (98).  AIR 1957 Bom 117 (119) (DB).  AIR 1956 Assam 116 (117). 11 R (1956) 8 Assam 117.  AIR 1949 Bom 367 (371). 11 R (1949) Bom 180 (DB).  AIR 1930 Cal 183 (16). SC Cal 1130 (DB).  AIR 1923 Cal 257 (256) (DB).  AIR 1915 Oudh 200 (203) (DB).  1899 36 Cal 675 (689) (DB).  (1908) 30 All 231 (234) (DB).  (1901) 23 All 311 (315) (DB). (Transferee not made party to appeal — Result of appeal is binding on him).  (1901) 28 Cal 23 (26) (DB).  (1894) 21 Cal 340 (343) (DB). (Transferee not made party to be removed in restitution proceedings).  1884) 6 All 506 (509) (DB).  1878 34 So 359 (361) (DB).  (1875) 23 Soth WR 329 (330) (DB).  (1868) 10 Soth WR 469 (273) (DB).  (1867) 7 Soth WR 225 (226) (DB).  1867 7 Soth WR 355 (357) (DB).  (1912) 13 Ind Cas 641 (641, 642) (All).  (1862-63) 1 Hyd 160 (167).

[See also AIR 1953 Trav-Co 364 (366) (DB).  AIR 1921 Cal 801 (803) (DB). (A prior mortgagee is in no way bound or affected either by the attachment of the subject property or encumbrance created pendente lite.)]

[But see (1904) 31 Cal 658 (662) (DB).]

2. AIR 1992 Orissa 47; 1992 SCFBRC 199 (FB).

3. AIR 1937 PC 260 (261); 31 Sind LR 652.  AIR 1983 SC 124 (125); (1983) 1 SC C 18; 1983 LJ (SC) 20. (A transferee pendente lite of an interest in an immovable property which is the subject-matter of a suit from any of the parties to the suit will be bound in so far as that interest is concerned by the proceedings in the suit).  AIR 1946 Lah 142 (146); 11 R (1946) Lah 476 (FB).  AIR 1956 Trav-Co 147 (151); 11 R (1955) Trav-Co 823 (FB).  2002 (2) Bom LR 311 (317).  AIR 1983 Raj 61 (166). 1983 WLN 641. (When a larger interest in immovable property than possessed by the transferee is sought chaser pendente lite has obtained possession, and a final decree is passed for foreclosure in the suit, the mortgagee decree holder can in execution proceedings recover the property from the purchaser (4) Even an auction-purchaser of the property pending a suit in respect of the property is a representative of the judgment-debtor in the latter suit within the meaning of S. 47 of the Civil Procedure Code (5) The presence of third party auction purchaser is not at all necessary in pending suit but he would be bound by the principle. (6)

The consequence of the view that the purchaser pendente lite is the representative in interest of the party from whom he obtained the transfer is that where the property has been decreed to be given possession of to the plaintiff or the property is sold in execution of the decree, the transferee pendente lite cannot resist delivery of possession to the decree holder or the auction-purchaser as the case may be (7) This is recognised in O. 21, R. 102 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Where mutation entry is made in revenue records during pendency in the suit, it would be hit by S. 52 of the T. P. Act. (8)

Further, pending the suit the transferee is not entitled as of right to be made a party to the suit though the Court has a discretion to make him a party (9) A transferee pendente lite may not be a to be transferred by him the transfer would be affected by the principle of lis pendens and, such a transferee would still be a representative-in-interest of the judgment-debtor in execution of decree passed against the predecessor in interest of the transferor.  AIR 1962 Bom 491 (196) ILR (1961) Bom 977  (1962) 2 Mad LJ 336 (337),  AIR 1959 Ker 133 (136) ILR (1958) Ker 480 (DB) (Sale in execution of money decree pending mortgage suit — Execution of mortgage decree — Purchaser given symbolical possession — Suit for recovery of property from purchaser pendente lite in execution of money decree is not barred)  AIR 1958 Ker 309 (310) (DB)  AIR 1957 Bom 117 (119) (DB)  AIR 1953 Nag 236 (236) ILR (1952) Nag 150 (Remedy of plaintiff who has, in execution of his decree against defendant, purchased property is to proceed against purchaser under S. 47 Civil P. C. and not by separate suit)  AIR 1951 Orissa 306 (310) ILR (1949) 1 Cut 336 (DB)  AIR 1951 Trav-Co 187 (188) (DB)  AIR 1949 Mad 207 (208)  AIR 1945 Nag 86 (88) 1944 Nag 852 (DB)  1943 Trav LR 133  AIR 1947 Lah 175 (176)  AIR 1936 All 479 (480) (DB) (Subsequent mortgage taking mortgage during pendency of suit on first mortgage is a representative of mortgagor)  AIR 1943 Bom 280 (283) (DB)  AIR 1927 Bom 93 (95) 5 Bom 37 (DB)  (1904) 26 All 447 (458, 463) (FB)  (1901) 28 Cal 492 (497) (DB)  (1900) 22 All 243 (246) (DB) (Subsequent mortgagee who takes a mortgage during the pendency of suit on the prior mortgage is a representative of the mortgagor)  (1894) 16 All 286 (291) (DB)  (1897) 19 All 332 (333) (DB)

[See also AIR 1914 Cal 828 (829) : 41 Cal 418 (DB).]

[But see AIR 1921 Mad 559 (561) (In view of the Privy Council decision in AIR 1937 PC 260 this view is No longer good law.)  AIR 1928 Bom 65 (66) 52 Bom 208 (DB (Do.))]

4. AIR 1937 PC 260 (261) : 31 Sind LR 652  AIR 1956 Orissa 165 (171) (DB)

5. (1904) 26 All 447 (460) (FB)  (1896) 24 Cal 62 (76) (FB). (Overruling 16 Cal 355)  AIR 1936 All 479 (481) (DB)

6. 2001 (91) Delhi LT 756 (763).

7. ILR (1964) 14 Raj 1120 (1121),  AIR 1959 Bom 269 (271) ILR (1959) Bom 256  AIR 1952 Assam 111 (114) (1952) 4 Assam 247  AIR 1952 Trav Co 102 (103) 1950 Trav-Co LR 665 (DB)  AIR 1925 Cal 1243 (1244)  (1911) 39 Cal 220 (225, 226) (DB)

8. 1998 (7) SCC 486 (489).

9. AIR 1958 SC 394 (398). (Appellant to be brought on record in appeal)  AIR 1959 Ker 67 (74) : ILR (1958) Ker 1266 (FB). (Decree for redemption of Kanom property against Karnavan — Delivery taken — Partition during pendency of suit — Plaintiff not bound to implead sharers in execution of decree)  AIR 1956 Trav-Co 147 (152); ILR (1955) Trav-Co 823 (FB) (Right of decree-holder to proceed against person with his legal repre-

necessary party as he would be bound by the decree passed in the suit on account of the doctrine of lis pendens. But the transferee pendente lite can be added as a proper party if his interest in the subject matter of the suit is substantial and not just peripheral (10). A transferee pendente lite to the extent he has acquired interest from the defendant is vitally interested in the litigation, whether the transfer is of the entire interest of the defendant, the latter having no more interest in the property may not properly defend the suit. He may collude with the plaintiff. Hence, though the plaintiff is under no obligation to make a lis pendens transferee a party, under Order 22 Rule 10 an assignee pendente lite may be joined as party. The plaintiff is not bound to make him a party. But the Court has discretion in the matter which must be judicially exercised and an assignee would ordinarily be joined as a party to enable him to protect his interests. Even if a lis pendens transferee is not a necessary party and the plaintiff can ignore the transfer even if he has notice thereof and a decree or order obtained by him would be binding on the lis pendens transferee, when a motion is made by the lis pendens transferee to be impleaded as a party, the Court may, in exercise of its discretion, judicially, add him as a proper party to prevent multiplicity of suits. Assuming that he is not a proper party, he may be impleaded as an assignee under the provisions of Order 22 Rule 10(1). Even if an application has been filed under Order 1 Rule 10, labelling of the application being misconceived, the Court should ignore the labelling of the application as one under O. 1 R. 10 and treat the same as one filed under O. 22, R. 10(1), C. P. C., if the ingredients thereof are satisfied (11).

In case of any assignment or creation of any interest during the pendency of suit, under O. 22, R. 10, the suit may, with leave of the Court, be continued by or against the person to or upon whom such interest has come or devolved. The rule is an enabling one and permissive in nature. In spite of devolution of interest having taken place during the pendency of litigation, the same can continue. It is for the assignee to appear in the suit at any stage and defend himself with the leave of the Court, but he cannot seek to be brought on record as of right, the discretion vests in the Court. Ordinarily leave will not be refused, but it is within Court's discretion. Such assignment or devolution of right during the pendency of litigation does not arrest the progress of litigation. The only exception is when the transfer of property forming the subject matter of the suit pendente lite results in wiping out the cause of action itself or deprives the transferee of the right to decree, such as where the cause of action was personal to the original plaintiff. Otherwise, the only result is that sentatives on record after his death will not be affected by transfer pendente lite.)  1908 AHC 1480 (1484) (Raj). (The rights obtained by way of transfer of the property during the pendency of the suit by any party to the suit are subservient to the rights of the transferor and the same binds the transferee in the same manner in which the transferor himself is. This does not necessitate impleadment of the subsequent purchaser or transferee of the suit property during the pendency of the suit as a necessary party.)  ILR (1964) 14 R. 878 (883). (Permission to be heard in appeal.)  AIR 1962 Orissa 71 (72)  AIR 1956 Assam 116 (117). ILR (1956) 8 Assam 137  AIR 1948 Nag 97 (99). ILR (1947) Nag 179  AIR 1939 Nag 128 (129)  AIR 1937 Bom 244 (253) (DB). (Notice of suit to purchaser pendente lite is immaterial.)  (1898) 21 All 149 (151) (DB). (Mortgagee during the pendency of a suit on a prior mortgage need not be joined as a party.)  1889 All WN 91 (92) (Do.)  (1884) 8 Bom 323 (337). (It is the practice in this country as well as in England to admit assignees pendente lite as parties to the suit.)  AIR 1924 Cal 188 (189) (DB). (But discretion must be judicially exercised.)

[See also 1996 (5) SCC 538 (542). (During pendency of a suit for declaration that the plaintiff is the owner of the suit property on the basis of a registered will, the defendant sold the suit property. The same being hit by lis pendens, the purchaser could not claim to get impleaded in the suit, he being neither necessary nor proper party.)]

10. AIR 1990 Delhi 13 (18). (1989) 37 DLT 114  1985 Pun L J 342, 345. (1982 RS, ILR 1973 Not followed in view of 1959 PLR 8 and 1973 PLJ 154.)

11. AIR 1992 Orissa 47. 1992 SCFBR 199 (FB). (AIR 1989 Oriss. 148 Overruled, AIR 1959 Kar 67 (FB), Dissented from.)

such transferee steps into the shoes of his predecessor-in-interest and remains bound by the result of the suit and would not, at a later stage, be permitted to raise the plea that he was not bound by the result of the litigation because he was not brought on record of the suit and impleaded as a party (12). Transferee of suit property pendente lite is entitled to be joined as a party, when the suit is for partition and the possibility of collusiveness or amicable settlement in the suit cannot be ruled out (13). A transferee pendente lite of an interest in immovable property is a representative-in-interest of the party from whom he has acquired that interest. He is entitled to be impleaded in the suit but all orders passed till date of order to implead him shall be binding on him and shall not be re-opened (14). There is no scope for a purchaser of property pendente lite to plead that he is a bona fide purchaser for value without notice or to say that he was not aware of the proceedings and had no notice of the pendency of the proceedings (15). See O. 22, R. 10 of the Civil Procedure Code. In the undermentioned case (16) however, it is held that a bona fide purchaser who had no knowledge of the pending suit is a necessary party and he has a right to be impleaded as a party to the suit and to be heard before any order affecting his vital interest is passed in the suit.

Where the transferee pendente lite is made a party to the pending litigation, he is entitled to be heard on the merits of the case (17). He can also prefer an appeal against the decree or order passed in the pending proceeding even if his transferor does not appeal (18). But he cannot take any plea which was not open to his assignor (19). Nor can he plead that the suit is barred by limitation on the ground that the suit must be deemed to have been instituted against him on the date on which he was impleaded as a party (20).

Rule 98 of Order 21 CPC is not applicable in case of a transferee pendente lite within meaning of S. 52. No enquiry under R. 98 is necessary in such case (21). In view of the provisions of R. 102, O. 21, CPC, the defence under Rr. 100, 101 O. 21, CPC is not available to transferee pendente lite for purpose of raising objection to execution of decree passed against the transferor/judgment debtor (22). Where purchase of property by a person is hit by lis pendens, his objection raised in execution proceedings can be summarily dismissed (23). Though several opportunities were given, no evidence was adduced by the defendant. A statement was made that the defendant did not want to read any evidence. Court passed order foreclosing evidence of defendant. The plaintiff had sought for a relief of injunction against alienation of suit property yet alienation came to be made. The transferee was impleaded and he filed application for adducing evidence. Held that apart from the doctrine of lis pendens, the subsequent purchaser could not be allowed to lead evidence as he stepped in the shoes of the defendant. (24)

Where the right, title and interest of the defendants have vested with the auction purchaser, legal representatives of the defendants cannot contend that it is a pending suit. S. 52 may not have

12. 2001 (10) SCC 715 (720).

13. 1982 Jab LJ 132 (134) (Madh Pra).

14. 1999 (3) Mad LW 888 (890).

15. 2000 (1) Mad LJ 349 (356).

16. 2000 HRR 773 (774) (Punj & Har)  2000 (1) RCR 423 (425) (Punj & Har).

17. (1976) 42 Cut LT 330 (333-334)  AIR 1920 Mad 391 (395, 396) : 43 Mad 37 (SB). (But he cannot raise a defence not open to his transferor.)

18. AIR 1935 Lah 640 (640) (DB).

19. (1901) 23 All 331 (336) (DB).

20. AIR 1930 All 597 (599) (DB).

21. 1984 Rajasthan LR 44.

22. 2002 (1) Andh LT 67 (72).

23. 2002 (2) Pun LR 439 : 2002 (2) Rec Civ Rep 323 (325).

24. AIR 1997 SC 3720 (3721) : 1997 AIR SCW 2590 : 1997 (5) SCC 476.

any application in such cases. Only as against successful party the principle is made applicable. As between the transferor and transferee and their legal representatives, the principle of S. 52 is not applicable. (25)

Where the demised premises are sold by the landlord during eviction suit, the suit would proceed in the name of the original landlord and would not be barred by S. 52. However the decree would be binding on the vendee, even though he is not made party to the suit. (26)

The landowner had raised objection before the authorities under the Urban Land Ceiling Act that her choice was not considered. Subsequently a portion of the land was sold. Held that the purchaser was entitled to urge before the Authority concerned the objection taken by the landowner regarding the choice given by her. (27)

During the pendency of the suit against a municipality, the suit property was transferred by Municipality to Housing Board without authority of the Court. The Board was also impleaded. Held that the principle of lis pendens would apply. The Board could not take the plea that in the absence of contract between the Board and the plaintiff the contract with the Municipality could not be binding on the Board. (28)

Where a sale deed was executed in favour of third person during pendency of suit and the fact of giving possession was recited therein, the said third person could not claim to be in possession on basis of mortgage deed alleged to have executed prior to filing of suit when there was no reference to the said mortgage in the subsequent sale deed. (29)

Objection by a third party to delivery of possession to the decree holder is not maintainable when that third person is claiming right and title to the property on basis that he purchased the property during pendency of suit and without filing the sale deed. (30)

Where property of judgment-debtor is attached during execution proceedings and subsequently relatives of JD claim share in that property and sell that property during execution proceedings, the sale would be hit by lis pendens. (31)

See also the undermentioned cases (32)

25. 1999 (1) Mad LJ 360 (366)

26. 1992 All LJ 285 (287)

27. AIR 1993 All 83 (85) · 1993 All LJ 464 · 1993 All CJ 1024

28. 2000 (3) Rajasthan LR 157 (160)

29. AIR 2000 Punj & Har 271 (275).

30. AIR 2002 (NOC) 45 : 2001 AIHC 4220 · 2001 (5) Andh LT 8 (14).

31. AIR 2002 Guj 209 (216, 217) · 2002 (1) Guj LH 588

32. AIR 1967 Andh Pra 277 (279) (DB)  AIR 1971 NOC 1117 (1976 All LJ 694) (1976 All WC 423) (Restitution — Claim against bona fide stranger purchaser for value — Doctrine of lis pendens applies — S. 144 will be attracted when an order under S. 47 was set aside in appeal or revision)  AIR 1977 Delh 12 (79 Pan LR (D) 234) (Ex parte decree — Execution of — Possession of immovable property delivered to decree holder — Transfer by D. H. — Reversal of ex parte decree — Power of Court to restore possession to judgment debtor — Penal provision under O. 21 R. 98 when can be invoked — Doctrine of lis pendens applies)  AIR 1964 All 300 (301) — Suit dismissed for default under O. 9 R. 3 — Fresh suit for same relief not barred — Transferee pendente lite from plaintiff also entitled to bring fresh suit)  AIR 1952 Orissa 64 (68, 72) 11 R. 1953 (Ct 277) (DB) (Tenancy holding subject to Orissa Tenancy Act sold at rent sale — Purchaser is not within the meaning of S. 47 Civil P. C. — the representative of tenant whose behalf it was taken — takes it free of all encumbrances by reason of S. 270 of Act — Consequently lis pendens does not apply to sale.)

41. Injunction on party to suit not to transfer.

In Turner v Wright (1) it was held that since a transferee pendente lite from a party would be bound by the result of the suit, no injunction will be granted against a party that he should not make any alienation of the property in suit.

In Hadley v London Bank (2) however, it was held that where there is a clear valid contract for sale and the suit is for specific performance of that contract, the Court will issue an injunction not to transfer pendente lite, but that where the result of the suit is open to serious doubt the Court will not grant an injunction. In this country it has been held that the fact that a party is protected by lis pendens is no ground why he should not also be further protected by an injunction restraining the other party from alienating the property. (3) Prayer for temporary injunction under O 39, R 1 Civil PC cannot be rejected simply on ground that doctrine of lis pendens is available to parties. The doctrine may not always be good enough to take full care of the plaintiff's interest vis-a-vis transfer of suit property pending suit. In view of this in-built legal proposition, it may not always be desirable for a Court of law to reject the prayer for interim injunction outright on ground of lis pendens. (4) A party is however, not bound to apply for an injunction, nor, even if he applies, is the Court bound to grant. (5) The interest of the parties pending litigation is always governed by the principle of lis pendens. (6) Where the party applying for issue of an ad interim injunction was not prepared to furnish security to compensation the opposite party in case the latter was restrained from selling the property during the pendency of the suit and sustained loss, the Court refused to issue the ad interim injunction. (7)

Perpetual injunction restraining the judgment debtor from interfering with the property of the decree holder was passed, legal representatives of the judgment debtor violated the injunction. Held that the decree could be executed against the legal representatives in view of the provisions of Ss 11 and 146 of the Civil PC and S 52 of the TP Act. (8) A transferee by virtue of the so-called transfer in violation of injunction order acquires no title and such transfer is to be treated as non-existent, since it would defeat the ends of justice and prevalent public policy. However although a transfer in violation of injunction order is a void one, an agreement to make transfer of property is not void even though at the time of execution of agreement there was an order prohibiting transfer. (9)

Even if injunction prohibiting transfer is refused by Court and its order has become final, that does not stand in the way of the plaintiff by putting a board on the suit property that the property being under litigation nobody should purchase it. (10)

Section 52 — Note 41

1. (1841) 49 ER 252 (252) : 55 RR 9.
2. (1865) 46 ER 562 (565) : 142 RR 26 (30, 31).
3. (1909) 2 Ind Cas 266 (267) (DB) (Cal)  (1912) 16 Ind Cas 359 (361) (DB) (Cal)
4. 1997 (2) Cal HN 510 (512)
5. (1900) 23 All 60 (65) (DB).
6. 2002 (3) MPLJ 576 (578)
7. AIR 1950 Ajmer 29 (29).
8. AIR 1997 Ker 315 (317) 1997 (1) Ker LT 748  1999 AIHC 4469 (4476) 2000 (1) ICC 229 (Bom).
9. 1999 (2) Cal HN 704 (706).
10. 2000 AIHC 1589 (1590) (Kant)

42. Subsequent reversal or modification of decree or order, how far affects sale in execution of such decree, or the assignment of such decree.

It has been held that the doctrine of lis pendens has no application to cases where a property has been sold in execution of a money decree, but subsequently the decree is varied or reversed on appeal or otherwise (1). A bona fide purchaser at such a sale will get a good title to the property notwithstanding the subsequent variation or reversal of the decree and the person in whose favour the variation or reversal is made can only claim restitution from the other party to the suit (2).

Where a person is put in possession of properties under a decree of a Court and the decree is subsequently reversed, the person in possession is not entitled to claim value of improvements made by him while in possession and put the same as a condition for re-delivery of possession under S 144, CPC to the person in whose favour the decree is ultimately passed. The adjustment of equities or rights of parties should not have the effect of undermining the very executability of the decree passed in favour of a party and that is why the provisions of S 52 are enacted (3).

It has been held in the undermentioned case (4) that where a decree is assigned to a third party and appeal is thereafter filed against it, the assignment is affected by the doctrine of lis pendens. This, it is submitted, is not correct. The final appellate decree is no doubt binding on the assignee but it is not so on the ground of the doctrine of lis pendens. The decree cannot be said to be the subject-matter of the litigation.

43. Registration of lis pendens.

As has been seen in Note 1, the doctrine of lis pendens does not depend upon any doctrine of notice to the transferee. In England the difficulty arising out of the rule was removed by the Judgments Act, 1839, providing for the registration of every lis pendens and providing that notice pendens should bind a purchaser or mortgagee without express notice thereof unless and until it was duly registered. The provisions have now been re-enacted in Ss 1, 2 and 3 of the Land Charges Act 1925 (15 Geo. V, Ch. 22).

There is no general provision for registration of lis pendens in this country. But, by Bombay Act XIV of 1939, provision has been made in the Registration Act for the registration of notices pending suits and proceedings and S 52 has been amended by providing that a transfer will be affected by lis pendens only, if it is made after the registration of the notice of the suit or proceeding(1).

The effect of S 52 as amended by Bombay Act of 1939 is that when the notice of pendency of the suit or proceedings is registered, the public gets notice of pendency of litigation and persons desirous of dealing with the land cannot claim the benefit of bona fide purchaser for value without notice.(2)

Section 52 as amended by Bombay State in 1939 and 1959 is not applicable unless and until

Section 52 — Note 42

1. (1905) 29 Bom 435 (448) (FB).
2. AIR 1916 All 159 (160) : 38 All 240 (DB)  (1887) 10 All 166 (172) : 15 Ind App 12 (PC)  (1913) 16 Oudh Cas 225 (231) (DB) (Provided the Court executing the decree had jurisdiction to sell the property)  (1886) 9 Mad 130 (133) (DB) (Order).
[But see (1873) 19 Suth WR 197 (198) (DB).]
3. (1991) 2 Cur Civ Cas 50 (53) (Mad).
4. AIR 1916 Mad 745 (745) : 38 Mad 36 (DB).

Section 52 — Note 43

1. AIR 1965 SC 414 (426, 427) : (1965) 1 SCA 172.
2. 1999 AIHC 4469 (4474) : 2000 (1) ICC 229 (Bom).

the notification is issued by Government as provided in the Proviso to S. 2 of the T P Amendment Act of 1939. When no notification is issued, the question of lis pendens will have to be considered as per provisions of the Central Act. In absence of such notice it will not be necessary to register lis pendens. When agricultural land is purchased during pendency of tenancy proceedings, the purchasers will be affected by lis pendens.(3)

When the plaintiff files a suit for specific performance, the statute confers upon him a right to register the lis pendens after complying the necessary formalities as contemplated under sub-sec. (2) of S. 52 as stands in Maharashtra. Even if there is a valid registration of lis pendens a power has been conferred on the Court whereby the Court can permit the transfer of property on such terms as it may impose. Thus the power is discretionary and not a blanket power.(4)

44. Writ proceedings.

A proceeding under Arts. 226-227 which is not collusive and in which the right to immovable property is directly and specifically in question will be a proceeding under S. 52.(1)

The claim of the original owners that they did not hold land exceeding ceiling limit was upheld in Appeal by the District Court. A writ petition challenging the judgment of the District Court was pending. The land was transferred by owners. Held that the principle of lis pendens would not apply to subsequent transferees who were not impleaded in the writ petition.(2)

[53. FRAUDULENT TRANSFER.—(1) Every transfer of immovable property made with intent to defeat or delay the creditors of the transferor shall be voidable at the option of any creditor so defeated or delayed.

Nothing in this sub-section shall impair the rights of a transferee in good faith and for consideration.

Nothing in this sub-section shall affect any law for the time being in force relating to insolvency.

A suit instituted by a creditor (which term includes a decree-holder whether he has or has not applied for execution of his decree) to avoid a transfer on the ground that it has been made with intent to defeat or delay the creditors of the transferor, shall be instituted on behalf of, or for the benefit of, all the creditors.

(2) Every transfer of immovable property made without consideration with intent to defraud a subsequent transferee shall be voidable at the option of such transferee.

For the purposes of this sub-section, no transfer made without consideration shall be deemed to have been made with intent to defraud by reason only that a subsequent transfer for consideration was made.]

[A] Substituted for the original section by the Transfer of Property (Amendment) Act, 1929 (20 of 1929), S. 15

3. 1999 AIHC 4469 (4475)

4. 2002 (3) Bom CR 346 (349) : 2000 (1) ICC 229 (Bom).

Section 52 — Note 44

1. AIR 1992 Kant 71 (76) · ILR (1991) Kant 3288

2. 1994 (2) Civ LJ 182 (188) (All)

Synopsis

1. History of the section.
2. Scope of the section.
- 2A. This section and S. 23, Contract Act.
3. Section applies only to transfers of immovable property.
4. Hindu and Muhammadan law.
5. "Transfer of property".
6. Intent to defeat or delay creditors.
7. Benami transactions not necessarily fraudulent.
8. Transfer is valid until avoided.
9. Who can avoid a fraudulent transfer.
10. "Creditor", meaning of.
- 10A. "Of the transferor".
11. Subsequent creditors.
12. Creditor need not obtain judgment on his debt before being entitled to impeach fraudulent transfer.
13. "At his option".
14. Plea in defence.
15. Avoidance of transfer in part.
16. Transfer taken in good faith and for consideration.
17. Consideration.
18. Transfer for dower.
19. Good faith.
20. Preference of one creditor over others.
21. Transferee from a transferee.
22. Questions of intent and good faith are questions of fact.
23. Frame of suit under the section.
24. Suit must be a representative one.
25. Leave of Court.
26. Defence need not be in representative capacity.
27. Suit under this section is a "suit for land" within the meaning of the Letters Patent.
28. Transferor insolvent — Suit by creditor under this section.
29. Receiver in insolvency, if can avoid fraudulent transfer under S. 4 of the Provincial Insolvency Act.
30. Distinction between this section and Ss. 53 and 54 of the Provincial Insolvency Act.
31. Sub-section (2) — Transfer in fraud of subsequent transferee.
32. Auction-purchaser, whether is a subsequent transferee.
33. Plea of fraudulent transfer.
34. Onus of proof.
35. Limitation for suit to avoid document under this section.

1. History of the section.

The general principle is that a man can do what he likes with his own property. Limitations on this right were introduced from motives of equity by various statutes in England(1). By 13 Eliz. Chap. 5 it was provided that conveyances of any kind of property, whether land or goods with intent to defraud creditors were voidable at the instance of the person thereby prejudiced, except where the transferee had taken the property for good consideration and without notice of the intent to defraud(2). By 27 Eliz. Chap. 4 it was provided that conveyances of lands (not goods) with intent to

Section 53 — Note 1

1. AIR 1938 Lah 156 (157) (DB)

2. The material sections of (1571) 13 Elizabeth, Chapter 5 run as follows

Section 1.—All conveyances, etc., made to defeat creditors to be void, etc., against them —

Be it therefore declared, ordained and enacted, that at and every feoffment, gift, grant, alienation, bargain, and conveyance of lands, tenements, hereditaments, goods and chattels, or of any of them, or of any lease, rent, common, or other profit or charge out of the same lands, tenements, hereditaments, goods and chattels, or any of them, by writing or otherwise, and every bond, suit, judgment and execution at any time had or made since the beginning of the Queen's Majesty's reign that now is, or at any time hereafter to be had defraud subsequent purchasers were void against such purchasers for value, except where the prior transferee had taken the property for good consideration and bona fide(3) or made, to or for any intent or purpose before declared and expressed, shall be from henceforth deemed and taken (only as against that person or persons, his or their heirs, successors, executors, administrators and assigns, and every of them, whose actions, suits, debts accounts, damages, penalties, forfeiture, heriots, mortuaries and reliefs by such guileful, covinous, or fraudulent devices and practices as is aforesaid, are, shall or might be in any wise disturbed, hindered, delayed or defrauded) to be clearly and utterly void, frustrate, and of none effect: any preference, colour, feigned consideration, expressing of use, or any other matter or thing to the contrary notwithstanding.

Section 5. Saving for estates and interest made, etc., upon good consideration and bona fide to parties without notice of fraud.— Provided also, and be it enacted, that this Act, or anything therein contained shall not extend to any estate or interest in lands tenements, hereditaments, leases, rents, commons, profits, goods or chattels, had made, conveyed or assured, or hereafter to be had, made, conveyed or assured which estate or interest is or shall be upon good consideration and bona fide lawfully conveyed or assured to any person or persons, or bodies politic or corporate, not having at the time of such conveyance or assurance to them made any manner of notice or knowledge of such covin, fraud, or collusion as is aforesaid: anything before mentioned to the contrary hereof notwithstanding

3. The material sections of (1584) 27 Elizabeth, Chapter 4 run as follows:

Section 2.— Fraudulent conveyances, etc., made to defraud and deceive subsequent purchasers to be void as against them.— For remedy of such inconveniences and for the avoiding of such fraudulent, feigned, and covinous conveyances, gifts, grants, charges, uses and estates, and for the maintenance of upright and just dealing in the purchasing of lands, tenements and hereditaments Be it enacted that all and every conveyance, grant, charge, lease, estate, incumbrance and limitation of use or uses of, in or out of any lands, tenements or other hereditaments whatsoever had or made at any time heretofore since the beginning of the Queen's Majesty's reign that now is, or at any time hereafter to be had or made, for the intent and of purpose to defraud and deceive such person or persons, bodies politic or corporate, as have purchased or shall afterwards purchase in fee simple, fee tail, for life, lives, or years, the same lands tenements and hereditaments, or any part or parcel thereof, so formerly conveyed, granted leased, charged, incumbered or limited in use or to defraud or deceive such as have, or shall purchase any rent, profit or commodity in or out of the same, or any part thereof, shall be deemed and taken only as against that person and persons, bodies politic and corporate, his and their heirs, successors, executors, administrators and assigns, and against all and every other person and persons lawfully having or claiming by, from or under them, or any of them, which have purchased or shall hereafter so purchase for money, or other good consideration off the same lands, tenements or hereditaments, or any part or parcel thereof, or any rent, profit or commodity in or out of the same, to be utterly void, frustrate and of none effect, any pretence, colour, feigned consideration, or expressing of any use or uses to the contrary notwithstanding.

Section 4.— Act not to impeach conveyances made bona fide for good consideration.— Provided also, that this Act or anything therein contained shall not extend or be construed to impeach, defeat, make void, or frustrate any conveyance, assignment of lease, assurance, grant, charge, lease estate interest, or limitation of use or uses, or in to or out of any lands, tenements, or hereditaments heretofore at any time had or made, or hereafter to be had or made upon, or for good consideration, and bona fide to any person or persons, bodies politic or corporate, anything before mentioned to the contrary hereof notwithstanding

Section 6.— Saving for mortgages made bona fide for good consideration.— Provided nevertheless, that no lawful mortgage made or to be made bona fide and without fraud or covin, upon good consideration, shall be impeached or impaired by force of this Act but shall stand in the like force and effect as the same would have done if this Act had never been had or made anything in this Act to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding

Before the Transfer of Property Act was passed the said two statutes were applicable to the Presidency Towns of India. The principles underlying them were also applied in the motussil in India as being in conformity with justice, equity and good conscience(4). In S 53 of this Act the Legislature introduced with some modifications the abovementioned provisions of the two statutes(5) and thus codified what had been recognised as the law in this country(6). The two statutes were repealed by this Act.

In the interpretation of this section there was, however, a difference of opinion in this country based on English decisions which interpreted 27 Eliz., Chap. 4 as meaning that a voluntary conveyance was void if the grantor subsequently conveyed the same property for value, no matter whether the subsequent purchaser took the property with notice of the prior conveyance or not(7). It was held in some cases in this country following the above interpretation, that in every case of voluntary conveyance the fraudulent intent "shall be presumed" and that such conveyance was void against the subsequent purchaser even though he had notice of the prior purchase(8). Even in England the law was altered in 1893 by the Voluntary Conveyances Act, 1893 (56 & 57 Vict. C. 21, S. 2), whereby a voluntary conveyance could not be made void under that Act unless it was made with fraudulent intent. Section 172 of the Law of Property Act, 1925 (15 Geo. V Chap. 20), re-enacted the provisions of 13 Eliz., Chap. 5 and S. 173 re-enacted the provisions of 27 Eliz., Chap. 4 as modified by the Voluntary Conveyances Act, 1893(9).

4. (1884) 10 Cal 616 (624)(PC)  (1901) 25 Bom 202 (208, 209) (DB). (The said two statutes and the authorities based thereon may be accepted as unmistakable guides to the law in India on the subject prior to T. P. Act.)  (1887) 11 Bom 666 (675)(DB)  (1868) 4 Mad HC R 84 (87)  (1865) 1 Agra HCR 41 (43, 44) (DB).

[See also (1860) 6 Suth WR 90 (91) (DB)]

5. AIR 1960 Mad 536 (536)  AIR 1918 Mad 225 (226) 22 Mad LT 474 (DB)  AIR 1917 Pat 448 (449) (DB) (In re Le Moroney (1887) 21 Irish 27 is referred to as containing a most clear and able exposition of the law of England and Ireland relative to the fraudulent transfers of property)  AIR 1916 Sind 22 (24)  (1907) 34 Cal 999 (1009) (DB) (The third paragraph of S. 53 is based on Statute 13 Eliz., c. 5)  (1903) 27 Bom 322 (327) (DB)  1901 Pun Re no. 6 page 18 (23)  (1888) 1 CPLR 63 (64)  (1888) 1 CPLR 59 (59)
6. AIR 1960 Mad 536 (536)  (1904) 17 CPLR 24 (26)  (1900) 13 CPLR 180 (182)

7. See Note 31.

8. See Note 31.

9. Sections 172 and 173 of the Law of Property Act, 1925 are as follows

Section 172.— Voluntary conveyances to defraud creditors voidable.— (1) Save as provided in this section, every conveyance of property made whether before or after the commencement of this Act, with intent to defraud creditors shall be voidable, at the instance of any person thereby prejudiced.

(2) This section does not affect the operation of disentailing assurance or the law of bankruptcy for the time being in force.

(3) This section does not extend to any estate or interest in property conveyed for valuable consideration and in good faith or upon good consideration and in good faith to any person not having, at the time of the conveyance, notice of the intent to defraud creditors.

Section 173.— Voluntary disposition of land how far voidable as against purchasers.—

(1) Every voluntary disposition of land made with intent to defraud a subsequent purchaser is voidable at the instance of that purchaser.

(2) For the purposes of this section, no voluntary disposition, whenever made, shall be deemed to have been made with intent to defraud by reason only that a subsequent conveyance for valuable consideration was made, if such subsequent conveyance was made after the twenty eighth day of June, eighteen hundred and ninety-three

In view of these changes in England and in view of the conflict of opinion abovereferred to, this section was altered by the amendment of 1929 on the lines of Ss 172 and 173 of the Law of Property Act, 1925(10) Sub-section (1) reproduces S 172 of the Law of Property Act, 1925, which reproduced 13 Eliz, Chap 5(11) and sub-s (2) reproduces S 173 of the Law of Property Act, 1925, which reproduced 27 Eliz, Chap 4 as modified by the Voluntary Conveyances Act 1893

2. Scope of the section.

Sub-section (1) of the section deals with transfers in fraud of creditors and sub-s (2) deals with transfers in fraud of subsequent transferees. It is the right of creditors as a whole that all the property of the debtor should be applied in payment of demands of them or some of them without any portion of it being parted with, without consideration, or reserved or retained by the debtor to their prejudice(1) As was observed by the Lord Keeper in Partridge v. Gopp(2)

"no man has so absolute a power over his own property as that he can alienate the same, when such alienation directly tends to delay, hinder or defraud his creditors unless it is made upon good consideration and bona fide."

Where, therefore, a debtor transfers his property with intent to defeat or delay the exercise of this right of the creditors, it is just and equitable that the transfer should be voidable at the option of any creditor so defeated or delayed. This is the principle on which 13 Eliz, Chap 5 was based and on which the first sub-section of this section rests. The second paragraph of the section is also based on equity.

The principles of the section, based thus on the principles of equity which are of universal application, will apply even in places to which this Act is not directly applicable(3). It will also apply to transfers to which the section is not, in terms, directly applicable such as transfers of goods(4) and transfers by operation of law(5).

The principle laid u/S 53 by which the creditors could seek to set aside transfers of immovable property by debtor effected for defeating or delaying. The creditors is available to the income tax department in connection with the arrears of tax due to it (6)

10. See the Report of the Special Committee

11. AIR 1938 Cal 818 (821) (DB).

Section 53 — Note 2

1. See AIR 1915 PC 115 (116) : 43 Cal 521.

2. (1758) 28 ER 647 (648) : 1 Eden 163

3. AIR 1961 Punj 398 (399) ILR (1962) 2 Punj 378 (DB) (Technical and procedural rules not followed)  AIR 1971 Punj 325 (326, 327) (DB) (Principles of S 53 are followed in Haryana)  AIR 1968 Punj 479 (483) (Though provisions of S 53 are not in terms applicable in Punjab principles underlying it are applied)  AIR 1960 Punj 417(418) 62 Pun LR 224 (DB)  (1949) 1 Pepsu LR 198 (211) (DB) (But the courts in the Union are not bound to follow the mere rules of procedure prescribed by the last para of sub-s (1))  AIR 1923 Lah 478 (479) (The Punjab)  (1937) 171 Ind Cas 735 (735) (Lah) (Do)  (1936) 164 Ind Cas 933 (934) (DB) (Lah) (Do)  1912 Pun Re No 74 (DB) (Do)  AIR 1921 Lah 97 (99) (DB) (Do)  AIR 1938 Lah 156 (157) (DB) (Do)  AIR 1924 Lah 707 (707) (DB) (Do)  AIR 1927 Lah 420 (420) 8 Lah 544 (DB) (Do)  AIR 1930 Lah 136 (137) (Do)  AIR 1934 Lah 161 (162) (Do)  1901 Pun Re No 6 p 18 (23) (Do)  1908 Pun Re No 81, p 381 (387) (DB) (Do)  (1913) 78 Ind Cas 519 (519) (Lah) (Do)  (1892-1896) 2 Upp Bur Rul 315 (316) (Burma before 1924)  (1911) 10 Ind Cas 922 (923) (Low Bur) (Do)  (1913) 6 Low Bur Rul 170 (171) (Do).

[See also AIR 1916 Low Bur 89 (89). (Burma before 1924.)]

4. See Note 3  AIR 1960 Punj 417 (418) 62 Pun LR 224 (DB)

5. See Note 5  AIR 1960 Punj 417 (418) 62 Pun LR 224 (DB)

6. AIR 1984 Cal 215 (219) : (1984) 1 Cal HN 317.

The section cannot be correctly understood and applied without reference to English cases on which the section is really founded(7). In fact English decisions on the Statutes 13 Eliz. and 27 Eliz. are generally referred to in this country as guides for the construction of this section(8). In matters of Procedure, however, the English law cannot be a guidance in this country(9).

Where there is a concurrent finding that transfer of suit land pending execution of money decree was not made with intent to defeat or delay the creditor or the transferor that such transfer was not hit by S. 53 of the T.P. Act. Then this fact cannot be interfered with in Second Appeal(10).

Section 53 of the T. P. Act and S. 281 of the I. T. Act operate in different field. Section 53 specifically mentions that rights of bona fide purchaser is safeguarded. The Proviso to S. 281 of the I-T Act refers to assessee alone and not transferee. There cannot be a conjoint reading of the two provisions(11).

2A. This section and Section 23, Contract Act.

The following illustrations will bring out the distinction between this section and S. 23 Contract Act :

1. A is heavily indebted. He has some immovable property which he is anxious to save from his creditors. With this view, he consults B. B agrees to help him to put the property beyond the reach of his creditors. With this object, they enter into an arrangement. Under this arrangement, A transfers the property to B for a consideration which A is to dispose of secretly so as to put it out of the reach of his creditors. Such a transaction will come under S. 23 Contract Act. The reason is that in such a case, the transfer is based on an agreement the object of which is fraudulent and is therefore unlawful within the meaning of S. 23 Contract Act. In such a case, the transfer will be wholly void and not merely voidable at the option of the creditors of the transferor. In other words, the transaction will not be binding even as between the parties to it(1). As for the transferor's creditors they can ignore the transaction altogether and proceed against the property as if it had not been attempted to be transferred at all. It may also be noted here that under S. 6(b) of this Act, no transfer can be made for an unlawful object or consideration within the meaning of S. 23 Contract Act. This section does not apply to such cases.

2. A transfers to B for consideration of a certain immovable property with the intention of defeating his creditors. B knows A's intention and takes the transfer with such knowledge. But A has not communicated his object to B and such object has not become part of the subject-matter of the agreement between the parties which is purely confined to the transaction of transfer. In such a case, S. 23, Contract Act, will not apply because the section will only apply where the agreement between the parties includes an unlawful object(2). The mere fact that one of the parties to the agreement is actuated by an unlawful intention and that the other party is aware of this will not make the object of the agreement an unlawful one.

7. (1897) 20 Mad 465 (467).

8. AIR 1921 All 298 (300-301) (DB)  AIR 1918 Mad 225 (226) 22 Mad LT 474 (DB)  AIR 1917 Mad 519 (520),  (1900) 25 Bom 202 (209) (DB)  (1889) 15 Bom 297 (300) (DB).

9. AIR 1921 All 298 (301) : 19 All LJ 299 (DB).

10. AIR 1984 (NOC) 85 (Gauhati).

11. 1998 (1) CTC 547 (552) (Mad).

Section 53 — Note 2A

1. AIR 1943 Nag 129 (134) ILR (1944) Nag 42 (DB) (Transferee cannot sue transferor for possession.)

2. AIR 1943 Nag 129 (134) ILR (1944) Nag 42 (DB) (No agreement can be unlawful and thus void under S. 23 unless both sides are concurring parties to the matter which renders it unlawful.)

In such a case, this section will apply. Under this section it is not necessary that the parties must have agreed as to the unlawful object. It is enough if the transfer is made with the intention of defeating or delaying creditors and the transferee is not acting in good faith. If he is aware that the transfer is being made with the intention of defrauding creditors, he cannot be said to be acting in good faith. Such a transaction, however, will not be void under this section. It will be binding as between the parties to it(3). It will be only voidable at the option of the creditors of the transferor.

3. Section applies only to transfers of immovable property.

The English Statute 13 Eliz., Chap. 5 on which this section is based applied to transfers not only of lands, but also of goods and chattels(1). This section is, however, limited in its application to transfers of immovable property(2). Thus, the section will not apply to the transfer of a decree by the decree-holder in fraud of his creditors(3). Such cases must be decided according to justice, equity and good conscience(4). The principles underlying the section are, however, in accordance with justice, equity and good conscience, and will, consequently, be applied to transfers of movable property(5). According to these principles a deed is void against creditors when the debtor is in a state of insolvency and when the effect of the deed is to leave the debtor without the means of paying his present debts, unless the transfer has been made upon valuable consideration and in good faith(6).

4. Hindu and Muhammadan Law.

Section 2, as it stood before the amendment, provided that nothing in Chap. II (which includes this section) should affect any rule of Hindu or Muhammadan law. There is however, no rule

3. AIR 1943 Nag 129 (132) · ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB) (Transferee can sue transferor for possession of the property)  AIR 1936 Nag 207 (209) ILR(1936) Nag 183

Section 53 — Note 3

1. (1788) 100 ER 249 (251) : 2 TR 462
2. AIR 1914 PC 137 (139) : 37 Mad 227. (Assignment of rights under decree — S. 53 does not directly apply as subject-matter of a assignment is not immovable property. 30 Mad 6 Affirmed)  AIR 1960 Punj 417 (418) (DB) (It is doubtful whether a dissolution of partnership amounts to such a transfer.)  (1911) 7 Nag LR 72 (77)
3. AIR 1914 PC 137 (139) : 37 Mad 227. (30 Mad 6, Affirmed.)
[See (1912) 17 Ind Cas 323 (324) (DB) (Mad)]
4. AIR 1914 PC 137 (139) : 37 Mad 227. (30 Mad 6, Affirmed)
[See also AIR 1959 Mad 141 (142) (DB). (Collusive and fraudulent decree and execution — Suit by other creditors to set decree and the execution proceedings up to sale and the possession as null and void — This Section though in terms will not apply suit is maintainable)]
5. AIR 1960 Punj 417 (418) 62 Pun LR 224 (DB)  AIR 1956 Bhopal 22 (24) (Sale of a she-buffalo)  AIR 1938 Nag 249 (250, 251) ILR(1940) Nag 316  AIR 1932 Rang 13 (13) 9 Rang 614 (DB)  AIR 1929 Rang 110 (111) (Sale of standing crops)  AIR 1927 Nag 205 (205) (Sale of moveable property)  1901 Pun Re No. 6p 18 (23).
[See also (1912) 15 Ind Cas 193 (194) (Mad) (Assignment of debt in fraud of creditors — Creditors can impeach it)]
6. AIR 1914 PC 137 (139) · 37 Mad 227  (1887) 11 Bom 666 (676) (DB)
[See also AIR 1942 Mad 714 (715) (Assignment of decree to defraud creditors — Creditor of assignor can attach decree and claim that assignment is fictitious and is not binding on him)]

of Hindu law(1) or Muhammadan law(2) inconsistent with the provisions of this section. Under both systems of law a transfer is bad if made to defraud creditors. This section will therefore apply to transfers by Hindus or Muhammadans. The amendment of S. 2 by deleting the word "Hindu" makes the position, so far as transfers by Hindus are concerned, still more clear.

Where the sons are joint with the father, the sons, under the doctrine of pious obligation being liable to discharge the father's debts where they are not tainted with immorality and have been incurred by him even for his own personal benefit and not for family purposes. The liability of the sons extends to the extent of their interest out of the estate they have received and this liability arises whether the father is alive or dead, property transferred by the father to his sons would still be available to the creditors. The transfer would also be voidable u/S. 53(1) at the instance of the creditors(3).

5. "Transfer of property."

As has been seen in the Notes on S. 5, a transaction is not a "transfer of property" unless it involves a conveyance of rights in property by one person to another. This section applies only where there has been a "transfer of property" as defined in S. 5 involving a conveyance of rights in property by one person to another. In this respect it differs from the Statute 13 Eliz., Chap. 5 which applied even to colourable transactions (1). But the word "transfer" in this section is comprehensive enough to embrace within its purview all kinds of transfers whether with or without consideration.(2) The section is intended to cover cases of transfers which are capable of being set up and defended and not barred transfers.(3)

In order to claim that the transfer is fraudulent, the plaintiff must prima facie establish that either sale is sham or if real one is a fraud on him. Burden then shifts on transferee to prove his good faith.(4)

Section 53 — Note 4

1. AIR 1960 Mad 536 (536)  AIR 1918 Mad 225 (228) 22 Mad LT 474 (DB)  AIR 1917 Mad 519 (522) (DB). (11 Bom 666, Followed.)
 2. AIR 1960 Mad 536 (536)  AIR 1955 Pat 270 (276) 1955 BLJR 346 (DB) (A wakf by Shia Muhammadan cannot be excluded from the provisions of the section which are general in terms)  AIR 1930 All 462 (465) 52 All 710 (DB) (There is no rule of Muhammadan law which allows an indebted person to make a wakf of his property with intent to defraud his creditors)  AIR 1929 All 277 (278) (DB)  AIR 1917 Mad 841 (844) (DB) (Even if the transfer was to a charity)
- [See also AIR 1943 All 2 (5) (DB) (Deed of wakf impeached as being fraudulent — Held that there was nothing to show that this section did not apply)  AIR 1940 All 55 (56) 11 R (1939) All 962 (DB) (Wakf by Muhammadan financially embarrassed is not void but voidable.)]

Also see S. 2, Note 9.

3. AIR 1986 Kant 225 (227) : (1985) 2 Kant LJ 389

Section 53 — Note 5

1. 1964 All LJ 1079 (1081)  AIR 1952 All 83 (84) (DB)  (1770) 98 ER 384 (385) 5 Bur 2631, Martyn v. Podger. (Fraudulent bill of sale.)
 2. AIR 1941 Oudh 205 (208) (DB)
- [See also AIR 1960 Mad 536 (536) (Marriage settlement made before marriage with intent to defeat creditors of settlor — Voidable.)]
3. AIR 1955 Mad 446 (448) : 1955 Mad WN 283
 4. AIR 2002 Guj 209 (218) 2002 (1) Guj LH 588 (Where the transferee was having knowledge of fraudulent intention of transferor and helped him to achieve that purpose the transfer falls within 1st paragraph of S. 73 and is voidable at the instance of the plaintiff)

Sham transactions.

The section does not apply to nominal, sham or simulated transactions in the form of transfers of property (but which are really not transfers of property) at all in the proper sense of the expression, there being, in such cases, no animus transferendi and no conveyance of any rights in property (5) Section 53 includes admission that the transfer is a real one (6) The transaction is inoperative even as between the parties thereto. If such a transaction is brought about, as is often the case, for the purpose of defeating or defrauding creditors, the latter are not affected by it (7) It is not

5. AIR 1957 SC 49 (66) : 1957 SCJ 1. (Distinction between a transfer which can be correctly described as 'benami' and a sham transaction which is also occasionally described as a benami transaction pointed out)  AIR 1944 Nag 44 (52) : ILR (1944) Nag 342 (FB)  2000 (1) APLJ 458 (460)  AIR 1998 Ker 139 (143) 1997 (2) Ker LJ 610  ILR (1964) 2 Mad 483 (487)  1964 All LJ 1079 (1080) (It neither extinguishes an existing interest in the property nor creates a new one)  AIR 1963 Mys 257 (260) 1963 Mys LJ (Supp) 266  AIR 1962 Andh Pra 25 (27-28) (Suit under this section is unsustainable in the case of such transactions)  AIR 1961 Pat 158 (160) (DB)  AIR 1958 Cal 143 (146) (Apparent transfer fraudulently made to defeat the provisions of statute viz W B Estates Acquisition Act)  AIR 1958 Pat 568 (570) 1957 MPLJ 107 (108)  AIR 1955 Madh B 159 (160) ILR (1955) Madh B 297 (DB)  AIR 1955 Pat 270 (275) 1955 BLJR 346 (DB)  AIR 1953 Mad 545 (547) (1953) 1 Mad LJ 123  AIR 1953 Cal 251 (252) 56 Cal WN 740 (DB)  AIR 1953 Mys 22 (24) 32 Mys LJ 123  AIR 1952 All 83 (84) (DB)  AIR 1951 All 443 (445) (DB)  AIR 1951 Mys 103 (105) 30 Mys LJ 64 (DB)  1950 Ker LT 502 (504) (DB) (Benami or fictitious transfers are not intended to exist. Fraudulent transfers contemplated by this section are intended to exist though their object was to defeat third parties)  AIR 1946 Sind 78 (79) (DB)  AIR 1924 Oudh 314 (316) (DB) (In order to bring a suit within the purview of S. 53 it is necessary to accept the genuineness of the transfer as an initial fact and then to prove that the transfer was made with a view to defeat or delay the general body of the creditors. AIR 1941 Oudh 457 (Foll)  AIR 1944 All 214 (215) ILR (1944) All 325 (The law draws a clear distinction between a fictitious and a fraudulent transaction — If a transaction is fictitious, it was never intended to exist. — If it is fraudulent, it was intended to exist though its object was to defeat the legal rights of other people)  AIR 1943 Nag 129 (132) ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB) (It is necessary for a creditor to avoid the transaction under S. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act, it must in the eye of the law have had and have legal and valid existence until avoided)  AIR 1943 Nag 113 (113-114)  AIR 1942 All 344 (345) ILR (1942) All 848 (DB) (Fictitious and fraudulent transfers — Distinction between, pointed out)  AIR 1941 Oudh 95 (98) (Section presupposes real transfer — Plaintiff's case not that transfer is fraudulent but that it is fictitious — Section 53 does not apply)  AIR 1941 Oudh 457 (464) (DB) (In a suit under S. 53 the plaintiff has to accept the genuineness of the deed as an initial fact)  (1940) 42 Punj LR 3 (6) (DB) (Transfer not intended to be acted upon and not acted upon)  AIR 1936 Nag 207 (208-209) ILR (1936) Nag 183  AIR 1927 Mad 1104 (1104) 38 Mad LT 105 (A colourable transaction is void)  AIR 1923 Pat 561 (567) (DB)  AIR 1919 Pat 345 (350) (DB)  (1908) 30 All 297 (308) (Fictitious mortgage)  AIR 1982 All 316 (317)

[See also AIR 1944 Nag 133 (134) ILR (1944) Nag 125 (A fraudulent transaction is not a sham transaction)  (1901) 26 Bom 577 (584)  AIR 1939 Pat 5 (6) (DB)  AIR 1915 Bom 89 (90) 39 Bom 507 (DB)  AIR 1938 Nag 249 (249) ILR (1940) Nag 316  AIR 1920 Nag 80 (83) : 16 Nag LR 3  AIR 1941 Pat 394 (394) (DB)]

[See however AIR 1965 Ker 288 (292) 1965 Ker LT 341 (AIR 1945 Mad 59 and AIR 1962 Andh Pra 25, Dissented from.)]

[But see AIR 1925 Bom 287 (287-288) (DB) (Submitted wrong)]

6. AIR 1998 Ker 139 (143) : 1997 (2) Ker LJ 610

7. 1964 All LJ 1079 (1080)  AIR 1954 Manipur 1 (3)  AIR 1944 Mad 381 (383) ILR (1945) Mad 138 (DB) (Colourable partition — Creditor can enforce his remedies as if parties continued to be joint)  AIR 1943 Nag 129 (136) ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB) (Colourable transaction — Creditors can proceed in same way as if the transaction had not required to be set aside by a suit(8) and can be challenged otherwise than under the provisions of this section (9) The question whether a transaction is a real transfer of property or a sham or simulated transaction must be decided on the facts and circumstances of the particular case (10) The been affected)  AIR 1928 Oudh 414 (416) (DB) (Judgment debtor making a gift to his son while decree was being executed — Possession not passing to donee or mutation of names effected — Donor refusing to present the deed for registration — Gift was held to be not real and effective)  AIR 1921 All 298 (299) (DB) (Joint family property — Transfer by one member to another member)  (1911) 10 Ind Cas 906 (907) (DB) (All) (Father's transfer to son.)

[See also AIR 1930 PC 255 (256, 258). (False document not intended to be given effect to but intended to defeat cred for held not to be binding on creditor)  (1884) 10 Cal 616 (624) (PC) Hibba made in favour of son — Gift not followed or completed by change of ownership or management — Transferor applying whole of income of gifted property to his own use — Transaction held benami for transferor.  1890 All WN 15 (17) (SB). (Defendant in executing a decree against immovable property of the plaintiff's husband was met by plaintiff with an objection that subsequent to the Decree the property had been transferred to her under an arbitration award which was made a decree of Court in discharge of her dower debt — Held that the award being the result of fraudulent and collusive arrangements to defeat the creditors, the fact that the parties in perfecting the fraud obtained a decree would not afford an answer to the creditor's claim)  AIR 1926 Ad 470 (472) 48 All 414 (DB) (Application by Receiver of an insolvent — Case under Insolvency Act S. 53)  (1896) 22 Bom 255 (258) (DB)]

8. (1908) 35 Cal 551 (560) (PC)  AIR 1944 Nag 44 (52) 11 R (1944) 342 (FB)  AIR 1962 Andh Pra 25 (27, 28)  AIR 1962 Madh Pra 363 (364) 1962 MPLJ 596 (DB)  AIR 1955 Madh Bha 159 (160) 11 R (1955) Madh B 97 (DB)  AIR 1952 A 183 (84) (DB)  AIR 1951 All 443 (445) (DB)  AIR 1943 Nag 179 (179) 136 11 R (1943) Nag 42 (DB)  AIR 1940 All 407 (409) 11 R (1940) A 1542 (DB) Sham and bogus sale deed)  AIR 1927 Mad 805 (812) (35 Cal 551 (PC). Followed)  AIR 1920 Mad 88 (88) (DB)

[See 1981 All LJ 1079 (1081) (It cannot be said that unless the sale deed alleged to be sham) is got cancelled its validity cannot be gone into by the consolidation authorities.  (1913) 18 Ind Cas 332 (335) (DB) (Mad) (A sham and colourable transaction is inoperative as between the parties to it and it is different from an alienation that is voidable by the creditors on the ground of fraud.)]

9. AIR 1920 Nag 80 (83) : 16 Nag LR 3.

10. AIR 1928 PC 139 (143) : 51 Mad 349  AIR 1977 SC 409 : 1978 L'PTC 75 (A purchased a house in the name of his son B while huge arrears of Income tax were due from A. A Company was incorporated during recovery proceedings by B and his relatives and B sold the house to this Company — Held transaction was sham.  (1976) 46 Com Cas 454 (460) (Pat)  AIR 1970 Assam 75 (78) 1970 Assam LR 77 (Sham transaction — Burden to prove absence of consideration is on person who challenges.  AIR 1961 Pat 158 (160) (DB)  1960 MPLJ 1029 (1030) (DB) (No evidence on record to show payment of consideration — Vendor admittedly continuing to be in possession of property — Held the sale was sham)

[See also AIR 1958 Raj 280 (281) 1958 Raj L W 23. (Oral evidence to prove that transaction evidenced by written instrument is fictitious or benami is not barred by Cl. 9. Provision of S. 92 Evidence Act)  AIR 1954 Manipur 1 (3)  AIR 1953 Mad 545 (547) (1953) 1 Mad LJ 123 (Question depends on animus transferendi which parties had at the time of transfer — All transfers intended to defraud creditors cannot be presumed sham)  AIR 1953 Mys 22 (24) 32 Mys LJ 123  AIR 1952 Nag 106 (111) 11 R (1953) Nag 684 (Transfer of few fields in lieu of dower — Wife being pardanashin lady of high class family, husband continuing to manage property — Failure to record property in the name of wife — Neither of the facts held sufficient for holding transfer a nominal transaction)  AIR 1951 All 443 (445) (DB)  (1909) 31 All 170 (172) (DB)  (1909) 32 Mad mere fact that the transaction is without consideration(11) or that the consideration mentioned is grossly inadequate does not necessarily show that the transaction is unreal.(12)

Benami transactions.

A benami transaction is not necessarily a sham transaction not intended to be given effect to. A may make a real transfer to C, but in the name of B. B is a benamidar for C.(13) It has been held in some cases that a benami transaction properly so called is of this nature (14) Such transactions are "transfers of property" within the meaning of this section (15) But the word benami is very often used to describe a simulated transfer by A in favour of B, neither party intending that title should pass from A to B (16) Such transactions are, as has been seen above, not "transfers of property" at all within the meaning of this section.

325 (329) (DB) (Sale deed by widow to prevent property from going to reversioner of husband — Deed though retained by the widow duly communicated — Tenant in possession also attorning to the vendee — Held fact that no consideration was paid did not prevent title passing to vendee and the transaction was not a sham one)  (1904) 28 Bom 364 (369) (DB)  (1902) 26 Bom 577 (584)  1893-1900 Low Bur Rut 201 (201)  AIR 1953 Hyd 77 (78) ILR(1953) Hyd 165 (Question whether transaction is real or sham — Slight evidence is sufficient to show it as sham — Subsequent conduct not a safe test as invariably such conduct is adjusted to fit in to correspond with the benami nature)  AIR 1937 Oudh 443 (443) 13 Luck 455 (Question of genuineness of transaction — Suspicion cannot be substituted for evidence)]

11. ILR (1964) Cal 719 (724)  AIR 1957 Mad 630 (631) : (197) 2 Mad LJ 414  AIR 1944 Nag 133 (134) ILR (1944) Nag 125  (1909) 32 Mad 325 (327, 329).

[See also AIR 1958 Mad 580 (582) (Coupled with other facts it may show the deed to be a sham one.)]

12. AIR 1936 Nag 207 (208) : ILR (1936) Nag 183.

[See also AIR 1957 Mad 630 (631) (1957) 2 Mad LJ 414 (Evidence of real worth of property not available — Application of doctrine of inadequate consideration proving fraud, by shocking conscience of the Court, is inadvisable — In such cases careful scrutiny of circumstances is necessary to determine whether purchaser is a 'lucky purchaser' or 'fraudulent purchaser'.)]

13. AIR 1957 SC 49 (66)  AIR 1944 Nag 44 (54) : ILR (1944) Nag 342 (FB). (Distinction between sham and benami transactions pointed out)  ILR (1964) 2 Mad 483 (487) (In benami transactions title of property passes till it is questioned by the real party.)  AIR 1958 Pat 568 (570)  (1956) 60 Cal WN 886 (890) (Property purchased by husband in name of wife will be regarded as benami transaction until the contrary is established.)  AIR 1952 Vind Pra 69 (73)  AIR 1920 Mad 26 (39) (DB)

14. AIR 1957 SC 49 (66) : 1957 SCJ 1  AIR 1980 SC 727 (732) : (1980) 2 SCR 628. (Nature of two kinds of benami transactions as generally recognised in India pointed.)  AIR 1934 Mad 587 (590) (A sham transaction is one in which no title passes — In a benami transaction title passes for certain reasons to the name of third party who could bring a suit, give a discharge etc., on his title.)  AIR 1925 Mad 1005 (1007) (DB).

15. AIR 1957 SC 49 (66) : 1957 SCJ 1. (In such cases there is an operative transfer vesting the title in transferee.)

16. AIR 1957 SC 49 (66) : 1957 SCJ 1  AIR 1960 MPLJ 1029 (1030) (DB)  AIR 1958 Pat 568 (570)  1950 Ker LT (504) (DB) (Fictitious or benami transfers, as distinguished from fraudulent transfers contemplated under this section are never intended to exist.)

[See AIR 1945 Mad 35 (54) : ILR (1945) Mad 412 (DB) (Suit by creditor for declaration that certain transfers made by debtor to his wife and daughter are benami and fictitious — S 53 does not apply)  AIR 1943 Nag 129 (136) ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB).]

See also the undermentioned cases.(17)

[See also AIR 1953 Hyd 77 (78) ILR (1953) Hyd 165 (DB) (Very slight evidence is necessary to show that the benami transaction is a sham transaction)]

17. AIR 1966 Pat 110 (119) 1965 BLJR 800 (Burden of proof lies on person alleging transaction to be benami)  1990 1, Bank CLR 343 (368) (Ker,  1979 Air LJ 996 (998) (When a gift deed was executed by the tenure holder in favour of his four sons and subsequently mutation was also effected in the names of the four sons on the basis of such gift deed and subsequently rent receipts irrigation slips etc. were granted in the names of each son separately these facts could not come in the way of putting up a case by the State that the real tenure-holder was the father for the purpose of including the gifted lands in his holdings)  AIR 1977 Mad 292 (296) 90 Mad LW 207 (Where a serious dispute had arisen between the benamidar and the real owner as a result of the latter filing a suit for recovery of possession of the suit properties the benamidar should be taken to have no power to represent the real owner,  1977 Pun LJ 199 (201) (Alienation made by a Judgment-debtor in favour of his son-in-law who was living with him and during execution proceedings — Transaction could not be called a bona fide transaction as it was to defeat the interests of the creditors)  AIR 1976 Gauhati 24 (Benami transaction — Proof of motive is relevant)  AIR 1962 Pat 160 (165) (DB) (Benami transaction — Tests usually taken into consideration are passing of consideration, custody of title deed, possession of property, motive and relationship — Failure of plaintiff claiming transaction to be benami on first four tests — Mere relationship is not sufficient to establish benami)  AIR 1962 Orissa 74 (77) ILR (1962) Cut 625 (Essentials of benami nature — Consideration of motive, relationships between parties and source of consideration necessary)  AIR 1960 Pat 420 (421) 1960 BLJR 148 (DB) (Benami is a question of fact and not a mixed question of law and fact)  AIR 1960 Punj 575 (578) (DB) (Benami nature of transaction — Question of fact — Cannot be raised in second appeal)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 70 (74) (1959) 2 Andh WR 140 (DB) (Purchase of property benami — Question is one of fact)  AIR 1959 Andh Pra 407 (412) ILR (1959) Andh Pra 208 (DB) (Plea of benami must be strictly made out — Apparent title must prevail in absence of evidence — Onus of proof is on person alleging benami)  1959 Cal LJ 15 (DB) (Person named as consignee in railway receipt — Presumption arises that he is the owner of the goods — Onus is on person claiming the named consignee to be his benamidar to prove that purchase money came from him)  AIR 1958 Pat 434 (436) 1958 BLJR 383 (DB) (Question of benami — Motive for transaction, relationship of parties, payment of consideration, custody of the document and possession over property are main tests — Decision on these points is a decision of fact)  AIR 1958 Cal 733 (734) ILR (1959) 1 Cal 121 (DB) (Burden of proof lies on person assailing transaction as benami to prove his allegation)  AIR 1958 Pat 537 (538) 1958 BLJR 103 (Question of benami is a question of fact)  AIR 1957 Mad 488 (491) (DB) (Burden lies on him who raised the plea of benami or sham to prove that what is apparent is not real)  AIR 1957 Ker 121 (123) (DB) (Plaintiff setting up benami — Burden of proof is heavily on him — He must adduce the best evidence — Court must not rest its decision on suspicion)  AIR 1957 Hyd 37 (39) ILR (1956) Hyd 733 (DB) (Benami is not a matter of mere presumption — It has to be pleaded and proved by evidence)  AIR 1957 Cal 177 (179) 61 Cal WN 154 (DB) (Finding of benami based on cogent materials placed before Court — Absence of evidence of motive does not vitiate the finding)  ILR (1955) 1 Cal 207 (212, 213) (DB) (Question of benami — Initial presumption is in favour of the ostensible or apparent owner — It is not a pure question of onus or burden of proof but of rebutting the initial presumption — Disregard of presumption on the view that where evidence has been led on both sides question of onus is not important is a serious mistake)  AIR 1955 Him Pra 2 (3) (Burden of proof lies on person who alleges the transaction to be benami)  AIR 1955 NL C (Cal) 2867, (Person alleging a transfer to be sham must prove the facts relied on by him)  AIR 1955 Madh Bha 148 (155) ILR (1955) Madh Bha 239 (DB) (Property purchased in name of wife, husband paying purchase money — Presumption of wife being benami arises — Burden lies on her to rebut it by showing that the husband purchased it by way of gift to her)

Partition of joint property.

There is a difference of judicial opinion(18) as to whether a partition of joint property is a transfer of property. But it has been held that a partition made in fraud of creditors can be avoided under the provisions of this section (19). Thus, where in a partition between a Hindu father and his sons, the father was allotted a smaller share than that to which he was entitled under the law, with intent to defeat his creditors, it was held that the partition could be avoided under this section (20). In the undermentioned cases(21) it was held that apart from the question whether a partition is a transfer of property within the meaning of this section, the principle of the section is applicable to partitions.

or advancement)  (1954) 26 ITR 249 (254) (DB) (Person alleging benami must prove the allegation by direct or circumstantial evidence)  ILR (1954) 1 Cal 220 (227) (DB) (Finding as to nature of transaction alleged as benami must rest on evidence and not on suspicion)  AIR 1952 Nag 246 (247) 1952 Nag LJ 160 (Onus of proving benami nature of transaction is on the person alleging it so — Person in whose name transfer stands providing purchase money — No motive for entering into benami transaction — Mere continuous possession of the person who claims to be the real owner not sufficient to establish benami)  AIR 1951 Trav-Co 237 (238) ILR (1951) Trav-Co 294 and 788 (DB) (Transaction in fraud of creditors is not a sham transaction)  1946 Mar LR 26 (27) (Question whether transaction is benami or not — Test — Source of purchase money is the best test)  AIR 1937 Cal 203 (206-207) (DB) (Transaction alleged as benami — Court's decision must not rest on suspicion — Fraudulent intention can be inferred only upon tangible facts proved in the case)

18. See Note 4 on Section 5.

19. AIR 1956 Punj 46 (48) (Partition between husband and wife under which all tangible properties are given to the wife and the husband retains only property of a very flimsy character)  AIR 1950 Bom 278 (284-285) ILR (1950) Bom 114 (DB) (Partition made without making provision for payment of debts due to creditors of the joint family)  AIR 1950 Bom 247 (249) (DB)  AIR 1936 Bom 10 (12) 60 Bom 34 (DB)  AIR 1923 Mad 577 (577) (DB) (AIR 1920 Mad 20, Not followed)  (1926) 97 Ind Cas 70 (70) (Mad) (AIR 1923 Mad 577, Followed.)

[See also AIR 1928 Mad 735 (742) : 51 Mad 417 (FB). (Partition not providing for debts is not bona fide.)]

20. AIR 1950 Bom 247 (249) (DB)  AIR 1947 Mad 203 (204) (Partition between father and sons — No property allotted to father — All property given to sons — Sons undertaking to pay debts incurred by father — Effect of partition is to defraud creditors — Partition is fraudulent as the creditors not being parties to it cannot take advantage of it to enforce the arrangement against the sons — AIR 1944 Mad 381 Foll)  AIR 1944 Mad 381 (382-383) ILR (1945) Mad 133 (DB) (Creditors can proceed against what would be the father's proper share ignoring the actual partition, but they cannot proceed against the sons' shares because the division in status brought about by the partition cannot be affected by its fraudulent nature — Where partition is fair and in accordance with the proper shares of the parties, it is not liable to be impeached under this section although entered into with a view to prevent attachment of the sons' shares in execution of decree against the father obtained after partition and in that sense mala fide AIR 1937 Mad 424 Relied on)

[See also AIR 1983 Guj 126 1983 (1) 24 Guj LR 278 (DB) (Where the value of the share paid to the indebted coparcener on his effecting release of his share is so meagre that he would be hardly able to pay about 25% of his total debts, that one circumstance alone would be sufficient to establish that his intention was not merely to release his share in the interest of the suit property but was to defeat and delay the creditors)]

21. AIR 1944 Nag 44 (52) . ILR (1944) Nag 342 (FB). (Properties assigned to A, a member

Deed of appointment.

A deed of appointment made in accordance with a power reserved in deed of trust is a "transfer of property" within the meaning of this section (22)

Relinquishment and surrender.

A mere relinquishment of rights by a person does not operate as a transfer of property (23) This section does not in terms apply to such cases (24) Similarly a surrender to the next reversioner which is merely an effacement of the surrenderor of his or her interest is not a "transfer of property" (25) It has been held in the undermentioned cases (24) that where the transaction is not a mere effacement of the interest of the alleged transferor, but is intended to convey rights to the next reversioner, it would amount to a transfer of property within the meaning of this section

In the undermentioned case (27) it was held by the Madras High Court that where a judgment-creditor gave up his claim against his judgment-debtor and certified satisfaction of his decree, the transaction was not a transfer of property and that neither S. 53 nor the principle underlying it applied to the case so as to enable the creditors of the judgment-creditor to question the transaction. In a later case, (28) however, the same High Court has held that a mortgagee giving up his claim against the mortgagor must be considered to have made a 'gift' of his claim to the mortgagor and that the principle underlying this section can be applied to such transactions. It was argued that the giving up of the claim cannot amount to a reservation to the mortgagee of any benefit and that consequently, it could not be considered a fraudulent transaction. Their Lordships rejected this contention and observed that it was not necessary under S. 53 that the transferor should reserve any benefit to himself. As to the correctness of this observation, see Note 6 of joint family in such way that A's creditors would be defeated. Held, that A retained a benefit to himself and so partition was voidable at the instance of A's creditors,  (1986) 1 Andh LT 392 (397, 398)  AIR 1926 Nag 355 (356).

[See also ILR (1976) 2 Delhi 364 (382-386) (Partition of property under Hindu Law does not amount to a transfer within the meaning of S. 53.)]

22. (1894) 22 Cal 185 (202) (The operation of the Transfer of Property Act is not intended to be confined to transfers by contract.)

Also see S. 5 Note 1.

23. AIR 1973 Mad 309 (1973) 1 Md LJ 264 (Deed of Surrender by a life tenant in favour of the remaindermen under a settlement is not transfer.)

See Note 4 on S. 5.

24. AIR 1938 Oudh 65 (67) (DB) (Relinquishment of his rights by one coparcener in favour of another coparcener.)

See also Note 6.

25. See Note 4 on S. 5.

26. AIR 1965 Mad 337 (338) 77 Mad LW 683 1964 Mad WN 606 (Widow asking for maintenance and simultaneously surrendering her interest in the property — A 1946 All 267 and AIR 1939 Bom 496, Rel. on)  AIR 1939 Bom 496 (500, 501) (Surrender of estate in favour of daughters pending suit by husband's creditor for recovery of debt from estate in widow's hands)  AIR 1936 Nag 166 (167) ILR (1936) Nag 69 (Surrender by widow of her widow's interest.)

[See also AIR 1946 All 267 (267) ILR (1946) All 341 (DB) (Surrender by Hindu widow or other female with limited estate in favour of next reversioner is transfer within S. 7 U.P. Encumbered Estates Act, just as it is under S. 53 T.P. Act)  (1898) 23 Bom 1 (11) (Assignment in favour of son.)]

27. (1909) 2 Ind Cas 523 (DB) (Mad).

28. AIR 1916 Mad 481 (482) (DB).

Waqf.

It has been held by the High Court of Allahabad that a deed of waqf is a "transfer of property" within the meaning of this section, and can be set aside if made in fraud of creditors (29) See also the undermentioned Patna case to a similar effect (30) In the undermentioned case (31) of the Privy Council it was assumed that a wakfnama is a transfer within this section See in this connection Note 3 on S. 5.

Transfer by operation of law.

It has been seen in Note 3 on S. 5 that a Court is not a "living person" and that a transfer in execution of a decree is not a "transfer of property" within the definition of that section Section 2, cl (d) specifically excludes transfers by operation of law or by, or in execution of, a decree of a Court from the operation of the Act This section, therefore, will not in terms apply to such transfers (32) But the principles embodied in the section are in accordance with the general principles of justice, equity and good conscience and, as such, would be applied in the case of such transfers (33)

Collusive decree

Suit by creditor based on pronotes — During its pendency defendant's wife filing fictitious suit against him on pronote without consideration, obtaining collusive decree — Court sale — Wife purchasing the property in execution of the decree obtained collusively and on playing fraud on Court — Would not convey any right in property to her.(34)

Acquiescence in mutation.

Where the owner allowed a third person to apply for mutation on the false allegation of an oral gift and acquiesced in the passing of an order for mutation by stating that he had no objection, it was held by the Chief Court of Oudh that it was a transfer of property within the meaning of this section.(35)

6. Intent to defeat or delay creditors.

A transfer with intent to defeat or delay the creditors of the transferor is, as stated in the marginal note to the section, a "fraudulent transfer" The fraud, for the purpose of this section, consists therefore, in the intention to defeat or delay the creditors of the transferor. As has been seen in Note 2, the right of the creditors, taken as a whole, is that all the property of the debtor should be applied in payment of demands of them or some of them without any portion of it being

29. AIR 1943 All 2 (5) (DB)  AIR 1930 All 462 (465) 52 All 710 (DB)  AIR 1929 All 277 (278) (DB).

30. AIR 1955 Pat 270 (276) : 34 Pat 133 (DB)

31. AIR 1946 PC 177 (177). (Wakfnama alleged to have been made to defeat or delay creditors of settlor — Wakfnama is not revocable by settlor but is only voidable at option of creditors.)

32. AIR 1942 Mad 632 (633) — ILR (1943) Mad 47 (DB)  AIR 1929 All 238 (239) : 51 All 595 (DB). (Transfer by decree of Court)  (1928) 110 Ind Cas 386 (386) (Lah)

33. AIR 1960 Punj 417 (418) — 62 Pun LR 224 (DB)  AIR 1942 Mad 632 (633, 634) — ILR (1943) Mad 47 (DB) (Collusive decree and execution sale — Court can grant relief by applying principles of common law — 10 Cal 616 (PC) and 10 HLC 404, Rel on, AIR 1918 Mad 557 Approved)  AIR 1929 All 238 (239) — 51 All 495 (DB). (Collusive award and decree.)

[See also AIR 1934 Lah 460 (462) — 15 Lah 849 (DB) (Technical provision in S. 2(d) is not binding on Punjab Court.)]

Also see S. 2, Note 6

34. 1996 (3) Andh LT 322 (336)

35. AIR 1938 Oudh 165 (167) (DB).

parted with, without consideration or reserved or retained by the debtor to their prejudice. An intent to defeat or delay the creditors as a whole in the enforcement of this right is what is regarded a fraudulent intent under this section. The intention must be to defeat or delay the creditors generally and not merely one creditor (1) Before Section 53 of Act can be applied, the creditor and plaintiff must come to the Court in the premise that although the transaction was genuine and effective yet it was entered into with intent to delay or defeat the creditors (2) the recitals in a deed of sale of immovable property by the debtor as to the existence of necessity for the alienation such as to discharge sundry debts and meet agricultural expenses cannot be treated as evidence by themselves. The recitals cannot be relied upon without corroborating evidence (3) Think of conveniently discharging his remaining debts. On record to show that the other properties still possessed by the transferor are of considerable value and of easy availability to other creditors to satisfy their demands. Then and then only, the transfer in question could escape the clutches of S. 53(1). (4) The benefit of this section cannot be refused to the defeated and delayed creditor on the ground that at the time of the institution of suit by him the debtor has no other creditor in existence than himself. (5) The primary object of sub-s. (1) is to make the assets of the transferor available to the

Section 53 — Note 6

1. AIR 1966 Mad 247 (252) (1965) 1 Com LJ 1  AIR 1989 (NOC) 4 (1988) 101 Mad LW 441  (1974) 1 Mad LJ 455 (DB)  AIR 1961 Mad 403 (404)  AIR 1958 Mad 580 (582) (Benami transfer entered into with the motive of defeating an impending execution is not hit by S. 53)  AIR 1955 Mad 446 (447) 1955 Mad WN 283  AIR 1947 Cal 154 (155) (DB)  AIR 1930 Mad 665 (668)  AIR 1917 Low Bur 124 (124) (DB)  AIR 1914 Low Bur 180 (181)  (1905-1906) 3 Low Bur Rul 188 (189)  (1901) 25 Bom 202 (224) (DB)  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 1205 (1206) (Low Bur).

[See AIR 1982 All 316 (317) (Where the transfer was made to avoid the taking of property in execution of money decree in money suit, the transfer was fraudulent within the meaning of S. 53.)]

[See also AIR 1955 NUC (Ajmer) 774 (Transfer made substantially for the benefit of creditors or some of them — Is not a transfer 'to defeat or delay creditors' within the meaning of S. 6(b), Provincial Insolvency Act.)]

[But see AIR 1968 Pun 479 (484) ILR (1968) 1 Punj 10 (DB)]

2. AIR 1983 All 440 (442) 1983 All CJ 137 (A suit under O. 21 R. 62 of Civil Procedure Code can be either on basis that judgment-creditor was entitled to proceed against the property notwithstanding, the gift deed executed by judgment-debtor as the same was sham and fraudulent and in that event Section 53 of Act is not at all attracted. The judgment-creditor could also bring a suit on allegation that although, transaction was proper yet the same was executed to delay and defeat the creditor and as such same could be legally avoided by him, in that event Section 53 would in terms apply and must be brought in a representative capacity or for benefit of creditors at large)
3. AIR 1986 Kant 225 (229) : (1985) 2 Kant LJ 389
4. AIR 1986 Kant 225 (229) : (1985) 2 Kant LJ 389
5. AIR 1952 All 226 (227) (FB), (Sole creditor of judgment debtor filing suit under O. 21 R. 63 Civil P. C. for declaration that the sale by the judgment-debtor is in fraud of creditors — Suit as brought is in representative capacity)  AIR 1984 Cal 215 (218, 219) (1984) 1 Cal HN 317  AIR 1973 Ker 125 (127) 1973 Ker LT 31  AIR 1968 Punj 479 (483, 484) . ILR (1968) 1 Punj 10 (DB)  AIR 1967 Ker 171 (171, 172) 1967 Ker LT 8, 10 (Even if plaintiff is only creditor, he can maintain representative suit on behalf of creditors, if any)  AIR 1967 Madh Pra 145 (146) 1966 Jab LJ 258 (AIR 1955 Mad 446 and AIR 1918 Mad 481 (FB), Dissented from)  AIR 1965 Andh Pra 68 (69) (DB) (Section does not contemplate the existence of plurality of creditors for its application)  (1963) 2 Andh LT 224 (226, 227) (There is no distinction between a case where a transferor had a single creditor and a case where he had several creditors.)  AIR 1961 Punj 361 (363)

general body of creditors.(6)

The test, therefore, to see whether a particular transfer is a fraudulent one or not within the meaning of this section, is whether the debtor intended to prejudice the creditors as a whole (a) by parting with his property without consideration or (b) by securing or reserving a benefit to himself. It follows that a transfer cannot be avoided under this section —

(A) where there is no such intention as aforesaid,(7) or

(B) Where the transfer is for consideration and no benefit is secured or reserved to the debtor

In some cases the test was held to be to see whether the transfer was executed as a mere cloak the real intention of the parties being that the ostensible owner should retain the benefit for himself (8) In the undermentioned cases,(9) however, it has been held that this is by no means an exhaustive test. For even if a transaction is not a cloak, if the object of transferor is to convert land into money and thus place it beyond the reach of the creditors, the fraudulent intention is made out. It is submitted that there is really no difference between the two tests. In each case, the debtor gets a benefit of himself and the transaction is to that extent a cloak.

Intention.

The mere fact that a transfer by the debtor has the effect of defeating or delaying the creditors of the transferor is not by itself sufficient to render the transfer voidable as a fraudulent transfer, without proof of intention on the part of the transferor to prejudice the creditors by such transfer (10) As was observed by Fry J. in Golden v. Gullam, (11), a case arising under the statute 13 Eliz. Chap. 5 corresponding to this section, "the statute was not intended to set aside and honest dealing between man and man, which might, nevertheless have the effect of delaying the execution of a creditor."

The intention referred to is not the same thing as the motive in executing the transfer. If defeating or delaying the creditors is intended the motive e.g. of making a provision for the family

(DB)  AIR 1951 Trav-Co 237 (238) ILR (1951) Trav-Co 294 and 788 (DB)  AIR 1939 Sind 97 (99) ILR (1939) Kar 269 (DB)  AIR 1930 Mad 665 (668)  AIR 1917 Pat 448 (449, 450) : 2 Pat LJ 546 (DB).

6. AIR 1960 Punj 417 (418) 62 Pun LR 224 (DB)  AIR 1921 Pat 53 (54) 6 Pat LJ 48 (DB)

[See (1873) 42 LJ Ch 14 (16) LR 14 Eq 184, Cornish v. Clark  (1882) 51 LJ Ch 523 (523) : 19 Ch D 588, Ex parte Russell; In re Butterworth]

[See also AIR 1963 Mys 257 (260) 1963 Mys LJ (Sup) 266 (Relief given under section enures to the benefit of all the creditors though they are not parties to the suit.)]

Also see No. 24

7. AIR 1954 Trav Co 404 (405) 1954 Ker LT 234 (DB)  (1906) 8 Bom LR 110 (114) (DB)  (1904) 28 Bom 364 (369) (DB).
8. AIR 1927 Cal 836 (839, 840) 54 Cal 687 (DB)  (1905) 29 Bom 428 (434) (DB)  (1903) 27 Bom 322 (327) (DB)  1901 Pun Re No. 6 p. 18 (27) (Citing 24 Cal 825)  (1900) 13 CPLR 180 (182, 183)  (1897) 20 Mad 465 (466) (DB).
9. AIR 1918 Cal 82 (85) (DB)  (1907) 34 Cal 999 (1012) (DB)
10. AIR 1965 Mad 395 (398) ILR (1965) 2 Mad 250 (DB) (Landed property disposed of in furtherance of vendor's intention to migrate to Pakistan — Income-tax department assessing him to tax on profits of sale after six years — At time of sale vendor having no debts at all and no facts also available to show an intention to defraud future creditors — Held sale cannot be struck down as fraudulent merely because the I.T. department, a future creditor, has been defeated,)  AIR 1958 Mad 580 (582)  AIR 1955 Pat 270 (276) 34 Pat 133 (DB).
11. (1882) 51 LJ Ch 154 (156) : 20 Ch D 389

of the transferor is immaterial (12) In the undermentioned case(13) it was observed that the intent is the dominant motive or sole object of the transaction and not a mere knowledge that the transfer is likely to prejudice the creditors.

In determining the question whether a transfer has been made with such intent it is essentially necessary that the facts should be considered in relation to each other and weighed as a whole (14) The conduct of the parties prior, contemporaneous and subsequent will be relevant for this pur-

12. (1938) 42 Cal WN 34 (37)

13. (1901) 25 Bom 202 (226) (DB).

14. AIR 1919 PC 6 (8) . 15 Nag LR 68  AIR 1968 Mad 256 (259) (Debtor selling property to one creditor in discharge of debts — Price realised is considerably in excess of debt to be discharged — Intention to defraud creditors has to be inferred .  AIR 1961 Punj 161 (363) (DB)  AIR 1958 Mad 580 (581)  AIR 1955 Pat 270 (276) 54 Pat 13 (DB)  1954 All WR (HC) 565 (569) (Transfer of equity of redemption by mortgagor — Since it cannot affect the rights of mortgagee at all the mere fact that the transfer was made a day before the institution of suit by mortgagee would not make it a fraudulent transaction)  AIR 1954 Nag 129 (134) ILR (1953) Nag 937 (Transfer by sale in favour of father-in-law — Property worth much more than price stated — Consideration being payment of mortgage debt which had not become due — No legal necessity for transfer — Subsequent payment towards mortgage made by transferor who continued in possession — Held, prima facie case of intention to defeat and defraud creditors was made out .  1949 Pepsu LR 198 (204) (DB)  AIR 1943 All 2 (5) (DB) — Where after executing a promissory note for a large sum the executant executes a wakf al-aulad covering the major portion of his property and applies under S. 4 of the U.P. Encumbered Estates Act and shows only two items of property not forming a part of the wakf as his which are not sufficient to meet his debts, these facts are sufficient to show that the intention of the executant of the wakf was to defeat or delay creditors .  AIR 1943 Mad 531 (534) ILR (1944) Mad 133 (DB) (Gift of bulk of the properties to daughter-in-law by a person who is indebted to a considerable extent and is apprehensive of further liabilities without making any provision for any of them — Held, fraudulent intent must be presumed)  AIR 1941 Lah 228 (232) (DB) — Mortgagor being under pressure from earlier mortgagee raising money from another to redeem the mortgage — Property redeemed mortgaged to the lender of the money — No other creditor in existence at the time of the transaction — The latter mortgage cannot be regarded as effected merely to afford protection to the mortgagor or to defeat or delay any creditors — (Case is merely substituting one mortgagee for another)  AIR 1941 Oudh 205 (208) (DB) (Mere fact that transfer is executed without consideration as in case of gift or mere fact that transfer is made merely with intent to defeat anticipated execution is not sufficient to make it fraudulent transfer)  AIR 1937 Rang 51 (52) (DB) — Property attached in execution — Daughter of judgment debtor paying off decretal amount and getting sale deed of released property — Decree holder subsequently obtaining another decree against same judgment debtor — Previous sale could not be set aside as fraudulent and collusive under S. 53)  AIR 1936 Pesh 216 (216) (Judgment-debtor transferring property after issue of execution of Decree to wife — No consideration of dower — No previous attempt to pay dower — No circumstances showing necessity for transfer — Transfer must be deemed to have been made to defraud judgment creditor)  AIR 1936 Nag 166 (168) ILR (1936) Nag 69 (Judgment debtors making gift of property as wahiwardars of a Devasthanam — Registration of the deed after attachment — No evidence to show that the property was dedicated to the Devasthanam — Property described in the deed as judgment debtor's property — Held, deed was made to defeat and delay creditors)  AIR 1927 Nag 166 (167) (Cumulative effect of all facts must be considered)  AIR 1926 Sind 109 (111) (AIR 1919 PC 6 Followed)  AIR 1923 Nag 103 (103)  (1909) 4 Ind Cas 970 (972) (Lah)  (1902) 71 LJ Ch 518 (521) (1902) 2 Ch 360 (372) In re Holland; Gregg v. Holland

See also the following cases : *

pose (15) Where once it is established that the transfer is made with intent to defeat or delay the creditors, its nature is not affected by the fact that subsequently some of the creditors have been fully satisfied.(16)

Where the predominant object of sale was to pay the creditors out of proceeds and the purchaser was unaware of the existence of certain promissory note debts, the payment of all the debts would be a case of fraudulent preference which could be impugned only under the law relating to insolvency and could not be characterised as a fraud on creditors so as to justify the initiation of proceedings u/S 53 of the Act. The sale deed in such case cannot be treated to have been executed with an intent to defeat or delay the creditors of the transferor and the sale should be treated to be one in favour of a bona fide purchaser for value.(17)

Where the wife pleaded that the property settled by her husband in her favour should not be attached as the husband owned other property but could not substantiate it by adducing evidence that in fact he owned other property, the settlement in favour of wife could be inferred to be with intention to defraud creditors of her husband.(18)

Transfer having effect of defeating creditors.

The second paragraph of the old section provided that a transfer may be presumed to have been made with a fraudulent intent, where its effect was to defeat or delay the creditors of the transferor and it was made gratuitously or for a grossly inadequate consideration (19). This was

* AIR 1959 Ker 380 (381) (FB). (Determination of question of good faith — Does not depend on recitals and covenants in the deed alone. Circumstances surrounding transaction as well as the conduct of parties at the time of execution of the deed as well as after that should be taken into account — Facts should be considered in relation to each other and as a whole) * AIR 1960 Punj 548 (549) (DB). (Partition amongst brothers to save joint family property from attachment and sale under decree against one of her brothers who was indebted — Inference of fraudulent intent cannot be made) * AIR 1951 Trav Co 55 (70) — 1950 TCLR 707 (DB). (Transfer otherwise appearing to be fraudulent — Mere fact that there was threat of legal proceedings to the transferor who was hopelessly involved cannot render transfer a bona fide transfer under S 53, Provincial Insolvency Act) * AIR 1938 Oudh 230 (231) (DB). (Oral gift to daughter after the creditor had obtained decree — Intention to defraud was presumed) * AIR 1938 Lah 564 (566) (A. decree holder attaching land of judgment-debtor in execution — One T objecting to the attachment as holder of lease from judgment-debtor — Lease for twenty years and the annual rent to be paid not to the judgment debtor but to his creditors — Latter obtained no decree — No evidence that judgment-debtor gave possession to T or that T actually paid any rent to judgment-debtor's creditor — Held, the deed was executed with intention to defeat and delay creditors) * AIR 1957 Lah 819 (820) (DB). (Person indebted to B and other creditors making gift of property to third person — Subsequent to gift person treating property as his own and few months after mortgaging property to B — Gift held either fictitious or intended to defeat or delay creditors.)

15. AIR 1961 Punj 361 (363) (DB) (Subsequent conduct of vendee in not taking steps to get his name mutated in revenue papers) * AIR 1958 Mad 580 (582)  AIR 1938 Lah 136 (137).

[See however AIR 1941 Mad 188 (191) (DB) (Intention of parties cannot be judged by subsequent events.)]

16. AIR 1941 Rang 76 (77) · 1940 Rang LR 777 (DB) * AIR 1922 All 449 (454) 44 All 748 (DB)
17. AIR 1984 (NOC) 198 (Mad)
18. 2002 (2) Mad LW 263 (266)
19. AIR 1929 All 458 (458, 459) (Transfer without consideration — Other property insufficient to pay the decree-holder — Intention to defeat presumed) * AIR 1928 Pat 199 merely an enactment of a rule of evidence (20) It gave rise to a doubt whether a presumption of fraudulent intent can be made where the transfer was for proper consideration. This paragraph has now been deleted and the matter is left to be determined in each case by the ordinary rules of evidence. One of such rules is that a man must be taken to intend the natural consequences of his acts (21) The Court may therefore, presume a fraudulent intent not only where the transfer is made gratuitously or for a grossly inadequate consideration, (22) but it is conceived, even in cases where the transfer is made for proper consideration. The presumption will, however, be weaker in the latter case than in the former. The Court must, in each case, look to the whole of the circumstances surrounding the transaction and ask itself the question whether the transaction was, in fact, executed with intent to defeat or delay the creditors (23) Where there are suspicious circumstances care must be taken by the Court to rest its decision only upon the legal ground established by legal testimony and not upon suspicion (24)

Where the judgment debtor is aware of the decree, the attachment before judgment and also

(200, 201) (DB)  AIR 1927 All 714 (715) 50 All 137 (DB)  AIR 1927 Lah 420 (420) 8 Lah 544 (DB)  AIR 1927 All 731 (733) (Subsequent transferee defrauded — Original transfer gratuitous — Intent to defraud presumed)  AIR 1922 Pat 72 (574) (DB)  AIR 1919 Pat 181 (183) (DB)  AIR 1914 Oudh 392 (196) 17 Oudh Cas 175  AIR 1914 Low Bur 262 (263) 8 Low Bur Ku 233  (1909) 2 Ind Cas 81 (82) (DB) Mad  (1904) 17 CPLR 24 (27)  (1903) 5 Bom LR 255 (263)  (1901) 25 Bom 202 (223) (DB)  (1887) 11 Bom 666 (677, 678) (DB)

[See also AIR 1919 Oudh 35 (97) (DB)  (1905) 7 Bom LR 267 (270) (DB) (Held the expression "may presume" in the second paragraph of the old S 53 vested the Court with a discretion in the matter and did not impose an obligation to presume an intent to defraud)]

20. (1903) 5 Bom LR 213 (214) (DB)  (1900) 13 CPLR 180 (181)  (1902) 71 Ind Cas 27 (23) (Pesh)

[See (1904) 73 LJP 97 (103) 1904 P 362 (376), Edmunds v. Edmunds]

21. (1870) 39 LJ Ch 689 (690, 691) 5 Ch AIR 538, Freeman v. Pope

22. AIR 1958 Mad 580 (582)  (1870) 39 LJ Ch 689 (690, 691) 5 Ch AIR 538, Freeman v. Pope (On appeal from (1870) 39 LJ Ch 148)  (1886) 55 LJ QB 558 (560, 561) 11 QB 290, Ex parte Mercer, In re Wise  (1882) 52 LJ Ch 343 (345, 346) 22 Ch D 74 (80), In re Ridler, Ridler v. Ridler  (1896) 66 LJ QB 111 (141) 5 LT 166, Telley In re Jeffrey Ex parte  (1936) 40 Cal WN 561 (565) (DB)

[See also AIR 1958 SC 116], (Case under Provincial Insolvency Act, S 53 — Absence of good faith can be presumed when there is no consideration for transfer or it is very inadequate.)

23. AIR 1963 SC 1150 (1156), (Transfer in favour of member of same community — Sale though real and supported by consideration effected at a juncture when the vendor was under great pressure from his creditors for payment and registered at a different place from where disputed property is situate — Sale deed containing no stipulation that the consideration is to be used for payment of creditors — Held that an inference as to the object of the sale being to defeat creditors is justified)  AIR 1962 Andh Pra 94 (103) 11 LR (196) 1 Andh Pra 579 (DB) (Sale deed — Execution and registration at a different place from the one where all previous transactions were effected — Attestation also by persons of the place of registration — No schedule of property furnished and registration also entered in Book 4 thereby preventing others from getting information — Held all these facts indicated the motive of executing document was to delay or defeat creditors)  AIR 1961 Punj 361 (363) (DB)  AIR 1950 Ajmer 41 (41)  (1936) 164 Ind Cas 933 (934) (DB) (Lah) attachment in the execution case and still sells the suit property, the transfer is intended to defeat and delay the creditors. There was also no passing of consideration. The private sale embarked upon by the judgment-debtor was hit by his pendency and no title can pass on the vendee (25). A lessor having knowledge of the fact that only two days thereafter he will cease to be a lessor of which the lessee also had knowledge cannot execute a lease deed for a period subsequent to his ceasing to be the lessor and no reliance can be placed by the lessee on such a document and the transferee is not bound by the lease deed which is outcome of fraud (26).

24. AIR 1961 Punj 361 (363) (DB)  AIR 1960 Pun 548 (549) (DB)  AIR 1950 Ajmer 41 (41)

Where it was found that the sale of the assets of the company was effected for the purpose of discharging the debts payable by company and it is also found that the consideration was not inadequate, sale was not fraudulent. It is immaterial that the transfer was effected in favour of a person who was not a creditor. (27)

Voluntary or gratuitous transfer.

A "voluntary" conveyance under the English law is really a "gratuitous" transfer referred to in the second paragraph of the old section and denotes a transfer made without valuable consideration. A transfer in consideration of natural love and affection is a voluntary or gratuitous transfer (28). A voluntary transfer cannot be said ipso facto to be a fraudulent transfer (29). If it is made bona fide it will be valid against the creditors (30). If it has the effect of defeating or delaying existing creditors, it may be presumed to have been made to defeat or delay them (31). As regards subsequent creditors, even the fact that the transfer resulted in defeating or delaying them is not sufficient to raise this presumption (32). It is further necessary to show that the transferor, at the time of the transfer, was indebted to others and was unable to meet his liabilities (33) or that he embarked, soon after the transfer, on some hazardous business, enterprise or speculation (34). If

25. 1999 (3) Kant LJ 193 (211).

26. AIR 1982 All 215 (217) : 1982 All WC 127.

27. AIR 1986 SC 1748 (1750) : (1986) 3 SCC 426.

28. AIR 1919 Oudh 95 (97) (DB)  1912 Pun Re 74 : 14 Ind Cas 232 (234) (DB)

29. ILR (1962) 12 Raj 517 (521)  AIR 1950 Ajmer 41 (41)  AIR 1941 Oudh 205 (208) (DB). (Deed of gift)  (1816) 56 ER 152 (154) : 1 Mad 414. Holloway v. Millard  (1748) 27 ER 934 (938) : 1 Ves Sen 127. Peacock v. Monk (Voluntary transfer is void under 13 Eliz., Ch. 5 only if fraud is proved.)

30. AIR 1965 Mad 395 (397) : ILR (1965) 2 Mad 250 (DB)  (1868-1869) 4 Mad HCR 84 (88) (DB)

31. See AIR 1965 Ker 288 (291) : 1965 Ker LT 341 (Gift by father to sons of large portion of property — Part retained by donor very small and utterly inadequate to satisfy decree that would be passed in an impending suit — Finding that transfer was with intent to defeat or delay plaintiff and other creditors — No error of law.)

32. (1900) 69 LJQB 722 (724) : (1900) 2 QB 508. Lane Fox. In re Gimblett Ex parte  (1977) 1 All ER 200. Cadogan v. Cadogan  (1864) 46 ER 649 (653) : 3 De CJ & Sm 293 (302, 303), Spirett v. Willows

33. AIR 1933 Rang 252 (253)  AIR 1930 Lah 217 (218)  AIR 1927 Lah 420 (421) : 8 Lah 544 (DB) (Per Tek Chand J)  AIR 1914 All 424 (426) (DB)  (1945) 26 ER 61 (61) : 1 Atk 94, Walker v. Burrows.

[See also AIR 1941 Oudh 178 (179) (DB) (All creditors existing on date of deed paid off before suit by subsequent creditor — No borrowing for 3 years after the date of deed — These facts negative though not conclusively the inference of fraudulent intention)]

[But see (1910) 33 Mad 205 (207) (DB) (Second paragraph was held to apply in favour of subsequent creditors also — No question of indebtedness was adverted to)]

34. AIR 1933 Rang 252 (253).

that is shown the presumption will arise.(35) for ordinarily a voluntary conveyance cannot be bona fide when the transferor is largely indebted at the time (36) Every man ought to be just before he is generous (37) But when the debtor has no debts and is not in any embarrassed circumstances, the execution of a voluntary transfer in consideration of natural love and affection cannot be held to be in fraud of subsequent creditors.(38)

Transfer for inadequate consideration.

Under the second paragraph of the old section a transfer for grossly inadequate consideration was regarded as being one on the same footing as a gratuitous transfer. Where the consideration was not so inadequate as to be gross no presumption was raised against good faith (39) In the undermentioned case (40) Mitter, J., held that where the inadequacy of the price in a transaction is not so great as to shock the moral sense, such inadequacy, by itself, was no evidence of fraud, but that it was otherwise where the inadequacy was so great as to shock the conscience.

In cases of mortgage it cannot be said that consideration is inadequate or grossly inadequate, because a mortgage can be executed for any amount regardless of the value of the property. Consequently, the presumption referred to in the second paragraph of the old section was held not to arise in such cases (41) As has been seen already, the deletion of the second paragraph of the old section will now enable the Court to apply the ordinary rules of evidence in all cases and inadequacy of consideration may, under circumstances, be considered as evidence of fraud (42)

Transfer reserving benefit to transferor.

A transfer intended to reserve a benefit to the debtor to the prejudice of the creditors must be held to have been made with intent to defeat or delay the creditors (43) Thus, where a trust was

35. (1816) 56 ER 152 (154) : 1 Mad 414. Holloway v. Millard . (1738) 26 ER 9 (10) : 1 Atk 13. Russell v. Hammond

36. (1949) 1 Pepsu LR 198 (204) (DB) . (1919) 88 LJKB 679 (683) : (1919) 1 KB 583. Denny & Trustee v. Denny . (1892) 16 Bom 1 (14) . (1856) 69 ER 1043 (1046) : 3 K & J 110. Barrack v. McCulloch . (1840) 173 ER 991 (992) : 9 Car & P 640. Riches v. Evans

37. (1870) 39 LJ Ch 689 (690) : 5 Ch D 538. Freeman v. Pope (Affirming the decision in (1870) 39 LJ Ch 148) . (1817) 56 ER 386 (393) : 17 RR 226. Copin v. Middleton . (1758) 28 ER 647 (648) : Amb 596, Partridge v. Gopp

38. AIR 1965 Mad 395 (397) : ILR (1965) 2 Mad 250 (DB) . ILR (1962) 12 Raj 512 (52) . AIR 1946 Lah 222 (224) (DB) : (Gift to wife to provide for her future maintenance) . AIR 1927 Lah 420 (421) : 8 Lah 544 (DB) : (Voluntary settlement in favour of children for natural love and affection) . (1902) 36 Bom 577 (585) . (1750) 28 ER 1000 : 2 Ves 10. Townshend Lord v. Windham.

39. AIR 1924 Nag 124 (125) . (1902) 26 Bom 543 (549-550) (DB) . (1901) 25 Bom 202 (225) (DB) . (1912) 18 Ind Cas 691 (692) (DB) (Mad) . (1900) 33 CPlR 80 (185) [See also AIR 1957 Mad 630 (631) : (1957) 2 Mad LJ 414. No evidence to show that consideration was shockingly low — Other evidence showing that at best the consideration was half the real value of the property and about one-fourth at the worst — Held, it was a case where the doctrine of lucky purchase applied] . (1866) 6 Suth WR 30 (33) (DB).]

40. (1936) 40 Cal WN 561 (565) (DB).

41. AIR 1931 Lah 213 (215) . (1910) 9 Ind Cas 1018 (1019) (Lah)

42. AIR 1955 NUC (Mad) 3169 . AIR 1941 Oudh 457 (463) : 16 Luck 832 (DB) . (1911) 10 Ind Cas 922 (924) (Burma) : (Sale of property for inadequate consideration immediately after a decree was passed against — Fraudulent intention was inferred)

[See also (1817) 56 ER 386 (392) : 17 RR 226. Copin v. Middleton.]

43. AIR 1944 Nag 44 (52) : ILR (1944) Nag 342 (FB). (Partition between A and B, members of joint family — A assigned properties which A's creditors would not be able to touch made for the benefit of all such creditors as were willing to accept the terms of the debtor and the debtor retained a benefit for himself, it was held that the trust must be taken to have been made with intent to defeat or delay the creditors (44) But when a transfer is not intended as a cloak or device for the protection of the transferor against the claims of creditors, it cannot be impeached as fraudulent (45) Thus, where a person executes a trust deed of all his properties with the chief object of paying off all his creditors, the deed cannot be said to be fraudulent even though one of the objects with which the deed was executed is to avoid the Court of Wards taking over the estate (46) So also where a person bona fide parts with all control over his property, it is not fraudulent, even though the deed contains a provision that if anything remains after the payment to existing creditors it should be applied for the benefit of the transferor or his children (47)

Where the sale deed was supported by inadequate consideration and it was executed only nominally for a collateral purpose and with a view to stave off creditors with the express understanding that the properties sold would be reconveyed to the vendors after the pressure of the creditors

B given his rightful share — Held, object of partition was not merely to give B his share but to effect the partition in such a way that A would be able to defeat and delay his creditors and keep the property to himself — A retained a benefit to himself and therefore partition was liable to be set aside at instance of A's creditors)  AIR 1966 Mad 247 (252) (1965) 1 Com LJ 1  AIR 1961 Mad 403 (404) (1961) 1 Mad LJ 235 (Agricultural debtor selling his only property pending execution of a money decree and retaining the balance after discharging a mortgage debt)  AIR 1952 Nag 106 (110) ILR (1953) Nag 684  AIR 1927 Cal 836 (839) 54 Cal 687 (DB)  (1854) 139 ER 169 (172) 2 Cur & Kir 452 Graham v Furber , 1903) 72 LJKB 237 (240) (1903) 1 KB 671 Maskelyne v Smith (Transfer ostensibly in favour of creditors but really intended to benefit the debtor)

[See also AIR 1943 Nag 129 (13) ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB) (Sale to one of the creditors with further agreement by the vendee to reconvey on payment of whatever would be found due to him (creditor) after credit for the profits from the property had been given provided the other creditors settled their claim — Arrangement is not illegal although it might give other creditors the rights to avoid the transfer under S. 53 because it would be possible to argue that the debtor had retained a benefit for himself)  (1899) 23 Bom 1 (11). (Transfer to protect property from creditors)]

[See however AIR 1918 Mad 377 (378) (DB) (A transfer of immovable property which is not bona fide and is effected so as to defraud creditors is void though the transferor secures no benefit thereby.)]

44. (1878) 48 LJQB 204 (206) : 4 QBD 13. Spencer v. Slater

[See also AIR 1941 Cal 233 (236) (DB) (Trust deed intended to be a cloak for shielding property from creditors and benefiting the debtors)]

45. AIR 1938 Cal 818 (821) (DB) (A trust created by the debtor for the payment of his creditors)  AIR 1916 Cal 404 (405) (DB)

[See also AIR 1941 Mad 188 (191) (Members of Christian family by agreement making arrangement for payment of creditors and incidentally making small provision for religious purposes — Dedication held real and not made to defeat or delay creditors)]

46. AIR 1923 Oudh 80 (87) : 25 Oudh Cas 291 (DB).

47. (1857) 26 LJ Ch 179 (182) : 3 Kay & J 90. Holmes v. Penney

[See also (1904) 28 Bom 364 (369) (DB) (Substantial part of property assigned in trust for creditors — Rest was retained for benefit of debtor — Facts proved not showing that debtor even contemplated bankruptcy or wished to give undue preference to certain creditors over others — Composition binds old creditors including those who had not signed the deed as it is one for benefit of all of them — One of such creditors suing to avoid the deed is not doing so for and on behalf of all the creditors and cannot invoke S. 53 of this Act)]

tors had subdued, the transaction of sale would be vitiated and no relief in equity could be granted to vendees even if some of the amounts paid by the vendees to some of the creditors of vendor was genuine. (48)

Again, a settlement for consideration with the object of protecting the property from the extravagant habits of the settlor cannot be said to be fraudulent (49). In the undermentioned case (50) a family arrangement was come to by which some property was given to A and some cash to B in order to protect the property from the profligate habits of B. It was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that the transaction was not of fraud upon subsequent creditors. The mere fact that the debtor retains some interest in the property transferred will not make the transaction fraudulent as a matter of law but will be a piece of evidence showing a fraudulent intent (51).

Indebtedness of transferor on date of transfer.

Evidence of indebtedness of the transfer subsisting on the date of the transfer is relevant to show an intention to defeat or delay the creditors (52). It is strong badge of fraud in the case of a

48. AIR 1982 SC 84 (95, 96) : 1982 UJ (SC) 326.

49. AIR 1938 Ouch 65 (68) (DB) (Son profligate. Transfer to grandson to save property is not fraudulent.)  (1919) 88 LJKB 679 (683) (1919) 1 KB 583. Denny's Trustees v Denny (Transfer of property to father by person of extravagant and dissolute habits to save himself from moral and financial ruin)  (1896) 66 LJ QB 111 (114) 75 LT 166. In re Tetley v Jeffery Ex parte

50. (1884) 6 All 560 (572) : 11 Ind App 164 (PC).

51. AIR 1958 Mad 586 (582)  (1902) 7 LJKB 476 (478) (1902) 2 KB 158. Mask Lacey v Smith. Spencer v Slater (1888) 48 LJ QB 204. Dissented from.  (1907) 76 and 77 Cal 623 (624) (Cal)

52. ILR (1966) 1 Mad 114 (119)  AIR 1965 Mad 395 (397) (1965) 1 Mad LJ 59 (DB) (Mara tides can be presumed in such cases. But not so in cases where there is no indebtedness at the time of transfer)  AIR 1961 Punj 361 (363) (DB)  AIR 1958 Mad 586 (583)  AIR 1955 NUC (Mad) 3169  (1860) 14 Moo PC 121 (136) 15 ER 251. Corlett v Radcliffe (Deed by debtor in State of insolvency)  AIR 1944 All 325 (326) (DB) (No transaction should be assumed fictitious or fraudulent — In the absence of evidence as to the extent of debts and assets of property, cannot be concluded that a transaction is fraudulent)  AIR 1919 Cal 984 (2) (985) (DB)  1911 Pun LR No 62 p 263 (270) (DB) (But a settlement made in favour of mother of a very small portion when the son was not at the time seriously embarrassed cannot be said to be fraudulent)  1896 All WN 123 (123) (DB)  (1872) 41 LJ Ch 539 (541) 14 Eq 106. Mackay v Douglas  (1871) 40 LJ Ch 480 (485) 12 Eq 158. Crossley v F. Worth (Voluntary settlement by person involved in heavy speculations)  1867 7 Stoh WR 553 (513) (DB)  (1867) 15 WR (Eng) 919 (920) 4 Eq 390. Smith v Cherrill  (1864) 3 De GJ & Sm 293 (302) 46 ER 649 (653). Spirrett v Willows (The fact that the settlor retains money enough to pay debts but does not actually pay them does not make any difference)  (1861) 70 ER 807 (811) 1 J & H 416 (422). Acraman v Corbett (Marriage settlement when husband was heavily in debt and pressed by creditors — Held, there was intention to defeat or delay creditors)  (1857) 26 LJ Ch 79 (180) 3 K & J 90. Homes v Pender  (1856) 25 LJ Ch 338 (339) 3 Drew 419. Jenkyn v Vaughan  (1855) 25 LJ Ch 612 (614) 6 De GM & G 95. French v French (Transfer by trader in insolvent circumstances) (1841) 174 ER 426 (429) Cur & M 97. Jackson v Bowley  (1840) 9 LJ Ch 241 (243) 50 RR 193. Townsend v Westcott  (1822) 37 ER 958 (960) Jac 552. Richardson v Smallwood voluntary settlement.(53) But such indebtedness would not per se establish a fraudulent intent (54) The terms of sub-section (1) are satisfied even if the transfer does not defeat the creditors but only delays them. The fact, therefore, that the entire property of the debtor was not sold but only a part of it was sold cannot by itself negative the applicability of sub-section (1) (55) Where, however, at the time of the transfer, the transferor has other property sufficient to satisfy his creditors the transaction cannot be said to be with intent to defeat or delay the creditors (56) In the undermentioned

[See also AIR 1937 Rang 27 (28) 14 Rang 748 (DB) (Insolvent heavily indebted and pressed by his creditors transferring substantial part of his property to his relative — False circulation by him of his inability to pay to creditors — Transfer is fraudulent and must be set aside)  (1856) 52 ER 1078 (1080) 22 Beav 184 (185) Deering v White (Voluntary settlement — Remaining assets not sufficient to pay debts — Held, on facts there could be no inference that the settlement was made with intent to defeat or delay creditors)

53. AIR 1965 Ker 288 (291) 1965 Ker LT 341 (Gift of large portion of property to sons — Donor retaining only a portion absolutely inadequate to satisfy a final decree which is about to be passed in a pending suit — Finding of intent to delay or defeat creditors is justified in law)  1911 Pun LR No. 62 p. 263 (270) (DB)  (1877) 98 ER 1318 (1321) Doed Watson v. Routledge.

[See also (1956) 2 All ER 537 (544) (Debtor on brink of bankruptcy making payment to one of his creditors voluntarily — Object of debtor to give an advantage to a friend of his and to some extent to himself — Held it was fraudulent and void against trustee in bankruptcy)  (1955) 2 Mad LJ 380 (381) (Insolvency case — Amount due to scheduled creditors Rs. 38000 — Assets available for unsecured creditors only about Rs. 400) — Insolvent paying to one creditor an amount — Coupled with other facts in the case it was held that the payment was fraudulent.)]

54. AIR 1958 Mad 580 (583)  AIR 1950 Bom 247 (249) (DB) (Debt incurred by father for purpose binding on sons — Suit by creditor — Partition of joint family property cannot be regarded as fraudulent merely because it took place during the pendency of creditor's suit)  AIR 1950 Pesh 11 (13) (Donor indebted at the time of making gift — Mere indebtedness not sufficient to prove fraudulent intention — Person challenging must bring some more material on record to prove guilty intention of donor)  AIR 1938 Lah 136 (137) (It must be proved that at the time of transfer motive for the transaction was to defeat or delay the creditors)  189 Pun Re No. 38, p. 186 (189)  (1892-1896) 2 Upp Bur Rul 315 (317)

[See also AIR 1941 Lah 228 (232) 43 PLR 128 (DB) (Property under mortgage redeemed by obtaining money from another and mortgaging it to him — No other creditor in existence at the time of transaction — Mortgage cannot be regarded as one intended to afford protection to the mortgagor or to delay or defeat creditors)  (1912) 15 Ind Cas 509 (511) (Oudh) (Transfer made to defeat an anticipated attachment — Fact by itself is not sufficient to show fraudulent intent.)]

55. AIR 1963 SC 1150 (1156) : (1964) 1 SCJ 168.

56. AIR 1963 SC 1150 (1156) : (1964) 1 SCJ 168  AIR 1968 Mad 256 (259)  AIR 1966 Assam 36 (37) ILR (1965) 17 Assam 291  AIR 1965 Mad 395 (397) ILR (1965) 2 Mad 250 (DB)  AIR 1952 Nag 106 (110) ILR (1953) Nag 684  AIR 1934 Rang 308 (309)  AIR 1928 All 476 (479) (DB) (Mortgaged property was sufficient to satisfy mortgage debt — Mortgagor gifted non-mortgaged property — Gift cannot be said to be with a view to defeat mortgagee)  AIR 1923 Nag 334 (335, 336)  AIR 1919 Pat 236 (237) (DB)  AIR 1918 Cal 82 (87) (DB)  AIR 1914 Lah 108 (110)  (1904) 17 CPLR 24 (29)  1896 All WN 123 (123) (DB)  (1889) 13 Bom 297 (300, 301) (DB)  (1880) 2 All 891 (895) (DB) (Fact that property reserved to the debtor for payment to the creditors is not within the jurisdiction in which the creditors reside is too insignificant to stamp the transfer with fraud.)  (1869) 1 Suth WR 21 (21) (DB).

[See also AIR 1965 Ker 288 (291) (Gift of large portion of property when a final decree against donor is imminent in a pending suit — Property left with donor inadequate to satisfy decree — Finding of intent to defeat or delay creditor is justified) — AIR 1936 Lah 593 (593), (Gift of small portion by insolvent more than two years before adjudication — Property at date of gift considerable — Gift held was not fraudulent with object of defeating creditors.)] case(57) it was held that even a presumption of fraudulent intent cannot be made from the indebtedness of the transferor. It is submitted that this view is not correct. If it is a relevant piece of evidence tending to show a fraudulent intent, it is not clear why a presumption, however weak it may be, cannot be made against the transferor.

Absence of indebtedness.

Where a simple mortgage was executed by a judgment-debtor at the time of receiving prize amount of chitty, such amount is not debt, such transaction could not be relied upon for taking plea that judgment-debtor was already indebted while executing sale-deed and that such sale deed was hit by S. 53.(58)

Transfer of all the properties of the transferor.

A transfer by a person indebted at the time of all his properties is evidence of an intention to defeat or delay his creditors.(59) though under particular circumstances the transfer may not even in such a case, be fraudulent. Thus, where a person indebted at the time transferred all his properties in favour of the children of the first wife at the time of his second marriage and in consideration of

57. (1937) 171 Ind Cas 735 (735) (Lah)

58. AIR 1998 Ker 139 (145) : 1997 (2) Ker LT 610

59. ILR (1966) 1 Mad 114 (119)  AIR 1966 Punj 361 (363) (DB)  AIR 1960 Mad 536 (537) (Conveyance of all properties to wife under ante marriage settlement is fraudulent)  AIR 1958 Mad 580 (583)  AIR 1956 Andhra 218 (226) (DB)  AIR 1955 SC (Mad) 2169  (1949) 1 Pepsu LR 198 (204) (DB)  (1940) 42 Punj LR 3 (6) 7 (DB) (Person in embarrassed circumstances transferring all properties excepting those that are immune from attachment and sale)  AIR 1937 Lah 847 (848), (Gift by debtor of his entire attachable and saleable property)  AIR 1939 Alir 278 (280) (DB) (Transfer of the property in favour of a relation after the creditor had obtained a decree — Transfer for half market value — Intention to defeat the creditor presumed)  AIR 1938 Rang 588 (DB)  (1899) 68 LJQB 287 (293) (1899) 1 QB 611 (612) (see Heath  849 Pun Re No 86 p. 232 (233)  (1869) 17 WR (Eng) 601 (602) 7 Eq 347 Reese v. River Silver Mining Co v Atwell  (1864) 11 South WR 41 (41) (DB)  (1856) 52 ER 957 (958) 959) 21 Beav 511 (515) 516) Bott v. Smith (Transfer in favour of son for inadequate consideration.)

(See also AIR 1960 Mad 536 (537) (Marriage settlement — Transferring all property of indebted settlor — Grantee charged with notice of fraud)  AIR 1956 Punj 46 (48) (Partition between husband and wife — Husband heavily indebted — All tangible property given to wife and husband retaining only property of flimsy character — Fraudulent intent inferred)  AIR 1951 Ah 445 (447) 448 (DB) (Transfer by mortgagor of his other property when mortgaged property is not sufficient to satisfy mortgage debt can indicate an intention to delay or defeat creditors)  AIR 1948 Nag 110 (115) ILR (1947) Nag 510 (DB) (Partition by coparceners when family was heavily in debts — No provision for payment of debts — Notwithstanding such deed parties acting as members of joint family — Deed held fraudulent)  AIR 1947 Mad 303 (304) (Partition between father and sons — No property allotted to father who was indebted heavily — Sons undertake to pay father's debts — Partition must be held to be fraudulent as creditors not being parties cannot enforce it against sons)  AIR 1946 Sind 137 (140) ILR (1946) Kar 14 (Joint Hindu family — Father A and son B partitioning joint family property — Subsequently B who was heavily in debts selling his as well as his son C's share in part of property to A without legal necessity — A then devising property absolutely to C — Transfer by B held fraudulent)  AIR 1943 All 2 (5) (DB) (Where after executing a promissory note for a large sum the executant executes a wakf covering the major portion of his estate it was held that these facts were sufficient to show that the intention of the executant of the wakf was to defeat or delay creditors)  (1912) 14 Ind Cas 40 (44) (DB) (Lah) (Fictitious transaction made in fraud of creditors.)

being permitted to do so by the relations of the first wife, it was held that the transfer was not fraudulent (60).

Relationship of parties.

The mere fact that the transferor and the transferee are relations does not necessarily show an intention on the part of the transferor to defeat or delay the creditors (61) or bad faith on the part of the transferee (62) though the fact may be material as evidence of a bad faith (63). Where a person sold the property to a member of the same community to which he belonged and well known to him at a time when the vendor was under pressure for payment from his creditors, it was held by the Supreme Court that the vendor might have chosen such a vendee in order to keep the transaction secret from the creditors (64).

The father in instant case gifted property to his son in order to evade effecting of recovery of dues by Excise Dept., as arrears of land revenue by attaching and selling the property. The son filed a suit for declaration that he is the owner of the property and for injunction restraining the Govt. from attachment and sale of the property. Held that the suit was not maintainable in view of S 53. (65)

Mutation in favour of near relative.

Where the mutation of immovable property was made fraudulently in favour of the son of the

60. AIR 1917 Mad 484 (484) (DB)

61. AIR 1958 Mad 580 (582)  AIR 1939 Lah 438 (439) (DB) (Transfer made to settle debt created by money advanced previously by transferee — Transfer cannot be said to be fraudulent merely because transferee is related to transferor)  AIR 1938 Sind 215 (217) 1 ILR (1939) Kar 136 (DB)  AIR 1930 Rang 27 (29) 7 Rang 477 (DB) (The fact that a debtor transfers at the time when he is heavily indebted the whole of his property to his sister is not by itself a sufficient reason for avoiding the transfer it in fact the transfer is made bona fide and for valuable consideration)  AIR 1925 Rang 227 (228) 3 Rang 71  AIR 1914 Low Bur 180 (182) (But it is a suspicious circumstance)  (1818) 56 ER 386 (391-392) 17 RR 226 Copis v Middleton (Fraud cannot be imputed merely because a man has sold property to his nephew)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 1018 (1019) (Lah)

[See also AIR 1935 Pesh 168 (170) (A mere transfer of property in favour of a relation would not per se amount to an intention to defeat or delay creditors even if it affects a substantial portion of the debtor's estate in the absence of proof that the debtor owes a large sum of money and that he is financially embarrassed and is therefore likely to take the property out of the reach of his creditors.)]

62. AIR 1950 Kutch 57 (58)

[See AIR 1914 Lah 108 (110) (DB)]

63. AIR 1961 Punj 361 (363) (DB)  AIR 1928 PC 139 (143) : 51 Mad 349  AIR 1958 Mad 580 (582)  AIR 1955 NUC (Mad) 3169  AIR 1950 Kutch 57 (58) (Transfer made to daughter — Facts of case showing the transfer to be without need — Transfer made in anticipation of decree in pending suit against transferor — Relationship of transferee to transferor becomes significant) (1949) 1 Pepsu LR 198 (204) (DB) (Transfer by way of gift of entire property to close relations during pendency of creditor's suit — Fraud is apparent.)  AIR 1924 Mad 779 (780) (DB)  (1868) 10 Suth WR 445 (445) (DB)  (1913) 21 Ind Cas 333 (334) (Burma).

[See also (1955) 2 Mad LJ 380 (381) AIR 1955 NUC 5365 (Insolvency — Relationship of debtor with preferred creditor however distant it may be is not without significance when deciding whether the impugned payment amounted to fraudulent preference — Fact of absence of any compelling reason would stamp the payment as fraudulent)]

64. AIR 1963 SC 1150 (1155).

65. 2000 (1) RCR 221 (224) (P and H)  2000 (124) Pun LR 706 (708)

real owner without any document of title, with the object of depriving the victim of accident from realising the compensation from the owner: direction was issued that the land may be brought to sale in execution of the order granting compensation to the victim. The son could not object to attachment of property.(66)

Consideration, a barred debt.

The fact that the consideration for the transfer is a barred debt may be some evidence of a fraudulent intent but not strong evidence.(67)

Value of property transferred.

In considering whether a deed was executed with a fraudulent intent, it is material to consider the relative value of the property sold to the amount of the creditors' demands at the time (68)

Possession with transferor.

Where the property transferred continues in the possession of the transferor after the date of the transfer, the value of the inference to be drawn therefrom will vary according to the nature of the property and the deed.(69) and other circumstances of the case. In the case of movables such continuance was, in England, held to be a badge of fraud, where it was inconsistent with the transfer (70) but not where it was consistent with it (71). In the undermentioned cases (72) such contra-

66. AIR 1999 Bom 22 (25) ; 1998 (4) Bom CR 490

67. AIR 1957 Rang 471 (47) ; (Obiter)  AIR 1936 Sind 284 (286) (DB)  (1907) 17 M 111 (11) (DB)

[See also (1825) 25 LJ Ch 232 (234) ; 5 De GM & G 547. Goldsmith v Russell : Settlement in favour of wife and children expressed for consideration — Consideration found illusory and the transaction not bona fide — Held, it was void against creditors of the settlor under 13 Eliz. Ch. 5.]

68. (1805) 102 ER 1283 (1295) ; 6 East 257. Dewey v Boyntinn

69. AIR 1958 Mad 580 (581) (Subsequent to sale possession remaining with vendor — Conveyance held to be fraudulent.)  (1900) 13 CPLR 180 (185)

[See also AIR 1958 Pat 434 (436) ; 57 Pat 658 (DB) (Question of benami — Motive for transaction, relationship of parties, payment of consideration, custody of documents and possession over property are material facts)  AIR 1952 Nag 66 (67) ; 11 R 1953 Nag 684 (Transfer for dower — Property continued to be managed by husband as agent or manager of wife who was partitioning lady of a high family — Transfer void as sham or fraudulent transaction)  AIR 1954 Nag 129 (131) ; 11 R 1953 Nag 93 (DB) (Transfer by sale in favour of father-in-law — Property worth much more than price received — Consideration being payment of mortgage debt which had value for the father-in-law — No necessity for alienation — Subsequent payments towards mortgage made by transferors who continued in possession — Story of lease not believed — Held, that prima facie case of intention to defeat and defraud creditors was made out — Transfer held not in good faith or for consideration)  AIR 1962 Pat 160 (165) (DB) (Benami transaction — Tests usually taken into consideration are custody of title deeds, possession of property, motive and relationship)  1960 MPLJ 1029 (1030) (DB) (No evidence on record to show payment of consideration — Vendor admittedly continuing to be in possession of property — Held sale was sham.)]

70. (1832) 110 ER 186 (183) ; 3 B & Ad 498. Martindale v Booth  (1818) 106 ER 366 (317) ; 2 B & Ald 134. Robinson v M'Donnell  (1817) 129 ER 609 (611) ; 8 Taunt 838. Jezeph v Ingram  (1813) 128 ER 669 (671) ; 5 Taunt 217. Reid v Blakes  (1795) 70 ER 329 (330) ; 1 Esq 205. Pigot v Perchard  (1808) 170 ER 976 (976) ; 1 Com 335. Wardell v Smith  (1788) 100 ER 315 (326) ; 1 ER 538. Edwards v Hohen  (1785) 100 ER 319 (320) ; 2 TR 594n. Barnford v Baron  (1601) 76 ER 806 (812) ; 84 S.C. (10th Ed.) 1 (3). Twyne's case.

71. (1872) 110 ER 180 (183) ; 3 B & Ad 498. Martindale v. Booth

72. (1817) 129 ER 609 (611) ; 8 Taunt 838. Jezeph v Ingram  (1813) 105 ER 94 (95) ; 1 M & S 251. Leonard v Baker  (1813) 128 ER 555 (556) ; 4 Taunt 823. Watkins v Brich ance of possession was, in the particular circumstances of the case held not to raise any presumption of fraud.

Transfer for consideration without reserving benefit to debtor.

Where a transfer is for consideration and there is no intent to reserve any benefit to the debtor then the transfer cannot be attacked as fraudulent under this section. It is good against the creditors even though the transferor intended thereby to defeat an impending execution (73). The reason is that the fraud contemplated by the section is an intent to defeat the creditors generally and not a particular creditor.

7. Benami transactions not necessarily fraudulent.

Benami transactions are very familiar in Indian practice. (1) They are not necessarily fraudulent. A plea that a transfer is benami is not equivalent to a plea that the transfer is fraudulent. (2) The word "Benami" really denotes two class of transactions which differ from each other in their legal character and instance. They may be called as "benami" and "sham".

The benami transaction is one which evidences an operative and valid transfer resulting in the passing of title in the transferee, whereas in the sham transaction there is no valid transfer of interest, though ostensibly the deed incorporating the transaction seeks to clothe the transferee with the title in the property. Sham transaction takes place inter alia, when there is no consideration for the transfer. In such case if the transferor wants to assail the validity of the transaction, he shall have to seek cancellation of the document because so long as the document stands the transferee would remain clothed with the title to the property. In case of benami transaction however what happens is that the document has legal effect being perfectly valid document in the sense that if it be a sale deed the same having been executed on the passing of consideration but the question involved is who is the person who is the true owner of the property. Whether it is the transferee named in the deed of somebody else the transferee being a benami. In such a case the aggrieved person does not demand, indeed would not demand, cancellation of the sale deed because if the deed would be cancelled, he as well would not be clothed with any right, title or interest over the property which had been the subject-matter of the sale deed. This would be directly against his interest inasmuch as he wants to derive right title and interest over the property on the strength of the concerned sale deed itself but wants a declaration that it is he who had derived title and not the person named as transferee in the document. On the other hand in the case of sham transaction (loosely called as benami transaction), the aggrieved person may, in some cases require cancellation of the deed where the transaction is of voidable nature. In sham transaction there is no operative transfer and

73. AIR 1934 Mad 587 (592)  AIR 1930 Mad 655 (667, 668)

[See AIR 1944 Mad 381 (383); ILR (1945) Mad 138 (DB) (Where a partition between father and sons is fair and in accordance with the proper shares of the parties it is not liable to be impeached under S. 53, although it was entered into with a view to prevent attachment of the sons' shares in execution of decrees obtained against the father after the partition and was in that sense mala fide)]

Section 53 — Note 7

1. AIR 1960 SC 213 (219) : 39 Pat 186  AIR 1921 PC 56 (57) : 48 Cal 260  AIR 1918 PC 137 (139)  (1887) 15 Cal 20 (23) : 14 Ind App 127 (PC)  1958 Ker LT 902 (904) (System is prevalent both amongst Hindus and Mohamedans)  AIR 1927 Cal 140 (144) (DB)  AIR 1924 Cal 467 (470) (DB)  AIR 1923 Cal 228 (230) (DB)  (1877) 1 All 403 (410) (DB) (Ismtarzi transactions)  (1871) 7 Beng LR 720 (727) (DB)  (1867) 7 Suth WR 138 (140) (DB) (Benami transaction is a custom of the country)
2. AIR 1949 Cal 204 (206) (Real intention of parties should be examined to declare a benami document as fraudulent)  AIR 1916 PC 238 (240) : 44 Cal 662  (1866) 6 Suth WR 283 (285) (DB) (Taking a lease benami, unaccompanied by any other circumstances of suspicion, does not in itself constitute fraud)

the "transferor continues to retain the title notwithstanding the execution of the transfer deed. In such a case "there is no operative transfer at all and the title rests with the transferor notwithstanding the execution of the conveyance. In view of this legal effect of a sham transaction, it is apparent that conceptually it has to be regarded as a void transaction, as distinguishable from voidable. If in case of a sham transaction, the title rests with the transferor notwithstanding the execution of transfer deed, this would be so only when the transaction in question can be said to be void. In which case alone it would be non-existent from its very inception. However, reference to S. 25 of the Contract Act and S. 53(2) of the T.P. Act shows that in certain situations a sham transaction can also be treated as voidable at the instance of some persons and these persons may approach the appropriate authorities for setting it so adjudged and for its cancellation, as permitted by S. 31 of the Specific Relief Act, 1963 (3)

See also the undermentioned cases (4) (See also Note 5)

8. Transfer is valid until avoided.

A fraudulent transfer within this section is not ipso facto void, but is merely voidable at the option of the creditors or the subsequent transferee as the case may be. Until so avoided, the transaction is valid (1) As between the parties to the transfer themselves, the transfer cannot be avoided by either of them (2) It will be valid as between them even if it has been avoided as against creditors or a subsequent transferee (3) As between them the transfer stands subject only to the right of the

3. AIR 1993 Orissa (3, 4, 7, 8, 34) ; 1992 (1) Bank LJ 325 (FB).

4. AIR 1960 Punj 417 (418) (DB) (Benami transfer per se may not come within the mischief of the section. To hold that it does come within its scope the facts and circumstances of the transfer have to be taken into account.)  AIR 1958 Mad 580 (582) (Benami transfer—Motive for transaction was the defeat of impending execution.—Not a fraudulent transfer within the meaning of S. 53.)  AIR 1955 NUC (Mad) 1926 (Benami transactions are not per se illegal transactions.)

Section 53 — Note 8

1. AIR 1946 PC 177 (177) : ILR (1945) Kar (PC) 161. (Wakfnama.)  AIR 1962 Madh Pra 363 (364) (DB)  1960 MPLJ 1029 (1030) (DB)  AIR 1955 Pat 270 (275) : 34 Pat 133 (DB)  AIR 1952 All 83 (84) (DB)  AIR 1944 Nag 133 (134) : ILR (1944) Nag 133 (134) (Until avoided the transferee has title.)  AIR 1943 Nag 129 (131) : 32 Pat 166 : AIR 1943 Nag 42 (DB)  AIR 1936 Nag 207 (208-209) : ILR (1936) Nag 183  AIR 1935 All 771 (773)  AIR 1933 Cal 812 (813)  AIR 1930 All 438 (439)  AIR 1926 All 470 (471) : 48 All 414 (DB)  AIR 1918 Mad 225 (227) (DB)  (1912) 17 Ind Cas 342 (343) (Mad)

[See also AIR 1963 Mad 450 (452) (Mortgage to which presumption under S. 6, Madras Indebted Agriculturists (Temporary Relief) Act, i.e., presumption that it had been made with intent to delay or defeat creditors applies.—Mortgage will be void until avoided under this section.)]

2. AIR 1946 PC 177 (177) : ILR (1945) Kar (PC) 161. (Wakfnama cannot be revoked by settlor.)  AIR 1960 MPLJ 1029 (1030) (DB)  AIR 1952 Trav Co 105 (110) (DB) (Bar extends also to persons claiming the properties through the parties and to those under such persons.)  AIR 1951 All 443 (448) (DB)  AIR 1943 Nag 129 (131) : 32 Pat 135 : ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB) (It cannot be set aside by the immediate parties to the transfer or their successors.)  AIR 1936 Nag 207 (209) : ILR (1936) Nag 183  (188) : C.P.L.R. 165 (168).

3. AIR 1963 Mys 257 (260) (Avoiding transfer has merely the effect of wiping out the fraud without affecting validity of the transaction.)  ILR (1974) Bom 1207  AIR 1961 Pun 423 (424) : ILR (1960) 2 Punj 551  AIR 1954 Mad 173 (174)  AIR 1954 Nag 129 (134) : ILR (1953) Nag 937 (DB)  AIR 1952 Vind Pra 69 (72)  AIR 1936 Nag 207 (209) : ILR (1936) Nag 183  AIR 1921 Lah 333 (335) (DB) creditors to enforce their claim just as if the transfer had not been made.(4) As has been observed in Story's Equity Jurisprudence : (5)

Although voluntary conveyances are or may be void as to existing creditors, they are perfect and effectual as between the parties, and cannot be set aside by the grantor, if he should become dissatisfied with the transaction. It is his own folly to have made such a conveyance. They are not only valid as to the grantor, but also as to his heirs and all other persons claiming under him in privity of estate with notice of the fraud. A conveyance of this sort (it has been said with great truth and force) is void only as against creditors, and then only to the extent in which it may be necessary to deal with the conveyed estate for their satisfaction. To this extent and to this only, it is treated as if it had not been made. To every other purpose it is good, satisfy the creditor and the conveyance stands.

It is well settled that the factum of finding recorded on the nature of transaction that a particular sale transaction or a transfer is hit by S. 53 has the resultant effect that the property was transferred in order to avoid debt in question of the creditor and it has no automatic effect of nullifying the transaction and that too, in a claim petition alone that came to be dismissed. The effect is that the purchaser cannot avoid the debt in question by virtue of his purchase and it would be open to the creditor to get at the properties in accordance with law (6)

It has been held in the undermentioned case(7) that where a transfer is set aside at the instance of a creditor under this section, the case is governed by S. 65 of the Contract Act and that the transferor is bound to restore to the transferee the price he had received. It is not clear how, if, as conceded in the judgment itself, the transfer is valid as between the transferor and the transferee, S. 65 of the Contract Act, which applies to a contract which is void as between the parties can have any application.

Where a creditor or the subsequent transferee once affirms the transfer, he cannot afterwards avoid it (8). Thus, where a creditor sued both the transferor and the transferee for recovery of his debt, but claimed merely a money decree against them, it was held that he impliedly affirmed the transfer and could not raise the question of avoidance of the transfer, in the appellate Court (9).

9. Who can avoid a fraudulent transfer.

Ordinarily a transfer cannot be avoided or questioned by a third party when the transferor admits it. It is, however, otherwise, where such transfer is intended to defraud the third party (1). In such a case the third party has a right to question it. This is the principle enacted in this section.

Under the Statute 13 Eliz. Chap. 5 not only creditors but all others who were hindered or delayed by the transfer could avoid the transfer (2). The old S. 53, also provided that a transfer intended to defraud

(a) a prior transferee,

(b) a subsequent transferee,

-
4. AIR 1961 Punj 423 (424) : ILR (1960) 2 Punj 551  AIR 1972 Ker 68 (69, 70) : 1971 Ker LT 730  1957 MPLJ 107 (108)  AIR 1954 Mad 173 (174)  AIR 1952 Vind Pra 69 (72)  AIR 1939 Mad 894 (896) : ILR (1940) Mad 73.

[See also AIR 1927 All 538 (539) : 49 All 640 (Collusive decree - Judgment-debtor cannot challenge validity of decree though it can be impeached by a creditor of his)]

5. Story, Equity Jurisprudence, Section 371.

6. 1997 (2) Mad LW 925 (927)

7. AIR 1936 Nag 268 (269) : ILR (1937) Nag 94

8. AIR 1928 All 234 (235) (DB)

9. AIR 1934 All 948 (949, 950)

Section 53 — Note 9

1. 1964 Andh WR 79 (81)  (1910) 7 Ind Cas 957 (958) (DB) (Bom)

2. (1601) 76 ER 809 (816) : 1 Sm LC 1, Twyne's case

- (c) the creditors of the transferor,
- (d) co-owners of the property transferred, or

(e) other persons having an interest in the property transferred (3) was voidable at the option of such persons. The reference to prior transferees, co-owners and other persons interested in the property has been omitted in the present section, as in the opinion of the Special Committee(4) it was difficult to see how such persons could be defrauded by a transfer by the transferor.

A fraudulent transfer can, under this section, be avoided only by the person at whose instance the transfer has been declared in this section to be voidable(5) namely the creditor who is defeated or delayed or the subsequent transferee as the case may be. If they have not questioned it, an objection on that ground cannot be taken by anybody else.

It has been seen in Note 8 that the fact that a transfer is intended to defraud creditors of a subsequent transferee does not invalidate the transfer as between the parties to the deed and that such deed is valid and operative between them. It follows that a party to a transfer cannot claim to avoid the transfer on the ground that it was executed in fraud of third persons for, ex hypothesi, such fraud does not invalidate the transfer as between the parties themselves (6). Thus, if A executes a transfer in favour of B in order to defraud the creditors of A, and B subsequently sues A for reliefs in accordance with the transfer, such as possession of the property transferred, A cannot validly set up the plea that the transfer was intended to defraud his creditors, inasmuch as such a plea even if established, will not render the transfer invalid as between A and B (7). On the same principle, A

3. AIR 1921 Mad 657 (658) (DB)

4. See the Report of the Special Committee printed on page 55-101.

5. AIR 1946 PC 177 (177) : ILR (1945) Kar (PC) 161. With regard to it remains valid and binding on the settlor and his heirs until it is so avoided.  AIR 1950 Trav-Co 60 (61) (FB). (Where A, a co-sharer, transfers his share to his wife B who sues for partition thereof, other co-sharer defendants cannot raise the plea that the transfer was a sham transaction intended to defraud A's creditors.)  AIR 1951 Trav-Co 237 (238) : ILR (1951) Trav-Co 294 and 788 (DB)  AIR 1943 Nag 129 (132) (134) : ILR (1943) Nag 41 (DB)  AIR 1942 Mad 714 (715). (Assignment by decree holder to defraud creditors. Creditor of decree-holder can attach decree and claim that assignment is not binding on him. It may not be open to the assignor himself to object to the assignment.  AIR 1936 Nag 207 (208) : ILR (1936) Nag 193  AIR 1928 Lah 9 (16) (DB) (Creditor.  AIR 1933 Nag 195 (196) (Creditor)  AIR 1915 Bom 89 (90), 39 Bom 507 (DB) (Person acquiring title at Court sale is not subsequent transferee or a person having interest).)

[See also AIR 1953 Trav-Co 321, 322 : ILR (1953) Trav-Co 326 (DB) (Non prized or unpaid prized subscribers although have no proprietary interest in or a charge upon the 'Kuri vaippu' (assets of the Kuri) would be entitled to avoid any transfer of such assets when it has been made in such a manner as to defeat or delay their claims.)]

6. AIR 1952 Trav-Co 105 (110) (DB) (Persons claiming through the parties as well as those under such persons are barred.)  AIR 1951 A 1343 (448) (DB)  (1913) 17 Cal L 209 (215).

[See AIR 1942 Mad 714 (715) (Case of transfer of decree. If an assignment of a decree is made by a decree-holder to defraud his own creditors, it may not be open to him (decree-holder) to object to the assignment during his lifetime. AIR 1927 Mad 903 (Re. on.)]

7. AIR 1943 Nag 129 (135) : ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB)  AIR 1936 Nag 207 (209) : ILR (1936) Nag 183 (The principle of pari delicto and ex dolo malo are not applicable to such cases.)  AIR 1936 Nag 258 (269) : ILR (1937) Nag 94  (1908) 3 Mad 266 (271) (DB) (Mortgagor cannot object that mortgage was to defeat and delay creditors.)  (1871) 15 Suth WR 273 (274) (DB)  (1866) 3 Mad HCR 231 (236) (DB) (Party cannot question his own transfer for consideration when creditors do not do so.)  1864 Suth WR 265 (265) (DB) cannot sue B for reliefs inconsistent with the validity of the transfer.(8)

The principles underlying the maxims in pari delicto potior est conditio defendentis (in equal fault, the condition of the defendant is more favourable), nemo allegans suam turpitudinem audiendus est (no one alleging his own baseness ought to be heard) and ex dolo malo non oritur actio (a right of action cannot arise out of fraud) do not apply to such cases(9) but are limited in their application to fraudulent transactions under which no valid interest has passed from one party to the other. Thus they apply to fraudulent transactions when the fraud is of such a nature as to render the transaction void even as between the parties on grounds of public policy, and to cases of sham nominal and collusive transfers not intended to pass any title from one party to the other, but brought about merely to defraud a third party. In other words, they apply only when the giving effect to a transaction in accordance with its apparent tenor, at the instance of a party thereto, would be to help him to take advantage of his own fraud and to which he was not otherwise entitled. The limits of the applicability of the said maxims to such cases may be briefly stated —

(1) Where the fraud intended to be effected by the transaction has been carried out substantially, the general rule is that the Court will not allow any party to it to allege his own fraud in order to avoid his own deed (10). Thus, if A transfers property to B nominally in order to defraud a third party, and the fraud is carried out, A will not be allowed to allege his own fraud and claim relief on the basis that the transfer is not operative (11). This is the application of the maxim nemo allegans

8. (1834) 172 ER 1210 (1210) · 6 Car & P 207, Soms v Tuffs

9. AIR 1943 Nag 129 (133) · ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB) (Observations in 35 Cal 551 (PC) regarding fraud being carried out etc., apply only to unreal and fictitious transactions)  AIR 1936 Nag 207 (209) : ILR (1936) Nag 183.

10. AIR 1935 All 529 (534) · 58 All 1 (FB)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 222 (226) · ILR (1959) Andh Pra 951 (DB)  AIR 1956 Andhra 225 (228) (DB) (Sole coparcener or all coparceners transferring property benami to save it from creditors — Device of benami adopted for several years — Transferor possessing no other property — It must be held that fraudulent purpose has been achieved and they should not be allowed to recover it especially when the property is in the hands of transferee from benamidar)  AIR 1953 Pat 199 (200) (201) · 31 Pat 787  AIR 1952 Vind Pra 69 (73)  AIR 1949 Cal 204 (206)  AIR 1930 Mad 298 (300)  AIR 1925 Oudh 120 (123) · 27 Oudh Cas 175 (DB)  AIR 1923 Cal 90 (92) (DB)  AIR 1923 All 411 (412)  (1920) 2 Lah LJ 439 (442) (DB)  AIR 1919 Nag 43 (44) · 16 Nag LR 129  AIR 1919 Pat 539 (540)  AIR 1916 Sind 22 (23, 26) · 9 Sind LR 108 (Carried out means substantially carried out)  AIR 1915 Mad 519 (526) (DB)  (1913) 17 Cal LJ 209 (215)  (1931) Mad WN 470 (473)  (1906) 29 Mad 72 (74) (DB) (The rule that a person in pari delicto cannot recover is applicable not only where the unlawful agreement has been fully carried out but also where there has been part performance of a substantial character)  (1905-1906) 3 Low Bur Rul 245 (247, 248) (The property was purchased benami in the name of mother of plaintiff who sued to recover it back on the ground that he was the real purchaser and the deed was executed benami because of fear of his creditors)  (1897) 20 Mad 326 (331) (DB) (20 Mad 323 approved)  (1873) 19 Suth WR 270 (271) (DB)  (1866) 6 Suth WR 287 (287) (DB)  (1865) 3 Suth WR 30 (30) (DB) (Heir of A held also bound by A's fraud)  (1865) 3 Suth WR 92 (92) (DB) (Heirs and representatives of fraudulent parties are equally bound)  (1865) 4 Suth WR 11 (12) (DB) (Representatives are bound)

[See also AIR 1921 All 140 (141) (Fraudulent admission of payment by one creditor in order to defeat other creditors)  AIR 1919 Pat 447 (451) (DB) (Fraudulent transfer. Transferor however continuing in possession for more than twelve years — Party entitled to confirmation of possession — On subsequent dispossession he is entitled to recover possession)  AIR 1940 Pat 379 (380) (DB) (Person assigning his decree to another to avoid its attachment by his creditor cannot subsequently ask Court to declare that assignment was benami)]

11. (1908) 35 Cal 551 (558, 559) : 35 Ind App 98 (PC)  AIR 1977 (NOC) 291 (DB) (ker) **

suam turpitudinem audiendus est. Some exceptions are recognized to this rule. One of these is that where a party to a fraudulent transaction seeks, as plaintiff, to enforce the transaction against the other party and thereby get an advantage to himself to which he is not really entitled, the defendant will be allowed to show his own turpitude in order to defeat the plaintiff (12). The exception is allowed not for the sake of the wrongdoer but on the principle that the Court ought not to assist the plaintiff in reaping the benefit of his fraud. This is the application of the maxim in pari delicto potior est conditio defendentis. The contrary view taken in the undermentioned cases, (13) namely:

 1970 All LJ 416  AIR 1933 Oudh 6 (8) (DB) (Purpose of fraud not carried out. Mere intention to defraud does not deprive true owner of right to recover his property.  AIR 1926 Cal 850 (853) (DB)  AIR 1924 Oudh 321 (323) (DB)  AIR 1923 Cal 90 (91) (DB)  AIR 1921 Low Bur 63 (66) 11 Low Bur Rul 83 (DB)  AIR 1921 Low Bur 58 (59) 11 Low Bur Rul 89 (DB)  AIR 1919 Nag 43 (43) 16 Nag LR 129  AIR 1917 Mad 297 (299) (DB)  AIR 1916 Sind 22 (24) 9 Sind LR 108 (It is sufficient if the illegal purpose has been carried out, effect in a material part, e.g. by delaying the creditors for a long time.)  AIR 1915 Oudh 160 (161) 18 Oudh Cas 33 (Parties to fraudulent transaction, whether as plaintiffs or defendants, plead fraud.  AIR 1915 Lah 264 (265)  1905 Nag LR 146 (150)  1901 28 Cal 37 (38) (DB)  1900 25 Cal 96 (96a) (DB)  (1901) 23 Cal 962n (966n) (DB)  (1900) 27 Cal 231 (233) (DB)  (1897) 20 Mad 333 (338) (DB)  1892 Pan Re No. 38 Page 49 (50)  1892 Bom Pl 284 (DB)  1881 11 Bom 708 (713) (DB)  (1867) 7 South WR 118 (118) (DB)  (1865) 3 South WR 221 (222) (DB) (Suit by representative of transferor.  (1932) 35 Ind Cas 24 (245) (Ala)  (1914) 22 Ind Cas 86 (88) (DB) (Cal)  (1912) 17 Ind Cas 918 (918) (Low Bur) (Obiter)  (1912) 16 Ind Cas 811 (815) (DB) (Cal)

[See also (1893) 7 C PLR 50 (52) (Defendant pleading his own fraud is a defence to suit for possession.)  AIR 1936 All 401 (403) 58 All 842 (DB) (Affirming the decision in AIR 1935 All 799. The fact that the party claiming advantage of fraud is original party's representative makes no difference.)]

[See however AIR 1927 Rang 86 (87) 4 Rang 429 (DB) (Transfer with intention to defraud — Fraud effected — Transferor continuing in possession even after transfer — His possession will not be disturbed.  AIR 1936 Rang 405 (406) AIR 1927 Rang 86 followed.)]

12. AIR 1962 SC 370 (376)  AIR 1932 Lah 503 (512) 13 Lah 713 (FB) (Case was reviewed)  AIR 1974 Pat 51 (54) 1974 BLJR 450  AIR 1968 Mad 362 (368) (1968) 1 Mad LJ 1  ILR (1966) 1 Mad 114 (Part payment as advance under contract for sale to retain property — On partition amongst members of joint family certain debts allotted to vendor's share before contract of sale entered into — Held, alienation in vendor's favour could be assailed as one in fraud of creditors.)  AIR 1963 Ker 79 (80) ILR (1962) 2 Ker 681  AIR 1943 Nag 129 (136) ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB) (When a debtor executes a colourable sale deed, not intending to pass title, with the intention of defeating or delaying his creditors and the transferee shares the intention and the fraud on the creditors has been carried out, then as between the parties to the transaction the estate must lie where it lies — Transferor can resist transferee's suit for possession.)  AIR 1943 Nag 113 (114)  AIR 1941 Cal 233 (236) (DB)  AIR 1927 Nag 365 (366)  AIR 1923 Cal 90 (94) (DB)  AIR 1923 All 504 (505, 507) 45 All 396 (DB) (A was allowed to plead non fraud of A and B and B's suit was dismissed)  AIR 1921 Low Bur 13 (66) 11 Low Bur Rul 83 (DB)  AIR 1916 Lah 130 (131) 1916 Pan Re No. 21 (DB)  1909 Nag LR 146 (149, 150)  (1909) 32 Mad 323 (325) (DB) (20 Mad 326 Followed.)  (1904) 8 Cal WN 620 (621) (DB)  (1897) 20 Mad 326 (329, 330) (DB)  (1894) 18 Bom 372 (374) (DB)  (1928) 107 Ind Cas 110 (112) (Lah) (Case law discussed.)  (1912) 17 Ind Cas 918 (918) (Low Bur).

[See also AIR 1924 Mad 189 (191) (DB).]

13. AIR 1937 Pat 453 (453, 454)  AIR 1988 Him Pra 27 (30) 1987 Sim LC 266  AIR 1934 Mad 252 (254)  AIR 1933 Mad 457 (459) 56 Mad 646 (DB) (AIR 1938 Mad that if the fraud is carried out a party cannot, even by way of defence, set up his own fraud in order to defeat the plaintiff, must be held to be no longer good law in view of the Supreme Court decision in Inmani Appa Rao v. Ramalinga Murthi.(14)

(2) Where the intended fraud is not carried out a party to the transaction may allege his own fraud whether as a plaintiff(15) or as a defendant(16) and the Court may grant relief in accordance with the true nature of the transaction. This principle is also found enacted in S. 84 of the Trusts Act 1882. It has been held in the undermentioned case(17) by the Madras High Court that the deed of transfer being voidable and not void in such cases, the transferor cannot recover the property transferred, without getting the sale deed set aside, on a mere declaration of his title.

10. "Creditor," meaning of.

In order that A may be creditor of B, it is necessary that B's liability to A constitutes a debt. As to the meaning of the word "debt," see Note 22 on S. 3.

365. Full AIR 1932 Lah 503 (FB., Dissented from.)  (1908) 31 Mad 485 (487, 488) (DB)  (1907) 31 Bom 405 (411, 412) (DB)

14. AIR 1962 SC 370 (376). (ILR 31 Bom 405 and AIR 1933 Mad 457 and AIR 1936 Mad 88 and AIR 1918 Mad 365, Overruled; S. A. No. 1656 of 1947, D/- 16-11-1951 (Mad), Reversed.)

15. AIR 1960 SC 213 (219) : 39 Pat 186  (1908) 35 Cal 551 (558, 559) : 35 Ind App 98 (PC)  1981 UPLT (NOC. 65  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 222 (226) ILR (1959) Andh Pra 951 (DB)  AIR 1956 Andh Pra 225 (227) (DB) (Device of benami adopted to cheat the creditors for a period of 35 years. - No other properties available excepting those involved in the transactions. - Only reasonable inference is that the fraudulent purpose has been achieved.)  AIR 1953 Mad 545 (547) (It is unnecessary to consider whether the intended fraud was frustrated by his own penitence or by other causes.)  AIR 1952 Vind Pra 69 (73)  AIR 1949 Cal 204 (206)  AIR 1943 Nag 129 (136) ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB) (Alleged transferor can recover his property from the alleged transferee.)  AIR 1929 Pat 127 (129) (DB) (Symes v. Hughes, (1870) 39 LJ Ch 304 followed.)  AIR 1926 Cal 850 (853) (DB)  AIR 1924 Nag 200 (203)  AIR 1923 Cal 154 (155) (DB) (Distinction between fraud merely intended and fraudulent purpose actually accomplished is recognised in S. 84 of the Trusts Act.)  AIR 1923 Cal 90 (90) (DB)  AIR 1921 Low Bur 58 (59) 11 Low Bur Rui 89 (DB)  AIR 1919 Pat 313 (316) (DB)  AIR 1918 Mad 148 (149) (DB) (35 Cal 551 (PC), Followed.)  AIR 1916 Cal 532 (537, 538) (DB) (The principle applies even if the party suffers a decree to be passed against him in a fictitious and collusive suit which is only a part of the fraudulent scheme.)  AIR 1915 Lah 264 (265)  AIR 1915 Cal 492 (494) (DB)  AIR 1914 Low Bur Rui 135 (136) (The burden lay on plaintiff to prove that the intended fraud was not carried out.)  (1913) 17 Cal 11 209 (215)  1908 Upp Bur Rui 3rd Or., Benami Transaction, (3)  (1906) 33 Cal 967 (969) (DB)  (1901) 28 Cal 370 (379) (DB)  (1896) 23 Cal 460 (475, 476) (DB) (13 Suth WR 87 not followed.)  (1887) 1 CPLR 165 (172, 173)  (1870) 39 LJ Ch 304 (306) 9 Eq 475, Symes v. Hughes  (1912) 16 Ind Cas 811 (815) (DB) (Cal)

[See also AIR 1929 Bom 147 (151) 53 Bom 321 (DB) (Party perpetrating fraud can retract from it at any time.)  (1908) 4 Nag LR 26 (27) (Burden is on the plaintiff to prove that the fraud never went beyond the stage of intention.)]

16. AIR 1936 Mad 717 (718) : 59 Mad 998 (FB). (AIR 1918 Mad 365 AIR 1926 Mad 1196 AIR 1924 Mad 604 and AIR 1917 Mad 297 Overruled.)  AIR 1963 Ker 79 (80) ILR (1962) 2 Ker 681  AIR 1936 Mad 88 (89) 59 Mad 289 (DB) (Overruled on another point in AIR 1962 SC 370.)  AIR 1935 Mad 947 (952)  AIR 1934 Mad 252 (255) (DB)  AIR 1929 Mad 807 (810, 811)  AIR 1923 All 164 (165)  AIR 1915 Mad 164 (164) (DB)  AIR 1914 Bom 283 (283, 284) 38 Bom 10 (DB) (31 Bom 405 Distinguished.)  AIR 1914 Mad 696 (697) (DB)  (1908) 31 Mad 97 (99) (DB)

17. AIR 1953 Mad 545 (548)

A who was an agent of B for purchasing supplies and who was remunerated by a commission on the price of supplies was given advances from time to time from which to purchase supplies. It was held by the Chief Court of Oudh that, in respect of the balance of the advance in the hands of A, B could not be said to be a creditor.(1)

A mortgagee¹ from a person of his property is a creditor of that person within the meaning of this section.(2)

A person entitled to pre-emption is not a creditor of the transferor of the property (3) Nor is an auction purchaser of the property transferred, a creditor of the judgment-debtor (4) But a creditor who has, in execution of his decree, purchased the property transferred will be a creditor notwithstanding his purchase, and can sue to avoid the transfer under this section (5)

It has been held by the High Court of Madras in the undermentioned case(6) that the liability under Hindu law, of a husband to pay for the maintenance of his wife during the years he had deserted her is a "debt" and that the wife is in that respect a creditor of the husband within the meaning of this section. But in the absence of desertion or separation a wife cannot, according to the Chief Court of Oudh, be considered to be a 'creditor' of the husband merely by reason of the fact that she is entitled to be maintained by the husband (7)

Dower due to a Mahomedan wife ranks as a debt (8)

10A. "Of the transferor."

It is only a creditor of the transferor that can avoid a transfer under this section. In Bible Tokar Sherob v Beglar(1), A made a fraudulent transfer in favour of his mistress B for the purpose of defeating or delaying creditors. A left a will subsequently under which he appointed C his illegitimate son as his executor. X obtained a decree personally against C, got his right title and interest sold and then filed a suit against C and B for possession of the properties that were in the possession of B on the ground that the transfer by A to B was fraudulent. It was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that the suit could not succeed: that C's creditors might well dispute any fraudulent transfer which C might have made but that they could not dispute a transfer by A to B as fraudulent.

Where X made a gift of joint family property to his daughters at a time when his son Y was heavily indebted, it was held by the High Court of Madras that the creditors of Y could not avoid the

Section 53 — Note 10

1. AIR 1927 Oudh 162 (169) (DB)

2. AIR 1916 Mad 494 (494) (DB). (A simple mortgagee who has obtained decree for sale and whose right to personal decree is not barred is creditor of the mortgagor.  89 Bom P 461 (DB)

[See also AIR 1951 All 443 (448) (DB).]

3. AIR 1925 All 358 (359) : 47 All 424 (DB)

4. AIR 1954 Mad 173 (175)  AIR 1951 Mys 103 (105) 11 ER (1951) Mys 407 (DB)  AIR 1915 Bom 89 (90) 39 Bom 507 (DB) (He is also not a subsequent transferee or a person having an interest in the property within the meaning of S 53.)

5. AIR 1951 All 443 (448) (DB)  (AIR 1939 Bom 508, Fo 1)  AIR 1939 Bom 508 (5, 2)

6. AIR 1927 Mad 657 (658)

7. AIR 1932 Oudh 40 (42) : 7 Luck 411 (DB)

8. AIR 1926 Pat 404 (404) (DB).

Section 53 — Note 10-A

1. (1857) 6 Moo Ind App 510 (524) : 4 Suth WR PC 87 (PC).

transfer under S 53, as no transfer had been made by Y, the debtor (2)

Where A purchases property in the name of B with a view to keep the property out of reach of his creditors, it cannot be said that A 'transferred' the property to B so as to enable the creditors of A to apply this section and attach the property.(3)

Where A gifted certain property to B's wife upon a request made by B that A should transfer the property to his wife instead of himself so as to protect it from his creditors, it was held that C a creditor of B who was a stranger to the transaction could not avoid the transaction and proceed against the property in execution of his decree.(4) It could not be said in such a case that C was a creditor of the transferor or that B had transferred the property to defeat or delay his creditors

11. Subsequent creditors.

In England it has been held that even a subsequent creditor can impeach a fraudulent transfer by the debtor (1) The reason of the rule was stated by Sir Thomas Plumer, M R., in Richardson v Smallwood,(2) as follows :

"Suppose a person indebted to execute a conveyance, such that if those who were creditors at the time complained, it would be void as against them then if they are paid off and a new set of creditors stand in their places, does that make any difference? Does it not hinder and delay these creditors and is it not void as against them? If it be not so, it would be easy to evade the statute, the party may pay off those to whom he is then indebted by borrowing of others and he may then say to them, I did not make the settlement to defraud you, but to defraud the other person who were my creditors."

The general trend of opinion in this country also is that not only an existing(3) but also a subsequent creditor(4) can impeach an alienation by the debtor. The reason is that the expression

2. AIR 1936 Mad 825 (826).

3. AIR 1936 Bom 160 (161) : 60 Bom 226.

4. AIR 1944 Nag 133 (134) : ILR (1944) Nag 125.

Section 53 — Note 11

1. (1912) 81 LJ KB 334 (338) 105 LT 897 Glegg v Bromley (Reversed on another point in (1912) 81 LJ KB 1081)  (1822) 37 ER 958 (960) Jac 552, Richardson v Smallwood  (1882) 51 LJ Ch 521 (523) 19 Ch D 588 (600, 601) Ex parte Russell In re Butterworth  (1872) 41 LJ Ch 539 (542) LR 14 Eq 106 (122), Mackay v Douglas  (1871) 40 LJ Ch 480 (484) LR 12 Eq 158 (168), Crossley v Elworthy  (1870) 39 LJ Ch 148 (151), Freeman v. Pope (Affirmed in (1870) 5 Ch app 538.) (1860) 54 ER 689 (690) 29 Beav 417, Barling v Bishop  (1856) 61 ER 963 (965) 25 LJ Ch 338, Jenkyn v Vaughan, (Where there are certain debts at the time of execution of the deed, and some of those debts still remain unpaid, a subsequent creditor can sue to set aside the deed)  (1856) 26 LJ Ch 179 (182) 3 Kay & J 90 Holmes v Penny  (1800) 31 ER 642 (643) 5 Ves 384, Lush v Wilkinson  (1743) 26 ER 758 (759) 2 Atk 800, Taylor v Jones

[See (1854) 139 ER 169 (172) 14 CR 410, Graham v Furber (Quære)]

[See also (1742) 26 ER 688 (690) 2 Atk 477, Amb 13, Stileman v Ashdown]

[But see (1806) 33 ER 53 (60) 12 Ves 136 (156), Kidney v Coussmaker (A settlement is fraudulent only as against such creditors as were creditor at the time)  (1699) 24 ER 51 (51) 1 Eq Abr 149, Lwekner v Freeman  (1843) 63 ER 76 (78) 2 Y & C Ch Cas 172, Ede v Knowles (A deed can only be set aside as fraudulent against creditors at the instance of a person who was a creditor at the time though when it shall have been set aside, subsequent creditors may be let in.)

2. (1822) 37 ER 958 (960) : Jac 552.

3. AIR 1966 Mad 247 (252)  (1884) 10 Cal 616 (623, 624) : 11 Ind App 10 (PC)  (1864) 1 Suth WR 319 (319) (FB), (Case before T.P. Act)  AIR 1954 Mad 173 (176)

4. ILR (1966) 1 Mad 114 (119)  AIR 1966 Mad 247 (252)  AIR 1965 Mad 395 (397)

'creditor' includes future creditors (5) A contrary view has been, however, expressed in the under-mentioned cases (6) In Vaikuntarama v Athimoolam, (7) Wallis, J., in expressing the latter view distinguished the English cases on the ground that the Statute 13 Eliz, Chap 5 used the words "creditors and others" while this section used the word "creditor" only It is submitted that the contrary view referred to above is not correct The English decisions do not rest on the use of the words "and others" in the Statute, but on general principles of justice which are equally applicable in this country.

12. Creditor need not obtain judgment on his debt before being entitled to impeach fraudulent transfer.

In England it is not necessary that in order to maintain a suit to avoid fraudulent conveyance the creditor should obtain a judgment on his debt, or a lien on the property (1) The same view has been held in this country, and it is, therefore, not necessary to enable a creditor to impeach a fraudulent transfer under this section that he should have obtained a decree on his debt (2) The contrary view expressed in the undermentioned cases (3) is opposed to the general trend of opinion and is not correct.

13. "At his option."

The avoidance of a transfer under this section need not necessarily be by way of a suit instituted for the purpose An open and unequivocal declaration of intention to avoid the transfer ex

ILR (1965) 2 Mad 250 (DB)  AIR 1955 Madh B 159 (160) ILR 1955 Madh B 297 (DB)  AIR 1954 Mad 173 (176)  AIR 1954 Trav-Co 404 (405) (DB)  (1949) 1 Pepsu LR 198 (200) (DB) (Per Teja Singh C J in his judgement referring the case to Division Bench)  AIR 1948 Bom 265 (269) ILR (1947) Bom 807 (DB)  AIR 1947 All 383 (387) ILR (1947) All 624 (DB) (But the word "creditor" as used in Provincial Insolvency Act will not include a person who becomes creditor after date of transfer or other act of insolvency)  AIR 1946 Sind 137 (140) ILR (1946) Kar 14  AIR 1943 Rang 302 (303) 12 Rang 666 (The term "creditor" includes subsequent creditor)  AIR 1931 Oudh 333 (338) 7 Luck 131 (DB)  AIR 1931 Oudh 139 (140) 6 Luck 52 (DB)  AIR 1930 Lah 217 (218)  AIR 1930 All 610 (611) (DB)  AIR 1927 Lah 420 (421) 8 Lah 544 (DB) (Per Tek Chand, J)  AIR 1927 Mad 657 (658)  AIR 1924 Mad 779 (780) (DB)  AIR 1921 All 298 (300) (DB) (Per Stuart J)  (1903) 5 Bom LR 255 (256-257)  (1903) 16 CPLR 164 (167-168)  (1910) 33 Mad 205 (206) (DB)

[See also AIR 1914 Cal 503 (504, 505) (DB).]

5. AIR 1966 Mad 247

6. AIR 1940 Oudh 200 (201) 15 Luck 503  AIR 1930 Nag 51 (53)

[See also AIR 1927 Lah 420 8 Lah 544 (DB) (Per Campbell J)]

7. AIR 1914 Mad 641 (643) : 38 Mad 1071 (DB).

Section 53 — Note 12

1. (1869) 17 WR (Eng) 601 (602) LR 7 Eq 347 (351), Reese River Silver Mining Co v Atwell  AIR 1969 Bom 66 70 Bom LR 359 (Being a suit for a declaration proper Court-fee would be under S. 6(iv)(j) of the Court-fees Act.)

2. ILR (1966) 1 Mad 114 (119)  AIR 1973 Orissa 229 (231) 39 Cut LT 316  AIR 1948 Bom 265 (269) ILR (1947) Bom 807 (DB)  AIR 1927 Mad 657 (658) (Claim for maintenance not merged in decree)  AIR 1926 Nag 494 (494)  AIR 1923 Nag 334 (335)  AIR 1923 Lah 478 (479-480) (DB)  (1904) 17 CPLR 23 (28)  (1903) 16 CPLR 164 (166)  (1902) 27 Bom 146 (149) (DB) (Absence of decree is not fatal)

[See also AIR 1927 Nag 295 (296) (Lease while the suit on mortgage was pending set aside as fraudulent)]

3. A 1918 Mad 225 (227) (DB) (Mere obtaining a judgment for the debt is not sufficient — Creditor must in addition attach the property to enable him to utilize this section)  882 Pun Re No. 10 page 36 (39)  (1867) 2 Agra 411 (411) pressed by a creditor is sufficient in law, to enable him to treat it as void and take steps on that footing to enforce his rights as a creditor (1) Thus, where B took a subsequent transfer, in discharge of his own debt, from C of one item of certain properties which had been sold by C fraudulently in favour of A, it was held that B's conduct in taking the transfer with notice of the sale in favour of A constituted a declaration of intention to avoid the sale in favour of A. But in such a case it was further held, that the avoidance was only in respect of that item. (2) Where A who had obtained a decree against B attached certain properties as belonging to B and repudiated, in the attachment proceedings, the sale of such properties by B in favour of C it was held that A had made an unequivocal declaration avoiding the transfer and that the auction purchaser in execution of A's decree obtained a good title to it as against C. (3) A creditor who did not object to mutation applied for by the judgment-debtor consequent on a gift by the debtor cannot be said to have exercised his option debarring him from challenging the transfer. (4) The following decisions (5) taking the view that the transaction can be avoided only by a suit must be held to be no longer good law in view of the Supreme Court decision in Abdul Shukoor Saheb v Arji Papa Rao (6)

14. Plea in defence.

The institution of a suit to avoid a transfer would be the most unequivocal way of avoiding a fraudulent transfer. But that is not the only mode of avoiding it. It may be made by way of defence in a suit brought to enforce the transfer. (1) Thus, in a suit under O. 21, R. 63, Civil Procedure Code,

Section 53 — Note 13

1. AIR 1956 Mad 682 (684) (Para 4 is merely intended to prescribe the form of the suit if the creditor chooses to institute one. It does not lay down the only way in which to plead fraud under the section.)  AIR 1944 Nag 44 (51) : ILR (1944) Nag 342 (FB). (For example by an application under S. 4 Insolvency Act (1920) S Nag LR 146. Relied on Note. See in this connection Note 29.)  AIR 1920 Mad 748 (751) : 43 Mad 760 (FB). (AIR 1918 Mad 421, Overruled.)  AIR 1955 Pat 270 (276) : 34 Pat 133 (DB). (A creditor may manifest his intention to avoid the transfer otherwise than by filing a suit, as for instance by attaching the property.)  AIR 1954 Mad 173 (174). (The right of the creditor does not depend on his ability to establish fraud in a Court of law though without it, the practical worth of that right will be nothing.)  AIR 1953 Cal 251 (257) (DB)  AIR 1951 Trav-Co 237 (238) : ILR (1951) Trav-Co 294 and 788 (DB). (Where a decree-holder attaches property which is the subject-matter of transfer, in execution of his decree, it constitutes an unequivocal repudiation of the transfer.)  AIR 1946 Sind 137 (140, 141) : ILR (1946) Kar 14. (Question of fraudulent transfer can be raised in execution proceedings.)
2. AIR 1954 Mad 173 (175)  AIR 1921 Mad 657 (659) (DB)
3. AIR 1955 Pat 270 (276) : 34 Pat 133 (DB),  AIR 1951 Trav-Co 237 (239) : ILR (1951) Trav-Co 294 and 788 (DB)  AIR 1936 Mad 408 (410)
4. AIR 1968 Punj 479 (485) : ILR (1968) I Punj 10 (DB)
5. AIR 1963 Mad 450 (452). (Mortgage executed in contravention of S. 6 Madras Indebted Agriculturists (Temporary Relief) Act — Execution of decree obtained on mortgage — Plea that the mortgage in view of presumption arising under that section is one which was executed with intent to delay or defeat creditors cannot be raised in the execution proceedings.)  AIR 1955 Mad 446 (447). (Section will come into operation only when a suit is instituted to avoid the transfer and not when only an execution petition is filed.)  AIR 1944 Nag 133 (134) : ILR (1944) Nag 125.
6. AIR 1963 SC 1150 (1160).

Section 53 — Note 14

1. AIR 1963 SC 1150 (1160). (AIR 1918 Mad 225 being a contrary view must be held to be no longer good law.)  AIR 1934 All 155 (159) : 56 All 624 (FB). (The amendment of the section does not alter the law in this respect.)  1977 Punj LJ 199 (201)  AIR 1959 Andh Pra 280 (287) (DB) (AIR 1917 Mad 519 : AIR 1918 Mad 421 (FB). Held, overruled in AIR 1920 Mad 748 (FB).)  AIR 1956 Mad 682 (684)  AIR 1954 Manipal 1

by a defeated claimant on the basis of transfer made to him by the debtor, the creditor who has attached the property in execution of his decree may plead in defence that the transfer was fraudulent under S. 53.(2)

Where the petitioner objected to attachment of property in execution proceedings on ground that he was a bona fide purchaser, the opposite party could in defence raise the ground of fraud on creditor (3) Section 53(1) can be applied even in proceedings where the property is sought to be attached and it is not necessary to file a separate suit to set aside the document. But this dictum can be made applicable only when there is sufficient pleadings. Actual drafting of pleading is necessary and only on the basis of the pleadings, evidence can be let in since there was no pleading, attachment was raised in instant case with liberty to the Bank to file suit under S. 53(1) (4)

Where the husband suffered the decree in favour of his wife knowing it full well that he had taken loan by executing a pronote and receipt then it was immaterial that the suit filed by the wife against her husband was decreed earlier before the institution of suit by the decree-holders. The creditor can exercise his option to avoid a fraudulent transfer, consent decree u/s 53 by attaching the transferred property in execution of his decree. A regular suit is not necessary for averting transfer. Simply because the decree was passed earlier to the filing of the suit by the decree holder, it was of no consequence as the loan was taken much earlier by the judgement debtor. It could not be disputed that if decree in favour of the wife is avoided then the judgement debtor is the owner of land which he fraudulently transferred by way of consent decree in favour of his wife. Thus he could not claim the protection of the Act.(5)

In view of the amended provisions of O. 21 R. 58 C.P.C. the question of filing a separate suit is barred and all questions relating to title or interest in the property attached have to be decided and adjudicated only in the claim proceedings and not by a separate suit. The attaching creditor need not file a separate suit under S. 53 of T.P. Act in representative capacity to put forth his case that the

(3)  AIR 1951 All 443 (445) (DB)  AIR 1942 Mad 714 (715) (Fraudulent assignment of decree — Creditors of assignor impeaching same as fraudulent by raising plea in defence)  AIR 1939 Sind 97 (98, 99) : ILR (1939) Kar 269 (DB)  AIR 1927 Cal 836 (838) : 54 Cal 687 (DB) (Suit to enforce mortgage — Defence of fraudulent transfer assumed to be maintainable)  (1908) 35 Cal 105 (1056, 1057) (DB) (Fraudulent transfer by way of mortgage — Suit on mortgage — Defence of fraudulent transfer was assumed to be maintainable)  (1900) 5 Cal WN 403 (404) (DB) (Assumed)  (1897) 24 Cal 825 (828) (DB). (Plea in defence assumed to be maintainable)

[See AIR 1943 All 2 (5) (DB) Application by debtor under S. 4 U.P. Encumbered Estates Act — Creditors challenging wakf executed before Chapter I of the Act came into force as being executed with object of delaying and defeating creditors — Held, S. 12 of the Act did not apply but it was assumed creditors could rely on S. 53, T.P. Act.]

[See also AIR 1936 All 663 (665) (DB)]

2. AIR 1963 SC 1150 (1160) : AIR 1920 Mad 748 (FB) (Approved) : AIR 1920 Mad 748 (754) : 43 Mad 760 (FB) : AIR 1918 Mad 421 and AIR 1917 Mad 519 (Overruled, AIR 1919 Mad 87 is also no longer good law in view of this decision)  AIR 1954 Mad part I (3)  AIR 1955 Cal 251 (257) (DB) (Creditor does not become disentitled from setting up defence under S. 53 in a declaratory suit under O. 21 R. 63 C.P.C. by right of his assignee because of the fact that such a suit is not a representative suit)  AIR 1921 All 298 (301) (DB) (AIR 1917 Mad 519 Dissented from; 14 Ind Cas 715 Followed)  AIR 1920 Nag 83 (85)  AIR 1920 Bom 10 (10) (DB)  AIR 1920 Nag 80 (81, 83) : 6 Nag LR 3  (1912) 14 Ind Cas 715 (716) (DB) (Cal)

3. 1997 (2) CJC 371 (375) (Mad).

4. 1999 (1) Kant LJ 694 (696)

5. 1989 Pun LJ 218 (219, 220)

transfer was in fraud of creditors and that he is entitled to plead by way of defence in the claim proceedings.(6)

In the undermentioned cases(7) where a claim to attached property was made by a party to the suit under S. 47 of the Civil Procedure Code on the basis of a transfer from the judgment-debtor, it was held that the attaching creditor was entitled by way of defence to plead that the transfer was fraudulent. A plea that the transfer sought to be enforced is fraudulent must be raised in the written statement. It cannot be raised at the time of arguments if it would take the plaintiff unawares (8)

15. Avoidance of transfer in part.

A fraudulent transfer was under the Statute 13 Eliz. Chap. 5, declared to be "clearly and utterly void, frustrate and of none effect" against any persons defeated or delayed thereby. In Tareem Charn Bonnerjee v. Maitland,(1) a case before this Act, A executed a deed of trust, by which he charged real property to secure his certain alleged debts. It was found that this deed was executed for purpose of defeating and delaying the creditors of A. It was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that the deed could not be maintained even to the extent to which it may be supported by valid consideration, they observed as follows :

If the deed was executed with a view to defraud and delay creditors, it appears to their Lordships to be utterly impossible for any party to that deed, or any person claiming under those who were parties to that deed to maintain the deed for any purpose whatever. The deed is one which, in that view of the case, is not executed to secure Rs. 13,873 (i.e. the valid portion of the consideration paid), but it is a deed executed to defeat and to delay creditors; the deed, therefore, utterly fails to the ground and cannot be maintained, as their Lordships think, as a security for any sum whatever."

In cases arising under this section, there has, however, been a difference of opinion. The general trend of opinion is that if a transfer offends this section as being in fraud of creditors, it cannot be upheld even to the extent to which it may be found to be supported by consideration, whether such consideration is paid at the time of the transfer(2) or in the discharge of prior debts due to the transferee himself(3) or

6. AIR 1989 Mad 311 (312, 313) (1989) 103 Mad LW 131  1987 Ker LJ 455 (459, 461)

7. AIR 1955 Pat 270 (276) 34 Pat 153 (DB)  AIR 1946 Sind 137 (141) ILR (1946) Kar 14 (Same principle applies to plea raised by attaching creditor in execution proceedings in answer to defence of the judgment debtor that the property in his hands is separate property and not liable in execution owing to a transfer made by his father and himself.  AIR 1938 Lah 136 (138)  AIR 1938 Nag 166 (168) ILR (1936) Nag 69 (Objection to attachment by transferee — Decree holder can rely on S. 53 without instituting suit to set aside transfer.)

8. AIR 1941 Oudh 457 (464) : 16 Luck 832 (DB).

Section 53 — Note 15

1. (1866-67) 11 Moo Ind App 317 (343, 344) (PC).

2. AIR 1954 Nag 129 (134) ILR (1953) Nag 937 (DB)  AIR 1939 Mad 745 (749) (DB) (Distinguishing AIR 1924 Mad 450)  AIR 1938 Nag 249 (250)  (1938) 40 Punj LR 613 (615)  AIR 1935 Lah 404 (405) 16 Lah 680 (DB)  AIR 1931 Lah 430 (431) (DB)  AIR 1928 Mad 20 (20) (DB)  AIR 1927 Mad 278 (279) (DB)  AIR 1923 Lah 423 (424) 4 Lah 211 (DB) (Substantial portion of consideration was fraudulent — Whole transfer treated as fraudulent. 30 Mad 6, Followed)  AIR 1918 Mad 377 (378) (DB)  AIR 1915 Mad 82 (82)  (1913) 24 Mad LJ 266 (269) (DB)  (1909) 4 Ind Cas 1140 (1140) (Mad) (30 Mad 6, Followed)  1930 Mad WN 1145 (1148) (DB)  (1910) 33 Mad 334 (339) (DB), (30 Mad 6, Distinguished.)

3. 1944 Mar LR (Civ) 38 (DB) (Mortgage for a consideration which is partly fictitious and partly made up of a true money debt due to the creditor — Transaction should be set aside as a whole)  AIR 1941 Cal 378 (383) ILR (1941) 1 Cal 536  AIR 1941 Mad 690 to a third party (4). But the following views also have been expressed

(1) Where a transfer is really supported by consideration to the extent of debts due already to the transferee, the transfer to that extent is not fraudulent at all, but is fraudulent only as regards the other portion.

The transaction must, therefore, be upheld to that extent (5)

(2) Where a transfer is supported partly by consideration to the extent of unsecured debts due to the transferee a charge may be declared on the property transferred for such amount although the transfer itself is set aside as fraudulent (6)

(3) If part of the consideration consists in the discharge by the transferee of a prior incumbrance on the property transferred, the transferee can be given a charge thereon for such amount.(7)

The first of these three views has not been followed and it is submitted is not correct. As has been pointed out in Sama Rao v. Doraisami Chettiar,⁽⁸⁾ if a deed of transfer is intended to defeat or delay the creditors of the transferor, it cannot be separated into parts one of which is honest and the other fraudulent

The second view does not also seem to be correct. A transferee who has no charge for a debt due to him cannot be allowed to get an advantage by taking a fraudulent transfer and claiming a charge for an amount for which he had no charge before

The third view is, however, unexceptionable. The declaration of the charge under such circumstances is merely giving effect to the principle of subrogation under which a person paying off an incumbrance on property stands in the shoes of the person whose incumbrance was discharged

16. Transfer taken in good faith and for consideration.

The second paragraph of the section corresponding to the last paragraph of the old section merely reproduces in substance the English law. It saves from the operation of the first paragraph transfers taken in good faith and for consideration (1) In other words a mere fraudulent intent on

(693)  AIR 1939 Bom 508 (513)  AIR 1930 Lah 1027 (1029) 12 Lah 194 (DB)
  AIR 1919 Bom 99 (100) 43 Bom 707 (DB)  (1913) 18 Ind Cas 768 (769) (DB) (Mad)  (1912) 17 Ind Cas 602 (603) (DB) (Mad)

4. AIR 1932 Lah 174 (176) 12 Lah 763 (DB)  AIR 1931 Mad 533 (536) (Transferee gets mortgage money only and not money debts of transferor discharged by him)  AIR 1920 Nag 83 (86)

5. (1908) 35 Cal 1051 (1057) (DB)

[See AIR 1943 Nag 129 (136) : ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB)]

6. AIR 1936 Pesh 216 (216)

7. AIR 1941 Mad 690 (691)  AIR 1934 Mad 587 (592)  AIR 1933 Rang 91 (193) (Payment by transferee of revenue and encumbrances)  AIR 1931 Mad 513 (519)  AIR 1927 Mad 278 (279) (DB)  AIR 1916 Mad 649 (650) (DB)  1930 Mad WN 1145 (1148) (DB)  (1910) 33 Mad 334 (339) (DB).

[See AIR 1942 Mad 751 (753) (DB). (Part of consideration for the transfer attacked is fraudulent consisting in the discharge by the transferee of prior charge) - Although the Court has granted equitable relief to such a person whose hands have not been altogether clean, yet the Court will not grant to the transferee who has been the prime mover in the committal of fraud on another's creditors. 33 Mad 334, Referred)]

[See also AIR 1939 Mad 745 (749) (DB)]

8. (1913) 18 Ind Cas 768 (769) (DB) (Mad). (Per Sadasiva Aiyar, J.)

Section 53 — Note 16

1. AIR 1928 Pat 199 (200) (DB) (It is no part of the duty of the purchaser to see what is done the part of the transferor to defeat or delay the creditors will not avoid the deed if the transferee has acted bona fide and paid consideration for the transfer (2) In spite of the presumption arising under Section 7 of the Madras Indebted Agriculturists Repayment of Debts Act I of 1965 if the transferee establishes that he is a transferor in good faith and for consideration the transfer cannot be avoided (3)

But the existence both of good faith and payment of consideration are essential conditions for saving the transfer from the liability of being avoided (4) The question of consideration and the question of good faith are not the same and the mere fact of payment of consideration does not necessarily establish good faith regardless of other circumstances (5), though it may be an ingredient in showing showing good faith (6) and may shift the onus of proof of had faith on to the person with the purchase money)  (1903) 5 Bom LR 255 (257)  (1919) 88 LJ KB 679 (683) (1919) 1 KB 583 (591), (Denny's Trustee v Denny  (1881) 51 LJ Ch 154 (157) 20 Ch D 389 (396), Golden v Gillam, In re Johnson  (1877) 46 LJ Ch 729 (734) 6 Ch D 29 (39-40) Kewan v Crawford  (1861) 158 ER 333 (335) 30 LJ Ex 355, Darvill v Terry  (1845) 115 ER 724 (725) 7 QB 892 Wood v Dixie  (1840) 173 ER 991 (992) 9 Car & P 640 Riches v Evans  (1817) 56 ER 386 (393) 2 Mad 410, Copin v Middleton  (1601) 76 ER 809 (814) : 1 Sm LC 1, Twyne's case.

2. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 280 (288) (DB)  (1972) 38 Cut LT 1323  1955 Raj LW 316 (317) AIR 1955 NLC 2545  AIR 1945 All 42 (45) ILR (1944) All 737 (DB) (Where a person makes a real transfer the plea of fraudulent transfer cannot succeed unless it can be shown that the transferee had entered into a conspiracy with the debtor to defeat or delay his creditors. The Court cannot deprive an innocent transferee for value on the ground that the transferor had been dishonest)  AIR 1939 Bom 508 (512)  AIR 1936 All 663 (664) (DB) (If the transferor alone had an intention to defraud the creditors and the transferee did not share the intention he would be a transferee in good faith and for consideration and his rights would not be impaired by S 53)  AIR 1932 Rang 13 (14) 9 Rang 614 (DB) (Where the transferee pays what is the fair value of the property presumption is that transaction is bona fide)  AIR 1926 Oudh 469 (470)  AIR 1920 Oudh 182 (185)  AIR 1917 Pat 448 (450) 2 Pat LJ 546 (DB)  AIR 1917 Low-Bur 124 (124) (DB)  AIR 1916 Cal 349 (351) (DB)  (1909) 31 All 170 (172) (DB)  (1907) 34 Cal 999 (1017) (DB) (Where however the transferee is himself a creditor, he occupies a more favoured position)  (1903) 5 Bom LR 213 (214, 215) (DB)  1897 Bom PJ 315 (DB)  (1889) 13 Bom 434 (438) (DB)  (1886) 1 CPLR 63 (64)  (1884) 1 CPLR 59 (60)  (1862-63) 1 Hyde 178 (191, 192) Tarrucknauth Paulit v Gladstone  (1911) 12 Ind Cas 401 (403) (Oudh) (If transferee acts in good faith, fraudulent intention of the judgment-debtor alone is not sufficient to avoid the transfer)  (1910) 5 Ind Cas 179 (180), Ali (1913) 17 Cal LJ 209 (215) (Purchase of property by B benami for A to shield it from creditors — B executing sham mortgage to C — C obtaining collusive decree and executing the same — D purchasing at auction in good faith — A cannot enforce his title against D.)]

3. AIR 1968 Mad 256 (259, 260) : (1968) 1 Mad LJ 513.

4. 1955 Raj LW 316 (317) AIR 1955 NUC 2545  AIR 1914 PC 137 (139) : 37 Mad 227  AIR 1937 Oudh 349 (351) (DB)  AIR 1930 Lah 1027 (1029) 12 Lah 194 (DB)  AIR 1927 Mad 278 (280) (DB) (Consideration means the whole consideration recited in the document of transfer)  AIR 1927 Cal 766 (767) (DB)  (1907) 34 Cal 999 (1013) (DB) impeaching the transfer (7). In many cases the payment of consideration may be proved and yet the object and purpose of the transfer may be to defeat and delay creditors (8). It therefore follows that the payment of consideration alone is not sufficient if there is no good faith on the part of the transferee (9). Similarly, the existence of good faith on the part of the transferee is alone not sufficient if there is no consideration for the transfer (10). The mere fact that the transferee paid consideration will not be sufficient if he helped the transferor to convert his land into cash with intent to avoid the demands of his creditors. (11) However, the care that the law asks of a purchaser in good faith is that of an average purchaser and not a legal expert, who wants to insure against every possible future controversy. It is sufficient if the purchaser makes enquiry about the title and about the occasion for the sale and has no knowledge of any circumstances like indebtedness that might suggest a motive for transfer. (12)

5. AIR 1937 Oudh 349 (351) (DB)  (1903) 5 Bom LR 213 (215, 216) (DB)

6. (1864) 1 Suth WR 319 (320) (SB). (Case before T. P Act)  AIR 1932 Rang 13 (15) 9 Rang 614  (1882) 51 LJ Ch 154 (156) 20 Ch D 389 Golden v Gillam, In re Johnson

[See also AIR 1937 Rang 51 (52) (DB) (Property attached in execution — Daughter of judgment-debtor executing pronote for decretal amount and getting sale deeds of released property — Decree-holder subsequently obtaining another decree against same judgment-debtor — Previous sale could not be set aside as fraudulent and collusive.)]

The vendees in the instant case knew that there was dispute pending between the vendor and third person in respect of the property proposed to be sold and thus the title of the vendor was under cloud and defective. Thus the vendees could not claim that they were bona fide purchasers for value and consideration without having notice of defective title of the vendor (13).

7. AIR 1923 Nag 17 (18)  (1882) 51 LJ Ch 154 (156) · 20 Ch D 389. Golden v Gillam. In re Johnson.

8. (1882) 51 LJ Ch 154 (156) · 20 Ch D 389. Golden v Gillam. In re Johnson  (1913) 36 Mad 29 (31)

9. AIR 1914 PC 137 (139) · 37 Mad 227  (1864) 1 Suth WR 319 (319, 320) (SR) (Case before Transfer of Property Act — A sale by a husband to his wife may be collusive and a fraud on his creditors, notwithstanding the fact that the wife paid full price from her own funds)  1955 Raj LW 316 (317) · AIR 1955 NUC 2545  AIR 1941 Cal 378 (383) · ILR (1941) 1 Cal 536  AIR 1937 Oudh 349 (351) (DB)  AIR 1936 A 66 (664) (DB)  AIR 1926 Mad 624 (624)  AIR 1926 Lah 167 (168) · * Lah 12 (DB) (Payment of debts takes precedence over a right of maintenance)  AIR 1914 Cal 773 (774) (DB) · AIR 1918 Cal 82 (85, 86) (DB)  (1908) 11 Oudh Cas 197 (204) (DB)  (1907) 34 Cal 999 (1013) (DB)  (1903) 5 Bom LR 213 (215) (DB)  1901 Pun Re No 6 p 18 (25, 26) (This was so even under 3 Eliz. Chap 5.  (1887) 11 Har 606 (676) (DB) · * 38 LJ Ch 543 (545) · LR 8 EQ 46. Bulmer v Hunter  (1880) 5 LR 251 (257) · 4 Moo PC 121 (136). Corlett v Radcliffe. A deed of transfer is void against creditors when the debtor is in a state of insolvency, or the effect of the deed is to leave the debtor without the means of paying his present debts)  (1859) 45 ER 233 (235) · 4 De G & J 600. Thompson v Webster  (1856) 26 LJ Ch 179 (181) · 3 K & J 90. Holmes v Penny  (1852) 22 LJ Ch 1066 (1068) · 10 Hare 81. Harman v Richards  (1913) 36 Mad 39 (31)  (1910) 13 Oudh Cas 265 (276, 281) (DB)  (1776) 98 ER 117 (1172) · Cowp 432. Crook v Kennett  (1601) 76 ER 809 (814) · 3 Co Rep 86. Twyne's case

[See also (1887) All WN 52 (53) (Because the transaction was entered into for the benefit of a particular creditor, it cannot be said that the transaction was entered into with the intention of defeating or delaying creditors)  (1869) 5 Mad HCR 368 (371) (DB) · * (1853) 65 ER 98 (112) · 1 Sin & G 228 (256). Colombine v Penhall (Marriage as a part of scheme to defeat creditors is not in good faith.)  (1926) 95 LJP 83 (85) · 1926 P 93. Jagger v Jagger (Do)  (1861) 70 ER 807 (811) · 11 J & H 40. Acraman v Carbe (Do) · 13 J & H 100.

10. (1601) 76 ER 809 (815) · 1 Sm LC 1. Twyne's case.

11. AIR 1934 Mad 587 (592)  AIR 1932 Rang 13 (14) · 9 Rang 614 (DB)  AIR 1930 Mad 665 (667, 668)  AIR 1926 Nag 494 (494)  (1907) 34 Cal 999 (1012) (DB) · * 1853 16 Mad 397 (399) (DB)  (1911) 10 Ind Cas 922 (924) (Low Bur)  1916 33 Mad 336 (336, 339) (DB).

[See also (1913) 18 Ind Cas 332 (333) (DB) (Mad).]

12. 1979 All LJ 1302 · 1979 All WC 597.

13. 1998 (3) Rec Civ R 395 (428) (Punj and Har)

Where it is specifically and clearly mentioned in the body of the sale deed that entire consideration was already received by executants, the sale deed cannot be said to be fraudulent one (14)

It is to be noted that the good faith contemplated by the exception is good faith on the part of the transferee and not of the transferor (15) for if the transferor acted in good faith even the first paragraph of the section will not apply, and the second paragraph cannot come into operation unless the transfer is made by the transferor with intent to defraud the creditors (16)

If from an executor operating under probate later revoked, a bona fide purchaser takes property of the deceased without any notice of any fact, which gives the purchaser the notice of possibility of defeating the interest of another person, whether taking under will or possible intestacy, and if the purchaser also pays valuable consideration, and is in substance a bona fide third party acting on the grant by placing reliance on the seal of the Court from where it is issued, the purchaser shall be protected. (17)

17. Consideration.

Under the English Statutes, 13 Eliz., Chaps. 5 and 27 Eliz., Chap. 4, the words "good consideration" were used. But this was interpreted to mean only valuable consideration and not a meritorious or gratuitous consideration such as natural love and affection (1). Under this section also "consideration" means valuable consideration (2). Under S. 25 of the Contract Act, an agreement made on account of natural love and affection is not one for "consideration." A transfer in consideration of natural love and affection is not a transfer for "consideration" within the meaning of this section (3). A time-barred debt, under the said section of the Contract Act, is also not a "consideration." A transfer, therefore, in discharge of a time barred debt cannot be a transfer for consideration within the meaning of this section. A contrary view has, however, been taken in the undermentioned case (4). It is submitted that it is not correct.

A trust deed executed to pay the creditors and to avoid the Court of Wards taking over the estate is not a transfer for consideration, though it may be valid if there is no intention to defeat and delay the creditors (5).

14. 2002 (1) JCR (JHA) 188 (189)

15. AIR 1951 Trav-Co 55 (61)  AIR 1928 All 29 (32) (DB) (Co-sharer effecting fraudulent partition — Bona fide purchaser for value of share completely protected)  (1896) 66 LJ QB 111 (115), 75 LT 166, 3 Manson 226. In re Tetley, Ex parte Jeffrey.

16. AIR 1938 Sind 215 (216) : ILR (1939) Kar 136 (DB).

17. 2000 (2) Cal HN 641 (656)

Section 53 — Note 17

1. (1843) 49 ER 1006 (1010, 1011), 13 LJ Ch 186, Richardson v Horton (Marriage is a valuable consideration)  (1817) 56 ER 386 (393), 2 Madd 410, Copies v Middleton  (1786) 29 ER 1165 (1166), 1 Cox 277, Earl of Salisbury v Cecil  (1758) 28 ER 647 (648), 1 Eden 166, Partridge v Gopp  (1743) 26 ER 758 (759), 2 Atk 600, Taylor v Jones (Trust left to a husband)  (1601) 76 ER 809 (822, 823), 1 Sm LC 1, Twyne's case  (1926) 95 LJ P 83 (85), 1926 P 93, Jagger v Jagger (Do)  (1877) 46 LJ Ch 729 (734) : 6 Ch D 29 (39), Kevan v Crawford, (Do.)

[See also (1867) 15 WR Eng 919 (920), Smith v Cherrill  (1775) 96 ER 599 (600), 2 Wm Bl 1019, Goodright D. Humphreys v Moses  (1790) 30 ER 109 (111), 2 Cox 235 (240), Dundas v. Dutens, (Marriage is a valuable consideration.)]

2. (1900) 13 CPLR 180 (183)

3. See (1900) 13 CPLR 180 (183).

4. AIR 1930 Sind 284 (286) (DB).

5. AIR 1924 Oudh 80 (86, 87), 25 Oudh Cas 291 (DB) (There is no necessity to consult the creditors before the trust-deed is executed.)

In England it has been held that the existence of an antecedent debt is not a valuable consideration for the assignment by a debtor to his creditor unless, coupled therewith, there is evidence of an express or implied request on the part of the grantor, acceded to by the grantee, to forbear to sue or some other advantage which will be regarded a valuable consideration (6) But the law will presume, in the absence of any evidence, from the fact of the assignment itself, a promise by the assignee of a forbearance to sue.(7)

It has been held that marriage is in law consideration of the highest value and is therefore sufficient to support an ante-nuptial conveyance of property (8)

18. Transfer for dower.

A transfer for a dower is a transfer for consideration (1) The general rule of Muhammadan law is that a man can fix the dower at any amount he pleases even though it is far in excess of his means.(2)

A transfer in consideration of a dower debt due is a transfer in favour of a creditor and is merely a preference of one creditor over others (3) Such a transfer does not fall within this section. See Note 20

19. Good faith.

A transferee cannot be said to have acted in good faith if he has participated in the fraudulent intention of the transfer to defeat or delay his creditors (1) Where the transferee has notice of the fraudulent intention of the transferor, that fact will be an element in arriving at a finding on the

6. (1912) 81 LJ KB 334 (338) Glegg v Bromley (Reversed on another point in (1912) 81 LJ KB 1081)  (1912) 81 LJ KB 1081 (1085) (1912) 3 KB 474 Glegg v Bromley

[But see (1879) 27 WR (Eng) 744 (744) 12 Ch D 314 Ex parte Games In re Bamford (Alton v Harrison, (1869) 17 WR (Eng) 1034), followed, (1879) 27 WR (Eng) 492 (Reversed.)]

7. (1912) 81 LJ KB 1081 (1085) (1912) 3 KB 474, Glegg v Bromley

8. AIR 1960 Mad 536 (537)

Section 53 — Note 18

1. AIR 1952 Nag 106 (110) ILR (1953) Nag 684  1949 28 Pat 97 (101)  AIR 1927 Oudh 176 (176) (DB) (Provided wife had no knowledge of husband's prior debt)

2. See Mulla, Principles of Mahomedan Law 6th Edn 1919 p 174 and F B Tvaibji Mahomedan Law 3rd Edn 1940 p 174  (1894) 21 Cal 135 (139) 20 Ind App 144 (PC). (But the Courts of Justice are armed with large powers over that class of contract.) [See (1865) 10 MIA 252 (276, 277) 2 Suth WR 55 (PC).]

3. (1949) 28 Pat 97 (101) (DB)  AIR 1941 Oudh 457 (462 463) 16 Luck 832 (DB)

Section 53 — Note 19

1. AIR 1936 Lah 286 (289 290) (DB) (Donee party to fraud perpetrated by donor — Gift held voidable at the instance of creditors)  AIR 1935 Lah 404 (405) 16 Lah 680 (DB)  AIR 1934 Lah 318 (319) (It is the knowledge and intention of the transferee which is the determining factor as to the validity of the transfer)  AIR 1930 Lah 1027 (1028) 12 Lah 194 (DB) (Even though consideration is shown to have passed in full)  AIR 1929 Lah 1 (4, 5) 10 Lah 447 (DB) (In order to avoid a transfer on the ground of fraud it must be established that the transferee had same fraudulent intention as the transferor)  AIR 1929 Lah 409 (413) (DB). (Removing property from creditors for debtor's benefit must be proved even where transferee knows debtor's intention and property is not worth more than his debt)  AIR 1927 Mad 278 (279) (DB)  AIR 1926 Nag 293 (296) (An intention to defeat the creditors may well exist on the part of the vendor yet the sale will be valid unless the vendee was also a party to the fraud 27 Bom 322 and 20 Mad 465 followed 22 Bom 255, Distinguished.) AI 1926 Lah 25 (26) (DB) (In each case it is a question of fact as to whether or not the transferee has bought in good faith and without the question of good faith on his part (2) But the mere fact that the transferee has some reason to suspect that there may be other creditors of the transferor (3) or even the fact that the transferee may have knowledge that the transferor is in financial embarrassment (4) or that the transaction might defeat or delay some creditors of the transferor (so long as he does not share in the intention of the transferor), (5) does not necessarily import bad faith. Where the transferee has paid consideration, that fact, though it is not necessarily conclusive of good faith, (6) will give rise to a presumption of good faith. (7) knowledge of the transferor's object in selling)  AIR 1924 Lah 707 (709) (DB) (Father selling property to son — Consideration proved as passed — Son's good faith proved — Sale not void)  AIR 1923 Lah 423 (424) 4 Lah 211 (DB)  AIR 1923 Nag 17 (18)  AIR 1923 Nag 103 (103) (In order to avoid a transfer under this section so far as the transferee is concerned it must be found that he participated in the intention of the transferor to defeat or delay the creditors)  AIR 1914 Cal 773 (776) (DB) (Mere knowledge on the part of a purchaser that a sale may defeat or delay the creditors is not sufficient to negative the bona fides of a purchaser)  AIR 1914 Lah 356 (358) (DB) (Transferee's participation in fraudulent intention not proved — Transfer upheld)  1937 Mad WN 1161 (1162) (DB) (It is not sufficient to show want of good faith on the part of the transferor alone — the knowledge and intention of the transferee are the determining factors)  (1909) 31 All 170 (172) (DB)  1901 Pun Re No 6 p 18 (25)  (1900) 13 CPLR 180 (183) 184) (In order to constitute breach of good faith there must be some active participation in the fraud — some collusion between the transferor and the transferee whereby an unfair advantage is to accrue to either of them)

Note — As seen in Note 2a, where the transferee has agreed with the transferor as regards the fraudulent purpose the transfer would be void under S 6(h) of this Act and S 23 Contract Act — It is only where the want of good faith on the transferee's part does not amount to his having agreed with the transferor as to the defrauding of the creditors that this section will apply

2. AIR 1960 Mad 536 (537) Marriage settlement transferring all property of indebted settlor — Grantee charged with notice of fraud)  1979 WLN 705 (708) (Raj)  AIR 1923 Mad 558 (561) 46 Mad 478 (DB) (Purchaser failing to inquire from person who could have given him best information as to defect in the title is not a bona fide purchaser)
 3. AIR 1937 All 39 (41) : ILR (1937) All 153 (DB).
 4. AIR 1952 Sau 47 (48) (DB) (Mortgage for pre-existing debt — Creditor aware of precarious financial position of debtor at time of mortgage — Plea of good faith can stand)  AIR 1947 Cal 154 (156) (DB).
- [See also AIR 1958 Mys 35 (38) : ILR (1957) Mys 147 (DB) (Transferor in insolvent circumstances and under pressure from his creditors — Transferee having knowledge of these facts purchasing entire stock — Neither substantial contemporaneous payment made nor any promise to make such payment — Transaction cannot be held to be one entered in good faith.)]
- [See however AIR 1955 Pat 458 (467) 34 Pat 440 (DB) (Facts indicating transferee's knowledge of debts exceeding transferor's assets — Transferee cannot be said to have acted in good faith.)]
5. AIR 1933 Rang 169 (172)  AIR 1912 Rang 13 (14) 9 Rang 614 (DB) (Citing 24 Cal 825)  AIR 1918 Cal 82 (85) (DB) (Payment of full consideration does not validate transfer if the transferee has full knowledge of the intention of seller to defraud creditors)  (1897) 24 Cal 825 (828) (DB)  (1874) 22 Suth WR 473 (474) (DB) (Purchaser is not bound to see to the application of the money)  (1923) 71 Ind Cas 20 (23) (Pesh)
 6. AIR 1927 Nag 166 (167) (Purchaser must have acted in good faith also)  AIR 1921 Nag 103 (104) 17 Nag LR 69 (DB)  AIR 1918 Cal 82 (85) (DB)  (1907) 34 Cal 909 (1008, 1012, 1013) (DB) (Good faith as well as consideration are essential conditions of the validity of transfer, 24 Cal 825 relied on)  (1897) 24 Cal 825 (828) (DB)
 7. AIR 1952 Sau 47 (48) (DB) (Mortgage for pre-existing debt almost equal to the value of

When the property was purchased with the knowledge that it was hypothecated with Bank, S 53 would come into operation and the application by purchaser under O 21, Rr 58-59 is liable to be rejected.(8)

Where the property was partitioned during pendency of sales tax proceedings and some of the families members sold the property coming to their shares to third parties, the said transfers being fraudulent, the third parties could not claim protection, the maxim caveat emptor applies (9)

See also the undermentioned cases.(10) See also Note 16

20. Preference of one creditor over others.

Under the law relating to insolvency a preference by the debtor of one creditor over others, is, under certain circumstances, deemed fraudulent and void as against the Official Receiver or Official Assignee (1) Apart from the law of insolvency however, a preference by a debtor of one creditor over others is not ipso facto deemed fraudulent (2) The reason of the rule is stated by Palles, C B., in In re Moroney (3), as follows :

the property — Creditor aware of precarious financial position of debtor — Plea of good faith can stand)  AIR 1928 Pat 199 (201) (DB) (But consideration not paid — No ground for holding deed fraudulent)  (1900) 13 CLR 180 (183) (If a transfer is for valuable consideration the burden of proving that it was not made bona fide is upon those who seek to set aside the deed.)

(See also AIR 1958 SC 1 (6). (An application by the Official Receiver for the annulment of a transfer under S 53 Insolvency Act can be allowed on proof of either that there was no consideration or that the consideration was so inadequate as to raise the presumption of want of good faith.))

8. 1997 (2) Mad LW 925 (927)

9. 2001 AIHC 4649 (4658) (Mad)

10 AIR 1951 Trav Co 55 (62) 1950 TCI R 707 (DB) (Whether transfer is one made in good faith must depend upon its own circumstances and is always in such cases a question of fact)  1979 All LJ 1302 (1303) 1979 All WC 597 (Core that law asks of a purchaser in good faith is that of an average purchaser and not that of a legal expert)  (1977) 2 Mad LJ 431 (438) 90 Mad LW 543 (DB) (Question of good faith is necessarily a question of fact.)

Section 53 — Note 20

1. See Section 54 of the Provincial Insolvency Act 1920 S 56 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act S 44 of the English Bankruptcy Act 1914  AIR 1963 SC 1150 (1156)  (1963) 2 Andh LT 224 (227)  AIR 1955 NLC 5165 (1955) 2 Mad LJ 380 (381)  AIR 1940 Pat 683 (690) 19 Pat 715  AIR 1933 Mad 653 (654-655) (Provincial Insolvency Act, S 54 — Transfer of whole of property to one creditor not only to secure past debts but also fresh loans — Transfer is voidable)

2. AIR 1963 SC 1150 (1156)  AIR 1944 Nag 44 (52) 1LR (1944) Nag 342 (FB). (In order to attract S 53 when the transferee is the creditor of the transferor, it is not enough that there should be a real transfer and that it should be intended to defeat or delay the creditors, nor it is enough that both transferor and transferee share that intention. It must be shown in addition that the real object of the transfer is to place the property beyond the reach of the creditors for the benefit of the debtor and is not for the payment of his debts or for the protection of his interests)  AIR 1972 Mad 34 (35) (1971) 2 Mad LJ 292 (DB),  AIR 1967 Ker 171 (172) (Transfer cannot be annulled unless it is established that it was intended to defeat or delay creditors of transferor)  AIR 1966 Andh Pra 157 (158) (1966) 1 Andh WR 374 (DB)  (1964) 1 Andh WR 79 (81)  (1963) 2 Andh LT 224 (227)  (1960) 73 Mad LW 195 (197)  (1912) 81 LJ KB 1081 (1087) (1912) 3 KB 474, Glegg v Bromley  (1912) 81 LJ KB 334 (338) Glegg v Bromley (Reversed on another point in (1912) 81 LJ KB 1081)  (1909) 31 All 170 (172) (DB)

3. (1887) 36 WR (Eng) Dig 12 1LR 21 Ir 27 (Cited in AIR 1915 PC 115)

"The right of the creditors taken as a whole is that all the property of the debtor should be applied in payment of demands of them or some of them, without any portion of it being parted with without consideration or reserved or retained by the debtor to their prejudice. It follows from this that security given by a debtor to one creditor upon a portion of or upon all his property, although the effect of it or even the intent of the debtor in making it may be to defeat an expected execution of another creditor is not a fraud within the statute, because notwithstanding such an act the entire property remains available for the creditors or some or one of them and as the statute gives no right to rateable distribution, the right of the creditors by such act is not invaded or affected."

These observations were approved by their Lordships of the Privy Council in Musahar Sahni v. Hakim Lal : (4)

"As matter of law" said Lord Wrenbury in delivering the judgment of the Board "their Lordships take it to be clear that in a case in which no consideration of the law of bankruptcy applies there is nothing to prevent a debtor paying one creditor in full and leaving other unpaid although the result may be that the rest of his assets will be insufficient to provide for the payment of the rest of his debts."

and later on

The transfer which defeats or delays creditors is not an instrument which prefers one creditor to another but an instrument which removes property from the creditors to the benefit of the debtor. The debtor must not retain a benefit for himself. He may pay one creditor and leave another unpaid. Middleton v. Poillock (5) So soon as it is found that the transfer here impeached was made on adequate consideration in satisfaction of genuine debts and without reservation of any benefit to the debtor it follows that no ground for impeaching it lies in the fact that the plaintiff who also was a creditor was a loser by payment being made to this preferred creditor, there being in the case no question of bankruptcy."

It follows from the principles stated above that—

(1) The mere fact that one creditor is preferred to another is not of itself, in the absence of any reservation of any benefit to the debtor, sufficient to render the transaction voidable. (6) and this

4. AIR 1915 PC 115 (115, 116) : 43 Cal 521.

5. (1876) 45 LJ Ch 293 (294) : 2 Ch D 104

6. AIR 1929 PC 279 (281) : 56 Ind App 379  AIR 1976 SC 656 : 1977 UPTC 641  AIR 1944 Nag 44 (52) : ILR (1944) Nag 342 (FB). (When the transferee is not a mere volunteer and has an interest to protect as for instance where he is a creditor of the transferor or a member of a joint family entitled to a share of the property it must be shown that the real object of the transfer is to place the property beyond the reach of the creditors for the benefit of the debtor, and is not for the payment of his debts, or for the protection of his interest)  AIR 1967 Ker 171 (173) 1967 Ker LT 810  AIR 1966 Mad 247 (252)  AIR 1961 Mad 403 (404)  (1960) 73 Mad LW 195 (197)  AIR (1960) Punj 417 (418) (DB)  AIR 1958 Mad 580 (582)  AIR 1948 Nag 110 (115) ILR (1947) Nag 510 (DB) (A sale effected in order to pay off one creditor in preference to others is not invalid)  1944 Mar LR (Civ) 38 (DB) (Security given by a debtor to one creditor upon a portion of or upon all his property although the effect of it or even the intent of the debtor in making it may be to defeat an expected execution of another creditor is not a fraud)  AIR 1943 Nag 29 (136) ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB)  AIR 1941 Cal 378 (382) ILR (1941) 1 Cal 536 (But where part of consideration for such transfer is proved to be fictitious and is put in the bond only to protect the transferor's property from his other creditors, the transfer is not a mere preference of one creditor over another but is one made to defeat and delay creditors within Section 53)  AIR 1939 Oudh 230 (231) 14 Luck 621 (DB)  (1940) 42 Punj LR 385 (391) (DB) (Compromise with one of the creditors surrendering portion of property under pressure)  (1940) 42 Punj LR 119 (120)  AIR 1939 Sind 97 (99) ILR (1939) Kar 269 (DB) (Section applies to transfers where the transferor prefers himself to his creditors)  AIR 1938 Sind 215 (216) ILR (1939) Kar 136 (DB) (AIR 1915 PC 115 Followed)  AIR 1929 Sind 94 (97) (Do)  AIR 1913 Pat 281 (283) 12 Pat 297 (DB) (Do)  AIR 1938 Bom 289 (290 291) ILR (1938) Bom 145 (Do)  AIR 1937 Pat 609 (611)  AIR 1938 Oudh 44 (44, 45) 13 Luck 655 (DB) (Transfer in favour of wife for dower debt is valid)  AIR 1938 Nag 249 (250) ILR (1940) Nag 316 (Such transaction can be challenged only in insolvency proceedings)  AIR 1937 Lah 220 (222) (DB)  AIR 1937 Nag 9 (11)  AIR 1937 Nag 1 (5) ILR (1937) Nag 29 (DB) (Transfer by a Mohamedan to his wife for dower — Wife is his creditor just as others)  AIR 1937 Rang 531 (533) (The proper way to deal with such cases is to file a suit for administration)  AIR 1937 Rang 47 (47)  AIR 1935 Mad 250 (25) (AIR 1935 PC 115 Relied on.)  AIR 1934 Mad 294 (298)  AIR 1934 Lah 318 (319) (DB)  AIR 1934 Lah 705 (707) (A transfer of property by a Mahomedan husband to his wife in lieu of a dower debt)  AIR 1933 Rang 162 (164)  AIR 1932 Mad 182 (184) (DB) (But the principle does not apply where the whole of the consideration of the transaction is not the debt of the preferred creditor — In such a case the whole transaction is void)  AIR 1932 Oudh 46 (42) 7 Luck 411 (DB) (Debt contracted by a husband must take precedence over a wife's claim for maintenance)  AIR 1932 Nag 33 (34)  Nag LR 382  AIR 1930 Rang 265 (268) 8 Rang 223 (DB) (Assignment by debtor of his decree to one creditor in preference to another is not invalid even if that creditor is a party to the intention)  AIR 1930 Lah 1027 (1028) 12 Lah 194 (DB) (Even if the creditor is his relation)  AIR 1930 Oudh 93 (94, 95) 5 Luck 625 (DB) (AIR 1915 PC 115. Followed. Even if the preference is given in anticipation of an attachment)  AIR 1929 Oudh 520 (521) 4 Luck 434 (DB) (Transfer in favour of wife for dower debt is valid)  AIR 1927 Oudh 617 (618) (Do.)  AIR 1925 Oudh 267 (269) (Do.)  AIR 1937 All 39 (41) ILR (1937) All 153 (DB) (Do.)  AIR 1936 All 803 (805) (DB) (Do.)  AIR 1936 All 600 (603, 607) (DB) (Do.)  AIR 1929 Nag 38 (39)  AIR 1929 Lah 409 (43) (DB)  AIR 1929 Nag 110 (111)  AIR 1935 Mad 860 (864) (DB) (AIR 1915 PC 115. Followed.)  AIR 1928 Mad 793 (793, 794) (DB) (However suspicious a transaction may be there must be evidence on which the fraudulent intention must be made out)  AIR 1927 Nag 363 (364) (Especially where the price fetched is not alleged or proved to be grossly inadequate)  AIR 1927 Nag 157 (157) (Mere undue preference of a creditor does not necessarily fall within S 53 — To determine whether a transaction is fraudulent or not the crucial test is the intention of parties)  AIR 1927 Nag 205 (205) (Principle applied to a sale of moveable property)  AIR 1927 Mad 684 (685) 50 Mad 776 (DB) (Assumed.)  AIR 1927 Mad 278 (279) (DB)  AIR 1927 Mad 1144 (1144) (DB)  AIR 1927 Rang 168 (168)  AIR 1927 Cal 836 (839, 840) 54 Cal 687 (Mortgage to one creditor on security of entire property held not fraudulent)  AIR 1922 Mad 447 (449) 45 Mad 90 (DB)  AIR 1921 Pat 395 (396) (DB) (In this case transferee was wife)  AIR 1919 Cal 858 (859) (DB) (Mortgage in favour of one of the creditors)  AIR 1918 Nag 184 (185) (AIR 1915 PC 115. Followed.)  AIR 1918 Oudh 5 (6) 21 Oudh Cas 97  AIR 1917 Mad 886 (886) (DB)  AIR 1916 Mad 578 (578) (DB) (A transfer by a debtor for a genuine debt of a part only of his property is not voidable under S 53)  AIR 1914 Oudh 392 (396) 17 Oudh Cas 73  1908 Pun Re No 80 p 381 (387) (DB)  (1907) 17 Mad LJ 11 (13) (DB)  1907 34 Cal 999 (1015) (1017) (DB)  1904 28 Bom 639 (642)  (1903) 5 Bom LR 142 (144) (DB)  1902 503 2 Upp Bur Rul Civ Pro 15 (17)  (1901) All WN 64 (65) (DB) (Transfer in favour of wife for dower debt is valid)  (1900) 13 CPLR 180 (185, 186)  (1900) 25 Bom 202 (214) (DB)  (1900) 23 Mad 184 (189) (DB) (But where a document given by way of security is given to the and secures debts not due the effect is to defraud or to defeat the creditors)  (1887) Bom 666 (674) (DB) (The fact of one creditor being the brother of the debtor would not make the preference impossible)  (1886) 8 All 178 (180) (DB) (Do.)  (1876) 2 NWPHCR 224 (225) (DB)  (1869) 1 NWPHCR 21 (22) (DB)  (1839) 43 Cal WN 1136 (1138) (DB) (AIR 1915 PC 115. Relied on.)  (1937) 2 Mad LJ 865 (867) (DB)  (1937) 168 Ind Cas 695 (695) (Lah)  (1936) 162 Ind Cas 749 (750) (Nag)  (1935) 20 Ind Cas 355 (357) (DB) (Lah) (Question arose as regards decree passed on award in favour of one creditor)  (1913) 36 Mad 29 (30)  (1913) 20 Ind Cas 349 (350) (DB) (Low Bur)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 1037 (1038) (DB) (Lah)  (1910) 5 Ind Cas 139 (180) (All)  (1910) 33 Mad 334 (337) (DB) (But the burden of proving this where the sale appears otherwise to be voidable is on the defendant transferee)  (1925) 95 Ll Ch 40 (143, 144) 1925 Ch 853 (860) In re Lloyd's Furniture Palace Ltd. Evans v The Com-would be so even if the debtor did this on set purpose.(7) The fact that the debtor favours a creditor by effecting transfer in favour of a non-creditor and paying the consideration to the creditor, would not make any difference (8) A debtor, for all that is contained in this section, may pay his debts in any order he pleases and prefer any creditor he chooses.(9)

(2) The question of good faith does not ordinarily arise in the case of the preferred creditor. A creditor is entitled to safeguard his rights by obtaining a transfer from his debtor even if he knew that the necessary result would be that other creditors would be defeated.(10) Thus, transfer of building in favour of the wife in consideration of her outstanding loan against the husband could not be avoided though it amounted to preference of one creditor over other.(11)

(3) But where the transaction, in addition to its being a preference of one creditor to another is intended to benefit the debtor in some way, it would be fraudulent (12) Thus, a transfer even to a creditor has been held to be a fraudulent one under the section where the document beyond merely pany  (1869) 38 LJ Ch 669 (671) 4 Ch 622, Alton v Hamison  (1852) 68 ER 826 (832) 10 Hare 30 22 LJ Ch 289, Smith v Hurst  (1793) 101 ER 236 (239) 5 Term R 420, Estwick v Caillaud  (1793) 101 ER 132 (134) 5 Term R 225 Holbird v Anderson  (1699) 24 ER 51 (51) : 1 Eq Cas Abr 149, Dewkner v Freeman.

[See also AIR 1937 Nag 400 (401) ILR (1937) Nag 452 (Transfer by debtor to one creditor for adequate consideration — Whole consideration spent in satisfaction of debtor's dues without leaving anything for his benefit — Transfer is not fraudulent)  AIR 1927 Nag 166 (167)]

7. AIR 1916 PC 238 (240) : 44 Cal 662  (1960) 73 Mad LW 195 (197) (Transfer made to avoid an impending execution by another creditor)  AIR 1947 Cal 154 (155) (DB)  AIR 1943 Nag 129 (136) ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB)  AIR 1941 Oudh 457 (463) 16 Luck 832 (DB) (A Mahomedan gifting property to wife in lieu of her dower debt)  AIR 1938 Lah 156 (158) (DB) (The circumstance that the debtor's action was prompted by revenge against the creditor who got him imprisoned was irrelevant)  AIR 1924 Mad 450 (453) (DB)  (1861) 158 ER 333 (334) 6 H & N 807, Dorvill v Terry  (1925) 95 LJ Ch 140 (143, 144) 1925 Ch 853, In re Lloyd's Furniture Palace Ltd, Evans v The Company.

8. AIR 1973 Mad 222 (228, 229) (1973) 1 Mad LJ 116 (DB)

9. AIR 1916 PC 238 (240) : 44 Cal 662  AIR 1981 SC 1556 (1561, 1562) : 1981 UJ (SC) 578 (Trust property consisting of income from companies share dividends — Beneficiaries, trustees under trust deed — Assignment of trust property to two creditors — Notice of assignment given by first creditor to trustee — He will have priority in receiving trust income — His failure to notify companies, not material)  AIR 1944 Nag 44 (52) : ILR (1944) Nag 342 (FB)  (1960) 73 Mad LW 195 (197)  AIR 1939 Bom 508 (512)  AIR 1938 Oudh 44 (45) 13 Luck 655 (DB) (Wife as a creditor for dower debt was preferred)  AIR 1930 Lah 1027 (1028) 12 Lah 194 (DB)  1925 95 LJ Ch 140 (143) 1925 Ch 853 (861) In re Lloyd's Furniture Palace Ltd, Evans v The Company

[See also AIR 1929 PC 279 (281) : 56 Ind App 379 (AIR 1915 PC 115, Followed)]

10. AIR 1943 Nag 129 (136) ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB)  AIR 1937 Rang 471 (471)  AIR 1934 Lah 161 (162)  AIR 1934 Mad 587 (592)  AIR 1930 Mad 665 (667, 668)  AIR 1927 Mad 278 (279, 280) (DB)  AIR 1914 Low Bur 180 (182) (In his case a proof of valuable consideration is sufficient.)

11. AIR 1972 Raj 67 (68) : 1971 WLN 289 (DB).

12. AIR 1919 PC 6 (9) : 15 Nag LR 68  AIR 1944 Nag 44 (52) : ILR (1944) Nag 342 (FB). (Partition between members of joint family — A, a member, was assigned properties which A's creditors would not be able to touch and which A would be able to keep for himself — Properties against which A's creditor could proceed before partition given to B — Held, A retained a benefit for himself and therefore partition was liable to be set aside at the inpreferring a creditor, goes further and secures debts not due (13) or states a consideration larger than the debt due to the creditor on the understanding that the rest of the consideration should be for the benefit of the debtor and that the transfer should be used as a shield against the other creditors. (14)

See also the undermentioned case. (15)

The principle that a transfer to a creditor in preference over another or others is not, unless it secures a benefit to the debtor, bad, applies only where the creditor takes the transfer for his pre-existing debts. It will not apply to a case where the transferee becomes a creditor for the first time by advancing money to the debtor at the time of the transfer (16)

21. Transferee from a transferee.

Where the first transferee is a bona fide transferee for consideration, he gets a good title and even a fraudulent transferee from such transferee will be protected (1) A bona fide transferee from a fraudulent transferee would also be protected (2) Where, however, fictitious mortgage was ex-stance of A's creditors)  (1956) 2 All ER 537 (544)  AIR 1943 Nag 129 (131, 136) ILR (1943) Nag 45 (DB). Sale to one creditor with a clause of reconveyance after other creditors settled their claims — Arrangement is not illegal but might be attacked under S 53, because it could be argued that the debtor had retained a benefit for himself,  AIR 1939 Bom 508 (512, 513) (In such a case assignment should not be upheld even to the extent of amount which was actually due to creditor)  AIR 1939 Mad 745 (749) (DB)  AIR 1929 Lah 409 (413) (DB)  AIR 1928 Mad 793 (793, 794) (DB). (Fraud must be distinctly alleged and proved by the creditors.  AIR 1924 Nag 318 (319)  (1907) 34 Cal 999 (1018) (DB)  1923 192 LJ Ch 400 (407, 408) (1933) 2 Ch. In Facey v Ex parte Trustees  (1876) 45 LJ QB 498, 499. (PD) 25 Blacklock v Dobie  (1878) 45 LJ Ch 293 (294, 295) 2 Ch D 104. Middleton v Patlock Ex parte Elliott  (1869) 38 LJ Ch 669 (671) 4 Ch 692. Aiton v Harrison  (1852) 68 ER 826 (832) 10 Hare 30. Smith v Hurst (Creditor becomes a party to the fraud of the debtor, and being a party to this fraud he cannot be in any better position than the debtor who has perpetrated it)  (1913) 20 Ind Cas 349 (350) (DB) (Low Bur)  (1910) 5 Low Bur Rul 195  (1601) 76 ER 809 (814) 3 Coke Rep 86, Twyne's case.

13. (1960) 73 Mad LW 195 (197) (Fictitious debt)  AIR 1941 Cal 378 (382) ILR (1941) 1 Cal 526  (1900) 23 Mad 184 (189) (DB) (Inclusion of such debts in a document which would otherwise not be within the section is prima facie evidence of an intention to defeat or delay the creditors.)

14. (1960) 73 Mad LW 195 (197) (So also sale of land more than is necessary to satisfy the debt enables the debtor to keep property out of reach of creditors.  AIR 1932 Mad 182 (184) (DB) In such cases whole document must be set aside.  AIR 1927 Mad 78 (119) (DB)  (1910) 5 Low Bur Rul 195 (197)

15. AIR 1933 Rang 191 (192) — Absence of cash or any proved prior consideration, and absence of pressure from transferee — Prima facie transfer is voidable.  1975 MPLJ 556 (DB).

16. AIR 1935 Lah 404 (406) : 16 Lah 680 (DB).

[See also AIR 1933 Mad 653 (654, 655) (Transfer of whole property not merely for existing debts but also fresh loans advanced — Transfer is voidable under S 54 Provincial Insolvency Act)]

Section 53 — Note 21

1. See (1738) 26 ER 359 (359) : 1 Atk 571. Brandlyn v. Ord.

2. AIR 1940 Lah 198 (199)  AIR 1938 Lah 73 (75) ILR 1938 Lah 439 (Fraudulent transfer by insolvent in favour of his wife more than two years before his adjudication — B purchasing property in execution of mortgage decree against her — Application by Official Receiver to avoid transfer — Transfer in favour of B stands)  AIR 1936 Lah 286 (289) (DB)  AIR 1930 All 438 (439, 440) (Person whose claim is defeated is estopped executed by A in favour of B in order to defeat the creditor of A and B assigned his rights under the mortgage in part satisfaction of her dower debt, to his wife C, who had no knowledge of the fictitious nature of the mortgage, it was held that as B acquired no interest at all by the mortgage in his favour the last paragraph of the old S 53 would not help C (3)

22. Questions of intent and good faith are questions of fact.

The question with what intent a document was executed(1) or whether the transferee acted in good faith and without knowledge of the transferor's fraudulent intention(2) is generally one of fact, but may be a question of law(3) or a mixed question of law and fact(4) if it involves legal inferences to be drawn from other facts. See also the undermentioned cases (5)

23. Frame of suit under the section.

A suit under this section is one for a declaration under S 42 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, that the transfer by the debtor is not binding on the creditors. It is not a suit for cancellation of the in equity from denying such third person's title)  AIR 1929 Lah 1 (4) 10 Lah 447 (DB)  AIR 1928 All 29 (31, 32) (DB)  AIR 1923 Mad 558 (560) 46 Mad 478 (DB)  1864 Suth WR 225 (225) (DB)  (1916) 85 LJ Ch 677 (681) (1916) 2 Ch 544, Pearce v Bullock  (1891) 60 LJ Ch 181 (185) (1891) 1 Ch 31 (39) Halifax Joint Stock Banking Co. v Gledhill  (1805) 127 ER 492 (493) 1 Bos & PNR 332 Deo v Martyr

[See also AIR 1924 Mad 67 (69) (DB) (Person with voidable title can give good title to the transferee — See S. 8 of the Transfer of Property Act.)]

3. (1908) 30 All 297 (308)

Section 53 — Note 22

1. AIR 1965 Mad 337 (338) ILR (1965) 1 Mad 691 (Finding on the question is conclusive in second appeal)  AIR 1948 Nag 110 (115) ILR (1947) Nag 510 (DB) (Finding that sale was not fraudulent and not made to defeat or delay creditors is one of fact and binding in second appeal in absence of any vitiating circumstance)  AIR 1942 Mad 522 (523) (Whether alienation was in fraud of creditors is pure question of fact — Finding is conclusive in second appeal)  (1921) 63 Ind Cas 169 (170) (DB) (Cal) (Do)  AIR 1939 Oudh 230 (231) 14 Luck 621 (DB)  AIR 1926 Oudh 501 (502)  AIR 1920 Lah 24 (25)  (1907) 30 Mad 6 (9) (DB)  (1928) 107 Ind Cas 490 (491) (DB) (Lah)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 1018 (1018) (Lah) (Hence they cannot be disturbed by the High Court on the revision side.)

[See also (1889) 18 Bom PJ 37 (DB).]

2. AIR 1926 Lah 25 (26) (DB)  (1977) 2 Mad LJ 431 (438) 90 Mad LW 543 (DB)  AIR 1924 Lah 707 (709) (DB)  (1901) 25 Bom 202 (228) (DB)

3. AIR 1939 Sind 97 (98) ILR (1939) Kar 269 (DB)  AIR 1938 Sind 215 (216) ILR (1939) Kar 136 (DB) (Whether, for instance, the possession is adverse or not, whether a transfer is made with intent to defeat or delay within the meaning of S 53, are questions of law.)  1908 Pun Rc No. 81, p. 381 (386) (DB).

4. AIR 1923 Nag 124 (125).

[See also AIR 1928 Pat 199 (200) (DB)]

5. AIR 1944 Nag 44 (52) : ILR (1944) Nag 342 (FB). (Where the lower appellate Court holds that a transaction is bogus and at the same time says that it can be set aside under this section, the High Court in second appeal is justified in declining to accept the finding as a proper finding of fact and is empowered to record its own conclusion)  AIR 1943 Nag 129 (131) ILR (1943) Nag 42 (DB) (A finding that a transaction is unreal is inconsistent with a finding that the transaction amounts to a sale with a clause for reconveyance)  (1928) 110 Ind Cas 868 (869) (Nag) (Facts warranting inference of bad faith — No explanation or contradiction by party — Conclusion indicated by the proof must be adopted) document under S 39 of the Specific Relief Act (1) (See now Ss 34 and 31 of the Specific Relief Act of 1963) The reason is that the plaintiff is in such cases, not a party to the document and cannot obtain the cancellation of the document which may be good between the parties to it (2) It was, however, observed a obiter in the undermentioned Rangoon case (3) that the plaintiff in a suit under this section, must ask for the cancellation of the document under S 39 of the Specific Relief Act It is submitted that this view is not correct But even according to the Rangoon High Court where a suit is brought under O 21, R 63 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and a transfer by the debtor is attacked as a fraudulent transfer under S 53 of the Transfer of Property Act, it must be regarded only as a suit for a bare declaration under S 42 of the Specific Relief Act (4)

A claim that the transfer is made to defraud the creditors in the alternative to the claim for declaration that the transfer is non est is maintained, (5) similarly, a creditor can assail a transfer as a fraudulent transfer under Sec 53 by attaching the transferred property in execution of his decree without filing a regular suit (6)

It is well settled that the attaching creditor need not file a separate suit under S 53 in a representative capacity to put forth his case, that the transfer was in fraud of creditors, and that he is entitled to plead by way of defence in the claim proceedings In fact filing of a separate suit is barred after the Madras amended provisions of O 21 R 58 CPC (7)

See also the undermentioned cases (8).

Section 53 — Note 23

1. AIR 1939 Mad 894 (896) : ILR (1940) Mad 73  AIR 1969 Bom 66 (69)  (1967 8 Guj LR 946 : ILR (1967) Guj 735 (746)
2. AIR 1939 Mad 894 (896) : ILR (1940) Mad 73  AIR 1930 Rang 27 (29) : 7 Rang 477 (DB). (Correctness doubted in AIR 1931 Rang 310)
[But see AIR 1941 Bom 65 (66) (DB) (Assumed that the Court could cancel the document — Case was of moveable property)]
3. AIR 1931 Rang 310 (311) : 9 Rang 367
4. AIR 1934 Rang 332 (333) : 12 Rang 670 Suit by attaching decree holder under O 21 R 63 — Suit for mere declaration lies — Court fee of Rs 10 is sufficient — Value for court fee and jurisdiction would be different)  AIR 1931 Rang 310 (311) : 9 Rang 367
5. AIR 1968 Punj 479 : ILR (1968) Punj 10 (DB)
6. AIR 1971 Punj 325 (326, 327) (DB).
7. 2000 (1) Mad LW 713 (718)
8. AIR 1963 Andh Pra 6 (7) : ILR (1963) Andh Pra 403 (DB) (Execution of money decree against father — Pending execution partition decree passed — Objection by one of the son to attachment of property in his hands allotted by partition allowed — Suit by decree holder under O 21 R 63 Civil P C challenging decree under S 53 T P Act is maintainable)  ILR (1975) 1 Ker 621 (An attaching creditor who is defeated in a claim petition can still maintain a suit to establish his right to proceed against property by establishing that in spite of purported transfer, the property is still owned by judgment-debtor)  AIR 1973 Ker 125 (127) : 1973 Ker LT 31 (Dismissal of suit of creditor under O 21 R 63 of C P C for setting aside order in claim petition — Fresh suit under S 53 in representative capacity under O 21 R 8 is maintainable)  AIR 1962 Madh Pra 363 (364) (DB) (Plaint alleging that transfer was made for purpose of delaying the plaintiff and other creditors and has not the effect of binding the plaintiff — It also contains statement that it is filed on behalf of plaintiff and other creditors — Suit is clearly only under S 53 even though no mention of the section is made in the plaint)  AIR 1962 Andh Pra 25 (29) (Decree obtained by creditor against debtor who has created a sham or collusive transaction — Proper remedy for creditor would be to attach property in execution and file a suit for declaration that the transaction is not binding on him if any claim is allowed — He cannot file such suit directly whether by a resort to this section or S 42 Specific Relief Act)

24. Suit must be a representative one.

In England a creditor who has not secured a judgment on his debt has to sue on behalf of himself and of all the other creditors of the transferor. (1) But a creditor who has obtained a judgment on his debt may sue on his own behalf and not in a representative character (2)

In this country there was, in cases arising under the old section, a difference of opinion on the point (3) In some cases (4) it was held following the English law that a creditor should sue only in a representative character In others, that this was not necessary (5) In a third class of cases it was Remedy provided by S. 39 is not also available to him)  1955 Raj LW 316 (317) (Creditor relying on alternative pleas namely that sale was made with intent to defraud or defeat and also that it was fictitious — He cannot be non-suited merely because he has failed to establish the latter plea)  AIR 1954 Cal 440 (441) (DB) (A suit in which the plaintiff does not aver that it is being filed on behalf of the plaintiff and all other creditors of the debtor cannot be regarded as one under this section)  AIR 1953 Mad 545 (548) (Sale of property to defraud creditors — Fraud not carried out — Sale is not void but voidable by transferor — Transferor cannot recover without getting sale deed set aside upon a mere declaration of his title)  AIR 1926 Pat 404 (407) (DB) (Plaint by widow entitled to dower alleging that transfers by the husband were made with intent to defeat her claim and of the other creditors — Suit falls under S. 53 and decree made in the suit has only the effect of declaring that the transfers were fraudulent — It has no effect of creating a charge in favour of the plaintiff widow)  AIR 1918 Mad 225 (228) (DB) (Any creditor can avoid under this section a transfer by his debtor but his plaintiff must allege that the transfer was intended to defraud him and others similarly placed)

Section 53 — Note 24

1. Halsbury, Laws of England, Vol. 15, p. 89.
2. Halsbury, Laws of England, Vol. 15, p. 89.
3. See AIR 1940 Mad 789 (790) ILR (1940) Mad 808 (DB) (The conflicting cases have been referred to in this case)
4. AIR 1932 Bom 498 (504) 56 Bom 595 (DB)  AIR 1921 Pat 53 (53) 60 Pat LJ 48 (DB)  AIR 1918 Mad 697 (DB) (27 Bom 146 and 31 Mad 206 Followed)  AIR 1914 Low Bur 180 (182) (Objection on this ground must be raised in first Court)  (1907) 34 Cal 999 (1006) (DB) ((1932) Cal 198 32 Ind App 1 (PC) Explained)  (1903) 27 Bom 146 (150) (DB)  (1892) 16 Bom 1 (20) [See also AIR 1926 Pat 404 (407) (DB) (Plaint by widow entitled to dower alleging that transfers by husband were made with intent to defeat her claim and of other creditors — Suit falls under S. 53)  AIR 1918 Mad 225 (228) (DB) (Plaint must allege that transfer was intended to defraud the plaintiff and other creditors similarly placed)  1912 Pun Re No. 74 (DB) (Decree-holder suing under O. 21, R. 63 for declaration — Suit must be on behalf of all creditors — Judgment-debtor becoming insolvent — Decree passed declaring rights of all the creditors in the property)]
5. AIR 1931 Lah 70 (2) (71) 12 Lah 262 (DB) (Right under section is an individual right — But when exercised it enures for the benefit of the general body of creditors — AIR 1926 Mad 66 Folt)  AIR 1928 Rang 1 (3) 5 Rang 588 (DB) (Attachment raised — Creditor suing under O. 21, R. 63 — Action need not be on behalf of other creditors — AIR 1919 Mad 257 followed)  AIR 1926 Mad 66 (69, 72) (DB) (An individual right is conferred upon each creditor by S. 53 of the T. P. Act and the inaction or laches of one creditor cannot deprive the others of their rights. Consequently, the failure of one creditor to file a suit within 6 years under Art. 120 of the Limitation Act does not debar the general body of creditors)  AIR 1920 Nag 80 (81, 83) 16 Nag 1 R 3 (AIR 1919 Mad 257 Followed)  AIR 1919 Mad 257 (258, 259) 42 Mad 143 (DB)  AIR 1917 Mad 519 (522) (DB) (But the decree obtained would enure to the benefit of all creditors like himself — Per Seshagiri Ayyar, J)  (1908) 11 Oudh Cas 197 (205) (DB)  (1896) 18 All 432 (434) (DB).

held that a judgment-creditor whose attachment has been raised and who is under O 21, R 63 of the Code of Civil Procedure could bring his suit otherwise than in a representative character (6) In the undermentioned case, (7) Courts-trotter J., expressed the opinion that a judgment-creditor who had not taken out execution could not invoke the provisions of this section at all. In Lahore to which province this Act does not apply it was held that a suit by creditor should be brought in a representative capacity (8). The view that a suit under O 21, R 63 by a judgment-creditor whose attachment has been raised need not be in a representative character was followed in the undermentioned case (9) of the Peshawar Court.

The last paragraph of sub-section (1) now makes it quite clear that a suit by a creditor, whether he is a judgment creditor or not and whether he has or has not applied for execution of decree, to avoid a transfer executed with intent to defeat or delay the creditors shall be brought in a representative capacity that is to say, in accordance with the procedure prescribed by O 1, R. 8 of the Code of Civil Procedure (10)

6. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 280 (284) (DB)  AIR 1934 Rang 200 (201) (DB) (No reference was made to the present section AIR 1928 Rang 1, was simply followed.  AIR 1928 Rang 1 (3) : 5 Rang 588 (DB) (AIR 1919 Mad 257, Followed)
7. AIR 1917 Mad 519 (520) (DB), (1838-3 Myl & Cr 407, Followed)
8. AIR 1926 Lah 167 (168) : 7 Lah 12 (It is not clear from the judgment whether the creditor had obtained a judgment on his debt.)
9. (1923) 71 Ind Cas 20 (22) (Pesh) (AIR 1919 Mad 257, Followed)
10. AIR 1963 SC 1150 (1160)  (1975) 1 Mad LJ 236  AIR 1971 Orissa 156 (157-158) (1970) 1 Cut WR 43  AIR 1963 Andh Pra 6 : 71 : 1LR (1963) Andh Pra 403 (DB)  AIR 1963 Guj 276 (276) (Suit to declare partition to be fraud on creditors — Suit when not filed in representative capacity, is not maintainable)  AIR 1963 Ker 356 (357) (Suit under O 21 R 63 Civil P C)  AIR 1962 Madh Pra 363 (365) (DB) Express permission of Court not obtained — Notices under O 1 R 8 Civil P C not issued — Everybody concerned including Court forgetting about it — These points raised for first time in appeal — Omission could not be condoned under S 99 Civil P C at appellate stage but could be remedied by granting permission to plaintiffs and by issuing notice to creditors if nature of suit is not changed)  AIR 1959 Andh Pra 280 (283) (DB)  (1958) 2 Mad LJ 540 (543) (Suit under O 21 R 63 Civil P C on grounds falling under S 53 T P Act)  1957 MPLJ 107 (108) (Basis of suit under O 21 R 63 Civil P C S 53 T P Act — Suit must be in representative character — Stand taken being sham character of suit — Section 53 does not apply)  AIR 1955 Madh Bha 159 (160) : 1LR (1955) Madh Bha 297 (DB) (But this requirement could not apply if his suit is based on the allegation that the transaction is sham and colourable and the creditor decree holder is entitled to bring his suit under O 21 R 63 on that allegation)  AIR 1954 Cal 440 (441) (DB) (A suit in which the plaint does not aver that it is being filed on behalf of the plaintiff and all other creditors of the debtor cannot be regarded as one under this section)  AIR 1946 Mad 25 (30) : 1LR (1946) Mad 486 (DB) (The conditions laid down in S 53 that the suit should be on behalf of all the creditors apply only to a case where all the other creditors are not made parties to the suit)  AIR 1944 All 214 (215) : 1LR (1944) All 325  AIR 1944 Nag 133 (134) : 1LR (1944) Nag 125  AIR 1943 Lah 96 (97) (DB) (Suit under O 21, R 63 without obtaining leave of Court under O 1, R 8 C P C — Mere assertion in plaint that suit is representative and is laid under S 53 in order to avoid an alienation intended to defeat not only the claim of plaintiff but of other creditors will not make it a representative suit)  AIR 1943 Mad 531 (534) (DB) (Suit under S 53 on behalf of plaintiff alone without following the procedure under O 1, R 8 — Suit is liable to be dismissed summarily)  AIR 1943 Oudh 457 (465) : 16 Luck 832 (DB) (Prior test to apply in determining whether a suit comes within the purview of S 53 is to see whether if the plaintiff succeeds in the action, the property claimed would be available to general body of creditors)  AIR 1941 Rang 76 (77) : 1940 Rang 1LR 777 (DB) (Even if plaintiff is the only creditor, he can bring a suit in a representative

The reason of the rule is, firstly, that the debtor(11) or the transferee(12) should not be harassed by a multiplicity of suits(13), and, secondly that the primary object of an action under this section is to make the assets of the transferor available to the general body of creditors (14) A view has been expressed in the undermentioned cases, (15) namely that a creditor suing under O 21 R 63 of the capacity)  AIR 1940 Mad 789 (790) ILR (1940) Mad 808 (DB) (Case law discussed)

  AIR 1936 Cal 783, 784) (It will be unjust to grant decree under S 53 in a suit not so instituted)  AIR 1936 Pesh 15, 16, (DB)  AIR 1936 Rang 117, 118) 14 Rang 81 (DB) (AIR 1935 Rang 489 Followed)  AIR 1935 Rang 489 (490), (Where a Court has inherent jurisdiction to try a particular suit, but its jurisdiction is irregularly invoked, a litigant by his conduct may be precluded from maintaining in the circumstances of the case that the suit was not maintainable as framed, a fortiori in a case where the irregular institution of the suit was due to a failure on the part of the plaintiff to conform to an enactment passed for the benefit to a particular class of persons)  AIR 1935 Rang 275 (275), (Where defendant elected to go to trial on footing that plaintiff was entitled to bring suit and had been content that the suit should be heard on merits on that basis, he was not entitled in the appellate Court to claim that the suit as framed was not maintainable by reason of S 53 T P Act)  AIR 1934 Rang 302 (302, 303) 12 Rang 666 (The transferee and the judgment-debtors as transferors will be necessary defendants in such a suit)  AIR 1934 Rang 332 (332) : 12 Rang 670  AIR 1933 Nag 169 (170) : 29 Nag LR 246

[See also ILR (1979) Bom 212 (239) (DB) (A representative suit under S 53 of T P Act if filed by or on behalf of Government is not excluded from the purview of Art 149 of Lim Act 1908. See now Art 112 of Lim Act 1963)  (1977) 2 Mad LJ 55 (57) 90 Mad LW 684 (Where a suit under S 53 was filed by the Deputy Commercial Tax Officer for cancellation of a sale deed executed by the assessee who was in default in payment of tax payable by him on the ground that the said sale was in fraud of the creditors as it was in favour of his own wife, the suit would not be maintainable at all in the absence of any attempt on the part of the plaintiff to make the cause as one filed on behalf of the general body of creditors)  AIR 1963 Mys 257 (260) (A relief given under S 53 enures to the benefit of all the creditors of the transferor whether those creditors are parties to the suit wherein alienation is challenged or not)  AIR 1962 Mad 189 (191) (Representative suit by creditor of insolvent under S 53 T P Act — No notice to Official Receiver — Decision in suit not binding on Official Receiver — Subsequent petition under S 54 Provincial Insolvency Act not barred)  AIR 1960 Punj 417 (418) (DB) (Suit by one creditor under O 21, R 63, Civil P C. — Permission under O 1, R 8 not obtained — Suit cannot be considered to be representative within the scope of S 53, T P Act)  AIR 1953 Mad 619 (619) (Suit originally laid under O 21 R 63 Civil P C. — Application by plaintiff made to trial Court to amend plaint so as to comply with requirements of O 1, R 8 of that Code — Held application should be allowed.)]

11. AIR 1965 Andh Pra 68 (69) (DB)  AIR 1955 Madh Bha 159 (160) ILR (1955) Madh B 297 (DB)  AIR 1939 Bom 508, 512) (But this does not mean that the creditor even when he is defendant, must defend the suit on behalf of the whole body of creditors)
12. AIR 1955 Madh B 159 (160) ILR (1955) Madh B 297 (DB)  AIR 1921 Pat 53 (53) 6 Pat LJ 48 (DB)  (1907) 34 Cal 999 (1007) (DB)
13. (1958) 2 Mad LJ 540 (541)  AIR 1943 Mad 531 (536) ILR (1944) Mad 153 (DB)
14. AIR 1965 Andh Pra 68 (69) (DB)  (1958) 2 Mad LJ 540 (541)  AIR 1921 Pat 53 (54) 6 Pat LJ 48 (DB).

[See AIR 1939 Pat 5 (6) (DB)]

Also see Note 6

15. AIR 1946 Sind 78 (80, 81) ILR (1946) Kar 98 (DB) (The mere fact that the plaintiff is a suit under O 21 R 63, Civil P C. to remove the bar imposed by the decision of the execution Court, states that the impugned transfer was made for the purpose of deceiving and Civil Procedure Code to establish his rights against the transferee from the judgment debtor need not sue in a representative capacity. This view must be held to be no longer good law in view of the Supreme Court decision in Abdul Shukoor v. Azji Pappa Rao (16).

As seen in Note 6 it has been held in some cases that the benefit of this section cannot be denied to a defeated and delayed creditor on the ground that at the time of the institution of the suit by him the debtor has no other creditor in existence than himself. It has been held that a creditor who when proceeding under O. 21, R. 63 of the Civil Procedure Code does not know the existence of other creditors, is not bound to bring a representative suit, and that it is for the defendant to object that there are other creditors and that a representative suit should be filed (17). See also the observation in the undermentioned Madras case (18) and the undermentioned Punjab High Court decision to a similar effect (19). In the undermentioned cases (20) while taking the same view, it has been observed that where as a result of a claim order made against him, a decree-holder seeks to enforce his individual rights on the ground that the transaction in question which has adversely affected his rights is a sham and colourable one, he is entitled under law to bring a suit under O. 21, R. 63 Civil Procedure Code without complying with the requirements of this section as to the frame of suit. It has also been held in the undermentioned case (21) that a dismissal of a suit under Order 21, Rule 63 of C.P.C. for setting aside an order in the claim petition does not preclude the plaintiff from instituting a fresh suit under Sec. 53. It will be seen from Note 5 that this section does not apply to sham transaction and therefore it seems that a suit of this type will not be governed by the above-mentioned Supreme Court decision.

A suit which is not meant to be for the benefit of all the creditors is not a suit under this section and need not be brought in a representative capacity (22). So also is a suit which does not putting to loss not only the plaintiff but other creditors and for defeating the claims of not only the plaintiff but of other creditors, does not necessarily make the suit one under S. 53, T. P. Act and in such a suit the procedure laid down in O. 1, R. 8 will not apply. — AIR 1938 Bom 289 and AIR 1937 Bom 476, Foll. —  AIR 1938 Bom 289 (291). — ILR (1938) Bom 445 (Following AIR 1937 Bom 476). —  AIR 1934 Rang 200, 201 (DB). (Appears to have been decided with reference to the old section). —  AIR 1931 Lah 490 (431). — SC PLR 2 (DB).

[See AIR 1939 Pat 138 (139). — 17 Pat 588 (DB). In this case there was only one creditor hence question was not decided.]

16. AIR 1963 SC 1150 (1160).

17. AIR 1940 Oudh 200 (202). — 15 Luck 503. —  AIR 1974 Guj 153. — 15 Guj LR 253 (DB). —  AIR 1973 Andh Pra 126 (128 to 130). — (1972) 1 Andh LT 263.

18. (1958) 2 Mad LJ 540, 541. (As such a creditor can also file a representative suit it becomes the duty of the Court to see whether it could be proceeded with as a representative suit or not.)

19. AIR 1955 NUC 3428. — (1955) 57 Punj LR 366 (368). Suit by creditor to void a transfer by debtor — No indication that there were other creditors in existence — In the absence of proof that there are such creditors defence that suit is bad on the ground of it being on behalf of all creditors is not available to the defendant.)

20. AIR 1967 Raj 283 (287, 288). (AIR 1963 SC 1150 has not been noticed). —  AIR 1974 Ker 214; 1974 Ker LJ 77.

21. AIR 1973 Ker 125; 1973 Ker LR 31.

22. AIR 1956 Orissa 58 (60). — ILR (1956) Cut 42 (DB). (Summary order passed against decree holder under O. 21, R. 58 — Suit by decree holder under O. 21, R. 63 representing his individual right of executing the decree against the property — Plaintiff in the suit involving interests of other creditors — Suit cannot be dismissed for non-compliance with O. 1, R. 8, Civil P. C.) —  AIR 1951 Mys 103 (105). — ILR (1951) Mys 96 (DB). — AIR involve the avoidance of any transfer.(23)

It was held by the Peshwar Court that the technical rule of procedure laid down in the section did not apply to the North-West Frontier Province and that a suit to avoid a fraudulent transfer need not be in a representative character (24) The undermentioned cases of the Pepsu High Court(25) and the Punjab High Court(26) are also to the same effect

The objection as to the non-representative character of the suit must be taken in the trial Court. If it is not so taken, it cannot be taken in the appellate Court (27)

25. Leave of Court.

A creditor instituting a suit to set aside a fraudulent transfer must follow the procedure provided by O. 1, R. 8 of the Civil Procedure Code, that is to say, he must obtain the permission of the Court and the Court must, at his expense, give notice of the institution of the suit to all persons whom it is sought to represent (1) The requirement as to the obtaining of the permission of the Court cannot be waived (2) It has been held in the undermentioned case (3) that where in a suit under this section all the persons interested are made parties to the suit O. 1, R. 8, Civil PC will not apply and therefore leave of Court need not be obtained under that rule. It has been held by the Delhi High Court(4) that even though the heading of the plaint of the suit brought by one of the 1933 Cal 812 (812) (Though the claim in it proceeds on the principles enunciated in the section)  (1904, 28 Bom 364 (169) (DB) (Assignment of substantial part of property in trust for creditors — Composition deed not signed by a few creditors — Composition however found to be beneficial for all creditors — Suit by one of the non-signatory creditors to avoid the composition — He cannot be considered to be suing for and on behalf of all the creditors — Section 53 will not apply to the case.)

23. 1957 MPLJ 107 (109) (Suit under O. 21, R. 63 on the allegation that the transaction is a sham and bogus one.)  AIR 1956 Orissa 58 (60) ILR (1956) Cut 42 (DB) (Action on ground that transaction in favour of defendant is nominal one)  AIR 1934 Rang 302 (303) : 12 Rang 666
24. AIR 1936 Pesh 158 (160) (DB).
25. (1949) 1 Pepsu LR 198 (211) (DB).
26. AIR 1961 Punj 398 (399) : ILR (1962) 2 Punj 378 (DB)
27. AIR 1967 Raj 283 (287)  (1958) 2 Mad LJ 540 (541)  1957 MPLJ 107 (110) (Trial Court should permit the plaintiff to set matters right when an objection is raised before it)  AIR 1955 NL C 3428 (1955) 57 Punj LR 366 (368)  AIR 1944 All 214 (215) ILR (1944) All 325 (Plea cannot be raised in second appeal for the first time AIR 1940 All 407, Followed)  AIR 1938 Oudh 33 (35) (DB) (It makes no difference whether the point was first taken in first appeal or second appeal)  AIR 1936 Rang 117 (118) 14 Rang 81 (DB) (AIR 1934 Rang 332 Not followed.)  AIR 1935 Rang 489 (490)  AIR 1935 Rang 275 (275)  AIR 1934 Rang 308 (308) (Point raised for first time in appeal as to maintainability of suit — Appellant is not entitled to claim that suit is not maintainable)  AIR 1927 Mad 666 (666-667) (Objection not raised in the first appellate Court cannot be raised in the second appeal)  AIR 1914 Low Bur 180 (182)  (1907) 34 Cal 999 (1007 1008) (DB)

Section 53 — Note 25

1. AIR 1934 Rang 302 (303) 12 Rang 666  AIR 1934 Rang 332 (332, 333) 12 Rang 670  AIR 1927 Mad 666 (666)
[See also AIR 1962 Mad 189 (191) (Representative suit by creditor of insolvent under S 53, T P Act — No notice to Official Receiver — Decision in suit is not binding on Official Receiver — Subsequent petition under S 54 Provincial Insolvency Act not barred)]
2. AIR 1943 Lah 96 (97) (DB).
3. AIR 1946 Mad 25 (30) : ILR (1946) Mad 486 (DB).
4. AIR 1972 Delhi 122 (124).

creditors did not indicate that the suit was on behalf of all the creditors if the names of the creditors are given in the plaint the plaintiff will have locus standi. A suit by which the plaintiff seeks declaration from the Court under S. 42 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877 to the effect that the sale deed in question is a sham and fictitious transaction which conveyed no title to the transferee cannot be dismissed for the non-fulfilment of the requirements of O. 1, R. 8 even though the plaintiff has also made an additional allegation in the plaint that the transferee is not a transferee in good faith and for consideration and that the suit is one instituted for the benefit of all the creditors of the transferor (5).

The proper course is to obtain the permission of the Court before the suit is instituted. But the permission may, in proper cases, be granted even after the institution of the suit and even though it had been refused on a previous occasion. (6)

26. Defence need not be in representative capacity.

A creditor pleading S. 53 in defence need not do so in a representative capacity. The fourth paragraph of sub sec. (1) applies only to suits and not to defences (1).

27. Suit under this section is a "suit for land" within the meaning of the Letters Patent.

A suit to set aside a transfer created in fraud of creditors is a 'suit for land' within the meaning of Clauses 11 and 12 of the Letters Patent (Madras) (1).

28. Transferor insolvent — Suit by creditor under this section.

Where an alienation in fraud of creditors is made by a debtor and subsequently the debtor is adjudged insolvent, a suit by a creditor under this section to set aside the transfer is, according to the Madras and Delhi High Courts maintainable without the leave of the Insolvency Court (1). According to the High Court of Lahore a suit without such leave is not maintainable where the alienation attacked is a mortgage of which the equity of redemption has vested in the Official Receiver (2).

29. Receiver in insolvency, if can avoid fraudulent transfer under Section 4 of the Provincial Insolvency Act.

A Receiver in insolvency can, as representing the creditors, file a regular suit to set aside a transfer by the insolvent as being in fraud of creditors under S. 53 of this Act (1). It has been held

5. 1964 All LJ 1079 (1083)

6. AIR 1953 Mad 619 (619). (Suit originally filed under O. 2, R. 13 Civil P.C. — Application by plaintiff made to trial Court to attend proceedings to comply with O. 1, R. 8. Application should be allowed.)

See Note 11 on O. 1, R. 8 of the AIR Commentaries on the Code of Civil Procedure, 10th (1985) Edn.

Section 53 — Note 26

1. AIR 1963 SC 1150 (1160)  AIR 1942 Mad 128 (129)  AIR 1939 Bom 508 (512)

Section 53 — Note 27

1. (1912) 17 Ind Cas 342 (343) (Mad)

Section 53 — Note 28

1. AIR 1941 Mad 903 (905) : ILR (1942) Mad 1 (FB). (AIR 1919 Mad 167 Overruled and AIR 1929 Mad 323, Approved.)  AIR 1922 Delhi 122  AIR 1946 Mad 25 (29, 30) : ILR (1946) Mad 486  AIR 1942 Mad 483 (484) : ILR (1942) Mad 862 (DB). (AIR 1941 Mad 903 : ILR (1942) Mad 1 (FB), Rel. on.)

2. AIR 1938 Lah 856 (857) (Official Receiver is a necessary party to such a suit.)

Section 53 — Note 29

1. AIR 1952 Sau 47 (49) (DB). (Transfer to creditor who had knowledge of the debtor's precarious pecuniary conditions voidable at the instance of the Receiver and other creditors.)  AIR 1947 Pat 473, 474 : 26 Pat 253 (DB)  AIR 1926 Muz 826 (827) (DB). (Though he has got another remedy under S. 53 of the Provincial Insolvency Act.)

[See also AIR 1926 Mad 66 (67) (DB). (Such a suit is governed by Art. 120 of Limitation Act.)  AIR 1918 Oudh 29 (30) : 20 Oudh Cas 295. (Receiver can also apply under S. 36 Provincial Insolvency Act, for an annulment of the transfer.)] that such Receiver can even in a case where a transfer by the insolvent is more than two years before his insolvency, apply under S 4 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920 to avoid the transfer as being in fraud of creditors under S 53 of this Act (2) In the undermentioned cases (3) it was further held that he can do so even if a suit to set aside the transaction would be barred by limitation, though the Court would, in such cases, refuse to exercise its jurisdiction except in special circumstances. The High Court of Madras has, however, held that the Insolvency Court cannot entertain such application which if filed as a suit under this section would be dismissed as barred by limitation (4) The High Court of Patna (5) has held that a real transfer in fraud of creditors made by an insolvent beyond two years from the date of his insolvency cannot be annulled either under S 53 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, or under S 4 of that Act under which the insolvency Court has only power to make a declaration but has no power to give consequential relief. The relief by way of annulment in such cases can be granted only by a Civil Court in a suit instituted by the receiver under this section. In the undermentioned cases (6) in England, the Bankruptcy Court was held to have jurisdiction to set aside a transfer as being in fraud of creditors under 13 Exliz, Chap 5 on an application by the trustee in bankruptcy.

30. Distinction between this section and Sections 53 and 54 of the Provincial Insolvency Act.

The following are the main points of distinction between this section and Ss. 53 and 54 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920 :

(1) In a suit under this section it is for the creditor to prove that the transfer was made with intent to defeat or delay the creditors of the transferor. Until this is established it is not for the transferee to prove good faith and consideration. But under S 53 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, if the transfer has been made within two years of the insolvency of the transferor, it is not necessary

-
2. AIR 1944 Nag 44 (54) · ILR (1944) Nag 342 (FB). (Section 53 Provincial Insolvency Act, is wider than S 53, T P Act, and it gives added benefits to the creditors. If they want to avail themselves of these additional benefits they must bring themselves within the two years' rule. If not they are left to their remedies under the ordinary law. But these remedies can be pursued in insolvency Court under S 4, though it would be open to that Court, on grounds of expediency, to refer the parties to a civil suit — AIR 1938 Nag 546. Overruled.)  AIR 1929 All 105 (107, 112) : 51 All 550 (FB). (Sen J., contra.)  AIR 1935 Bom 316 (316-317) (DB)  AIR 1933 Mad 527-528)  AIR 1932 Cal 642 (647-648) 59 Cal 1135 (DB)  AIR 1932 Sind 50 (51, 52) - 25 Sind LR 521. (Case under S. 7 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act corresponding to S 4 of the Provincial Insolvency Act.)  AIR 1927 Cal 474 (476) (DB).

[See also AIR 1943 Mad 252 (252) (Section 53 of the Provincial Insolvency Act not being exhaustive an application to challenge a transaction as sham and nominal can also be entertained.)]

3. AIR 1929 Sind 94 (96).

[See also AIR 1922 All 196 (196) : 44 All 71 (DB).]

4. AIR 1943 Mad 252 (252-253) (Where there are a number of creditors, limitation for an application by the Official Receiver under S 4 to set aside the transfer may be computed from the date on which the last of the creditors became aware of the transaction.)
5. AIR 1947 Pat 471 (473-474) - 26 Pat 253 (DB) (The proper course for the Insolvency Court in such circumstances is first to satisfy itself whether the transfer is really one liable to be annulled under S 53 T P Act and if it decides that it is so, then to instruct the Receiver to file a suit for that purpose in Civil Court.)
6. (1880) 29 WR (Eng) 876 (877) - 14 Ch D 265 - 43 LT 2, Ex parte Butters, In re Harrison [See also (1886) 55 AJ QB 558 (561) - 17 QBD 290, Ex parte Mercer, In re Wise (Assumed.)] for the Receiver to prove the fraudulent intent of the insolvent. It is for the transferee to show good faith on his part and the payment of consideration. (1)

(2) Under this section a preference of one creditor over another is not fraudulent whereas under S. 54 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, a preference by the debtor, who is unable to pay his debts, of one creditor over the other creditors, is deemed fraudulent if the debtor is adjudged insolvent within three months of the act of preference. (2) The object of S. 53 of this Act is to protect the rights of creditors against their debtor, namely that the latter's property should be made available in payment of demands of them or some of them for the discharge of their debts. (3) It is not the object of this section to secure the equal distribution of the property of the bankrupt. (4) The object of the S. 54 of the Provincial Insolvency Act is, however, to secure an equal distribution of the insolvent's property among his creditors. (5)

(3) Even though a transfer cannot be avoided under the insolvency law as having been made more than two years before the insolvency of the transferor, it can be avoided under this section. (6)

Section 53 of T.P. Act applies to transfer of immovable property only, but S. 54 of the Provincial Insolvency Act is not confined only to the transfer of immovable property. It applies to transfer of both immovables and movables. In addition it also applies to every payment made, every obligation incurred, and every judicial proceeding taken or suffered by a person unable to pay his debts as they become due from his own money in favour of any creditor. The essence of S. 54 of the Provincial Insolvency Act lies in the intention of giving a creditor preference over the other creditors and it applies only if such a person is adjudged insolvent on a petition presented within three months after the date thereof and all these categories of transactions will be deemed fraudulent and void as against the Receiver and shall be annulled by the court. (7)

See also the undermentioned (8)

See also Note 20

31. Sub-section (2) — Transfer in fraud of subsequent transferee.

Sub-section (1) deals with transfers made with intent to defeat or delay the creditors. Sub-section (2) deals with transfers made with intent to defraud subsequent transferees. The difference between the two provisions is that while any transfer, whether for consideration or not, can be avoided as being in fraud of creditors, only gratuitous transfer, i.e., transfers for no consideration can be avoided as being in fraud of subsequent transferees.

Section 53 — Note 30

1. AIR 1944 Nag 44 (53) : ILR (1944) Nag 342 (FB)  AIR 1917 All 32, 33, 34, 39 All 95 (DB) (Scope of S. 36 Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907 and that of S. 53 T.P. Act compared)  AIR 1916 Pat 279 (280) : 2 Pat LJ 101 (DB)
2. AIR 1938 Sind 215 (216) : ILR (1939) Kar 336 (DB)  1937 Maj WN 162 (163) (DB)  (1912) 13 Ind Cas 68 (69) (Lah).
3. AIR 1915 PC 115 (116) : 43 Cal 521.
4. (1882) 51 LJ Ch 154 (156) : 20 Ch D 389. Golden v Gillian (Case under S. 53, T.P. Act.)
5. AIR 1925 Cal 640 (647) (DB)  (1907) 34 Cal 999 (1015) (DB)
6. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 321 (323) : ILR (1953) Trav-Co 326 (DB)  AIR 1947 Pat 471 (472, 473) : 26 Pat 253 (DB)  AIR 1929 Sind 94 (96)  AIR 1922 All 443 (443) (DB) (Transaction being several years old the insolvency Court declined to adjudicate upon. Held that the question was not res judicata in a subsequent suit under S. 53 T.P. Act.)
7. (1988) 2 LS (AP) 342 (347, 348) (DB)
8. AIR 1955 NUC (Mad) 3168 (Fraudulent transfers coming under S. 6(b) Provincial Insolvency Act are voidable under this section independently of the insolvency of the transferor)  AIR 1952 Sau 47 (48) (DB)

In England the statute 27 Elizabeth Chap 4 was construed as meaning that a voluntary transfer except where it was in favour of a charity(1) became ipso facto void on the subsequent execution of transfer of the same property for consideration whether the second transferee took his transfer with notice or not.(2) By the very fact of the execution of a subsequent transfer for consideration, the former voluntary conveyance was deemed fraudulent. This view was followed in this country also before the Act was passed(3) and even in cases under the old section it was held that the presumption was to that effect (4) The second paragraph of sub-section (2) of the present section, however, now makes it clear that the mere fact that the subsequent transfer is made for consideration is not sufficient to enable the Court to deem the prior transfer a fraudulent one

A transfer which is not voluntary, but which is for some consideration, however small, is not

Section 53 — Note 31

1. (1845) 8 ER 1464 (1470-1472) 12 Cl & Fin 402 New Castle upon Tyne Corporation v Attorney General  (1892) 61 LJ PC 72 (73, 74); (1892) AC 412 (415, 416). Ramsay v Gilchrist
2. (1812) 34 ER 255 (259) 11 RR 155 Buckle v Mitchell (Even when the purchaser purchased with notice)  (1750) 28 ER 1 (7, 11) 2 Ves Sen 1, Lord Townsend v Windham  (1875) 44 LJ Ch 487-489) 23 WR (Eng) 944 In re Barker's Estate Jones v Bygott  (1876) 46 LJ Ch 214 (223) 4 Ch D 483 Price v Jenkins (Voluntary settlement by a father upon his son)  (1878) 47 LJ Ch 738 (739) 8 Ch D 318 Trowel v Shenton (Post nuptial settlement which was in pursuance of ante nuptial contract by an infant held a voluntary one)  (1883) 53 LJ Ch 87 (88) 24 Ch D 597, Shurmer v Sedgwick  (1891) 60 LJ PC 66 (67) 1891 AC 264 De Mestre v West  (1852) 21 LJ QB 139 (141) 17 QB 723 Doe d Newman v Rusham  (1852) 51 ER 595 (598) 15 Beav 408 Butterfield v Health, (Post-nuptial settlement of life-estate executed by husband and wife in favour of themselves and their children)  (1807) 103 ER 495 (500) 9 East 59 Doe d Otley v Catharine Manning  (1755) 27 ER 192 (194) Amb1 285 2 Ves 450, Senhouse v Earle  (1690) 21 ER 815 (815) 1 Nels 160 Watkins v Stevens  (1775) 98 ER 1085 (1086) 1 Cowp 278 Chapman v Emery (Mortgagee is a purchaser)  (1727) 21 ER 1084 (1084) 1 Eq Cas Abr 334 Tinkins v Ennis  (1811) 34 ER 249 (251) 18 Ves 90, Pulvertott v Pulvertott  (1812) 104 ER 1069 (1070) 16 East 212, Doe Lessee of Parry v James  (1817) 35 ER 887 (888) 2 Mer 123 Smith v Garland  (1937) 95 ER 857 (859) 2 Wills 356 (358), Roe v Milton  (1590) 77 ER 146 (147) 5 Co Rep 60a Gooch's case
[See (1895) 43 WR (Eng) 657 (659) (1895) WN 85 Attorney-General v Jacobs Smith ("Consideration of marriage extends only to the husband and wife and children of that marriage and that all other persons are volunteers in some sense")  (1822) 37 ER 1107 (1112) : Turn & R 281, Johnson v Legard.]
[But see (1776) 98 ER 1171 (1172) 2 Cowp 432 Cadogan v Kannett (A fair voluntary conveyance may be good against creditors notwithstanding its being voluntary)  (1777) 98 ER 1318 (1321) 2 Cowp 705 Doe d Watson v Routledge (It must also be fraudulent)  (1738) 26 ER 9 (11) 1 Atk 13 Russell v Hammand (Voluntary settlement is not fraudulent but an evidence of fraud only)  (1805) 127 ER 492 (493) 1 B & P 332 Doe v Martyr (Subsequent transferee with notice of prior voluntary transfer not protected)  (1803) 32 ER 575 (576) 9 Ves 190 (194), George v Milbanke (It is only prima facie evidence of fraud)  (1804) 32 ER 741 (741) 9 Ves Jun 612, Gilham v Licke (Do)  (1816) 56 ER 152 (154) 1 Madd 414, Holloway v Millard (Do)  (1736) 26 ER 393 (393) : 1 Atk 625, Oxley v Lee.]
3. (1874) 22 Suth WR 60 (67) (DB)  (1895) 22 Cal 185 (200-201) (DB) Per Sale J According to Statute 27 Eliz, Chap 4 a voluntary deed of transfer or conveyance had no effect as against the subsequent purchaser for consideration, 22 Suth WR 60, Followed)
4. (1885) 22 Cal 185 (202, 203) (DB). (Per Sale, J.)

voidable at the option of a subsequent transferee (5)

Under the Statute 27 Elizabeth Chap. 4 a judgment-creditor was held not to be a "purchaser" for the purposes of that section (6) Obviously such a person will not also be a "subsequent transferee" within the meaning of this section

See also the undermentioned case (7)

32. Auction purchaser, whether is a subsequent transferee.

An auction purchaser at a sale in execution of a decree, whether he be third party purchaser (1) or the decree-holder himself (2) is not a "subsequent transferee" within the meaning of this section inasmuch as a "transfer" within the meaning of this Act is a transfer by act of parties (3) He cannot therefore avoid the transfer under this section in that capacity. But if he happens to be also a creditor of the transferor, the transfer could according to the Bombay High Court be avoided by him as a creditor, even after he had purchased the property in auction (4) According to the Madras High Court, he cannot, after his purchase avoid the transfer as a creditor though he could have done so before he became the purchaser and if he had done so he could rely after his purchase upon his avoidance of the transfer before his purchase (5) An auction-purchaser who is not a creditor of the transferor can, if the decree-holder himself had avoided the fraudulent transfer, get the benefit of such avoidance (6)

33. Plea of fraudulent transfer.

In Bal Gangadhar Tilak v. Srinivas Pandit (1) their Lordships of the Privy Council relied upon the following passage from the judgment of Lord Selborne in Waddingford v. Mathur Society (2)

With regard to fraud, if there be any principle which is perfectly well settled, it is that general allegations, however strong may be the words in which they are stated, are insufficient even to amount to an averment of fraud of which any Court ought to take notice."

Their Lordships further observed that the law in India is in no way different from the principles stated in the passage quoted. Order 6 R. 4 of the Code of Civil Procedure provides

5. (1871) 40 LJ Ch 289 (290, 291); 6 Ch App 228. Bayspoole v. Collins  1876 46 LJ Ch 396 (398), Teasdale v. Brithwaite

6. (1886) 25 LJ Ch 299 (305); 6 De M & G 507. Beavan v. Earl of Oxford

7. AIR 1935 Lah 953, 953 (Claim under mortgage against bona fide purchaser of value. Plaintiff has to prove both good faith and actual execution of mortgage. Mere recital of consideration in the deed is in prima facie evidence of good faith.)

Section 53 — Note 32

1. AIR 1958 Pat 568 (569)  AIR 1954 Mad 173 (175),  AIR 1946 Nag 51, 53  AIR 1919 Nag 123 (123)  AIR 1915 Bom 89 (90); 39 Bom 507 (DB)

2. AIR 1939 Bom 508 (512)

3. AIR 1958 Pat 568 (569)  AIR 1919 Nag 122 (123).

[See also AIR 1937 Cal 203 (206), (DB) (Property under mortgage sold in execution of a money decree against mortgagor. Absence of cogent evidence to show that mortgage was a sham and fictitious transaction. Auction-purchaser of property cannot challenge the validity of mortgage on the ground of absence of consideration or the inadequacy of it.)

4. AIR 1939 Bom 508 (512)

5. AIR 1921 Mad 657 (659) (DB)

6. AIR 1954 Mad 173 (176)  AIR 1936 Mad 408 (410)

Section 53 — Note 33

1. AIR 1915 PC 7 (13); 39 Bom 441.

2. (1881) 50 LJ QB 49 (54); 5 App Cas 685.

"In all cases in which the party pleading relies on any . . . fraud . . . and in all other cases in which particulars may be necessary beyond such as are exemplified in the forms aforesaid, particulars with dates and items, if necessary shall be stated in the pleading" (3)

The principle referred to above applies to a plea that a transfer is fraudulent under S 53 of this Act. (4)

In a suit by a third party claimant under Order 21 Rule 63 the judgment-creditor can plead by way of defence that the transfer in favour of the plaintiff was under a collusive decree and not binding. (5)

The plea must be taken in the first Court itself and not in the appellate Court (6)

34. Onus of proof.

The general principle is that the onus of proving fraud is on the person alleging it (1) Accordingly the onus of proving a deed as fraudulent is on the person alleging it (2) Fraud alleged by one party in execution of a sale deed is to be proved like a criminal trial by positive and unimpeachable

3 See the AIR Commentaries on the Code of Civil Procedure 10th (1985) Edn O 6 R 4 Note 2

4. AIR 1933 Rang 169 (172) (AIR 1915 PC 7 Followed)  AIR 1928 Mad 793 (794) (DB) (AIR 1916 PC 238 Relied on)  AIR 1920 Oudh 182 (184) (Transfer intending to defeat anticipated execution does not fall under the section.)

5. AIR 1971 Punj 325 (326, 327) (DB).

6. (1843) 49 ER 1006 (1011) : 7 Beav 112, Richardson v. Harton.

Section 53 — Note 34

1. AIR 1958 SC 1 (4) (Application by official receiver to set aside a conveyance by insolvent — Onus is on him to prove that it was not made in good faith and for consideration)  (1968) 2 Mys LJ 269 (271) (DB)  AIR 1928 Mad 793 (794) (DB)  (1894) 21 Cal 612 (621) (DB) (Party charging fraud is not relieved from this obligation because the other party has told an untrue story)  (1892) 6 C PLR 19 (21)  (1913) 21 Ind Cas 333 (334) (Burma)  (1971) 10 Ind Cas 922 (923) (Burma).

2. (1869) 13 Suth WR 14 (15) (PC)  (1875) 23 Suth WR 111 (112) (PC)  AIR 1966 Andh Pra 157 (158) (DB)  AIR 1961 Punj 361 (363) (DB)  AIR 1960 Punj 548 (549) (DB)  AIR 1954 Nag 129 (132) ILR (1953) Nag 937 (DB)  AIR 1950 Kutch 57 (57)  (1950) Ker LT 502 (505) (DB)  AIR 1947 Cal 154 (155, 156) (DB) (Onus of proving fraudulent intent within S 53 is on person challenging the transaction)  AIR 1943 All 2 (5)  AIR 1941 Mad 690 (693)  AIR 1941 Oudh 178 (179) (DB)  AIR 1941 Oudh 205 (210) (DB)  AIR 1941 Rang 108 (108, 109) 1940 Rang LR 659 (DB)  AIR 1938 Lah 73 (74) ILR (1938) Lah 439 (Fraudulent transfer by insolvent in favour of his wife more than two years before his adjudication — B purchasing property in execution of mortgage decree against her — Application by Official Receiver to avoid transfer — Onus is on the Official Receiver to prove that it was fraudulent)  AIR 1938 Oudh 230 (231) (DB)  AIR 1936 Lah 222 (223) (DB)  AIR 1934 Rang 308 (308, 309) (It is essential that decision of the Court rests not upon suspicion but upon legal grounds established by legal testimony)  AIR 1934 Lah 365 (366) 15 Lah 294 (DB) (Application by Official Receiver to declare invalid gift made by insolvent more than two years before insolvency — Burden of proof is on the Official Receiver)  AIR 1934 Lah 136 (137)  AIR 1930 Mad 665 (667)  AIR 1929 Lah 409 (413) (DB)  AIR 1927 Lah 420 (421) 8 Lah 544 (DB)  AIR 1926 Oudh 501 (502)  AIR 1925 Rang 227 (228) 3 Rang 71 (Where the execution of a sale deed by a father to his daughter is admitted and there is nothing on the face of it to suggest fraud, the burden of proving that it was a fraudulent conveyance lies on the party who alleges it — As against such party the daughter need not prove consideration)  AIR 1924 Nag 363 (365)  AIR 1923 Nag 17 (18)  AIR 1921 Low Bur 58 (59) 11 Low Bur Rul 89 (DB)  1913 Punj LR No. 246 page 827, 829 (DB)  (1909) 1 Ind Cas 795 (796) (DB) (All)  (1909) 12 Oudh Cas 74 (76)  (1909) 17 Mad LJ 11 (14) (DB) (In a suit for declaration that a deed of sale is not binding on the plaintiff being in fraud of creditors, it is for the plaintiff to establish affirmatively an intent to defeat or evidence (3) Further, a charge of fraud must be substantially proved as laid and where one kind of fraud is charged, another kind of fraud cannot upon failure of proof be substituted for it (4) But fraud is generally seldom possible to be established by direct evidence, it is usually established by the surrounding circumstances (5) that is, by circumstantial evidence (6) But it is not established by mere suspicion and conjecture (7) Question whether a sale is in fraud of creditors and voidable under S. 53 is normally a question of fact. (8) In Satish Chandra Chatterjee v. Satish Kanika Roy (9) their Lordships of the Privy Council observed as follows :

“Charges of fraud and collusion like those contained in the plaint in this case must, no doubt be proved by those who make them — proved by established facts or inferences legitimately drawn from those facts taken together as a whole. Suspicions and surmise and conjectures are not permissible substitutes for those facts or those inferences, but that by no means require that every puzzling artifice or contrivance resorted to by one accused of fraud must necessarily be delay creditors.)  (1903) 5 Bom LR 142 (143) (DB)  (1901) 25 Bom 207 (206, 207) (DB)  1901 All WN 67 (68)  (1892-1896) 2 Lpp Bur Rul 315 (317)  (1891) 4 CPLR 179 (180)  (1889) 2 CPLR 63 (64)  (1886) 8 All 178 (180) (DB)  (1884) 1 CPLR 59 (62)  (1938) 42 Cal WN 34 (36)  (1921) 60 Ind Cas 825 (826) (DB) — Affd  (1913) 20 Ind Cas 355 (356) (DB) (Lah) (Suit for setting aside a decree obtained on award as fraudulent.)  (1913) 21 Ind Cas 333 (334) (Low Bur)  (1911) 11 Ind Cas 781 (781) (Low Bur)  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 1205 (1206) (Low Bur) (Purchaser not a woman of independent means — Vendor still retaining possession of the property — Onus to prove the sale for consideration and bona fide is on the purchaser.)  (1910) 13 Oudh Cas 265 (276) (DB)  (1895) 64 LJ PC 136 (136) (1895 AC 625 In re Cook, Morris, Morris)  (1881) 51 LJ Ch 503 (503), Golden v. Gillam (Affirming (1881) 51 LJ Ch 154)

3. 2001 (2) (128) Pun LR 571 (572)

4. (1887) 11 Bom 620 (623) . 14 Ind App 111 (PC)  AIR 1920 Cal 26 (32) (DB)  AIR 1916 Cal 120 (123) (DB)  AIR 1916 Cal 876 (878) (DB)  (1911) 10 Ind Cas 922 (923) (Low Bur).

[See also (1940) 42 Punj LR 385 (392) (DB) (Fraud not pleaded and proved cannot be presumed.)]

5. ILR (1962) 12 Raj 517 (521)  (1949) 1 Pepsu LR 198 (204) (DB) (Per Teja Singh (J) in his order of reference to a Division Bench)  AIR 1943 Mad 531 (533) (DB) (Fraudulent intent has to be inferred from the conduct of the party and circumstances proved.  AIR 1937 Oudh 349 (351) (DB)  AIR 1935 Oudh 405 (407) (DB)  AIR 1931 Oudh 344 (344) (DB)  AIR 1930 Lah 12 (14)  AIR 1928 Nag 14 (23) Nag LR 143 (DB)  AIR 1925 Nag 460 (462) (Fraud can be inferred from the conduct of the parties.)

[See also AIR 1925 Nag 427 (431) (Evidence of forgery)  AIR 1950 Kutch 57 (57, 58) (Transfer of immovable property by person in favour of his daughter, who was child widow living on maintenance, during pendency of money suit against transferor is significant.)]

6. AIR 1932 Cal 434 (435) 59 Cal 180 (DB)  AIR 1937 Oudh 349 (351) (DB)  AIR 1931 Oudh 333 (338) 7 Luck 131 (DB)  AIR 1931 Oudh 256 (259) 6 Luck 546 (DB) (AIR 1923 PC 73, Relied on)  (1900) 13 CPLR 180 (187)  (1895) 9 CPLR 142 (144)  (1893) 7 CPLR 73 (75, 76)  (1869) 3 Beng LR (AC) 108 (110, 111) (DB)

7. AIR 1960 Pun 548 (549) (DB)  AIR 1978 Pat 148 (1978 BIJR 277) (DB)  AIR 1954 Nag 129 (132) ILR (1953) Nag 937 (DB)  AIR 1935 All 995 (995) 58 All 342  AIR 1932 Mad 182 (184) (DB)  AIR 1920 Oudh 182 (184) (AIR 1916 PC 238 Relied on)  AIR 1918 Pat 632 (633) (DB)  Bom Unrep Case No. 129 of 1872  Bom Unrep Case No. 185 of 1872  (1907) 6 Cal LJ 472 (484) (DB)  (1892-1896) 2 Lpp Bur Rul 318 (321, 322)  (1874) 22 South WR 124 (125) (DB)  (1866) 6 South WR 235 (236) (DB)  (1869) 3 Beng LR (AC) 108 (111) South WR 482 (484) (DB) completed unravelled and cleared up and made plain before a verdict can be properly found against him. If this were not so, many a clever and dexterous knave would escape."

8. AIR 1968 Mad 256 (258).

9. AIR 1923 PC 73 (76).

As to the circumstances that may raise a presumption of fraudulent intent under this section see Note 6.

Where a transfer is proved to have been made with intent to defeat or delay the creditors, the onus will shift to the transferee to show good faith and consideration.(10) Question of onus of proof will, however, be academic where the entire evidence is before the Court and will have little significance except in a rare case where the considerations are evenly balanced (11) In a suit by a transferee to set aside the order in execution proceedings at the instance of the creditor where the decree-holder challenges the transfer as one to defraud the creditor, the burden is on the transferee to show that it is genuine (12) See also the undermentioned cases.(13)

As to burden of proof in suits under O 21, R 63 of the Code of Civil Procedure in which the question whether a transfer is fraudulent arises, see Note 19 on that rule in the A.I.R. Commentaries on the Code of Civil Procedure, 10th (1985) Edn.

35. Limitation for suit to avoid document under this section.

See Note 23 on Art. 113 of the A.I.R. Commentaries on the Limitation Act, (1963) 7th (1997) Edn. See also the undermentioned cases.(1)

10. AIR 1963 SC 1150 (1157)  AIR 1986 Kant 225 (228) (1985) 2 Kant LJ 389  1984 Ker LJ 885 (888) (DB)  AIR 1961 Punj 361 (363) (When creditors have established facts which show the prima facie intention of the debtor to defeat or delay creditor it is then for the debtor to meet the case made out and to explain the facts)  AIR 1954 Nag 129 (132) ILR (1953) Nag 937  AIR 1950 Ker LT 502 (505) (DB)  AIR 1947 Cal 154 (156) (DB) (A mere general knowledge that the transfer was in financial embarrassment would not by itself, establish want of good faith on the part of the transferee)  AIR 1943 All 2 (5) (DB). (When the person attacking the transfer proves facts which are sufficient to show that prima facie the intention of the transferor was to defeat or delay creditors, it is for the transferor to meet the case and to explain the facts. Mere mutation in accordance with transfer is not enough to show absence of such intention)  AIR 1933 Rang 191 (192)  AIR 1941 Mad 690 (693)  AIR 1930 Lah 136 (137)  AIR 1927 Rang 331 (332)  AIR 1926 Nag 494 (494)  AIR 1921 Low Bur 58 (58, 59) 11 Low Bur Rul 89 (DB)  (1913) 21 Ind Cas 333 (334) (Burma)  (1907-1908) 4 Low Bur Rul 211 (212)  (1902) 5 Bom LR 142 (143) (DB)  (1910) 33 Mad 334 (338) (DB) (5 Bom LR 142, Followed)

[See also (1866) 1 Agra 79 (81) (DB) (Case before the Act)  (1900) 23 Mad 184 (189) (DB)  AIR 1927 Nag 166 (168) (It is necessary for the purchaser to show that there was real intention of the debtor to pass ownership and of himself to acquire it. Mere transfer of possession is insufficient)]

11. AIR 1963 SC 1150 (1154).

12. (1970) 2 Andh WR 117.

13. AIR 1963 Mad 450 (452) (Mortgage affected by statutory presumption under S 6 of Madras Indebted Agriculturists (Temporary Relief) Act that it was executed with intent to defeat or delay creditors — Onus will be on judgment-debtor under mortgage decree to prove that there was no such intent)  AIR 1919 Pat 181 (181, 188) (DB)

Section 53 — Note 35

1. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 321 (323) ILR (1953) Trav-Co 326 (DB) (No suit under S 53 brought and question whether transactions were fraudulent not arising on pleadings — Held to send case back for necessary amendments will be to permit amendments after expiry of period of limitation.)  AIR 1967 Ker 171 (171) 1967 Ker LT 810 (Suit by creditor for cancellation of the sale deed executed by the debtor — It is governed by Art 120 of the Limitation Act and not Art 91.)  AIR 1967 Raj 283 1967 Raj LW 307 (Suit under Order 21, Rule 63 which was amended as a suit under Section 53 — No addition of parties

[53A. PART PERFORMANCE.— Where any person contracts to transfer for consideration any immoveable property by writing signed by him or on his behalf from which the terms necessary to constitute the transfer can be ascertained with reasonable certainty, and the transferee has, in part of performance of the contract, taken possession of the property or any part thereof, or the transferee, being already in possession, continues in possession in part performance of the contract and has done some act in furtherance of the contract, and the transferee has performed or is willing to perform his part of the contract, then, notwithstanding that ¹[* * * *] where there is an instrument of transfer, that the transfer has not been completed in the manner prescribed therefor by the law for the time being in force, the transferor or any person claiming under him shall be debarred from enforcing against the transferee and persons claiming under him any right in respect of the property of which the transferee has taken or continued in possession, other than a right expressly provided by the terms of the contract :

Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the rights of a transferee for consideration who has no notice of the contract or of the part performance thereof.]

[A] Inserted by the Transfer of Property (Amendment) Act, 1929 (XX of 1929) S. 16

[B] Omitted by the Registration and other Related Laws (Amendment) Act (48 of 2001) S. 10

— S. 22 of the Limitation Act will not apply.  AIR 1948 Bom 265 (268, 271) ILR (1947) Bom 807 (DB) (Suits under S. 53 — Art. 20 and not Art. 91 Limitation Act governs such suits. — Right accrues when creditor has knowledge of fraud and not when the plaintiff decides to exercise his option of avoiding transfer — View of Lokur J. in AIR 1944 Bom 267 in so far as it goes against this view not approved on Letters Patent Appeal)  AIR 1947 Pat 257 (260) (DB) (Suit under O. 21 R. 65 Civil PC. in representative capacity against defendants 1 and 2, husband and wife respectively, alleging transfer by former in favour of latter as fraudulent — W. by defendant 2 giving property to deity — Defendant 1 appointed shebait — Death of defendant 2 — Deity through defendant 1 as shebait applying to be added as legal representative — Plaintiff objecting — Application rejected — Plaintiff held could not after limitation ask deity to be brought on record as legal representative — Shebaits being already on record in another capacity was of no avail — Application could not be treated as fresh suit under S. 53 T.P. Act. against deity since it would be barred six years having elapsed after the impugned transaction)  AIR 1942 Mad 483 (484) ILR (1942) Mad 862 (DB) (Application by Official Receiver to set aside transfers by insolvent under Ss. 53 and 54 Provincial Insolvency Act dismissed — On appeal by Official Receiver District Judge directing that proper remedy was suit by creditors under S. 53 T.P. Act. for declaration of transfers as void — Suit by Alliance of creditors under S. 53-A claiming to deduct time spent in prosecution of appeal before District Judge — Section 14 Limitation Act held did not apply)  AIR 1940 Lah 198 (198-199) (Though the creditor has to challenge the transfer only within six years, no time limit affects his defence where he has occupied the position of defendant)

Synopsis

1A. Amendment.

1. The English equitable doctrine of part performance.
2. Doctrine of part performance distinguished from the doctrine of Walsh v. Lonsdale, (1882) 21 Ch D 9.
- 2A. Doctrine of acquiescence and expectation — See S. 51, Notes 22 to 24.
3. Law in India before the introduction of this section.
4. Scope and applicability of the section.
5. Section, if retrospective in operation.
6. "Contracts to transfer."
7. Consideration.
8. "Immovable property."
9. Contract must show clearly terms of transfer.
- 9A. "Writing signed by him or on his behalf."
- 9B. Oral agreement.
10. Acts of part performance under the section.

10A. Lease.

11. Third paragraph — Transferee's willingness to perform his part.
12. Section applies only if the contract or transfer is invalid for want of completion in the prescribed manner.
13. Transferor debarred from enforcing his right to the property.
14. "Any person claiming under him."
- 14A. "Any right in respect of the property."
15. Proviso to the section.
16. Contract to transfer — Proof.
- 16A. Fraud on registration — Effect — See Note 16.
17. This section and S. 27A of the Specific Relief Act (1877), compared.
18. Law in States to which this Act does not apply.
19. Limitation.
20. Plea of part performance.

1A. Amendment.

By Section 10 of the Registration and other Related Laws (Amendment) Act (48 of 2001) the words "the contract though required to be registered has not been registered or" occurring in S. 53-A are omitted. Certain amendments are also made to the Registration Act (1908).

The cumulative result brought about by the Central Act 48 of 2001 is that "the documents containing contracts to transfer for consideration, any immovable property for the purpose of S. 53A of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 shall be registered if they have been executed on or after the commencement of the said Central Amendment Act 48 of 2001 and if such documents are not registered on or after such commencement, then they shall have no effect for the purposes of the said S. 53-A."

Also newly inserted S. 17(1A) and S. 32A in the Registration Act, 1908 provide as follows —

"S. 17(1A) The documents containing contracts to transfer for consideration, any immovable property for the purpose of Section 53A of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 shall be registered if they have been executed on or after the commencement of the Registration and other Related Laws (Amendment) Act 2001 and if such documents are not registered on or after such commencement, then, they shall have no effect for the purposes of the said Section 53A".

(b) in sub-section (2), in clause (v), for the opening words "any document" the words, brackets, figure and letter "any document other than the documents specified in sub-section (1A)" shall be substituted

"S. 32A Compulsory affixing of photograph, etc. — Every person presenting any document at the proper registration office under Section 32 shall affix his passport size photograph and fingerprints to the document Provided that where such document relates to the transfer of ownership of immovable property the passport size photograph and fingerprints of each buyer and seller of such property mentioned in the document shall also be affixed to the document."

1. The English equitable doctrine of part performance.

Where a contract, which was unenforceable under the Statute of Frauds (1677) 29 Car II, c. 3 as not being in writing signed by the parties had been partly performed and the acts of part performance were such, as unequivocally gave rise to an inference that there must have been such a contract as that alleged. Courts of Equity held that they had power, notwithstanding the Statutes of Frauds to discover by parol evidence the actual terms of such contract and give relief to the parties on that basis. This in short, is the English equitable doctrine of part performance

History of the doctrine.

The Statute of Frauds was passed in England in the year 1677 and S. 4 thereof provided inter alia that :

"No action shall be brought whereby to charge any person upon any agreement made in consideration or marriage of upon any contract for sale of lands, tenements or hereditaments or any interest in or concerning them unless the agreement upon which such action shall be brought or some memorandum or note thereof shall be in writing and signed by the party to be charged therewith or some other person thereunto by him lawfully authorised "

It will be noticed that a contract which failed to comply with the requirements of the Statute of Frauds was not void but was merely one which could not be proved except by a memo in writing (1) On this principle it was held that if a parol agreement of the nature referred to in the Statute of Frauds was admitted by the party bound, it was out of the statute (2) The object of the statute was held to be merely to prevent fraud being perpetrated. But in the application of the statute it was found in practice that it was sometimes capable of being taken advantage of to effectuate a fraud. It enabled a person who induced another to act upon his promise and change his position subsequently to turn round and repudiate his promise on the ground that it was not reduced to writing. Courts of Equity, therefore, sought out means to relieve this difficulty. The theory on which they proceeded was that a statute intended to guard against fraud should not be allowed to so operate as to encourage fraud. By construction, they limited the operation of the statute to those cases only where the relief was claimed on the contract itself as alleged and held that it did not apply to cases where the contract was partly performed by the parties and the acts of part performance gave rise to an inference by themselves that there must have been some contract between them (3) In other words, where material acts were done in part performance of a contract it was held that it was taken out of the mischief of the statute.(4)

In such cases, the Courts of Equity felt themselves at liberty to receive parol evidence as to the terms of the contract and to grant relief to the parties on the basis of such contract, such as by decreeing specific performance of the contract(5) or by granting an injunction preventing a party from acting in breach of the contract. In Caton v. Caton(6) Lord Cranworth, L.C. observed

"Though Courts of Equity have held themselves bound by this last enactment (i.e. the Statute of Frauds), they have yet, in many cases, felt themselves at liberty to disregard it, when to insist on it, would be to make it the means of effecting, instead of preventing, fraud. This is the ground on

Section 53-A — Note I

1. (1883) 52 LJ QB 737 (741, 749) : 49 LT 303. Maddison v. Alderson  (1879) 48 LJ Ex 362 (364, 365) : 11 QBD 123 (128). Britain v. Rosier  (1805) : 12 ER 1419 (1423) : 8 RR 566. Crosby v. Wadsworth  (1740) : 36 ER 939 (941) : 19 RR 254. Pembroke v. Thorpe
2. (1801) : 34 ER 913 (927) : 6 Ves 12. Coothe v. Jackson  (1739) : 27 ER 381 (381) : Amb 586, Gunter v. Halsey
[See also (1806) : 33 ER 176 (178) : 12 Ves 466 : 8 RR 354. Bligden v. Bradbeat]
3. (1807) : 33 ER 569 (569, 570) : 14 Ves 386 : 9 RR 304. Frame v. Dawson
4. (1784) : 28 ER 1205 (1212) : 1 Bro CC 404. Whithead v. Brockhurst  (1739) : 27 ER 381 (381) : Amb 586, Gunter v. Halsey.
5. (1761) : 2 ER 303 (303) : 1 Dick 346. Lawson v. Laude  (1739) : 27 ER 381 (381) : Amb 586. Gunter v. Halsey  (1719) : 24 ER 232 (232) : Pre Ch 518. Lickey v. Lickey
6. (1866) : 35 LJ Ch 292 (295) : 1 Ch App 137.

which they decree specific performance of parol contracts for the sale or purchase of land, when the contract has been in part performed. The right to relief in such cases rests, not merely on the contract, but on what has been done in pursuance of the contract. The ground on which the Court holds that part performance takes a contract out of the purview of the Statute of Frauds, is, that when one of two contracting parties has been induced or allowed by the other to alter his position on the faith of the contract, as for instance, by taking possession of land expending money in building or by other like acts, then it would be a fraud in the other party to set up the legal invalidity of the contract on the faith of which he induced or allowed the person contracting with him to act."

The leading case on the subject is Maddison v Alderson(7) Lord Selborne after stating that the equity of part performance rests on the principle of fraud and that Courts of Equity will not permit the statute to be made an instrument of fraud, observed as follows

"In a suit founded on such part performance the defendant is really charged upon the equities resulting from the acts done in execution of the contract, and not within the meaning of the statutes upon the contract itself. If such equities were excluded, injustice of a kind which the statute cannot be thought to have had in contemplation would follow. Let the case be supposed of a parol contract to sell land, completely performed on both sides, as to everything except conveyance the whole purchase money paid, the purchaser put into possession expenditure by him (say in costly building) upon the property, leases granted by him to tenants. The contract is not a nullity, there is nothing in the statute to estop any Court which may have to exercise jurisdiction in the matter from enquiring into and taking notice of the truth of the facts. All the acts done must be referred to the actual contract, which is the measure and test of their legal and equitable character and consequences. It therefore in such a case a conveyance were refused and an action of ejectment brought by the vendor or his heir against the purchaser nothing could be done towards ascertaining and adjusting the equitable rights and liabilities of the parties without taking the contract into account. The matter has advanced beyond the stage of contract, and the equities which arise out of the stage which it has reached cannot be administered unless the contract is regarded. The choice is between undoing what has been done (which is not always possible, or, if possible, just) and completing what has been left undone. The line may not always be capable of being so clearly drawn as in the case which I have supposed; but it is not arbitrary or unreasonable to hold that when the statute says that no action is to be brought to charge any person upon a contract concerning land it has in view the simple case in which he is charged upon the contract only, and not that in which there are equities resulting from res gestae subsequent to and arising out of the contract. So long as the connection of those res gestae with the alleged contract does not depend upon mere parol testimony but is reasonably to be inferred from the res gestae themselves, justice seems to require some such limitation of the scope of the statute, which might otherwise interpose an obstacle even to the rectification of material errors, however clearly proved, in an executed conveyance founded upon an unsigned agreement.

It was, however, held that the doctrine of part performance was one which should not be unduly extended,(8) but should be confined within limits intended to prevent the recurrence of the very mischief which the statute was intended to suppress (9)

The following are the limitations :

- (a) The act of part performance must unequivocally be referable to the alleged contract
- (b) It must be such an act of part performance as to have changed the relative positions of the parties as to the subject-matter of the contract.(10)
- (c) It must not be an act preparatory to the completion of the contract

7. (1883) 8 App Cas 467 (475, 476) : 52 LJ QB 737 (742)

8. (1761) 30 ER 126 (127) 2 RR 41, O'Reilly v Thompson  (1804) 9 RR 54 (57) 2 Sch and Lefr J. Lindsay v. Lynch

9. (1925) 94 LJ Ch 113 (121) 1925 Ch 96 (112), Rawlinson v. Ames  (1883) 52 LJ QB 737 (743) 8 App Cas 467 (478), Maddison v Alderson

10. AIR 1923 Bom 473 (475, 476) 47 Bom 621 (DB)  AIR 1926 Bom 384 (387) (DB)

(A) Act must be unequivocal.

The act of part performance which will take the case out of the Statute of Frauds must unequivocally be referable to the contract alleged. As was observed by Lord Hardwick in Gunter v Halsey(11) "the acts done in part performance must be such as could be done with no other view or design than to perform the agreement." The mere fact that the act is consistent with the alleged contract is not sufficient. An act, which though in truth done in pursuance of a contract, admits of an explanation without supposing a contract is not an act of part performance taking the case out of the statute.(12)

The taking of possession by the promisee has always been considered a marked circumstance which is unequivocally referable to the contract(13) and which is therefore sufficient to take the case out of the Statute of Frauds. "If a Court found a man" said Cotton, L.J., in Britain v Rossiter(14)

"in occupation of land or doing acts with regard to it under circumstances which would prima facie render him a trespasser, the Court would say that there was strong evidence from the user of the land of the existence of a contract, and would therefore allow parol evidence to be brought to show the real circumstances under which possession was taken."

In Dale v Hamilton(15) Sir James Wigram, V. C., said:

"one man without being amenable to the charge of trespass is found in the possession of another man's land. Such a state of things is considered as showing unequivocally that some contract has taken place between the litigant parties, and it has, therefore, on that specific ground been admitted to be an act of part performance."

He relied upon the decision in Morphett v Jones(16) where Sir Thomas Plumer, M. R., observed:

"When a person not in possession makes an agreement with the owner, and enters into possession, such possession has always been held to be a performance, because it is an unequivocal act referable to the contract. The act of a stranger on the land cannot be explained except by reference to a contract: it has always been considered as evidence of some antecedent contract and lets in the enquiry what that contract was: the Court not considering the act to be mere trespass or unauthorised possession."

See also the undermentioned cases.(17)

The mere continuing in possession by a lessee is not an act of part performance of a contract

11. (1739) 27 ER 381 (381): Amb 586

12. AIR 1925 Rang 322 (324) 3 Rang 243 (Mortgagee claiming to be in possession under an oral agreement to sell the mortgaged property to him — Possession would ordinarily be referable to the mortgage and not only to the agreement — Doctrine does not apply — Overruled on another point in AIR 1927 Rang 33 (FB)  (1846) 67 ER 955 (960) 16 LJ Ch 126. Dale v Hamilton  (1883) 52 LJ Ch 737 (744) 8 App Cas 467 (479). Maddison v Alderson  (1807) 33 ER 569 (569, 570). Frame v Dawson  (1882) 52 LJ QB 140 (143) 10 QBD 148 (154). Humphreys v Green (Payment of part or whole of purchase-money is not sufficient for act of part performance unless shown that it is in respect of particular land which is subject-matter of parol agreement.)

[See also (1943) 26 ER 803 (805) 3 Atk 1. Lacon v Mestins  (1896) 65 LJ Ch 754 (756) 2 Ch 428 (433). Hodson v Heuland.]

13. AIR 1926 Bom 384 (387) (DB)

14. (1879) 48 LJ Ex 363 (366, 367): 11 QBD 123 (131).

15. (1846) 67 ER 955 (960): 16 LJ Ch 126.

16. (1818) 37 ER 45 (49): 1 Wils Ch 100.

17. (1955) 1 All ER 914 (920, 923) 1955 App Cas 778  (1802) 9 PR 3 (9) 1 Sch & Let  Clinan v Cooke  (1883) 52 LJ Ch 577 (582) 22 Ch D 797 (808) Re Foster Ex parte Foster  (1811) 34 ER 341 (343) 11 RR 207 Gregory v Mighell  (1740) 36 ER 939

to grant a fresh lease (18) But the continuing in possession by the tenant coupled with the payment of increased rent is an act of performance.(19) The reason is that former is an equivocal act not necessarily referable to an agreement to grant a lease while the latter acts are such as are referable only to an agreement to grant a fresh lease. Where, however, a tenant entered into possession during negotiations for a lease, and continued in possession after the agreement was concluded, it was held that this was a part performance of the contract.(20)

The mere payment of money even if it be the whole of the purchase-money is not an act of part performance (21) It is an equivocal act capable of various explanations (22)

(B) The act of part performance must be such as to have changed the relative positions of the parties as to the subject-matter of the contract.

"It is not enough," said Lord Selborne in Maddison v Alderson (23)

"that an act done should be a condition of or good consideration for a contract, unless it is, as between the parties, such a part execution as to change their relative positions as to the subject-matter of the contract"

As was stated by Sir William Grant, M R in Frame v Dawson(24) "the act must be such that the party would suffer an injury amounting to fraud by the refusal to execute the agreement" (25)

"It is in general, of the essence of such an act," said Sir James Wigram, in Dale v Hamilton(26)

"that the Court shall by reason of the act itself without knowing whether there was an agreement

(941) 19 RR 254 Pembroke v Thorpe  (1685) 23 ER 524 (525) 1 Eq Cas Abr 21, Butcher v Stapely  (1864) 55 ER 626 (627) 11 LT (NS) 360 (361), Millard v Harvey  (1857) 44 ER 634 (640) 1 De G & J 34 Pain v Coombs  (1737) 26 ER 9 (9) 1 Atk 12 Clark v Wright  (1743) 26 ER 803 (805) 3 Atk 1 Lacon v Mertins  (1876) 46 LJ Ch 189 (191) 4 Ch G 73 (76-78) Ungley v Ungley  (1797) 30 ER 1063 (1065) 4 RR 26, Wills v Stardling (Payment of increased rent and its acceptance by landlord is strong proof of act of part performance)  (1921) 90 LJ Ch 373 (375) (1921) 2 Ch 25 (28) Brough v Nettleton  (1896) 65 LJ Ch 754 (757) : 74 LT 811, Hodson v Heuland.

[See also, (1914) 83 LJ Ch 559 (585) (1914) 1 Ch 788 (799) Daniels v Trefusis  (1887) 56 LJ Ch 662 (666) 35 Ch D 681 (691) Memanus v Cooke (The doctrine of part performance also applied to parol agreement for easements, though no interests in land in intended to be acquired.)]

18. (1883) 52 LJ QB 737 (744) 31 WR (Eng) 820 Maddison v Alderson  (1797) 30 ER 1063 (1065) : 4 RR 26, Wills v. Stradling.

19. (1883) 52 LJ QB 737 (744) 8 App Cas 467 (480) Maddison v Alderson  (1899) 68 LJ Ch 322 (323) (1899) 1 Ch 622 (625) Miller and aldworth v Sharp  1865) 35 LJ Ch 140 (143) : 1 Ch 35 (40, 41), Nunn v Fabian

20. (1918) 87 LJ KB 1101 (1103) (1918) 2 KB 314 (318), Biss v Hygate

21. (1917) 86 LJ Ch 726 (729) (1917) 2 Ch 356 (359-360) Chaproniere v Lamber  (1802) 9 RR 3 (8) 1 Sch and Lefr 22, Clinan v Cooke  (1846) 67 ER 955 (960) 16 LJ Ch 126 Dale v Hamilton  (1709) 22 ER 40 2 Eq Cas Abr 46, Pengall v Rose  (1852) 42 ER 907 (910) 21 LJ Ch 761 Hughes v Morris  (1743) 26 ER 802 (805) 3 Atk 1 Lacon v Mertins  (1815) 34 ER 593 (594) 13 RR 244, Ex parte Houper (Payment of whole purchase-money in case of parol contract for sale and mortgage distinguished In former it is part performance, in latter case it is not)  AIR 1923 Bom 473 (476) 47 Bom 621 (DB)

22. (1883) 52 LJ QB 737 (744) 31 WR (Eng) 820 Maddison v Alderson

23. (1883) 52 LJ QB 737 (744) : 8 App Cas 467 (478).

24. (1807) 33 ER 569 (569, 570) : 9 RR 304

25 See also (1739) 27 ER 381 (381) Amb 586 Gunter v Halsey

26. (1846) 67 ER 955 (960) : 16 LJ Ch 126

or not, find the parties unequivocally in a position different from that which according to their legal rights they would be in if there were no contract."

See also the undermentioned case (27) The taking of possession would constitute such an act as would change the position of the parties as to the subject-matter of the contract and it would be a fraud on the other party thereafter to set up the legal invalidity of the contract

(C) Acts preparatory to the contract are not acts of part performance.

The act of part performance must not be an act preparatory to the completion of the contract (28) In Buckmaster v Harrop (29) Sir William Grant M R said "that without which there could have been no contract cannot be said to be in part performance of the contract" Thus the measurement by a party of the subject-matter of an agreement is not a part performance of the agreement but is only a step towards performance (30) The going by a purchaser, to inspect the property which is the subject-matter of an agreement for sale is not part performance of the agreement (31) Where B agreed to grant a lease of certain properties to A, if A procured a certain release from a stranger, and A procured such a release, it was held that the act was merely a preparatory one necessary to be fulfilled by A to entitle him to call for an execution of the contract (32)

Under the English doctrine of part performance as stated above, a party to a parol contract may be either as a plaintiff or as a defendant rely upon part performance (33) But the part performance must come from the party seeking performance (34) The doctrine though generally applied to contracts relating to interests in land, is not confined to such contracts but extends to all contracts required by the Statute of Frauds to be evidenced by a memo in writing (35)

Further the taking possession is not the only mode of part performance recognised Where the plaintiff altered her own building in accordance with the wishes and suggestions of the defendant it was held that this necessarily suggested the existence of the alleged contract to take the house on rent, that the plaintiff had changed her position for worse and that the doctrine applied even to the acts of the plaintiff on her own property and no possession was taken by the defendant (36)

27. (1866) 35 LJ Ch 229 (295) : 1 Ch 137 (148) Caton v Caton  (1807) 9 RR 3 (9) : 1 Sch & Lef 22, Clinan v. Cooke  (1924) 94 LJ Ch 113 (115) : 1925 Ch 96 Rawlinson v. Ames

[See also (1875) 24 WR (Eng) 8 (9), Philips v. Alderson.]

28. (1784) 28 ER 1205 (1209) : 1 Bro CC 404, Whithread v. Brickhurst

29. (1802) 32 ER 139 (141) : 6 RR 132

30. (1740) 36 ER 939 (941) : 19 RR 254, Pembroke v. Thorpe

31. (1737) 26 ER 9 (9) : 1 Atk 12, Clerk v. Wright.

32. (1791) 30 ER 126 (127) : 2 Cox 271, O'Reilly v. Thompson

33. (1811) 34 ER 341 (342) : 11 RR 207 Gregory v. Mitchell  (1802) 32 ER 139 (141) : 6 RR 132 Buckmaster v. Harrop  (1807) 33 ER 569 (569) : 14 ves 386 : 9 RR 304 Frame v. Dawson  (1701) 1 ER 205 : Colles's PC 108 Lester v. Foxcroft  (1857) 44 ER 6 (4 (640)) : 1 De G & J 34 Pain v. Coombs  (1864) 55 ER 626 (627) : 11 LT (NS) 360 (360) Millard v. Harvey  (1685) 23 ER 524 (525) : 1 Eq Cas Abr 21 Butcher v. Stapely  (1924) 94 LJ Ch 113 (121) : 1925 Ch 96 (109), Rawlinson v. Ames.

[See (1737) 26 ER 9 (9) : 1 Atk 12, Clerk v. Wright]

34. (1802) 32 ER 139 (141) : 6 RR 132 Buckmaster v. Harrop  (1924) 94 LJ Ch 113 (121) : 1925 Ch 96 Rawlinson v. Ames  (1866) 35 LJ Sch 292 (295) : 1 Ch 137 (147) Caton v. Caton

35. (1888) 57 LJ Ch 570 (573) : 39 Ch D 508 Lavery v. Pursell  (1887) 56 LJ Ch 662 (665) : 34 Ch D 681 (690, 691) McManus v. Cooke, (Britain v. Rossiter  (1879) 48 LJ Ex 307) Considered. (Applicable to parol agreement for easement.)

36. (1924) 94 LJ Ch 113 (115) : 1925 Ch 96 Rawlinson v. Ames  (1904) 73 LJ Ch 701 (703) : (1904) 2 Ch 339 (344), Dickinson v. Barrow

2. Doctrine of part performance, distinguished from the doctrine of Walsh v. Lonsdale, (1882) 21 Ch. D. 9.

It is a maxim of equity in England that "Equity looks on that as done which ought to have been done". In other words, equity will treat the subject-matter of a contract, as to its consequences and incidents in the same manner as if the act contemplated in the contract had been completely executed. Thus, a contract to transfer real property did not at law pass any title to the property to the transferee but equity acting on the above maxim treated the contract as if it had been executed and regarded the transferee as if he was a transferee at law. In other words he obtained an equitable interest in the property transferred. It was, however, necessary for the application of this maxim, that at the time the Court was called upon to apply this maxim, the right to specific performance of the contract subsisted. For if such right did not subsist as, for example, where it had been barred by limitation, it could not be said by the Court that it was one "which ought to be performed by the parties" and it was only if the contract ought to be performed that equity will regard it as performed. The decision in Walsh v. Lonsdale(1), rests upon this principle(2). In that case there was an agreement in writing to execute a lease deed by A in favour of B. B entered into possession but A failed to execute a lease deed. He however, distrained for rent due by B. B thereupon sued A for an injunction that by the non-execution of a lease deed, he was only a tenant from year to year and that A could not distrain for rent. It was found that the right to specific performance of the contract was subsisting. It was held that A was entitled to distrain on the basis that B was a lessee in equity.

It is to be noticed that the rule referred to above presupposes that a valid contract has been proved or established, and states that equity will treat it as executed and give relief on that basis, where the right to specific performance of such contract is not barred.

The doctrine of part performance, on the other hand, applies where a contract cannot be proved by reason of its not being in writing as required by the Statute of Frauds. In such cases, if acts of part performance have been performed by the parties and the acts by themselves were such that they could not have been done had there been no contract such as that alleged. Courts of Equity held that the case was outside the Statute of Frauds and felt themselves enabled to admit proof of the contract, on the ground that a party cannot be allowed to take advantage of even an Act of Parliament to commit fraud on others. Having thus come to the conclusion that a contract to transfer had been made, they held that relief could be granted to the parties on this basis. They enforced specific performance of the contract where the right to specific performance was subsisting(3). Where a party had changed his position by acting in pursuance of the contract, they prevented the other party from turning round and giving the go-by to the contract on the ground that it was not in writing and this they did whether the right to specific performance did or did not subsist.

2A. Doctrine of acquiescence and expectation.

See S. 51, Notes 22 to 24.

3. Law in India before the introduction of this section.

Before the Transfer of Property Act was passed, the English doctrine of part performance was applied to cases arising in this country(1). In Imudipattan Thiruganga v. Periya

Section 53-A — Note 2

1. (1882) 31 WR (Eng) 109 (110) : 21 Ch D 9 (14, 15)
2. AIR 1938 Cal 97 (101) : ILR (1938) Cal 607 (DB)
3. AIR 1938 Cal 97 (101, 102) : ILR (1938) 1 Cal 607 (DB)

Section 53-A — Note 3

1. (1861) 8 Moo Ind App 43 (65) ; 4 Suth WR PC 51 (PC)  (1866) 5 Suth WR PC 111 (112) (PC)  (1901) 28 Cal 693 (705, 706) : 28 Ind App 211 (PC) (Contract was before the passing of the Act)  (1864-65) 2 Bom HCR 168 (175) (DB)  (1876) 25 Suth WR 335 (339) (DB)  (1910) 6 Ind Cas 346 (351) (Cal) (Doctrine of part performance not applied as the acts were not unequivocally referable to the contract)

[See also (1871) 3 NWPHCR 152, 155 (DB)  (1866) 1 Agra 283 (284) (DB)]

Dorasami(2), where the contract to transfer was made after the passing of the Act their Lordships of the Privy Council observed as follows :

"It is contended that though the mortgage may fall short of an actual transfer (ie. for want of registration) it shows a good contract for one and that the defendant may now call upon Ovaras heir to implement that contract. Certainly, if such a right exists it would be an answer to the plaintiff's claim and the exact form in which it could be enforced need not be considered.

The actual decision in the case was, however, that there was no valid contract at all established in the case. The decisions of the High Courts in India expressed conflicting views(3). The matter came up before the Privy Council in Mahomed Musa v. Aghore Kumar Ganguli(4) in 1914. In that case, a compromise was entered into between parties by which certain mortgage debts were to be extinguished and certain property divided between the parties in specific shares. No conveyance was executed in pursuance of the compromise, but the parties took possession of their respective shares and enjoyed them in accordance therewith. "The compromise was before the Transfer of Property Act was enacted and under the law then prevailing no written conveyance was necessary to transfer title". Their Lordships applied the doctrine of part performance as laid down in Maddison v. Alderson(5) and held that the actions of the parties were such as to supply all defects. "Then Lordships do not think" said Lord Shaw in delivering the judgment of the Board, "that there is anything either in the law of India or of England inconsistent with it but, on the contrary, that these laws follow the same rule". In Venkayamma v. Appa Rao(6) A promised to B in 1886 to purchase and convey to B certain properties in consideration of B living with the promisor A. The parties acted on this basis for a long time but no conveyance was executed by A to B. B sued A for possession of the properties. Their Lordships of the Privy Council held that B was entitled to a decree and they referred to the doctrine of part performance as laid down in Mohomed Musa v. case(7). It may be noted that the transaction in question in the case was subsequent to the passing of the Act.

The conflict of opinion in the High Courts, not unnaturally, continued. In some cases the doctrine of part performance of a contract was applied so as to support a plea in defence to a suit for ejectment, provided that the right to sue for specific performance of the contract still subsisted(8).

2. (1901) 24 Mad 377 (385, 386) : 28 Ind App 46 (PC).

3. In the following cases the doctrine of part performance was applied : (1894) 16 All 344 (358) (FB). (Per Banerji J.)  (1885) 7 All 482 (488) (Per Petharam C. J.)  (1909) 5 Nag LR 70 (72)  (1904) 17 C. P. L. R. 19 (20)  (1900) 13 C. P. L. R. 163 (164)  (1888) 14 Bom 400 (402) (DB)  (1912) 17 Ind Cas 180 (184) (DB) (Cal.)  (1900) 5 Ind Cas 562 (564) (Cal).

[See also (1912) 39 Cal 663 (667) (DB) (Principle laid down in Wash v. Lonsdale (1882) 21 Ch D 9, Foll.)  (1904) 26 All 266 (269) (DB)  (1899) 12 CPLR 154 (155)]

In the following cases the doctrine of part performance was not applied : (1900) 6 Ind Cas 632 (633) (Cal)  (1909) 36 Cal 926 (927) (DB)  (1905) 2 Cal LJ 343 (349) (DB)  (1904) 28 Bom 446 (472) (DB) (Equitable doctrine cannot be applied to override express provisions of statute)  (1901) 24 Mad 449 (466) (DB)  (1892) 16 Mad 464 (466) (DB)

[See also (1906) 3 Nag LR 72 (79)  (1903) 13 Mad LJ 217 (220) (DB)]

4. AIR 1914 PC 27 (30) : 42 Cal 801.

5. (1883) 52 LJ QB 737 : 8 App Cas 473

6. AIR 1916 PC 9 (13) : 43 Ind App 138.

7. AIR 1914 PC 27 : 42 Cal 801.

8. AIR 1927 Rang 33 (37) : 4 Rang 368 (FB). (Mortgagee under a simple registered mortgage subsequently put in possession by the mortgagor, can set up plea of subsequent oral agreement of sale in a suit for redemption.  AIR 1924 Mad 271 (273) : 46 Mad 919

In some cases it was applied without reference to any question as to whether the right to claim specific performance of the contract to transfer was or was not barred by limitation(9)

(925) (FB). (AIR 1919 Mad 1083 and 29 Mad 336. Overruled.)  AIR 1924 Rang 214 (216) : 2 Rang 285 (FB)  AIR 1916 Bom 1 (4) : 41 Bom 438 (FB)  AIR 1930 Pat 61 (63) (DB)  AIR 1928 Nag 211 (212)  AIR 1927 All 355 (357)  AIR 1927 Cal 954 (956) (DB) (Doctrine of part performance not applied in favour of defendant whose right to specific performance was barred)  AIR 1927 Cal 365 (370)  AIR 1927 Nag 353 (354) (A person in possession of the property of another is entitled to retain that possession if he can show that he could successfully maintain a suit against that person for specific performance of a contract that would give him that title)  AIR 1926 Mad 757 (758)  AIR 1926 Nag 79 (80)  AIR 1925 Oudh 120 (125) : 27 Oudh Cas 175 (DB)  AIR 1925 Rang 1 (3) : 2 Rang 313 (DB) (Mortgagee in possession under an invalid usufructuary mortgage can resist possession till the loan is paid)  AIR 1925 Rang 102 (102)  AIR 1923 Cal 345 (348) (The doctrine of part performance is only applicable where specific performance could have been obtained)  AIR 1919 Cal 710 (716) (DB)  AIR 1915 Mad 807 (807, 808).

[See also AIR 1929 Cal 186 (187) (DB) (Suit for rent by lessor upon written agreement to lease under which lessee put in possession — Decree given because right of specific performance was not barred)  AIR 1930 Pat 20 (24) (DB) (Case of a lease of a site)]

9. AIR 1930 Mad 1 (3) (Writing is not a necessary preliminary condition before the doctrine of part performance could be invoked)  AIR 1929 Nag 194 (200) : 25 Nag LR 131 (DB)  AIR 1929 Mad 291 (292) (DB) (Doctrine applied to partition)  AIR 1929 Rang 251 (252) : 7 Rang 288 (DB)  AIR 1929 Rang 280 (281) : 7 Rang 271 (DB)  AIR 1929 Rang 293 (294) : 7 Rang 414 (DB)  AIR 1928 Sind 61 (63) : 23 Sind LR 237  AIR 1928 Bom 305 (306) : 52 Bom 693  AIR 1928 Rang 182 (184) : 6 Rang 276 (DB)  AIR 1928 Rang 237 (238) : 6 Rang 315  AIR 1928 Rang 321 (323) : 6 Rang 270 (DB)  AIR 1928 Oudh 479 (480) (DB)  AIR 1928 Rang 124 (124) : 6 Rang 125  AIR 1927 Rang 234 (235)  AIR 1927 Mad 830 (833) (Doctrine applied to partition — Hindu law)  AIR 1927 Bom 627 (628, 629) (DB)  AIR 1927 Nag 402 (403)  AIR 1927 Oudh 162 (167) (DB)  AIR 1927 Oudh 570 (571) (DB)  AIR 1927 Oudh 485 (487, 488) (DB)  AIR 1926 Pat 184 (186) : 5 Pat 40 (DB) (Principle applied to unregistered lease)  AIR 1926 Nag 466 (468) (DB)  AIR 1926 Rang 81 (82) : 3 Rang 608  AIR 1926 Bom 384 (387) (DB) (On facts however it was held that the elements necessary to constitute part performance were not established)  AIR 1925 Mad 763 (764)  AIR 1925 Mad 965 (967) (DB) (Applicability of doctrine assumed — But on facts held not to apply)  AIR 1925 Rang 119 (120) : 2 Rang 479  AIR 1925 Rang 118 (118) (Doctrine applied to unregistered lease)  AIR 1924 Rang 89 (90)  AIR 1924 Pat 433 (434)  AIR 1924 All 772 : 775 : 46 All 759 (DB)  AIR 1924 All 826 : 827 : 46 All 847 (DB)  AIR 1924 Mad 296 (297) (DB)  AIR 1923 Bom 473 (477) : 47 Bom 621 (DB)  AIR 1923 Rang 125 (126, 127) : 11 Low Bur Rul 462  AIR 1923 Rang 222 (223) : 1 Rang 261  AIR 1923 Nag 177 (179)  AIR 1923 Pat 492 (505) : 2 Pat 607 (DB) (Deed of surrender by Hindu widow without giving possession — Doctrine held inapplicable)  AIR 1922 Oudh 133 (135) : 25 Oudh Cas 83  AIR 1922 Oudh 217 (218)  AIR 1921 Bom 401 (403) : 45 Bom 1170 (DB)  AIR 1921 Low Bur 16 (18) : 11 Low Bur Rul 94 (DB)  AIR 1921 Upp Bur 10 (13) : 4 Upp Bur Rul 179  AIR 1920 Pat 647 (648) (DB) (Doctrine of part performance not applied where the matter rested in negotiation)  AIR 1918 Cal 923 (925) (DB)  (1929) 114 Ind Cas 416 (416) (DB) (Cal)  (1930) 122 Ind Cas 410 (411) (DB) (All) (Where a member of a joint family conveys a portion of the property belonging to him to another member of the family in lieu of consideration and the transaction has been followed up by the actions of the parties, it is not open to any impeachment by reason of the absence of a registered instrument to support the transaction)  (1926) 98 Ind Cas 691 (693) (DB) (Mad)  (1923) 71 Ind Cas 781 (782) (Pesh) (Applicability assumed but held elements wanting.)

[See also AIR 1918 All 211 (213, 214) : 40 All 187 (DB)  AIR 1919 All 302 (303) : 41

In some cases(10), the possession taken under a contract for sale or lease was held to be a good defence to a suit for ejectment on the principle of Walsh v Lonsdale(11). In a fourth class of cases(12) the doctrine of Walsh v Lonsdale(13) was mixed up with the doctrine of part performance and both were invoked and applied to the same set of circumstances. In a fifth class of cases(14) it was held that the equitable doctrines could not be invoked so as to override the express provisions of the Act.

In John H. Arseculeratne v J B M Pereira(15), the Privy Council had to decide the question of the applicability of the doctrine to a case to which the Ceylon Ordinance VII of 1840 applied. Under that Ordinance a contract for the purpose of effecting a transfer of immovable property should be made in writing and attested by a notary and in the absence thereof the contract 'was of no force or avail in law'. Their Lordships held that the doctrine of part performance which had reference to S 4 of the English Statute of Frauds had no application to the stringent provisions of the Ordinance by which the agreement was 'of no force or avail in law'.

In this state of the authorities S 53-A was introduced by the amending Act of 1929. This section is a partial importation into India of the English equitable doctrine of part performance(16).

All 443 (DB)  AIR 1921 All 248 (253) 43 All 1 (DB)  AIR 1921 All 333 (333) 35 All 388 (DB).

10. AIR 1920 Low Bur 97 (101, 102) : 10 Low Bur 241 (FB)  AIR 1934 Mad 583 (583) (DB) (Party can take advantage of the doctrine when remedy for specific performance is not time-barred)  AIR 1925 Cal 856 (857) 52 Cal 425 (DB)  AIR 1923 Cal 483 (484) 485 (DB) (Principle not applied where execution of a decree for specific performance of a contract of lease was barred by limitation)  AIR 1921 Cal 519 (520) (DB) (Lease)  AIR 1919 Cal 607 (611) (DB) (But held that the rule will apply even if a suit for specific performance would be barred)  AIR 1916 Cal 376 (377) (DB) Sale  AIR 1914 Cal 21 (22) (DB)

11. (1882) 31 WR (Eng) 109 (110) 21 Ch D 9 52 LJ Ch 2 46 LT 858 (860)

[See also AIR 1921 Pat 326 (328) (DB) (This case simply follows Walsh v Lonsdale and 20 Ind Cas 803)]

12. AIR 1930 Pat 53 (54) (DB)  AIR 1928 Pat 44 (45) 7 Pat 95 (DB)  AIR 1923 Cal 130 (133-134) (DB)  AIR 1923 Cal 63 (65) 41 Cal 345 (DB) (AIR 1921 Cal 383 Followed — Where possession was obtained in pursuance of an agreement though document was not executed held that lease could be executed)  AIR 1921 Cal 383 (384) (DB)  AIR 1920 Cal 388 (390) (DB)  AIR 1919 Cal 845 (846) (DB)  AIR 1918 Cal 923 (924) (DB)  AIR 1916 Cal 722 (725, 726) (DB)

13. (1882) 46 LT 858 (860) : 21 Ch D 9

14. AIR 1928 All 641 (649) : 51 All 79 (DB)  AIR 1919 Mad 1083 (1094, 1095) : 40 Mad 1134 (FB)  AIR 1931 Oudh 288 (291) 7 Luck 16 (DB)  AIR 1931 Mad 580 (586) 55 Mad 72 (DB) (Per Cornish J)  AIR 1931 All 59 (62) (DB)  AIR 1930 All 175 (177)  AIR 1929 All 831 (832) (DB) (Provisions of S 107 T P Act and S 17 Registration Act are imperative and cannot be overridden by the doctrine)  AIR 1928 All 699 (703) (DB)  AIR 1922 Cal 436 (439, 442) 49 Cal 507  AIR 1916 Low Bur 38 (39)  AIR 1916 Mad 821 (822) 38 Mad 519 (DB)  AIR 1916 Mad 14 (15) (DB)  AIR 1915 Bom 22 (23) : 39 Bom 472.

[See also AIR 1924 All 396 (397)  AIR 1930 Mad 84 (90-97) (DB)]

15. AIR 1928 PC 273 (275).

16. AIR 1964 SC 877 (880)  AIR 1950 SC 1 (4)  AIR 1941 Lah 407 (410) : ILR (1942) Lah 79 (FB). (The section is not a reproduction of the English doctrine though it is based upon it)  AIR 1964 Cal 235 (237) (DB) (Reversed on another point in AIR 1980 SC 226)  AIR 1963 Mad 310 (311) ILR (1963) Mad 722 (DB)  AIR 1961 Punj 378 (382) ILR (1961) 2 Punj 293 (DB)  AIR 1959 Andh Pra 568 (570) (DB)  AIR 1955 Hyd 101

The matter of the applicability of both these doctrines to agreements made before the enactment of the new section directly came into question the next year in Ariff v Jadunath(17). In that case A, the owner, agreed in 1913 to grant a permanent lease to B and gave him possession. B built upon it. The performance of the agreement by execution of a registered instrument was refused in 1918. A gave notice to quit in 1922 and subsequently sued B for ejectment. At the date of the suit B's right to have the contract specifically performed had been carried by limitation. Their Lordships after reviewing the English law relating to part performance of a contract held that neither the doctrine of Walsh v Lonsdale(18) nor the doctrine of part performance applied, so as to relieve a transaction from the operation of the statute. As to the doctrine of part performance, their Lordships observed as follows :

"Whether an English equitable doctrine should in any case be applied so as to modify the effect of an Indian statute may well be doubted, but that an English equitable doctrine affecting the provisions of an English statute relating to the right to sue upon a contract, should be applied by analogy to such a statute as the Transfer of Property Act and with such a result as to create without any writing an interest which the statute says can only be created by means of a registered instrument, appears to their Lordships, in the absence of some binding authority to that effect, to be impossible."

As to the doctrine of Walsh v Lonsdale(19) their Lordships referring to the legal position, if the contract had been, at the date of the suit, capable of specific performance observed

"Had he (B) been so entitled, the position would be very different for then the respondent could claim to have executed in his favour by the appellant (A) an instrument in writing which he could duly have registered, 'the appellant's ejectment action being stayed in the meantime'."

It may be noted that their Lordships did not say that if the contract was capable of specific performance, the principle of Walsh v Lonsdale(20) would apply. They merely stated that the fact would enable the defendant in the suit for ejectment to have the suit stayed while he filed a separate suit to enforce specific performance of the contract. The view was reiterated in Currimbhoy v Creet(21). The position was made still more clear in Pir Bux v Mahomed Tahir(22), where A agreed to transfer property to B but did not execute a conveyance. B without any authority from A entered into possession and A sued for ejectment. The ejectment was decreed. After observing that a contract for sale of immovable property in India does not of itself create any interest in the property, their Lordships stated as follows :

"The defendant's proper course in the present case as Lord Russell of Killowen points out in Ariff v Jadunath(23), would have been to have founded on the agreement of sale and to have applied for a (102) ILR (1954) Hyd 822  AIR 1955 Mys 38 (39) ILR (1955) Mys 234  AIR 1954 Mad 702 (703)  AIR 1952 Orissa 116-117 (DB)  AIR 1950 Cal 23-26 ILR 1950 2 Cal 443 (DB)  AIR 1943 Sind 81 (81) ILR (1942) Kar 513 (DB)  (1941) 45 Cal WN 132 (136) (DB)  AIR 1939 Cal 163 (166) ILR (1938) 2 Cal 378 (DB) (There is no bar of defence under limitation to that section)  AIR 1938 Cal 97-99, 101-103 ILR 1938 1 Cal 607 (DB)  AIR 1936 Lah 5 (5)  AIR 1934 Lah 751 (752) (DB)  AIR 1934 Pat 301 (302)  AIR 1932 Sind 42 (43, 44) : 25 Sind LR 433 (DB).

[See also AIR 1944 Lah 179 (180) (DB) (Section 53-A is no way an enactment of the law as stated in AIR 1931 PC 79, but is an extension of it.)]

17. AIR 1931 PC 79 (82) : 58 Cal 1235. (On appeal from AIR 1929 Cal 101.)

18. (1882) 31 WR (Eng) 109 (110) : 53 LJ Ch 2.

19. (1882) 31 WR (Eng) 109 : LR 21 Ch D 9.

20. (1882) 31 WR (Eng) 109 : LR 21 Ch D 9.

21. AIR 1933 PC 29 (32) : 60 Ind App 297. (On appeal from AIR 1930 Cal 113.)

22. AIR 1934 PC 235 (237, 238) : 61 Ind App 388.

23. AIR 1931 PC 79 (82) : 58 Ind App 91 (101).

[illegible][illegible]

4. Scope and applicability of the section.

As has been seen in Note 3, this section partially imports into this country the English equitable doctrine of part performance. Apart from this section and except as provided therein the doctrine of part performance is not applicable in India(1).

The chief differences between the English doctrine of part performance and the present section are as follows :

(1) The contract to which the English doctrine is applicable may be oral. The contract to which this section applies must be in writing signed by the transferor(2) (See Notes 9 and 9a) be ejected and doctrine of part performance is not available to him)  AIR 1935 Rang 84 (86) 12 Rang 589 (DB) (AIR 1931 PC 79 Foll)  AIR 1935 Bom 208 (211) (DB)  AIR 1934 Pat 546 (548) (DB) (Suit before enactment of S 53-A — Doctrine of part performance cannot operate to nullify statutory requirement of a registered instrument AIR 1931 PC 79 Foll)  AIR 1934 Mad 583 (583) (DB) (AIR 1930 Mad 1021. Reversed.)  AIR 1933 Cal 393 (396)  AIR 1933 Pat 485 (486)  AIR 1916 Mad 14 (15) (DB)  (1935) 37 Bom LR 246 (247) (DB) (Case before S 53-A was introduced AIR 1934 PC 235 Foll)  (1934) 67 Mad LJ Jour (SN) 62 (62) (DB) (Even if at the date of the suit by the legal owner the defendant in possession had an enforceable contract of sale in his favour he cannot rely upon the fact as a defence to the claim for ejectment — He could at best only apply for stay of the ejectment suit till he could obtain a decree for specific performance in proper proceedings)

[See also AIR 1941 Cal 32 (37) (Where provisions of Registration Act were applicable doctrine of part performance not applied.)]

[See however AIR 1934 Cal 235 (238) 60 Cal 1372 (DB) (Lease — Contract complete — Agreement registered but formal lease not executed or registered — Lessee in possession under agreement. Material terms performed. Parties are bound in equity by contract to lease AIR 1931 PC 79, Foll)]

Section 53-A — Note 4

1. AIR 1964 SC 877 (880). (After S 53A was enacted the only case in which the English doctrine of equity of part performance could be applied in India is where the requirements of S 53A are satisfied)  (1969) 1 Andh LT 150  AIR 1961 Punj 378 (382) ILR (1961) 2 Punj 293 (DB)  AIR 1958 Pat 133 (140, 141) (DB) (When the doctrine of part performance as laid down in S 53A is not applicable for want of writing as contemplated in S 53A, any other defence based on equitable consideration cannot succeed AIR 1931 PC 72 and AIR 1934 PC 235, Rel on)  (1957) 1 Andh WR 366 (368)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 854 (855) ILR (1956) Andhra 1019 (DB)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 58 (59)  AIR 1956 Andh 209 (212) (DB)  AIR 1050 Nag 403 (405) ILR (1950) Nag 25 (Right to retain possession on ground of part performance is no longer based on equity — It now rests on express provisions of S 53A)  AIR 1949 Assam 8 (10) (DB) (Where S 53A in terms applies there is no justification for referring to general discussion on the English doctrine of part performance in order to import into S 53A limitations not to be found in the statute itself. Hence it is immaterial that defendant could not have sued for specific performance of contract of sale on account of limitation expiring)  AIR 1944 Oudh 212 (215) 19 Luck 565 (DB) (Section defines the limits within which the English equitable doctrine of part performance can be applied in India)  AIR 1938 Mad 746 (748) (This section is generally available to defendant)  AIR 1935 Rang 448 (448)

[See also AIR 1944 Lah 179 (180) (DB) ("Section 53A creates rights which certainly were not in existence before that enactment was passed — There was previous to that enactment no right to put up an unregistered agreement and part performance under it as a defence to a suit for ejectment.")]

2. AIR 1962 Punj 475 (476) (The transaction of oral sale requiring compulsory registration under S 54 is not saved by the doctrine of part performance)  AIR 1994 Punj and Har 175 (179) (1994) 3 Pun LR 186  AIR 1947 Cal 353 (361) (DB). (S 53-A not applicable

(2) Under this section, the transferor is only 'debarred from enforcing any right in respect of the property other than a right expressly provided by the terms of the contract. The transferee cannot sue for any declaration of his right on the basis of part performance. (See also Note 13.) Under the English law both the parties can claim as plaintiff that the contract be carried into execution, and each can resist a suit by the other claiming rights in violation of the contract(3).

(3) Under the English law, the part performance of a contract gives rise to an equity and not to a legal right. But under the present section the part performance gives rise to a statutory right of defence. The right is, however, one, which, but for the lack of some formality, the party would have had, under written agreement. The section does not give any right which the informal agreement itself will not give(4).

Agreement for sale does not create any interest in favour of purchaser. It creates obligation which may be enforced against owner(5).

Here agreement to sell does not confer any interest in the property where the agreement holder is not put in possession of the property in pursuance of agreement. S 53-A is not applicable(6). Section 53-A helps the transferee only in protecting his possession and does not confer ownership or title to the property upon him. Even on execution of agreement to sell and handing over possession of land to transferee, the vendor continues to hold the land within the meaning of S 2(nn) of the T N Agricultural Income-tax Act(7).

Even if possession is given to transferee and consideration is paid, title would pass to transferee only on execution and registration of sale deed(8).

to oral agreement.  AIR 1943 Sind 81 (181). ILR (1942) Kant 513 (DB). (Section does not apply to oral contracts.  AIR 1941 Bom 346 (348). ILR (1941) Bom 529 (DB). Or 'signed on his behalf'.  AIR 1938 Cal 97 (103). ILR (1938) 1 Cal 607 (DB).  AIR 1934 Pat 546 (547) (DB). It is the minimum requirement of the section.  AIR 1954 Rang 127 (129).  AIR 1933 Pat 485 (487).  AIR 1933 Rang 136 (138).

3. AIR 1980 SC 226 (233) : (1980) 2 SCJ 1.  AIR 1938 Cal 97 (103). ILR (1938) 1 Cal 607 (DB).

4. AIR 1939 Pat 296 (303).

[See also (1957) 1 Andh WR 366 (368). (The provisions of S 53A are not to be applied on equitable considerations, it is a legal right given by a statute.)]

5. 1989 Jab LJ 295 (296).

6. 2000 (1) All Rent Cas 589 (592).  1992 (2) Bank CLR 137 (143). 1992 (2) Civ LJ 91 (Kant).  1986 Tax LR 456 (461). (1985) 56 ITR 127 (Raj).  1985 Tax LR 296 (313). (1985 Taxation 77 (3) (Andh Pra). (S 53A does not deprive the transferor of his right of ownership.)  1984 Tax LR 900 (901). (1983) 15 Taxman 448 (Delhi). (Interest in property by virtue of S 53A does not amount to ownership. Thus where the assessee entered into agreement to purchase a flour mill and actual possession was taken over by him but no registered sale deed was executed during the relevant accounting year, the assessee could not claim depreciation in respect of the flour mill for the relevant assessment year.)  AIR 1984 Raj 174 (176). 1983 Raj LW 475. (Thus sale made after the date specified in S 30-DD of the Rajasthan Tenancy Act could not be recognised for the determination of the ceiling area notwithstanding the fact that agreement was entered into long before the specified date.)

7. 1987 Tax LR 602 (603, 604). (1986) 99 Mad LW 1059.  1989 (2) Mad LW 12 (25) (land covered by the agreement could not be excluded while determining ceiling area of the transferor.)  (1982) 28 CTR (Guj) 158 (163).

8. 1990 Lab LJ 770 (772) (MP).  1987 Tax LR 1259 (1265) : (1987) 2 Ker LT 485 (FB). (Assessee Trust was in possession of property in pursuance to an agreement which was not executed not registered. In the circumstances the assessee could not claim depreciation in respect of the said property since ownership of the property did not vest in the assessee Trust.)

The necessary conditions for application of S. 53A are that (i) there is a contract to transfer immovable property for consideration (ii) the contract is signed by or on behalf of the transferor, (iii) the terms can be ascertained with reasonable certainty from the document, (iv) the transferee is put in possession or if he has been already in possession, continues in possession, (v) he has done some act in furtherance of the contract, and (vi) the transferee has performed or is willing to perform his part of the contract. If the aforesaid conditions are fulfilled, the transferor or any person claiming under him is debarred from enforcing against the transferee and persons claiming under him any right in respect of the property(9). The right given by Sec. 53A cannot be invoked for enforcement of a right it is a defensive weapon only(10). Where it is proved that a party was not in possession of the suit property, he could not claim benefit of S. 53-A. S. 53-A can be used as a shield to protect possession and not as a sword(11). Benefit of the section goes not only to the party to the transfer for consideration, but also one who is claiming under that party(12). Where the transferee was put in possession of the property in pursuance of a deed of agreement for its sale and continued in possession, he must be deemed to be protected by S. 53A(13). The position of a person who takes possession of the property in part performance of a contract for sale of the said property in his favour fulfilling all the requirements of S. 53-A is analogous to the position of holders of a limited or life estate, mortgagees in possession, lessees having the right to sublet for such a person also holds the property in his own right(14). Where after creation of usufructuary mortgage the mortgagor took fresh loan and agreed that on failure to repay loan, he would sale the property to mortgagee for the loan amount, the document amounted to agreement of sale but being unregistered was of no effect, mortgagor's right to redeem was not extinguished. Section 53-A has no application(15). This section was inserted principally for the protection of ignorant transferees who take possession or spend money in improvements relying on documents which are ineffective as transfers or on contracts which cannot be proved for want of registration. The effect of the section is to relax the strict provisions of the Transfer of Property Act and the Registration Act in favour of

9. (1967) 2 Andh WR 2 (6) (Further rights of other transferees for consideration without notice should not be affected)  AIR 1970 SC 546 : 1971 (2) SCJ 51  200, (94) DLF 841  2000 (2) MPLJ 460 (468)  1999 (1) Rent CR 542 (546) (Punjab and Har)  AIR 1994 Orissa 26 (28) 1994 (2) Cur CC 234  (1988, 1 Cur CC 551 (553) (Gauhati)  1988 (2) Orissa LR 293 (295)  1987 (2) Ker LT 762 (764)  AIR 1984 Kant 50 (54) (1983) 2 Kant LJ 185  AIR 1966 Assam 46 (47) ILK (1964) 16 Assam 493 (DB)  AIR 1959 Andh Pra 534 (535-536) ILR (1959) Andh Pra 547 (DB)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 854 (855) ILR (1956) Andh 1019 (DB)  AIR 1955 Hyd 101 (102) ILR (1954) Hyd 822  AIR 1952 Nag 244 (245) : ILR (1949) Nag 959

[See also AIR 1953 Ajmer 19 (20) (When possession has been given to transferee and he has performed his part of the contract. The transferee or persons claiming under him can defend their possession against the transferor or persons claiming under him even though the document is not registered)  AIR 1953 Ajmer 47 (47-48) (The section envisages a case in which the transferee has obtained possession and has performed his part of the contract. Paragraph 1 of the section envisages the execution of some contract also. Therefore if only the step of registration has not been taken the contract remains only partly performed and the transferee can take advantage of the section.)]

10. (1969) 19 Law Rep 310 (Mys)  2000 (2) Rajasthan LR 604 (607) (Raj)  1999 (1) Rent CR 542 (546) (Punjab and Har)  1998 (3) Mad LJ 302 (303)  (1995) 211 ITR 666 (671) (Delhi)
11. 2001 (4) ICC 757 (761) 2002 (1) Cur LJ (CCR) 461 (Punjab and Har)
12. AIR 1966 Madh Pra 307 (310) : 1966 Jab LJ 1112.
13. 1999 (2) Gauhati LR 391 (403)
14. 1979 All LJ 823 (826) : (1979) 2 Rent LR 533
15. AIR 1986 Kant 221 (223) : (1985) 2 Kant LJ 364

the transferees in order to allow the defence of part performance to be established(16)

The principle of part performance cannot be applied in case of gifts(17). If the interest already passes to the purchasers not Section 44 but Section 53A will be applicable(18). An addressee put in possession of a service Inam land in pursuance of agreement to purchase such land entered into before coming into force of Karnataka Village Offices Abolition Act, 1961 is not entitled to protect his possession under S. 53A after coming into force of the Act even if his alienor subsequently obtained regrant of land in question under S. 5 or S. 6 of the Act(19). Where the land sought to be sold under an agreement, was a service Inam land, was inalienable and had vested in State Government, the transferee could not claim protection under S. 53A(20). Where the agreement of sale of immovable property was in writing and it was proved that the transferee was already in possession of the property and, in part performance of the agreement he had paid two instalments due under the agreement in time, however the third instalment was paid few months after the due date because of the death of one of the transferors and it was accepted by the transferors and the transferee was also willing to perform his part of the contract, S. 53-A shall be applicable in his case, and the benefit under S. 53-A could not be denied to him(21). One of the clauses of an agreement of sale provided that the possession of the property shall be handed over by the vendor to the vendee or his nominee on registration of sale deed after the payment of balance consideration by the vendee to the vendor. Another clause provided that the vendee has received part payment in advance at the time of execution of the agreement and possession of property is given on the date of agreement itself.

Held that what is contemplated under the former clause is final handing over of possession consequent on registration of sale deed and receipt of balance consideration. On the other hand latter clause contemplated interim delivery of possession which is recognised under S. 53-A. Thus it could not be said that the latter clause does not carry any meaning and should be ignored(22). Where the agreement was executed by a person who was not competent to do so, the possession in pursuance of such agreement cannot be protected under S. 53-A(23). Sale of agricultural land by persons belonging to Scheduled Caste in favour of a person of another community is void by virtue of S. 42(b) of Rajasthan Tenancy Act (1955), S. 53-A is therefore not attracted(24). Section 53-A will not be available to a transferee in a case, where it was clearly stipulated in the agreement to sell in favour of the transferee, in respect of attached property that the transferee would be delivered possession of the property after the execution of the sale-deed and it was not in dispute that the judgment-debtor was in actual possession of the property at the time of execution of the agreement and continued to be in possession, and the transferee files an objection petition under O. 21, R. 59 CPC on the basis of a rent note (Agreement of tenancy) by the judgment-debtor in favour of transferee allegedly executed on the same date on which the agreement to sell was executed(25). Transaction of sale dealt with by S. 22 of Tamil Nadu Land Reforms (Fixation of Ceiling on Land) Act (53 of 1961) which, as subsequently amended deals not so much with documents or parchments as with real transactions recognizable by law as such must include not merely a regular

16. (1980) 93 Mad LW 489 (491);  1972 MPLJ 25;  1999 11 Rent CR 542 (546) Punjab and Har.  1967 Raj LW 413, 415;  AIR 1955 Nag 306 (307); ILR 6-296 Nag 1000 (DB)

17. AIR 1984 (NOC) 67; ILR (1983) Him Pra 395

18. AIR 1974 Orissa 82; 39 Cal LT 689;  AIR 1978 Orissa 82; 44 Cal LT 576 (DB)

19. (1981) 1 Kant LJ 1 (23) (DB).

20. 1988 (2) Orissa LR 293 (296)

21. AIR 1984 Punjab 95 (97, 98)

22. 1996 AIHC 4081 (4086, 4087); 1996 (1) Ker LJ 656.

23. 1998 (2) All Rent Cas 404, 407. (The word 'person' in S. 53A includes his predecessor in interest.)

24. AIR 1984 (NOC) 295; 1984 Raj LW 21

25. AIR 1983 Raj 139 (140, 144); 1982 WLN 572

registered sale by conveyance, but also a sale which is equally effective under the provisions of S 53-A of T. P. Act(26).

The doctrine of part performance cannot be invoked in favour of a rank trespasser of Government land and the Court cannot respect and protect the possession of a rank trespasser of Government land. The petitioner had in instant case encroached upon Government land. It was held that in the facts of the case he could not claim regularisation on basis of possession(27).

Where possession was given under Power of Attorney and not given in terms of agreement, protection under S. 53A could not be claimed(28).

It is only on the facts being found and a finding recorded based thereon in the terms of S 53A that the Appropriate Authority can arrive at a finding that a transfer within the meaning of Cl (f) of S 269-UA of the I-T Act had already taken place and therefore the possession of the law are defeated. In the instant case the Authority has in its order nowhere recorded a specific finding that the possession under the agreement of sale had stood transferred to the intending purchaser. Therefore, the Authority could not hold that the statement in Form 37 (under S 269-UC of the I-T Act) in respect of proposed transfer of immovable property was not maintainable and could not be deemed never to have been filed(29).

Where a mother enters into agreement to sell property owned by minors as co-owners and possession is given to the prospective purchaser, and no major co-owner was a party to the agreement, the agreement could not operate as a bar for protecting possession of purchaser in the absence of pleading and evidence of all the four essential conditions necessary for making out a defence of part performance. Besides, the doctrine of part performance was not available against the co-owners, who were not signatories to the agreement nor were consenting parties(30).

When the mortgagor/vendor agrees to sell the mortgaged property to the mortgagee/putative vendee in possession, the mortgagee's status is subsumed or merged in his rights as a putative vendee under S 53A against the transferor, provided of course the pre-conditions for the application of S. 53A are fulfilled. In such a situation equity of redemption in mortgagor/vendor is lost, he cannot reclaim possession of mortgaged property(31).

Section 53-A cannot be used as a protective equitable title for declaration of possession or to grant a decree for possession on the basis of agreement of sale. The doctrine of part performance is available only so long as agreement can be enforced. But once the sale deed is executed the covenants under the agreement get exhausted and outlive its purpose. The doctrine of merger would apply(32).

Where after the decree for specific performance was passed in favour of vendee prior to the order adjudicating the vendor as insolvent, the vendee who is in possession in pursuance to agreement for sale is entitled to protection under S 53 A against auction purchaser from Official Liquidator(33).

5. Section, if retrospective in operation.

It has been held that the section is not retrospective in the sense that it can be applied to cases where the act of part performance was before the section came into operation and a suit was pending at the time it came into operation(1). But before the decision of the Supreme Court in Maneklal

26. (1983) 1 Mad LJ 261 (265) : 96 Mad LW 180

27. 1995 (2) Cal LJ 79 (87)

28. 2002 (3) Bom CR 611 (618)

29. 1998 (7) Ad (Delhi) 534 (538)

30. AIR 1999 Madh Pra 104 (107, 108) : 1999 (1) Civ LJ 291

31. 2000 AIR SCW 4354 (4357) : 2000 (8) Supreme 268.

32. 1988 (1) Andh LT 230 (237)

33. 1985 (2) Andh WR 456 (463) : (1984) 1 APLJ 229.

Section 53-A — Note 5

1. AIR 1934 PC 235 (238) : 61 Ind App 388  AIR 1935 Pat 291 (297) : 14 Pat 672 (FB)

v H J Ginwalia and Sons(2) there was a difference of opinion as to whether it is retrospective in the sense that it will apply to cases where the part performance was before the section came into operation but the suit is instituted after it came into operation. According to one line of decisions(3), the section was not retrospective so as to affect acts of part performance which took place before 1st April, 1930 (the date on which the section came into operation) whether the suit was filed before or after that date. In the undermentioned cases(4) the contrary view had been taken namely that the section would apply where the suit was instituted after the 1st April, 1930 though the act of part performance took place before that date. This view proceeds upon the ground that this section is not one of the sections referred to in S. 63 of the amending Act 20 of 1929 as being not retrospective. As will be seen in Note 13, the section does not create any title to or substantive right in the property in favour of the transferee. It merely creates a right of defence in answer to a suit by the transferor. As pointed out in Ko Po Mo v Maung Lu Ahn(5) in considering whether a person is entitled to bring such a defence, the date on which the agreement or contract was entered into is

 AIR 1943 Sind 81 (81) : ILR (1942) Kant 513 (DB)  AIR 1939 Bom 31 (34) : ILR (1939) Bom 71 (DB)  AIR 1937 All 10 (11) : ILR (1937) All 52 (DB)  AIR 1937 Nag 74 (76) : ILR (1936) Nag 15 (DB)  AIR 1935 Cal 541 (543) : 62 Cal 492  AIR 1935 Mad 404 (408, 409) (DB)  AIR 1934 Pat 546 (547) (DB)

[See also AIR 1935 Bom 208 (211) (DB)]

[But see AIR 1961 Man pur 54 (56) : Retrospective operation — Act extended to Manipur during pendency of suit — Court can give relief by applying S. 53A. AIR 1941 Pat 402 (FB), Rel. on. Submitted not good law.]

2. AIR 1950 SC 1 (4).

3. AIR 1956 Mad 354 (362, 363) : ILR (1956) Mad 587 (FB). S. 63 of Amending Act 20 of 1929 did not by itself make S. 53A of the T.P. Act retrospective. The question whether independently of S. 63 of Act 20 of 1929 S. 53A of the T.P. Act is to be held retrospective not considered.  AIR 1945 Mad 171 (172) : (A vendee claiming under an unregistered sale deed executed before the section came into operation cannot benefit by part performance in a suit for possession by a person having legal title.  AIR 1944 Mad 551 (556) : (AIR 1943 Mad 445 (FB), Foll.  AIR 1943 Mad 445 (448, 449) : ILR (1943) Mad 831 (FB), Approving AIR 1932 Mad 734.  AIR 1939 Pat 488 (489) (DB)  AIR 1938 Cal 795 (796)  AIR 1938 Pat 337 (346, 352) : 17 Pat 460 (DB) (Concise if construction in order to decide whether an Act is retrospective or not specifically stated.  AIR 1936 Mad 916 (916)  AIR 1936 Nag 282 (283) : ILR (1935) Nag 742  AIR 1936 Oudh 306 (307) (DB)  AIR 1936 Oudh 102 (104) (DB)  AIR 1935 Bom 9 (93)  AIR 1934 All 701 (701)  AIR 1932 Mad 734 (736) : 56 Mad 169 (DB)  1934 18 RD 572 (573).

[See also AIR 1941 Oudh 41 (43) : 16 Luck 99 (DB) (Doubtful whether it has retrospective effect)  AIR 1931 Mad 580 (586) : 55 Mad 72 (DB) : Per Cornish J.]

4. AIR 1940 Pat 385 (388, 392) : 19 Pat 752 (FB), (There is no inconsistency in the view that S. 53A is retrospective while S. 27 Specific Relief Act, 1877 is not so.)  AIR 1955 Vind Pra 15 (16)  AIR 1953 Ajmer 19 (20)  AIR 1944 Bom 105 (106) (DB) (Reversed on another point in AIR 1950 SC 1)  AIR 1943 Pat 363 (364) (DB) (Dissenting from AIR 1938 Pat 337 and AIR 1939 Pat 488 — AIR 1940 Pat 385 (FB), Foll.  AIR 1941 Cal 33 (36) (Overruled on another point in AIR 1979 Cal 1 (FB)  AIR 1941 Cal 287 (287)  AIR 1940 Bom 90 (93) : ILR (1940) Bom 50 (DB)  AIR 1940 Bom 193 (194) (DB)  AIR 1940 Nag 396 (400)  AIR 1939 Rang 175 (177) :  AIR 1938 Cal 97 (99, 100, 104) : ILR (1938) 1 Cal 607 (DB)  AIR 1938 Nag 377 (383) : ILR (1939) Nag 432 (DB)  AIR 1937 Cal 467 (467)  AIR 1937 Pat 36 (37, 38) : 15 Pat 786 (DB)  AIR 1937 Rang 402 (405) : 1938 Rang LR 216 (DB)  AIR 1936 Lab 5 (5) (Obiter)  AIR 1936 Nag 254 (256)  AIR 1934 All 768 (770)  AIR 1933 Bom 381 (384) really not relevant. What is relevant is really the date on which the suit was filed. The absence of reference to this section in S. 63 of the amending Act 20 of 1929 would also seem to indicate, if anything, that the section would be retrospective in the sense referred to above. The latter view now finds support in the Supreme Court decision in Maneklal v. H. J. Ginwalla & Sons(6). See also the undermentioned cases(7) to the same effect. The former view and the decision of the Andhra Pradesh High Court in the undermentioned cases(8) decided after the Supreme Court Judgment must be held to be no longer good law.

5. AIR 1937 Rang 402 (405) : 1938 Rang LR 216 (DB).

6. "Contracts to transfer".

The section applies only where any person contracts to transfer property. A document of transfer which is not registered or not completed in the manner prescribed by law may as will be seen in the Notes on S. 54 operate as a contract to transfer. Consequently, the section applies not only to contracts to transfer as such, but also to instruments of transfer. This is made clear by the words "or where there is an instrument of transfer" in the fourth paragraph of the section(1). Thus,

6. AIR 1950 SC 1 (4).

7. AIR 1955 Hyd 101 (103) ILR (1954) Hyd 822  AIR 1955 Madh Bha 49 (52) ILR (1954) MB 237 (DB) (Section 54, Gwalior Transfer of Property Act would apply to all suits instituted after the Act came into force in 1945 in the former Gwalior State although the transaction was effected before its enactment AIR 1950 SC 1, Foll.)  AIR 1953 Sau 56 (57) (DB) (S. 53A applied to suits filed after the application of the T.P. Act to Saurashtra even though the transaction may have taken place earlier)  AIR 1951 Mys 126 (127) ILR (1951) Mys 414 (DB) (Retrospective effect can be given to S. 53A (1946) 51 Mys HCR 148 (FB) held no longer good law in view of AIR 1950 SC 1)
8. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 31 (33) ILR (1961) 1 Andh Pra 473 (DB) (Section has no retrospective operation and would not apply to document executed before year 1929)

Section 53-A — Note 6

1. (1979) 1 Andh LR 13 (17)  AIR 1971 All 297 (301) ILR (1971) 1 All 31  AIR 1965 Punj 117 (118) (The first clause of Section 53A makes it clear that the contract which is sought to be enforced must itself constitute the transaction of transfer. An agreement to raise the rate of interest on the mortgage amount cannot be regarded as an instrument of transfer and therefore the doctrine of part performance has no application)  AIR 1963 Andh Pra 239 (240) (S. 53A applies both to cases of out-right sales as also to contracts to sell, provided the other conditions are satisfied. Reversed on another point in AIR 1963 AP 489)  AIR 1959 Andh Pra 568 (570) (DB) (The most important condition that should be established in order to invoke the section is the existence of a document in writing which constitutes a contract of sale)  AIR 1959 Mad 354 (355) ILR (1959) Mad 796 (It is not necessary that a deed of transfer should have been obtained by the party before he could invoke S. 53A. The conditions laid down in S. 53A are fulfilled even though a contract to sell alone was obtained)  AIR 1957 Bom 236 (237) ILR (1957) Bom 769 (Sauda Chitti executed — Vendee put in possession of property on payment of consideration — Proper conveyance to be executed later — Transaction held to be only a contract and not transfer — Vendee is however, being in possession entitled to the benefit of S. 53A)  AIR 1957 Bom 138 (140) ILR (1958) Bom 556 (DB) (Instrument of transfer — Sale deed of property worth less than Rs. 100 — Deed not registered — Transferee in possession — Suit for possession by vendor — Unregistered deed is contract in writing — Defendant can claim benefit of doctrine of part performance — AIR 1941 Bom 431 Overruled.)  1954 Madh BLJ (HCR) 803 (805)  AIR 1939 Oudh 85 (86) (A lease on 8 anna stamp paper)

[See also AIR 1964 All 300, 301) (No contract to transfer immovable property — Question of part performance of contract does not arise)  AIR 1961 Andh Pra 31 (33) ILR (1961) 1 Andh Pra 473 (DB) (Lessee in possession of land without any agreement for sale of the land in his favour — Continuance of possession not being in pursuance of any agreement for sale, S. 53A not applicable.)]

whether a contract of transfer is specifically enforceable or not has no bearing while considering Section 53A(2).

Where the parties executed unregistered sale deed without prior permission of competent authority (under S 22 of Orissa Land Reforms Act in instant case), the transaction being void, the transferee could not avail of the benefit under S. 53A(3).

The right of defence under S. 53-A, shall continue to be available to a transferee for consideration, even though his right to sue for specific performance of contract was barred or the contract otherwise became unenforceable(4).

Section does not authorise the transferor to take possession of the property after the period of limitation for suit for specific performance has expired, if the latter did not file the suit. On the other hand, even if a suit for specific performance is not brought by a transferee who is in possession of property in part performance of an agreement of sale, still he can retain the possession under S. 53-A(5). However, contrary view is taken by Karnataka High Court in undermentioned case(6). It is held that a transferee who has obtained possession of immovable property in part performance of the contract cannot resist the suit for possession filed by the vendor, if transferee's right to obtain specific performance is barred by limitation. Once the remedy for acquiring title through specific performance is lost to the vendee, equitable relief of protection to possession comes to an end. Such protection is coterminous and does not survive beyond the span of the agreement. Where the vendee did not offer to pay the balance amount and did not press for execution of the sale deed and his remedy of specific performance got time barred, to allow him to hold possession thereafter would lead to anomalous situation. It would be defeating the doctrine of equity under S. 53A(7).

Where the recitals in a document showed that full consideration was received by vendor and the possession of the property was delivered to the vendee, the two essential ingredients of sale were present. Thus the document was a sale deed and not an agreement to sell. However it being unregistered document, suit by vendee for specific performance was not maintainable. However, if the vendee was in long possession of the property then he could claim permanent injunction(8).

In instant case the plaintiffs were in possession of land in pursuance to agreement of sale but prior permission of Tahsildar was envisaged by S. 47 of the A.P. (Agricultural Lands) Act was not obtained. Thus the possession of plaintiffs was unlawful. Therefore they could not claim protection under S. 53A, as a shield. The suit for mere injunction would not be maintainable since the plaintiffs have not filed a suit for specific performance(9).

A lease is a transfer of property, and the section applies to an unregistered instrument of lease(10). But a tenant holding over cannot defend his possession as being in part performance of

2. AIR 1979 Raj 200 : 1979 Raj LW 212

3. AIR 1994 Orissa 26 (29) : (1994) 2 Cur CC 234

[But see 2001 AHC 1826, 1830 (Mad) (Where the suit for specific performance filed by agreement holder is dismissed and the dismissal has become final, he has no right to retain or defend possession under S. 53-A.)]

4. AIR 1983 Orissa 107 (111) : (1983) 55 Cal LT 77 (DB)  AIR 2000 Bom 337 (339) : 2000 (4) Bom CR 438

5. AIR 1983 Punj 323 (324, 325).

6. 1996 AHC 2647 (2658) (Kant) : AIR 1983 P and H 323 : AIR 1995 AP 102 : AIR 1967 Bom 34, AIR 1957 Bom 138 and AIR 1949 Assam 8. Dissented from.

7. 1992 Bom CJ 65 (70).

8. AIR 1988 Madh Pra 152 (153).

9. 1987 (2) All LT 11 (13).

10. AIR 1963 Andh Pra. 239 (240, 241) (Reversed on another point in AIR 1963 AP 489)  AIR 1953 Cal 349 (351),  AIR 1953 Hyd 97 (97) : ILR (1953) Hyd 110  AIR 1953 Bom the contract(11). A formal lease is not necessary to attract the application of the section. All that is required is that an agreement in writing signed by the transferor can be gathered from the evidence(12). In the undermentioned case(13) before the introduction of the section, it was held by the Lahore High Court, that in the case of a lease the transaction can never be said to be completed and that consequently the doctrine of part performance did not apply. This would not be good law under the section.

A grant of a partial and limited interest in immovable property such as a right to dig minerals where the grantor does not exclude himself from working the mines has been held not to be transfer of property so as to make the provisions of this section applicable(14).

Mortgage being a transfer of an interest in specific immovable property and for consideration attracts S. 53-A(15).

127 (129) ILR (1951) Bom 692 (DB) (The fact that Section 105 of T P Act defines lease of immovable property as a transfer of a right to enjoy the property does not affect the above position)  AIR 1951 Nag 285 (287) ILR (1950) Nag 799 (DB)  AIR 1950 Cal 23 (28) ILR (1950) 2 Cal 443 (DB)  AIR 1946 Mad 310 (311)  AIR 1939 Oudh 85 (86)  AIR 1937 All 10 (12) ILR (1937) All 312 (DB)  AIR 1936 Lah 5 (5) (Lessee under prior unregistered lease — Possession and continuous payment of rent of landlord — Part performance can be invoked against subsequent lessee.)

[See also (1976) 2 Mad LJ 437 (439) (Rights under fresh lease for three years i.e. for more than one year not secured by registering lease — Protection of S. 53A is not available)  (1955) 8 Sau LR 378 (381) (Document of lease not signed by lessor — Document is admissible as evidence of part performance of agreement to grant lease under S. 53A)  (1955) 8 Sau LR 1 (1) (There is no difference between a contract to lease and an agreement to lease.)]

11. (1976) 2 Mad LJ 437.

12. AIR 1950 SC 1 (5)  AIR 1965 Pat 467 (468, 469) 44 Pat 596 (DB) (AIR 1950 SC 1, Rel. on AIR 1960 Pat 354 Affirmed.)  AIR 1956 Mad 693 (694) (Agreement in writing is not required to be in any particular form  AIR 1944 Pat 35 (36) (Person put in possession under agreement to lease expressed in two registered documents, a patta signed by landlord alone and a kabuliya signed by tenant alone — Transaction does not operate to create a validly executed lease — Tenant is however entitled to benefit of S. 53A provided he pays rent for period of his occupancy and thus performs his part of contract.)

13. AIR 1927 Lah 489 (490).

14. AIR 1944 Pat 261 (266) 23 Pat 115 (DB) (Grant of right to dig mica — Owner not excluding himself from working the mine — Held, grant was not a lease but in the nature of an easement.)

15. AIR 1963 Andh Pra 489 (490) ILR (1964) Andh Pra 542 (DB) (AIR 1963 AP 239 Reversed.)  AIR 1960 Punj 604 (604) (Unregistered mortgage — Possession delivered to mortgagee — Insolvency of mortgagor — Benefit conferred by S. 53A T P Act is available to mortgagee as against Receiver in whom interest of mortgagor vests — Insolvency does not put an end to the possession of a mortgagee under an unregistered document of mortgage)  AIR 1955 NUC (Mad) 3923 (Unregistered usufructuary mortgage — Mortgagee in possession — Part performance — Mortgagee is entitled under S. 53 A to protect his possession and resist dispossession)  1950 Bur LR (HC) 80 (87, 88) (Usufructuary mortgage not registered — Mortgagee taking possession in part performance of the contract — Section applied.)

[See also AIR 1950 Trav Co 81 (82) (DB) (Mortgage with possession — Mortgagee retaining portion of mortgage security and surrendering rest to mortgagor in pursuance of arrangement between parties to extinguish mortgage — Subsequent deed of arrangement not registered — Suit by mortgagor to redeem mortgage barred by doctrine of part performance.)]

A surrender by a tenant to the landlord is not a transfer and the section has no application to such a case(16).

It has been held in the undermentioned cases(17) that a relinquishment of a right in property is a transfer within the meaning of the section.

A family arrangement cannot be said to operate as a transfer of property or of a contract to transfer property. Such an arrangement may be made only orally, but if in writing registration is necessary for its validity under S. 17 of the Indian Registration Act. Consequently, it has been held that where such arrangement is in writing but not registered, S. 53A has no application to the case and that the defect in the want of registration cannot be cured(18). But where under a compromise decree some of the properties are transferred which belonged exclusively to one member to another and such transferee takes possession it is not a merely family settlement and the doctrine would apply(19). The view that had been taken in some cases(20) before the section was introduced, that the doctrine of part performance could be applied to family arrangements also is no longer good law.

Partition of property is not a transfer within the meaning of this section and as such the section is not applicable to partition(21).

Where under a settlement of a dispute immovable property was taken by one party and movables by other party each party giving up the right to the property allotted to the other, Section 53-A is attracted(22).

It is now by amending S. 2(47) of the I.-T. Act introduction of sub-clause (c) that a transaction falling within S. 53A has been treated as transfer in relation to the assets. Such a definition of transfer cannot be applied when we look at S. 53-A independently of the word 'transfer' as defined in S. 2(47) of the I.-T. Act(23).

A person inducted into possession without his transferor having any right in law cannot claim benefit of this section(24).

Where the transfer is not genuine and the transferee is a party to the fraud and his alleged possession is only a ruse to protect the rights of transferor from a person who has obtained an award against the transferor, the transferee has not come to Court with clean hands and is therefore not entitled to protection under S. 53A(25).

7. Consideration.

It was held in some cases before this section was enacted that the doctrine of part perform-

16. AIR 1940 Nag 175 (176) : ILR (1940) Nag 177

17. AIR 1966 MP 307 (310) (DB)  AIR 1953 Hyd 114 (116) : ILR (1953) Hyd 149 (DB)

18. AIR 1937 All 578 (580) : ILR (1937) All 817 (FB)  AIR 1950 A. 700 (704) : ILR (1950) 2 All 703 (DB)  AIR 1939 All 529 (531) (DB)

19. AIR 1971 Mad 182 (184) : (1971) 1 Mad LJ 225

20. AIR 1933 Lah 648 (650) : 14 Lah 635 (DB)  AIR 1929 Oudh 323 (325) : 4 Luck 57 (DB)  AIR 1924 Nag 373 (374).

21. AIR 1954 Gau 46 (48) (DB)  AIR 1951 Mad 213 (218) : ILR (1951) Mad 607 (DB)  AIR 1950 Assam 129 (130) (DB)

[See also 1949 RD 373 (374) (Private division of land by mutual consent is not the same thing as a 'transfer for consideration.')]]

22. AIR 1966 Madh Pra 307 (310) : 1966 Jab LJ 1112.

23. (1995) 211 ITR 666 (671) (Delhi).

24. AIR 1969 Mad 191 : ILR (1968) 3 Mad 335.

25. AIR 1966 SC 1088 (1089, 1090) : 1996 AIR SCW 615 : (1995) 7 SCC 690.

ance was applicable even to gifts(1), and in other cases that it did not apply(2). In the case noted below(3), also decided before this section was introduced, it was held that the doctrine of part performance did not apply to a gift by way of sankalp at the time of marriage as marriage under the Hindu Law was a sacrament and not a contract for consideration. The section makes it clear that it applies only to contracts to transfer for consideration and not to gifts(4).

Where the defendant did not pay any consideration and therefore was not put in possession in pursuance of the contract for sale, benefit under S. 53A would not be available to him(5).

In the undermentioned case(6), a letter relinquishing right to immovable property did not recite the passing of consideration. It was held that the passing of consideration not being a term of the contract could be proved by oral evidence by virtue of proviso 2 to S. 92, Evidence Act, and that therefore, this section was applicable if the passing of consideration was proved.

The principle that an unregistered document can be looked into to prove collateral purposes and such a document can become admissible under S. 53A of T.P. Act is not applicable in case of gifts moreso, where the existence of any document registered or unregistered is not proved although the transferee has entered into possession and further the transferee did not want to prove the document for a collateral purpose but to show that he is the owner of the property by transfer(7).

See also the undermentioned case(8).

8. "Immovable property".

The section applies only to contracts to transfer immovable property. It does not apply to contracts to transfer movable property(1). Even under the English law the doctrine was not applicable to contracts relating to movable property(2). In the undermentioned case(3) the immovable property in possession of the transferee was sold for recovery of taxes due on the property and the money realised was deposited in Court. The transferor made a claim to the money. It was held that

Section 53-A — Note 7

1. AIR 1927 Nag 402 (403)  AIR 1927 Rang 128 (128) (The rule that where a donee of property is in bona fide possession of it though the gift had not been perfected by a registered instrument in accordance with law, the donor cannot oust the donee is not applicable to a donee from the donee, neither of the deeds of gift being registered.)
2. AIR 1929 Rang 316 (317)  AIR 1929 Rang 272 (273).
[See AIR 1928 Bom 250 (252) (DB) (In so far as the decision says that, because specific performance cannot be granted, the doctrine does not apply, it is not correct. See Note 2.)]
3. AIR 1928 All 699 (703) (DB)
4. AIR 1973 Cal 1 (4) : 76 Cal WN 1048 (FB)  AIR 1984 NOC 67 : ILR (1983) Him Pra 395 (402)  AIR 1978 (NOC) 11 : 1977 LS (Andh Pra) 118  (1959) 2 Mad LJ 502 (506)
5. 1986 Mah LR 230 (233) (Bom)
6. AIR 1946 Mad 452 (453)
7. AIR 1984 (NOC) 67 : ILR (1983) Him Pra 395 (403)
8. AIR 1950 Assam 107 (120) (DB) (Admission in writing by the vendor in mutation proceeding to the effect that he sold the property in question to the vendee could not be a contract in writing transferring the property within S. 53A and especially that it contained no averment as to the passing of consideration and that it did not contain all the terms of transfer.)

Section 53-A — Note 8

1. AIR 1957 Manipur 9 (13)  AIR 1934 Rang 303 (304)
2. See AIR 1930 Mad 84 (95) (DB).
3. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 854 (858, 859) : ILR (1956) Andh Pra 1019 (DB)

it could not be held that this section was inapplicable on the ground that the transferor was enforcing his right against the money and not against the immovable property because unless the transferor could enforce his right against the property he could not enforce it against the money.

9. Contract must show clearly terms of transfer.

It has been seen in Note 1 that the doctrine of part performance in England is applicable only where the acts of part performance unequivocally give rise to an inference of a contract. When this is established, the Court could go into parol evidence to ascertain the terms of the contract. Under this section, there is no question of the Court taking any parol evidence as to the terms of the contract. The contract itself must be in writing(1) and must show clearly what are the terms necessary to constitute the transfer(2). It is, however, not necessary that every minute detail of the con-

Section 53-A — Note 9

- 1. AIR 1964 SC 877 (880). (C bringing in N into his family under an oral arrangement that latter would marry his wife's sister's daughter and help him in cultiva- tion and manage- ment of his properties in consideration of which N would take the estate, the properties of C's death — Alienees from reversionsers of C suing for recovery of property in the hands of N's sons — N's sons cannot rely on equitable doctrine of part performance to succeed in the claim — Considerations of equity held could not confer on N or his heirs or assigns the rights which under the statute could be conferred only by a registered instrument — AIR 1956 Andhra 209 Affirmed.)  AIR 1971 Cal 162 175 Cal WN 277 — Kabinbhai showing that Mahomedan Lady married on being given property of her mother in law in lieu of dowry — Lady in possession of property — S 53-A is inapplicable —  AIR 1960 Cal 444 445 — 4 Cal WN 622 (Memorandum recording fact of taking possession after execution of ex- change — Memorandum is not contract of exchange — S 53-A is not applicable to such title.)  AIR 1965 Madh Pra 275 (280) (DB)  AIR 1962 Punj 475 (476)  1961 MPLJ 1179 1180 (Where possession of property is obtained through an oral agreement of ex- change and it is not proved that the deed of exchange was executed, the part per- formance under S 53-A of the Act is not established)  1960 R 1 W 50 104 — A receipt passed by the owner of the house to his tenant for the advance money and a letter addressed to the Engineer to arrange water connection in the name of the tenant held did not satisfy the requirement of S 53-A)  AIR 1958 Mad 576 (577 578) — ILR 1958 Mad 69 (DB)  AIR 1958 Pat 133 140 141 (DB)  AIR 1957 Cal 625 626 — ILR (1957) 3 Cal 636 (An oral lease reserving a yearly rent — Transfer but no permanent structures relying on such invalid lease — Transferee has no defence to the suit for ejectment)  AIR 1956 Andhra 209, 212 (DB) (The absence of a written contract would take the case out of the purview of S 53-A)  ILR 1955 2 Cal 24 23 (DB)  1954 Madh BLJ (HC R) 1450 (1453 1454)  AIR 1953 Amer 47 (47) (Part 1 of S 53-A envisages the execution of some contract)  AIR 1952 Nag 246 (248) — ILR (1951) Nag 334  AIR 1951 Nag 171 (174) — ILR 1950 Nag 618  AIR 195 Assam 102 110 (DB) (Mere admission though in writing by vendor before Revenue authorities in muta- tion proceedings that land had been sold to vendee cannot be regarded as a contract be- tween the parties)  AIR 1948 Nag 67 68 — ILR (1948) Nag 449 (A registered sale deed — Wrong field number given — Delivery of possession not correct or proper — S 53-A does not apply as there is no contract to transfer in writing the correct property)  AIR 1947 Nag 188 (191) — ILR (1946) Nag 991  AIR 1944 Oudh 212 220 (191) Luck 565 (DB) (There should be a writing signed by the promisor)  AIR 1943 Bom 406 (407)  AIR 1940 Oudh 409 (410) (DB)  AIR 1937 Nag 402 (406)  AIR 1936 Nag 282 (282) : ILR (1937) Nag 242
- 2. 1967 Andh WR 2(7)  AIR 1962 Cal 502 (503) (Patta for 25 years executed by transferor in favour of transferee — Patta not signed by transferee — Transferee took possession and effected improvements in terms of patta — Patta held though not a lease was a writing within the meaning of S 53-A and the terms necessary to constitute the transfer could be ascertained from it with reasonable certainty)  AIR 1960 Cal 609 618 (DB) — AIR tract should emerge from the writings signed by the parties. It is quite enough if the essential terms of the contract are capable of ascertainment with reasonable certainty from the writings brought into existence by the parties concerned. In other words, the section is attracted not only in a case where the terms are ascertained but also in a case where the terms are ascertainable with reasonable certainty(3). It is one of the necessary ingredients of S. 53A that the terms of the written contract must be ascertainable with reasonable certainty. The emphasis on the words 'reasonable certainty' presupposes that the Court should be in a position to judge the exact nature of transaction that is the subject matter of the document. This is the foundational basis for S. 53A and in the absence of document and in the absence of secondary evidence from which the Court can ascertain the terms of that document with reasonable certainty. The defendants are not entitled to the benefit of the doctrine of part performance(4).

Where it is established that there was a document of the description envisaged in S. 53-A, the existence of the contents of the document can be established by secondary evidence(5). In the undermentioned case(6), a letter relinquishing right to immovable property did not recite the passing of consideration. It was held that the only term necessary to constitute the contract being explicitly stated in it the passing of consideration could be proved by oral evidence and that therefore this section applied to the case.

Where the vendee alleged that according to the agreement a plot of 224 sq. yards out of a survey number is agreed to be sold to him and in pursuance thereof he was in possession but no dimensions and boundaries of the plot were given in the agreement nor any map annexed, it was not possible to know which piece of land from the said survey number was agreed to be sold. Thus vendee was not entitled to protection under S. 53A and injunction could not be granted to him(7).

Written agreement is a sine qua non for applicability of the doctrine of part performance. Proposed vendee cannot protect his title on basis of oral agreement. Thus a letter written by vendor to his uncle that he has entered into oral agreement to sell his immovable property to proposed vendee cannot be taken as an agreement to sell within meaning of S. 53-A(8).

A document merely referring to a previous oral agreement to transfer and its terms is not a "contract in writing" such as is required by the section, though a document which reduces to writing the terms of a previous oral agreement would be(9). Similarly, an affidavit cannot be considered

1951 Nag 285 (286-287) ILR (1950) Nag 799 (DB) (Draft lease deed prepared to avoid any changes of the terms agreed to orally between the parties — All the necessary terms deducible from the draft — Draft held, was sufficient to attract the section)  AIR 1950 Assam 107 (110) (DB) (Admission in writing by the vendor in mutation proceedings that he had sold the property in question to the vendee was held not to be a contract within S. 53A especially since it did not contain all the terms of transfer)  AIR 1944 Oudh 212 (220) (DB)  AIR 1937 All 36 (38) (DB)  AIR 1933 Bom 381 (384)

3. ILR (1960) 2 All 71 (88, 89) (DB).

4. AIR 1995 Bom 113 (116).

5. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 568 (570) (DB)  AIR 1956 Mad 693 (694) (Agreement to lease suppressed by plaintiff — Oral evidence can be adduced.)

6. AIR 1946 Mad 452 (453).

7. 1987 (1) Bom CR 419 (424).

8. AIR 2002 SC 812 (816) : 2002 AIR SCW 471 : 2002 (2) SCC 612.

9. AIR 1976 SC 2506 : 1976 UJ (SC) 823  (1978) 2 Mah LR 507 (508)  1975 UCR (Bom) 22  AIR 1968 Andh Pra 291 (297) ILR (1970) Andh Pra 933  (1967) 2 Andh WR 2 (7)  1954 Madh BLJ (HCR) 1450 (1453, 1454) (What is required to be written and signed is the contract to transfer and not any other paper wherein a reference to such a contract is made.)  AIR 1938 Rang 356 (357) : 1938 Rang LR 692 (DB) (Confirming AIR 1938 Rang 49)

as a contract in writing within the meaning of Section 53A(10). In the undermentioned decision of the Rangoon High Court(11) a document styled a receipt and reciting a previous agreement to sell was held not to be a contract in writing sufficient for the purposes of this section, though from it the terms necessary to constitute a transfer could be ascertained. The same view was expressed in a latter case of the same High Court(12) and also in the undermentioned cases(13) of the High Courts of Bombay and Madhya Bharat. In the undermentioned cases(14), on the other hand, a document styled a receipt but which, in essence, contained all the essential terms of the contract to transfer was held to be sufficient for purposes of this section. The first view must be held to be no longer good law in view of the decision of the Supreme Court in the undermentioned case(15) wherein it has been held that the terms of a lease could be gathered from a Government resolution containing a summary of arrangement to grant lease to the defendant.

9A. "Writing signed by him or on his behalf".

This section requires that the contract relied on by the defendant in a suit for possession must be in writing(1) signed by the transferor claiming to recover possession, or on his behalf, presum-

[See AIR 1962 Punj 475 (476) : (A reference to an oral sale in a mutation recorded by a Patwan cannot be equated with a writing of the transaction itself)  AIR 1951 Nag 285 (286) : 1LR (1950) Nag 799 (DB) : When the terms of an oral contract or disposition of property are reduced to the form of a document the document takes the place of the oral contract or agreement and thus there comes into existence a contract or agreement in writing.)

[See also AIR 1924 Bom 150 (151, 152) (DB) : Purchases of immovable property under an oral sale followed by delivery of possession can resist a claim to the same property by a subsequent purchaser under a registered sale deed.]

10. (1978) 2 Mah LR 507

11. AIR 1938 Rang 356 (357) :  AIR 1939 Rang 306 (307) : 1939 Rang LR 575 (DB) : (By merely mentioning the period to pay the balance of purchase money, document could not be termed as an agreement contemplated by S. 53A.)

12. AIR 1944 Bom 105 (107) : 212 Ind Cas 541 (DB) : Hornbas Jamsaedi v. Manekji Mansukhbhai : (A Government resolution containing a summary of an arrangement to grant a lease to a person at a certain rate, and sanctioning the proposal of a settlement officer, the arrangement to be gathered from correspondence referred to, cannot be regarded as secondary evidence of a contract of lease or as proof of the contract itself within the meaning of this section. AIR 1938 Rang 356 : 1938 Rang LR 692. Relied on.)

13. 1LR (1952) Madh Bha 410 (414, 415) (DB) : Application : (The prices for sale of the requisite sanction from the Revenue authorities for sale of property is not sufficient to satisfy the requirements of S. 53-A. AIR 1943 Bom 406 (Re. anr.)  AIR 1943 Bom 406 (407) : (An application by plaintiff to have defendant's name entered in mutation register in respect of certain land on ground that it had been sold to him orally. — Application stating terms of sale — Held, document was not sufficient to satisfy requirements of this section as it contained only a recital of past event and not the contract of sale.)

14. AIR 1944 Oudh 212 (220) : 19 Luck 565 (DB) : (Affirming AIR 1940 Oudh 1, on appeal)  AIR 1934 Rang 304 (306) : 13 Rang 17

15. AIR 1950 SC 1 (4, 5). (AIR 1944 Bom 105, Reversed.)

Section 53-A — Note 9A

1. AIR 1950 SC 1 (5)  AIR 1998 Andh Pra 285 (285) : 1998 2 Andh LJ 137 : (No written paper showing delivery of possession — No agreement — Date on which possession given not mentioned in affidavit — Nor name of person who delivered possession — Plea of part performance not maintainable)  AIR 1998 Orissa 19 (22)  1992 BBCJ 631 (642)  (1979) 20 (2) Guj LR 51 (57) : (The mutation entry, by which the property was mutated to the name of purchaser on the strength of oral statements made by vendor and purchaser ably by some one who has authority to bind or represent him(2).

In the absence of written contract from which terms necessary for constituting transfer could be ascertained, S. 53-A could not be invoked(3).

Section 53A does not envisage an oral contract but a contract in writing from which the terms necessary to constitute transfer can be ascertained with reasonable certainty(4)

As such, in case of an oral variation or modification of the terms of the contract the equity prescribed under Section 53A cannot be evoked(5) Secondary evidence as to the contents of contract is not admissible even though the opposite party does not object to its admission(6)

Where a party alleged that he had deposited certain amount with Municipal Committee towards part performance of contract of sale of municipal land to him but nothing was brought on record to indicate that the Mpl. Committee had ever executed a written contract for the transfer of the land in his favour, the doctrine of part performance could not be invoked(7)

The transferee claimed that he was in possession of the suit property in pursuance of the contract in writing. He relied upon a money receipt as a contract in writing. It appears from the receipt that the transferor has agreed to transfer a plot of land and that he had received certain amount from the transferee. However, the receipt did not mention the identity of the plot agreed to be sold nor total consideration for which it was agreed to be sold. Thus the first condition under S. 53A of a contract in writing wherefrom terms necessary to constitute transfer could be ascertained with reasonable certainty was not satisfied(8)

There is a difference of opinion on the question of the applicability of the section where a contract is signed by a Hindu father or manager of a Hindu joint family. It has been held in the undermentioned decisions(9) that the sons or the other members of the family answer the description of the word 'transferor' as used in this section, and the sons or the other members of the family are debarred from instituting a suit for recovery of possession from the transferee. A contrary view that the transferee cannot avail of this section against the sons or other members of the family has cannot give protection under S. 53A, because such an entry or statement in pursuance of which such entry is made cannot be equated with an instrument of transfer as is referred to in S. 53A.  (1980) 2 Mad LJ 398 (421) (DB)  1979 All WC 177 (178)  AIR 1979 (NOC) 172 (Goa)  AIR 1978 Orissa 222 (46 Cut LT 7  AIR 1978 Orissa 219 (1979) 2 Cut WR 589  AIR 1959 Assam 60 (61) ILR (1958) 9 Assam 50 (DB)  AIR 1959 Madh Pra 221 (222)  AIR 1956 Andhra 209 (212) (DB)  AIR 1956 Punj 181 (184) (185) ILR (1956) Punj 1279 (DB)  (1954) 20 Cut LT 614 (620-621)  AIR 1947 Nag 188 (191) ILR (1946) Nag 991.

2. 1969 UJ (SC) 318  AIR 1948 PC 95 (96) : ILR (1949) Mad 141. (Contract for sale by mother guardian on behalf of minor son — Contract within competence of guardian and for benefit of minor — Minor is 'transferor' within meaning of the section — AIR 1944 Mad 337 Reversed.)  2000 (1) Rent CR 377 (379) (Punj and Har)  AIR 1956 Punj 184 (184-185) ILR (1956) Punj 1279 (DB)  AIR 1941 Bom 346 (348)

[But see 1972 MPLJ 25]

3. 1995 (1) Civ CC 384 (387) (Raj)
4. AIR 1982 SC 989 : (1982) 1 SCC 237  1997 (2) Cal HN 364 (374)
5. AIR 1968 Mad 294 (298) : (1968) 1 Mad LJ 249
6. (1967) 2 Andh WR 444  ILR (1975) Kant 968
7. AIR 1994 Punj and Har 175 (179) : (1994) 3 Pun LR 186.
8. 1997 AIHC 3140 (3143) : 1997 (2) Gauhati LR 306
9. AIR 1967 Andh Pra 237 (243) (FB). (AIR 1948 PC 95, Foll, AIR 1948 Mad 526, Dissent; AIR 1959 Andh Pra 539, Overruled.)  AIR 1963 Mad 310 (314) ILR (1963) Mad 722 (DB) (AIR 1948 Mad 526 Overruled)  AIR 1961 Bom 215 (217) ILR (1961) Bom 824 (DB) (AIR 1948 Mad 526 and AIR 1959 Andh Pra 534, Diss.) * AIR 1948 Mad 526 (527).

been taken in the following case(10).

No written agreement authorising the father by the sons to sell their properties is required if there is sufficient proof that the sons have in fact authorised their father to enter into an agreement for the sale of properties which will enable the defendant to plead successfully the statutory defence under S 53A. In instant case held the evidence was lacking to find that father had proper legal authority to bind his sons(11).

If one of the parties to the agreement performs his part of agreement by making payment of money, it would be deemed that he binds himself with the agreement even though he has not signed it(12).

Where the contract is signed by the transferor it is not necessary that the contract should have been signed by the transferee also(13). Thus it is a sufficient compliance with the provisions of this section that an instrument of lease is signed by the lessor alone though under S 107 a lease is required to be executed by both the lessor and the lessee(14). Nor is it sufficient that the contract is signed by the transferee alone when it is not signed by the transferor(15). Thus a kabuliyat signed by the lessee alone will not attract this section(16).

Where the vendor denied that he had signed the agreement and the Handwriting Expert opined that the thumb impression on the agreement did not belong to vendor the doctrine of part performance would be inapplicable(17). Where a letter is written by the tenant to one of the landlords and there is no writing signed by the landlords S 53A could not be pressed into service(18).

In the undermentioned case(19) A and B were the owners of certain premises. B was also a member of a partnership with other persons. By a registered lease deed A and B leased out the premises to the partnership. Subsequently the partnership contracted to transfer by an agreement, their leasehold interest to a company. There was, however, no registered deed. It was held that the company might, under this section, claim to remain in possession of the leasehold premises as against the partners of the firm but not against B in his capacity as an owner of the property nor against A who was not a party to the agreement at all.

Where the terms of the agreement purported to be a deed of lease for manufacturing purpose are silent as to the period of duration and as to the period of notice required for its termination, it is

10. AIR 1959 Mys 173 (175, 176) : ILR (1957) Mys 108

11. AIR 1990 (NOC) 119 : (1989) 1 Ker LJ 769

12. 1992 Jab LJ 635 (638) (Madh Pra)

13. AIR 1949 Nag 389 (393, 394) : ILR (1949) Nag 849 (DB)

14. AIR 1962 Cal 502 (503)  AIR 1951 Nag 285 (286, 287) : ILR (1950) Nag 799 (DB)

[But see AIR 1975 Pat 58 : 1974 BLJR 757 (DB)]

15. AIR 1960 Cal 40 (42)

16. AIR 1966 Pat 93 (95) (Kaviyunt, signed only by the lessee)  AIR 1962 Cal 502 (503)  AIR 1960 Cal 40 (42)  AIR 1957 Pat 24 (29) (Section inapplicable to kabuliyat)  AIR 1954 Cal 207 (208) (DB)

[See also (1959) 63 Cal WN 535 (538, 539) (Lease for five years — Expiry of term of tenancy — S. 53A would not apply.)]

17. AIR 1992 All 346 (350) : 1992 All LJ 1065.

18. 1998 (75) DLT 620 (623)

19. AIR 1963 Cal 198 (202) (DB) (Lease of property by A and B to a partnership of which B was also partner — Agreement by partnership to transfer their leasehold interest to a company — Company could not take advantage of S 53A as against all and as against B in his capacity as owner of property.)

signed by both the lessor and the lessee but is unregistered. It has been found that it was not an instrument of lease but could only be an agreement to lease which could be read as an agreement for the grant of a lease. If the agreement was for the grant of a lease from year to year the lease could only be brought into existence by a registered deed. That was not done but the lessee was put into possession on those terms.

Held, even in such circumstances the possession of the lessee is protected by S. 53A(20)

As the Bengal Tenancy Act (1885) is not an exhaustive code as to the immovable property when that is used for agricultural purposes and held by a tenant the provision in S. 53-A which is meant to protect a person from eviction when he has entered into possession in part performance of an unregistered deed of transfer can be extended to agricultural properties and hence is available to the transferee of an occupancy holding who has obtained a deed of transfer but has not got it registered; as required by S. 26-C of the Tenancy Act. Consequently such unregistered deed is admissible in evidence for the purpose of establishing part performance under S. 53-A. T.P. Act(21)

9B. Oral agreement.

A tenant alleged that he is in possession of the suit property in pursuance of oral agreement of sale between the parties. No amount was paid as consideration by the tenant to landlord. Tenant was not entitled to benefit under S. 53A(1)

Written contract is a sine qua non for applicability of the doctrine of part performance. Defence by tenant in ejectment suit that he is in possession of premises in pursuance of oral agreement for sale between himself and the landlord would not be available to tenant(2)

Where a lease is entered into orally or by a deed which is unregistered, it cannot be a fixed term lease but monthly lease, Section 53A would not be applicable to such monthly tenancy(3)

Where oral agreement for sale is followed by oral sale, oral agreement gets merged with the resultant oral sale and when the latter is void former does not exist independently(4)

10. Acts of part performance under the section.

Under the English law, as seen in Note 1, the act of part performance must be not only unequivocally referable to a contract but must have so changed the position of a party as would make it fraudulent on the part of the other party to claim that the contract was not valid for want of writing. Under the present section,

(1) the transferee must have 'taken' possession(1), or

(2) if he was already in possession, must have continued in possession 'and' must have

20. 1983 All LJ 93 (100).

21. AIR 1971 Cal 163 (165) : 75 Cal WN 106 (DB).

Section 53-A — Note 9B

1. AIR 1995 Mad 172 (179)

2. AIR 1993 Pat 1 (11)  AIR 2002 SC 812 (816) : 2002 AIR SCW 471 : 2002 (1) JT 465. (Letter written by vendor to his relative admitting oral agreement to sell property to proposed vendee cannot be taken as agreement to sell within meaning of S. 53-A)

3. AIR 1994 All 221 (235) : 1994 All LJ 770.

4. 1989 (1) Andh LT 389 (398)

Section 53-A — Note 10

1. AIR 1950 FC 1 (7) : 1949 FCR 484. (Pending redemption suit mortgagor executing agreement to sell mortgaged property to mortgagee — Suit dropped — No sale deed executed — Mortgagee never in possession of mortgaged property either actual or constructive — No possession "in pursuance of the agreement" — S. 53-A held had no application)  ILR (1980) Madh Pra 504 (509) (Person taking possession of suit property after paying sale price in pursuance of agreement to purchase entered into with plaintiff during pendency of suit, is entitled to invoke provisions of S. 53-A)  (1979) 2 Andh WR 427 further done some act in furtherance of the contract(2) Where an act is merely preparatory or introductory to the contract and no connection is established between the act and the contract it is not an act done in furtherance of the contract(3).

In order to avail oneself of the benefit of the provisions of S. 53A it must be shown that the possession refers unequivocally to the contract. The possession must only be referable to the agreements and not be referable to any other title. Where a person is already in possession and continues in possession after the contract for sale, it does not necessarily follow that he continues in possession in performance of the contract. He must show either from the contract itself or from some other evidence that the continuance of his possession was either with reference to or pursuant to and consistent with the contract for sale alone and no other source(4).

The act to be in part performance of a contract must be unequivocally referable to such contract and conversely must not be referable to any other contract or any other understanding. Where a

(1979) 2 APLJ 217 (220)  AIR 1959 Madh Pra 221 (222)  AIR 1957 Bom 236 (238) ILR (1957) Bom 769 (Vendee in possession of properties under a Sadaqat contract — Transaction is only a contract — Vendee entitled to avail of S. 53A)  AIR 1958 Pat 126 (130) (DB) (When it is found that the defendant is not in possession of the suit land there is no question of protecting his possession under S. 53A)  AIR 1956 Assam 129 (131) (DB) (Per Ram Labhaya J — Transferee not in possession — It is not necessary to consider whether any other such act has been done)  (1936) 62 Ind Cas 88 (882) (Nag) (Where no possession is given or intended to be given to the transferee no reference to the question of retaining it under S. 53A can arise)  (1933) 17 RD 207 (212)

2. AIR 1982 SC 989 (1000, 1004) (1982) 1 SCJ 386  AIR 1983 Andh Pra 177 (178) (Where a transferee, already in possession of a property purchases that property by a sale agreement which could not be registered resulting in non payment of the balance sale consideration to the transferor the fact that he has duly observed all the conditions required of him under the sale agreement amounts to part performance of contract and therefore, enables him to seek protection under S. 53A)  AIR 1981 Raj 176 (1981) Raj LW 71 (Mortgagor executing agreement to sell the lands to mortgagee for the same amount of mortgage and agreeing to get sale deed registered after expiry of one year, such an act of appropriation of mortgage money would be an act in furtherance of the contract)  1980 All LJ 1060 (1064) 1980 All CJ 476  (1980) 2 Mad LJ 398 (421)  (1972) 1 Cut WR 212  (1968) 70 Pun LR 897  AIR 1962 Cal 502 (503) (Patta for 25 years executed by A in favour of B on monthly rental — Patta not signed by B — B going into possession and effecting improvements in terms of patta — Suit for arrears of rent and eviction of B before expiry of patta — There is no implied tenancy from month to month — Doctrine of part performance held applied)  AIR 1955 Madh B 93 (95) (The filing of a suit for specific performance of a contract is an act for enforcing the contract and not one done in furtherance of the contract and cannot therefore, be an act of part performance)  AIR 1955 Hyd 101 (103) ILR (1954) Hyd 822  AIR 1954 Ajmer 30 (31) (Usufructuary mortgagee getting rent note executed in respect of house mortgaged to him — It is in assertion of his rights in pursuance of the mortgage)  AIR 1954 Madh Bha 128 (129) (In case of usufructuary mortgage interest transferable by the mortgagor but being identical with the property mortgagee pleading part performance pursuant to sale of equity of redemption in his favour must show some distinct overt act besides his possession)  AIR 1953 Hyd 114 (116) ILR (1952) Hyd 449 (DB)  AIR 1951 Nag 285 (287) ILR (1950) Nag 799 (DB) (Paying Nazul rent and municipal taxes and spending for repairs by a lessee who is already in possession are acts done in furtherance of the contract within the meaning of the section)  AIR 1944 Oudh 212 (218) 19 Luck 565 (DB) (Section does not require that the contract must contain a direct covenant regarding transference of possession.)  AIR 1943 Bom 406 (406).

3. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 275 (281, 282) (DB)  AIR 1955 Hyd 101 (103) ILR (1954) Hyd 822  AIR 1955 Madh Bha 93 (94).

4. 1999 (1) Cal HN 1 (6)

person is not placed in possession of the properties in part performance of the agreement of sale and his possession was merely permissive possession, S. 53-A would not be attracted(5)

Apart from the fact that the defence available under S. 55A was not pleaded at all, the same is not available to the defendant in the instant case because there is nothing to show that subsequent possession of the defendant was referable to the agreement of sale. Principles of equity are embodied in Transfer of Property Act in general and in S. 53-A in particular equitable owner cannot seek protection from the Court independent of the provisions of S. 53-A(6).

Where there is nothing to indicate in the agreement of sale that the defendant was allowed to continue in possession pursuant to the agreement of sale, S. 53A could not be applied(7).

In the case of a renewal of a lease mere payment of reduced rent is not a step towards part performance in absence of the acceptance of it by the lessor though payment of increased rent in terms of a new agreement could amount to such act(8).

The contract itself, contemplated by the section, being in writing from which "the terms necessary to constitute the transfer can be ascertained with reasonable certainty" it is conceived that the "act in furtherance of the contract" referred to in the second paragraph need not be construed as having the same meaning and limitations as the act of part performance in England. It need not, of itself, unequivocally have reference to the contract. It may be shown by evidence to be in furtherance of the contract though, of itself, it may be equivocal e.g., the payment of money(9)

5. 1983 (1) Bom CR 533 (542).

6. 1983 (1) Bom CR 174 (180).

7. 1982 (5) Kant LJ 284 (287).

8. (1970) 83 Mad LW 761 (2) (DB).

9. AIR 1981 All 373 (375) (Part payment of purchase price is an act in furtherance of contract)  (1980) 93 Mad LW 489 (491, 492)  1977 (U P) RCC 131 (133)  AIR 1976 Pat 2 1976 BLJR 77 (Consideration under a contract to transfer need not pass in praesenti)  (1968) 70 Punj LR 897  (1967) 2 Andh WR 2 (7) (Oral agreement subsequently reduced into writing — Amount paid after the oral agreement appropriated towards part payment of consideration for agreement to sell — Part payment is an act in furtherance of the contract to sell)  Air 1967 Bom 34 (36) ILR (1966) Bom 291  1967 RLW 413 (414) (Payment of balance of sale consideration)  (1966) 2 Andh LT 416 (Written agreement relinquishing rights in consideration of a particular sum — Consideration received in part — Other party prepared to complete the transaction in compliance with the provisions of S. 53A — Held, that the requirements of S. 53A were fully satisfied.)  ILR (1965) Guj 490 (494)  AIR 1965 Madh Pra 275 (281, 282) (DB) (Payment of money can be an act in furtherance of the contract. The payment would be an unequivocal act referable to and in furtherance of the alleged contract, if connection is established by evidence between the payment and the contract)  ILR (1957) 7 Raj 101 (110)  AIR 1955 Madh Bha 49 (55) ILR (1954) MB 237 (DB) (If a connection is established by evidence between the payment and the contract, then the payment would be an unequivocal act referable to and in furtherance of the alleged contract)  AIR 1955 Mys 38 (40) ILR (1955) Mys 234 (If a mortgagee purchaser under an unregistered deed of sale has paid either the whole or part of the consideration, the same can be said to be in pursuance of the contract of sale)  AIR 1954 Ajmer 70 (71) (View of Thadani C J. to the contrary in AIR 1950 Assam 129, Not followed.)  AIR 1953 Mad 925 (926)  AIR 1952 Raj 141 (142) ILR (1951) 1 Raj 918  AIR 1941 Oudh 41 (43) 16 Luck 99 (DB) (Payment of consideration and mutation are acts in furtherance of contract)  AIR 1934 Rang 304 (306) 13 Rang 17 (Payment of part of purchase price is act in furtherance of contract of sale by the mortgagee already in possession.)

[See also AIR 1950 Assam 129 (131) (DB) (On question whether payment of consideration was an act done in furtherance of contract Thadani, C J., was of opinion that it was not, while Ram Labhaya J., expressed his opinion that it was)]

The possession taken or continued must have been in pursuance of the contract to transfer (10)

10. AIR 1977 SC 1517. (Principal F.A. No. 420 of 1963 Dt. 15.10.1969 (Bom) Reversed.)

* AIR 1950 FC 1 (7) . 1949 FCR 484 * (1981) 2 Ren CJ 62 (65) (All) (Agreement for sale of tenanted portion set up by tenant considered to be forged document — Tenant not filing document to make it part of record — Plea of tenant of part performance cannot be adjudicated) * (1981) 1 Cal HN 105 (134) (Parties agreement to enter into an agreement for grant of fresh lease for five years subject to finalisation of deed of lease — Terms offered by Corporation landlord not acceptable to tenant — Mere payment and acceptance of monthly rent and acceptance of certain amount as advance would not entitle tenant to bring over to protection of S. 53A as same is available to a party complying with terms of agreement) * (1977) (L.P.) RCC, 31 (Tenant induced on and on the basis of rent deed paying rent and furnishing explanation for default in payment of rent — He is entitled to continue in possession) * (1977) 1 Ren CJ 114 (Raj)  1971 Ker LJ 25  AIR 1971 Mad 466 (466, 467) 84 Mad LW 513  AIR 1969 Andh Pra 129 (129, 130)  1967) 2 Andh WR 2 (6)  1967 Raj LW 413 (414)  (1964) 2 Andh LT 159 (163) (DB) (Agent's possession of the property of his principal prior and subsequent to the principal's agreement of sale of the property in favour of another person benami for the agent cannot be said to be in part performance of the contract as it was neither in pursuance of the contract or with the consent of the transferor) * AIR 1963 Pat 62 (66) ILR 42 Pat 763 (DB) (Certain compromise between defendant and other persons not binding on plaintiff — Plaintiff's compromise not binding on plaintiff — Held, possession of defendant after compromise could not be held to be in part performance of the compromise Overruled — See also point in AIR 1976 SC 807) * (1962) 64 Pun LR 731   AIR 1966 Pat 354 (366) (The statute does not require that over and above taking possession of the property, it must further be established that the transferee has built constructions upon the property transferred) * ILR (1959) Bom 35 (38)  AIR 1955 Madh Bha 49 (53, 55) ILR (1954) Madh Bha 237 (DB) (Possession transferred to mortgagee under previous mortgage — Juris — Subsequent unregistered mortgage deeds in respect of same property not amounting to usufructuary mortgages — Benefit of section cannot be given to mortgagee in respect of the subsequent mortgages because continuance in possession is not in pursuance of such subsequent mortgages) * (1954) 20 Cut LT 614 (619, 620)  (1954) 20 Cut LT 532 (535, 536)  AIR 1953 Hyd 114 (116) ILR (1952) Hyd 449 (DB) (Plaintiffs who had no right in the property mortgaging the property with A and D — Defendants the owners paying up the mortgage debts to avoid the trouble of litigation — Plaintiffs executing Ex-terminis in favour of defendants relinquishing their alleged rights — Defendants taking possession and effecting necessary mutation — Possession of the defendants being in pursuance of the contract S. 53A is attracted) * AIR (1952) Orissa 118 (119) ILR (1950) Cut 43 (DB) (Defendant has to establish that there was delivery of possession in pursuance of the contract) * AIR 1952 Raj 141 (142) ILR (1951) Raj 918 (Transferees already in possession as mortgagees only registration of deed is necessary to convey absolute title — Transferees paying certain amount towards consideration — Transferor mentioning in deed that he is making the sale by executing it — Held, that there was part performance of contract and possession of mortgagees was in pursuance of the contract and mortgagor's suit for redemption is therefore not maintainable) * AIR 195 Nag 285 (287) ILR (1950) Nag 799 (DB) (Transferee taking possession on the basis of oral agreement to lease — Oral agreement merging into the draft agreement — Possession subsequent to such draft is in pursuance of such written agreement — Transferee paying Nazul rent and Municipal taxes and spending on repairs are further acts done in furtherance of the agreement) * AIR 195 Nag 171 (174) ILR (1950) Nag 618 (Mortgagee coming into possession through foreclosure through a Court upon mortgagor's default — Possession is not one in pursuance of the mortgage) * ILR (1937) 1 Cal 65 (67) (Possession of Court through its Receiver appointed at the instance of decree holder is not an act in part performance of contract) * AIR 1936 Pat 372 (378) 15 Pat 460 (DB) (Doctrine of part performance cannot be invoked unless possession is in pursuance of a completed agreement Reversed on another

The possession may be either actual or constructive(11) Where the defendant vendee was in possession of suit property in pursuance of a valid agreement of sale, had paid full consideration of the land, and nothing further was required to be done on his part, the suit by the plaintiff vendor for recovery of possession was liable to be dismissed, with costs, since it was filed with dishonest intention(12) A person who is in possession even of a portion of the property agreed to be sold is entitled to protection of this Section(13) Where possession is not taken under the contract, but dehors the contract, as where the promisee takes possession by trespass, he cannot in a suit for ejectment plead part performance(14).

A Housing Society claimed to be the transferee of property under an agreement to sell executed by the khatedar. On the other hand the State Housing Board claimed possession of that property on the basis of notification under S. 17(4) of the Land Acquisition Act. The Housing Society did not place copy of agreement on record nor produced revenue entries. Thus S. 53-A could not be invoked by the Housing Society(15) The plaintiff did not file any document to show that he entered into agreement of sale with the real owners of the property and he was also let in possession by the lawful owner. He got possession from the person who had no valid authority. Thus he cannot invoke S. 53-A. Further, possession, if any, given under S. 53A can be used as a shield and not as a sword to protect the possession. He is only in unlawful possession and therefore not entitled to permanent possession against true owners. He can be equated only as a trespasser(16) In the agreement for sale it was stipulated that the proposed vendee is a tenant and is in possession. As an owner/purchaser possession will be given at the time of sale deed. Thus he continued to be a tenant. There was nothing to show that the tenant had done anything which could indicate that his status as tenant has ceased. He could not therefore take advantage of S. 53A. Order of eviction passed against him is not illegal(17) Similarly, where a tenant alleges that he has entered into agreement with landlady to purchase the rented premises but no further action was taken by the tenant in the matter of purchase of premises, his liability to pay rent does not cease. On default in paying rent he is liable to be evicted. The tenant could not invoke doctrine of past performance in the facts of the case(18) Unlawful entry in possession cannot be accepted by Courts for applying the doctrine of part performance(19).

Since transfer of Bhumidhari rights by a member of aboriginal tribe to a non-aboriginal is point in AIR 1938 PC 20)  AIR 1934 Cal 235 (237) 60 Cal 1372 (DB) (Lessee in possession under an existing lease — Subsequent agreement to renew lease — Continuation in possession after the expiration of the old lease is only referable to the agreement and therefore an act of part performance of the contract)  AIR 1932 Sind 42 (45) 25 Sind LR 433 (DB)  (1936) 40 Cal WN 1176 (DB)

[See also ILR (1956) Nag 400 (403) (DB) (Transfer of occupancy holding accompanied by possession — Transferee cannot be regarded as trespasser as S. 12 C. P. Tenancy Act permits transfer by tenant — Transferee can have resort to plea of part performance)]

11. AIR 1968 SC 794 (800) : (1968) 2 SCJ 614  AIR 1950 FC 1 (7) : 1949 FCR 484  AIR 1957 Bom 138 (140) : ILR (1958) Bom 556 (DB).
12. 1987 (2) Land LR 580 (582) (P & H)
13. AIR 1979 Raj 200 : 1979 Raj LW 212.
14. (1967) 64 Pun LR 731 (733)  AIR 1956 Pat 308 (311) (DB)  AIR 1932 Sind 42 (45) 25 Sind LR 433 (DB)  1982 Tax LR 1504 (1508) (1982) 138 ITR 168 (DB) (All)
15. 1996 AIHC 3052 (3057) : 1996 Co-op TJ 593 (Raj)
16. 1999 (3) Mad LJ 47 (50).
17. AIR 1999 Punj & Har 65 (67) : 1998 (119) Pun LR 795
18. 1996 AIHC 3097 (3100) : 1996 (1) Mad LJ 666
19. 2000 (2) MPLJ 460 (469).

prohibited, such prohibition covers "agreement to sell" also. Therefore a non-aboriginal claiming possession on basis of such agreement is not entitled to protect his possession on basis of S. 53A(20).

Where the owner of property entered into contract to sale and put the agreement holder in possession and subsequently the agreement holder enforced into contract to sale that property to a third person and handed over possession to him, the original owner was entitled to recover possession from the said third person. The doctrine of part performance could not be invoked by the third person against the original owner as there was no privity of contract between them. The third person was not transferee within meaning of S. 53-A qua the original owner. He did not have equitable right to protect possession against the original owner(21).

Where the plaintiff based his claim for possession on the basis of admission by defendant, injunction could not be granted to him. His possession was held not referable to part performance under S. 53A(22).

Where an agreement of reconveyance is hit by S. 58(c) of the T.P. Act it cannot be used as an agreement of sale under S. 53-A. The transferee under the reconveyance agreement cannot be said to have taken possession in pursuance of the said agreement. Nor the continuance of the previous possession can be ascribed to the agreement of reconveyance(23).

Where the possession of a licensee as such is referable to the agreement creating licence and not to any agreement of sale, the equitable title arising out of such agreement of licence is not enough for the licensee to enter into possession or to defend possession. Protection under S. 53A would not be available in such case(24).

It is not necessary that the transferee should be in possession on the date when the transferor seeks to enforce his right against the property. Once transferee takes possession in pursuance of the agreement subsequent loss of possession does not bar him from invoking the benefit under the section(25). Where the vendor delivered possession of a flat on receipt of consideration in pursuance of an agreement for sale, the same is in part performance of the contract and therefore the vendee is entitled to continue in possession of the flat till her suit for specific performance is disposed of finally(26). But it has been held that possession taken at a time when the contract has become incapable of specific performance by efflux of time is not one in part performance of the contract(27). Where property is entrusted to first defendant for management by giving power of attorney and the property is in possession of second defendant but there is no pleading as to how he obtained possession, nor it is pleaded that possession is in pursuance to contract for sale and he is willing to perform his part of the contract, both the defendants could not claim benefit under S. 53A(28).

20. 2000 (2) MPLJ 148 (150)

21. 2000 (1) Mah LJ 495 (499)

22. AIR 1989 Madh Pra 128 (132) : 1989 Jab LJ 432

23. (1983) 1 APLJ 297 (299, 300) : 1983 LS (AP) 116

24. (1983) 1 Bom CR 174 (178, 180)

25. (1979) 1 Andh WR 416 (419)  AIR 1956 Andh Pra 854, 858 : ILR 1956 Andh Pra 1019 (DB).

[See AIR 1982 All 304 (307), (AIR 1939 All 611, Foll.)]

26. AIR 1992 Cal 47 (58) : (1992) 96 Cal WN 485.

27. AIR 1956 Pat 408 (311) (DB). (In order to have the protection of S. 53A, possession must be taken in part performance of the contract before the enforcement of the contract is barred by time.)

[See also 1982 Cur LJ 738 : 1982 Rev LR 478 (480). (A forcible possession obtained by vendees without payment of any consideration would not entitle them to retain possession by invoking S. 53A.)]

28. AIR 1990 Ker 186 (188) : (1989) 1 Ker LT 945

Where an agreement of sale stands concluded by subsequent execution and registration of sale deed, there is no question of part performance of the contract and since the contract has been concluded, the question of resorting to protection under S 53A does not arise(29)

Where the plaintiff/agreement-holder had paid some amount as advance to the vendor, but in pursuance of agreement but possession of the land was not given to him and the land came under acquisition, the plaintiff is not entitled to compensation payable under the Land Acquisition Act since he has not done anything in furtherance of the contract as per S 53-A. He was entitled to refund of advance only with interest.(30)

See also the undermentioned cases.(31)

S 53(A) of Transfer of Property Act is applicable to an informal or unregistered sale-deed, if such a document has prompted the transferee to enter into possession of property and raise constructions thereon consequently the transferee could maintain action for injunction to defend his possession, by using such document as a shield(32).

The Chief Court of Oudh has held in the undermentioned case(33) that the section does not require any concurrent act or any specific consent on the part of the transferor to the taking or the continuance of possession by the transferee in pursuance of the contract. Thus A let a house to B as a tenant C B's wife agreed to purchase the house from A, paid consideration, got the house repaired paid municipal taxes, and lived in the house with her husband B without payment of rent to A. It was held that C took possession of the house in pursuance of the contract, and that the fact that A did not tell C that she should take possession was immaterial. The view has, however, been dissented from in the following decisions(34) where it has been held that consent of the transferor is a primary condition for the taking or continuance of such possession.

Where a person in whose favour a document of sale is written is already in possession of the property though as a tenant, or a licensee or a mortgagee, or otherwise under permission of the vendor it is not necessary that the vendee should be dispossessed and then re-put in possession for the applicability of S 53A. All that is necessary to show is that the nature of the possession was changed after the execution of the sale deed. This can be shown either by the document itself or from other evidence(35).

In granting relief under S 53-A the question whether a contract is specifically enforceable or not has no bearing at all. Where the mortgagee is in possession of the mortgaged property in pursuance of the agreement for sale executed by the mortgagor in his favour, and the mortgagee has 29. 1990 (3) Cur CC 38 (39) (Orissa).

30. 2001 (2) Andh WR 158 (163)

31. AIR 1976 Pat 2 1976 BLJR 77  (1967) 2 Andh WR 2 (7) (Agreement providing that before registration permission under S 47, Hyderabad Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act will be taken by the parties. Application made by the vendor and vendee for such permission constitutes an act in furtherance of the contract for sale.)  (1966) 2 Andh LT 416

32. 1983 All LJ 405 (408) ; (1983) 1 Civ LJ 504.

33. AIR 1944 Oudh 212 (218) 19 Luck 565 (DB) (Part performance must be the act of the person seeking to avail himself of the equity and the acts of the person sought to be charged are of no avail, Affirming AIR 1940 Oudh 1 on appeal.)

34. ILR (1975) 1 Delhi 654 (DB)  (1964) 2 Andh WR 5 (1964) 2 Andh LT 159 (163) (DB) (Plaintiff was the owner of certain lands. Defendant 1 was plaintiff's agent to look after the lands. Plaintiff had extended a contract of sale of the lands in favour of defendant 2. The sale was found to be benami for defendant 1. It was held that the possession of defendant 1 as the agent of the plaintiff could not be said to be in part performance of the contract.)

35. (1980) 49 Cut LT 297 (301)  AIR 1979 Mad 47 (50) (1978) 2 Mad LJ 533  AIR 1970 Mys 203 (1970) 1 Mys LJ 34  1967 Raj LW 413  ILR (1958) 8 Raj 839 (841).

[But see (1982) 1 Kant LJ 284 (287)  AIR 1981 NOC 177 (1981) 1 Mad LJ 366] performed his part of the contract under the said agreement, the right of redemption of mortgage under S. 60 would not be available to the mortgagor and that right would be deemed as extinguished. (36)

In absence of any contract to the contrary if a landlord agrees to sell his land to a tenant but declined to execute the Sale Deed in terms of the agreement the relationship of landlord and tenant ceases and the further possession of the tenant is not referable to the earlier relationship. (37)

The agreement holder had paid full consideration and was put in possession of the property by the transferor pursuant to the agreement of sale and continued to be in possession for the last 60 years. Thus the agreement holder had performed his part of the contract in connection with transfer. He was thus entitled to protection under S. 53-A. The suit by the transferor for declaration of title and recovery of possession was liable to be dismissed. (38)

10-A. Lease

Agreement to lease confers right to enjoy property. It is not transfer of ownership. It is doubtful whether S. 53-A is applicable as far as cases of lease or agreement of lease are concerned. If S. 53-A can be applied to the case of a person entering into possession in pursuance of agreement to lease but the same has either not been registered or executed in accordance with law, then the benefit that the tenant will be entitled to avail will be that his possession or occupation or enjoyment of the property shall not be deemed to be unlawful, illegal or unauthorised under the law. But as regards duration of the tenancy, the presumption under S. 106 of the T.P. Act will apply. (1)

Lease is defined in S. 105 as "transfer of a right to enjoy the property" which in common parlance is distinguished from transfer of interest in the property to the transferee like in sale mortgage etc. The transfer of property envisages transfer of corpus or its part conveying proprietary status to a transferee. Lease of an immovable property strictly speaking may not fall within the ambit of the term "transfer of property" envisaged in S. 53-A making the said section inapplicable to a lease. But the matter is not free from doubt. (2)

In a suit for eviction of tenant when the tenant raises a question of title or even a plea of part performance, the jurisdiction of the court to decide the suit for eviction does not get ousted. When such a plea is raised by the tenant the Court can go into the question incidentally for deciding the main question in the suit i.e. whether there is relationship of landlord and tenant. (3)

In the undermentioned case (4), however, it was held that in an ejectment suit which otherwise be cognizable by a Small Cause Court, a defence is raised in the written statement under S. 53-A, the suit itself goes out of jurisdiction of Small Cause Court to decide the substantial issues involved in the suit and the Small Cause Court, in such a situation, has to return the plaint with the written statement for presentation to proper regular Court having jurisdiction to decide the suit.

Section 53A can be used only as a shield and not as a sword. Transferee in possession in part performance of the agreement cannot establish his title on basis of the agreement of sale. Thus eviction of tenant under the Rent Control Act could not be inhibited by him by filing of a prior suit for specific performance. (5) Unregistered lease deed is admissible in evidence as per the Proviso to

36. 1999 (2) WLC 450 (460, 461) (Raj)

37. 1973 Pun LJ 641

38. 1997 (1) Orissa LR (2) (SC).

Section 53-A — Note 10-A

1. AIR 1994 All 221 (236) · 1994 All LJ 770

2. 1998 (2) Rent CR 84 (87) (Delhi)

3. 1992 BBCJ 631 (642).

4. AIR 1988 Bom 142 (148) : 1988 Mah LJ 299.

5. AIR 1988 Pat 123 (125) : 1987 Pat LJR (HC) 724.

S. 49 of Registration Act as a shield to protect the possession of tenant in the suit filed by landlord seeking tenant's eviction from the suit property, as per the theory of part performance of the contract embodied in S. 53A (6)

Oral agreement to sell the leased property to tenant would not terminate the landlord-tenant relationship. Even if the agreement is in writing it must in clear terms specify that the landlord-tenant relationship is being terminated and there would be no future liability on tenant to pay rent. In the absence of such stipulation tenant is liable to be evicted on ground of default in payment of rent.(7)

For a tenant continuing in possession of immovable property after a contract to transfer, written and signed by landlord, to get the protection of S. 53A, it is necessary to show that he continues in possession in pursuance of the contract (e.g. stopped paying rent). Mere continuation in possession does not satisfy the requirement under S. 53A. If a tenant has been in possession in his capacity as a tenant and not in part performance of the contract, he cannot take the plea under S. 53-A.(8)

A lessee in possession of the property is entitled to defend his possession on the basis of a renewal clause in the lease deed only if the renewal clause is specifically enforceable by him. The Court can give protection to such defendant only if the renewal clause is enforceable in law. The terms of the renewed lease must be certain or it must be possible to make it certain from the terms contained in the renewal clause.(9)

Where the lease deed stipulated that he can be renewed on old terms but the tenant wanted to add one additional clause with regard to power of sub-letting, it cannot be said that the tenant was ready and willing to perform his part of the original contract. He would therefore be not entitled to protection under S. 53A.(10)

Where on expiry of the original lease, the lessee continued possession under the renewal clause but the rent paid for such period was not shown to be independent of contract, the lessee does not become monthly tenant. He is only protected under S. 53-A and becomes trespasser on expiry of renewal period.(11)

The purported agreement of sale did not mention that the liability of the tenant to pay rent would cease. Moreover, the said agreement was in favour of tenant's wife. Therefore the tenant could not claim benefit under S. 53-A for resisting eviction on ground of default in payment of rent (12)

Proceedings under S. 16 of the U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 were initiated by landlord on ground of bona fide need and alleging that opposite party was an unauthorised occupant of the accommodation. The stay application filed by the opposite party before the Rent Controller alleging that suit for specific performance filed by him on basis of agreement for sale in his favour was pending. Held that the Rent Controller could not decide the question of title. However he could decide whether the opposite party was inducted as tenant prior to agreement of sale or he came into possession in pursuance of agreement of the agreement. Thus the refusal by Rent Controller to stay the proceedings needed no interference (13)

6. 2002 AHC 2966 : 2002 (4) Andh LT 221

7. 1996 (1) LTC 398 (405) (Mad)

8. AIR 1989 Gauhati 39 (41) : (1987) 2 Gauhati LR 402

9. 1990 (2) Ker LJ 437 (447)

10. 1985 (2) Ren CJ 650 (657) (Cal)

11. AIR 1984 Cal 297 (304)

12. 1999 (1) Mad LW 336 (339)

13. 1997 All LJ 1882 (1883).

The lessee in the instant case contended that he had been granted mining lease to collect sand by the erstwhile proprietor. The leased property vested in State by operation of S. 3A of the Bihar Land Reforms Act, 1950. Even assuming that the lessee had any right under S. 53-A that right did not survive as an enforceable right after vesting of the property. (14)

Where the plaintiff is a protected tenant under Hyderabad Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act and had executed an agreement for sale in favour of the defendant but filed suit for possession, the defendant is not entitled to protect his possession in terms of provisions of S. 53A. A party cannot be allowed to override the provision of S. 50B of the Tenancy Act by a device such as an agreement of sale and continue possession claiming right under S. 53A. (15)

In a petition by landlord for ejectment of tenant, a plea was raised by the tenant that he was in possession of property not as a tenant but in part performance of the agreement for sale in his favour and therefore was entitled to protection under S. 53A. However the part that he performed or was willing to perform his part of the contract was not pleaded. Therefore he could not claim protection under S. 53A and was liable to ejectment. (16) Where a tenant claimed protection under S. 53A on ground of agreement for sale of rented premises in his favour, but the agreement was found to be not genuine and he had also not filed suit for specific performance, he was not entitled to interim injunction against execution of the decree for his eviction obtained by the landlord validly. Balance of convenience was not in favour of tenant. (17)

The action initiated by the landlord for eviction of tenant under the Rent Control Act was resisted by the tenant on the ground that he was a partner of the firm with which the landlord has entered into agreement to sell the rented premises. Even assuming that he was a partner, it was impermissible for him to individually claim all rights of the firm. Nor could he protect himself as transferee under the agreement. Thus he was not entitled to protection under S. 53A and his landlord could not be non-suited. (18)

Where the tenant was put in possession of the suit land merely on basis of agreement for sale and no sale deed was executed, a petition by the tenant for acquiring property rights under S. 11 of the H. P. Abolition of Big Landed Estates and Reforms Act (1954) cannot be allowed. However, by virtue of doctrine of part performance, the plaintiff's possession delivered in part performance of the agreement for sale can safely be protected and relief to that extent can be granted to plaintiff. It cannot be said that defence as provided under S. 53-A can be availed of as defence only by the defendant and not by the plaintiff. Such a bar is neither provided in the section itself nor it could be inferred from S. 53-A. No title passes under S. 53-A. Hence suit for declaration of title cannot be filed. (19)

Where the agreement of sale between landlord and tenant was cancelled by parties and the relationship of landlord and tenant came into being thereafter, the transferee continuing in possession as tenant could not invoke doctrine of part performance. (20)

The status of tenant after execution of agreement to sell in respect of tenanted premises ceases to be such which is changed to that of a purchaser and when a sale deed is executed of half the share of the said property, he becomes co-owner with the landlord. (21)

14. 1995 Supp (3) SCC 461 (461).

15. 1982 (2) Bom CR 18 (22)

16. AIR 1985 Punj & Har 222 (226) ; (1985) 1 Rent LR 491

17. 2001 AIHC 4340 (4345) ; 2001 (3) Mad LJ 257

18. AIR 2002 SC 101 (104) ; 2001 AIR SCW 4657 ; 2002 AIR Kant HC 27 ; 2001 (8) Scale 152.

19. 1996 AIHC 2606 (2611) (Him Pra)

20. 1995 Pun LJ 66 (68)

21. 2000 (2) Rent LR 385 (386) (SC).

On a tenant entering into agreement with the landlord to purchase the tenanted premises, his status as tenant ceases after execution of such agreement and is changed to that of a purchaser, where the tenant agrees to purchase half share, on execution of sale deed he becomes co-owner with the landlord.(22)

Where a cultivating tenant agrees to purchase the land and is put into possession of the land as a prospective purchaser in terms of the agreement entered into between the parties, but the contract is not performed, he does not revert to the position of cultivating tenant (23)

Where the agreement to sell land to the cultivating tenant was executed but sale deed was not executed in pursuance to the agreement nor there was any material to show that the nature of possession as tenant was changed, there was no merger of tenancy rights. Thus S 53A could not be invoked.(24)

Where a person continued in possession of property as a tenant and was not given possession in pursuance of agreement of sale, S 53A cannot be invoked (25) Where no evidence was produced by tenant to show that he was put in possession to sell alleged to have been executed between him and erstwhile owner S 53-A is not applicable to facts of case (26)

Relationship of landlord and tenant would not come to an end merely because an agreement to sell tenanted premises to tenant is entered into by the landlord, when possession in pursuance of such agreement is not given. Therefore the liability of the tenant to pay rent continues.(27)

In an agreement between landlord and tenant for sale of demised premises to tenant, the tenant agreed to continue to pay rent till full payment of sale price. Thus tenant continued in capacity as tenant. In the proceedings for his eviction on ground of default in payment of rent, he could not claim benefit of S. 53-A (28)

A Bhumidar entered into contract to sell his land to D and put him in possession subsequently he executed a sale deed in favour of P and thereafter another sale deed in favour of D was executed by the Bhumidar.

Held that D was not entitled to protection under S 53-A. When valid title has passed to P, the retention of possession by D would be bad in law in view of S 209 of the U P Z A and I. R. Act (29)

Where there was an agreement for sale of demised premises in favour of tenant and in pursuance thereof the tenant had paid certain amount as advance, continuation of possession thereafter by the tenant would be in pursuance of the agreement. Thus the landlord could not evict him on ground of default in payment of rent.(30)

A tenant who claimed to be a partner of the partnership firm, cannot resist eviction proceedings against him by claiming benefit under S 53-A on ground that landlord has entered into agreement with the partnership firm to sell the tenanted premises to the firm. It is legally impermissible for him to individually claim all rights of the firm, assuming that he is a partner. Nor can he project himself as a transferee under the agreement (31)

22. 2000 (2) Mad LW 808 (810)

23. 2001 (2) Mad LJ 19 (31)

24. 2000 (2) Cur CC 36 (42) (Mad)

25. 2000 (1) Mad LW 506

26. 2000 All LJ 2194 (2197)

27. 2000 (1) Rent CR 377 (381) (Punj & Har).

28. 2001 AHC 2190 (2194) (Guj)

29. 1985 All LJ 697 (699)

30. 1989 TN LJ 311 (314) (Mad)

31. AIR 2002 SC 101 (103) ; 2001 AIR SCW 4657 ; 2002 AIR Kant HCR 27 ; 2001 (8) Scale 152.

In instant case the jural relationship of landlord and tenant between the parties existed prior to agreement of sale of the rented premises. The suit for specific performance filed by the tenant was dismissed. The plea of part performance was rejected (32)

Where a person is in occupation under a void lease, he acquires no interest in the property which was proposed to be demised to him but he may claim equitable right under doctrine of part performance.(33)

11. Third paragraph — Transferee’s willingness to perform his part.

This is an essential condition before the transferor is debarred from enforcing his rights to the property against the transferee(1) “He who seeks equity must do equity” The section being based on equitable principles the transferee, if he wishes to take advantage of it, must also be prepared to do his part. The third paragraph is based on this principle. Transferee having failed in proving such willingness, protection to his possession could not be claimed by reference to S. 53-A, nor by pleading equity (2) Term “willingness” in S. 53A means “readiness and willingness” as used in S. 16 of the Specific Relief Act (1963) (3) The words “has performed” and “or is willing to perform” mean complete performance or complete willingness. It is not a sufficient compliance with the section that the transferee would have performed his part of the contract to some extent(4). The

32. 2002 AIR Kant HCR 1007 (1017) 2002 AIRC 190. (1 K 255) (1 K 254)

33. AIR 1984 (NOC) 317 (1984) 2 Cal LJ 1 (DB)

Section 53-A — Note 11

- 1. AIR 1981 All 373 (375) (Filing of suit for specific performance of contract of sale, with payment of purchase price — It indicates willingness of transferee to perform his part) AIR 1999 SC 3248 (3251) : 1999 AIR SCW 3221 : 1999 All LJ 2088 : 1999 (7) SCC 303  (1976) 1 Cal LJ 58 (63-64) (DB)  ILR (1975) Hin Pra 276 (Defendant obtaining possession over disputed property by transferring his own to other side — S. 53-A is attracted)  ILR (1977) 1 Delh. 820 (DB)  AIR 1966 Assam 46 (47-48) — ILR (1964) 6 Assam 493  (1962) 75 Mad LW 746-747 (DB) (Party failing to perform his part not showing willingness to do so — Doctrine of part performance cannot be availed of by him)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 58 (59)  (1954) 20 Cal LJ 614 (618) (Where the defendants were not willing at any time to do their part of the contract, they are not entitled to the protection under S. 53A)  AIR 1951 Nag 246 (248) — ILR (1951) Nag 554 — AIR (1951) Nag 188 (191) — ILR (1946) Nag 991 (Party relying on section must plead his readiness and willingness to fulfil his part, otherwise section would not apply)  AIR (1943) Bom 406 (406)  (1941) 45 Cal WN 132 (136) (DB)

[See also (1962) 64 Pun LR 731 (733) — Suit of possession by transferor — Transferee pleading that transferor was entitled to market price which was much below contract price — Held, transferee was not entitled to benefit of S. 53A in suit which was bona fide.)  AIR 1952 Nag 244 (245) — ILR (1949) Nag 959 (Making a false plea that a certain obligation under the contract has been discharged shows an unwillingness on the part of the transferee to abide strictly by the contract entered into between him and the transferor)]

- 2. AIR 1999 SC 3248 (3251) : 1999 AIR SCW 3221 : 1999 All LJ 2088 : 1999 (7) SCC 303  1997 (6) Andh LT 134 (156)
- 3. AIR 1992 Mad 208 (213) (1992) 2 Mad LW 372 (Where no evidence is adduced by a party to prove his “readiness” to pay balance due, and to perform his part of contract, S. 53A could not be invoked.)
- 4. AIR 1970 SC 546 (548) : 1970 All LJ 742 : (1971) 2 SCJ 51  ILR (1952) Madh Bha 410 (415) (DB)  AIR 1941 Bom 346 (348) — ILR (1941) Bom 529 (DB) (AIR 1933 Bom 381 Diss. from.)

defendant relying on part performance must specifically plead and prove his readiness and willingness to perform his part of the contract (5) Transferee is not entitled to benefit under S 53A when he has not pleaded all the necessary ingredients of S 53A. It was nowhere pleaded that he was ready and willing to perform his part of the contract and therefore could not avail of protection under S 53A (6) But where though the plea has not been raised by the defendant in his pleadings, it has been fully gone into at the hearing the defendant is entitled to avail himself of the provisions of the section (7) Even if the defence under Section 53A is not expressly pleaded but there is reference to the agreement in the written statement and evidence led regarding the existence of such agreement the plea must be considered (8) Where a party had pleaded that he had performed what all had to be performed by him in terms of the agreement, the absence of specific pleading that he is ready and willing is immaterial. He was entitled to benefit of S 53A (9) It has been held that the condition as to willingness must subsist up to the date of hearing of the second appeal (10) (See also Note 20).

(A) Willingness proved.

A suit for possession was filed by the vendor. Averment in the written statement by the agreement holder therein that she had asked the plaintiff and his co-owner to have the property released from mortgage and execute the sale deed shows her readiness and willingness to perform her part of the contract. (11)

Where the defendant/agreement holder was in possession of the property in pursuance of the agreement for sale, had paid part consideration and was ready and willing to pay the balance, the suit by owner/plaintiff for eviction of the defendant and for damages could not be decreed. The defendant was entitled to protect his possession. (12)

Where the agreement holder is in possession of the property and does not file suit for specific performance after the expiry of the period contemplated for execution of sale deed, it cannot be said that he is ready and willing to perform his part of the contract (13)

[See also AIR 1966 Assam 46 (48) : ILR (1964) 16 Assam 493 (DB) (Contract for resale of property purchased by plaintiff on payment of sale consideration within fixed period — Defendant intimating his intention to take property and offering certain amount — No evidence to show that he was willing to pay entire sale consideration — Held, one of the essential elements of S. 53A not complied with)]

5. (1980) 2 Mad LJ 398 (420) (DB)  2000 AIHC 793 (Mad) (Readiness and willingness not proved — Vendor entitled to recover possession)  2000 (1) Rec Civ R 391 (393) (P & H)  (1966) 2 Andh LT 416  AIR 1965 Madh Pra 275 (283) (DB) (Defendant relying on part performance — Defendant's readiness to perform remaining part of contract must be specifically pleaded and proved)  AIR 1961 Madh Pra 237 (239) : ILR (1962) MP 443  (1954) 20 Cal LT 532 (536) (Contract for sale — Transferee not proving that he was willing to perform his part of contract — Requirement of S 53A held was not satisfied.)  AIR 1947 Nag 188 (191) : ILR (1946) Nag 991

[But see AIR 1956 Mad 693 (695) (Absence of averment as to readiness and willingness to perform the unperformed portion of the obligation in the written statement is not fatal to the defence — Such readiness and willingness must, however, be proved by evidence. AIR 1947 Nag 188, Diss. from.)

6. AIR 1997 Him Pra 12 (14) : 1996 (2) Sim LC 95
7. AIR 1959 Mys 173 (175) : ILR (1957) Mys 108
8. AIR 1979 NOC 172 (Gon)
9. 2000 (1) Ker LJ 504 (507)
10. AIR 1959 Mys 173 (175) : ILR (1957) Mys 108.
11. 1999 (3) Mad LW 775 (780)
12. 1998 (2) Sim LC 389 (397) (Him Pra)
13. 1996 (2) Mad LW 135 (139)

Where the plaintiff paid most of the consideration and was put in possession in pursuance of the agreement to sale, but subsequently the defendant-vendor clandestinely sold the property to the person who had knowledge of the earlier agreement, the plaintiff was entitled to decree for specific performance.(14)

The readiness and willingness to perform part of the contract can be inferred from circumstances and conduct of parties. The transferee took possession of the land as vacant site and put up construction. The averment in the written statement by him that he asked the plaintiff and the 2nd defendant to have the property released from the mortgagee and execute the sale deed is sufficient for holding that the 1st defendant/transferee was ready and willing to perform her part of the contract.(15)

The agreement holder in the instant case was a rustic illiterate v. Tiger while the transferor was a Class I Govt. Officer. The transferor not only evaded the receipt of money when it was offered but allured the agreement holder to withdraw his application for correction of revenue entries. The facts revealed that the agreement holder was ready and willing to perform his part of the contract but the transferor evaded execution of sale deed. Thus the agreement holder was entitled to protect his possession under S. 53A.(16)

(B) Willingness not proved

Where the transferee was in possession of the property in pursuance of the agreement for sale, had paid two instalments in time, however the third instalment was paid a few months after the due date because of the death of one of the transferors, it was accepted by the transferors and the transferee was also willing to perform his part of the agreement, the benefit under S. 53A could not be denied to him. Time not being the essence of the contract, the agreement could not be rescinded on ground of delay in payment of instalment. The transferor having accepted delayed payment of instalments will be deemed to have waived his right to insist upon regular payments.(17)

The defendant vendee was in possession of the suit property in pursuance to agreement for sale. On the day fixed for registration of the sale deed, the parties went to Registrar's office but as the staff was out on election duty the sale deed could not be registered. The plaintiff vendor filed suit to recover possession. The defendant pleaded that he was willing to perform his part of the agreement. Held that it was not proved that the time was the essence of the contract, since the defendant was willing to perform his part of the contract he was entitled to protection under S. 53A and the plaintiff's suit was dismissed.(18)

Where instead of complying with the requirements of S. 55(1)(d) of the T.P. Act and S. 29(c) of the Stamp Act the transferees, after paying full consideration, remained contented with possession of property, and further failed to send a written notice calling upon the transferors to execute the sale-deed, the failure amounts to their not being ready and willing to perform their part of contract. Consequently transferees are not entitled to the benefit of S. 53-A T.P. Act.(19)

All the ingredients that are essential for specific performance should be proved in a claim under S. 53-A also. A party who is not willing to take sale deed cannot claim benefit under S. 53A.(20)

Time was the essence of the contract in the instant agreement for sale. The buyer took force

14. 1999 AIHC 4654 (4673) (Mad).

15. 1999 (3) Mad LJ 633 (637)

16. 1997 (3) Shimla LC 473 (477) (Him Pra)

17. AIR 1984 Punj & Har 95 (98).

18. 1984 Land LR 181 (185) (Punj & Har)

19. AIR 1983 Orissa 107 (113) : (1983) 55 Cut LT 77 (DB)

20. 1997 (2) Mad LW 820 (827)

ble possession of the property but was not ready and willing to do his part of the contract. Thus he was not entitled to protection under S. 53-A nor for refund of consideration paid since it has become time-barred. The vendor on the other hand was entitled to decree for possession and mesne profits (21)

A suit for permanent injunction by a plaintiff who is in possession pursuant to agreement for sale without seeking relief of specific performance of the agreement of sale is barred under O. 2, R. 2, CPC. Such equitable relief cannot be granted when plaintiff has not established his readiness and willingness to perform his part of the agreement. (22)

When the plaintiff seeks to avail protection under S. 53-A, it is absolutely necessary to plead and prove his readiness and willingness to perform his part of the contract. Once the plaintiff is not entitled to file the suit for specific performance as on date, he cannot be allowed to use S. 53A as a shield as he is not having any enforceable right in law under the agreement (23)

Where the transferee failed to perform his part of the contract i.e. in paying the balance of sale consideration to the transferors, he is not entitled to claim protection under S. 53-A (24)

The agreement holder was not in possession of the premises in pursuance to the agreement for sale but was in possession as licensee or tenant. A minor had half share in the property and the Court had refused permission to sell his share. The agreement holder was not ready to purchase another half share. Thus he was not ready to perform his part of the contract. He was not entitled to protection under S. 53-A. (25)

After taking possession in pursuance of the agreement, the agreement holder need not take any steps for specific performance of the contract. On the contrary he tampered with the agreement by adding a clause in it. Thus he was not ready and willing to perform his part of the contract. Therefore the vendor was entitled to forfeit the advance, recover possession and claim damages (26)

Where the agreement holder was not in possession of necessary funds, nor tried to get sale deed executed within stipulated time and there was absence of evidence to prove her readiness and willingness, she was not entitled for specific performance of the agreement of sale (27)

The same bundle of facts constitute a valid defence under S. 53-A and a right to seek specific performance under the Specific Relief Act.

Where the vendee refused to pay interest as provided in the agreement, he was not ready and willing to perform his part of the contract. He was therefore not entitled to protection under S. 53A. (28)

In a suit for specific performance filed by the agreement holder, the only relief granted by the Court was refund of earnest money paid by him to vendor and the decree for specific performance was denied. The vendor refunded earnest money. In such circumstances the agreement holder was not entitled to defend possession under S. 53A taking recourse to the same agreement on which he had filed suit wherein specific performance was not granted. Thus the vendor was entitled to recover possession. (29)

21. 1998 (2) Mah LR 738 (751) (Bom).

22. 1999 AIHC 2958 (2963) : 1998 (6) Andh LT 40.

23. 1998 (3) Mad LJ 302 (303)

24. 1999 AIHC 2958 (2962) : 1998 (6) Andh LT 40.

25. 1997 (2) Rec Civ R 564 (566) (Punj & Har).

26. 2000 (2) MPLJ 140 (147).

27. 2000 AIHC 62 (67) (Mud).

28. 2002 (3) Andh LD 253 (261).

29. ILR (2002) 3 Kant 3713 (3716)

In a suit for possession by vendor where the vendee filed a suit for specific performance only to counter the claim of possession had paid a very small amount at the time of agreement of sale did not offer any amount during 8 years nor had sufficient means to pay the balance amount he could be said to be ready and willing and was not entitled to protection under S. 53-A (30)

Various documents executed contemporaneously in the instant case showed that it was not a mere construction agreement but was nothing short of the sale. The land had received full consideration. Even if the remedy of the builder to file suit for specific performance got barred by limitation, his right was not extinguished. It could not be said that the builder was not ready and willing to perform his part of the contract as only things required to be done were to get the property mortgaged in his name and to have title deed registered (31)

Where the vendee was not ready to make payment in terms of the contract, did not get the sale deed prepared and never called upon the vendor to execute it nor filed any suit for specific performance, he cannot be said to be ready and willing and is not entitled to protection under S. 53-A. The vendor was therefore entitled to recover possession (32)

Even assuming that a party began to possess suit property in his own right presumably in terms of S. 53A, the same loses all its significance in view of the fact that on his own showing he was not ready and willing to perform his part of the contract in terms of the agreement. Thus he cannot take advantage thereof (33)

Where the defendant denied that he was a tenant and alleged that his possession was in pursuance to agreement for sale but never pleaded in his written statement that he had performed or was ready and willing to perform his part of the agreement, S. 53-A would not be attracted (34)

Where the vendee in possession of the premises in pursuance of an agreement stopped paying monthly instalments, he could not claim protection under S. 53-A (35)

Where the vendee offered to pay consideration provided the vendor first clears his income tax arrears, the willingness of the vendee is not unconditional. He is therefore not entitled to benefit of S. 53-A. (36)

Where the mortgagee is already in possession of property in respect of which agreement for sale is executed; no condition is incorporated in the agreement to put mortgagee in possession as owner, balance consideration was never paid and it was not proved that the mortgagee was ready and willing to perform his part of the contract, the doctrine of part performance would not be applicable. (37)

Where the petitioner claimed that he deposited certain amount with Municipal Committee in part performance of contract for sale but nothing was brought on record to indicate that the Municipal Committee ever executed a written contract to transfer land in favour of petitioner, he could not invoke S. 53A. (38)

After inviting tenders a person was allotted a shop on lease by B F S T Undertaking. He took possession after making deposit of requisite amount but did not execute registered agreement of lease, nor paid compensation regularly. Held that he neither performed nor was willing to perform

30. 2002 AIHC 2973 : 29002 (3) Andh LD 337

31. 2001 (60) DRJ 738 (748).

32. 2002 (1) Orissa LR 303 (307)

33. 1990 BLJR 915 (921).

34. 1985 (2) Cur LC 451 (453) (Punj & Har.)

35. AIR 1989 SC 606 (610) : (1989) 1 SCC 76.

36. AIR 1995 Ker 249 (251).

37. AIR 1993 Ker 335 (339)

38. AIR 1994 Punj & Har 175 (179) : (1994) 3 Pun LR 186

his part of the contract. Consequently he could not claim protection under S 53A (39)

12. Section applies only if the contract or transfer is invalid for want of completion in the prescribed manner.

The words "the contract though required to be registered, or" occurring in S 53-A are deleted by the Central Amendment Act 48 of 2001 (See Note 1A ante). Therefore where the agreement to sell immovable property is executed after the commencement of the Central Act 48 of 2001 but is unregistered, the agreement holder will not be entitled to protection under S 53-A.

Cases prior to Amendment Act 48 of 2001

The section has no application where the contract to transfer or the instrument of transfer is invalid on any ground other than that it was not completed in the manner prescribed by the law for the time being in force. Where the flaw in the transferee's position is not a defect of form or the absence of some formality, normally necessary, but is one which apart from form, renders the transaction unenforceable, the equitable doctrine of part performance is not applicable. (1) Section 53A postulates taking possession of property or continuing in possession of property in part performance of the contract only in lawful manner. Section does not give protection where possession is taken in a manner contrary to the law in force. Invalid and unlawful possession is not safeguarded under S 53A (2). Thus, the doctrine of part performance does not apply to the following cases:

- (1) An agreement to transfer land to a legal practitioner which is void under S 28 of the Legal Practitioners Act (3)
- (2) Transfer of spes successionis void under S. 6(a) (4)
- (3) Contract infringing S 114(1) read with S 115 of the Cantonments Act (1924) (5)

39. 1981 MCC 134 (136) (Bom).

Section 53-A — Note 12

1. AIR 1981 Andh Pra 38 (41) (1980) 2 Andh WR 197 (DB) (An agreement to sell vacant land in urban area cannot be specifically enforced after coming into force of A P Act 12 of 1972 — Doctrine of part performance does not apply)  AIR 1977 (NOC) 231 (Andh Pra)  AIR 1968 Mad 294 (298) (1968) 1 Mad LJ 249 (DB)  (1954) Madh BLJ (HCR) 1450 (1454) (There being no sanction of Subha for sale as required by Land Revenue and Tenancy Act)  ILR (1954) Mad 537 (564) (DB) (Two out of three trustees selling property — There is no valid contract, the foundation upon which the doctrine of part performance could be rested)  ILR (1954) Madh Bha 162-166 (DB) (Transfer by sale of agricultural holding effected without Subha's sanction is null and void under S 45(2), Indore Land Revenue and Tenancy Act (1931) — S 53A cannot apply)  AIR 1947 Nag 188 (191) ILR (1946) Nag 991 (Section 53A predicates a valid contract — A contract of a type which could be specifically enforced. As a contract by a guardian to sell a minor's immovable property is one which the law does not recognise, the section cannot apply to such a contract)  AIR 1933 Mad 364 (366) (A contract against a minor)  AIR 1929 Rang 181 (181) (DB)  AIR 1927 Nag 177 (179)

[See also AIR 1956 Punj 181 (185) ILR (1956) Punj 1279 (DB) (Contract statutorily barred — Section not applicable)  AIR 1954 Pat 41 (42) (Where the instrument of transfer is a registered one and there is no defect in it according to the law in force at the time of its execution, the section has no application.)]

2. 1988 (1) Mad LW 532 (535)
3. AIR 1930 Pat 61 (62) (DB)
4. AIR 1933 Pat 165 (172) (DB).

[See also AIR 1980 Andh Pra 89 : (1979) 2 Andh WR 247 (DB).]

5. AIR 1974 Andh Pra 240 (244, 245) : ILR (1973) Andh Pra 994 (FB)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 859 (861) (DB)

- (4) Transfer in violation of the provisions of local Tenancy laws(6)
- (5) An agreement to sell agricultural land executed without obtaining sanction under S. 43 of the Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act, 1948 is invalid and the possession handed over to transferee on strength of such invalid agreement is also invalid and is not protected under S. 53A(7).
- (6) Agreement in violation of S. 47(2) of the Punjab Municipal Act (3 of 1911)(8)
- (7) Where the parties executed unregistered sale deed without prior permission of the competent authority the sale is void. Benefit under S. 53A could not be claimed on basis of such void transaction(9)
- (8) Where an unregistered sale deed is executed without prior permission of competent authority, the transaction is void and therefore the transferee cannot claim benefit under S. 53A on basis of possession(10).

In the undermentioned cases(11) it has been held that a defendant can defend his possession of agricultural lands by availing of the provisions of this section by showing that he was placed in possession by the plaintiff himself, and although such a person cannot claim title in view of the prohibition of alienation under S. 47 of the Hyderabad Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act, he can nonetheless use the contract of sale in support of plea of estoppel which is not denied by reason of S. 47 of the said Act.

Doctrine of part performance is applicable to agreements which though required to be registered are not registered, and to cases where transfer is not completed in a manner required by law unless such a non-compliance with the procedure results in the transfer being void. However, where a vendor agrees to sell his share of property including Sir land, there is an implied term in the contract, that he will apply for sanction to the revenue authorities necessary for such transfers, then it cannot be said that such an agreement is void because no sanction has been obtained(12)

6. AIR 1974 Andh Pra 240 : ILR (1973) Andh Pra 994 (FB) Agreement for sale of service Inam land without permission of Tahsildar as contemplated by S. 5 of Madras Village Offices Act (3 of 1895) is void.  AIR 1982 Andh Pra 1 (6) (1981) 2 Andh WR 348 (FB)  (1982) 2 Bom CR 18 (21)  AIR 1981 Gau 25  AIR 1978 Andh Pra 242 (1978) 1 APLJ (HC) 202 (DB) (1969) 2 Andh WR 31  (1976) 2 APLJ 103 and S A No 450 of 1976 D. 2-9-1972 (Andh Pra) Overruled.  1973 MPJ 76  AIR 1970 Andh Pra 19 (DB) (Case under A.P. (Telangana) Area and Tenancy & Agricultural Lands Act)  (1963) 2 Mys LJ 146-147. (Where agricultural land is sold in contravention of S. 47(1) of the Hyderabad Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act which requires previous sanction of the Collector, the purchaser cannot invoke the provisions of S. 53A of the Transfer of Property Act to defeat the claim for possession of land by a person claiming proprietary rights therein)  ILR (1959) 9 R 271 (274) (DB) (Case under Bihar State Tenancy Act S. 20)  ILR (1954) Madh B. 62 (DB) (Transfer by sale of agricultural holding effected without Subha's sanction as required under S. 42 Indore Land Revenue and Tenancy Act (1931) is null and void.  AIR 1949 Pat 464 (465) 28 Pat 351 (Case under Bihar Tenancy Act (8 of 1885), S. 26A).

[But see ILR (1974) Andh Pra 119 (125) (DB)  AIR 1977 Mys 121 (125-126) (1971) 2 Mys LJ 179 (1963) 2 Mys LJ 146 and (1970) 1 Mys LJ 16. Held no longer good law in view of AIR 1964 SC 978 and AIR 1970 SC 546)  (1969) 2 Andh WR 5.]

7. 1995 (1) Mah LJ 80 (85) (Bom).
8. AIR 1959 Punj 220 (221) : ILR (1958) Punj 210  AIR 1956 Punj 181 (183) : ILR (1956) Punj 1279 (DB)
9. AIR 1994 Orissa 26 (29) : (1994) 2 Cur CC 234.
10. AIR 1994 Orissa 26 (29) : (1994) 2 Cur CC 234
11. AIR 1973 Mys 307 (308) (DB) (1973) 2 Mys LJ 94 (DB)  AIR 1963 Andh Pra 232 (234)
12. 1983 Tax LR 488 (493) : 1983 Pat LJ 195 (DB)

Unregistered document affecting immovable property can be received as evidence of part performance (13) An agreement of sale is required to be registered in Rajasthan Where the plaintiff is in possession of property in pursuance to an unregistered agreement, it does not create an active title or interest in him over the land but create only an estoppel to defend his possession in a suit filed for his eviction (14) Section 53A does not confer a right on a transferee to move an application for temporary injunction under O 34, Rr 1, 2, CPC in a suit for specific performance on the basis of an unregistered agreement for sale which requires compulsory registration in Rajasthan (15) The agreement in the instant case specifically provided for giving on lease a newly constructed building for 10 years It was signed by transferor/lessor and its terms and conditions were ascertainable with reasonable certainty The vendee was in possession of the building in pursuance of the said agreement He was ready and willing to perform his part of the contract Thus the agreement though was not registered was admissible as evidence of part performance and the lessee was entitled to protect its possession. (16)

The non-registration of the agreement of sale has no import on the validity of the agreement relationship between the parties and maintainability of the suit Transferee of flat in possession under agreement of sale is entitled to protection under S 53A, notwithstanding that the agreement is unregistered (17) The document which is not necessarily registrable can be at the option of the executant got registered also, but by act of registration the nature of the document would not change as is clear from S 53A that at the time of agreement to sell entire consideration money can be paid and even possession can be delivered but such a document which is just an agreement of sell would not become a sale deed merely because it is registered (18) Where a deed of transfer has been executed though in violation of the law prescribing for a previous sanction or subsequent validation by a Competent Authority and though not registered would still attract the applicability of the doctrine of part performance (19) Partition of property does not amount to transfer and therefore the doctrine of part performance does not apply to an unregistered deed of partition (20)

Where as per the agreement for sale the purchaser was permitted to enter the properties for the limited purpose of forming lay out etc and the manner in which a line was added in the agreement after its execution revealed interpolation and reciting passing of possession to purchaser, thereby entitling him to claim part performance, the same being material alteration, the purchaser would not claim specific performance of the agreement. (21)

Agreement for sale of minor's property was executed subject to condition of permission of the Court Possession was handed over to agreement holder, since permission of Court was condition precedent and such permission was not obtained, there was no question of specifically enforcing the agreement There was no valid agreement and therefore the possession of vendee was not lawful Doctrine of part performance could not therefore be invaded (22)

Where an agreement for execution of mortgage of property was entered into with a stipulation of transfer of possession to mortgagee for a limited period, subsequent non-execution of mortgage

13. 1997 (1) LJR 106 (109) (Punj & Har.)

14. 1999 (1) Land LR 357 (363) · 1998 (1) Raj LW 440

15. 1991 (5) Rajasthan LR 357 (363).

16. 1999 (1) Rent CR 542 (548) (Punj & Har).

17. 1984 (2) Bom CR 544 (560)

18. 1992 (2) Land LR 147 (151) (Punj & Har.)

19. 1988 MPLJ 781 (784).

20. AIR 1988 Delhi 13 (18) : (1987) 13 DRJ 248

21. AIR 1992 Mad 80 (88) : (1991) 181 Mad LJ 249

22. 1985 (1) Mad LJ 407 (416)

deed by mortgagor, does not entitle the mortgagee to continue in possession beyond stipulated period by invoking doctrine of part performance under S 53A (23)

See also the undermentioned cases(24)

13. Transferor debarred from enforcing his right to the property.

It has been seen in Note 1 that under the English law, a transferee under a parol contract which has been partly performed, can either as plaintiff or as a defendant claim relief on the basis of a valid transfer. The right conferred by this section is a right on the part of the transferee to plead in defence that the transferor is debarred from enforcing any right in respect of the property transferred(1). As was observed by the Privy Council in Probodh Kumar v Dantmara Tea Co (2) the right conferred by

23. AIR 1993 Ker 242 (246) : 1993 (1) Ker LJ 528

24. AIR 1981 (NOC) 128 (All) (Possession taken in pursuance of unregistered lease deed for 3 years — S 53A is attracted)  1995 Tax LR 65 (69) (Raj) (Where sale deed is executed possession of the property was transferred to vendee and he also received income from the property transferred to him, the vendor would not be liable to tax in respect of income from the said property merely because registration of the sale deed was made long after its execution. Transferee would be liable to tax in respect of the income received by him by invoking principle of part performance)  1979 UPLT (NOC) 50 (1980 UPLR) 4 (Possession of tenant unauthorised in view of S 38 of U.P. Rent Act 1927. — Tenant cannot seek protection of S 53A in suit for eviction by purchaser)  AIR 1968 Andh Pra 315 (519) (1968) 2 Andh WR 267 (Where the illegal purpose of an agreement contravening the provisions of a statute carried out in full, exception of locus paenitentiae does not apply — the Court will not render any assistance in the recovery of the money even if there is a part performance of the illegal contract)  AIR 1969 Mad 191 (200) 11 R (1968) 5 Mad 55 (A person inducted into possession without his transferor having right in law to do so cannot claim benefit of S 53A)  AIR 1967 Cal 423 (428) (Lease on annual rent of Rs. 3,200 executed by only the chairman who is one of the Commissioners of the Municipality and not bearing their common seal — Transaction is not transfer at all since it contravenes the mandatory provisions of S 103 of the Bengal Municipal Act — Transaction is, therefore, not saved by S 53A)  AIR 1956 Cal 18 (22) (Contract with Corporation — Statutory provisions viz Ss 67 and 68 Calcutta Municipal Act (3 of 1923) regarding agreement not complied with — Agreement is invalid and not binding on either party notwithstanding that there has been part performance of the contract)  AIR 1951 Hyd 42 (44) (DB) (Sale of immovable property of a value less than one hundred rupees is complete by delivery of the property in spite of there being an unregistered deed of sale. Where therefore the transferee's claim is that he has become the owner of such a property which he claims for himself by virtue of a contract of sale and delivery of property S 53A has no application)  AIR 1930 Mad 298 (301) (DB) (The doctrine cannot be used to complete a transaction against an idol of a temple or a cestui que trust or a minor against whom it cannot be regarded as operative)  AIR 1929 Rang 335 (338) (DB)  (1934) 18 RD 654 (655) (Landlord and tenant — Suit in ejectment — Compromise — Tenant paying nazarana and landlord promising never to eject tenant — Omission to register or record compromise — Doctrine of part performance applies.)

Section 53-A — Note 13

1. 1981 Tax LR 215 (219) 1981 UPTC 61 (DB)  AIR 1954 Mad 702 (703)

[See also AIR 1957 Bom 31 (33) 11 R (1956) Bom 594 (Agreement to sell by A in favour of B accompanied by delivery of possession — Price received by A towards such agreement is not debt — A cannot under guise of application for adjustment of debts under S 24 Bombay Agricultural Debtors Relief Act claim to recover possession contrary to provisions of S 53A, T.P. Act)  (1982) 2 Kan LJ 300 (300) (In a suit by transferee for declaration of title and possession of suit property it is not open to the transferor to take the plea of part performance on ground that she continued in possession)]

2. AIR 1940 PC 1 (2) : 66 Ind App 293. (On appeal from 41 Cal WN 54)  1998 (4) Rec Civ R 659 (660) (Punj & Har).

the section is one available only to the defendant to protect his possession (3) The section imposes a statutory bar on the transferor and does not confer any active title or right of action on the transferee. Thus, it is not possible for a person who is entitled to the benefit of the section to bring a suit as

3. See also the following cases :

AIR 1978 Pat 172 1978 BLJR 32 (FB). (Proceeding under the Bihar Money Lenders Act before the Collector for ejectment of the mortgagee — He can invoke the doctrine of part performance to resist ejectment alleging a contract of sale prior to the Act)  AIR 1974 Mad 47 (1974) 2 Mad LJ 533 (Suit for eviction under the Rent Act — Plea of part performance is available to the tenant)  AIR 1976 Andh Pra 395 (1976) 2 Andh WR 133 (DB) (The right is not available against non-alienating coparcener who is not a party to the agreement) AIR 1975 Andh Pra 250 Reversed; AIR 1926 Bom 399 Dissented from  (1970) 74 Cal WN 355 (Agreement for exchange of properties situate in East Pakistan on the one hand and in Hindusthan on the other with a further agreement to execute proper sale deed — Possession of the properties was given to each party — Dispute arising in Hindusthan regarding the Indian properties — Person in possession can defend it under S 53A)  (1968) 2 MLJ 574  1968 Raj LW 334  1967 BLJR 52. (Tenant in possession under an unregistered lease is protected by special equity created by this section)  AIR 1967 Bom 34 (36) ILR (1966) Bom 291  1960 MPLJ (Notes) 137  AIR 1959 Andh Pra 568 (570) (DB)  AIR 1959 Mad 354 (355) ILR (1959) Mad 296. After the introduction of S 53A a defendant in a suit for ejectment is entitled to rely upon his contract for transfer provided the conditions of the section are fulfilled)  AIR 1957 Bom 138 (141) ILR (1958) Bom 556 (DB)  AIR 1956 Pun 181 (185) ILR (1956) Punj 1274 (DB)  AIR 1955 Nag 306 (310) ILR (1956) Nag 10 (DB) (The protection given by this section to the defendant in possession cannot by analogy be extended to the transferor)  AIR 1955 Punj 22 (24) ILR (1955) 122 (DB)  AIR 1955 Pun 252 (253) ILR (1955) Pun 1242  ILR (1953) Madh Bha 303 (312) (Mortgagee in possession under an invalid mortgage can retain possession until the mortgage debt is paid off)  AIR 1950 Cal 23 (27) ILR (1950) 2 Cal 443 (DB) (Transferee's possession is protected against any challenge to it by the transferor contrary to tenor of the contract or the instrument of transfer)  AIR 1940 Nag 115 (116) (DB) (Section 53A does not entitle a person to sue — it only enables him to defend his rights to possession)  AIR 1945 All 422 (423) ILR (1945) All 910 (DB) (Section 53A can be used as shield not as offensive weapon — Plaintiff cannot avail of Section 53A)  AIR 1939 Cal 163 (165) ILR (1938) 2 Cal 528 (DB) (Section 53A applies to a contract to transfer occupancy holdings which has not been completed in the manner prescribed by S 26C of the Bengal Tenancy Act)  AIR 1938 Mad 746 (748) (Only in exceptional cases as a suit for specific performance doctrine of part performance can be invoked by plaintiff)  AIR 1937 Mad 638 (639)  AIR 1937 Pesh 58 (60) (DB) (A Mahomedan executed a dower deed in favour of his wife — Deed was not registered — Wife brought a suit for a declaration of ownership of property on the basis of the dower deed, against the mortgagee of the property the mortgage being executed by her husband — Held, that if the mortgagee be considered as the representative of the mortgagor he was not enforcing any right against the wife but was only defending his right against the suit brought by her — On the other hand if the mortgagee was not claiming under the mortgagor he was protected by the proviso to Section 53A)  (1982) 28 Cur Tax Rep 158 (163) (DB) (Guj) (Receipt of part of the price and parting of possession does not divest the person of his title nor does the purchaser acquire any title over the property)

(See also AIR 1966 Madh Pra 307 (311) (DB) (Transferee of a person who in his turn has got title by part performance protected by S 53A)  AIR 1966 Mys 86 (89) ILR (1963) Mys 1109 (Contract to sell — Payment of earnest money and vendee put in possession — Contract failing through for non-payment of price — Suit for possession by vendor — Concurrent finding that defendant was always willing to perform his part of contract — Finding being one of fact cannot be challenged in second appeal — Absence of specific plea of plaintiff for the purpose of enforcing his right to the property(4) As observed by the learned Judges part performance in written statement — S 53A can be availed of in second appeal) * AIR 1957 Manipur 32 (33) (Where facts constituting the defence of part performance have been pleaded without specific reference to the benefit under S 53A of T.P. Act the plea has to be entertained)  AIR 1955 Madh Bha 49 (52) (DB) (Written statement stating facts necessary to entitle plea of defence of part performance — Absence of express reference to S 53A in taking the plea — Relief under the section cannot be denied)  AIR 1955 Madh Bha 93 (95) (The defendant claiming the benefit of the doctrine of part performance must raise the plea in his written statement)  AIR 1952 Nag 244 (245) ILR (1949) Nag 959 (Upon the enforceability of the contract. Whether a contract is specifically enforceable or not is not a matter which must be taken into consideration for granting relief under the section))

4. AIR 1977 SC 2425 · 1977 (1 J (SC) 629 : AIR 1996 SC 1088 (1089, 1090) · 1996 AIR SCW 615 · (1996) 7 SCC 690  AIR 1968 SC 794 (798) · (1968) 2 SCJ 614  AIR 1966 SC 1438 (1440)  1948 (3) Mad LJ 312 (303)  ILR (1948) Kant 84 (3854) (The doctrine cannot be invoked for enforcing rights under unregistered lease)  1982 Tax LR 699 (702) (1982) 133 ITR 55 (DB) (Guj)  AIR 1981 (1) 243 (245) (1981) 33 Guj LR 866  1981 MP Rent CJ 204 (209, 210)  AIR 1981 Mad 310 (1981) 11 NJ 189 (DB)  AIR 1980 Guhati 44  1978 All LJ (NOC) 44  (1976) 3 C 1 HN 592 (DB)  1976 Tax LR 547 (554) 103 ITR 455 (DB) (Delh)  AIR 1975 Guj 27 (28) (Lessee in possession under an unregistered lease deed is entitled to prove his possession as a lessee by producing the document for purpose of S 53A)  AIR 1973 Pat 247 (248, 249) 1978 BLJR 703  AIR 1972 R 183 (1972) Raj LW 103 (S 53A of Jampur Transfer of Property Act does not give a right of action by a suit including a so-called defensive suit for restoration of possession forcibly taken by the transferor)  AIR 1970 Guj 125 (125 to 127) 10 Guj LR 950 (DB)  (1970) 72 Pun LR 438  (1968) 9 Guj LR 439  (1968) 2 Mad LJ 574  (1967) 2 ITJ 899 · (1967) 65 ITR 67 (DB) (Bom)  AIR 1964 Raj 11 (12) ILR (1963) 3 Raj 832  AIR 1964 Cal 235 (238) (Reversed on another point by AIR 1980 SC 226)  AIR 1961 Punj 378 (383) ILR (1961) 2 Panj 293 (DB) (In a suit brought by the buyer for the return of the price paid by him to the seller who has agreed to sell his house to the buyer and put the buyer in possession of the house, the doctrine of part performance cannot be availed of by the seller as it does not furnish a cause of action of the claim by him to obtain the full price of the house agreed to be paid to him) AIR 1940 PC and AIR 1956 Punj 181 Rel. on.  (1961) MPIJ 67 (65) (Unregistered sale by A in favour of B — Gift by B in favour of C — Suit by C against A for possession on allegation of dispossession — C being plaintiff cannot advance plea of part performance under S 53A, but can succeed only if he can prove oral sale accompanied by delivery of possession in favour of B)  AIR 1957 Hyd 37 (40) ILR (1956) Hyd 703 (DB) (When the right to remain on the property can be defended against the true owner, a mere trespasser by show of force cannot defeat such a right)  AIR (1956) Panj 181 (185) ILR (1956) Panj 279 (DB) (Tenant cannot apply for fixation of fair rent)  AIR 1955 Nag 306 (311) ILR (1956) Nag 1 (DB) (AIR 1949 Nag 410 appears to be no good law) Ed.  AIR 1954 Mad 702 (703)  AIR 1954 Pepsu 42 (43) ILR (1953) Patana 319 (Doctrine of part performance does not enable a person who has lost possession to sue for recovery of it)  AIR 1951 Pat 160 (164) (DB) (Section 53A gives no right to the plaintiff to come for suit as a plaintiff either to maintain his possession or to recover possession if dispossessed) AIR 1939 All 611, Diss.  AIR 1949 Pat 464, 465 28 Pat 351 (DB) (Provisions of S 53A T.P. Act cannot be availed of by the plaintiff who has to prove his title in a suit for ejectment)  AIR 1949 Nag 389 (394) ILR (1949) Nag 849 (DB)  AIR 1949 Assam 8 (10) ILR (1949) 1 Assam 29 (DB) (Section does not create title. It only bars plaintiff asserting title)  AIR 1948 Cal 147 (149) (A transferee in possession under a contract of sale cannot avail himself of the provisions of S 53A in a suit for specific performance of the contract)  AIR 1947 Pat 424 (426) 25 Pat 764 (DB) (The section does not confer any title on the transferee. It can be used not for attack but only in defence and that only in defence only against the transferor or any person claiming under him)  AIR 1946 A 476 (480) (DB) (Un-registered partition deed acted upon — It is doubtful whether a party of the Chief Court of Oudh in the undermentioned cases(5).

"the section cannot be used as a weapon of attack -- it confers upon the transferee the privilege of invoking the doctrine, embodied therein only as a shield against any invasion of his rights by the transferor or persons claiming under him (6)"

Thus where the owner has filed a suit for permanent injunction simpliciter and the defendant advances a plea in his defence that he came into possession of the disputed land as a result of part performance of the written contract entered into by the parties, and he is continuing in possession of the same. This is a valid defence in the eye of law in view of the statutory provisions of S 53A (7)

It has been held that in land acquisition proceedings in the role of the Government which is acquiring the land is that of a plaintiff and the role of the claimant who is in possession of the land is that of a defendant and the claim can therefore rely on this section(8).

The defendant who is protected under this section does not lose the protection merely because he obtains a registered transfer from the transferor subsequently (9) can file suit on basis of it for declaration that he has become the owner of the property (Quere)  AIR 1945 All 422 (423) ILR (1945) All 910 (DB)  AIR 1945 Pat 124 (125) 23 Pat 645 (DB) (Sale of occupancy holding — Sale deed not registered — Vendee subsequently dispossessed — Vendee cannot maintain a suit for ejectment as he has no title deed in his favour)  1942 Nag LJ 353 (354) (Section 53A confers no title but merely raises defence. Hence a plaintiff claiming possession will fail unless she can pray in aid S 41 of the Act)  AIR 1942 Mad 125 (127) (He cannot sue for possession)  AIR 1940 Oudh 409 (410) 16 Luck 191 (DB)  AIR 1940 Nag 113 (116) ILR (1941) Nag 386 (DB)  AIR 1939 All 504 (507)  AIR 1937 Nag 74 (76) ILR (1936) Nag 115 (DB) (Distinction between S 53A T P Act and S 27A Specific Relief Act Discussed)  AIR 1936 Pat 372 (378) 15 Pat 460 (DB) (Part performance does not convey title to transferee — Reversed on another point in AIR 1938 PC 20)  (1941) 45 Cal WN 132 (136) (DB) (Title can only be transferred in the manner provided by the T P Act read with the Registration Act, because S 53A only gives a right of defence to the defendant in possession in part performance of the contract)

[See also AIR 1957 Bom 236 (238) ILR (1957) Bom 769 (Vendee in possession entitled to rights conferred by S 53A — That does not make him transferee of property)  AIR 1954 Pepsu 133 (135) ILR (1953) Panala 508 (DB) (Part performance not proof of factum of sale)  AIR 1951 Nag 403 (406) ILR (1950) Nag 25 (Mere fact that agreement along with fact of possession can be availed of for resisting dispossession does not bring into existence a transfer.)]

[But see AIR 1934 Rang 284 (286) (V transferred property to L and put him in possession — There was no registered deed — L transferred his right to P — P being unable to obtain possession sued D who was a purchaser by oral agreement from V — Held, that P was entitled to sue — Submitted not correct.)]

5. AIR 1944 Oudh 212 (218) 19 Luck 565 (DB) (Affirming AIR 1940 Oudh 1)
6. AIR 1955 Nag 302 (304) : ILR (1955) Nag 833 (FB)  AIR 1981 Mad 310 (311) 1981 TLNJ 189 (DB)  AIR 1959 Andh Pra 534 (536) ILR (1959) Andh Pra 547 (DB)  AIR 1956 Ajmer 22 (23) (Section 53A can be used only as a shield and not as a sword)  (1952) 2 Cal 135 (136) (DB)  AIR 1949 Kutch 13 (14, 15) (It cannot be used as a weapon of offence to recover possession even from the contractor, still less can it be used to recover possession from a person who does not claim from the contractor)
7. 1998 AIHC 2461 (2467) (Raj)
8. ILR (1960) 2 All 71 (90) (DB)
9. AIR 1951 Pat 613 (617) (DB) (Unregistered agreement by A to grant lease to B — D entering into possession — C who had notice of agreement taking lease of same property — C suing A for specific performance and obtaining decree — Subsequently A executing

Suppose a transferee under a contract of transfer takes possession of the property in part performance of the contract the property is sought to be taken in execution of a decree for ejectment previously obtained by the transferor against a third person. The transferee raises objections in the execution proceedings but does not succeed and is deprived of possession. Then he sues under O. 21, R. 103 of the Civil Procedure Code for getting rid of the order in execution proceedings and recovering back possession of the property. Is he entitled to succeed, relying on the provisions of this section? It has been held by the Chief Court of Oudh in the undermentioned case (10) that the transferee can rely on this section in such a case because he is only defending his possession. The decision proceeds on the ground that the words of the section do not warrant a conclusion that the plaintiff as such is necessarily debarred from the benefit of the rule. It was observed:

"Where by the nature of the case—as disclosed by the pleadings or otherwise—it is apparent that the transferee comes to Court to defend his possession against the invasion of it by the transferor he is entitled to invoke the equitable doctrine herein embodied. The present suit under O. 21, R. 103 Civil Procedure Code is of that nature, being in our opinion practically a continuation of the proceedings before the execution Court, wherein the transferor and his representative succeeded in ejecting Mr. Firdaus Jahan from possession which she had originally taken in pursuance of the contract of purchase."

The trend of remarks in the judgment of the Oudh Chief Court referred to above seems to imply that a transferee may come to Court to defend his possession against acts of aggression on the part of the transferor or his representative whatever form such aggression may take. Thus the decision of the Allahabad High Court in Ram Chandra v. Maharaj Kunwar (11) is referred to apparently with approval. In that case, the transferor's acts of aggression were not in the form of any legal proceedings. The transferor was trying to disturb the transferee's possession otherwise than in due course of law and the transferee brought a suit for an injunction restraining him from interfering with his possession. It was held that the suit was but a form of defence by the transferee to the invasion of his rights by the transferor and as such was competent under this section. Again, in distinguishing the Privy Council decision in Probodh Kumar Das v. Dantimara Tea Company (12) already referred to, the Court points out that there had been no "obstruction" to the transferee in the enjoyment of his rights under the transfer.

The Oudh and Allahabad view has been followed in the following cases (13) but has been registered lease in favour of B — B filing suit against C for injunction restraining C from executing decree against him.)

10. AIR 1944 Oudh 212 (218, 219) 19 Luck 565 (DB) (Affirming AIR 1940 Oudh 15 Luck 43.)

11. AIR 1939 All 611 (613) 11LR (1939) All 809 (DB)

12. AIR 1940 PC 1 (2) : 66 Ind App 293.

13. (1982) 1 APLJ 176 (186)  (1978) 80 Bom LR 315  1978 MJB 11 332, 349;  1976 2 Andh WR 117; (1976) 1 APLJ 312 (DB)  1971 All WR (HC) 528  AIR 1917 Orissa 41, 43, 44, 36 Cut LT 6, 3  AIR 1967 Bom 34, 37; 11LR (1966) Bom 29; (AIR 1957 Orissa 143 and AIR 1943 Mad 706 Diss. from.)  11LR (1960) 2 All 71, 90 (DB) (Even assuming that the claimant in land acquisition proceedings is in the position of a plaintiff he would still be entitled to fall back on S. 53A. AIR 1944 Oudh 212 Relied on)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 859 (860, 861) (DB) (Protection is available to the transferee both as a plaintiff and as a defendant so long as he uses it as a shield. AIR 1957 AP 854 Followed)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 854 (855, 858) 11LR (1956) Andh (119) (DB) (S. 53A can be invoked by the transferee both as a defendant and as a plaintiff)  AIR 1956 Ameer 22 (24)  AIR 1956 Cal 350 (352) (DB)  AIR 1954 Mad 702 (703) (In cases under Rules 63 and 103 of O. 21 of Civil PC the plaintiff transferee comes to court to defend his possession against the invasion of it by the transferor)  AIR 1953 Ajmer 19 (21) (The word defendant means a person who pleads S. 53A for defending his possession against the transferor and hence a plaintiff can invoke the aid of S. 53A)  AIR 1953 Ajmer 47 (48)  AIR 1982 A 444 (425)  AIR 1982 All 304 (307) (Plaintiff having valid title to land — Defendant obstruct-dissented from in the undermentioned decisions (14)

Where during the pendency of a suit for specific performance, the transferee made an application for temporary injunction for an interim relief to protect his possession from interference of the transferor and obstruction to the peaceful enjoyment of property, such an application cannot be treated as an application for relief of injunction as provided by S 53-A of the Transfer of Property Act. Such an application is solely governed either by the Order 39, Rr 1 and 2 of Civil PC or in the alternative by invoking the inherent powers of the Court under S 151 of the Civil PC (15)

Where there is an agreement in writing and possession is with the agreement holder, it has to be prima facie concluded that his possession is in pursuance to an agreement for sale and in part performance of the agreement for sale, when he has also spent huge amount for reclamation of the property, he is entitled to injunction restraining opp. party from interfering with his possession (16)

It has been held in the undermentioned case(17) that the transferee can sue for declaration of his right to be in possession and for injunction preventing the transferor from interfering with possession. The transferor is debarred under S 53-A from enforcing his rights against the transferee. This will not only prevent the transferor from enforcing his rights through a Court of law but also from enforcing his rights outside the Court adopting means which cannot be upheld by a Court of law. When the transferee comes to Court seeking the aid of the Court to protect his possession, it is only a case of using the right conferred on him by S 53-A whether it is an equity or a right as a shield and not as a sword. It is only a right of defence that is put forward by him in the garb of a plaintiff. Thus he is entitled to injunction restraining the transferor from interfering with his possession (18). Though the principle that the right conveyed under S 53-A can be invoked as a shield and not as a sword is beyond any debate or any challenge, the mere position of a party in the heading of a joint is not the determining factor. What in essence is the nature of right claimed by the transferee as the crux of the matter. So long as the transferee relies on the provisions of S 53-A not for founding any cause of action, but only as a protection he would be entitled to do so, no matter whether he appears as a plaintiff or defendant in an action.

In a suit for specific performance by plaintiff who claimed to be in possession of property in pursuance of an agreement of sale and was admittedly in possession, the plaintiff is entitled to temporary injunction (19). Also the Bombay High Court in the undermentioned case(20) held that the transferee is entitled to resist any attempt on the part of the transferor to disturb transferee's lawful possession under the contract of sale and his position — either as a plaintiff or as a defendant should make no difference. Contrary interpretation viz. the transferee can use the shield only as a defendant and not as a plaintiff would defeat the very spirit of S 53-A, for it will be possible for an overpowering transferor to forcibly dispossess the transferee even against the covenants in the contract and compel him to go to Court as a plaintiff. Where a suit is filed by the transferee for permanent injunction against the transferor restraining him from disturbing the lawful possession over the suit land, the suit is maintainable. It cannot be said that unless and until a decree for ing him from raising construction on it — Injunction on it — Injunction against defendant could be granted — Plaintiff entitled to protect his title under S 53-A)  AIR 1982 NOC 266 (All)

14. AIR 1964 Raj 11 (13) ILR (1963) 13 Raj 832  AIR 1952 Orissa 143 (145) ILR (1949) 1 Cut 705 (DB).

15. AIR 1983 Bom 413 (415) : (1983) 1 Bom CR 374.

16. 1999 (1) Mad LW 484 (490, 495).

17. (1981) 2 Kant LJ 388 (394) (DB)  AIR 1975 Mad 25 (25, 26) (1974) 1 Mad LJ 499 (DB) (S A No 1752 of 1962 D/- 28-4-1966 (Mad), Reversed.)  (1972) 1 Mad LJ 9.

18. 1987 TN LJ 352 (356) (Mad)

19. 1984 Mah LJ 915 (918) (Bom)

20. AIR 1994 Bom 254 (256) 1994 Bom CJ 470 (AIR 1981 Mad 311, Dissented from.) specific performance of contract is passed in favour of the Transferee, he cannot file a suit against the transferor in respect of the suit property for any purpose. There may arise situations in which it would be open to a transferee coming under S. 53-A to file a suit for injunction to restrain the transferor or person claiming under him from interfering with his possession (21). But in a subsequent decision, the Bombay High Court held that the suit simpliciter to protect the possession on the basis of principles laid down under S. 53-A without claiming the relief of specific performance of contract or agreement is not tenable in law and naturally therefore, the Court is not supposed to pass any interim reliefs or interlocutory reliefs in favour of the plaintiff in such a suit (22). The Madhya Pradesh High Court held that it is well settled that a plaintiff cannot bring a suit based on doctrine of part performance in order to protect his possession. But a plaintiff in possession suing for specific performance can definitely claim a relief of permanent injunction restraining the defendant from disturbing his possession. Here the plaintiff is not relying on mere 'contract for sale' to protect his possession but claiming that contract of sale be enforced and his possession be protected by a permanent injunction. (23)

The plaintiff alleging that he was put in possession of the property in pursuance to agreement for sale in his favour filed a suit for permanent injunction restraining defendants from interfering with his possession and also filed an application for temporary injunction. He d that temporary injunction could not be granted. The plaintiff could not seek his relief of injunction based on S. 53-A, the plaintiff who has filed the suit mostly basing his claim on S. 53-A will not be entitled when his claim itself appears to be based on S. 53-A. (24)

The suit filed simpliciter for injunction where the claim is founded purely to claim protection under S. 53-A is not maintainable and such a suit is not entitled to claim relief in view of the provision of S. 41(h) of the Specific Relief Act (25). However, where the plaintiff who has entered into an agreement of sale and was delivered possession of the property in pursuance thereto and was enjoying the same, files a suit for specific performance, he can seek injunction to protect his possession under S. 53-A, provided twin principles of prima facie case and balance of convenience be adjudged in his favour. (26)

If the contract of sale is found to be prima facie genuine, the plaintiff-vendee is entitled to specific performance and in an appropriate case injunction can be granted to protect the rights of the parties by operation of S. 53-A. Each case has to be considered on its own facts. (27)

In a suit for perpetual injunction filed by the owner and also praying for temporary injunction, agreement holder is entitled to defend his possession on ground that the agreement is supported by consideration and he is in possession of the property in pursuance to the agreement prior to institution of the suit (28). In pursuance of an agreement to sale, the plaintiff vendee paid substantial part of the consideration to the vendor. The actual delivery of possession of the property was established and he continued to be in possession of the property. The vendee subsequently executed

21. 1992 (2) Bank CLR 537 (543); 1992 (2) Civ LJ 91 (Kant)

22. 1999 AHC 3785 (3787) (2000 (1) Bom CR 133) AIR 1998 Bom 296 not good law in view of 1986 (1) Bom CR 533.  1988 Mah LJ 55 (Bom). Suits simpliciter for injunction based on S. 53A not maintainable — 1986 (1) Bom CR 533, Foll.)

23. 1996 MPLJ 748 (754)

24. AIR 1986 Kant 99 (102); JLR (1986) Kant 171

25. 1988 Mah LJ 55 (58) (Bom)

26. 1989 (2) Andh LT 199 (200) (The view of the Madras HC in AIR 1958 Mad 1287 and AIR 1981 Mad 310 that in a suit for specific performance the plaintiff should not be allowed to take shelter under S. 53A and should not be granted injunction Dissented from.)

27. 1989 (3) Andh LT 498 (500)

28. 1998 AHC 2461 (2467) (Raj)

a sale deed in respect of the said property in favour of a third party. In the circumstances held that all the ingredients of S 53-A were prima facie established and therefore the plaintiff/vendee was entitled to temporary injunction against interference with his possession by third parties. That the parties contemplated execution of another document with some more terms will not invalidate the terms already agreed (29). In the following case (30) it has been held that transferee from one of the coparceners would not be able to maintain such suit against non-alienating coparceners.

Where in a suit for prohibitory injunction restraining a co-owner from transferring his share in the family dwelling house in favour of a stranger, the order granting mandatory injunction against the buyer for vacating family dwelling house was passed, the same cannot be challenged on ground that he having been in possession of suit house prior to the suit, the said situation cannot be interfered with. Section 53-A operates only against the transferor but not against a co-sharer who was not a party to the transfer nor does it have any effect of superseding S 44. The possession even if given pursuant to an agreement, does not confer any absolute right to frustrate S 44 of the Act (31).

Plaintiff alleged that he had an agreement of sale in his favour from one of the co-sharers and that in pursuance thereof he was placed in possession of a particular piece of land. He filed a suit for permanent injunction stating that he has fulfilled/was willing to perform his part of the agreement. Other co-sharers were not parties to the contract. Held, that the plaintiff was not entitled to injunction. (32)

If there are two agreements of sale of the same property - One in favour of T which was earlier and another in favour of P which was later, but P was put in possession, P is not prevented from suing T for permanent injunction (33). The agreement of sale cannot be used by the agreement holder against a subsequent purchaser, when the time to enforce the agreement of sale had lapsed and the agreement holder had not filed a suit for specific performance within limitation. His right to enforce the agreement stands extinguished. (34)

It is submitted with respect that a transferee cannot rely on this section in order to vindicate his right to possession whenever such right is invaded or threatened to be invaded by the transferor. The transferee's right under the section arises only on the transferor or his representative seeking to 'enforce' any right in respect of the property. Where the transferor does not seek to 'enforce' any right in respect of the property, the transferee has no right under the section to go to Court on his own initiative. It is conceived that the 'enforcement' contemplated by the section is enforcement by process of law. The object of the section is to provide that when the transferor seeks the assistance of the legal establishments of the Government to enforce his right to the property taking advantage of the incompleteness of the transfer under which the transferee claims possession, the latter must be in a position to defeat his attempt by invoking the special provisions of this section. In other words, the section seems to contemplate that in the proceedings started by the transferor, the provisions of this section would be an effective defence. This means, firstly, that the proceedings are legal proceedings and secondly, that the defence is to be raised in the very proceedings in which the transferee's rights are sought to be interfered with and not by proceedings aliunde. If the transferor takes the law into his own hands and tries to oust the transferee from possession by force, the transferee will not be entitled under this section to file a suit for injunction restraining the transferor from interfering with his possession. In this view, the decision of the Allahabad High Court above referred to, must be regarded as not correct. But in cases under the Civil Procedure Code, O 21, R 63

29. 1999 AIHC 112 (116) : 1998 (3) Mad LJ 398

30. AIR 1976 Andh Pra 395. (AIR 1975 Andh Pra 250, Reversed.)

31. 1996 All LJ 1300 (1304).

32. 1985 Mah LJ 84 (94).

33. AIR 1979 Mad 47 (1978) 2 Mad LJ 533  AIR 1968 Mys 32 (1967) 2 Mys LJ 77

34. 1998 (4) Rec Civ R 659 (660) (Punj & Har).

or R 103, the suits would, in reality, be part of the same proceedings as those in which the transferee's rights are attacked and so may be held to be maintainable under this section.

The words "other than a right expressly provided by the terms of the contract" show that the transferor is not debarred from enforcing rights expressly provided by the terms of the contract (35). Thus, he can, where the transfer is by way of a lease, sue for damages for breach of an agreement as provided by the terms of the lease, (36) or sue for the rent due, (37) or enforce the terms of the lease entitling him to re-enter if there is default in payment of rent (38). A contrary view has been held in the undermentioned cases, (39) where the transferor was held debarred from suing to enforce merely rights given by the contract of transfer. The expression "other than a right expressly provided by the terms of the contract" has not been adverted to in the said decisions. It is submitted that the said view is not correct.

The section has no operation against third persons. In S N Bannerji v Kachwar Linn and Stone Co Ltd (40) A leased property to B with the condition that if B transferred his interest, the lease would be forfeited. B transferred his interest to C, but without a registered instrument and gave him possession of the properties. Thereupon A purported to forfeit the lease to B and granted a fresh lease to D who sued C for ejectment. It was held that the transfer by B to C was invalid for want of registered instrument, that the lease to B therefore subsisted, that D could not invoke the aid of S 53A and claim that by reason of that section B's transfer to C was valid and that he was entitled to claim possession from C. Their Lordships observe as follows:

"The section does not operate to create a form of transfer of property which is exempt from registration. It creates no real right. It merely creates rights of estoppel between the proposed transferee and transferor, which have no operation against third persons and a claim against those persons."

35. AIR 1970 Mys 203 (204) : 1970 (1) Mys LJ 34  AIR 1962 Cal 502, 503 (Patta prov. 1, saying that transferee should not be disturbed till expiry of patta — Suit for ejectment before expiry of patta — Transferee can avail of S 53A — But after expiry of patta, transferor can enforce his right)  AIR 1953 Cal 349, 352  AIR 1941 Bom 346, 349 : ILR (1941) Bom 529 (DB) (A suit for damages cannot be founded on S 53A, Transfer of Property Act for breach of contract. Note: This view of Broomfield J. was dissented from by P. N. Mitter J. in AIR 1950 Cal 23 (28) (DB).)

36. AIR 1950 Cal 23 (28) : ILR (1950) 2 Cal 443 (DB) (Suit for damages simpliciter for breach of contract need not be rested on S 53A, T.P. Act at all. AIR 1941 Bom 346. Dissented from.)  AIR 1933 Bom 381 (184)

37. AIR 1942 Oudh 231 (236) (DB) (AIR 1933 Bom 381. Followed.)

38. AIR 1953 Cal 349 (352)

39. AIR 1954 Mad 702 (704) (The unregistered instrument will not be admissible in evidence in a case where the transferor sues to recover from the transferee arrears of rent at the enhanced rate reserved under such instrument, especially when the transferee's possession is referable to an earlier Kychit)  AIR 1945 Nag 69 (71) : ILR (1944) Nag 704 (184) (Neither under S 53-A, T.P. Act, nor under S 49 (amended) Registration Act, can a landlord recover rent from a person in possession under an unregistered lease. Part performance must be the act of the person seeking to avail himself of the equity and acts of the person sought to be charged are of no avail)  AIR 1940 Bom 281 (282) : ILR (1940) Bom 480 (Suit for rent on unregistered lease partly performed. Held not to lie)  AIR 1940 Ad 340 (341) (Transfer by way of unregistered lease — Transferor cannot sue for rent)  AIR 1939 Rang 188 (189) (Transferee under unregistered usufructuary mortgage put in possession — Transferor sued for redemption — Held that he could not sue)  AIR 1936 Nag 174 (175) (Unregistered lease partly performed — Lessor suing for possession, on expiry of lease. Held, he cannot sue)  AIR 1936 Cal 628 (629) : 62 Cal 294 (Lessor cannot claim rent from the lessee under S 53-A if the lease deed is unregistered)

[See also AIR 1955 Nag 306 (310) : ILR (1956) Nag 30 (DB) (The protection given by this section to the defendant in possession cannot by analogy be extended to the transferor)

40. AIR 1941 PC 128 (130) : 21 Pat 243.

The agreement holder was in possession of the property in pursuant to the agreement for sale in his favour. The vendor sold the said property to third party by a registered sale deed. The applicant agreement holder filed a suit for permanent injunction restraining any person from disturbing his possession. Held that it was obligatory on him to get the sale deed set aside before he could claim permanent injunction.(41)

Even if a tenure holder entered into agreement to sell certain land before the appointed day under the U P Imposition of Ceiling on Holdings Act (1 of 1961) and handed over possession to the proposed transferee, the tenure holder continues to be the owner of the land and it is includible in his holding for the purpose of computing ceiling area. The right under S 53-A to protect possession against proposed vendor cannot be pressed in service against a third party like the State when it seeks to enforce the provisions of the U P Act against the tenure holder (42)

See also the undermentioned cases to the same effect.(43)

Where a guardian contracts to transfer immovable property belonging to the minor and the transfer is completed would be binding on the minor this section will preclude the minor from enforcing his rights in respect of the property as he would be 'a transferor' within the meaning of this section.(44)

In the case of a benami transfer the real transferee can claim the benefit of the section (45)

14. "Any person claiming under him."

A person claims under another person when he is either an assignee from that person or his

41. 1997 (2) Jab LJ 138 (140) (Madh Pra).

42. AIR 1997 SC 53 (56, 57) : 1996 AIR SCW 4205 : 1996 All LJ 1904.

43. (1978) 80 Bom LR 315 (317) (The section nowhere speaks about the right of a transferee in possession as against the persons who are entirely unconnected with the transferors or persons claiming through him)  AIR 1959 Andh Pra 534 (536) ILR (1959) Andh Pra 547 (DB) (Section is based on the rule of estoppel and hence the disability attaches to a contracting party and not to any other person)  AIR 1955 Hyd 101 (102) ILR (1954) Hyd 822 (The advantage of S 53-A could be availed of only by the transferee or a person claiming under him)  AIR 1954 Pepsu 133 (135) ILR (1953) Patiala 508 (DB) (Transferee from a Hindu widow cannot avail of the doctrine against her reversioners since they are not successors-in-interest of the transferor)  AIR 1952 Orissa 143 (149) ILR (1949) 1 Cut 705 (DB) (Transferee cannot invoke S 53-A as against an attaching creditor of the transferor in a case where the creditor cannot be said to derive any right from the judgment-debtor (transferee)  1950 All WR 447 (449) (Dispute about lease between lessee and third person — Section 53-A does not apply)  AIR 1940 Oudh 409 (410) 16 Luck 191 (DB) (Section 53-A is not available in litigation between transferee and third persons)  1938 Nag LJ 123 (124)  AIR 1936 All 621 (623) (Family litigation compromised Maintenance made charge on property — Compromise embodied in decree — Charge not registered — Person not party to compromise cannot enforce charge — Doctrine of part performance as embodied in S 53-A does not apply to such a case)  AIR 1927 Oudh 482 (483) 3 Luck 107 (DB) (The doctrine of part performance is one of equitable estoppel and a third party not being privy to the transaction on which the estoppel rests can take no advantage of it. The sale even in the absence of registered deed is evidence of an effective sale by reason of the estoppel as a transaction between the vendor and the vendee but there the estoppel ends)

44. AIR 1948 PC 95 (97) : 75 Ind App 115. (Contract for sale by mother guardian on behalf of minor son — Contract within competence of guardian and for benefit of minor — Minor is transferor within meaning of section — He cannot get back possession of property from transferee who is let into it in pursuance of contract and who has performed his part of contract AIR 1944 Mad 337, Reversed.)  AIR 1951 Nag 403 (405) ILR (1950) Nag 25  AIR 1950 Orissa 217 (218) : ILR (1950) Cal 107 (DB)

45. AIR 1955 Hyd 101 (102) : ILR (1954) Hyd 822.

legal representative (1) This is the ordinary meaning of the expression "person claiming under" A person claiming under the transferor is obviously a person who claims under a title derived subsequently to the date of the transfer and not anterior to that date (2) A reversioner of a Hindu widow is not a person claiming under the widow for the purpose of this section. He is therefore not debarred from enforcing his rights against the transferee from the Hindu widow by virtue of the provisions of this section (3) In the undermentioned cases, (4) however, it was held that a reversioner would be a person "claiming under the widow" where the alienation is for purposes binding on the estate. A son is a person claiming under the father where the sale of the Hindu joint family property by the father is for the benefit of the family (5) It has been held in the undermentioned Madras case (6) that a judgment-creditor, who has attached the property of his judgment-debtor in execution of his decree is a person claiming under the judgment-debtor within the meaning of this section. The High Court of Madhya Bharat has also taken a similar view (7). But a contrary view has been taken by the High Court of Orissa (8). Following the Orissa view the Bombay High Court has held that an auction purchaser is not a person claiming under the judgment-debtor (9). The successor-in-interest of the lessor can never be a person claiming under the lessee (10). A person in possession under an agreement of sale entered into long before the property is attached in execution of a money decree against the vendor is entitled to object to the attachment to defend his possession (11). In pursuance of an agreement of sale, possession of a piece of land was given to a society

Section 53-A — Note 14

1. (1980) 1 Rent LR 352 (354) (Pun.)  (1980) 1 Cal WN 65 (78)  AIR 1980 Madh Pra 307 (310) (DB)  AIR 1956 Pat 308 (311) (DB) (Where the collateral has no equities, any interest in the land from or through the transferor, but rather in spite of it, and he has remained in possession without title adversely to the lesser until the title became perfect they cannot be said to be persons claiming under the lesser)  AIR 1943 Cal 344 (345) ILR (1943) 1 Cal 56 (DB) Overruled on another point in AIR 1973 Cal 1 (FB)  AIR 1922 Bom 9(2) (10) : 24 Bom LR 242 (DB)
2. AIR 1953 SC 503 (505)  1985 Raj LR 67 : 685 (Delh)
3. (1975) 79 Cal WN 387 (DB)  AIR 1954 Pepsu 133 (135) ILR 1953 Patna 508 (DB) (The collaterals of a deceased Hindu who desire to set aside a sale by the widow on her death as not binding on them cannot be regarded as her representatives in interest)  AIR 1943 Cal 344 (345) ILR (1943) 1 Cal 56 (DB) (Affirming in Letters Patent Appeal AIR 1941 Cal 287)  AIR 1939 Lah 57 (57)
4. AIR 1973 Cal 1 (6) : 76 Cal WN 1048 (FB)  AIR 1960 Orissa 170 (177) ILR 1959 Cal 453 (The reversioners though they do not claim through the widow are her successors in title of the estate after the widow's death under the Hindu law in the sense that the extent of the estate which would devolve on them would always depend on the exercise by her of her undoubted right of disposal of the estate for a legal necessity)  AIR 1954 Andh Pra 568 (570) (DB)  AIR 1954 Bom 153 (153) ILR (1954) Bom 194 (DB) (AIR 1940 Nag 396, Relied on (AIR 1943 Cal 344 Dissented from)  AIR 1940 Nag 396 (399)
5. AIR 1967 Andh Pra 237 (243) : (1967) 1 Andh WR 333 (FB)
[But see AIR 1946 Mad 310 (311).]
6. AIR 1943 Mad 706 (707) (It is only because of his connection with the judgment-debtor that he is able to take attachment proceedings at all. When the whole basis of the claim of the creditor is the fact that the judgment-debtor owed him money and has not been able to pay it and is now bound by a decree, he is claiming under the judgment-debtor.)
7. 1954 Mad BLJ (HCR) 803 (806).
8. AIR 1952 Orissa 143 (149) ILR (1949) 1 Cal 705 (DB) (AIR 1943 Mad 706 Diss. from.)
9. AIR 1967 Bom 34 (38, 39) ILR (1966) Bom 201 (AIR 1943 Mad 706 Diss. from.)
10. AIR 1980 SC 575 : 1980 All LJ 242 : 1980 UJ (SC) 361.
11. AIR 1981 Sikkim 1 (DB)

by the vendor. Time was of the essence of the contract. The society allotted plots in the land to its members. However, the society failed in getting the sale deed executed after complying with the terms of the agreement. In a suit for recovery of possession, filed by vendor, the members could not claim protection under S. 53-A. They could not assert to be "persons claiming under the transferee". Since the society was not in possession of the land it could not also claim protection under S. 53-A (12). See also the undermentioned cases (13). See also Note 9A.

14A. "Any right in respect of the property."

The transferor or a person claiming under him will be debarred from enforcing not only a right to recover 'possession' from the transferee, but 'any' right. Thus a person claiming as an heir under the transferor cannot even obtain a declaration that the transfer is not binding on him (1).

15. Proviso to the section.

The proviso saves the rights of transferees without notice of the contract or of the part performance thereof (1). But it does not enlarge the content of the defence of equity in favour of the prior transferee. If title had passed to the subsequent transferee despite his knowledge of the earlier contract, the prior transferee cannot non-suit the subsequent transferee merely on the ground of the latter's knowledge of the earlier contract. The prior transferee can non-suit the subsequent trans-

12. 2002 (2) Cur CC 330 (340) (Mad)

13. AIR 1967 All 405 (411) (DB) (R granting permanent lease of plot to company and subsequently selling this right to X, who in turn selling it to P — Company going in liquidation and liquidator transferring leasehold rights to a creditor-bank by document which proved invalid — Creditor-bank also going in liquidation and Official Liquidator transferring leasehold rights to defendant — Plaintiff as pre-emptor filing suit for possession of plot on ground that lease hold rights in favour of company had come to an end on its dissolution and lease hold rights reverted to lesser — Held suit was not barred by S. 53-A as plaintiff was not the successor in-interest of the lessor who was ousted by exercising his right of pre-emption or of the lessee company so as to be bound by the act of the liquidator. Reversed on another point in AIR 1980 SC 575.)  AIR 1947 Pat 424 (427), 25 Pat 764 (DB) (Sale of occupancy holding by some members of joint Hindu family — Sale deed not registered — Suit by other members of family against vendors and vendees for possession on ground that sale was void — Section 53-A is a bar to their suit and they cannot be granted even declaratory relief as they claim under the tenant as his heirs. Case governed by S. 11 of the C P Tenancy Act, 1920.)  AIR 1921 Bom 409 (410) (DB) (Where a person entered into a contract to sell immovable property and died before completing the sale, but his minor widow delivered possession and received the purchase money, and subsequently adopted the plaintiff, the suit filed by the plaintiff to recover possession held was not maintainable.)

Section 53-A — Note 14-A

1. (1967) 71 Cal WN 681 (DB)  AIR 1947 Pat 424 (427), 25 Pat 764 (DB).

Section 53-A — Note 15

1. AIR 1953 SC 503 (505) (Defendant held, was not a transferee for value who had paid money in good faith.)  1974 All LJ 955  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 58 (59)  AIR 1952 Nag 244 (245) · ILR (1949) Nag 959  AIR 1938 Nag 377 (383) · ILR (1939) Nag 432 (DB)  AIR 1937 Pesh 58 (60) (DB).

[See AIR 1954 Trav-Co 10 (17) (DB) (Property in possession of lessee in furtherance of the terms of an unregistered lease — Lessee performing his part under the contract and such performance acquiesced in by the transferor — Fact that lessee was in possession on strength of lease deed known to subsequent purchaser even before he entered into agreement for sale — Held, the lessee and his assignee were entitled to resist attempt to recover possession by a person having a subsequent contract for sale in his favour by the transferor.)]

[See also AIR 1974 Raj 188 · 1973 WLN 890 (Agreement to sell by mortgagor with usufructuary mortgage — Part performance by mortgagee — Subsequent transferee would

feree only if the former has complied with the conditions laid down under the section (2) When actually the subsequent transferee has notice of the earlier contract the informality of the manner in which he acquired that notice is not material. So long as it is credible information, which a person of ordinary prudence will take notice of, he will be bound by it (3) Explanation II to S 53 provides that possession of a person is notice of the title of the person in possession.

In a sale transaction, possession plays an important role and it is normally expected of a purchaser to enquire about the possession of the property and to find out whether he would get vacant possession or constructive possession from the tenant. The plaintiff in the instant case was a tenant. The owner had executed agreement for sale in his favour and had received earnest money. The owner thereafter sold the property to a third party. The subsequent purchaser/third party did not make any enquiry with the tenant prior to purchasing the property about his possession and was a silent spectator to the repairs and improvements made by the tenant/agreement holder after the sale. Thus it could not be said that the subsequent purchaser was a bona fide purchaser without notice (4) Where a transferee does not make proper enquiry as contemplated under S 53 of the T P Act, he will not get protection under the proviso to S 53-A (5) In instant case the defendant was in possession of the land since many years. The plaintiff did not make any inquiry as required by law before purchasing the land. Thus he was not protected under S 53-A and he could not be said to be bona fide purchaser without notice (6) Where the subsequent purchaser had not paid any consideration for the alleged sale deed, he had notice of earlier agreement of sale in favour of plaintiff and thus the subsequent purchaser was not a purchaser for value in good faith without notice. It was not open for him to resist the plaintiff's suit for specific performance (7) Where the proposed transferee had paid most of the consideration and was put in possession of the property but the vendor sold the property in a clandestine manner to third party who also had knowledge of the agreement of sale and played fraud on the transferee by evicting her tenants behind her back, held that part performance of the agreement and constructive possession was proved. She was therefore entitled to a decree for specific performance. The third party/subsequent purchaser was a purchaser for value but with notice of the earlier agreement (8) Where the transferee was well aware that the specific property purchased by him was hypothecated to a Bank by the transferor, he had required knowledge not only of the debt but also pendency of proceedings before the Court for recovery of debt from the transferor and purchased such property with eyes wide open. It could not be said that he acquired property in good faith and for consideration. Thus his claim under O 21, Rr 58-59 was he deemed to have implied notice of agreement as also part performance.  AIR 1964 Cal 235 (238) (DB). (The proviso to the section means that the right of the transferee to hold the transferor to the terms of the transfer is a personal and equitable right and is available against the transferor and all those who claim under him, except a transferee for consideration without notice.) Reversed on another point in AIR 1980 SC 226.  AIR 1951 Pat 613 (617) (DB). (Subsequent transferee having notice of earlier contract. Held prior transferee can interpose the shield of S. 53-A.)

2. AIR 1960 Cal 541 (542), 1LR (1961) 1 Cal 30 (DB).  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 58 (59, 60).

[See also AIR 1965 Madh Pra 275 (286) (DB). (Unregistered sale deed by mortgagee in favour of possessory mortgagee — Subsequent sale by mortgagor in favour of another who had notice of prior sale — Suit for redemption. — Mortgagees can rely on part performance as against mortgagor and his transferee.)]

3. AIR 1953 Mad 923 (926).

4. 1998 (1) Kant LJ 107 (111, 116).

5. 1999 (2) Gauhati LR 391 (403).

6. 1999 (2) Gauhati LR 391 (403).

7. 1996 AIHC 3625 (3627); 1996 (27) All LR 673.

8. 1999 AIHC 4654 (4673) (Mad).

liable to be rejected.(9)

Where suit property is purchased during pendency of suit by a third person, he cannot claim to be a bona fide purchaser for valuable consideration without notice of pendency of suit. Provisions of Ss. 41 and 53-A would not apply to such a case.(10)

The onus is on the person claiming part performance to show that the transferee had notice of the contract or of the part performance thereof (11) The Court would expect that those who allege that the subsequent transferee had notice of the prior contract or of possession thereunder, would make it out not by evidence of any casual conversation but by proof that the mind of the subsequent transferee had in some way been brought to an intelligent apprehension of the nature of the transaction in respect of the property so that a reasonable man or an ordinary man of business would act upon the information and would regulate his conduct by it (12) Explanation II to S. 3 provides that possession of a person is notice of the title of the person in possession. The High Court of Patna has held that although S. 53-A does not confer full title to the property, it is nevertheless an interest sufficient to attract the provisions of Explanation II to S. 3. The subsequent transferee will therefore be deemed to have notice of the title of the prior transferee and consequently it will be the duty of the subsequent transferee to make diligent enquiries regarding the nature of the equitable interest of the prior transferee in possession (13) It is somewhat difficult to see what cases are contemplated by the Proviso. For the applicability of the proviso it must be assumed that the title referred to in the said Explanation does not include the right of the transferee under a contract which has been partly performed.

16. Contract to transfer — Proof.

The doctrine of part performance as provided in S. 53-A forms part of the substantive law. As to how far the writing referred to therein is to be proved is a question to be decided by procedural law.(1)

An agreement in writing of a lease of immovable property from year to year, or for any term exceeding one year or reserving a yearly rent must, under S. 17 of the Registration Act, be registered. But a contract for sale of immovable property is not compulsorily registrable. For a valid sale of immovable property of the value of one hundred rupees and upwards, there must under S. 54 of this Act, be a registered sale deed.

Section 49 of the Registration Act now provides(2) that no document required by S. 17 of the Registration Act or by any provision of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, to be registered shall be received as evidence of any transaction affecting such property unless it has been registered.

9. 1997 (2) CTC 83 (84) (Mad)

10. 1991 Pun LJ 242 (243).

11. AIR 1982 Mad 281 (286, 287) (1981) 2 Mad LJ 455 (Father transferring his interest in coparcenary property by registered deed to his minor son, only other coparcener — Surrender being out of love and affection, it is relinquishment and would tenant continuing in possession — Character of possession changing from that of a tenant to that of a vendee. Mere continuance of possession is not sufficient to charge the subsequent transferee with knowledge of prior transfer)  AIR 1955 Madh Bha 93 (95)  AIR 1954 Mad Bha 128 (129)  AIR 1952 Orissa 163 (164) (Mere continuance in possession by the defendant is not enough to charge the plaintiff (subsequent transferee) with notice)  AIR 1935 Rang 12 (13). (Under S. 27, Specific Relief Act, it is equally so.)

[But see AIR 1965 Pat 467 (469), ILR 44 Pat 596 (DB) (AIR 1935 Rang 12, Diss. from.)

12. (1959) 1 Orissa JD 362 (365, 367) (DB)

13. AIR 1965 Pat 467 (469) : ILR 44 Pat 596 (DB)

Section 53-A — Note 16

1. AIR 1958 Pat 133 (138) (DB)

2. The section is not retrospective, see AIR 1932 Mad 734 (736) 56 Mad 169 (DB) provided that an unregistered document affecting immovable property and required either by the Registration Act or by the Transfer of Property Act to be registered may be received as evidence of a contract—

(a) in a suit for specific performance under Chapter II of the Specific Relief Act, 1877 (3) or

(b) as evidence of part performance of a contract for the purposes of S. 53-A of the Transfer of Property Act, (4) or

(c) as evidence of any collateral transaction not required to be effected by registered instrument. (5)

It follows that the contract to transfer may be proved for the purpose of S. 53-A by the production of the written contract itself where there is one, whether such written contract is required to be registered or not. Where there is no separate contract for transfer, the unregistered instrument of transfer is itself admissible in evidence in proof of such contract and part performance (6). The principle underlying this, and recognised in numerous cases, is that every transfer is preceded by

3. 1887 All WN 15 (13) (DB) (Case before the amendment of S. 49, Registration Act)  1885 All WN 329 (330) (DB) (Do)

4. ILR (1965) Guj 490 (494)  AIR 1965 Madh Pra 275 (280) (DB)  AIR 1964 Cal 235 (237) (Agreement to lease for more than 5 years. Reversed on another point in AIR 1980 SC 226)  1963 All WR (HC) 734 (739) (AIR 1958 SC 199. Disting., AIR 1961 Pat 9. Dissented from.)  AIR 1963 Him Pra 49 (51)  AIR 1960 Cal 609 (618) (DB) (Registered and unilateral lease for ten years)  AIR 1955 Madh Bha 39 (58) (AIR 1954 Madh Bha 237 (DB)  AIR 1953 Cal 349 (351) (Unregistered lease for 10 years)  AIR 1953 Hyd 97 (97) ILR (1953) Hyd 110  AIR 195 Pat 277 (283) 29 Pat 628 (DB)  AIR 1951 Nag 286 (287) ILR (1950) Nag 799 (DB)  AIR 1950 Cal 23 (28) ILR (1950) 2 Cal 443 (DB) (Agreement to lease for five years)  AIR 1938 Lah 72 (723) (DB)  (1933) 17 RD 201 (202)

[See also AIR 1961 Pat 79 (89) (Compromise — Registration — Compromise itself creating title requires registration — Defect of non-registration cannot be cured by rule of equitable estoppel or part performance)  (1955) 8 Sau LR 375 (381)]

5. AIR 1963 Him Pra 49 (51) , (1957) 1 Andh WR 366 (368)  AIR 1956 Lah 366 (366) (Where a document purporting to be a sale deed of a house should have been registered, but is not registered such document, if the person is put in possession of the property, can be admitted into evidence for a collateral purpose)

6. AIR 1950 SC 1 (5) (An agreement of lease creating a present demise)  AIR 1963 Cal 502 (503) (Patta for 25 years executed by A in favour of B on monthly rental — Patta not signed by B — B going into possession and effecting improvement in terms of patta — Patta can be received in evidence as proof of the contract)  ILR 1960 10 Raj 348 (950) (DB)  AIR 1957 Bom 38 (140) ILR (1958) Bom 556 (DB) (AIR 1943 Bom 431. Overruled.)  AIR 1956 Cal 350 (352) (DB)  1954 Madh BLJ (HC) 803 (805)  AIR 1952 Orissa 143 (148) ILR (1949) 1 Cut 705 (DB)  AIR 1952 Assam 28 (30) (DB) (Usufructuary mortgage — Unregistered endorsement on mortgage by mortgagor relinquishing his interest in mortgaged land in favour of mortgagee for a sum below Rs. 100 — Registration — Mortgagee continuing in possession in part performance of contract can claim benefit of S. 53-A to resist suit for redemption)  AIR 1942 Oudh 231 (236) (DB) (A lease deed which does not comply with the provisions of S. 107 is admissible as evidence of the agreement contained therein and for determining the rights and liabilities of the parties)  AIR 1933 Bom 58 (135) (Unregistered lease is admissible also to prove that plaintiff can enforce his right to claim damages for breach of agreement under one of its terms.)

[See also AIR 1955 Vind Pra 15 (16) (Under the existing law governing procedure in the State of Vindhya Pradesh there is no provision which makes the unregistered document inadmissible in evidence of purpose of proving part performance)] and implies a contract to transfer and that a party to a transfer which cannot take effect as a transfer for want of registration can fall upon the contract for sale implied in the instrument of transfer. Where the original document though in possession of the transferor is not produced by him in spite of a notice to produce it, secondary evidence of the same can be adduced by the transferee in support of his defence of part performance (7) See Note 23 on S. 54

It has been held that a document which must be regarded as unregistered on account of fraud on registration committed by the parties cannot be looked at for purposes of giving effect to a plea under S. 53-A (8)

Section 53-A is not applicable in J and K Registration of agreement for sale is compulsory Non-State subjects cannot purchase immovable property in J. and K. in view of S. 138 of the J and K Transfer of Property Act. Section 138 is mandatory and thus in the absence of a registered instrument of sale mere possessing right of defendant-vendee will not mature into ownership right (9)

Even in a case where the Court comes to the conclusion that there has been part performance of a contract of sale, it cannot use that finding as a proof of the factum of sale in favour of the transferee in possession.(10)

16-A. Fraud on registration — Effect.

See Note 16.

17. This section and section 27A of the Specific Relief Act (1877), compared.

Section 27-A of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, ran as follows

“Subject to the provisions of this Chapter, where a contract to lease immovable property is made in writing signed by the parties thereto or on their behalf, either party may, notwithstanding that the contract, though required to be registered, has not been registered, sue the other for specific performance of the contract if,

(a) where specific performance is claimed by the lessor, he has delivered possession of the property to the lessee in part performance of the contract, and

(b) where specific performance is claimed by the lessee, he has in part performance of the contract, taken possession of the property or, being already in possession, continues in possession, in part performance of the contract, and has done some act in furtherance of the contract.

Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the rights of a transferee for consideration who has no notice of the contract or of the part performance thereof

The section applies to contracts to lease executed after the first day of April, 1930”

The above section applied only to contracts to lease immovable property enable either party to the contract to sue for specific performance of the contract if it had been partly performed (1) Section 27-A of the Specific Relief Act, 1877 in fact created a ground of claim, whereas S. 53-A of this Act creates merely a right of defence (2) But S. 27-A of the Specific Relief Act did not prevent a lessee from claiming the benefit of S. 53-A if the case fell within that section. Thus the defence

7. AIR 1950 SC 1 (4, 5)  AIR 1956 Mad 693 (694).

8. AIR 1945 Oudh 120 (121) (DB).

9. AIR 1994 J & K 33 (37)

10. AIR 1954 Pepsu 133 (135) · ILR (1953) Patiala 508 (DB).

Section 53-A — Note 17

1. AIR 1952 Orissa 143 (148) · ILR (1949) 1 Cut 705 (DB)  AIR 1937 Nag 74 (76) · ILR (1936) Nag 115 (DB) (Lessor and the lessee may enforce specifically a contract to grant a lease by compelling registration, where there is part performance.)

2. AIR 1950 SC 1 (4)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 83 (89) : ILR (1959) Andh Pra 1107 (FB)  AIR 1952 Orissa 116 (117) (DB)  AIR 1952 Nag 115 (117) · ILR (1952) Nag 604 (DB)  AIR 1937 Nag 74 (77) · ILR (1936) Nag 115 (DB)

under S. 53-A is available to a person who has an agreement of lease in his favour, though no formal lease has been executed and registered.(3)

Section 27-A of the Specific Relief Act of 1877 has now been omitted in the Specific Relief Act of 1963 on the recommendations of the Law Commission. The Law Commission in their Report on the Specific Relief Act (9th Report) observe as follows: — In our report on the Registration Act, we have recommended the exclusion of agreement to lease from the definition of lease in Section 2 and the omission of clause (c) from Section 49. The result of those changes will be that an agreement to lease, even if in writing, will not require registration — and, even an unregistered deed of lease will be admissible in evidence to prove an agreement to lease.

In the result, a person will be entitled to enforce specific performance of an agreement to lease even if it has to be gathered from an unregistered lease deed. Hence, Section 27-A of the Specific Relief Act will be unnecessary, whether it is interpreted to be applicable to an unregistered agreement for lease or unregistered deed of lease.

We therefore recommend that Section 27-A be omitted.”

18. Law in States to which this Act does not apply.

The principles of this section which is based on equity, are applicable even in the States to which this Act does not apply (1). Even before this section was introduced into this Act, the English doctrine of part performance had been applied in those States as being in conformity with justice, equity and good conscience (2). It was, however, observed by Beckett, J., of the Lahore High Court in the undermentioned Full Bench case(3) that unless the section can be taken as embodying some general rule of equity which would prevail in India, apart from the provisions of the Act, it can have no force in the erstwhile State of Punjab and that in any case stress cannot be laid upon the wording of the section but that the rule will have to be applied on general grounds. In a later case(4) it has been held by the same High Court that the section cannot be taken as embodying any general rule of equity prevailing throughout India and hence the principle underlying this section does not apply.

3. AIR 1950 SC 1 (4)  1983 Pak LD 344 (356) (SC)  AIR 1953 Hyd 97 (97) ILR 1953 Hyd 110. (AIR 1950 SC 1, Foll.)

Section 53-A — Note 18

1. AIR 1957 Manipur 32 (33) (Though provisions of T.P. Act have not been extended to Manipur State, the principles of that Act including those of part performance were followed and given effect to in that State ever since 1947)  AIR 1955 Vind Pra 15 (16) (The defence of part performance was open to State of Vindhya Pradesh even before the application of Transfer of Property Act, exactly in the same manner as it is open now)  (1955) 8 Sau LR 142  AIR 1954 Madh Bha 128 (129)  AIR 1939 L 657 (57) SC  AIR 1937 Pesh 58 (60) (DB)  AIR 1936 Lah 5 (5)  AIR 1935 Lah 955 (955) (DB)
2. AIR 1936 Lah 366 (366) (AIR 1934 Lah 751 Followed)  AIR 1934 Lah 75 (752)  AIR 1929 Lah 721 (728-729) (DB)  (1928) 10 Ind Cas 193 (194) (Lah)  (1921) 10 Ind Cas 22 (23) (DB) (Lah)

[See also AIR 1934 Pesh 17 (18) (Doctrine of part performance applies to N.W.F. Province but not as to override statutory provision of S. 49 of the Indian Registration Act)  AIR 1927 Lah 90 (91) (An unregistered deed of exchange affecting immovable property of more than Rs. 100 cannot be referred to for purposes of title by the application of the equitable doctrine of part performance where the circumstances of the parties have not altered and there is not a series of acts on the part of the parties extending over a considerable time such as would justify the Courts in basing their decree not upon the contract but upon those acts — The law of registration can be ignored only when the equities on the other side are very clear.)]

3. AIR 1941 Lah 407 (410) : ILR (1942) Lah 79 (FB).
4. AIR 1944 Lah 179 (180) (DB).

in the Punjab. In a Full Bench decision(5) of five Judges of the same High Court it has been held, overruling the above mentioned two decisions, that this section being based on the equitable principles which were previously applicable in the whole of India including the Punjab, the principles embodied therein are applicable to the Punjab even after the enactment of that section and that therefore the position in the Punjab in respect of defence of part performance is exactly the same as in the States where the Transfer of Property Act is in force.

The Judicial Commissioner's Court at Kutch has held that principles of S 53-A would not apply in the erstwhile State of Kutch since the Kutch law prohibited the use of an unregistered document by the defendant to defend his possession against the vendor and had expressly rendered such document inoperative in a Court in Kutch(6). So also in the erstwhile State of Patiala where the Transfer of Property (Amendment) Supplementary Act, 1929, did not apply, the principle of part performance embodied in S 53-A of the Transfer of Property Act had not been applied(7).

The doctrine of part performance is not applicable to the State of Jammu and Kashmir(8).

Similarly, the section is not applicable to Sikkim nor its principle is applicable on the ground of equity, justice and good conscience. (obiter)(9).

19. Limitation.

Under the well-known principle that the law of limitation does not apply to a defence, a defence raised under this section is not subject to any rule of limitation(1).

Section 53-A does not provide for any limitation on expiry whereof the defence contemplated in the section will be lost or will extinguish. Limitation bars the remedy but not the right in possession. Thus law of limitation does not apply to S. 53-A (2).

The right under S 53-A to defend possession is statutory in nature and cannot be whittled down on the equitable concept of laches or implied limitation. The failure on the part of the transferee to bring a suit for specific performance of the contract within the period of limitation does not lead to extinction of his statutory right created by the legislature by incorporating S. 53-A in the Act. It is well settled that the right and the remedy for enforcement thereof are mutually exclusive jurisprudential concepts. Even if a statutory remedy is lost because of limitation or some other procedural bar, the right subsists, notwithstanding the fact that a transferee in possession fails to file

5. AIR 1947 Lah 1 (5, 6) : ILR (1947) Lah 449 (FB). (47 PLR 128, Reversed. Per Full Bench, Cornelius, J., contra — AIR 1941 Lah 407 (FB) and AIR 1944 Lah 179. Overruled.)

6. AIR 1950 Kutch 64 (65) (AIR 1931 PC 79 and AIR 1934 PC 233 Rel. on.)

7. AIR 1950 Pepsu 34 (35, 36) (DB). (AIR 1931 PC 79, Rel. on.)

8. AIR 1978 J & K 88 : 1979 Kash LJ 91 (FB)  1971 J & K LR 268

9. AIR 1980 Sikkim 1 (10) : 1978 Sikkim LJ 23 (DB).

Section 53-A — Note 19

1. (1970) 74 Cal WN 734  (1967) 2 Andh WR 2 (5)  AIR 1967 Bom 34 (35) ILR (1966) Bom 291  AIR 1957 Bom 138 (141) ILR (1958) Bom 556 (DB)  AIR 1955 Hyd 101 (104) ILR (1954) Hyd 822  AIR 1951 Nag 403 (405) ILR (1950) Nag 25  AIR 1949 Assam 8 (10) ILR (1949) 1 Assam 29 (DB) (Where this section applies, it is immaterial that the defendant could not have sued for specific performance of the contract for sale, on account of the expiry of limitation)  AIR 1939 Cal 163 (165, 166) ILR (1938) 2 Cal 328 (DB) (Bengal Tenancy Act does not exclude a defence provided for under S 53-A of TP Act.)

[See also AIR 1952 Nag 244 (245) : ILR (1949) Nag 959. (Whether a contract is specifically enforceable or not is not a matter which must be taken into consideration for granting relief under S 53-A)]

2. 1999 (2) WLC 450 (458) (Raj).

a suit for specific performance within limitation, still in law, the contract remains valid and operative, entitling him to exert his right to retain the possession over the property in exercise of his statutory right conferred by S. 53-A by way of defence against recovery of possession. The law of limitation does not apply to a defence raised under S. 53-A, since the section does not provide for any limitation on expiry whereof the defence contemplated in the section will be lost or will extinguish. (3)

The right of transferee to defend his possession over immovable property acquired pursuant to contract and sufficient to fulfilment of statutory conditions contained in S. 53-A is statutory in nature and cannot be whittled down on the equitable concept of laches and limitation. The failure of transferee to bring suit for specific performance within limitation period does not lead to extinction of his statutory right under S. 53-A. The law of limitation does not apply to a defence raised under S. 53-A since that section does not provide for any limitation on expiry whereof the defence contemplated under S. 53-A will be lost or will extinguish. (4) Section 53-A does not forbid a defendant-transferee from taking a plea in his defence to protect possession over suit property obtained in part performance of a contract even though the period of limitation for bringing a suit for specific performance has expired. Section 53-A also does not expressly provide that he is not entitled to protect his possession, if the period to bring suit for specific performance has expired. Limitation Act does not extinguish a defence, but only bars remedy. Where the transferee was always and still ready and willing to perform his part of the contract, he is entitled to defence under S. 53-A notwithstanding that limitation for filing suit for specific performance has expired. (5)

In undermentioned case, (6) however, it was held that where the remedy of the defendant/vendee to claim specific performance of agreement of sale in his favour is barred by limitation, he cannot, in a suit filed by the vendor for recovery of possession, claim protection under S. 53-A.

The doctrine of part performance is a doctrine of equity. Delay defeats equity. Therefore when the agreement of sale becomes unenforceable by reason of the law of limitation, the defence of part performance founded on the agreement cannot be permitted to be enforced as the agreement has lost all its efficacy inasmuch as the right to enforce it is lost by the law of limitation. The doctrine of part performance cannot be permitted to be invoked in these circumstances. (7)

The vendees in the instant case were ready and willing to perform their part of the contract. It is not the case of the vendors that either they repudiated the contract with a notice to vendors or called upon vendees to perform the contract and they refused to do so. Under these circumstances no limitation began to run for the enforcement of the contract and therefore mere lapse of three years from the date of agreement does not automatically put an end to the contract. (8)

However in instant case it was held that transferee who is guilty of laches cannot seek relief under S. 53-A. (9)

3. AIR 1998 Kant 389 (396, 399) : 1998 AIHC 4913 : 1998 (3) Kant LJ 73 (FB) (ILR (1988) Kant 631, ILR (1992) Kant 429, ILR (1994) Kant 1665. Overruled.)

4. AIR 1998 Kant 389 (396, 399) : 1998 AIHC 4913 : (1998) 3 Kant LJ 73 (FB) (ILR (1988) Kant 631, ILR (1992) Kant 429, ILR (1994) Kant 1665. Overruled.  1987 (2) Ker LT 762.

5. AIR 2002 SC 960 ((62) : 2002 AIR SCW 659 : 2002 (1) Supreme 583 (1994 Mah LJ 1145 (FB), Approved.)

6. 1988 Mah LJ 414 (418) (Bom)

7. ILR (1988) Kant 631 (638).

8. AIR 1988 Andh Pra 250 (254) : (1988) 1 Andh LT 18

9. 1998 (3) Mad LJ 42 (45)

20. Plea of part performance.

The plea of part performance can be raised only by a person who is in actual possession of the property and not by person who is not in possession (1) Defence of part performance is a mixed question of fact and law and must be pleaded in written statement. The defence is not available to the party who is guilty of committing breach of contract and is not ready and willing to perform his part of the contract (2) Plea of part performance involving questions of fact cannot be raised for the first time in second appeal (3) When plea based on S 53-A is not taken in the written statement, it does not merit consideration (4) If, however, the defendant has stated in his written statement, all the facts on which he bases his defence under S 53-A without deducing his legal position properly from the facts his plea cannot be rejected merely because he has not properly appreciated the law bearing on such facts. (5)

The fact that there is no specific mention of S 53-A in the written statement will not debar the defendant from raising the defence under that Section (6)

Pleadings under S 53-A must be in accordance with S 16(c) of the Specific Relief Act. When this statutory requirement has not been complied with in pleadings, the concerned party is not entitled to the benefit of S 53-A. Mere mention in the written statement that the lessee has exercised the option of renewal is not sufficient for claiming protection under S 53-A. The readiness and willingness should be in terms of the agreement already executed by the party. Where the lease was granted for a specific purpose and the lessee wants to renew it with modifications therein and wants to incorporate some new clauses in the lease deed, and is using the premises for some other pur-

Section 53-A — Note 20

1. 1995 (34) DRJ 228 (232).

2. 2001 (3) All Mah LR 689 (699) • 2001 (4) Bom CR 250

3. AIR 1966 Ker 96 (97) (FB)  AIR 1999 SC 3248 (3251) : 1999 AIR SCW 3221 : 1999 All LJ 2088 : 1999 (7) SCC 303. (Plea under S 53-A raises a mixed question of law and fact.)  AIR 1981 (NOC) 113 : 1981 Sim LC 239 (Him Pra)  AIR 1975 Cal 445 (448) (DB)  AIR 1974 Punj 130 : 1973 Pun LJ 668  AIR 1973 Orissa 21 (22) : 38 Cut LT 369  AIR 1965 Punj 117 (118)  AIR 1964 Pat 288 (289) (DB)  AIR 1964 All 300 (301)  (1954) 20 Cut LT 532 (535)  AIR 1951 Pat 502 (503) (DB)  (1949) 30 PLT 388 (392) (DB)  (1976) 1 Mad LJ 230 (235).

[See also AIR 1955 Madh Bha 93 (95) (Defence of part performance involving questions of fact — Defendant must raise plea in written statement — Plea not allowed in revision.)

4. AIR 1998 Orissa 19 (22)

5. AIR 1979 Andh Pra 156 : (1978) 2 APLJ (HC) 353  AIR 1979 (NOC) 86 : (1979) 1 Cal LJ 309 (318)  (1970) 74 Cal WN 734  (1967) 2 Andh WR 2 (5)  AIR 1966 Mys 86 (89) : ILR (1963) Mys 1109 (Contract to sell — Payment of earnest money and vendee put in possession — Contract falling through for non-payment of price — Suit for possession by vendor — Concurrent finding that defendant was always willing to perform his part of contract — Finding being one of fact cannot be challenged in second appeal — Absence of specific plea of part performance in written statement — Section 53-A can be availed of in second appeal)  AIR 1957 Manipur 32 (33) (Facts constituting the defence of part performance pleaded — Absence of specific plea of the benefit of the doctrine as embodied in S 53-A, TP Act — Plea entertained)  AIR 1955 Madh Bha 49 (52) : ILR (1954) Madh Bha 237 (DB).

[See also AIR 1959 Mys 173 (175) : ILR (1957) Mys 108 (Plea under S 53-A not raised in pleading — Plea, however, entertained by the trial and lower appellate Courts — Plea cannot be denied in second appeal on the technical ground as to absence of such plea in pleadings.)]

6. AIR 1973 Cal 1(4) : 76 Cal WN 1048 (FB). (AIR 1941 Cal 33 Overruled.)

poses also which are not covered by the lease deed sought to be renewed, it cannot be said that the readiness and willingness of the lessee is the same. In fact what he wanted was not renewal in terms of the contract but with a modification.(7)

A defence under S. 53-A cannot be raised for the first time in second appeal because it raises questions of fact which should have been put in issue at the time of trial (8)

The rights as would be available to transferee under S. 53-A are required to be pleaded. In instant case the transferee was in possession of the property. But there was no plea by him to the effect that either there was an understanding between the parties that the handing over of possession was only in pursuance to the sale agreement executed between the parties or that in the event of default by transferee in paying balance consideration, the vendor would be entitled to claim only the balance of sale consideration. In effect, the legal right as would accrue with the transferee under S. 53-A was not specifically pleaded by him (9)

In the present case, it was asserted in a written statement filed by 'B' (the defendant) that 'A' the owner of the disputed property which 'B' agreed to purchase from him by paying advance did not produce the title deeds, in spite of the notice issued to him by 'B'. As 'B' did not have the remaining money, the property was purchased by 'C' (the plaintiff) at 'B's' instance. 'C' executed a reconveyance document in favour of 'B' and the relationship between him and 'C' is that of creditor and debtor, he being debtor. 'B' further asserted that he came into possession of property by virtue of reconveyance document executed by 'C'. Though the agreement for reconveyance gave option to get the property conveyed within two years, there was no plea in the written statement filed by 'B' that 'B' demanded performance of the contract of reconveyance by offering to pay the stipulated price even though about two years thereafter were about to be over.

Held that on reading the written statement of the defendant and his evidence, it is clear that there is no plea of part performance in the written statement of the defendant and the stand taken by him in the written statement is in effect incompatible with a plea of part performance as enunciated in S. 53-A, T P Act.(10)

Where the finding is recorded in second appeal after proper appreciation of evidence that the suit was not barred under S. 53-A, the said finding cannot be reconsidered on merits in review application.(11)

Where a transferee already in possession of property has pressed and proved an oral sale, coupled with delivery of property, then the fact that he did not raise the plea of part performance under S. 53-A specifically or that he had also raised the plea of adverse possession, though did not press it, would not debar him from invoking the plea of part performance in appeal (12)

Plea of adverse possession and retaining possession by operation of S. 53-A are inconsistent with each other. Once it is admitted that a party has come into lawful possession and continued so, the plea of adverse possession would not be available to it unless hostile animus is established (13)

Where the plea of the plaintiff purchasers that they were put in possession of the property is not proved either by documentary evidence or parole evidence, the plea of part performance is to be rejected.(14)

7. 1998 AIHC 1133 (1140) : 1997 (3) Mad LW 520.

8. 1998 (3) Mad LJ 42 (45)

9. 1998 (3) Mad LJ 42 (44).

10. AIR 1984 Kant 50 (53, 54) : (1983) 2 Kant LJ 185.

11. AIR 2001 Gauhati 92 (93) : 2001 (2) Gauhati LR 102

12. AIR 1983 Raj 109 (126, 127)

13. AIR 2000 SC 1485 (1487) : 2000 AIR SCW 1001 : 2000 (3) SCC 708

14. 2000 AIHC 1543 (1562) : 2000 (1) Bom CR 716.

A suit filed by the vendee for specific performance of an agreement to sell was decided in his favour on condition that sale deed will be executed if he deposits balance consideration within certain time but on his failure, the suit shall stand dismissed. He failed to deposit the amount within time and allowed the suit to be dismissed. In a suit filed subsequently by the vendor for recovery of possession, the vendee could not take the plea of part performance under S 53-A (15)

In a suit for recovery of possession on the strength of title, especially when it is on the ground that the defendant, who is in possession on the basis of a contract for sale, committed breach, the claim for fixity of tenure and the claim under S 53-A, if available, are grounds which might and ought to be taken.(16)

In the facts of the case it was held that in a suit for declaration of title and possession, plea in defence that the defendant had performed partly because the defendant was in continued long possession could not be entertained.(17)

CHAPTER III

OF SALES OF IMMOVEABLE PROPERTY

54. "SALE" DEFINED.— "Sale" is a transfer of ownership in exchange for a price paid or promised or part-paid and part-promised

Sale how made.

^ASuch transfer, in the case of tangible immoveable property of the value of one hundred rupees and upwards or in the case of a reversion or other intangible thing, can be made only by a registered instrument.^B

^AIn the case of tangible immoveable property of a value less than one hundred rupees, such transfer may be made either by a registered instrument or by delivery of the property.

Delivery of tangible immoveable property takes place when the seller places the buyer, or such person as he directs, in possession of the property.

Contract for sale.

A contract for the sale of immoveable property is a contract that a sale of such property shall take place on terms settled between the parties.

It does not, of itself, create any interest or charge on such property.

[A] For extension of S 54 to the entire State of Punjab w.e.f. 1-4-1955 — See Punjab Govt. Gaz. 1-4-1955 Pt. I, p. 372 and to Pepsu area of the said State w.e.f. 15-5-1957 — See Ibid. 1957 Pt. I, p. 633

Paragraphs 2 and 3 of S 54 with respect to transfer of property by registered instrument has been extended to every cantonment from the commencement of the Cantonments Act, 1924 — See S. 287 of that Act.

The operation of paragraphs 2 and 3 of S 54 have been exempted by the Central Government w.e.f. 1-1-1950 from all the territories of Himachal Pradesh except (1) an area within the limits of a municipality under S 241 of the Punjab Municipal Act, 1911, as applied to Himachal Pradesh — See S.R.O. 1873 in Gaz. of India, 1-12-1951, Pt. II, S. 3, p. 2040 read with S.R.O. 395 ibid., 8-3-1952 Pt. II, S. 3, p. 370

15. 1987 Mah LR 73 (76) (Bom)

16. 1991 Ker LJ 186 (190)

17. 1982 (2) Kant LJ 300 (300)

[B] For exceptions see the various Co-operative Societies Acts e.g., Guj Act X of 1967, S. 17(3); Maha Act XXIV of 1961, S. 17(2); M.P. Act XVII of 1961, S. 16(8); Mys Act XI of 1959, S. 14(7); Mad Act LIII of 1961, S. 13(2)(g); Or. Act II of 1963, S. 14(8); Punj Act XXV of 1961, S. 13(7); Raj Act XIII of 1965, S. 16(7); T.C. Act X of 1952, S. 16(1), and U.P. Act XI of 1966, S. 15(7).

STATE AMENDMENTS

Assam :—

In its application to the State of Assam, in Section 54, in Para 2, for the expression, "by a registered instrument" substitute the following expressions namely :—

"by an instrument registered in the State of Assam notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Registration Act, 1908 (Act XVI of 1908) to the contrary" — See Assam Act 10 of 1976, S. 2 (15-7-1976).

Uttar Pradesh :—

In its application to the State of Uttar Pradesh, in S. 54

(a) in the second paragraph the words "of the value of one hundred rupees and upwards" shall be omitted;

(b) the third and fourth paragraphs shall be omitted;

(c) after the last paragraph, the following paragraph shall be inserted, namely:

"Such contract can be made only by a registered instrument."

— See U. P. Act (57 of 1976, S. 30 (1-1-1977).

Synopsis

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1. Scope of the section. 2. Government grants. 3. Transfer under decree or order of Court. 3A. Compulsory acquisition of property by Government. 4. Muhammadan law. 5. "Transfer of ownership." 6. Transfer of mortgage interest. 7. Creation of easements. 8. Mutation proceedings. 8A. Sale or agreement to sell. 9. Sale or mortgage. 9A. Sale or reconveyance. 10. Sale or exchange — Also see Notes on S. 118. 10A. Sale or gift. 11. Sale or lease. 11A. Sale or release. 11AA. Reconveyance. 11B. Grant of mineral rights. | 12. "In exchange for a price." 13. "Paid or promised." 14. Non-payment of price. 15. Price can be shown to be different from that recited. 16. Inadequacy and inflation of price. 17. Sale of property of value of rupees one hundred or more. 18. Reversion. 19. "Or other intangible thing." 20. "Can be made only by a registered instrument." 20A. Execution of sale deed. 21. Sale of property of less than one hundred rupees in value. 22. Delivery of property. 23. Contract for sale. 24. Several sales of the same property — Priority — See also Notes 8, 9 and 10 on S 48. |
|---|--|

1. Scope of the section.

There are several ways recognised by law by which title to property may pass from one person to another, such as sale, gift, exchange, adverse possession(1) and decree of Court(2). This section defines "sale" and specifies the methods in which a sale of immovable property can be effected. It is a general principle that where the law prescribes a mode of transfer, compliance with that mode is necessary before property can pass so as to confer title against third persons(3). Where, therefore, this section requires a registered instrument, title cannot pass by mere admission(4) or by mere agreement of parties(5). There can, in other words, be no such thing in law as a title by estoppel(6).

The section prescribes two methods of transfer, namely—

Section 54 — Note 1

1. AIR 1937 Pat 640 (641) (Title can be acquired under proper title deed or by adverse possession)  AIR 1919 Nag 70 (72) (Where a real sale has taken place an unregistered endorsement on the back of the sale deed does not operate to reconvey title to the vendor)
 2. AIR 1926 Nag 95 (96-98) (Decree for specific performance — Title of vendee relates back to date of agreement — Intermediate conveyance do not render it nugatory)  (1881) 5 Bom 554 (560) (DB) (Decree for specific performance by execution of said deed transfers property without waiting for the actual conveyance being executed)  (1911) 33 All 728 (731) (DB) (But an order of a Revenue Court in mutation proceedings cannot operate so as to confer title.)
 3. AIR 1961 Punj 378 (381) ILR (1961) 2 Punj 293 (DB) (Provisions of S. 54 as to mode of transfer are exhaustive)  (1949) 53 Mys HCR 410 (414-415) (Sale of causarina plantation — Trees being young not intended to be cut on date of sale or immediately thereafter — Sale is not of standing timber but of an interest in immovable property and hence registered sale deed necessary to pass title)  AIR 1923 Mad 241 (244) 45 Mad 537 (DB) (And no principle like equitable construction of statutes should be resorted to)  AIR 1920 Nag 265 (266)  (1911) 33 All 728 (731) (DB).
 4. AIR 1961 Punj 378 (381) ILR (1961) 2 Punj 293 (DB)  AIR 1975 Rang 68 (69) 2 Rang 459 (Admission in different proceeding that one had sold land does not act as estoppel so as to do away with the necessity of registering the document)  AIR 1924 Pat 185 (186) (Deed of relinquishment does not confer a title)  (1906) 33 Cal 967 (983-984) (DB)  AIR 1916 Cal 136 (141) 43 Cal 790 (DB) (1901) 24 Mad 377 (384) : 28 Ind App 46 (PC) (Alleged transfer of impartible zamindari — Held, such transfer could not be effected except by a registered document as required by law)  (1912) 16 Ind Cas 440 (440) (DB) (Cal).
- [See also (1910) 7 Ind Cas 264 (266) (DB) (All) (Title to land cannot be transferred by a mere recital in a lease.)]
5. AIR 1939 Mad 220 (223)  (1901) 14 Mad LJ 337 (338) (DB)  (1901) 23 All 175 (180) (DB) (A benamidar cannot transfer the title to the real owner by giving him possession)
 6. AIR 1935 Rang 84 (86) 12 Rang 589 (DB) (Estoppel is a rule of evidence and not a source of title)  AIR 1935 Rang 448 (448) (Do)  AIR 1918 Nag 102 (103)  (1909) 36 Cal 920 (922) (DB) (You cannot invoke the principle of estoppel to defeat the plain provisions of a statute and we cannot evade the effect of S. 54 of T.P. Act by holding that the plaintiff is estopped from pleading it)  (1913) 36 Mad 564 (569) (DB) (No waiver or transfer of rights can be recognised in case of immovable property without a registered instrument after the passing of the T.P. Act)

[See also AIR 1958 Pat 133 (140) (DB) (The doctrine of equitable estoppel even if there is any such doctrine, in ultimate analysis rests either on contract express or implied or upon some statement of fact constituting an estoppel and secondly that there is no estoppel against statute.)]

(1) transfer by a registered instrument, or

(2) transfer by delivery of property when the value thereof is less than one hundred rupees.

The provisions of S 55(4)(b) creating a statutory charge in favour of vendor do not apply to a case of an invalid sale or oral sale(7).

The object of registering the document is to publish to the world that such a document has been executed(8). There are transactions evidenced by documents of which registration is necessary under the T P Act, but not under the Registration Act, the purpose being to make known the title to the property(9). The object of delivery of the property is also the same(10) and is, in fact, a substitute for the requirement of a registered instrument.

Where patta issued by a Municipality is unregistered and unstamped, it is not sufficient to convey title. However it can be looked into for collateral purpose of showing nature of possession of the occupant of the plot(11).

No valid action can be founded upon an oral sale: the contract for sale that precedes every transaction of sale cannot form the basis for a valid action for specific performance in cases where that contract of sale resulted in an oral sale. The modes of conveyance specified in Sec 54 are exhaustive, no other mode of conveyance is permissible. In respect of actions based on oral sales the rights and liabilities of buyers and sellers incorporated in S 55 of the T P Act do not come into play. When the oral sale itself is void, since it is repugnant to S 54, the penultimate stage — the contract of sale is also void. No charge is created in respect of the purchase money paid by the buyer(12).

Transfer of Property Act provides for different modes of transfer of property, it is not exhaustive of the modes of transfer of property. There may be modes other than those as mentioned in the T P Act by which property may be lawfully transferred by its owners in favour of another. Section 14 of the Partnership Act embodies one such provision. It is in that sense a special provision and it cannot be said to be in derogation of or in conflict with any provision of T P Act viz S 5 or S 54 thereof.

As per S 14 of the Partnership Act the contribution by a partner of his separate immovable property by throwing the same into the stock of the partnership firm has the effect of transferring the partner's share therein to that of the firm. No particular mode or form is provided for so bringing in separate property of the partner into the stock of the firm and no deed whatsoever registered or otherwise is required to be executed by the partner for doing so(13).

Though generally time is considered to be the essence of the contract, the legal proposition is that time is not the essence of the contract regarding the sale of immovable properties, unless it is specifically stipulated that the time that is fixed in the sale agreement is a relevant factor and the said time is considered the essence of the contract further putting the other side on notice to the said effect(14). Where the vendors/defendants did not make any assertion in the written statement or in

7. AIR 1985 Andh Pra 200 (205) : 1985 (1) Andh LT 123

8. (1909) 31 All 523 (526) (DB)

9. AIR 1969 SC 1316 : (1970) 1 SCJ 63.

10. AIR 1928 All 726 (727, 728) : 50 All 986 (FB).

11. (1989) 2 Raj LR 652 (655)  1995 Supp (2) SCC 86 (90). In construing a sale deed the words used by the vendor cannot be ignored on any supposition or presumption. Where the property has been specifically identified in a deed any ambiguity or inconsistency arising out of it has to be disregarded.)

12. (1989) 1 Andh LT 389 (398)

13. 1985 Tax LR 1229 (1240, 1241) : (1985) 154 ITR 509 (Delhi)

14. AIR 2002 Mad 241 (247) — AIR 2002 Mad 352 (364) (Contract for sale of immovable property — Time not of essence of contract.)

the evidence to the effect that time was of the essence of the contract nor was it the case of defendants/vendors that time was made the essence of the contract by giving an intimation to this effect to the vendee then the Courts erred in holding that the time was of the essence of the contract. Moreover in the present case the vendor can go away from his usual place of residence or business or go abroad without leaving his address. If time were to be treated as essence in such a contract the rightful claim of vendee could always be defeated by going away at material time so that the vendee could not enforce his claim(15).

This section and the next use the words "buyer" and "seller". In England these words apply to a sale of goods, while the words "vendor" and "purchaser" apply to sales of land(16).

In the absence of any concluded contract between the parties for sale of immovable property, no obligation arises out of any contract and therefore the provisions of Ss 40 and 54 would not apply(17).

The legality and validity of the sale deed cannot be challenged usually by a stranger if it is not contested by the vendor himself(18).

Although the Act does not apply to Punjab, by a Notification No. 183st. issued by the Punjab Government on 27th April, 1935 under S. 1 of this Act, this section was first made applicable from 6th May, 1935 to all the municipal areas in that Province. From 1-4-1955 the section has now been extended to the entire State of Punjab, see foot notes to S. 1 (text). But in those areas to which the section did not apply the definition of 'sale' in this section was adopted as embodying a general principle(19), but not the special modes of transfer specified by it, as these could not be said to be general principles of law enacted in the section. Before 1-4-1955 in those areas of Punjab to which this section was not extended, an oral sale was, therefore valid(20) and no delivery of possession was necessary(21). But where a sale of property of the value of rupees one hundred or more was intended and there was a deed of sale, it had to be registered under S. 17 of the Registration Act and unless registered, it did not affect the immovable property nor was it admissible as evidence of the sale(22). As the last clause of the section did not apply in those areas, a contract of sale was held to 15. AIR 1988 SC 1074 (1070, 1079) : 1988 (1) JT 652 (2).

16. AIR 1937 Mad 882 (886) : ILR (1937) Mad 638 (FB). (Per Stone J.)

17. ILR (1996) 3 Ker 651 (658).

18. 1999 AIHC 2147 (2149) : 1999 (2) Gauhati LR 219.

19. AIR 1910 Lah 155 (156) : 1916 Pun Re No. 53 (FB).

[See AIR 1936 Lah 612 (615).]

20. 1971 Sim LJ 411 (414) (Delhi) (Oral sale of land in Part B State of Pepsu prior to its merger in Part A State of Punjab was valid as TP Act was not made applicable to that area.)  AIR 1990 Punj & Har 89 (90)  AIR 1989 Him Pra 23 (25) 1988 (1) Sim LC 340  (1986) 2 Land LR 646 (647) (Punj & Har)  1969 Pun LJ 560 (564) (DB) (Oral transfer of land in the Punjab subsequent to 1-4-55 i.e. after coming into force of the TP Act and Registration Act would not be valid.)  AIR 1961 Punj 378 (381) ILR (1961) 2 Punj 293 (DB)  AIR 1937 Lah 507 (513) ILR (1957) Lah 171 (DB) (No formal sale deed was drawn up as purchaser failed to pay the balance of consideration but mutation proceedings showed that a verbal sale was alleged to have taken place and vendor himself had applied for the mutation to be attested — Held, such a verbal sale was permissible in the Punjab.)  AIR 1933 Lah 262 (263)  1897 Pun Re No. 52, p. 229 (233) (DB)  (1931) 133 Ind Cas 551 (552) (DB) (Lah).

[See also AIR 1923 Lah 310 (310) (Where sale price is one hundred rupees and the sale deed is not registered the transfer is still a sale.)]

21. (1928) 110 Ind Cas 243 (244) (Lah).

22. AIR 1942 PC 67 (68, 69) : 69 Ind App 130.

create an equitable interest in the property in favour of the buyer on the analogy of the English law(23).

In the State of Himachal Pradesh any transaction entered into between the parties under Ss 54, 58, 122 and 123 of the T P Act are to be compulsorily registered(24)

It has been held by the Rajasthan High Court that, although the technical rules of this section would not apply in areas to which this Act does not apply, yet before a Court would hold that there is an oral sale, it would require to be convinced that there was either the payment of entire consideration by the vendor to the vendee or that possession of the property had been made over to him(25).

In the former Gwalior State where the T P Act was not applicable the sale was complete when the vendor transferred the ownership and accepted the price(26)

In order that the plea of the defendant that earlier owner's title was under oral sale and thus defective, can succeed, he must prove that S 54 applied to suit land area(27).

So far as transfer of agricultural land is concerned, the State Legislature has exclusive jurisdiction in the matter and the provisions of a State Act relating to that topic override the provisions of this section(28).

Where the area of the plot as mentioned in the sale deed as well as in the site plan is the same but the map differs, the term of the grant must prevail. The right to property has to be expressed in the title and when so expressed will not be limited by map(29)

When there is no evidence to prove that the property is ancestral, its sale by the karta of the Hindu joint family will not be illegal on ground that consent of other coparceners was not taken or that there was no legal necessity(30).

Where the sale deed was exempted by the karta of Hindu joint family when plaintiffs were minor, plaintiffs would have right to challenge the sale deed in toto. No doubt, such sale is not void per se, but becomes voidable as soon as the option is exercised by the minors through their guardian(31).

In the instant case(32) parties belonged to a Scheduled Tribe in Himachal Pradesh having custom that female would hold property to her lifetime or till she remarried. Plaintiff claimed that widow of his brother remarried and that therefore sale deed of her property executed by her was invalid. The defendant however, took the plea that she sold the property for legal necessity viz. returning debt of her husband and spending money for his ritual on his death. It was however shown

23. AIR 1941 Lah 240 (240)  AIR 1930 Lah 131 (132) (DB) (Vendor becomes trustee of the property for the vendee and the vendee becomes a trustee for the vendor in respect of the purchase money)

[See also AIR 1937 Lah 764 (765) (DB).]

[See however AIR 1961 Punj 378 (381) 1LR (1961) 2 Punj 293 (DB) (Obiter. Even if S 54 is not applicable the equitable principles of English law cannot be invoked for treating the transaction as tantamount to transfer of ownership)]

24. 1998 (1) Shim LC 492 (495) (Him Pra)

25. AIR 1955 Raj 70 (72) : ILR (1954) 4 Raj 705 (DB).

26. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 237 (238).

27. 1998 AIHC 4788 (4794) : 1998 (1) Ren CR 207 (Delhi).

28. AIR 1951 Onssa 11 (12, 13) : ILR (1950) Cut 322 (DB)

29. AIR 1993 Delhi 19 (22) : 1992 (24) DRJ 532

30. AIR 1992 Onssa 170 (176).

31. AIR 2002 Raj 370 (377).

32. AIR 2002 Him Pra 77 (85) : 2002 (1) Sim LC 308

that sale consideration was deposited in bank in joint name in herself and her second husband. It was held that plea of legal necessity was not maintainable and sale was invalid.

Transferee landlord cannot take advantage of the defaults committed by tenant in paying rent long before the transfer(33).

In the case of a transfer as defined in the Explanation to S. 4 of the T-P Act by the individual, the property cannot be said to belong to the individual, unless it is within the clutches of S. 4 of the T-P Act, notwithstanding the fact that the transfer had not been effected as contemplated under S. 54 of the T-P Act or under the Registration Act(34).

The transfer contemplated under S. 32(5) of the Bangalore Development Authority Act need not be in terms of T-P Act, though the Authority exercises its right over the properties leased(35).

The provisions of Transfer of Property Act are fully applicable while effecting a transfer of holding by a bhumidhar and therefore any transfer of any holding regarding an amount of Rs. 100/- or more can be only executed by registered documents(36).

In a suit for specific performance some defendants raised the plea that they were bona fide purchasers for value without notice to the suit agreement. However none were examined to prove their case. In the absence of relevant and unimpeachable evidence in their favour, their plea was liable to be rejected(37).

Merely because one of the boundaries of the land sold is described as 'neighbour's land', the sale deed could not be challenged as an inchoate document, when a recital in the sale deed mentions that the boundaries are fully described in the plan annexed and when the plan clearly shows the dimensions and boundaries of the land sold and the details of the neighbour's land shown as a boundary in the sale deed(38).

There was an agreement between the landlord and tenant regarding construction of house on the land belonging to the landlord. By the agreement respondent/tenant was allowed only right to construct the house on the land and to occupy it. Of course the tenant was also allowed to buy the land. Reading the agreement as a whole it is clear that right to buy a land was in respect of the area on which the house stands. The agreement did not give right to the tenant to buy the entire area(39).

Where it was the intention of parties to come to a definite and complete agreement on subject of sale of property, subject to the exercise of option by purchaser in accordance with terms stated in option, the mere fact that it was subject to an agreement to be signed did not necessarily mean, that there was no legal binding and enforceable agreement, even when the option had been properly exercised(40).

2. Government grants.

This section has no application to grants made by the Government under the Government Grants Act, 1895(1).

33. AIR 1989 Pat 13 (18) : 1988 Pat LJR (HC) 950

34. (1997) 226 JTR 654 (669).

35. ILR (1997) Kant 705 (710)

36. 2002 All LJ 680 (685, 686) 2002 AIHC 1882 2002 (1) All CJ 622

37. 2000 (4) Andh LD 136 (158).

38. 2001 (5) Andh LD 102 (111).

39. AIR 1990 Gauhati 87 (90)

40. 1984 (2) Malayan LJ 48 (52).

Section 54 — Note 2

1. See Section 2 of Act XV of 1895  AIR 1931 Pat 268 (270) 10 Pat 203 (DB) (A sale by Government for less than Rs. 100 requires a sale deed.)

3. Transfer under decree or order of Court.

A transfer under a decree or order of Court is outside the operation of this section. The reason is firstly, that such a transfer cannot, as has been seen in Note 3 on S. 5, be considered to be a transfer by act of parties and is, therefore, not a "transfer of property" at all(1) and secondly S. 2 cl. (d) provides that nothing in this Act shall be deemed to affect any transfer by operation of law or by, or in execution of, a decree or order of a Court of competent jurisdiction. Such a transfer need not, therefore, be made by a registered instrument as is required by this section. Thus a sale in execution of a decree need not fulfil the conditions of this section and need not be registered(2). The assignment of a security bond by the Court in favour of a party is not a sale(3). A transfer effected by a compromise decree of a Court cannot be treated as a sale pre-emptible under the Agra Pre-emption Act (1922), though such a compromise transfers property from one party to another for a price(4).

Where a decree for declaration of ownership is passed in favour of the plaintiff but the same is not registered and there is also no transfer of the suit property in favour of plaintiff earlier to passing of the decree, the ownership will not pass to the plaintiff on basis of the decree, it being not registered, as required under S. 54 of the T. P. Act read with S. 17 of the Registration Act(5).

There is a difference of opinion on the question whether a sale by the Official Receiver in insolvency with the sanction of the Court is a transfer by operation of law, or by or in execution of a decree or order of Court. According to a Full Bench decision of the Madras High Court(6) it is not. The same view has been held by the High Courts of Calcutta(7) and Allahabad(8). A contrary

Section 54 — Note 3

1. AIR 1928 All 67 (68) : 50 All 454 (DB)

[See however AIR 1966 Mys 299 (303) (Contract of sale executed by Court in pursuance of decree for specific performance — It is transfer by Court on behalf of judgment debtor and has got all characteristics of transfer inter vivos)]

2. AIR 1960 Punj 630 (632) : ILR (1959) Punj 53 (DB) — Sale of minor's property under direction of guardian Court — Sale is governed by S. 2 (3) and not hit by S. 54 — Fact that Court passed order on application by guardian of minor would not detract from order being order of Court — AIR 1924 Lah 48. Dissented from :  (1889) 2 C.P.L.R. 137 (138)

3. AIR 1931 All 389 (390) : 53 All 786 (FB).

4. AIR 1931 All 741 (742) : 53 All 100 (DB)  AIR 1928 All 67 (68) : 50 All 454 (DB)

[See however (1961) 63 Pun LR 345 (346) (Suit to avoid alienation and possession paid within certain period — Compromise decree held not a sale — Right recognised by decree was only a right to avoid unauthorised transfer and not a right of reconveyance)  AIR 1951 Nag 129 (131) : ILR (1949) Nag 625 (DB) (Settlement of debt by Debt Conciliation Board — Claim of Rs. 1,000 conciliated for Rs. 6,000 — Debtor executing sale deed of his fields in favour of creditor for the amount — Transaction held voluntary transfer giving rise to right to pre-empt.)]

5. AIR 1986 Punj & Har 197 (200) : 1985 (2) 88 Pun LR 593

6. AIR 1927 Mad 1 (3) : 50 Mad 135 (FB). (Per Full Bench Krishna J. Dissenting.)

[See also AIR 1935 Mad 55 (55) (DB) (Official Receiver executing transfer to auction purchaser — It is not exempt from registration)  AIR 1939 Mad 220 (223) (A sale by Official Receiver is a private sale.)]

7. AIR 1919 Cal 193 (193) : 46 Cal 887 (DB) (A conveyance in writing and registered is necessary to pass title from the Receiver of an insolvent's estate to a purchaser from him.)]

8. AIR 1942 All 39 (41) : ILR (1942) All 120 (DB)

view has been expressed by the Chief Court of Oudh in Wazirey v Mathura Prasad(9), a case decided by a single Judge, on the ground that it is in the nature of a Court sale and that its validity really depended on the order of the Insolvency Court vesting the property in the Official Receiver. But a later Division Bench of the same Court(10), has dissented from this view and has followed the view taken by the High Courts of Calcutta and Madras. Where no Receiver in insolvency is appointed and the Court by virtue of the powers conferred on it by S. 58 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920, sells the property, it has been held by the Rangoon High Court that the same must only be made by a registered instrument(11). According to that Court, S. 54 makes a registered deed requisite by whomsoever the sale is undertaken, except when it can clearly be shown that the sale takes place, for example, under the provisions of O. 21 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

Where the suit for possession against non-agricultural tenant on determination of tenancy right is decreed in favour of landlord on payment of compensation to tenant for structure erected by him, the tenancy right of that structure in respect of sub-tenant of the tenant does not transfer to the landlord merely on paying the compensation. The decree is to be executed or the possession is to be obtained by landlord as required by S. 70 of West Bengal Non-Agricultural Tenancy Act and the case will not be 'sale' under T. P. Act or otherwise(12).

See also S. 2, Note 6

3-A. Compulsory acquisition of property by Government.

Compulsory acquisition of property by the Government is a unilateral act and can never be said to be a 'sale'. There is nothing voluntary about the transaction(1). Transfer of ownership of tangible immovable property of the value of one hundred rupees and upwards can take place only by sale made under a registered document as required u/S. 54.

Unless a statute itself provides for vesting and transfer of immovable property from one person to another by acquisition, the transfer of ownership of property cannot be said to have taken place, even if the property had been forcibly taken over or the possession of the same had been given voluntarily(2). Where a person/purchaser claims to be in possession of the land in view of agreement for sale of the land and claimed higher compensation for the land acquired by the Govt. and it being settled law that the agreement of sale does not confer title, then the agreement holder even assuming the agreement to be valid, does not acquire any title to the property, and is not entitled to compensation. Moreover the agreement being subsequent to notification u/S. 4 of Land

9. AIR 1939 Oudh 55 (56) 14 Luck 404 (AIR 1927 Mad 1 (FB) distinguished on the ground that no sanction for the sale had been obtained in this case)

10. AIR 1942 Oudh 424 (425) 18 Luck 433 (DB) (Sale of insolvent's property by Official Receiver — Transfer is not by operation of law or by or in execution of decree or order of Court within S. 2(d), T.P. Act — Purchaser is entitled only to sale deed from Official Receiver and not sale certificate — Even if the insolvency Court ordered the sale and acceptance of the bid which it had no jurisdiction to do, it could not make any difference in the nature of the sale)

11. AIR 1940 Rang 186 (187) : 1940 Rang LR 263 (DB).

12. AIR 1979 Cal 160 (1979) 83 Cal WN 195 (DB) (Decree for possession in favour of landlord on payment of compensation to the tenant for structure erected by him — It is not a case of sale)

Section 54 — Note 3A

1. AIR 1977 Raj 80 1976 Raj LW 372 (DB)  1968 BLJR 710 (713) (Acquisition of land under S. 50 of the Chhota Nagpur Tenancy Act does not require formalities under S. 54.)
 AIR 1951 Cal 151 (152) (Pr 18) ILR (1952) 1 Cal 263 (DB) (Compulsory sale is a contradiction in terms.)

2. AIR 1955 SC 1058 (1063, 1064) : 1995 AIR SCW 1068 : 1995 All LJ 759 : 1995 Supp (2) SCC 667.

Acquisition Act, it is not binding on the Government(3)

4. Muhammadan law.

As seen in Note 1 on S 9 the Muhammadan law does not require any writing for the validity of a transfer. This rule of Muhammadan law is preserved by S 129 so far as gifts of property are concerned. But the rule has been rendered obsolete by this section so far as sales of property are concerned(1). It may be noted that the last clause of S 2 only provides that Chapter II of this Act shall not affect any rule of Muhammadan law.

There is a difference of opinion as to whether a hiba-bil-ewaz (gift for consideration) is a sale within the meaning of this section or a gift. The question arises by virtue of the fact that while a gift under the Muhammadan law need not be in writing, a sale for more than one hundred rupees would require a registered instrument for its validity. According to the Chief Court of Oudh a hiba-bil-ewaz is a hiba and not a sale and therefore need not be in writing(2). The Calcutta and the Assam High Courts have, on the other hand, held that a hiba-bil-ewaz is in reality a sale and must conform to the provisions of this section(3). The High Courts of Madras(4), Nagpur(5) and Allahabad(6) have also taken a similar view. The Patna High Court has held that a gift of immovable property by a Muhammadan in favour of his wife in lieu of dower is not a true hiba-bil-ewaz but a sale and so can only be effected by a registered deed if the value of the property is Rs. 100 or upwards(7). The Karnataka High Court(8) also held that a gift given in lieu of mahr, if not registered within the meaning of S 17 of the Registration Act, such a gift is invalid in the eye of law. The Hyderabad(9) High Court, however, has taken a contrary view.

3. AIR 1995 SC 1891 (1891) : 1995 AIR SCW 2940 : (1995) 4 SCC 147.

Section 54 — Note 4

1. (1912) 16 Ind Cas 679 (680) (DB) (All)

2. AIR 1934 Oudh 163 (165) (DB)

3. ILR (1949) 1 Assam 478 (479) (Held: Revenue Courts in Assam were bound by the Calcutta view until the competent Courts in Assam took a different view.  AIR 1954 Cal 693 (693) (DB)

4. (1976) 89 Mad LW 378 (380, 381)  AIR 1952 Mad 671 (674) ILR (1952) Mad 1019 (DB)

5. AIR 1951 Nag 428 (430) · ILR (1949) Nag 426 (DB)

6. AIR 1951 All 86 (92, 93) : ILR (1952) 1 All 477 (FB) (A transfer may have all the attributes of a true hiba-bil-ewaz known to Muhammadan law and it may also be treated as such, but if it falls within the purview of S 54 T.P. Act and is not effected in the manner provided therein, it will be inoperative and ineffectual in law — The delivery of possession under such a transfer will also be ineffectual as against the real owner of the property — AIR 1936 All 600 and AIR 1957 All 25. Overruled  1972 Rep (C) 584 (All)

[See also AIR 1983 All 363 (364) 1983 All WC 513 (Possession of house obtained on basis of sale deed — Sale deed executed in consideration of Nikah — Sale held invalid where the consideration for transfer is not price but a thing of value, the transaction is called an exchange as defined under S 118 of Transfer of Property Act.)]

7. AIR 1978 Pat 197 : 1978 Tax LR 624 (633) : 1977 BLJR 437 (FB)  AIR 1949 Pat 237 (240) 26 Pat 561 (DB) (It is a question whether it is implied that a true hiba-bil-ewaz would be a gift and not a sale.)

8. 1998 (4) Kant LJ 643 (646)

9. AIR 1952 Hyd 4 (5) ILR (1952) Hyd 7 (DB) (Property given in lieu of dower and not in consideration of the wife having relinquished her 'mehr' — There is only a gift and not a sale)

A Muhamedan executed a Mehernama in favour of his wife, it was clear from recitals in the Mehernama that at the time it was executed the dower had become a debt. It was also clear that the donor had alienated the suit house in lieu of Meher (dower) amount. The ascertained amount of Meher which was debt since it was not paid to the wife by her husband was mentioned in the Mehernama. It was held that the said amount of Meher constituted 'price' within the meaning of S. 54. Thus the Mehernama was clearly a deed of sale and since the property was worth more than Rs. 100/- the document required registration. In the absence of registration, title in the suit house would not pass to the wife by virtue of the said Mehernama(10).

A transfer of immovable property by a Mohammedan husband in favour of his wife discharging the dower debt does not involve two reciprocal gifts but is only one contract such Hiba bil-ewaz as recognised in our country is a sale within the meaning of S. 5 and unless made by a written instrument duly registered, it cannot convey title to the person in whose favour it is made(11).

The Kerala High Court(12) held that 'Hiba' or gift under Mohammedan law is a transfer of property made immediately and without any exchange by one person to another and accepted by or on behalf of the latter. By virtue of S. 129 T.P. Act, the chapter does not affect any rule of Mohammedan law and therefore 'Hiba' of subject-matter of whatever value need not be registered as required by S. 123. If however it is reduced into writing and relates to immovable property worth Rs. 100/- or more the document is compulsorily registrable u/S. 17 of the Registration Act which applies. On the other hand Hiba-bil-ewaz in India being a gift for an exchange is in the nature of a sale and if the subject matter is immovable property worth Rs. 100/- or more then it can only be by a registered instrument as provided u/S. 54 of T.P. Act. Oral gift in discharge of money owed to the donee being one for consideration amounts to sale. It was not pure and simple Hiba but a Hiba-bil-ewaz and if the property of value of Rs. 100/- or more is involved it can only be by a registered document.

There was also a conflict of opinion on the question whether for the purposes of pre-emption under the Muhammadan law it is sufficient if a transaction amounted to a sale under the Muhammedan law though it might not be valid as a sale under this section. According to one view, a sale valid under the Muhammadan law, is sufficient to give rise to a right of pre-emption under that law though the transaction may not be valid as a sale under this Act(13). A second view was that Muhammadan rules of law as to sales were superseded by the general law of sales enacted by this Act which therefore must be taken to govern the incidents of sale in applying the Muhammadan law of pre-emption(14). And a third view was that the intention of the parties must be looked at to determine what system of law was to be applied(15). The Privy Council in Sattaram v. Saheb Khan Hasan Khan(16) had approved the third view abovestated. The conflict must be taken as now set

10. 1986 Mah LR 183 (188)

11. 1995 (2) Cur CC 22 (26) (All)

12. AIR 1989 Ker 148 (151, 152) : 1988 (1) Ker LT 409

13. (1894) 16 All 344 (351) (FB), (Per Banerji, J. contra)  (1885) 7 All 482 (489, 490) (FB)  AIR 1931 Nag 166 (167) : 27 Nag LR 392  AIR 1922 Bom 124 (125) : 46 Bom 312 (DB)  (1900) 22 All 343 (345) (DB)

14. AIR 1957 Pat 546 (547) : ILR 36 Pat 114 (DB) (AIR 1916 Pat 364 (Foll.))  AIR 1916 Pat 364 (366) : 1 Pat L Jour 174 (DB)  AIR 1914 Cal 234 (236) : 41 Cal 943 (DB)

15. (1908) 35 Cal 575 (599) (DB) (It was held in this case that the vendor and the vendee did not regard the sale as complete till the price had been paid and the deed registered)

[See also (1955) Madh BLJ (HCR) 828 (833) (True test to determine date on which right to pre-emption accrued is to look at intention of parties and to ascertain what was the date with reference to which parties intended sale to be effectual — Case under Qawan Huj Shafa Gwahor.)]

16. AIR 1923 PC 41 (44) : 48 Ind App 475 : 45 Bom 1056.

filed by the decisions of the Supreme Court(17) which, however, have approved the second view and have now laid down that where the Transfer of Property Act applies the provisions of the Act supersede the principles of the Muhammadan law as to sale and it is the statute that one should look to to find out whether, and if so when, a sale is complete in order to give effect to a right of pre-emption.

Transfer of interest of Muslim minor in immovable property by his de facto guardian is void(18)

5. "Transfer of ownership".

In order to constitute a sale there must be a transfer of ownership from one person to another. A transfer of ownership by a person means a transfer by such person of his rights and interests in the property, in full and permanently. A transfer of a part only of such interests or for a particular period reserving the rest for the transferor himself is not a transfer of ownership(1). But it is not necessary that the transferor should be a full proprietor. He may be the owner of a partial interest in the property such as that of a mortgagee or an occupancy tenant(2)

A transaction of sale is neither sham nor nominal, if the intention of the vendor is to confer title on the vendee(3)

Upon every transfer of property all the rights and claims including those which are capable of being waived and which are not exercised do not automatically pass to the transferee, whether they relate to property or as to property. Even if they are rights conferred upon the landlord, they do not include a successor in interest. So in the absence of any express words in the sale deed, the right of the landlord to terminate tenancy does not pass to the purchaser merely on the purchase of the property.(4)

Where property belonging to firm was transferred to another firm which was constituted by old partner with substitution of one new partner. Thus it was merely change in the constitution of the firm. As some partners in both the firms were common, they could not sell property to themselves and therefore taking over of assets of firm by reconstituted firm did not amount to sale in eye of law and therefore profits obtained from the property could not be included in the income of firm(5)

Where there is no transfer of ownership, the transaction, though in form a sale, cannot be

17. AIR 1961 SC 1747 (1750) : (1962) 2 SCR 474. (AIR 1960 SC 1368. Fol. — Sale of tangible immovable property of value of Rs. 1000 or upwards — Sale is not complete until registration of instrument.  AIR 1960 SC 1368 (1371) : (1961) 1 SCR 248. AIR 1953 Nag 182, Reversed  AIR 1939 Nag 35. Overruled.)

18. AIR 1967 Mad 369 : 79 Mad LW 657 (DB).

Section 54 — Note 5

1. 1907 Pun Re No. 136 p. 652 (654).  1903 29 Mad 405 (418) (DB). — Land of zamindar granted on condition of rendering services and paying certain sum of money to zamindar — Ownership remains in the zamindar)

2. 1907 Pun Re No. 136, p. 652 (654) (DB).

(See also AIR 1935, A. S. in 20, 22, Pr. 18, 19, 20. (AIR 1960 2 Assam 1) (DB). — Neither S. 11, Assam Land and Revenue Regulations nor R. 10 of the Rules framed under that Act prohibits transfer by sale etc. of land held under annual patta from Government. They permit transfers but the transfers are limited in their duration to the period covered by the annual patta.)

3. 1984 TN LJ 442 (448)
4. 1982 Mah LJ 738 (747) : (1983) 1 Ren CR 185
5. 1982 Tax LR 1279 : 1983 MPLJ 300 (DB)

considered to be a sale. Thus, a sham transaction not intended to pass any title is not a sale(6). Where the sale deed was executed by the plaintiff for the purpose of saving the property from the creditors and in the conspiracy the defendant was also a party, the both parties being in pari delicto neither the plaintiff nor the defendant could be permitted to take advantage of such transaction(7). The tenor of the document in the instant case indicated that there was no question of outright sale. In a document of outright sale this type of language would not be used. Normally the document would mention that the property is sold for consideration stated therein. The document would not merely state that the transferee is made owner of the property, but would state that the transferee had become owner of the property and that he is entitled to deal with it as owner, in any manner he likes by sale, gift, mortgage or lease. There is no recital in the document that transferee was entitled to deal with the property as an absolute owner and that he can transfer it to any person by way of sale, gift, mortgage or lease. The document further an the other hand stated that the sale was subject to a condition stated previously. It also indicates that the executor never intended to transfer the property absolute(8). A bona fide settlement of a disputed claim which is a mere recognition of each other's antecedent title is not a sale(9).

The assessee-trust obtained certain immovable properties under an agreement. The properties were possessed by the trust but the agreement was not executed as required by law and was not registered. The claim of the assessee was that the possessory right under the agreement complied with the use thereof made it eligible to deduction of depreciation under the Income Tax Act.

Held that the ownership in properties did not vest in the assessee and hence depreciation could not be allowed.

Under S. 34 of the I.T. Act, 1961, depreciation is allowed only to an owner of properties who was the asset in question. Both the conditions—ownership and asset—have to be satisfied.

6. 1981 UPLT No. 68 (Shanti and others v. State of N.E.P.) 1981 Pesh 27 (DB) that even if consideration is not a valid ground for awarding promotion.  AIR 1964 Guj 24 (S.C.) ILR 1960 Calcutta 100 (S.C.)  AIR 1960 M.L. 887 (886)  AIR 1939 Pesh 27 (28, 29) (DB)  AIR 1937 Oudh 403 (1901-13 Luck 454) (DB)  AIR 1932 Bom 247 (247) S6 Bom 556 (DB)

[See also 1964-1 Mod LJ 563. — Property conveyed by owner by void registered instrument followed by transfer of reg str. — Person, who is the beneficiary of no that ostensible vendee is mere purchaser. — Ben. transferee's liability.]

7. AIR 1990 All 47 (49); 1989 All WC 1271.

- B. (1986) (27) 2 GULR 1133 (1136).

9. AIR 1920 All 788 (789) (DB)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 267 (268) (DB) (Alam), A deed of release whereby the releaser's heirs undertake to save the releasee's life, honor, and family life settlement of a family's dispute even though the releasee is a Hindu, and
 (1910) 34 Bom 139 (141) (DB)

[See AIR 1932 Lah 281 (287) : 13 Lah 70 (DB)]

[illegible]

It must be remembered that Tax laws do not stand in relation from the general law of the country. The Transfer of Property Act or the Registration Act, would certainly insist on document in writing and duly registered, for the recognition of a transfer of title of immovable property of the value of over Rs 100/- A mere agreement of sale will not do duty for a proper sale deed duly executed. The context of S 32 of the I.-T. Act would not clothe with ownership a mere possessor of some beneficial interest. Section 53-A of T. P. Act which only furnished on equipment of equity, is not effective enough for the acquisition of title or obtaining of the ownership. When such a vital condition regarding ownership of the asset is not satisfied, the claim for deduction is bound to be rejected. This is the correct view to be taken in relation to the claim for deduction under the head of depreciation(10).

Section 224-C (as it stood prior to U. P. Act 45 of 1975) of the U. P. Municipalities Act (1916) empowers the Municipal Board to obtain sale of water works from the licensee only after price is agreed upon. In the absence of sale as contemplated under S. 54, transfer of property in water works could not have taken place even if such water works has been forcibly taken over by the Municipal Board or the possession had been given voluntarily by the licensee. The U. P. Act does not by itself provide for vesting or transfer of immovable property by acquisition(11).

The question whether there has been a transfer of ownership in any particular case will depend upon the intention of the parties and this again must be ascertained from the facts and circumstances of the particular case(12). It is settled law that if the term in the sale deed is not ambiguous

10. 1987 Tax LR 1259 (1264, 1265) : (1987) 2 Ker LT 485 (FB).

11. AIR 1995 SC 1058 (1963) : 1995 AIR SCW 1068 : 1995 All LJ 759 : 1995 Supp (2) SCC 667.

12. (1965) 31 Cut LT 233 (235). Document executed and registered and possession given — Absolute character of legal title of transferee postponed till expiry of certain date — Document also providing for avoidance of entire transaction on repayment by transferor — These two features are inconsistent with sale)  AIR 1992 Madh Pra 22 (27) (Held on interpretation of the document that it was an out and out sale. There was nothing in the document stipulating reconveyance on repayment of consideration along with interest. Repurchase agreement was also not executed contemporaneously but was executed subsequently.)  AIR 1964 Guj 174 (181) : ILR (1963) Guj 739  1959 Raj LW 283 (284) (DB) (Sale of property — Registered deed — Patta under not obtained from Nazool Department — Non-acquisition of patta held did not detract from title vested in vendee)  AIR 1957 Bom 236 (237) : ILR (1957) Bom 769 (Sauda chitti showing intention to pass ownership only upon the execution of a further deed of sale after obtaining the permission of the Deputy Commissioner in view of the existence of the scheme under S. 11, Relief of Indebtedness Act, was held not to be a sale but only a contract for sale)  1956 Andh WR 569 (571) (DB)  AIR 1957 Manipur 9 (11). (Where the contents of the deed clearly show that it is an out and out sale deed, the mere fact that the word 'Mahajan' has been used in the deed will not be sufficient to prove that the deed was only intended to embody a loan transaction)  AIR 1953 Mad 545 (547-548)  AIR 1952 All 200 (203-204) (DB) (Condition of repurchase embodied in deed itself is not necessarily conclusive on the question whether the transaction is mortgage by conditional sale or sale with condition of repurchase — Intention of parties has to be gathered from deed and surrounding circumstances)  AIR 1951 Nag 403 (405) : ILR (1950) Nag 25 (Document described as an agreement and stamped as such, and without words of conveyance therein and clearly stating that a sale deed will be executed in future must be regarded as an agreement and not a conveyance)  AIR 1951 Pat 454 (457) (Suit for declaration of title and possession — Suit filed within 9 days after execution and registration of sale deed — Held, that non-delivery of document and possession to vendee are not important circumstances in determining whether it was the intention of the parties that the ownership should pass on payment of entire consideration money)  AIR 1950 All 632 (638) : ILR (1953) 1 All 265 (DB) (Where there is intention to transfer ownership immediately, a condition for reversion of ownership of vendor on the failure of vendee performing his part does not detract from transaction being a completed sale. If such a condition is void under law it would be ignored but will not affect the effect of the then any external aid to find out the true intention of the parties cannot be availed of and the narration in the document would be the sole determining feature(13) Where on a construction of a document transferring title to hold a property it is clear that the intention of the parties was to transfer a parcel of land within well defined boundaries, any erroneous statement of survey number or omission to state it, should be rejected as falsa demonstratis(14).

Certified copy of the sale deed which is registered and copied in Book under the Registration Act is admissible as secondary evidence since the Register in the Registration office is a public document (15) Where some of the co-owners executed an acknowledgment deed acknowledging the sale deed executed by other co-owners on previous day, reason stating, therein, that they were absent on that day, their intention is held to convey their interest in the suit properties in favour of the purchaser.(16)

sale deed)  (1949) All LJ 566 (574-575-577) (DB) (Heirs of A entering into agreement with B — B agreeing to finance heirs to recover properties left by A — B to become owner of certain property in lieu of his aid — Agreement called agreement of partnership — On construction of document held parties intended that title to property should be conveyed under document and further document was not contemplated)  AIR 1936 Oudh 410 (411, 412) 12 Luck 339 (DB) (Vendor wanting to recover possession of property to be transferred — Agreement of transfer executed, registered and stamped as sale agreement held to be sale deed)  AIR 1935 Oudh 27 (29) 10 Luck 289 (Transaction alleged to be shankalapnama by chela to his guru — Usufructuary mortgage on same date of another property by guru to chela to be redeemed at future date — Shankalapnama held in reality to be sale)  AIR 1935 Rang 149 (149-150) (Right title and interest relinquished as other party had agreed not to demand payment of money — Held, deed was not one of pure release but was one of conveyance)  AIR 1938 Oudh 25 (26) 2 Luck 416 (DB) (A transfer of a limited right subject to annual payment of rent is not a sale so as to give rise to a right of pre-emption, even if the annual payment of rent is so small that it was clearly the object of the transferor to effect the transfer in such manner as to avoid the possibility of pre-emption and obtain the same results as would be obtained by the execution of a deed of sale)  AIR 1925 Lah 284 (285) (The Court must look to all the terms of the document and the fate of the document cannot be determined with reference merely to certain incorrect phraseology used by the scribe)  AIR 1920 Oudh 109 (111) 23 Oudh Cas 50 (A deed described as sankalapnama with power of transfer recited that the grantors had received from the grantees Rs. 84 which was described as zar-i-peshgi yani barthki and that in consideration of this payment they had openly put the grantees in possession of certain land and that the grantees were to remain in possession forever, subject to an annual payment of Rs. 3 on account of malguzari sarkari — It was held that the document was an out and out sale of an under proprietary right and was therefore subject to pre-emption)  (1928) 109 Ind Cas 268 (270-271) (DB) (Pat)  (1926) 98 Ind Cas 729 (730) (DB) (Mad)  (1912) 37 Bom 53 (56) (DB) (Deed described as contract of sale registered — Deed providing that on certain events happening, property should be regarded as sold — Vendee put into possession — Held, there was transfer)  (1910) 7 Ind Cas 568 (569) (DB) (Lah) (Payment of part of consideration does not necessarily imply that there is an out and out sale and not a contract to sell.)

[See also AIR 1962 Assam 143 (144-145) ILR (1962) 14 Assam 478 (DB) (Sale of land in Khasi States — Permission of Deputy Commissioner not obtained — Sale is not void ab initio — Order of Assistant Political Officer, Khasi States showing that transaction was not recognised is executive order and not by Court — Such order is not conclusive between parties so as to take away title of purchaser)  AIR 1920 Bom 369 (370) (DB) (Whether rajnamah and Kabuliyat form sale deed depends upon circumstances — Intention to transfer ownership is necessary.)]

13. AIR 1986 Orissa 196 (198) : (1986) 61 Cut LT 480

14. AIR 1986 Ker 236 (237)

15. AIR 1989 Orissa 27 (31) : (1988) 65 Cut LT 586

16. AIR 1978 Orissa 82 (83) 44 Cut LT 576 (DB)  1987 Supp SCC 689 (690).

Where however, the purchasers were well aware that the vender has some share in the properties but they never approached the other share holders (co owners) before purchasing the property, it could not be said that they were bona fide purchasers for value (17) The recitals in the document on which a suit for possession and title was based, were not decisive and there was no clear conveyance that the executant conveyed the title in favour of the vender from the date of execution of the document, recital as to consideration did not come as an independent clause. Terms regarding passing of title and consideration were intermingled. The document was in the custody of the executant and possession of land was not delivered to the vendee. In the circumstances held that the intention of the parties was not that the title would pass under the document immediately on its execution (18).

Where recitals of the sale deed clearly show that vender conveyed title to the vendee on the date of execution of the document and evidence shows that the consideration has passed under the sale deed, there is a transfer of title to the vendee (19)

Where the suit properties were sold and the vendee undertook to discharge the mortgage debts to the mortgagee of the vendor and that undertaking formed part of the consideration and agreement to reconvey was also alleged, the possession of the property was given to vendee. A part of the consideration was paid by vendee to vendor at the time of execution of sale. Records stood mutated in the name of the vendee, from the mere fact that the mortgage debts were not discharged by the vendee, it could not be said that the sale transaction was nominal (20)

The passing of title in the property which is transferred does not always depend on payment of consideration. (21)

Where a sale deed was got executed from an illiterate woman who did not understand what the document was and no consideration was given, the sale would be sham, invalid and no title would pass to the purchaser (22)

It is no doubt true that S. 54 defines sale to be a transfer of ownership in exchange for a price paid or promised or part-paid and part-promised. But from this it does not follow that even a transferee deceives a transferor and leads him to execute a document on basis of a false statement. The document should be held to be valid transfer of property to transferee. A wrongdoer (23) Before the transfer could be pre-empted, it must be sale which further means transfer of ownership. Therefore sale of Pattedari Dwami rights could not be transfer of ownership as contemplated under section 54 of the Act. Right of pre-emption under section 4 of Punjab Pre-emption Act is in respect of sale and sale necessarily implies transfer of ownership (24) It is not necessary that the word 'convey' or any formal term should be employed, it is sufficient if the document shows that transfer of ownership for a price was intended (25) The words "bikri", "farokhi", "kharidar", "bar" and "khandigi" ordinarily will imply a sale (26) But the mere fact that a deed is styled a sale deed and that word used for the purpose of the transfer is "sale", cannot preclude the Court from ascertaining the true nature of a transaction by construing the deed as a whole (27) A transaction is known by the right it confers

17. AIR 1987 Mad 129 (139)

18. AIR 1984 Orissa 111 (115) : (1984) 1 Orissa LR 135

19. (1974) 2 Cut WR 978

20. AIR 1985 Mad 222 (234) : 1984 TLNJ 442

21. (1972) 1 Cut WR 338 (342)

22. (1975) 41 Cut LT 978 (986)

23. (1978) 80 Pun LR 41 : 1978 Reve LR 110 (112)

24. (1982) 84 Pun LR 278 (280) : 1982 Rev LR 589  1982 Rev LR 278 (280) (P & H)

25. AIR 1936 Mad 918 (919)

26. AIR 1917 Pat 117 (120) (DB).

27. AIR 1927 Oudh 204 (205) : 2 Luck 575 (DB).

by the transfer and not by the name by which it is labelled by the party (28)

A transfer by sale takes effect from the date of its execution its operation is not postponed till the date of registration, (29) although the sale is not complete until the registration is completed (30) (See Note 17) Nor is it invalidated by the delay in delivering the deed to the vendee, (31) unless the non-delivery of the deed was for the reason that certain conditions had to be fulfilled before the title was intended to pass, (32)

Where a transfer is made for a price paid or promised and the deed is registered a sale is duly effected and the proprietary interest in the property passes, no matter whether the vendor is or is not in the possession of the property, (33)

28. AIR 1957 Hyd 37 (39) ILR (1956) Hyd 733 (DB) (Document evidencing transfer of ownership as well as possession of property for price partly paid and partly promised — It cannot be held to be a contract to sell merely because it is expressed to be so and also contains a stipulation for execution of a formal sale deed and registration thereof — On the basis of its contents it is a sale deed which requires to be registered)  AIR 1954 All 195 (196) (It was held that the transaction in question was in reality a transaction of sale and not a hire purchase agreement)  AIR 1945 Mad 407 (409) (Where a member of a joint Hindu family makes over his share in family properties to another member in consideration of certain sum transaction amounts to sale though it may be named a release)  AIR 1930 Oudh 300 (303) 5 Luck 721 (Document called lease but on proper construction appearing to be sale — Court is not bound to hold it to be lease)  AIR 1925 Oudh 714 (714) (Transfer miscalled a lease when in reality it was a sale)  (1913) 18 Ind Cas 199 (200) (DB) (Mad) (The transfer of his share by one coparcener of a joint Hindu family to another coparcener for consideration is a sale whether called a "sale" or a surrender.)

29. AIR 1958 Pat 193 (195) (Section 47, Registration Act does not create new title — It only affirms title created by sale deed)  AIR 1953 Nag 167 (168) ILR (1952) Nag 644 (647) (DB)  AIR 1938 Nag 253 (253) ILR (1939) Nag 652 (DB)  AIR 1937 Nag 1 (3) ILR (1937) Nag 291 (DB).

[See also (1955) Madh BLJ (HCR) 828 (834) (Property of value of Rs. 100 or more — Sale of — Price paid — Possession made over to buyer — Intention of parties clearly is to effect sale.)]

30. AIR 1961 SC 1747 (1749) (Pr 8)  1976 Tax LR 366 (368) 102 ITR 19 (Andh Pra) (Such relation back to the date of execution on the registration of document does not affect the rights of third parties.)

31. AIR 1944 Pat 3 (4) 22 Pat 306 (DB)  1864 Suth WR 62 (62) (DB)

[But see (1866) 5 Suth WR 248 (248) (DB) (Deed not delivered — Sale not complete — Submitted not correct)]

32. AIR 1951 Pat 454 (457) (No evidence to show that passing of title depended on payment of entire consideration — Title must be taken to have passed on the execution of sale deed itself and not postponed by the non-payment of part of the amount)  1864 Suth WR 222 (223) (DB) (Condition was that the vendee should withdraw the suits brought by him against the vendor.)

33. AIR 1950 All 632 (634) ILR (1953) 1 All 265 (DB)  AIR 1947 All 110 (113) ILR (1947) All 321 (DB) (There is nothing in law to prevent the owner of property from transferring his title even if the property is in the actual possession of others)  AIR 1945 Oudh 130 (132) 20 Luck 19 (DB)  AIR 1932 All 685 (686) ILR 54 All 905 (Transfer for consideration of ownership of property in possession of third person is sale and is pre-emptible)  AIR 1927 All 361 (363) 49 All 488 (DB) (Per Sulatman J)

[See also 1949 All LJ 566 (574, 575, 577) (DB) (B financing heirs of A to recover properties left by A and to become owner in lieu of his aid — It was held on construction of document that parties intended title to be conveyed without any further document)]

and irrespective of the delivery of possession to the vendee (34) Where the sale deed was duly registered, the fact of delivery of possession on date of execution of the sale deed was mentioned therein, and the vendor handed over symbolic possession and sought time to vacate the premises, the sale became absolute and the title of the property passed to the vendee (35) On execution and registration of sale deed, the ownership and all interests in the property pass to the transferee unless a different intention is either expressed or necessarily implied. Such intention has to be gathered by intrinsic evidence, namely, from the averments in the sale deed itself or some other attending circumstances, subject of course to S 92 of the Evidence Act (36) Where it is clear from the contents of the sale deed that the vendor had transferred her interest in the property sold and title had passed to the vendee, any subsequent action or omission viz. cancellation of the sale deed, will have no legal effect on the right, title and interest of the purchaser. Execution of subsequent sale deed in favour of third party will be of no consequence for the earlier vendee (37) Thus, by mere cancellation of sale deed by another deed title which had already passed in favour of vendee would not revert to vendor until it was declared invalid by competent Court of civil jurisdiction (38) A sale deed can be taken in the names of two persons, one of whom is a benamidar for a third person (39)

It is well accepted principle that shebaitship devolves like any other specific heritable property. The personal proprietary interest which the shebat has got is ancillary to and is inseparable from his duties as an administrant of the deity and a manager of its temporalities. The transfer of shebaitship would mean a delegation of duties of the transferor & it would contravene very policy of law.

Neither a temple nor the deities nor the shebat right can be transferred by sale for pecuniary consideration. Such transfer by sale is void at its inception. The property dedicated to the services of an idol is as a rule alienable. But exceptions to this rule have been recognized in the interest of deity itself. (40)

6. Transfer of mortgage interest.

Before the year 1900 there was a difference of opinion as to whether the transfer of mortgagee's interest in immovable property was merely a transfer of a debt carrying with it, by virtue of S 8 the security therefor, or whether it was a sale within the meaning of this section or gift under S 123 (1). By the amending Act II of 1900, the Legislature excluded mortgage debts from the category of actionable claims and substituted a new chapter on actionable claims. The object was obviously to

[But see (1909) 31 All 82 (91) (FB). The observations of Stanley, C.J. are couched in general terms — It is submitted that they cannot be taken as correct.]

34. AIR 1957 Punj 238 (241)  AIR 1956 Hyd 14 (116) ILR 1956 FC 328 (DB). Non delivery of actual possession when there was standing crop, cannot be treated as an act in support of the fictitious nature of sale.  AIR 1950 A 633 (634) ILR 1951 A 126 (DB)  1949 All LJ 566 (578), (Per Desai, J)  (1886) 13 Cal 297 (299) (DB)

35. 1997 (2) Rajasthan LR 598 (604)

36. AIR 1998 SC 3006 (3009) : 1998 AIR SCW 2860 : 1998 (7) SCC 498. Mere non delivery of registration receipt by seller to purchaser would not intend a passing of title.

37. 1997 AIHC 1751 (1756) : 1997 (2) BLJR 924

38. 2002 AIR Jhar HCR 363 (364) • 2002 AIHC 1777

39. 1951 All LJ 449 (449) (DB)

40. 1983 Jab LJ 248 (254, 255)

Section 54 — Note 6

1. (1901) 24 Mad 449 (463) (DB). It is a transfer of immovable property. — (1895) 8 Mad 454 (454, 455) (DB). (It is only a transfer of a debt.)

treat mortgage debts as immovable property transferable only in accordance with the provisions of chapters III, VI and VII (2) It has accordingly been held in the undermentioned cases(3) that a transfer of a mortgagee's interest for a price is a sale within the meaning of this section and must conform to its provisions. The contrary view taken in the cases noted below(4) can no longer be taken as laying down the correct law.

Equity of redemption can form subject matter of 'sale' as defined and in manner laid down in section 54 and such a right can form subject matter of partition as well. Division or partition of such a right need not be made by a registered instrument. A joint family property which is subject to mortgage can be allotted in oral partition to a coparcener and it is not necessary that such a right to redeem should be made only by a registered instrument, particularly when such oral partition is not going to interfere with the scheme of mortgage.(5)

7. Creation of easements.

This section contemplates the existence of a subsisting right of ownership in immovable property and provides for the transfer of such right. It cannot apply to the creation of a right. The creation of a right of easement by an owner of property in favour of another is, therefore, not a transfer of property and is not governed by this section (1) In Sital Chandra v. Allen J. Delannes (2) it was held by the Calcutta High Court that the Act was not intended at all to deal with the creation of easement and that consequently the grant or imposition of an easement whether as a gift or for consideration need not be in writing under S. 123 or under this section.

It will be noted however that where an easement right is created in writing it must under the provisions of the Registration Act be registered if the value of the right is more than one hundred rupees.(3)

There was a well in western portion of the land of the vendor. He sold eastern portion to defendant. The sale deed was silent about the use of well by defendant. Only routine and general averments made in the sale deed that all easementary rights like pathways, irrigation. Such averments could not be taken as conferring right upon the defendant vendee to use the well irrigation of his land.(4)

2. AIR 1921 Mad 137 (138), 44 Mad 196 (DB).

3. AIR 1922 Mad 344 (345, 346), 44 Mad 965 (DB)  AIR 1921 Mad 681 (681) (DB)  AIR 1921 Mad 277 (277) (DB) (AIR 1921 Mad 137 Applied)  (1910) 5 Ind Cas 852 (852) (DB) (Mad) (Assignment of hypothecation bond for Rs. 176 — Assignment requires registration to operate as a transfer to the hypothecation)  AIR 1918 Cal 411 (413) (DB)

[See AIR 1939 Mad 165 (165, 166) (DB) (Mortgagee becoming insolvent — His claim sold by Official Receiver by auction — Before registration of deed purchaser suing on mortgage — Held, purchaser was not entitled to sue as assignee of mortgage right in absence of registered deed.)

[See also AIR 1916 Mad 480 (481) (Assumed.)]

4. AIR 1919 Mad 547 (549) (DB)  AIR 1914 Mad 353 (353, 354).

Also see S. 8, Note 17

5. AIR 1980 Pat 254 (257): 1981 BLJR 134 (DB)

Section 54 — Note 7

1. AIR 1929 Mad 79 (80)  AIR 1917 Low Bur 110 (111) 9 Low Bur Rul 24 (31 All 612 followed)  AIR 1926 Mad 543 (544)  (1909) 31 All 612 (622) (DB)

[See also AIR 1944 Pat 261 (266) 23 Pat 115 (DB) Grant of a right to dig mica — Owner not excluding himself from working the mine — Held grant was not a transfer of property but in the nature of an easement.]

2. AIR 1917 Cal 681 (686) (DB).

3. AIR 1917 Cal 681 (686) (DB)

4. 2001 (3) Andh LD 367 (371)

As to the transferability of an existing right of easement apart from the dominant herbage
See Note 9 on section 6

8. Mutation proceedings.

Mutation does not effect a transfer of property (1) Therefore mutation will not, in the absence of a registered instrument, effect a transfer of rights in immovable property (2) As observed by the Privy Council in Nirman Singh v Lal Rudra (3) mutation proceedings are not judicial proceedings in which the title to and the proprietary rights in immovable property are determined 8-A. Sale or agreement to sell.

There is clear distinction between 'sale' and 'agreement to sell' both under common law and statute law. A sale can be constituted where there has been an agreement express or implied, relating to goods, to be completed by passing of title therein. A contract to sale may be absolute or conditional.(1)

9. Sale or mortgage.

The question whether a transaction is a sale or a mortgage will depend, as seen in Note 5, on the question whether full proprietary rights were intended to be transferred thereby or whether only an interest in immovable property was intended to be transferred by way of security. The Court can take into consideration the oral evidence adduced to find out whether the document in question was never intended to operate as a sale deed but was intended to be a deed of mortgage as alleged in the plaint. S. 92 of the Evidence Act is not a bar to admission of such oral evidence. (1)

Mortgage

Where the recitals in a document established the relationship of creditor and debtor between the parties and that the amount received in cash was received by way of loan by the debtor, the consideration having been received a loan rather than in lieu of a price paid as recited to in S. 54, the transaction was held to be a mortgage by conditional sale and not a sale with condition to repurchase.(2)

In the instant case it was found that the sale deed in reality is not an out and out sale but is an anomalous mortgage. There was an agreement to resale (3)

Sale deed in question was not acted upon, no action was taken to transfer property in name of purchaser, original owner confirming to pay taxes at market value of property was much more than the consideration mentioned in the sale deed. Held that the document was mortgage deed for security of amount borrowed by the executant.(4)

Section 54 — Note 8

1. 1980 Pun LJ 272 : 1980 Land LR 408 (411) (DB) > (Title in property passes as soon as transfer is effected entries in roznambcha or date of sanction of mutation is not therefore relevant for determining date of transfer)  AIR 1929 All 549 (550) (DB)
2. AIR 1953 Bom 145 (146) : ILR (1953) Bom 253 (DB)  AIR 1916 379 (380) : ILR 38 ALJ 411 (DB)  AIR 1927 All 338 (339)  (1908) 11 Oudh Cas 301 (304-305)  (1912) 13 Ind Cas 436 (438) (DB) (All) (Statement before mutation officer that the transferee's name may be recorded, not sufficient to effect transfer)
3. AIR 1926 PC 100 (103) : 53 Ind App 220.

Section 54 — Note 8-A

1. AIR 1999 Guj 240 (242) : 1999 (1) Guj LH 957.

Section 54 — Note 9

1. AIR 1984 Orissa 62 (63) : (1984) 1 Orissa LR 135
2. AIR 1984 All 219 (222) : 1984 All CJ 185
3. AIR 1997 Andh Pra 53 (68) : 1996 (1) Andh WR 655.
4. AIR 1999 Bom 260 (265) : 1999 (2) Mah LJ 569

Though sale deed of plot was executed by the plaintiff the attending circumstance were that possession of plot remained with vendor, he continued to pay taxes, no attempt was made to mutate it in favour of vendee, the consideration was much less than the market price, the sale-deed was not acted upon. Thus the document was a mortgage deed (5)

Where the vendee is a regular money lender, the premises are located in prime locality but consideration is much below the market price, the mutation was not done, amount of rent represented interest and vendor continued to be in possession, the transaction was mortgage and not outright sale.(6)

Where a property is alleged to have been sold to a money lender at a price less than market price, the vendor continued to remain in possession, same property was agreed to be reconveyed the transaction was one of mortgage and not sale.(7)

In the instant case it was found that the sale deed was in reality executed as a supplement to the anomalous mortgage. It was agreed that the loan would carry interest. Possession of suit property was given to mortgagee, thus it was usufructuary mortgage. Period of 5 years was agreed, on payment of balance property would be reconveyed to mortgagor. Thus it was not out and out sale but was usufructuary mortgage. The mortgagee was therefore entitled to redeem mortgage on fulfilment of its terms.(8)

Out and out sale

Where the recitals in a deed mentioned that the vendor was in need of money to discharge hand loans and therefore he was conveying property by way of absolute sale and stated before Registrar that possession of property is being handed over, it is an out and out sale and not mortgage.(9)

For a full discussion see Notes on S. 58

9-A. Sale or reconveyance.

An agreement to sell is a concession which is granted by a purchaser to the seller for repurchase of the property in case he fulfills his part assigned in the agreement within the time granted by the purchaser (1)

Where after the sale deed was executed, the deed of reconveyance was executed, the prior sale deed did not contain stipulation of reconveyance, since it was accordingly so advised by the advocate and the reconveyance deed was supported by letter written by seller to purchaser, it was held that the deed of reconveyance was genuine.(2)

10. Sale or exchange.

In instant case first party agreed to transfer 12 acres in favour of second party, the second

-
5. AIR 1999 Bom 260 (265) : 1999 (2) Mah LJ 569.
 6. 1998 (6) Andh LD 615 (621)
 7. 1999 AIHC 2126 (2131) : 1999 (1) Andh LT 199
 8. AIR 1997 Andh Pra 53 (67) : 1996 (1) Andh VVR 655 (AIR 1971 Orissa 58 Dissented from.)
 9. AIR 1996 Kant 51 (54)  2002 AIR Jhar HCR 943 (946) : 2002 (2) JCA 150 (Finding by trial Court that sale deed was executed by defendant by practising fraud upon plaintiff who wanted to excuse mortgage deed — Reversed by appellate Court and held that sale deed was genuine by giving better reasons than trial Court while repealing its finding — No interference.)

Section 54 — Note 9-A

1. AIR 1984 All 369 (371) : 1984 All CJ 517.
2. AIR 1995 SC 1607 (1611) : 1995 AIR SCW 2528 : (1995) 4 SCC 15.

party agreed to transfer 96 cents in favour of the first party further it was stipulated that the documents can be executed in favour of all persons nominated by the parties. Held that it contemplated sale deeds by both parties and not exchange (1)

Also See Notes on S 118.

10A. Sale or gift.

See S. 122. Note 16 and the undermentioned cases.(1)

11. Sale or lease.

The question whether a transaction is a sale or a lease also depends upon the question whether there has been a transfer of full proprietary rights or only a part of the transferor's interests (1) The question must be decided on the terms of the document and the intention of the parties gathered from the surrounding circumstances (2) Where there is a recurring liability to pay rent, the transaction cannot be regarded as a sale (3) Where rent, however small, is reserved to be paid to the transferor

Section 54 — Note 10

1. AIR 2000 Ker 408 (414) · ILR (2000) 3 Ker 517

Section 54 — Note 10-A

1. AIR 1959 Panj 117 (118) · ILR (1959) Panj 626 (DB) — Where out of regard for the donees and their father, the donor gets the land mutated in favour of the donees who in return maintain him and look after him, such a transaction cannot be described to be a sale.  AIR 1947 Bom 280 (282, 283) · ILR (1958) Bom 667 (DB) (There is an essential difference between a sale and a gift in the case of sale — a good consideration of the case of a gift there is no consideration proceeding from the donee to the donor except what one may call natural love and affection as constituting the consideration for the transaction.)  AIR 1955 Pat 458 (462, 463) · 34 Pat 440 (DB) (Donee in whose favour a transfer is made for "obedience and submission" cannot be called in law a purchaser.)  AIR (1954 Pat 280 (283) (DB) (Whatever might be the original motive behind a deed which purports to be a deed of transfer and consideration has been paid for it, it must be treated as an effective deed of transfer and cannot be regarded as a deed of gift.)  AIR (1954 Pat 116 (117) (Transfer of property by Christian mission to poor Christians rendering service — Property worth Rs. 8000 shown as sold for Rs. 100 — No money paid by vendees as price — Held, transaction was a gift and not a sale.)  AIR (1953 Hyd 451 · ILR (1952 Hyd 7 (DB) (House given to bride in lieu of dowry and not in consideration of her relinquishment of 'Mehar' — Transaction being an lateral act is only a gift and not a sale.)

Section 54 — Note 11

1. AIR 1965 Orissa 121 (122)  AIR 1949 Nag 389 (391) · ILR (1949) Nag 842 (DB) (Where a proprietor holding sir rights parts with an under-proprietor, gifts a portion and owns ownership outright and the parties agree that a specified rent shall be paid in respect of those fields, then whatever the parties may choose to call the transaction, in law the transfer amounts to a lease.)  AIR 1943 Oudh 125 (127, 128) · 18 Luck 305 (Under proprietor executing perpetual lease — Contention that it was a sale deed — Held, an under proprietor can only transfer his under proprietary rights by sale under which he reserves no interest for himself, he cannot transfer them and at same time reserve some interest for himself — If an under proprietor has not transferred all his interest in the land he has transferred only an interest by way of lease.)  AIR 1942 Oudh 151 (154) · 17 Luck 701

See also Note 5

2. AIR 1965 Orissa 121 (122)  AIR 1952 Nag 45 (47) · ILR (1949) Nag 699 (DB) (Auction sale by co-operative bank — Under conditions of sale title of property was not to pass unless sale deed was executed — Auction purchaser taking only lease of property purchased instead of a sale deed — Lease unauthorised — Transaction held not sale so as to give rise to right of pre-emption — There was no valid lease.)  AIR 1941 Oudh 2 (14)
3. AIR 1965 Orissa 121 (122) (Reservation of right to realise rent right to increase rent.)  AIR 1927 Oudh 161 (162) (DB)

the transaction can only be a lease even though it is a perpetual one and extensive rights are conferred on the transferee (4) However, a deed purporting to be a perpetual lease, but transferring all the proprietary rights of the transferor in consideration of a substantial sum of money would be a sale even though a small amount called rent is nominally reserved to be payable to the so called lessor. The undermentioned cases (5) would fall under this principle. The so-called rent will not be really rent in the legal sense of the term in such cases. Where a purchaser under an agreement of sale has been given a right to collect and carry away the subject matter of the agreement in consideration of the purchase price, the agreement relates to a sale and not to a lease (6)

See also S 105, Note 42. As to the distinction between a sale of coal land and a mining lease thereof, see the undermentioned case. (7)

Where an agreement between landlord and tenant to sell the tenanted premises to the tenant does not indicate that the tenant was allowed to continue in possession pursuant to the agreement

4. (1949) 7 J & K LR 224 (227). (Land transferred by deed styled Brihanma Mauras — Transferee called occupancy tenant in the deed and granted heritable and transferable rights — Transferor barred from evicting transferee under any circumstances — Transferee made liable for annual rent equivalent to land revenue and two annas in the rupee — It was held that transaction was lease and not sale)  AIR 1936 Cal 727 (734) (DB). (Where a person grants a lease of his property for a very long term, for example of four hundred and ninety nine years, the lessor still retains a right of reversion against the lessee — There is always a distinction between a conveyance in fee simple and a lease in perpetuity,  AIR 1924 Oudh 203 (205) 27 Oudh Cas 167 (Where the transfer of under-proprietary interest is made by the superior proprietor in the form of a lease, but the rent reserved for payment to the superior proprietor is equal to or slightly more than the revenue, such a transfer is held to be a sale giving rise to a right of pre-emption)  AIR 1924 All 60 (61) (DB). (The relation of the premium paid to the value of the property and smallness of the rent would not in themselves be sufficient to prove that the transaction was a sale and not a lease)  AIR 1923 All 560 (561)  AIR 1922 Oudh 229 (231). (The test applied to determine the real nature of a transaction is whether any rent was reserved to the grantor over and above the Government revenue which he himself had to pay on the land. This applies only to deeds executed by the superior proprietor whereby an under-proprietary right is created in the grantee)  AIR 1922 Oudh 81 (82) 24 Oudh Cas 310  AIR 1914 Oudh 360 (360) 17 Oudh Cas 299 (DB). (A grant of under proprietary rights by means of leases giving heritable and transferable rights in lieu of a premium taken in advance, and an annual rent reserved thereby cannot be treated as a sale)  1907 Pun Re No. 136 p. 652 (655) (DB)  (1876) 25 Suth WR 43 (45) (DB)  (1867) 8 Suth WR 106 (107) (DB)  (1912) 14 Ind Cas 717 (718) (Oudh).

[See AIR 1924 Oudh 426 (428) 27 Oudh Cas 245 (DB). (On facts transaction held to be sale.)  AIR 1927 Pat 254 (255) : 6 Pat 358 (DB).]

5. AIR 1940 Pat 633 (641, 642) : 20 Pat 13 (SB)  AIR 1935 Oudh 217 (226) : 10 Luck 392 (FB)  AIR 1941 Oudh 12 (13)  AIR 1937 Oudh 492 (493)  AIR 1933 Oudh 329 (331)  AIR 1930 Oudh 300 (301) 5 Luck 721  AIR 1925 Oudh 714 (714)  AIR 1925 Oudh 624 (625) 29 Oudh Cas 90  AIR 1914 Lah 290 (292) (DB)  (1911) 33 All 104 (106) (DB).

[See also AIR 1938 Oudh 17 (18) 13 Luck 662 (Sale of property for cash consideration — Stipulation in sale deed for payment of rent to vendor — Such stipulation is illegal — Deed cannot be construed as perpetual lease)]

6. AIR 1971 All 430 (431, 432) : 1971 All LJ 640 (FB).

7. AIR 1940 Pat 633 (641, 642) : 20 Pat 13 (SB). (One point of distinction is that while in a mining lease lessor has right of reversion, there is no such right in case of sale. Another distinction is that while in sale the consideration is price, in mining lease there is the price otherwise called premium and the royalty which at least outwardly bears closer resemblance to rent than price.)

of sale the character of possession by tenant does not change and he continues to be a tenant (8)

In the instant case the parties inter se did agree to exchange the possession of land in consideration of the amount to be paid by the plaintiff to the defendants. The documentary evidence led to no other transaction except the one that the transaction was of the nature of leasehold rights to be created in respect of plots and not that of outright sale (9)

11-A. Sale of release.

Where a member of a joint Hindu family makes over his share in the family properties to another member in consideration of a certain sum, the transaction amounts to a sale though it may be named a release (1) Relinquishment cannot be inferred on basis of oral evidence and in absence of any documentary evidence in view of the provisions of S 54 of the T P Act and S 17 of the Registration Act (2) Where a coparcener has relinquished his interest in joint family in favour of another coparcener for a sum mentioned in the deed, the transaction is supported by consideration and thus though styled as release deed it was really a sale deed (3) As to the distinction between a sale and a relinquishment, see the undermentioned cases (4) 11AA. Reconveyance.

The landowner on receipt of money gave possession of land to opposite party. The agreement between them stipulated that the opposite party was to execute reconveyance on payment of the amount by landowner within stipulated period. There was no stipulation for payment of interest. Held that the transaction amounted to sale with condition to repurchase and not mortgage by conditional sale.(1)

It is not general principle of law that every agreement of sale by which the original owner agrees to buy back the property is a privilege or concession granted to such owner. Whether such an agreement is an option to purchase or an "ordinary" agreement would depend on the interpretation of its provision. The mere fact that an agreement for sale is styled as a reconveyance does not by itself mean that it is an option to repurchase nor does it in any way alter the substance of the

8. (1982) 1 Kant LJ 284 (287)

9. AIR 1996 Him Pra 94 (96) : 1996 (2) Ren CR 534

Section 54 — Note 11-A

1. AIR 1945 Mad 407 (409)

2. (1982) 95 Mad LW 654 (657)

3. AIR 1985 (NOC) 57 : (1984) 97 Mad LW 441

4. AIR 1983 Cal 76 (83) : (1982) 1 Cal HN 445 (DB) : A Hindu minor's property was sold and on attaining majority he executed deed described as release deed in respect of the property. It was held that the deed was not conveyance but was only ratification of earlier transfer. It was therefore ineffective as the original transfer being void it could not be validated by ratification.  (1982) 95 Mad LW 654-656 : 11R (1982) 3 Mad 363  AIR 1968 Pat 274 (276) (Pr 4) : (A registered instrument styled as release deed) releasing right title and interest of the executant in any property in favour of the releasee for valuable consideration may operate as a conveyance if the document discloses an intention to effect a transfer — AIR 1966 SC 337 (Foll.)  AIR 1954 Bom 95 (99) : 11R (1953) Bom 281 (DB) : (A sale or a transfer presupposes the existence of the property which is sold or transferred. It presupposes the transfer from one person to another of the right in property. On the other hand, relinquishment means the extinction of a right or the destruction of a property, and if the property is destroyed or the right is extinguished, there is nothing left to transfer or to sell.)

Section 54 — Note 11-AA

1. AIR 2001 Bom 369 (372) : 2001 (3) Bom LR 436

deed No logical distinction can be drawn between an agreement to repurchase and an ordinary agreement of purchase.(2)

Suit for declaration that sale deed was null and void would not be maintainable when it was definite case of plaintiff that there was an agreement for reconveyance of property on payment of consideration. Suit in such a case has to be one for specific performance (3) In the following case (4) the Karnataka High Court indicated the tests which can be employed to distinguish a mortgage by conditional sale with "a bona fide sale with a clause to re-purchase"

11-B. Grant of mineral rights.

A grant of a partial and limited right in immovable property such as right to dig minerals where the grantor does not exclude himself from working the mines has been held not to be a transfer of property.(1)

12. "In exchange for a price."

A transfer of ownership will be a sale if the consideration for such transfer is a "price" paid or promised or part paid and part-promised by the transferee. Price is thus an essential ingredient in all sales(1) and in the absence thereof the transfer is not a sale (2) No transaction of sale can be made without payment of price. Price means monetary consideration. The payment of money consideration is necessary ingredient of sale.(3)

The expression "on terms settled between the parties" in definition of contract for sale contemplates the basic ingredient and element that for transferring the ownership of the property by the vendor the price must be settled. Until this is done the terms of the contract for sale cannot be said to be settled between the parties.(4)

An adulterous intercourse with a married woman cannot be a substitute for price paid or promised nor can it be a valid consideration. Transaction for sale in consideration for such intercourse is void for want of consideration.(5)

2. AIR 2001 SC 2446 (2449, 2450) : 2001 AIR SCW 2731 : 2001 (7) SCC 617 (1996 (2) Mad LJ 145, Reversed.)

3. 2002 AIHC 1202 (1204) : ILR (2001) 3 Ker 364

4. 2001 AIR Kant HCR 2613 (2617, 2618) : 2001 AIHC 4187 : ILR (2001) Kant 4529

Section 54 — Note 11-B

1. AIR 1944 Pat 261 (266) : 23 Pat 115 (DB)

Section 54 — Note 12

1. AIR 1930 Oudh 481 (495) : 6 Luck 282 (DB)  AIR 1927 Cal 889 (893) : 55 Cal 285 (DB)  (1908) 10 Bom LR 617 (621) (DB)  (1900) 14 CPLR 117 (119)  (1815) 13 RR 234 (245) : 19 Ves 429 : 1 Ves and B 68. Goutlay v. Duke of Somerset  (1807) 33 ER 574 (577) : 14 Ves 400 : 9 RR 307, Milnes v. Grey.

[See also AIR 1968 SC 676 (678). (Income-tax Act (1922) S 10(2)(vi) — "Sale". Expression is used in its ordinary meaning — Sale is transfer of property for a price — Adjustment of rights of partners in dissolved firm — Not a transfer, nor is it for a price)  (1962) 40 MysLJ 675 (676) (A sold property to B — Part of price paid — Payment for balance promised — Suit by A for recovery of balance held to be suit for recovery of money due on contract — Hence suit fell down under S 3(ii) of Mysore Agriculturists Relief Act (18 of 1928).]

2. AIR 1974 Mad 30 (32) : (1972) 2 Mad LJ 406  (1908) 4 Low Bur Rul 369 (371)

3. 1997 (1) All WC 175 (177).

4. AIR 1976 Pat 395 (398)  (1981) 2 Malayan LJ 79 (In the instant case it was held that as there is no monetary consideration it will not amount to sale, but exchange, and, therefore, suit for specific performance will not be maintainable.)

5. AIR 1978 Andh Pra 1 (2) : 1977 Andh LT 438

The word "price" means money only (6) It need not, however, be handed over in current coin at the time of the transfer but will include money which might be already due or which might be payable in future (7) In undermentioned case (8) it is held that though S. 54 defining 'sale' speaks only of price as a consideration the same need not be solely money consideration. There can be other consideration by way of reciprocal promises between the parties. Thus, a transfer of ownership in consideration of a dower debt due to the vendee would be an exchange of property for a price and would be a sale (9) Similarly, a transfer in consideration of a decree debt payable by the ven-

6. AIR 1968 SC 200 (202), (Word 'price' in S. 54 must be construed in same sense in which it is used in S. 4 read with S. 2(10) Sale of Goods Act.  AIR 1922 Mad 311 (313) : 45 Mad 612 (FB)  AIR 1963 Andh Pra 177 (183) : ILR (1963) Andh Pra 991 (DB) (False recital of cash consideration — Real consideration being past cohabitation — Documents are not sales but gifts.)  AIR 1949 All 204 (206) : ILR (1949) All 406 (DB) (A transfer which is not in lieu exclusively of cash price or such price as can be definitely ascertained is not a sale.)  AIR 1945 Mad 407 (408)  AIR 1935 Mad 46 (145) : 24 Mad 163 (DB)  AIR 1930 Oudh 481 (495) : 6 Luck 282 (DB)  AIR 1928 All 246 (205) (DB)  AIR 1927 Oudh 204 (205) : 2 Luck 575 (DB)  AIR 1926 Oudh 186 (189) : 29 Oudh Cas 108 : 1 Luck 83 (DB)  AIR 1921 Oudh 248 (249) (DB)

[See also AIR 1933 Bom 209 (211) (212) (DB) (Past cohabitation is not valuable consideration at all.)  AIR 1937 Mad 882 (887) : ILR (1937) Mad 638 (FB) (Obiter — In order of reference.)

Also see S. 105, Note 58 and S. 118, Note 2

7. AIR 1935 PC 73 (78), (Sale in consideration of release of debt.)  ILR (1959) Bom 35 (37)  AIR 1922 Mad 311 (313) : 45 Mad 612 (FB)  AIR 1939 Nag 10 (11), (Consideration made conditional on the success of the suit — The transaction is a real sale.)

[See also AIR 1960 Orissa 16 (18) : ILR (1959) Cut 250 (DB) (It is not wide enough to include any kind of valuable consideration such as forbearance to contest a suit. AIR 1922 Mad 311 (FB) and AIR 1937 Mad 882 (FB) Foll.)  AIR 1948 Pat 247 (249) (DB) (Advance by one brother to another — Sale in lieu of such loan cannot be presumed to be benami — Benami.)

8. ILR (1988) Kant 1307 (1321)

9. AIR 1951 All 86 (89, 90) : ILR (1952) 1 All 477 (FB)  AIR 1960 Orissa 6 (18) : ILR (1959) Cut 250 (DB)  AIR 1939 All 348 (363) (DB)  AIR 1932 All 596 (597) : 54 All 22 (DB) (AIR 1926 Oudh 186 and AIR 1927 Oudh 264 Dissented from)  AIR 1931 All 237 (237)  AIR 1930 All 434 (435) (DB) (Execution of sale deed in satisfaction of contemplated dower is for consideration.)  AIR 1928 Mad 430 (433) (DB)  AIR 1925 Oudh 407 (407) : 28 Oudh Cas 227  AIR 1921 Nag 84 (85) : 17 Nag LR 1 (1)  AIR 1918 Cal 113 (114) (DB)  AIR 1917 Pat 18 (24) (DB) (Transfer to wife in lieu of dower amounts to sale and not to gift.)  AIR 1915 Lah 251 (253) (DB) (Gift by husband of landed property in lieu of dower in favour of his wife is tantamount to sale.)  (1886) 8 All 178 (181) (DB)  (1882) Pun Re No. 87 p. 254 (255) (DB)  (1882) 5 All 65 (69) (DB)  (1836) 162 Ind Cas 881 (883) (Nag)  (1831) 133 Ind Cas 901 (902) (DB) (All)  (1911) 14 Oudh Cas 214 (216)  (1911) 12 Ind Cas 457 (457) (DB) (Mad) (Transfer for a term in consideration of dower must be regarded as sale.)

[See AIR 1952 Hyd 3 (5) : ILR (1952) Hyd 7 (DB) (Where, however, property is given in lieu of dower and not in consideration of the bride's relinquishment of the dower debt, the transaction, being only a unilateral transaction, is a gift and not a sale.)

[See also AIR 1949 Pat 237 (240) : 26 Pat 561 (DB) (Oral transfer of land by Muhammadan to wife in lieu of transfer — Transfer is sale and not gift — Transfer is therefore invalid under S. 54 for want of registered deed.)  (1878) 2 All 854 (856) (DB) (Gift by a person labouring under a fatal disease made in lieu of dower is really of the nature of sale.)

[But see AIR 1927 Oudh 204 (206) : 2 Luck 575 (DB) (Where consideration for transfer is dor(10) or in consideration of amounts which had been advanced by the transferee to the transferor by way of takkavi loans(11) will be a sale. Even a barred debt would be a good consideration for a sale (12). Again, a transfer in consideration of specified amounts to be spent by the vendee on the vendor's behalf in litigation would also be a sale. It is necessary, however, that the amount should in order to constitute "price" be an ascertained sum of money or be capable of being ascertained at the time of the transfer,(13) though it is not necessary that the contract should in the first instance determine the price. It may appoint a way of determining it or it may stipulate for a fair price (14). In the former case the price must be ascertained only in the way appointed and if it is not so ascertained the Court cannot, in the release from dower-debt, transaction is not sale)  AIR 1926 Oudh 186 (189) 1 Luck 83 29 Oudh Cas 108 (DB) (Transfer by a Muhamedan to his wife in lieu of dower debt is not a sale as such a debt is a thing under S. 118, I.P. Act)  1902 Pun Re No. 86, p. 352 (356) : 1903 Pun LR No. 4 (DB) (Obiter.)]

10. AIR 1937 Mad 714 (715) (DB).

11. AIR 1924 Pat 392 (395, 396) (DB)

12. (1913) 21 Ind Cas 69 (72) (DB) (Oudh).

13. AIR 1951 All 86 (89) 1 LR (1952) 1 All 477 (DB) (Outstanding debts)  AIR 1945 Oudh 130 (132) 20 Luck 19 (DB) (Consideration clearly stated in sale deed — Part of it paid down and part left with vendee for conducting suit — There is nothing indefinite about consideration)  AIR 1949 All 204 (207) 1 LR (1949) All 409 (DB) (A transfer in lieu of future kharch-i-pandan allowance is not a sale within the meaning of S. 54)  AIR 1927 All 361 (364) 49 All 488 (DB) (Per Sulaiman, J. A sale which is not in lieu of exclusively of cash price or such price as can be definitely ascertained is not capable of pre-emption)  AIR 1926 Oudh 196 (197) (DB)  AIR 1926 Oudh 368 (368)  AIR 1914 Cal 335 (336) 41 Cal 148 (DB) (There was an agreement between B on the one side, and A on the other, that the former should sell and the latter buy the property — It was stipulated that in order to ascertain the price B should give an account of the receipts and expenditure with respect to the property that A was to obtain a share of the profits after the account was settled — It was held that the transaction was not a sale)  (1901) 14 CPLR 117 (119) (Where price is neither ascertained nor ascertainable the contract is void for incompleteness)

[See also AIR 1945 Oudh 161 (164) 19 Luck 595 (DB) (Vendor selling part of his share in villages for Rs. 700 — Rs. 25 paid to vendor — Balance kept by vendee for launching partition proceedings for separating vendor's and vendee's shares — Balance to represent costs of partition — Whether actual partition costs were more or less, deposit of Rs. 675 was to absolve vendor of further responsibility — Transaction held out and out sale)  (1882) 5 All 65 (69) (DB) (Amount of dower not ascertained — Property assigned to wife in lieu of dower — Transaction is not sale)  AIR 1923 Nag 330 (331) 20 Nag LR 126 (Transfer in consideration of dower, amount of which is not ascertained, is not sale)  AIR 1928 Mad 430 (433) (DB) (Do.)

[But see AIR 1955 All 393 (395) (DB) (The mere fact that consideration is unascertainable on the date of the sale will not make the transaction of sale an agreement to sell AIR 1947 All 110 and AIR 1945 Oudh 161, Rel. on)  AIR 1947 All 110 (112) 1 LR (1947) All 321 (DB) (Transfer of property in consideration of vendee undertaking to fight out litigation and on success to pay half its value. Held that transfer was valid as a sale — The law does not require that the consideration should be immediately ascertainable at the time of the transfer. It is sufficient that it should be ascertainable at the time when the payment is to be made)  AIR 1921 Oudh 248 (249) (DB) (Transfer for amounts to be spent in litigation — It was held that if the amount is capable of ascertainment not at the time of the deed, but later on it would be a sale — Submitted wrong.)]

14. AIR 1927 Cal 889 (893) 55 Cal 285 (DB). (Fry on Specific Performance, 6th Editions, Ss 353, 354, Referred to.)

absence of special circumstances, interfere by having the price ascertained in a different mode (15) In the latter case, the Court can interfere and determine what is a fair price (16) A transfer in consideration of the transferee defraying the costs of a litigation, the amount of such costs not being ascertainable at the date of the transfer, is not a transfer for a 'price' and is, therefore, not a sale (17) A transfer in lieu of dower, the amount thereof not having been ascertained or fixed, is not a sale (18) A transfer in consideration of past and future services is not for any 'price' and is not a sale (19) So also is a transfer in consideration of the vendee clearing other land of the vendor or sinking well therein (20) It has been held in the undermentioned cases (21) that if the past or future services in consideration of which a transfer is made are capable of a monetary valuation, the transfer would be sale within the meaning of the Oudh Laws Act or for purposes of Muhammadan law

A transfer of property for a consideration consisting partly of a sum of money and partly of other things cannot be said to be a transfer "for a price" and is, therefore, not a sale but an exchange (22) Thus, a transfer in consideration of a sum of money and a forbearance on the part of the vendee to set aside a Court sale is not a sale. (23) But the mere fact that stipulations are made in the deed of transfer does not render the transaction other than a sale if such stipulations do not constitute the consideration for the transfer. (24) 'There is hardly any instrument of sale' said their Lordships of the Privy Council in Jagannatha Rao Garu v. Surya Rao Bahadur (25)

15. (1901) 14 CPLR 117 (119-120)  (1853) 43 ER (O 14) 3 Deg M & C 24 22 LJ Ch 897 : 1 WR Eng 134 : 22 LT (OS) 285 : 98 RR 16, Morgan v. Milman

16. (1901) 14 CPLR 117-119  (1853) 43 ER (O 14) 3 Deg M & C 24 22 LJ Ch 897 : 1 WR Eng 134 : 22 LT (OS) 285 : 98 RR 16, Morgan v. Milman.

17. AIR 1950 All 632 (637-638) 11 LR (1953) 1 All 265 (DB) (Sale in consideration of vendee filing suit at his own expense and recovering possession of property — Suit compromised by payment of cash to defendant — Transaction is not a sale and at any rate not a pre-emptible sale because consideration for sale is expenses not ascertained and about the value of which is incapable of ascertainment)  AIR 1926 Oudh 196 (197) (DB)  AIR 1926 Oudh 368 (368)

[But see AIR 1955 All 393 (395) (DB) (Mere fact that the consideration is unascertainable on the date of sale will not make the transaction of sale which on face of it is completed sale, an agreement to sell)]

18. AIR 1923 Nag 330 (331) 20 Nag LR 126  (1882) 5 All 65 (69) (DB)

19. (1910) 34 Bom 287 (290) (DB).

20. AIR 1923 Lah 70 (70) (AIR 1921 Lah 82 (Foll))  AIR 1921 Lah 82 (83) 2 Lah 199 (DB).

21. AIR 1926 Oudh 474 (475) (Where a gift is made by a Muhammadan in lieu of something which has a monetary value the transaction may be considered by way of sale, and in such a case services of a professional character rendered by the donee to the donor may be considered as a consideration of monetary value)  1903 Pun Re No. 2, p. 3 (8)

22. See Notes on Section 118.

23. AIR 1931 Mad 140 (143) 54 Mad 163 (DB) (Nor is it an exchange)

24. AIR 1936 PC 204 (206) 63 Ind App 304  AIR 1942 All 71 (73) 11 R (1942) All 169 (FB). (Sale in lieu of cash price plus expenses of suit to be brought by vendee to recover possession of property sold — The latter expenses were not for the benefit of the vendor and did not constitute consideration)  1981 All LJ 1239 (1243) (Where the parties had decided to transfer their rights in the respective plots situated in two villages for the sake of convenience it would constitute transfer by exchange. Mere mentioning the sale consideration in the sale deed would not necessarily mean that the transaction was not one of exchange but was of sale)  AIR 1945 Oudh 130 (133) 20 Luck 19 (DB) (Document consisting of sale-deed for Rs. 1500 followed by distinct but connected covenants — Nature of sale-deed not altered. AIR 1937 Mad 714, Foll)  AIR 1937 Mad 714 (715) (DB) (AIR 1936 PC 204 Foll)  (1909) 4 Ind Cas 466 (466) (DB) Cal) (Transfer of immovable

"which does not contain some stipulations by the parties, and if the addition of a covenant by the transferees would change its real character, it would be difficult to find a transaction which could be held to be a sale. For example, a covenant by a purchaser giving the vendor a right of pre-emption does not convert the sale into some other transfer."

A who was appointed by the Court as the guardian of a minor drew out monies belonging to the minor, after executing a security bond in favour of the Court. The guardian failed to account for the monies so drawn and the Court assigned the bond to the minor on his attaining majority for the purpose of its being enforced against A. It was held that the Court was not under any liability to pay to the minor the amount drawn out by his guardian, that the assignment was therefore not in lieu of any such liability and that the transaction was consequently not a sale. (26)

Earnest money — Earnest money paid in a contract for sale becomes part of the purchase-money when the transaction goes forward. (27)

Earnest money is the proof of bona fides of the vendee and on failure of the transaction due to vendee's fault it is to be forfeited. Where the sale does not materialise it does not become a part of the price. (28)

Where it is settled between the parties that on failure of execution of sale deed by seller the buyer is entitled to claim back the earnest money paid at the time of agreement of sale and the promissory note is executed to that effect, it cannot be said that no consideration was paid for promissory note and agreement is not invalid for want of consideration. (29)

Authority to "sell" — Scope — As sale is the transfer of ownership in exchange for a price, an authority by A to B to sell A's property includes an authority to receive the price. (30)

Transfer of ownership for consideration other than 'price' — Validity. — A transfer of ownership for consideration need not necessarily be a transfer for a 'price'. The consideration may take any form and need not be necessarily money paid or promised. In other words, a transfer of ownership for a consideration other than money is quite valid. (31) Where there is a contract to transfer the property, the mere fact, that the purchaser company agrees to pay purchase money partly in shape of cash and partly in shape of allotment of its shares, does not render a contract of sale into a contract of exchange. It is open to the parties to a contract of sale to agree to receive the sale price otherwise than merely in cash. (32)

See also the undermentioned cases. (33)

property by a Muhammadan to his wife purporting to be made in consideration of a dower-debt of Rs. 49 and "on account of right of inheritance" was held to be a sale. The words "on account of right of inheritance" are only a reason for the transfer and not a consideration for it.)

[See also (1867) 2 Agra 160 (162) (DB) (Government may like any other seller, impose any condition it pleases in reference to the property which it offers for sale prior to sale, but is not at liberty subsequently to the sale, to disaffirm or annul it on the ground not only novel but directly at variance with the terms on which it offered by the property for sale.)]

25. AIR 1936 PC 204 (206) : 63 Ind App 304.

26. AIR 1931 All 389 (390) : 53 All 786 (FB).

27. See Notes on Section 55

28. AIR 1967 Delhi 91 (94) (DB).

29. 1981 UPLT (NOC) 205 : 1982 All CJ 9.

30. AIR 1942 Mad 634 (639) ILR (1942) Mad 775 (DB) (Dissenting from 7 IC 189.)

31. AIR 1947 All 110 (112) ILR (1947) All 321 (DB) (There would be nothing invalid in a transfer, say, in consideration of services rendered.)

32. (1966) 1 ITJ 105 : (1966) 59 ITR 221 (Bom)

13. "Paid or promised."

The fact that the price is promised to be paid on the delivery of possession and is not to be paid at all if possession is not delivered, does not prevent the transaction from being a sale (1) Where a sale deed recited that the vendor had that day received rupees one thousand which he deposited with the vendee for the expenses of certain litigation, but it was found that there was absolutely no such payment, it was held that there was neither a payment nor a promise of payment of the price and that consequently there was no sale (2) In the undermentioned case (3) it was, however, held that in such cases the question of validity really depended on the intention of parties and if from the tenor of the document the intention to pay the consideration was evident, the transaction was valid and if otherwise, not valid. To constitute a sale, ownership has to be exchanged for the price paid or promised to be paid or partly paid and partly promised. Therefore, future payment of price does not arrest the passing of title made by a registered instrument. If the parties so contract it may be postponed to the payment of full consideration. In the absence of contract, the title gets conveyed as soon as the document with the stipulation of consideration is registered where the witnesses examined by the vendee have clearly stated that the vendors signed the sale deed after receiving Rs. 5000/- and thereafter they refused to come before the registering authority, obviously, because the black money of Rs. 4000/- was not paid and the vendors have failed to establish that Rs. 9000/- was the agreed consideration and the sale deed was registered by the registering authority, it could be said that there was no proof of intention contrary to what was stated in the deed and the execution of the deed having been admitted, it conveys title to the vendee. Vendee would be entitled to possession of the suit house and to mesne profits from the date of execution of sale deed till the date of the delivery of possession. Non-delivery of possession does not affect the conveyance of title. What is transferred for consideration is the right of ownership. Right of possession is incidental to the right of ownership. One who is a owner can bring an action for recovery of possession, once the right, title and interest are sold on payment of sale consideration, the person in possession is either a permissive holder like tenant or a person holding adversely to the interest of true owner. In either event person in possession has no title. Since delivery of physical possession is not an essential ingredient of sale, that circumstances by itself can have no relevance to decide the intention.

Clause (c) of S. 58 of Registration Act requires the authority to endorse about facts that have happened in his presence. If the consideration is paid in his presence, he has to record it. If it is not paid and the parties accept the receipt of consideration he has to record the "acceptance" and nothing more. In the instant case vendee's witnesses have stated that the amount of Rs. 5000/- was paid in the house before the vendors executed the deed. In such a situation, the absence of any endorsement on the deed by the Sub-Registrar, does not lead to the inference that consideration has not been paid (4) See also the undermentioned case (5)

-
33. (1958) 2 Andh WR 30, (30)  1998 (47) DRJ 706 (708). (In instant case the agreement of sell bore a date anterior to the date on which the stamp paper was purchased. None of the witnesses could state the exact date of its execution. Power of Attorney was also not executed in terms of S. 85 of the Evidence Act. Thus there was no bona fide sale for consideration)  AIR 1955 Pat 458 (462) 34 Pat 440 (DB). (In law a consideration for a contract of sale as in all other contracts under the Contract Act must be a good and valuable consideration. Therefore a meritorious or a gratuitous consideration such as natural love and affection or obedience and submission by way of respect or love may at best be a meritorious or a gratuitous consideration and in no case be a good or valuable consideration.)

Section 54 — Note 13

1. AIR 1915 All 347, 347) 37 All 63) (DB). (Agreement of payment of consideration contingent on certain event is not opposed to public policy.)
2. AIR 1924 Nag 146 (147).
3. AIR 1953 Bom 56 (57) (DB).

Non-payment of a portion of the sale price does not affect validity of sale, the part payment of consideration by vendee itself proves the intention to pay the remaining amount (6)

Normally the passing of consideration cannot be challenged except by the parties but where the payment of price is disputed the party contending that the price has been paid has to establish the payment.(7)

Where a vendor accepts receipt of consideration having endorsement of the Sub-Registrar a stranger is not entitled to challenge it.(8)

But a stranger to a sale deed intended to be real and operative cannot dispute the payment of consideration or its adequacy.(9)

A stranger can challenge the payment of consideration on ground that the sale deed is fictitious and was never designed to operate as real deed or to effect a transfer of the title (10)

14. Non-payment of price.

It follows from the definition of "sale" that, in order to constitute a transaction a "sale"—

(a) the parties must intend to transfer the ownership of a property,

(b) the parties must intend that the price should be paid whether in present or in future

Where the parties do not intend that ownership of property should pass from one to the other, the transaction, though in the form of a conveyance, will be merely a sham and colourable transaction. Where the parties, though they may intend to transfer ownership, do not intend that the price should be paid at all, the transaction would be without consideration and would be void as a conveyance.(1)

Where the title is intended to pass, and the price is intended to be paid, the mere fact that the price is not actually paid at the time of the conveyance will not prevent title from passing to the buyer (2) In other words pre-payment of price is not a sine qua non or a condition precedent to the transfer of ownership (3) If the recitals in the deed show a clear intention that the title is to pass immediately after execution and registration and is not dependent on payment of full consideration

4. AIR 1990 Kant 128 (131, 135) : (1989) 2 Kant LJ 523.

5. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 161 (163) (DB) (Sale for Rs. 5650 — Part paid in cash, another part made payable at the time of completion of sale-deed and third part to be secured on a mortgage right possessed by transferee — Held, that transaction was a sale and nonetheless so although the part of consideration secured on mortgage right was deferred for payment on a future occasion.)

6. 1973 All LJ 412 (414) : 1973 All WR (HC) 606 (DB)

7. (1978) 80 Bom LR 302 : 1979 Mah LJ 494 (502) (DB).

8. (1974) 2 Cut WR 937 (941).

9. AIR 1977 Orissa 194 : 44 Cut LT 606

10. AIR 1973 Pat 352 (356, 357) : 1973 BLJR 255.

Section 54 — Note 14

1. AIR 1952 Bom 56 (57) (DB)  AIR 1996 Orissa 86 (88)  AIR 1932 Bom 247 (247) : 56 Bom 556 (DB)  (1898) 22 Bom 176 (180, 183) (DB).

[See also AIR 1954 Punj 116 (117) (Property worth Rs. 8 000 sold for Rs. 190 — Price not paid before Registrar — No evidence that price was paid by vendee but that he had paid only some subscription to the vendor which was a Christian mission — Transaction held was not a sale but a gift)]

2. AIR 1922 Pat 619 (641) (SB)  AIR 1916 Lah 155 (156) : 1916 Pun Re No 53 (FB). (Title passes on execution regardless of whether and when the price is actually paid)  (1975) 41 Cut LT 383 : (1975) 1 Cut WR 186 (189) (If a sale deed recited the title to pass on registration and balance price payable at a future date title passes at registration) **

AIR 1971 All 151 (154) (Where a sale was registered between two sisters pursuant to a compromise and there was no proof of duress or coercion, the sale could not be said to be void even if cash consideration was not paid)  AIR 1970 Orissa 238 (249)  AIR 1965 Pat 29 (30)  AIR 1964 Cal 174 (181) ILR 1903 Cal 139 (Idea that there can be no sale unless the consideration is fully paid is contrary to the provisions of S 54)  AIR 1964 Orissa 239 (240) ILR (1964) Cal 561 (Cause to the effect that title would pass independently of passing of consideration)  ILR (1964) Cal 381 (385)  AIR 1961 Madh Pra 276 (178) ILR (1960) Madh Pra 614 (DB) (Intention that sale deed should operate is material — It does not matter if whole or part of consideration remains unpaid)  AIR 196 Orissa 29 (2) (Ruled regarding consideration coming into independent or cause regarding title — Title passes independent of question of consideration)  (1959) 1 Orissa JD 1 (4)  AIR 1957 Punj 238 (241)  AIR 1953 Orissa 315 (323) ILR (1953) Cal 343 (DB)  AIR 1952 Bom 56 (57) (Statement about possession and title — Document, if it shows intention to pay consideration, is valid — Otherwise invalid)  AIR 1951 Pat 454 (456)  AIR 1950 All 632 (634) ILR (1953) 1 All 265 (DB) (Sale may be complete though full price has not been paid)  AIR 1938 Pat 265 (266)  AIR 1936 Pat 8 (83) ILR 10 Pat 630 (DB)  AIR 1935 Lab 37 (34) (Receipt for earnest money mentioning an out and out sale as having been effected — Fact that receipt is not followed by registration of formal sale deed is not sufficient to show that intention of parties was that title should not pass until consideration in money had been paid in full)  AIR 1949 Orissa 14 (5) (There is no presumption that title passes once earnest consideration is paid to the vendor in full)  AIR 1944 Bur 50 (56) 57 (26)  AIR 193 Pat 236 (239) 10 Pat 264 (DB)  AIR 1929 All 85 (86)  AIR 1924 Mad 544 (545) (Conditions to be carried out by vendor as to discharge of prior debts, unless they are actually specified to the contrary, do not depend upon the nature of the sale)  AIR 1924 All 438 (439)  AIR 1920 Mad 164 (64) 43 Mad 112 (DB) (Vendor not passing purchase money is entitled to absolute decree for possession without interest being attached for payment of unpaid purchase money)  AIR 1919 Law Bur 21 (20) 11 Law Bur Kote 133  AIR 1919 Law Bur 140 (141)  AIR 1919 Pat 469 (470)  AIR 1919 Cal 844 (845) (DB)  AIR 1919 Cal 855 (856) (DB)  AIR 1918 All 117 (138) (DB) (Non-payment of consideration, however, may often be very strong evidence that the deed was not intended to operate)  AIR 1917 Mad 492 (494) (DB)  AIR 1916 Cal 589 (590) (DB)  AIR 1916 Cal 120 (122) (DB)  AIR 1916 Law Bur 9 (19)  AIR 1915 Mad 387 (391) (DB)  AIR 1914 Cal 385 (386) (DB)  AIR 1914 Cal 239 (240) (DB)  (1909) 32 Mad 325 (326) (DB)  (1909) 2 Ind Cas 427 (429) (DB) Bom  (1908) 30 All 125 (127) (DB) (Purchaser notwithstanding such non-payment can obtain a suit for possession — Court is entitled to pass a decree in favour of the claimant for possession, subject to the enquiries which exist in favour of the defendant)  (1906) 4 Cal LJ 534 (336) (DB)  (1906) 16 Mad LJ 524 (525) (DB)  (1902) 6 Cal WN 150 (157) (DB)  (1899) 23 Bom 525 (527) (DB)  1899 Pun Re No 77 p 327 (329) (DB)  (1891) 13 All 469 (418) (DB) (Deed purporting to be a sale deed executed and registered as such — Consideration received but not paid back to the vendor — Possession not delivered — Held, on the face of the document, the sale and title was given to the vendee)  1891 Bom PJ 147 (147) (DB)  (1891) 4 CPLR 92 (93) 1890 Bom PJ 65 (65) (DB)  (1888) 11 All 244 (251) (DB)  1882 Pun Re No 192 p 559 (560) (DB)  (1881) 4 All 168 (170) (DB)  (1880) 2 All 711 (712) (DB)  1879 Pun Re No 132 p 387 (389) (DB)  (1878) 2 Bom 547 (548) (549) (DB)  1875 Pun Re No 2 p 75 (78) (DB)  1868 (3 Agr) 30 (31) (DB)  (1867) 7 Suth WR 317 (318) (DB)  (1823) 7 Ind Cas 145 (149) (Pesh)  (1931) 9 Ind Cas 562 (562) (DB) (Cm)  1912 Pun Re No 105  1911 Pun Re No 55 (DB)  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 674 (674) (DB) (Lah)  (1910) 6 Nag LR 98 (102) (Although the legal ownership of immovable property may have passed to a buyer by virtue of a properly executed deed of conveyance, if the purchase money or any part thereof remains unpaid, such buyer will not be entitled to a decree for possession of the property sold, except on condition of first paying the purchase money in full)

[See also AIR 1954 Bom 518 (525) (DB). (Sale of goods)]

[But see (1881) 3 All 77(81) (DB). (Submitted wrong.)]

it is not necessary that price must be paid in whole or in part at the execution or registration (4) When the recital in registered sale deed is that the vendor intended to transfer the title on the very date of execution of sale deed it cannot be said that for non-payment of consideration there was no passing of title (5) Where the document is on its face a deed of sale, duly executed and registered, and it is not the plea of the vendor that title in suit property was not intended to be passed on to the vendee and was postponed to be passed until the consideration was paid, even if the possession was not given and the price was not paid, on the contents of the document the title would pass to the vendee. If the vendee was deprived of possession he was well justified in asking for the same. The remedy of the vendor lay in asking for payment of price (6) In such case the title must be deemed to have passed without passing of consideration (7) Whether title passes on execution of sale deed even if consideration is not paid or partly paid depends on intention of parties. It has to be gathered from recitals in the sale deed as also circumstances surrounding thereto. (8) Even if it is mentioned in sale deed that consideration is received, it is not decisive. The Court can take into consideration of various factors existing at the time of execution of sale deed (9) Want or failure of consideration, the condition precedent to the transfer, irrespective of recitals of the document, can be proved by independent evidence. Whether the consideration is executed or is still executory i.e. whether the consideration is actually paid and accepted or not is a question which a Court can determine on such evidence that the parties may lead and the contents of the document of disposition shall not be conclusive for the said purpose (10) The seller cannot, on the ground merely of non-payment of the price, claim to retain possession as against the buyer of the property sold (11) Nor can he set aside the sale on that ground (12) His remedy is to sue the buyer for the recovery of his purchase money (13) or to enforce the seller's charge for the purchase money against the properties sold in the hands of

3. 1959 MPLJ 1078 (1080)  AIR 1999 SC 1441 (1450) : 1999 AIR SCW 1129 : 1999 (3) SCC 573. (The real test is intention of parties. It is to be gathered from recital in sale deed conduct of parties and evidence on record)  1999 (3) Mad LW 162 (166) (Vendor will however have lien over the property sold for sale consideration or its balance)  1998 (3) Mad LJ 372 (374) In instant case there was no contract or statement that document will come into effect only on payment of consideration.  AIR 1957 Punj 248 (241)  AIR 1952 Bom 56 (57) (DB)  AIR 1934 Lah 917 (919) (DB) (Unless there is anything in the agreement of sale definitely laying down that sale shall not be taken to have been completed until entire purchase-money is paid)  AIR 1916 All 366, 367. 38 All 154 (DB)  (1866) 1 Agra 85 (86, 87) (DB).

[See also AIR 1955 Cal 101 (103) (The ordinary rule governing vendors and purchasers is that the payment of the consideration is to be simultaneous with and at the time when the conveyance is executed by the vendor. In any particular case, however, the parties may agree to deviate from the ordinary rule).]

4. 1966 BLJR 291 (DB).
 5. AIR 1993 Orissa 59 (62)
 6. AIR 1993 MP 162 (164) : 1993 MPLJ 448
 7. AIR 1971 Orissa 147 (149) : 36 Cut LT 1274
 8. AIR 1990 Pat 26 (31) (1989) 2 BLJ 587  AIR 1989 Pat 50 (54) 1988 Pat LJR (HC) 950  1989 BBCJ (HC) 650 (652).
 9. AIR 1989 Pat 50 (54) : 1988 Pat LJR (HC) 950.
 10. AIR 1985 Pat 94 (96) : 1985 BLJR 736.
 11. AIR 1965 Pat 29 (30) (Buyer is entitled to recover possession and also mesne profits for period seller remains in possession)  AIR 1944 Mad 124 (125) (In a suit for possession by vendee, vendor cannot enforce his lien for unpaid purchase-money.)  AIR 1920 Mad 164 (164) 43 Mad 712 (DB)  AIR 1919 Low Bur 20 (20) 10 Low Bur Rul 133  AIR 1919 Low Bur 140 (141) (The only remedy of the vendor is a suit for the recovery of the purchase-money)  (1911) 34 Mad 543 (544) (Vendor is entitled to statutory charge on the property for unpaid purchase-money)  (1910) 6 Ind Cas 117 (117) (DB) (All) the buyer (14) He can file suit under S 31 Specific Relief Act or for decree for consideration amount which remained outstanding.(15)

The non-payment of consideration may however, often be very strong evidence to show that the parties did not intend the document to be operative(16) or that the transaction was the result of undue influence (17) But it is not conclusive to show such an intention (18)

The question as to whether title from the vendor to the vendee has passed on the execution and registration of the sale deed or not on account of non payment of consideration money depends upon the intention of parties which has to be looked into to decide whether the sale deed operated as a transfer of interest from the vendor to vendee on the date of its execution If the intention was to transfer the title, then it is wholly immaterial whether the whole amount of consideration or part of it remained unpaid Where the recitals in the sale deed are indicisive or ambiguous then only the Court should consider the conduct of the parties and the surrounding circumstances to determine the intention of the parties at the time of execution of the sale deed.(19)

Where the parties to the sale deed had agreed that the title in the property sought to be sold should pass to the vendee only after payment of the full consideration of money and it is found that the consideration was never paid the sale deed will not convey any title to the vendee.(20)

The sale deed shall not be treated as invalid merely because the sale deed recites payment of sale price but in fact, it was not paid If the vendee intended to pay the sale price, but in fact he did not pay, though a recital of such payment was made in the sale deed, such sale deed would not be invalid and title will pass to vendee unless intention of vendor was that title

[But see (1968) 10 Scrh WR 194 (94) (DB) (A party selling land, may refuse to give delivery until the consideration is paid, but having given delivery he has no right to re-take possession and pay himself the purchase money out of the usufruct.)]

12. AIR 1944 Bom 50 (56, 57) (DB)  AIR 1934 Lah 917 (919) (DB)  AIR 1929 Bom 147 (150) 53 Bom 321 (DB)  (1919) 2 Ind Cas 429 (429) (DB) (Bom)  (1901) 14 CPLR 57 (58)  (1913) 36 Mad 8 (10) (DB)

13. AIR 1919 Low Bur 140 (141)  AIR 1919 Low Bur 20 (20) 40 Low Bur Ref 133  (1901) 14 CPLR 57 (58)  (1899) 23 Bom 525 (527) (DB)  (1910) 6 Ind Cas 117 (117) (DB) (All).

(See also AIR 1957 Mad 630 (631) (Possession delivered after sale but consideration not paid — Vendor entitled to the consideration and interest thereon till date of payment)

14. See S 55 sub-section (4) clause (b)  (1963) 1 Mys LJ 897 (895) (Consideration for sale agreed to be Rs 2000 — Sale supported by consideration in view the extent of Rs 1000 — Seller has charge over property for the balance)  (1902) 2 Ind Cas 497 (497) (DB) (Bom)  (1901) 14 CPLR 57 (58)  (1911) 34 Mad 543 (544) (DB)

15. 1989 BBCJ (HC) 650 (652)

16. AIR 1957 Mad 630 (631)  AIR 1918 All 337 (338) (DB)  AIR 1917 Mad 497 (497) (DB)

17. AIR 1934 Cal 762 (763) (DB)

[See AIR 1926 Pat 539 (542) (DB).]

18. AIR 1957 Mad 630 (631)  AIR 1928 All 391 (392) (DB) (Mere fact that portion of sale consideration has not been paid is no ground for coming to conclusion that parties did not intend document to be operative.)

19. 1997 (6) Andh LT 283 (287).

20. 1985 BLJR 785 (787) (DB).

should not pass. But if the intention of the vendee was not to pay, it will only be a colourable transaction and will have no effect. The Court has to examine the intention of the parties (21)

Where a registered sale deed is executed but the vendor did not part with the possession and it was intention of parties that the title would pass only on receipt of full consideration by the vendor, there was no transfer of title either factually or legally. Adjoining land holder could not therefore claim right of pre-emption, as there was no transfer of land (22)

The agreement was executed by the transferor alone and it contained a peculiar clause that if the sale consideration is not paid on or before the stipulated date, the document shall be deemed to be cancelled. Therefore, this is not a case where the consideration is agreed to be paid on a future date. Hence it will not qualify within the definition of S. 54. Further since the deed was executed by transferor alone, there was no reciprocal promise to pay by the transferee (23)

If there is no proof of payment of price it will not operate as a sale deed, but if the requisites of Ss. 122 and 123 of the T.P. Act are established, it will take effect as a gift deed. The transferee is entitled to establish the non-payment of consideration and to prove that what are in terms sale deeds are in effect only deeds of gift. (24)

Where a conveyance is duly executed and registered the presumption will, in the absence of circumstances to the contrary, be that the parties intended the title to pass forthwith, and the consideration to be paid (25). In such a case the burden lies heavily on vendor to prove that consideration is not paid (26). The presumption can be rebutted by evidence showing that it was the intention of the parties that title should not pass until certain conditions are fulfilled. In such cases title will not pass until those conditions are fulfilled (27). Thus, the parties may agree that title should not pass until the price is paid. In such cases title will not pass until the price is paid (28). Heavy burden lies

21. 1998 AHC 921 (923) * 1997 All LJ 2111 : 1997 (3) All WC 1690

22. 1998 (3) Pat LJR (HC) 192 (196)

23. 1995 HRR 317 (2) (318) (SC).

24. 1976 Ker LT 840 (842).

25. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 176 (178) — ILR (1960) Madh Pra 614 (DB) (Registered deed of sale purporting to operate as conveyance on face of it — Burden of proving that it was not so intended is on party who asserts this fact)  1989 BCCJ (HC) 650 (652)  AIR 1953 Orissa 3, 5 (323) — ILR (1953) Cut 343 (DB)  AIR 1951 Pat 454 (457)  AIR 1944 Pat 3 (4) — 22 Pat 306 (DB)  AIR 1916 Lah 336 (336) (DB)  (1909) 4 Ind Cas 541 (541) (DB) (Cal)  (1909) 32 Mad 72 (75) (DB)  (1897) 21 Mad 56 (57-58) (DB)  (1894) 17 Mad 146 (147) (DB)

[See also AIR 1967 Assam 9 (13) — ILR (1964) 16 Assam 237 (DB) (Sale-deed relating to land — Vendee not taking deed from Registration office — This does not show that vendee had no knowledge of sale or that he did not pay consideration for sale)  AIR 1962 Andh Pra 94 (97) — ILR (1961) Andh Pra 579 (DB) (Once execution is proved, recitals of payment of consideration are prima facie proof of it against executant or persons claiming under him)  (1909) 32 Mad 325 (329) (DB) (Sale-deed registered — Want of consideration — Vendor intending deed to be operative only if vendee outlived her — Deed acted upon — Title passes without consideration)  AIR 1953 Pat 330 (333) (Held, that it was manifest from the recitals in the deed and from the facts that the intention of the parties was that title should pass on the payment of the consideration money which was to be paid at the time of the passing of the registration receipt. As no consideration had been paid either to the vendor or to her creditors no title had passed.)]

26. AIR 1991 Pat 99 (106)

27. (1975) 1 Cut WR 171 (177) — 41 Cut LT 447  (1913) 19 Ind Cas 562 (562) (DB) (Cal) * (1912) 37 Bom 53 (56) (DB)  AIR 1944 Pat 3 (4) — 22 Pat 306 (DB)  (1904) 28 Mad 124 (126) (DB) (Consideration — Promise to give a girl in marriage)

28. ILR (1978) 1 Cut 98 (103)  AIR 1978 Pat 97 — 1978 Pat LJR 255 (DB) (Though the sale-on vendor that consideration is not received by him at all and, therefore, title did not pass to the vendee, in spite of execution of registered sale deed (29) Where in a contract of sale a part of the consideration money is paid by cheque and the transferor executes the document relying on the representation given by the transferee that the cheque would be encashed on presentation to the bank, it would be proper to assume that the intention of the parties was that the title should not pass till the consideration represented to be paid is paid (30)

Even if a registered sale deed in respect of agricultural land is executed, if it is clear that the intention of the parties was that the transfer of title shall take effect only on payment of full consideration, there is no transfer of land. Thus the owner of the adjacent land could not claim deed may recite that the consideration has been paid, there is nothing to prevent the vendee from adducing evidence to show that the recital is untrue and that, in fact, the consideration was not paid; this will not be barred by S 92 of the Evidence Act. — AIR (1957) 56 Pat 943 (948) (DB)  AIR 1965 Pat 29 (30)  AIR 1964 Orissa 239 (240) — ILR (1964) Cal 551  ILR (1964) Cal 381 (384)  AIR (1964) Orissa 17 (20)  1959 MP LJ 328 (388),  AIR (1957) Orissa 243 (245) — ILR (1957) Cal 380. Sale deed a forgery is in point of passing of title — Retention of sale deed by vendor and subsequent cancellation of the deed on the ground of non-payment of consideration and execution of sale deed to a third party indicate that the intention of parties to the first sale deed was that title would not pass to vendee until he paid the consideration. — AIR (1953) Orissa 355 (20) — ILR (1953) Cal 343 (DB)  AIR (1950) Pat 288 (289)  AIR (1944) Pat 344 (2) — Pat 506 (DB) — 72 — Pat 1 R No 112 (Option to lessee to purchase property by lessee conditional on payment of purchase money subject to sanction of local authority. — Sanction given only till purchase money was paid. — Commissioner's sanction amounted only to sanction to purchase.)  AIR (1935) Pat 45 (46) — AIR (1934) Pat 51 (2)  AIR (1934) Pat 97 (DB)  AIR 1931 Pat 236 (239) — 10 Pat 264 (DB)  AIR 1929 Pat 550 (552) (DB)  AIR 1928 Oudh 439 (441, 442) — 4 Luck 13 (DB)  AIR 1920 Oudh 29 (40) (It is open to the parties to contract that ownership shall not pass until the full consideration is received.)  AIR (1917) Pat 514 (515) (DB)  AIR (1917) Pat 242 (245)  AIR (1906) Pat 556 (DB)  (1913) 20 Ind Cas 325 (325, 326) (Cal)  (1913) 19 Ind Cas 362 (362) (DB) — 4 —  (1912) 14 Ind Cas 120 (121) (DB) (Mad)  (1911) 12 Ind Cas 534 (534) (Luh)  (1911) Pun Re No 50 (DB) (Conduct of parties after transaction of sale is important in order to ascertain whether parties intended ownership to pass independent of payment of consideration)  (1910) 6 Ind Cas 477 (478) (Cal)  (1909) 3 Ind Cas 177 (178) (Cal) (Mere registration of a sale deed does not necessarily pass title to the vendee if it was the clear intention of the parties that no title should pass till the consideration money was paid.)  (1906) 4 Cal LJ 338 (339) (DB)  (1900) 2 Cal LJ 100 (DB)  (1898) 2 Cal WN 20 (208) (DB)  1882 Pun Re No 192 p 559 (560) (DB)  1879 Pun Re No 132 p 387 (389) (DB)  1873 Pun Re No 45 p 69 (70)  1871 15 St & WR 44 (45) (DB) — 300. Is bound to see whether it was or was not the intention of the parties that a complete sale should take place although the purchase money was not paid.)

[See also AIR 1951 Pat 454 (457) (Suit for declaration of title and possession — Institution of within 9 days of registration and execution of sale deed — Question whether it was intention of parties that ownership was not to pass till payment of entire consideration money — Held absence of delivery of sale deed or possession was not a bar to title in deciding the question in the particular case)  AIR 1948 Pat 85 (189) (Held, that in view of the operative portion of the sale deed and the surrounding circumstances, looked at in the light of the recitals in the document it was established that there was a prior oral agreement imposing a condition precedent that the passing of the title was not to take place until the vendee paid the dues under the mortgage. — AIR (1928) Rang 17 (48) — S Rang 636 (DB) (Non-fulfilment of condition precedent — Effect cannot be given to intention to transfer and no property passes.)]

29. AIR 1991 Pat 99 (105)

30. 1978 Rev LR 110 (113) : (1978) 80 Pun LR 41

pre-emption.(31)

It follows that the mere registration of a conveyance does not necessarily convey title, without regard to the intentions of the parties (32) The Court has to see what the intention of the parties was in each particular case (33) though as seen already, the parties would be presumed to have intended to pass title forthwith in the absence of circumstances to the contrary

Where a recital in the registered sale deed provided that the title would pass only on receipt of full consideration and it is established that consideration is not paid, the sale deed did not convey any

31. 1998 (3) Pat LJR (HC) 192 (196)*

32. AIR 1973 Pat 386 (387-388) 1974 BLJR 81 (DB) (When the sale-deed stipulates payment of balance price during exchange of equivalents (balance amount and registration receipt) and mentions only putting buyer in possession (but possession was not delivered) even if it does not expressly postpone passing of the title (i) discharge of the consideration due and bulk of the consideration (more than 3/4ths of the total) also has been paid the title will not pass with the registration of the deed. It will only during the exchange of the equivalents)  1968 BLJR 74 (79) (DB)  ILR (1964) Cut 381 (386) (Sale deed executed and registered — Vendor agreeing to receive consideration money from vendee's father by making endorsement on registration ticket — No clear term that title would pass to vendee immediately after execution of document and before passing of consideration — Possession not delivered to vendee and custody of document remaining with vendor. Consideration amount also not paid — Vendee held did not acquire any title to suit property under sale deed)  AIR 1961 Orissa 19 (21)  1959 MPLJ 1078 (1081)  AIR 1953 Orissa 315 (325) ILR (1953) Cut 343 (DB) (If the recital about the receipt of consideration is proved to be incorrect a latent ambiguity arises and if the circumstances show that the consideration was not in fact paid it would follow that the intention of the parties was not to effect a transfer of ownership by the mere execution or registration of the document)  AIR 1953 Pat 330 (333)  AIR 1950 Pat 288 (289)  AIR 1922 Lah 356 (367) 3 Lah 389 (DB)  AIR 1920 Pat 774 (774)  AIR 1917 Cal 589 (590) (DB) (Especially if it be not accompanied by delivery thereof)  (1909) 4 Ind Cas 541 (541) (DB) (Cal)  (1904) 28 Mad 124 (126) (DB)  (1900) 27 Cal 7 (10) (DB)  (1913) 20 Ind Cas 325 (325) (DB) (Cal)  (1913) 19 Ind Cas 562 (562) (DB) (Cal)

[See also AIR 1950 Pat 85 (86) (Registered sale-deed — Deed not delivered by vendor to vendee because latter was not in position to pay consideration — Parties agreeing that sale-deed remained ineffective as between them)]

33. AIR 1972 Orissa 99 (100-101) (1971) 2 Cut WR 145 (Intention has to be gathered primarily from the recitals in the sale deed and if they are ambiguous, from the surrounding circumstances and the conduct of the parties)  1968 BLJR 74 (78) (DB) (Patent ambiguity in recital — Aid may be taken from evidence of surrounding circumstances and conduct of parties)  AIR 1964 Orissa 239 (240) ILR (1964) Cut 551 (Terms so intermingled that it is very difficult to make out from them a definite position — Court has to take into consideration surrounding circumstances in deciding whether parties intended that title would pass independent of consideration)  ILR (1964) Cut 381 (Where the terms in the sale deed are so intermingled that no definite position can be made out from them the extraneous circumstances such as the custody of the document, the conduct of the parties etc. have to be taken into consideration)  AIR 1961 Orissa 19 (21)  1959 MPLJ 1078 (1081)  (1959) 1 Orissa JD 1 (4) (Intention should primarily be gathered from recitals in document — Where recitals are indiseisive or ambiguous surrounding circumstances and conduct of parties may be looked into — Held, on construction of sale deed that title passed on date of execution and that payment of full consideration was not condition precedent to passing of title)  AIR 1947 Pat 1 (3) (DB) (Intention of the parties must be gathered from the sale deed itself. But where the terms of the deed are not decisive and clear, the surrounding circumstances may be looked into)  AIR 1922 Lah 356 (357) 3 Lah 389 (DB) (For this purpose the Court may look to previous as well as subsequent conduct of the parties.)  (1909) 4 Ind Cas 541 (541) (DB) (Cal).

title to purchaser.(34)

The arrangement between the parties as to when the title should pass is a contract between the parties and if reduced to writing cannot be varied or contradicted by oral evidence. Such an arrangement is not a recital of a fact such as the passing of consideration (35)

The factum of passing of consideration may be disputed and extraneous evidence may be admissible for determining that issue but the terms of the contract as to the time of passing of title will be proved from the document alone if the terms are clear and unambiguous. If the terms are in decision and ambiguous then only the Courts will take into consideration other extraneous circumstances. Even if the recital in the sale deed is that full consideration is paid but if it is proved that only part of it is paid, it will not effect the passing of title in favour of purchaser in view of the clear recital in the sale deed to that effect.(36)

The fact that the price is not payable into the hands of the vendor but in some other way does not alter the nature of the transaction.(37)

Where the vendor executed a sale deed, signed it and presented for registration without any reservation as to balance consideration, it resulted in passing of the complete title in the vendee. He should not have presented the sale deed for registration if he was of the view that the payment of balance consideration was a condition precedent.(38)

15. Price can be shown to be different from that recited.

There is nothing to prevent a party to sale from showing that the consideration was something different from that recited in the deed (1). Even the party who has acknowledged the receipt of

[See also AIR 1957 Orissa 243 (246) : 11 R (1957) Cut 380 (Factum of passing of consideration may be proved by extraneous evidence but to ascertain the intention of the parties as to when the title should pass to the vendee should be ascertained from the deed when the terms are clear and unambiguous. Only when there is ambiguity can extraneous circumstances be considered)  AIR 1953 Orissa 315 (323) : 11 R (1953) Cut 343 (DB) (The only evidence that the Court will look into is that afforded by what the parties have said in the terms of the contract itself and evidence aliunde is not admissible to prove their intention if the language employed is unambiguous. AIR 1947 Pat 1. Relied on. But if the recital is clear that the receipt of consideration and the transfer of title should be simultaneous, or that the sale is made in exchange for the price and the vendee is made the owner and put in possession after realization of the entire consideration, the only inference should be that one is dependant on the other.  AIR 1955 Pat 205 (264) (DB). Sale deed — Question whether title passes on execution and registration of deed or on payment of consideration depends upon intention of parties to be gathered from deed itself.)]

34. 1985 BLJR 785 (787).

35. AIR 1938 Pat 505 (506) : 17 Pat 318 (DB)

[See also AIR 1949 Orissa 14 (15) (Title when passes — Terms of document should alone be looked to — Extraneous evidence is admissible only when they are ambiguous.)]

36. AIR 1992 Orissa 170 (173)

37. AIR 1937 Rang 287 (292) : 4 Rang 766 (DB) (Price to be set off against debt due in compromise against vendor.)

[See also AIR 1949 Orissa 14 (17) (Portion of consideration left in hands of vendee for payment to vendor's creditors — Failure to carry out trust — Title legally vested in vendee is not divested.)]

38. 1996 (2) Civ LJ 557 (559) (Raj)

Section 54 — Note 15

1. AIR 1928 Rang 47 (48) : 5 Rang 636 (DB)  AIR 1914 All 298 (303) : 36 All 537 (DB)  (1909) 2 Ind Cas 953 (953-954) (DB) Cal)  (1901) 5 Cal WN 158 (159) (DB)  (1882) 5 Mad 6 (8) (DB)  (1876) 3 Bom 159 (160) (DB) consideration in the sale deed can show that he did not receive it.(2) The onus ordinarily, and especially where the sale deed and the property have been delivered to the buyer, would be on the seller to show that there was no consideration for the deed.(3) The onus may, however, be discharged by proving other circumstances and then the onus will shift to the vendee to prove payment.(4)

But a third party cannot question the passing of consideration between the vendor and the vendee.(5)

16. Inadequacy and inflation of price.

A sale is not invalid merely by reason of the inadequacy of the consideration (1) Nor does the inflation of the price in a sale deed by the parties for purposes of their own vitiate the sale, if

2. (1900) 22 All 370 (375, 376) : 27 Ind App 93 (PC). (Affirming 18 All 168)  (1898) 20 All 447 (455) : 25 Ind App 137 (PC)  AIR 1950 Pat 85 (85)  AIR 1920 Lab Bur 112 (113) 10 Low Bur Rul 264  AIR 1929 Bom 147 (150) 53 Bom 321 (DB) (Provided there is no case of estoppel)  (1902) 25 Mad 55 (59) (DB)  (1867) 7 Suth WR 428 (428) (DB)  (1866) 6 Suth WR 267 (268) (DB) (But party cannot prove that only part of consideration stated to be received in full was paid at time of sale and that rest was to be paid only in case of a successful termination of a suit)  (1866) 1 Agra 160 (161) (DB)  (1910) 6 Ind Cas 477 (478) (Cal)

[See also (1868) 10 Suth WR 208 (208) (DB) (A Judge acts correctly in considering evidence on the question whether consideration recited in sale deed had passed or not)]

[But see (1867) 7 Suth WR 334 (334) (DB) (In a suit by a husband against his wife to recover property alleged to have been nominally sold by him to her, oral evidence was not allowed to be admitted to prove that no consideration passed after he had solemnly in a written document, admitted that it had passed.)]

3. (1891) 13 All 409 (417) (SB)  AIR 1920 Lab Bur 112 (113) 10 Low Bur Rul 264  AIR 1919 Pat 414 (415, 416) 4 Pat LJ 517 (DB) (Mere denial of receipt of consideration is not sufficient to relieve the vendor to shift the burden on to the vendee)
4. AIR 1920 Lab Bur 112 (113) 10 Low Bur Rul 264 (Vendee not getting possession under deed for long time — Burden of proving that consideration passed is shifted to him)  (1886) 8 All 641 (643) (DB)
5. AIR 1957 Trav-Co 89 (192) ILR 1956 Trav Co 998 (DB)  AIR 1928 Pat 44 (45) 7 Pat 95 (DB)  (1913) 20 Ind Cas 952 (954) (DB) (Mad)  (1912) 15 Ind Cas 192 (192) (DB) (Lah) (Sale by one co-owner of his share — Other co-shares incompetent to contest validity of sale on the ground of want or failure of consideration.)

Section 54 — Note 16

1. 1975 All WC 380  AIR 1975 Cal 445 (449) (DB) (Sale at a reduced price is not sufficient to show that it is not bona fide — On the contrary, the mala fide purchaser generally inflates the price)  AIR 1957 Mad 630 (631) (Merely because a purchaser gets the property for one fourth of its value it should not be held that the inadequacy of consideration by itself proves fraud. Court should scrutinise the circumstances before it holds there is fraud. It is better in such cases to apply the doctrine of lucky purchasers adumbrated in some cases)  AIR 1954 Pat 280 (283) (DB) (Want of adequate consideration would not of itself affect the title of the vendee)  AIR 1918 Oudh 5 (6) 21 OC 97  AIR 1924 Nag 124 (125) (No presumption of fraud between debtor and creditor from mere inadequacy of consideration.)  AIR 1915 Mad 1055 (1055) (DB).

[See also AIR 1927 Mad 664 (665) (Sale of large piece of land for a large price several years ago — Inadequacy of price must be strictly proved — Oral evidence is not of much value — Price should be determined with relation to price paid for adjoining lands of the same quality sold at the same time.)] otherwise valid (2) Though consideration need not be adequate it must be real where the vendee undertakes to discharge the mortgage debt of the vendor, it forms part of the consideration for sale. The mere fact that the vendee did not discharge the mortgage debt would not make the sale transaction nominal (3) Challenge to the sale deed that consideration was very low could not stand in absence of reliable evidence to show market value at relevant period when agreement was executed (4) See also the undermentioned case (5) A sold to B property for Rs. 1,200, Rs. 550 being undertaken to be paid by B to the prior mortgagee and the balance to be paid to A before the registration officer. It was found that the latter amount was so paid but was taken back by B. It was held that the sale was nevertheless valid as the consideration to the extent of Rs. 550 had passed (6) In the undermentioned cases (7) the disparity between the real value of the property and the price specified in the document was held to indicate that it was not an absolute sale but only by way of security for a pre-existing debt.

17. Sale of property of value of rupees one hundred or more.

A sale of property of the value of rupees one hundred or more can be effected only by a registered instrument (1) Section 54 comprehends the value of property as distinguished from the purported consideration of alienation and therefore even if the property worth more than Rs. 100/- is transferred for consideration of less than Rs. 100/- it cannot be so done without a registered

2. AIR 1924 All 938 (939) (Consideration money overstated to safeguard purchaser from pre-emption.)
3. 1984 TN LJ 442 (448) (DB)
4. AIR 2001 All 231 (233) : 2001 All LJ 1718 : 2001 (2) All WC 1118
5. AIR 2002 All 13 (20) : 2002 All LJ 43 : 2002 All HC 48 : 2001 Rev Dec 492 (Case under Specific Relief Act — Contract of sale deed does not comply with provisions relating to attesting authorities as required under contract — Prices of property sharply escalating in meanwhile — No evidence on record however regarding taking of value of property — Plaintiff allowed refund of earnest money with damages amounting to Rs. 20,000/-)
6. AIR 1923 All 530 (531) : 45 All 559 (DB)
7. 1956 Andh WR 569, 572 (DB)  999 All HC 3696, 3700 (Madh Pra) (Execution of sale deed — Consideration unconscionably low and inadequate — Transaction held to be by way of security for repayment of loan.)

Section 54 — Note 17

1. AIR 1961 SC 1747 (1750) : (1962) 2 SCR 474 (Sale is not complete until registration of instrument is completed)  AIR 1960 SC 1368 (1371) : (1961) 1 SCR 248 (AIR 1953 Nag 182 Reversed)  AIR 1956 SC 17 (19) : ILR (1956) Cut 425 (Sale of right to catch fish in a lake)  AIR 1922 PC 56 (58) : 48 Ind App 365  AIR 1966 Ker 96 (97) (FB)  2002 All HC 3261, 3263 : 2002 (3) MPHT 239  1990 (2) Mub LR 833, 836 (Bom)  1981 TN LJ 248 (250) (Oral sale of property worth more than Rs. 100. Subsequent sale, even though made under a registered document, purchaser in first sale cannot convey valid title to the vendee in subsequent sale)  1970 (1) Pun LR 438 (No title passes under a sale of property valued at Rs. 100/- or more if no deed is executed and registered)  (1970) 72 Pun LR 294 : ILR (1971) 2 Pun 127, 130 (DB) (Ownership of allotted land — Allottee paying 25% of the price of land on a lotment — No registered instrument of sale — Allottee does not become owner of the land)  1968 Raj LW 222 (224)  ILR (1965) 1 Punj 619, 622, 623 (But the word 'transfer' in S. 40 Administration of Evacuee Property Act, 1950) has however been used in comprehensive sense precluding narrowness and technicality — Where conveyance deed has been executed there is transfer within the meaning of S. 40 even if conveyance deed has not been registered)  AIR 1964 All 300 (301) (Oral sale of immovable property of value of more than Rs. 100 — Sale is ineffective.)  AIR 1962 Punj 475 (475) (Transaction of oral sale requiring compulsory registration under S. 54 is not saved by doctrine of part performance)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 397 (399) (Oral sale cannot be recognised as valid and cannot be allowed to be proved, Reversed on another point in AIR 1963 SC 1633)  AIR 1959 Mys 194 document (2) An unregistered document in such a case conveys no title whatever (3) It is not admissible under S. 49 of the Registration Act as evidence of any transaction affecting the immov

(197) ILR (1958) Mys 746 (DB)  1959 RLW 283 (284) (DB) (Sale of property — Registered deed — Patia under not obtained from Nazool Department — Non-acquisition of patia held did not detract from title vested in vendee)  AIR 1953 Bom 145 (146) ILR (1953) Bom 253 (DB) (Oral sale of property in value above Rs. 100 by delivery of possession accompanied by giving vardi to village officer who effected mutation in favour of vendee — Sale is invalid)  AIR 1951 Nag 171 (173) ILR (1950) Nag 618 (Transfer of part of mortgaged property in satisfaction of debt — If value of property is more than Rs. 100 transfer to pass title must be by a registered instrument — Mere delivery of possession is not sufficient to transfer title.)  AIR 1921 Pat 150 (152) : 5 Pat LJ 715 (DB)  AIR 1915 Lah Bur 121 (121) (Property worth more than Rs. 100 — Oral transfer could not effect sale)  AIR 1939 Mad 220 (223) (A private sale by Receiver in insolvency also requires registered document)  AIR 1928 Mad 459 (462)  AIR 1927 Sind 206 (207) (DB)  AIR 1925 Rang 68 (69) : 2 Rang 459 (An admission of the agreement to sell does not act as an estoppel)  AIR 1923 Cal 35 (38-39) : 50 Cal 180 (DB)  AIR 1917 Mad 661 (662) (DB) (Transfer of life-interest by Hindu widow)  AIR 1916 Mad 214 (217) (DB) (Per Seshagiri Iyer, J.) — Conduct and acting cannot be relied upon to supplement an inchoate title)  AIR 1916 Low Bur 104 (104)  AIR 1916 Low Bur 73 (73)  AIR 1915 Low Bur 95 (96)  (1909) 5 Low Bur Rul 6 (6)  (1909) 36 Cal 920 (921) (DB) (Where a registered instrument is not executed there is no sale)  (1905) 7 Bom LR 845 (849)  (1901) 23 All 175 (180) (DB)  (1911) 10 Ind Cas 64 (65) (Oudh) [See also 1933 Pat 428 (430) (DB) (In order to create title in immovable property of the value of more than Rs. 100 it is necessary that a registered deed should be executed)]

2. AIR 2002 Raj 66 (67).

3. AIR 1966 SC 1438 (1440) : (1966) 3 SCR 214  AIR 1966 SC 115 (118) : (1965) 3 SCR 567  AIR 1960 SC 1368 (1371) : (1961) 1 SCR 248. (AIR 1953 Nag 182 Reversed.)  AIR 1966 Kerala 96 (97) (FB)  AIR 1987 Delhi 36 (34) (1986) 30 Delhi LT 487  AIR 1959 Mys 194 (197) ILR (1958) Mys 746 (DB)  AIR 1958 Mad 576 (578) ILR (1959) Mad 69 (DB) (Unregistered document — Doctrine of part performance does not operate to effect transfer of title)  AIR 1951 Nag 171 (173) ILR (1950) Nag 618 (Property of more than hundred rupees value — Delivery of possession not sufficient to pass title)  AIR 1947 Pat 424 (425) : 25 Pat 764 (DB)  AIR 1937 Mad 22 (24)  AIR 1934 Rang 303 (304) (If movable property also is transferred by the same unregistered document the title to the movable property also does not pass)  AIR 1934 Rang 127 (128)  AIR 1929 Rang 280 (281) : 7 Rang 271 (DB) (A person's admission that he is a party to the transaction which is proved by a report to the revenue authorities but not by a registered document to have been an outright transfer in satisfaction of a mortgage debt debars him from alleging that he is not bound by the transaction and though the transaction does not convey a good title to the mortgagee the transfer not being effected by registered deed as required by S. 54 still it is a good defence to the suit to redeem the property)  AIR 1929 Cal 231 (232)  AIR 1929 Nag 65 (65)  AIR 1928 Rang 124 (124) : 6 Rang 125  AIR 1928 Rang 237 (238) : 6 Rang 315  AIR 1927 Oudh 482 (483) : 3 Luck 107 (DB)  AIR 1927 Nag 289 (289)  AIR 1924 All 396 (396)  AIR 1923 Rang 230 (231)  AIR 1918 Pat 637 (638) (Admission of execution before a Registrar not followed by actual registration of the document could pass no title)  AIR 1916 Low Bur 67 (67)  AIR 1916 Low Bur 38 (39)  AIR 1914 Low Bur 53 (53-54) : 7 Low Bur Rul 262 (But the purchaser is entitled to a charge on the property for the amount paid by him in advance as purchase-money and for interest on that amount)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 55 (55) (DB) (Mad) (A subsequent purchaser by registered deed is entitled to priority, even if he had notice of the abortive purchase by unregistered deed.)

[See also AIR 1948 Nag 67 (69) ILR (1947) Nag 449 (Mistake in sale deed — Wrong field number given — Delivery of possession of correct property — Vendee does not get title thereby to such property in absence of registered instrument)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 770

able property,(4) though it is admissible for collateral purposes, for example, to show the nature of the possession of the vendee,(5) or to show that money was paid,(6) or to prove an acknowledgment of a debt recited therein,(7) under oral sale of property of value of more than Rs. 100/- no title would pass.(8) See also S. 53A, Notes 16 and 17.

The value of the property sold must be taken to be the amount for which it is sold and not the market-value of the property (9) In the undermentioned case,(10) however a contrary view was taken, namely, that the above rule is only a convenient test and that if the value of the property is actually found to be more than the consideration recited, that is the value of the property for purposes of registration. It is submitted that the latter view is not correct.

(771) (Low Bur) (Sale with condition of re-purchase — Sale deed unregistered — Purchaser getting possession on payment of price — Held, sale was invalid on account of non-registration but that purchaser should require vendor to complete his title by formal registered conveyance)  AIR 1933 Rang 434 (5) 10 Rang 529 (Sale of property worth more than Rs. 100 — No registered document — Purchaser cannot sue for declaration on basis of possession unless same has ripened into title by adverse possession for twelve years.)

4. See S. 49 Cl. (c) of the Indian Registration Act  AIR 1960 SC 1368 (1371) : (1961) 1 SCR 248. (AIR 1953 Nag 182 Reversed.)  1983 All Rent Cas 182 (285)  1955 Raj LW 472 (474)  AIR 1953 Pat 365 (366)  AIR 1958 Rang 124 (124) : Rang 25  (1909) 5 Nag LR 70 (72)

[See also AIR 1937 Pesh 28 (29) (DB)  AIR 1936 Pat 530 (532) (DB)  1867 Agra 148 (152) (FB). (Section 13 of Act XVI of 1864 prohibits Courts from receiving in evidence in any civil proceeding a deed of a sale of the value of one hundred rupees or upwards. Consequently a suit for possession brought merely on the basis of such a deed and of the title alleged to be thereby conveyed must necessarily fail for want of proof of any right or title to obtain possession)  (1878) 1 Cal LR 542 (543) (DB) (Secondary evidence of unregistered document cannot be received.)]

[See however AIR 1961 Raj 18 (20) : 11 R (1960) 16 Raj 753 (Shop owned by three persons jointly — Shares leased to tenants — Suit to recover arrears of rent by two lessors — Tenant raising plea of sale of one-third share of premises to him by third lessor and relying upon unregistered sale deed — Plaintiffs admitting fact of sale in deposition in suit — Plaintiffs cannot challenge factum of sale notwithstanding circumstance that sale deed being unregistered is inadmissible in evidence.)]

5. 1955 RLW 472 (474)  AIR 1953 Pat 365 (366)  AIR 1953 Sau 56 (58) (DB)  AIR 1949 Nag 410 (412) : 11 R (1949) Nag 534  1948 7 J and K LR 158 (161)  AIR 1930 Pat 530 (532) (DB)  AIR 1929 Mad 16 (18) (DB)  AIR 1929 Cal 710 (711) : 87 Cal 715 (DB)  AIR 1927 Oudh 581 (582)  AIR 1927 Nag 342 (343)  AIR 1924 Al 837 (837)  AIR 1923 Lah 495 (496) : 4 Lah 249 (DB)  AIR 1921 Mad 82 (84) : 44 Mad 253 (DB)  (AIR 1915 Mad 573 held overruled by AIR 1919 PC 44 : LPA No. 207 of 1915 and 1919 PC 44 Followed  AIR 1914 Mad 489 held overruled by LPA No. 207 of 1915)  AIR 1920 Cal 822 (823) (DB)  (1926) 98 Ind Cas 940 (941) : (Lah)

[See also AIR 1923 Rang 125 (126) : 11 Low Bur Rul 462 (Report of sale to Revenue Officer is admissible evidence as to what was reported.)]

Also see Note 21

6. AIR 1956 Manipur 16 (17)  (1911) 35 Bom 438 (441) (DB)
7. AIR 1930 Lah 985 (989) : 12 Lah 239 (DB)  (1909) 5 Nag LR 70 (74)
8. 1987 TLNJ 335 (339).
9. AIR 1937 Pesh 39 (40) (AIR 1936 Lah 307 Dissented from.)  (1871) 15 Suth WR 558 (559) (DB).
10. AIR 1936 Lah 307 (316) : 16 Lah 177 (DB).

A vendor who has executed a sale deed which is compulsorily registrable has no locus poenitentiae to resile from the transaction by reason of the fact that the title is not complete for want of registration. Registration does not depend upon the assent of the executant but upon the act of the officer appointed for the purpose. The incompleteness due to want of registration is not a thing of which the executant himself can take notice, though as regards third parties the point of time at which the transfer is deemed to have been effected is when the deed of transfer can be said to be a registered deed. (11) Title passes to the transferee as soon as the document is registered with the retrospective effect from the date of the execution (12) Where the sale deed requires registration, title does not pass till the sale deed is registered even though the transfer of possession as well as payment of consideration take place before registration of the document. Title of the vendor passes to the vendee only on registration of the sale deed irrespective of the fact that the sale deed was actually executed on an anterior day. Thus where the sale deed in favour of testator was not registered on the date of executing the Will, the testator could not bequeath his right in the property sought to be sold to him (13) A sale, which is required to be registered, is however not complete until the registration of the deed is completed (14) A compulsorily registrable sale deed executed earlier in point of time will when registered prevail over a subsequent sale deed even though the latter sale deed was registered at an earlier point of time (15) Thus where two sale deeds were executed in respect of same property and the sale deed in favour of plaintiff was registered first than sale deed in favour of defendant but the sale deed in favour of defendant was executed first and then sale deed in favour of plaintiff, the sale deed which was executed first in favour of defendant would have priority and would prevail over the the sale deed of the plaintiff (16)

Where a land is purchased by a tenant he becomes the owner on the date he deposits the purchase money and is not liable for arrears of rent or damages after such deposit even though the formal sale deed is executed much later. (17)

A transfer made by a riyat or intermediary prior to the date of vesting is not subject to vesting, event though the registration of the transfer is effected subsequent to the date of vesting. In such a case, S. 47 of the Registration Act will take effect in the absence of any contrary provision in the Acquisition Act (18).

A transfer of immovable property by a sale deed executed on 15-11-72 but registered after 15-11-72 is affected by Section 269(C) of the Income-tax Act which came into force on 15-11-1972 (19) Where a sale constitutes an act of insolvency of the vendor the period of three months for presenting an insolvency petition by a creditor commences, however from the date of the regis-

11. AIR 1914 PC 27 (29) : 42 Ind App 1 (PC)  AIR 1958 Pat 193 (195)  AIR 1938 All 431 (432)  AIR 1936 Cal 17 (18) : 62 Cal 979 (DB).

12. See Section 47 of the Indian Registration Act  AIR 1961 SC 1747 (1749) : (1962) 2 SCR 474  AIR 1977 Pat 283 (289) 1978 Pat LJ 130 (DB)  AIR 1960 Mad 55 (56)  AIR 1958 Pat 312 (313) (DB)  AIR 1958 Pat 193 (195)  AIR 1921 Pat 150 (152) 5 Pat LJ 715 (DB)  AIR 1936 Cal 279 (281) : 63 Cal 1117.

13. AIR 2001 Ker 184 (192) : 2001 (1) Ker LJ 247.

14. AIR 1961 SC 1747 (1749) (Pr. 8) : (1962) 2 SCR 474. (AIR 1926 All 549 Overruled; AIR 1957 Pat 545, Affirmed)  1978 All LJ 1255 (1257) (1978) 4 All LR 895 (A sale is complete after completion of the procedure under Sections 59 to 61 of Registration Act (1908) and not when the document has been executed or presented for registration)

15. AIR 1973 Mys 276 : (1972) 2 Mys LJ 408.

16. AIR 2001 Gauhati 29 (31) : 2001 (3) Civ LJ 191

17. (1966) 1 Andh WR 364 (367)

18. AIR 1978 Cal 347 (352) : 82 Cal WN 673 (FB).

19. 1975 Andh LT (Notes) 120.

tration of the document and not from the date of its execution(20).

Bona fide registration in a wrong book by the Registrar does not invalidate a compulsorily registrable transfer(21).

Where a document transferring a plot of land of value exceeding Rs. 100/- was executed on a stamp paper of Rs. 10/- and was notarised, it is a sale deed in terms of S. 54 and could be impounded for deficient stamp fees(22).

Sale of property by virtue of an unregistered document is not invalid in a case where alienation of property is by occupancy tenant because S. 46(3), C P Tenancy Act prohibits such alienation and S. 46(3), C P Tenancy Act prevents registration of such document(23).

Standing trees are immovable property and transfer of trees of the value of Rs. 100/- or upwards requires registration(24).

Title by adverse possession of the property valued at Rs. 100/- or more can be relinquished or transferred only by registered instrument(25).

An exchange of property valued at Rs. 100/- and more is not effective by mere delivery of possession unless registered deed is executed(26).

18. Reversion.

A reversion is the undisposed of interest in land which reverts to the grantor after the exhaustion of any particular estate, such as an estate for years, or for life or in tail which he may have created (1) Where, therefore, property in the possession of tenants is transferred by the owner, what is transferred is really a "reversion" within the meaning of this section(2) and consequently such a transfer must be made only by registered instrument(3). In the undermentioned case,(4) however it was held by the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of Oudh that property in the possession of a tenant must be considered "tangible property" and is not included in the expression "reversion" or "intangible thing." A similar view has also been taken by the Nagpur High Court in the undermentioned case (5) It is submitted that this view is opposed to the general consensus of opinion and is not correct.

Two agricultural fields were given to a Hindu woman by her husband in lien of maintenance. On death of husband she became limited owner of the said property. She sold the fields to defendant

20. AIR 1934 Mad 637 (638) : 58 Mad 166 (DB)  AIR 1933 Lah 821 (822)

Also see Note 13.

21. AIR 1936 Cal 212 (214)

22. 1999 (90) Rev Dec 107 (108) (All)

23. (1983) 1 East LR 144 (Orissa).

24. AIR 1975 Cal 92 : 78 Cal WN 735 (DB)

25. AIR 1971 Pat 253 : 1971 BLJR 272 (DB)

26. (1969) 1 Andh LT 150

Section 54 — Note 18

1. Stroud, Judicial Dictionary

2. AIR 1938 Lah 304 (305)  AIR 1938 Mad 100 (101-102) (DB)  AIR 1916 Bom 223 (223) : 40 Bom 313 (DB).

[See also Halsbury Laws of England, Vol. 18, page 335.

3. AIR 1938 Lah 304 (305)  AIR 1916 Bom 223 (223) : 40 Bom 313 (DB) (Registration is necessary though value be less than Rs. 100.)

4. (1899) 2 Oudh Cas 74 (77).

5. AIR 1954 Nag 109 (113) : 1LR (1952) Nag 37.

prior to coming into force of the Hindu Succession Act, 1956, though she was not competent to do so. On the date of coming into force of the Hindu Succession Act she was not in possession of the property and therefore could not become its absolute owner. Thus, the sale being invalid the reversioner was entitled to its possession on death of the widow(6).

19. "Or other intangible thing."

The words "intangible thing" must be read ejusdem generis with the word "reversion" which is ordinarily used to denote rights in immovable property, thus the words, "intangible thing" have reference only to immovable property and not to moveable property (1) In the undermentioned cases(2) it was held that the words "other intangible thing" are intended to embrace those imponderables which are related to immovable property such as, for example, a reversionary right.

The following are accordingly not "intangible things" within the meaning of this section, as not being rights in immovable property though in ordinary parlance they may be considered "intangible things". :

- (1) a right of re-purchase under a contract for the re-purchaser of immovable property(3),
- (2) a license to sell electricity(4);
- (2a) permission to plant trees on land and have access to gather their fruits(5),
- (3) a copyright in books(6);
- (4) a turn of worship(7);
- (5) a debt already become due(8);
- (6) a simple decree for money or for possession of immovable property(9);
- (7) a final decree for sale under O. 34. R. 5 of the Code of Civil Procedure(10);
- (8) The right of a mortgagee in movable property(11).

The following are rights in immovable property and are "intangible things" within the meaning of this section :

- (1) a right of easements(12);
- (2) a right of the rents and profits that may accrue in immovable property(13).

6. 1999 AIHC 268 (271) : 1999 (1) Hindu LR 206 (Guj).

Section 54 — Note 19

1. AIR 1939 All 305 (307) ILR (1939) All 275 (DB)  AIR 1935 Pat 492 (493).
2. AIR 1940 All 458 (460) ILR (1940) All 568 (DB)  AIR 1934 Nag 13 (15) (An undivided share is tangible immovable property though actual delivery of possession is impossible.)
3. AIR 1930 All 101 (103) (DB).
4. AIR 1940 All 458 (460) : ILR (1940) All 568 (DB).
5. AIR 1952 Nag 321 (322) ILR (1954) Nag 172 (Transaction is mere licence — No registration is required — AIR 1938 Nag 377 (DB), Distinguished.)
6. AIR 1939 All 305 (307) : ILR (1939) All 275 (DB).
7. AIR 1927 Pat 7 (8) : 6 Pat 245 (DB).
8. (1905) 27 All 564 (567) (DB). (Arrears of profits accrued due.)
9. AIR 1935 Pat 492 (493).
10. AIR 1925 Oudh 399 (399, 400) : 28 Oudh Cas 382.
11. (1887) 10 All 20 (23)
12. AIR 1935 Pat 492 (493).
13. AIR 1977 SC 2149 (2153)  AIR 1935 Pat 492 (493). (The transaction of sale of the right

- (3) the interest under a deed of settlement by which a person is granted an income in future rents and profits of certain immovable property and also a share in the proceeds of the sale of the property in future(14);
- (4) the right to patta of a land(15).

There is a conflict of opinion as to whether an equity of redemption vested in the mortgator is or is not an "intangible thing". One view is that the equity of redemption vested in the mortgator is "tangible immovable property" whatever may be the nature of the mortgage, whether simple or usufructuary(16). Another view is that in all cases the equity of redemption is an intangible thing(17). And a third view is that where the property is subject to a simple mortgage the equity of redemption is tangible immovable property, but that where the mortgage is a usufructuary one the equity of redemption is an "intangible thing" within the meaning of this section(18). The decisions noted below(19) are in accordance with this view. This view is based on the ground that "tangible property" means property capable of present possession while "intangible property" would con-to catch and carry away the fish if not effected by means of a registered instrument would pass no title or interest because it is a profit arising out of land and is regarded as immovable property. Even if the right is presumed to be intangible, its sale is required to be effected by a registered instrument whatever its value.)

14. AIR 1936 PC 230 (233, 234) : 63 Ind App 340 : 14 Rang 400. (Exact definition of "intangible thing" absent. — The purpose of the statute and the context of the phrase to be construed must furnish the guide.)

15. AIR 1957 Hyd 23 (24) : ILR (1956) Hyd 760 (DB). (Right is alienable but only under a registered deed.)  AIR 1950 Hyd 58 (59) : ILR (1951) Hyd 283 (DB).

16. AIR 1959 Pat 153 (155) : ILR 37 Pat 1577 (FB). (Majority view : AIR 1928 A 126 (FB) and AIR 1937 Pat 178. Rel. on 11 Mad LJ 132 and AIR 1919 Cal 325 (2) : AIR 1919 Assam 107. Dissented from.,  (1983) Pun LJ 21 (22) : 1983 11 Land LR 606.  AIR 1912 Orissa 136 (139) : 37 Cut LT 1114. (Sale of mortgaged property to usufructuary mortgagee — Is sale of tangible immovable property and not intangible immovable property. AIR 1919 Cal 325 (2). Dissented from.)  AIR 1964 Andh Pra 21 (22, 23) : ILR (1964) Andh Pra 199 (DB).  AIR 1959 Rat 218 (220) : ILR (1958) 8 Raj 512 (DB). AIR 1919 Cal 344 and AIR 1921 Oudh 124 (2) and AIR 1919 Cal 107 and AIR 1950 Assam 107. Diss. from.  AIR 1928 All 726 (728, 729) : 50 All 986 (FB). (Per Sathian, Ag. C. J. contra.)  AIR 1939 Bom 31 (33) : ILR (1939) Bom 71 (DB).  AIR 1937 Pat 178 (179) : 15 Pat 777 (DB).

[See also AIR 1954 Nag 109 (113) : ILR (1952) Nag 37 (48). (Owner still remains the owner after execution of mortgage or lease of the property. — Transfer of his interests is a transfer of property and not a mere transfer of abstract rights which he possessed in the property before he executed the mortgage or lease.)]

17. AIR 1917 Bom 287 (288) : DB. (The transfer of an equity of redemption could be effected only by a registered instrument.)  (1913) 11 All 407 (409, 410) :  AIR 1915 Oudh 149 (150) : 18 Oudh Cas 109 (DB). (Simple mortgage.)

[See also AIR 1955 Ajmer 28 (29). (Transfer of equity of redemption can be effected only by a registered sale deed and not by oral declaration or by an unregistered document embodying any such declaration.)]

18. (1901) 24 Mad 449 (463) (DB).

19. AIR 1950 Assam 107 (113) (DB). (Per Ram Lakhya J. Thadani C. J. contra.)  AIR 1936 Bom 175 (175) : 60 Bom 220 (DB). (Simple mortgage — Equity of redemption is tangible property.)  AIR 1921 Oudh 124 (124) : 24 Oudh Cas 155. (Usufructuary mortgage — Equity of redemption is intangible property.)  (1913) 19 Ind Cas 888 (890) (DB) (All) (Do)  AIR 1919 Cal 107 (107) (DB) (Do)  AIR 1919 Cal 325 (326) (DB) (Do)  (1906) 3 Nag LR 72 (74). (Usufructuary mortgage — Equity of redemption is intangible property — Following 24 Mad 449.)

note right apart from a right to immediate possession(20).

It is submitted that the last-mentioned view is to be preferred. As pointed out by Sulaiman, Ag C.J., in Sohan Lal v. Mohan Lal(21) :

"According to its literal meaning 'tangible' property would be one which is capable of being touched and therefore capable of being possessed. It must accordingly be property which is capable of delivery of possession from one person to another. A mortgaged property itself is undoubtedly 'tangible' but the interest of the mortgagor in the property, when the mortgage is usufructuary, is not identical with the property itself, as some interest has already passed to the mortgagee including the right to remain in possession and appropriate the profits. The interest which the mortgagor possesses is not itself capable of being touched, nor is it such that an actual delivery of its possession can be effected by the mortgagor to the mortgagee. It seems difficult to conceive of a thing as being tangible when it is not capable of actual delivery of possession. Although, therefore, the mortgagor is the legal owner of the usufructually mortgaged property whatever rights he possesses, so long as the mortgage subsists, cannot be treated as 'tangible'. The subject-matter of ownership is 'tangible' but the interest which the mortgagor can transfer is 'intangible'."

In Moolta Sons v. Official Assignee, Rangoon,(22) their Lordships of the Privy Council observed :

"... for the reason that in the absence of registered instrument delivery is to be required as a formality necessary to the completion of the transaction. S. 54 divides its provisions as to immovable property according as the immovable property is 'tangible or intangible'."

The above passage appears to support the view that the "tangible" property must be one that is capable of delivery and therefore capable of possession.

The right of a mortgagee where the mortgage is a simple one is "intangible property" (23). In view of the discussion above, it would seem to follow that the right of a usufructuary mortgagee would be "tangible immovable" property. The contrary view has, however, been expressed by the High Court of Allahabad in Sohan Lal's case, referred to above, namely that it is "intangible property".

An undivided share in property connoting rights of possession and enjoyment is tangible property(24).

It has been held that the interest of the partner in the partnership is, no doubt, an intangible thing but its sale would not come within the second clause of the section because it is 'movable' and

[See also AIR 1957 Pat 502 (507) 11LR 36 Pat 753 (DB) (Where both the mortgagor and mortgagee agree by a consensual act that the possession hitherto held as mortgagee should now henceforth be held as vendee, although such a transaction would be invalid because of not being registered as required by law and as such it did not amount to a valid transfer of the property yet as consensual act of the parties the possession for more than 12 years had the effect of wiping out the equity of redemption.)

20. AIR 1934 Nag 13 (15).

21. AIR 1928 All 726 (733) : 50 All 986 (FB).

22. AIR 1936 PC 230 (232) : 63 Ind App 340.

23. AIR 1936 PC 230 (232) : 63 Ind App 340  AIR 1935 PC 108 (111) : 62 Ind App 115. (Agreement as to transfer of security is of no effect by reason of non-registration)  AIR 1941 Nag 5 (6) 11LR (1941) Nag 615 (DB)  AIR 1934 Nag 13 (15)  AIR 1929 All 161 (164) 51 All 494 (DB)  AIR 1924 Rang 267 (268)  (1911) 14 Oudh Cas 161 (163)  (1912) 15 Ind Cas 853 (854) (All)  (1901) 24 Mad 449 (463) (DB). (18 Mad 454, Dis-sented from.)

[See also (1912) 16 Ind Cas 125 (125) (Lah) (Sale of mortgagee's rights by endorsement on mortgage-deed — Registration necessary.)]

24. AIR 1946 All 125 (126) (Fractional share in a mahal is not capable of being touched and cannot be described as tangible.)

not 'immovable' property (25,

Where the property transferred is an 'immovable thing' with the meaning of this section the charge created can only be made for a registered instrument whatever may be the value of such right (and also the instrument must be registered). In the case where the Transfer of Property Act does not apply, it has been held that the law of the country of origin where the mortgage is a usufructary one governs the restrictions upon the value of the charge, which is less than, not exceeding twice (27).

See also S 3 Note 2

20. "Can be made only by a registered instrument."

[illegible]

It is a requirement that the person required to be registered under the Rules must be a person who is a member of the public and is not a member of the public.

document required registration(3)

When the sale deed is signed and stamped and the sale deed does not pass until the sale deed has been registered then, it is not a sale deed. It is a mortgage and payment of consideration in the absence of registered sale deed, cannot be taken as a mortgage of immovable property by purchaser on the basis of the registered document. The power of attorney executed by the vendor in favour of the purchaser. (4)

See also the undermentioned case(5)

Section 54(1) attracted no stamp duty because the purchase on the basis of agreement to sell and the payment of stamp duty executed on the deed executed in favour of the prospective purchaser-cum-allottee in the absence of a registered sale deed. Where no registered sale deed was executed in favour of the transferee by the registered vendor the vendor could not be said to be the owner of the shop premises under the agreement to sell or payment made if all was executed in his favour by the allottee under (6). Section 54 provides that a gift of immovable property is a gift and transfer of an immoveable property valued at Rs. 100 or upwards is not to be recognised as such by a registered instrument. Where the purchaser claims that he is the owner of the suit property is based on interest as a friend he was not a purchaser of the suit property and it is not a claim of statutory transfer. Section 54 attracted no stamp duty because the purchase on the basis of agreement to sell and the payment of stamp duty executed on the deed executed in favour of the prospective purchaser-cum-allottee in the absence of a registered sale deed. Where no registered sale deed was executed in favour of the transferee by the registered vendor the vendor could not be said to be the owner of the shop premises under the agreement to sell or payment made if all was executed in his favour by the allottee under (6). Section 54 provides that a gift of immovable property is a gift and transfer of an immoveable property valued at Rs. 100 or upwards is not to be recognised as such by a registered instrument. Where the purchaser claims that he is the owner of the suit property is based on interest as a friend he was not a purchaser of the suit property and it is not a claim of statutory transfer. Section 54 attracted no stamp duty because the purchase on the basis of agreement to sell and the payment of stamp duty executed on the deed executed in favour of the prospective purchaser-cum-allottee in the absence of a registered sale deed. Where no registered sale deed was executed in favour of the transferee by the registered vendor the vendor could not be said to be the owner of the shop premises under the agreement to sell or payment made if all was executed in his favour by the allottee under (6). Section 54 provides that a gift of immovable property is a gift and transfer of an immoveable property valued at Rs. 100 or upwards is not to be recognised as such by a registered instrument. Where the purchaser claims that he is the owner of the suit property is based on interest as a friend he was not a purchaser of the suit property and it is not a claim of statutory transfer.

25. AIR (1950) Nag 89 (50) · ILR (1950) Nag 355

26. Section 7 (Mortgage of trees) — In case of usufructuary plantation — Trees being young for removal are treated as movable property and are not real estate — Sale void unless first in immovable property and requires registration.)

$\gamma = \frac{1}{2} \left(\frac{1}{\alpha} + \frac{1}{\beta} \right)$, $\text{Ind}(\alpha) = \text{Ind}(\beta) = \text{Ind}(\gamma)$, $\text{Ind}(\alpha) \leq \text{Ind}(\beta) \iff \alpha \leq \beta$. Lab

Section 54 — Note 20

1. 1998 (2) Sim LC 367 (370) (Him Pra)
2. AIR 1973 Cal 1 : 76 Cal WN 1048 (FB).
3. AIR 1985 (NOC) 42 : (1984) 2 Cal HN 90
4. 1990 Jab LJ 770 (772) (Madh Pra)
5. (1967) 65 ITR 67 (76) : (1967) 2 ITJ 899 (Bom)
6. AIR 1987 Delhi 36 (39, 40) : (1986) 30 Delhi LT 487

the said sale deed (7) Where it is stated in the document that full consideration for the land was duly paid to the vendor and possession of it was also delivered to the vendee, the passing of consideration and the passing of title, i.e. the two essential incidents to constitute sale deed are present in the document. Thus the document is nothing but the sale deed and not an agreement for sale. However, in absence of registration the sale must fail. The suit for specific performance would not be maintainable since the document is not an agreement to sale. If it is found that possession was delivered to the vendee simultaneously with execution of the document and he continued to be in possession, he would be entitled to a decree for permanent injunction to protect his title (8) Where the title passed on to the vendee on the basis of the sale deed which had been executed between parties for which consideration was partly paid and partly promised to be paid the sale deed required registration. But the subsequent receipt of payment of the consideration promised to be paid in future would not require registration.(9)

Where there was transfer of shebait's right to worship (pala) and not merely benefit arising out of it, such transfer requires registration when the document disclosed that not only right to collect usufruct was transferred but there was also transfer of duties and functions as shebait, is amounted to transfer and required registration(10).

The mortgagor executed a usufructuary mortgage and put the mortgagee in possession of the property. Subsequently the mortgagor borrowed a fresh loan from the mortgagee and executed a document under which in case of mortgagor's failure to re-pay the loan within the stipulated period the mortgagor would sell the mortgaged property to the mortgagee for the loan amount. If the mortgagor failed to execute the sale deed. The mortgagee would be entitled to get a sale deed registered on the basis of the document. The document was not registered. The mortgagor failed to repay the loan and filed a suit for redemption. Held, the document in question by itself could not be regarded as the agreement of sale but was one that matured into an agreement or contract for sale only on mortgagor's failure to re-pay the loan within the stipulated period, the same being unregistered could not create, any interest in the property or extinguish any one's interest in the property in view of S. 17(1)(6) of the Registration Act. Since under the document the mortgagee could be said to have acquired a right to have a document creating title in himself executed, the document was compulsorily registrable u/S. 17(1)(b) and as it was unregistered the mortgagor's right to redeem the property could not be said to have been extinguished by it. Therefore, even after the mortgagor's failure to repay the loan within the time stipulated, the mortgagee's possession of the property continued to be that of a mortgagee and as such S. 53A of T.P. Act had no application. Accordingly the suit by the mortgagor for redemption was maintainable (11) where the petitioner claimed right in a tank, for agricultural purpose, on the basis of agreement, which on bare reading indicates that the document is a lease for period of ten years regarding a profit pendre in the immovable property, which requires registration, but the document being unregistered one, does not confer right, title or interest on the petitioner. He has no right, title or interest in the said tank(12)

When once the registration of sale deed is completed, the transaction is completed, if any one of the parties wants to set aside the transaction on the ground of fraud, they have to file a suit for said relief because evidence to required to prove plea of fraud. It is not open to any one of the parties to cancel the sale deed unilaterally on their volition(13)

7. (1987) 5 Reports 135 (137) (Madh Pra)  (1990) 2 Mah LR 833 (836) (Bom)

8. AIR 1988 Madh Pra 152 (153)

9. AIR 1983 All 84 (87) : 1982 All WC 706

10. AIR 1985 (NOC) 42 : (1984) 2 Cal HN 90

11. AIR 1986 Kant 221 (222, 223) : (1985) 2 Kant LJ 364

12. 1990 All LJ 1015 (1017) : 1990 All CJ 659

13. 2000 (3) Mad LJ 646 (653).

A sale deed was sought to be set aside on ground that imposter was put before the Registrar. However, the attesting witness who was present before the Registrar, did not state that imposter was put. No collateral evidence was put to support the plea. Thus the finding that the said deed was duly executed needed no interference(14).

Where it is alleged that the sale deed is obtained by coercion, onus lies on vendor to establish coercion. When sale deed is registered presumption as to its validity arises. Vendor cannot unilaterally cancel the sale deed without joining the vendee. In absence of proof of coercion, sale deed could not be set aside(15).

However, where by operation of statute the property is deemed to have been vested in the transferee viz S 29 of State Financial Corporation Act which provides that any transfer made in exercise of power under S 29, the property would vest on transferee as if it had been made by owner of property, the execution of registration would be a formality consequent upon the acceptance of highest offer (16). Similarly, where the sale deed of suit property was already executed in favour of third party, before the attachment of property before judgment, the sale deed cannot be ignored while considering claim petition of third party merely because sale deed was registered subsequent to attachment(17).

20A. Execution of sale-deed.

The seller can execute the sale deed through his agent. Thus a person having a general power-of-attorney in his favour authorizing him to execute documents on behalf of the person executing the power of attorney can sign the sale-deed on behalf of the latter (1). In the case of an illiterate person, where such person touches the pen and hands it over to another and asks him to sign the sale deed on his behalf, it is a sufficient execution of the deed(2).

Where the vendor is illiterate the vendee must show that the vendor understood the contents of the deed executed by her (3). Where a sale deed is attested by an illiterate person by putting his thumb impression, unless it is established that the recitals in the documents were read out and explained to him, he cannot be deemed to have assented to them (4). Under S 67 of the Evidence Act the execution of document has to be proved, which denotes a conscious act of subscribing to a document, in order to prove the execution of a document it must be shown that the person executing it consciously subscribed to it in the sense that he put his mark or signature on it after having known and understood its contents. Mere proof that the person's signature appears on the document cannot, by itself amount to execution of the document (5).

Vendor an illiterate person put his thumb impression on sale deed after fully knowing its contents. A collusion between vendee and sub-registrar was not proved nor less than agreed consideration was paid. Thus the sale deed was properly executed and conveyed the title (6).

In case of illiterate executant of the sale-deed, where there is a payment of proper consideration and the executant understood the nature and the consequence of his act, there in the absence of

14. AIR 2001 Madh Pra 203 (205)

15. 2001 AHC 1890 (1897) (Andh Pra)

16. AIR 2002 Orissa 156 (167).

17. AIR 2002 Ker 276 (279) : 2002 (2) Ker LT 107

Section 54 — Note 20-A

1. AIR 1919 Oudh 201 (202) (DB)

2. AIR 1919 Oudh 201 (202) (DB)

3. (1967) 33 Cut LT 862.

4. (1996) 7 SCC 101 (103).

5. AIR 1992 Madh Pra 22

6. 1996 All LJ 1551 (1553) : 1996 All CJ 811

other facts to invalidate that execution the sale is valid and it confers on the purchaser good right title and interest(7).

When a blind person is in sound state of disposing mind, he can very well execute sale deed especially when he has understood contents and nature of document. Endorsement on sale deed that it has been executed by a blind person is not necessary (8)

Where the seller of minor's property was not his natural guardian nor was she a guardian appointed by Court did not put her signature or thumb impression on the sale deed. Instead some other person wrote her name and as the guardian of the minor owning (the property, it cannot said to be proved that the seller actually executed the said sale deed. In view of this defect in the alleged sale deed, the minor's share did not stand transferred by it(9).

Similarly where the suit property was owned by mother and her minor children and the agreement to sell the property as executed by mother, did not have reference to share of minors nor any permission was taken by the mother, to sell the share of minors, the agreement to sell cannot be held to be binding the minors in view of S. 8 of Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act(10)

It has been held in the undermentioned case(11) that a sale-deed purported to be executed by several persons but actually signed by only one of them is not ineffective on that ground. The fact that the several executants are at different places and do not sign the document at the same time and place but at different times and different places will not make the document one not executed by them jointly, provided that the transaction is one and the same. The question is one of intention of the parties. If a document is drawn up in the name of several persons and it is the intention of the parties that all should execute it, it will be incomplete and inoperative till all have done so(12)

Where the area of a plot as mentioned in the sale deed as well as in the site plan is the same but the map differs, the term of the grant must prevail. The right to property has to be expressed in the title and when so expressed will not be limited by the map(13)

Where the sale deed was executed by some of the Marfatdars, the non-executing Marfatdars had consented to execution of sale deed and they did not assail the validity thereof, it was held that the sale deed was validly executed(14)

But as seen in Notes 5 and 17, a sale, which is required to be registered, is however not complete until the registration of the deed is completed, although the instrument by which it is effected after its registration, commences to operate from the date of its execution.

It will be noted the attestation is not legally indispensable for the validity of a sale-deed as it is in the case of a mortgage-deed (15). Mere attestation of a sale-deed executed by a person does

7. (1977) 2 Cut WR 730 (734 & 736).

8. AIR 1998 Ker 171 (175).

9. AIR 1985 Cal 66 (69) : (1985) 89 Cal WN 257.

10. AIR 2002 Punj & Har 54 (57) : 2001 (4) ICC 775

11. (1908) 31 Mad 114 (116) (DB).

12. 1959 MPLJ 1078 (1080) (Sale-deed executed only by the father, though it purported to be executed by him and his son also. — Latter not signing it because he thought that when his father had signed it he need not sign it — Held that sale-deed was not defective)  AIR 1952 Mad 687 (689)

[See also AIR 1934 Lah 262 (267) (DB) (Sale deed purporting to be by all heirs of deceased. — Absence of signature of one of them. — Document held incomplete and had not become instrument of sale.)]

13. AIR 1993 Delhi 19 (22) : 1992 (24) DRJ 532

14. AIR 1990 Orissa 190 (195) : (1989) 2 DLR 350

15. 1960 Jab LJ 827 (830)  AIR 1929 Lah 1 (4) : 10 Lah 447 (DB) (There is no law which not in law amount to a representation by the attester that the vendor has a good title to the property (16). It is not the requirement of S. 54 that the sale-deed should be attested by the attesting witnesses. However, where the sale is sought to be proved by producing certified copy of the sale deed and the witnesses who attested it are alive, and available it was necessary to examine them when secondary evidence by way of certified copy is sought to be proved. It could not in such case be said that since it was not necessary to have attesting witnesses, they need not be examined. In the peculiar facts of the case, the certified copy of the sale-deed could not be read as proof of execution of original sale-deed (17).

Where the statute relating to Ceiling of Property provides for prior permission of competent authority for transfer of property, the seller is under obligation to seek such permission before execution of the sale deed. The fact that agreement between parties did not contain such stipulation is immaterial. (18)

Where an agreement between the parties conferred a right on one of the parties to obtain another deed of sale. The said document could not be termed as sale deed on ground that possession has been delivered to purchaser and consideration is received by vendor (19)

Where sale-deed is executed by the vendor in favour of nominee of the purchaser and the purchaser was only confirming party, income-tax clearance certificate of purchaser-confirming party is not necessary (20).

Where the stamp paper bearing certain date was said to have been issued from place "M", however, the evidence disclosed that agreement was executed on said stamp paper at place "B" on same date which was improbable, but the trial Court found that, on account of scarcity stamp papers issued at place "M" were also sold at place "B" the plea of improbability in execution of agreement of sale would not be tenable. (21)

As to execution of sale deed by a pardanashin lady, see S. 58, Note 22.

21. Sale of property of less than one hundred rupees in value.

A sale of property of the value of less than one hundred rupees can be made only in one of the two following ways :

- (1) by a registered document, or
- (2) by delivery of the property (1).

requires the attestation of a sale deed so far as Punjab is concerned Section 68 Evidence Act, therefore has no application to sale-deeds in that province)  AIR 1942 Pesh 83 (84). (Case of N W F P where T P Act does not apply — Attestation not necessary for conveyance — Execution of sale deed can be proved under S. 67, Evidence Act by proof of admission — Admission of execution can be proved by Sub Registrar's endorsement)

16. 1910 Mad WN 333 (333)

17. (1983) 2 Land LR 85 (88) (Punj & Har).

18. AIR 1998 All 195 (202) : 1998 All LJ 1218 1998 (1) All CJ 21.

19. AIR 1994 Bom 160 (163) : 1994 Mah LJ 497.

20. AIR 1989 Cal 65 (70) : (1988) 92 Cal WN 746

21. AIR 2001 Kant 442 (448) 2001 AIR Kant HCR 2740 2001 (3) Civil Court Cas 369

Section 54 — Note 21

1. (1892) 19 Cal 623 (626) (FB). (Overruling 16 Cal 622)  AIR 1959 Pat 153 (158) : ILR 37 Pat 1577 (FB). (Oral sale accompanied by delivery of possession of tangible immovable property.)  (1981) 7 All LR 577 (578)  AIR 1964 Andh Pra 21 (23) ILR (1964) AP 199 (DB)  AIR 1954 Orissa 31 (32) (DB)  (1953) 19 Cut L Tim 278 (280) 281)  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 443 (Oral sale of land followed by possession — Subsequent purchaser of same land by registered deed could not recover land)  AIR 1929 Pat 620

Oral sale of a tangible immovable property of the value of more than Rs 100/- is invalid in law(2).

A mere unregistered document without any delivery of property cannot therefore convey any title (3) Suppose now that a sale is evidenced by an unregistered document, and there has been delivery of property in pursuance of such sale. The question arises whether the existence of the unregistered instrument prevents the passing of title by delivery of the property. Before the year 1929 there was a conflict of opinion on the question among the High Courts. On the one hand it has been held that though an unregistered instrument could not, under this section, convey any title, such instrument was not a compulsorily registrable instrument within S. 17 of the Registration Act, that it was not therefore prevented by S. 49 of that Act from being given in evidence for the purpose of proving an oral contract for sale and that such oral contract followed by the delivery of the property conveyed a good title to the buyer notwithstanding the existence of the unregistered instrument(4). On the other hand it was also held that where there was an instrument no title would pass unless such document was registered, even if there had been a delivery of the property (5). The reason for this view according to Srinivasa Iyengar, J., of the Madras High Court, was that the moment the

(621) (DB)  AIR 1917 Mad 951 (951) (DB)  AIR 1916 Cal 551 (553) (DB)  1885 All WN 201 (202) (DB)

2. 1987 TNLJ 335 (339)

3. AIR 1917 Mad 951 (951) (DB)  AIR 1993 Madh Pra 5 (8) 1993 MPLJ 333 (Even if the unregistered document is 30 years old it cannot be admitted in evidence for collateral purpose. There would be no presumption that contents of the document are true)  (1909) 4 Ind Cas 1135 (1135) (DB) (Mad)

[See AIR 1926 Cal 705 (705) (DB)]

[See also AIR 1951 Orissa 11 (13) ILR (1950) Cut 322 (DB) (Occupancy tenancy in property worth less than Rs. 100 — Transfer of — Registered deed necessary under Orissa Tenancy Act — No title passes in the absence of registration)  1950 Bur LR (HC) 119 (122, 123) (Suit for possession based on unregistered sale-deed — No allegation or evidence that sale was effected by delivery — Plaintiff must be held to have failed to prove her title)]

4. AIR 1928 All 726 (732) : 50 All 986 (DB)  AIR 1930 Rang 188 (190)  AIR 1929 Pat 620 (621) (DB)  AIR 1925 All 206 (206)  AIR 1924 Rang 267 (268)  AIR 1922 Nag 58 (59) 18 Nag LR 8  AIR 1918 Cal 828 (828) (DB) (Title passes by delivery — Unregistered document merely serves as a piece of evidence)  AIR 1917 Bom 203 (205) 41 Bom 550 (DB) (Per Macleod J. — Beaman, J., contra)  AIR 1917 Mad 951 (951) (DB) (Unregistered instrument unaccompanied by delivery — No valid transfer)  AIR 1916 Mad 1126 (1127) (DB)  AIR 1916 Nag 93 (96) 12 Nag LR 139  1885 All WN 201 (201) (DB)

In the following cases also it was held that an unregistered document does not prevent a party from relying upon a title by delivery. But they do not make any reference to the provisions of the Registration Act  AIR 1919 Oudh 207 (208) 22 Oudh Cas 58  AIR 1917 Oudh 345 (346) 20 Oudh Cas 33  AIR 1917 Oudh 292 (293)  AIR 1917 Pat 80 (81, 82) (Unregistered sale-deed not compulsorily registrable accompanied by delivery of possession is not invalidated by subsequent registered sale-deed)  AIR 1915 Mad 1059 (1063) (DB) (But the title will be defeated by subsequent registered sale-deed without notice of possession of unregistered sale-deed)  (1909) 2 Ind Cas 413 (414) (DB) (Cal)  (1898) 8 CPLR 1 (2)  (1895) 22 Cal 179 (184) (DB)  (1910) 5 Ind Cas 57 (58) (DB) (Mad) (A sale by unregistered deed of immovable property less than Rs. 100 in value, passes a good title to the vendee when it is followed by delivery of possession and has priority over a registered sale of later date.)

5. AIR 1929 Rang 259 (260)  AIR 1928 Mad 546 (548) (DB)  AIR 1915 Mad 573 (574) 38 Mad 1158 (DB) parties reduced the terms of their contract for sale to writing, it was the writing that thereafter should be regarded as containing and setting out the terms of the contract and that the transaction cannot be properly called a sale by delivery of the property(6). According to Mr Justice Beaman of the Bombay High Court, the consequence of reading the provisions of this Act as supplemental to the Registration Act by virtue of S. 4 of this Act was to render inadmissible under S. 49 of the Indian Registration Act, all instruments of transfer of immovable property whatever may be the value of such property(7).

By the Transfer of Property (Amendment) Supplementary Act (21 of 1929), S. 49 of the Registration Act has been amended and the amended section runs as follows:

"49. No document required by S. 17 or by any provision of the Transfer of Property Act 1882 to be registered shall—

- (a) affect any immoveable property comprised therein, or
- (b) confer any power to adopt, or
- (c) be received as evidence of any transaction affecting such property or conferring such power, unless it has been registered :

Provided that an unregistered document affecting immovable property and required by this Act or the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 to be registered may be received as evidence of a contract in a suit for specific performance under Chap. II of the Specific Relief Act 1887 or as evidence of part performance of a contract for the purposes of S. 53A of the Transfer of Property Act 1882 or as evidence of any collateral transaction not required to be effected by registered instrument."

The insertion of the words "or by any provision of the Transfer of Property Act 1882" gives effect to Mr Justice Beaman's view referred to above. The insertion of those words has made it clear that the documents in the supplemental list i.e. the documents of which registration is necessary under the T P Act but not under the Registration Act fall within the scope of S. 49 of the Registration Act and if not registered are not admissible as evidence of any transaction affecting any immovable property comprised therein and do not affect any such immoveable property(8). The proviso has been added in order to give effect to the decision of the Privy Council in Varada Prasad v. Ieevarathnammal(9) that an unregistered document although not admissible for the purpose of proving the transaction purported to have been effected, is admissible in evidence for collateral purposes, such as for ascertaining the nature of the possession of property(10). However, where a person is already in possession from before the date of the unregistered document, the same cannot be looked into. It will destroy the nature of previous possession. To admit unregistered document in such a case would really amount to getting round the statutory bar imposed by S. 49 of the Registration Act(11).

6. AIR 1928 Mad 546 (548) (DB).

7. AIR 1917 Bom 203 (204) : 41 Bom 550 (DB).

8. AIR 1969 SC 1316 (1320), AIR 1928 All 726, AIR 1921 Mad 337, AIR 1917 Bom 203 and cases taking similar view would be no longer good law in view of 1929 Amendment.
[See also (1985) 2 Mad LJ 417-419] (Sale of property of the value of less than Rs. 100).
— Unregistered document — Inadmissible in evidence to prove sale]

9. AIR 1919 PC 44 (46) : 43 Mad 244 : 46 Ind App 285.

Also see Note 17.

10. See Report of the Special Committee on Act 21 of 1929  1960 MPLJ 673 (674)  AIR 1951 Hyd 42 (42) (DB) (Document though not registered can be looked into for ascertaining whether there was a contract for sale and whether party was in possession in pursuance to that contract.)  AIR 1949 Nag 410 (412) : ILR (1949) Nag 534.

[See also (1948) 7 J & K LR 158 (161) (For purpose of ascertaining whether possession was permissive or adverse.)]

11. AIR 1958 SC 119 (203) : 1958 SCJ 438  AIR 1983 Raj 109 (125).

The question, however, still arises whether where an unregistered sale deed which does not pass title under this Act is sought to be given in evidence for proving a contract for sale it can be said that it is so sought to be used for a "collateral purpose" within the meaning of the proviso to S. 49 of the Registration Act. In the undermentioned case(12) it was held that the words "collateral purpose" mean a purpose which excludes all reference to the contract relating to immoveable property. If this view is correct a valid sale by delivery of property cannot be established after the amended section came into force, where it is evidenced by a document which is unregistered. It has, however, been held in the undermentioned cases(13) decided after the amendment of S. 49 of the Registration Act, that where in pursuance of an unregistered sale deed possession has been delivered, the buyer can fall back upon the title by delivery although the unregistered document by itself does not convey any title. In Chinnaswami Chetty v. Manickammal(14), decided in 1936, it was held that the non-registration of a document was not fatal to the validity of the transfer if the transferee was able to establish a prior oral sale and delivery of possession in pursuance thereof, i.e., an oral sale sufficiently dissociated from the unregistered sale deed so that the one can be regarded as independent of the other. If a sale deed purporting to transfer property less than Rs. 100/- in value is not registered sale would be ineffective unless it is accompanied by delivery of possession(15). But where there is no evidence of any separate and antecedent oral contract and the deed is found to constitute the transfer and alone to contain its terms, it has been held that the transfer is not a transfer by delivery but a transfer by deed and the non-registration of the document is fatal to the validity of the transfer(16).

12. AIR 1932 Lah 655 (656)

- 13. (1961) 1 Mad LJ 390 (392)  ILR (1961) Mys 942 (947)  1960 MPLJ 673 (676)
(Delivery of possession in pursuance of oral contract need not be simultaneous with execution of unregistered sale deed but may be after its execution AIR 1949 Nag 410 Rel on)
 AIR 1957 Mad 209 (210)  AIR 1954 Nag 109 (113) ILR (1952) Nag 37 (48)  AIR 1954 Orissa 31 (32) (DB) (Existence of unregistered document is not a bar under S. 91 Evidence Act, from proving the transaction of sale by actual delivery — The document itself is admissible for the purpose of proving the terms of the contract between the parties AIR 1928 Mad 546, Dissented from; AIR 1929 Pat 620 AIR 1943 Bom 431 ILR (1943) Bom 653 AIR 1925 Ali 206 (1) and AIR 1936 Mad 301 59 Mad 779 Rel on)  AIR 1951 Hyd 42 (42)  AIR 1949 Nag 410 (413) ILR (1949) Nag 534  ILR (1944) Ali 235 (236)  AIR 1943 Bom 431 (433) ILR (1943) Bom 653  1941 Nag LJ 643 (645) (Property worth less than Rs. 100) — Two methods of transferring title (1) registered instrument (2) delivery of property — Defect in one mode cannot impair validity of other mode if property carried out)  1944 All LJ 253 (253)  AIR 1939 Pat 218 (218, 219) (Delivery need not be contemporaneous with execution of sale deed)  AIR 1936 Cal 130 (131) (Unregistered deed admissible in evidence for collateral purpose of showing nature of possession.)

[See also 1950 Bom LR (HC) 119 (123) (Where suit for possession is based on unregistered sale-deed and there is no plea or proof of a sale by delivery no question whether the vendee can show that she had purchased the property by delivery can arise for consideration.)]

14. AIR 1937 Mad 265 (265) (DB).

[See also AIR 1949 Nag 410 (413) ILR (1949) Nag 534 (Property worth not more than Rs. 100 — Vendee acquires complete title by mere delivery to him of the property — Fact that there is in addition an unregistered sale deed cannot affect the good title acquired by him)  (1947) 52 Mys HCR 443 (445) (DB)  AIR 1957 Mad 209 (210) (In such a case the deed would be evidence of the contract of sale and of negotiations concerning the transaction. AIR 1916 Mad 1126 (2) Full)

15. 1969 BLJR 397 (401) (DB).

16. (1945) 49 Cal WN 649 (655).

It is not absolutely necessary that a sale of immoveable property of the value of less than Rs 100/- in such cases, where the vendee was already in possession of the property sought to be sold in a different capacity, could only be made by a registered instrument. In those cases transfer of property by sale could be effected by delivery of possession and where the vendee was already in actual physical possession of the property sought to be sold, it is not possible to transfer actual physical possession to him and it is not desirable that a mere formality should be undergone that the vendee should hand over possession back to the vendor for one moment who may again put the vendee into possession in pursuance of the sale, the very next moment, still delivery of the property in such cases may be effected by bringing about a change in the nature or character of possession of the vendee by declaration and such other acts on the part of the vendor, as may be necessary to complete the recognition of the right of ownership of the vendee for making his title absolute. Therefore, there can be an oral sale of immovable property of the value of less than Rs 100/- coupled with delivery of the property and if the property is already in possession of the purchaser, then by making such declarations and overt acts which may be necessary for vesting the rights of ownership of the sold property in the vendee. Such overt acts may be either in the form of getting mutation entry made in favour of the vendee in the revenue records or the vendor may make a declaration before the settlement authorities or other competent authorities that he has relinquished his rights in the property and that thereafter the vendee would be an absolute owner of the said property. The conversion of the nature and character of possession may also be effected by the handing over of the earlier documents of title by the vendor to the vendee. Further so far as the question of delivery of possession is concerned which is the essence of the transaction of sale within the meaning of Sec 54, no distinction could be made between an unauthorised occupant or a person in permissive possession. When the provisions of S 54 provides two modes by which a sale could be effected in the case of tangible immoveable property of the value of less than Rs 100/- then the vendor could not be deprived of one of the modes merely because vendee is already in possession(17).

Even if the sale deed of the immoveable property of value of less than Rs 100/- was executed 30 years before and came from proper custody, the recital in the sale deed that possession of the property was handed over to the purchaser could not be said to be proved by invoking S 90 of the Evidence Act when there was proof of delivery of the property by way of construction of wall or fencing by the purchaser or his son, who had filed a suit for declaration of title of the property(18).

There was oral sale of agricultural land for Rs 50/- Direct evidence of delivery of possession was not available however the entry in the Record of Rights showed that the land was mutated in name of the purchaser. Thus oral sale with delivery of possession was proved(19).

Property transferred for Rs 25/- only and possession also given, sale did is not invalid on ground that it is not registered(20).

Where an unregistered sale deed for Rs 99/- was executed in respect of a poultry shed and kotha and the vendee was already in possession for last several years, the sale was valid. It was not necessary that the vendee, who was already in possession, should first vacate the premises and then his vendor would deliver possession in order to complete the sale. Such a circuitous method is not contemplated by law(21).

17. AIR 1983 Raj 109 (122) ((1907) ILR 34 Cal 207 AIR 1928 All 726 (FB) and AIR 1952 Bom 437 (FB), Dissented from.)

18. AIR 1993 Madh Pra 5 (8) : 1993 MPLJ 333.

19. AIR 1997 Madh Pra 238 (244).

20. 2000 AIR-Kant HCR 469 (472).

21. 1998 (1) RCR (Civ) 718 (720) (Punj & Har)

Sale of land valued at less than Rs 100/- by unregistered sale deed, possession being delivered to the vendee would prevail over subsequent sale by registered document(22).

Where the value of the property under usufructuary mortgage is less than Rs 100/- it can be sold orally and registered document is not necessary(23)

Where vacant land was taken in possession by the vendee as pointed out by the vendor and there was no boundary dispute delivery of possession by measurements and demarcation is not necessary(24).

As seen in Note 1, so far as the transfer of agricultural land is concerned, the State Legislature has exclusive jurisdiction in the matter and the provisions of a State Act can make transfer by sale of such land compulsorily registrable irrespective of its value thus overriding the provisions of this section(25)

When the Custodian sells evacuee property worth less than Rs 100/ it may be made either by Regd. document or by delivery of possession(26).

Even if the value of the immovable property is less than Rs 100/ its sale required registration under the Travancore Registration Regulation (2 of 1087)(27)

21A. Tangible immovable property.

The right of mortgagor in the property usufructually mortgaged by him is intangible immovable property within the ambit of Part 3 of Section 54, T P Act(1)

22. Delivery of property.

The fourth paragraph of the section enacts that delivery of tangible immovable property takes place when the seller places the buyer, or such person as he directs in possession of the property. In Mathura Prasad v Chandra Narayan(1), it was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that for the purposes of this section there must be a real and not a constructive delivery of property. In that case the question was whether the delivery to vendee of an unregistered instrument of transfer was a delivery of the property for the purposes of this section. Their Lordships observed as follows.

"Their Lordships cannot accept the suggestion made on behalf of the appellants that for the purposes of S 54 some sort of constructive possession resulting from the delivery of the alleged instrument of transfer might be sufficient. For this purpose there must be a real delivery of property"

The same view has been expressed in the undermentioned cases(2). It is not sufficient if the

22. AIR 1977 Orissa 167 (170) : 44 Cut LT 186.

23. ILR (1977) 2 Mad 447 (456).

24. (1975) 41 Cut LT 740 (743) (DB)

25. AIR 1951 Orissa 11 (13) : ILR (1950) Cut 322 (DB).

26. AIR 1969 All 554 (556) : 1968 All LJ 555 (DB).

27. AIR 1976 Ker 105 (107) : ILR (1978) 2 Ker 422.

Section 54 — Note 21A

1. (1976) 2 Mad LJ 72 (77) : 89 Mad LW 436

Section 54 — Note 22

1. AIR 1921 PC 8 (9, 10) : 48 Ind App 127.

2. AIR 1956 Hyd 170 (171) : ILR (1956) Hyd 321 (Constructive or symbolical possession would not do — AIR 1921 PC 8 : 48 Cal 509 : 48 Ind App 127, Foll.)  AIR 1953 Bom 437 (438) : ILR (1953) Bom 1071 (FB)  1950 Bur LR (HC) 119 (122) (Delivery must be actual delivery — Mere constructive delivery of possession is not sufficient for the purposes of this section)  AIR 1928 All 726 (728) : 50 All 986 (FB)  AIR 1933 Cal 544 (545) (Mere delivery of title deed is not enough to constitute delivery of possession.)  AIR 1926 Nag 93 (94) vendor is in possession and says, "henceforth I am your tenant"(3) Nor is the recital in the document that possession has been given equivalent to a delivery of possession for the purposes of this section(4)

Where the vendee is a usufructuary mortgagee of the property sold and is in possession as such the sale can only be of the equity of redemption which in such cases, as is seen in Note 19 is intangible property No question, therefore, of a sale by delivery of such property can arise whatever may be the value of property Similarly, where the vendee is a lessee to the vendor, what is sold would only be a reversion which is also an intangible thing, and no question of a sale by delivery can arise in such cases.

There is however a conflict of opinion among the High Courts on the question whether a sale in such cases should be only by a registered instrument or whether it might be by delivery of the property All the cases proceed on the view that what is transferred by the vendor is tangible immovable property But according to one set of cases(5) the transfer must be made only by a registered instrument because actual possession cannot be granted to the vendee and what is contemplated by this section actual delivery of possession According to the contrary view which also proceeds on the assumption that what is transferred is tangible immovable property the delivery of possession contemplated is such delivery as the nature of the property admits of(6) and that where the vendor by appropriate acts or declarations converts the vendee's possession into that of an owner it is sufficient delivery of property within the meaning of this section(7) It is submitted that the actual decision in

[See also AIR 1924 Cal 1147 (1149) : S. Cal 1972 (DB) (More delivery of a document of title does not constitute a transfer of the right to the property)]

- 3. (1912) 15 Ind Cas 228 (229) (DB) (Cal)
- 4. (1947) 52 Mys HCR 443 (445) (DB)  1934 Nag 13 (15, 16).
- 5. AIR 1928 All 726 (728) : 50 All 986 (FB)  AIR 1956 Hyd 1 (211) : ILR (1956) Hyd 321 (Mortgagee in possession — Sale of equity of redemption — Sale must be by registered sale deed unless some overt act of possession is established)  AIR 1953 Bom 437 (439) : ILR (1953) Bom 1071 (FB). Even assuming that the equity of redemption constitutes a tangible immovable property the sub mortgagee who is already in possession can acquire title to the property only if he obtains a registered instrument.  1953) 19 Cal LT 278 (281) (Where the vendee is already in possession of the property sold a registered document is compulsory to pass the title to the vendee especially when there is an absence of a declaration of renoucement by the vendor or any evidence to the effect that the vendor did any overt act by which he got name of the vendee recorded in any of the public papers)  AIR 1933 Cal 544 (545)  AIR 1917 Cal 25 (26) (DB) (Possession as a usufructuary mortgagee)  (1910) 6 Ind Cas 763 (764) (DB) (Cal) : 34 Cal 207 (Followed.)  (1907) 34 Cal 207 (210) (DB) (Essence of a transfer by delivery of property is change of possession)  (1906) 16 Mad LJ 28 (30) (DB) (Usufructuary mortgage — Transfer by usufructuary mortgagor to mortgagee of equity of redemption)

[See also AIR 1914 Cal 754 (754) (DB). (Possession as lessee)]

- 6. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 237 (239) (It is not necessary that vendee should go and physically occupy every nook and corner sold to him)  AIR 1925 Mad 566 (567) (DB) : 34 Cal 207. Dissented from.)
- 7. AIR 1959 Pat 153 (158) : ILR 37 Pat 1577 (FB)  AIR 1934 Pat 301  AIR 1937 Pat 178 and AIR 1949 Pat 504 Rel on.; ILR 34 Cal 207 Dissented from; AIR 1956 Pat 81 226 Ind Cas 39 Overruled.)  ILR (1977) 2 Mad 447 (456)  AIR 1964 Andh Pra 21 (23-24) : ILR (1964) Andh Pra 199 (DB)  AIR 1961 Madh Pra 176 (179) : ILR (1960) Madh Pra 614 (DB) (Where both the parties (vendor and vendee) were residing jointly the only way in which the transfer could be made is by change in the village records and by payment of rent being made in the name of the vendee)  1959) 25 Cur LT 281  AIR 1959 Raj 218 (220) : ILR (1958) 8 Raj 572 (DB)  AIR 1957 Mad 209 (210) (Sale to usufructuary mortgagee — Direction to vendee to keep property as absolute owner in the first mentioned set of cases is correct though the assumption whether what is transferred in such cases is tangible immovable property, is open to question.

It is important to note that a mere delivery of property does not by itself amount to a sale. In order to constitute a sale, the delivery must be made in pursuance of a contract to sell(8). If possession had been delivered in pursuance of the sale-deed it is immaterial to the validity of the sale whether the delivery was made contemporaneously with the execution of the document or only later on(9).

Proof of formal delivery of possession is not necessary. If there is proof that the possession passed to the buyer and that it did so with the assent of the seller and in connection with and to give effect to the contract of sale it is sufficient(10).

Long possession.

Long possession under an agreement of sale may also result in transfer of title and ownership. Thus where for more than 40 years a Company is in possession of the property under an agreement of sale having paid full amount of consideration and acts as owner thereof exercising peacefully and without interruption the ordinary rights of ownership to the knowledge of the vendor who was the wife of the Director of the Company and who did not claim recovery of possession during this long period, her right is extinguished and the vendee becomes the absolute owner(11).

Where the promoter of a Company purchased property from the funds of the company and on incorporation the Company assumed possession and built structures upon it the company's title of the property cannot be set aside on the ground that there is no conveyance by the promoter, in favour of the company under a registered document(12).

Where a person entered into possession of immovable property by virtue of a sale deed discharge of mortgage amounts to delivery of possession)  AIR 1954 Nag 109 (112) ILR (1952) Nag 37  AIR 1949 Pat 504 (505) : 27 Pat 202 (DB) (Oral sale by the mortgagor to the usufructuary mortgagee in possession of the property mortgaged for Rs 96 passes title to the usufructuary mortgagee)  AIR 1939 Bom 31 (33) ILR (1939) Bom 71 (DB)  AIR 1937 Pat 178 (180) : 15 Pat 772 (DB) (Mutation of vendee's name is sufficient delivery)  AIR 1936 Lah 756 (757) (Vendee already in possession — Formal delivery of possession is enough)  AIR 1936 Rang 497 (498)  AIR 1935 Lah 164 (165)  AIR 1934 Pat 301 (302)  AIR 1933 Cal 411 (412) : 60 Cal 384 (Essence of delivery is change of possession, but it is enough if character of possession is changed)  AIR 1926 All 300 (300)  AIR 1925 Mad 566 (567) (DB)  AIR 1919 Cal 325 (327) (DB)  AIR 1917 Oudh 345 (346) : 20 Oudh Cas 33  AIR 1916 Cal 934 (935) (DB) (Everything done that could be done to deliver possession — Delivery held to be sufficient.)  AIR 1916 Nag 93 (96) : 12 Nag LR 139  AIR 1915 Mad 573 (574) : 38 Mad 1158 (DB)  AIR 1915 Nag 114 (115, 116) : 12 Nag LR 3  (1948) 27 Pat 202 (203) (DB) (Oral sale by a mortgagor of his property to his usufructuary mortgagee for a price less than Rs 100, is valid and conveys a good title to the vendee — AIR 1928 All 726, Dis-sented from; AIR 1937 Pat 178, Foll.)

[See also 1950 Bur LR (HC) 119 (121) (It is not intended by enacting S 54 that when actual physical delivery is impossible because vendee is already in possession the sale should necessarily be by a registered instrument.)]

8. AIR 1917 Nag 214 (214)  AIR 1916 Nag 93 (96) : 12 Nag LR 139

[See also AIR 1941 Lah 407 (410) : ILR (1942) Lah 79 (FB).]

9. AIR 1949 Nag 410 (412) : ILR (1949) Nag 534.

10. AIR 1915 Mad 1059 (1060) (DB)  (1909) 4 Ind Cas 1135 (DB) (Mad) (If, on the date of sale, the vendee gets into possession, with the assent, express or implied of the vendor, delivery of property may be inferred.)

11. (1978) 82 Cal WN 92 (98) : ILR (1977) 2 Cal 385 (DB).

12. AIR 1969 Mad 462 : (1969) 2 Mad LJ 509 (DB).

and also raised constructions upon it, even though the sale deed was not been registered in accordance with the requirement of section 54 of the Act, he could still protect his title against another person by virtue of such a sale deed(13)

23. Contract for sale.

Every sale must necessarily be preceded by a contract for sale. In other words every sale implies a contract for sale(1). If under an agreement title to goods does not pass then it is merely an agreement to sell and not a completed transaction(2). If a contract of sale can be spelled out from correspondence it is not necessary to draw it up formally(3). A person having Sirdari rights in a land can enter into an agreement of sale agreeing to transfer the property after obtaining Bhumidhari sanad(4). Every sale necessarily implies a previous agreement to sell, but such previous agreement may take place only a moment or two before and it can be proved from circumstantial evidence and for this, the recitals in sale deed can be relied upon(5). Under Sec. 54 it is not necessary that an agreement for sale should be in writing. There is no prohibition against oral contracts for sale. When valuable properties are involved normally the parties do not conclude the bargain by oral arrangement, but when a party comes to the Court pleading that he is entitled to a specific performance based on an alleged oral contract for sale, the burden heavily lies upon him to establish it by acceptable and cogent evidence what he pleaded. This rigorous test is warranted to prevent miscarriage of justice(6). The sale itself is very often referred to as a contract of sale, which must therefore be distinguished from a contract for sale. As pointed out by Mahmood J. in Shub Lal v. Bhagwan Das(7), a contract of sale is an executed contract and a contract for sale is an executory one. The former creates a jus in rem, as it passes ownership immediately when it has been executed, the latter is a jus ad rem as it creates an obligation attached to the ownership of property.

There is no prohibition under S. 54 against oral contract of sale. However, burden lies heavily on the plaintiff to prove it by cogent and reliable evidence(8).

The recitals in the document in instant case showed that there was passing of full consideration and passing of title, two essential ingredients to constitute a sale deed, possession was delivered to purchaser and no date was fixed for anything else to be done, the document was nothing but a sale deed(9).

In England a contract for sale of property, makes the promisee the owner in equity of the estate(10). In this country the law does not recognise the distinction between legal and equitable

13. 1983 All LJ 405 (408) : (1983) 1 Civ LJ 504

Section 54 — Note 23

1. AIR 1927 Nag 177 (178-179)  (1991) 1 Cal HN 51 (55) (DB)

2. AIR 1981 Him Pra 8 (12) : 1980 Sim LC 341 (DB).

3. 1979 Kash LJ 334 (443) : 1979 J & K LR 96 (DB)

4. 1980 UPLT (NOC) 108 : 1980 All WC 231 (232)

5. 1979 Tax LR 538 (540) : 1979 UPTC 880 (DB)

6. (1989) 2 Andh LT 653 (659)

7. (1889) 11 All 244 (250) (DB).

[See also AIR 1950 All 632 (635) : ILR (1953) 1 All 265.]

8. 1990 (2) Cur Civ C (AP) 324 (328) : (1989) 2 Andh LT 653

9. AIR 1988 Madh Pra 152 (153).

10. AIR 1916 PC 139 (140) : 44 Ind App 15  AIR 1967 SC 744 (748) : (1967) 1 SCR 293

 AIR 1967 Mad 375 (377) : ILR (1966) 1 Mad 590 (DB)  AIR 1920 Bom 210 (211), (DB)  (1900) 13 C P L R 163 (164) (DB)  (1901) 24 Mad 449 (462) (DB)  (1876) 24 WR (Eng) 778 (779) : 2 Ch D 499 (506) : 45 LJ Ch 554 : 34 LT 787 Lysaght v. Edwards **

estates(11) though prior to the passing of the Act a contract for sale was held to create an equitable interest in the estate in favour of the buyer on the analogy of English Law(12) The concept of duality of ownership legal and equitable on execution of an agreement to convey immovable property as understood in English Law is alien to Indian Law, which recognizes one owner viz., the legal owner(13) The last clause in S. 54 provides that a contract for sale of immovable property does not of itself create any interest in or charge on such property. It totally abolished the English doctrine that a contract for sale transfers an equitable estate to the purchaser. The law of India does not recognise the equitable estate(14) The section makes it clear that such a contract in this country after the passing of this Act does not create any interest or charge upon the property(15) But this (1820) 37 ER 456 (458) 1 Jack & W 494 21 RR 219 Wall v Bright  (1808) 33 ER 707 (707) : 15 Ves 138 : 10 RR 44, Crockford v. Alexander.

11. AIR 1946 Lah 322 (328) : ILR (1947) Lah 213 (FB)  (1904) 31 Cal 57 (72) : 30 Ind App 238 (PC)  AIR 1916 PC 139 (141) : 44 Ind App 15  AIR 1958 Pat 133 (140) (DB)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 960 (961) (Suit for mesne profits from date of contract for sale to date on which buyer obtained possession does not lie)  AIR 1954 Trav Co 10 (24) (DB)  AIR 1949 Sind 28 (32) ILR (1947) Kar 240 (DB) (Mere agreement to purchase immovable property or payment of price or delivery of possession would not pass title to person paying price, without execution of registered conveyance. Person receiving price does not become benamidar — Indian law does not make distinction between equitable ownership and legal ownership.)

Also see S. 5, Note 6, S. 48, Note 10 and S. 58, Note 39

12. AIR 1967 SC 744 (748) : (1967) 1 SCR 293  AIR 1929 Cal 263 (264) 56 Cal 487 (DB) [See AIR 1931 Bom 578 (579).]

[See however AIR 1961 Punj 178 (381) ILR (1961) 2 Punj 293 (DB) (Obiter — Even if S. 54 is not applicable the equitable principles of English Law cannot be invoked for treating the transaction as tantamount to transfer of ownership.)]

13. AIR 1980 SC 1334 (1338) : 1980 UJ (SC) 655  (1985) 1 Cal HN 95 (102)
14. AIR 1989 Cal 65 (68) : (1988) 92 Cal WN 746
15. AIR 1977 SC 1226 (1228) : 1977 UJ (SC) 201. (Order of consolidation allowing new plots for earlier plots in respect of which agreement for sale had been executed — Agreement not creating any interest in earlier plots and therefore would be void)  AIR 1967 SC 978 (981) : (1967) 1 SCR 873  AIR 1967 SC 744 (749) : (1967) 1 SCR 293  AIR 1960 SC 1368 (1371) : (1961) 1 SCR 248. (AIR 1953 Nag 182, Reversed.)  AIR 1954 SC 44 (49) : 1954 SCR 310. (The obligations of the parties to a contract for sale of land are the same as in other ordinary contracts and consequently the doctrine of frustration is applicable)  AIR 1934 PC 68 (71) : 61 Ind App 115  AIR 1934 PC 235 (237) : 61 Ind App 388  AIR 1916 PC 139 (141) : 44 Ind App 15  AIR 1930 All 1 (2) : 52 All 338 (FB)  51 All 338 (FB)  AIR 1918 Mad 681 (690) : 40 Mad 365 (FB)  AIR 2002 Andh Pra 8 (11) 2002 AIHC 61 2001 (5) Andh LT 473 (Prohibition under S. 4 of the A P Vacant Lands in Urban Areas (Prohibition of Alienation) Act (12 of 1972) does not apply to agreement for sale of immovable property AIR 1981 AP 38, Overruled.)  AIR 2002 Kant HC 2181 (2182) 2002 AIHC 3668 (In absence of sale deed, agreement holders cannot claim possession — Moreso, when agreement was executed 20 years ago and could be said to have been lapsed after three years)  1999 (3) Cal LT 177 (184)  AIR 1999 Delhi 383 (393) 1999 (81) Delhi LT 228  1999 (1) Guj LR 373 (376)  1999 (1) Rajasthan LR 357 (363)  1998 (1) Cal HN 148 (149)  1997 (2) Cal HN 364 (375)  1996 (1) CTC 55 (58) (Mad) (There is no need for cancellation of the agreement under S. 40(1) of T P Act)  AIR 1995 All 316 (317)  1995 All LJ 1755 (1757) 1995 (3) Bom CR 61 (62) (The agreement of the contract for sale is a document which falls outside Article 25 of the Bombay Stamp Act)  1992 Tax LR 559 (567) 1992 (194) ITR 409 (Kant)  1992 Rajdhan LR 274 (275) (Delhi)  (1991) 97 Cur Tax Rep 97 (103) (Kant)  1990 Jab LJ 770 (772) (Madh Pra)  (1989) 2 Cal HN 501 (504)  1989 Jab LJ 295 (296) (Madh Pra)  (1989)

2 Mad LJ 168 (170)  1988 (1) Cal HN 258 (264)  (1988) 1 Cal LJ 307 (312)  (1985) 1 Cal HN 95 (102)  AIR 1983 Raj 139 (142) 1982 WLN 572 (Agreement to sell a house — Lease-deed executed on same day between vendor and vendee saying that vendor is put in possession of house as tenant of vendee — Vendee cannot object attachment of house on basis of lease deed.)  AIR 1981 Cal 404 (409) (DB)  AIR 1979 Mad 26 (1978) 2 Mad LJ 267  1978 MPLJ 279  1974 WLN 314 (318) (Raj)  AIR 1971 All 189 (191) 1970 All LJ 469  (1968) 2 Mad LJ 574 82 Mad LW 5  AIR 1967 Mad 375 (377) ILR (1966) 1 Mad 590 (DB)  AIR 1966 Mys 299 (303) (Contract of sale — Decree for specific performance — Title passes with execution and registration of sale deed and does not flow from decree — AIR 1955 Cal 267 and AIR 1922 Cal 412 2. Disting. (188) ILR 5 Bom 554 Not foll.: AIR 1938 All 432 (433) and AIR 1957 Pat 7 — and AIR 1957 Andh Pra 960 and (1954) 2 Mad LJ (Andh) 11 Rel on  AIR 1965 Assam 30  ILR (1964) 16 Assam 380 (DB) (Agreement for the purchase of building — Assessee taking possession of building after adjusting consideration money to seller's account — Assessee does not acquire the ownership till execution of sale deed — Assessee cannot claim depreciation on the value of building unless he has become the owner of it in the year for which depreciation is claimed.)  1965 BLJR 214 (223) (DB)  (1964) 1 Andh WR 300 (302)  ILR (1962) Bom 641 (646) (DB) (Transfer of possession under an agreement of sale does not amount to a permanent alienation or "transfer" as defined in S 98A, Hyderabad Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (2) of 1950)  AIR 1962 Madh Pra 34 (36) ILR (1961) Madh Pra 797 (DB)  AIR 1961 Punj 378 (381) ILR (1961) 2 Punj 293 (DB)  AIR 1960 Madh Pra 114  AIR 1957 Ker LJ 1143 (1145)  AIR 1958 Pat 333 (334) (DB) (It only creates a right which if not enforced in time is not of any avail to defend possession even if already delivered on that basis)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 460 (461)  AIR 1955 Bom 5 (32) ILR (1956) Bom 594 (As a mere agreement to sell does not create any interest in the land and as it is an essential condition for the applicability of S 24, Bombay Agricultural Debtors Relief Act the B A D R Court cannot declare an agreement for sale accompanied by delivery of possession in anticipation of the execution of a sale deed as a transfer of the land by way of mortgage)  AIR 1957 Trav Co 189 (192) ILR (1956) Trav Co 998 (DB)  AIR 1956 Cal 462 (463) ILR (1957) 3 Cal 99  AIR 1955 Trav Co 195 (196) (DB) (Property mortgaged to B sold subsequently to C — C entering into contract to sell D — B filing suit on mortgage impleading C and purchasing property at sale — D also obtaining decree for specific performance — Sale deed executed through C and after B purchase — D filing suit for possession against B — Held, that as D would not claim title to property under the contract for sale the title continued to remain in C and the property was therefore validly sold in execution of the decree against him thus passing the title to B — Held, also the decree for specific performance by itself did not also alter the position.  AIR 1954 Trav Co 10 (24) (DB)  AIR 1951 Mad 767 (768, 769) Because of this fact the rule of perpetuities which does not apply to mere personal contracts does not affect such a contract as it does in England where under the law of contracts such a contract creates an interest in the property agreed to be sold)  AIR 1950 Ajmer 54 (60) (Mortgage held must have its effect as against subsequent sale though agreement to sell was executed before mortgage)  1949 Trav Co LR 18 (21) (No present interest in property created by agreement to sell)  AIR 1949 Sind 28 (32) ILR (1947) Kar 240 (DB) (Payment of price and even delivery of possession would not convey any title until a registered conveyance is executed and does not constitute the person who receives the price a benamidar for the person paying the price in respect of the property)  AIR 1947 Nag 254 (256) ILR (1947) Nag 328 (DB) (Where property agreed to be sold is compulsorily acquired the vendee suing for specific performance is not entitled to the compensation money along with the Collector)  AIR 1945 Nag 86 (93) ILR (1944) Nag 552 (DB)  AIR 1939 Nag 35 (37)  AIR 1939 Mad 220 (223)  AIR 1937 Bom 142 (143) ILR (1937) Bom 140  AIR 1933 Bom 475 (476)  AIR 1930 Cal 263 (264) (DB)  AIR 1930 Muz 184 (194) (DB)  AIR 1929 Cal 494 (495) 57 Cal 274 (DB)  AIR 1927 Cal 956 (962) 55 Cal 35 (DB) (The law requires a conveyance for the purpose of transfer of title and this cannot be made by a mere agreement)  AIR 1927 Nag 177 (178)  AIR 1926 Bom 497 (500) ILR 50 Bom 566 (1B). (Section 14 does not apply to contract for sale)  AIR 1925 Pat 732 (732) rule have exceptions depending upon special features(16)

Though the contract for sale does not create any interest or charge it creates an obligation which may be enforced against a transferee with notice of contract or a gratuitous transferee of the property(17) An agreement for sale reciting payment of earnest money creates a statutory charge for the earnest money under S. 55(6)(b)(18).

Agreement to sell does not require registration as the same is not a non-testamentary document acknowledging the receipt of payment on any consideration on account of creation, declaration, assignment, limitation or extinguishing any right, title or any interest(19)

The person in whose favour an agreement for sale of an immovable property is executed has interest in the subject matter of the contract for the purpose of Sec. 202 of Contract Act if not for the purposes of the Transfer of Property Act. Here the word "interest" simply means an advantage or a benefit(20).

Where the plaintiff enters into agreement with builder to purchase premises and earlier the builder had entered into agreement to purchase with the owner, they both cannot claim any interest by virtue of the agreements in their favour. They have no independent right in the property. Thus they are not entitled to any notice of illegal construction from municipality. They have no locus standi to file suit and claim injunction(21). Under the provisions of the T. P. Act, the execution of an agreement of sale cannot be held to be sufficient to attract the provisions of S. 6 of the Provincial Insolvency Act. Mere agreement of sale does not confer any transfer of interest and therefore it cannot be considered as an act of insolvency committed by the debtor(22).

An agreement of sale being not a transfer a fortiori, the prohibition created under S. 4 of A

* AIR 1924 Nag 327 (328)  AIR 1923 All 514 (515) 45 All 478 (DB) (Overruled on another point by AIR 1927 All 170)  AIR 1922 Bom 84 (88) 47 Bom 191 (DB)  AIR 1922 Low Bur 25 (26) 11 Low Bur 319 (DB)  AIR 1920 Bom 210 (211) (DB)  AIR 1918 Cal 923 (925) (DB)  AIR 1917 Pat 585 (588) (DB)  AIR 1916 Mad 298 (303) 39 Mad 462 (DB)  AIR 1916 Pat 226 (228) 1 Pat LJ 238 (DB)  AIR 1916 Low Bur 79 (80)  AIR 1916 Low Bur 67 (67)  AIR 1914 Cal 335 (336) 41 Cal 148 (DB)  (1909) 4 Ind Cas 1109 (1109) (DB) (Mad)  (1905) 7 Bom LR 845 (849)  (1901) 2 Mad 449 (462) (DB)  (1900) 13 CPLR 172 (176)  (1900) 13 CPLR 163 (164)  (1899) 23 Bom 181 (193) (DB)  1898 Pun Re No. 65, p. 225 (226)  (1926) 98 Ind Cas 729 (731) (DB) (Mad) (Even if registered)  (1911) 14 Oudh Cas 139 (141) (A entitled to certain property agreement with B to give half property in lieu of funds supplied to meet expenses of suit — B does not get any interest in property capable of being enforced by suit)  (1910) 5 Low Bur Rul 6 (6).

[See also AIR 1945 Oudh 130 (132) 20 Luck 19 (DB) (Deed of conveyance must clearly profess to sell property and not merely be a promise to sell in future)  AIR 1926 Bom 24 (25) (DB) (Agreement during suit to divide property after suit)  AIR 1931 PC 196 (202) : 58 Ind App 279. (Property vested in trustee — Trustee is owner)  AIR 1924 All 396 (397) (Mere contract does not create equitable interest)  AIR 1937 Pat 483 (486) (DB) (English doctrine whereby inheritance of right under contract for sale has been treated as inheritance of property itself, cannot be applied)  AIR 1937 Mad 293 (294) (Agreement to sell to mortgagee mortgaged property — Unless title in property mortgaged passed to mortgagee mortgage is not discharged even if possession is already transferred)]

16. ILR (1977) 2 Mad 99 (109)

17. AIR 1980 SC 1334 : 1980 UJ (SC) 655  1989 Jab LJ 295 (296) (Madh Pra)

18. (1985) 1 Cal HN 95 (102) (DB).

19. 1989 Sringagar LJ 159 (160) (J & K).

20. 1977 Rajdham LR 487 (491) (DB) (Delhi).

21. 1978 (74) DLT 11 (14).

22. AIR 1996 Mad 143 (145) : 1997 (1) CTC 38

P Vacant Lands in Urban Areas (Prohibition of Alienation) Act, 1972, against alienation of vacant land, would not apply to such a transaction(23)

Simply because vendee is already in possession of the property there is no reason why sale of the property by the mortgagor valued at less than Rs. 100/- cannot be effected by delivery of possession which of course will be notional in such case(24)

A contract for sale does not create any interest in or charge on the property so as to attract the provisions of Section 38 of the Administration of Evacuee Property Ordinance(25)

A mere agreement to sell the tenement by a landlord to a tenant does not effect a merger of interest(26).

Where the suit for specific performance is filed on the basis of alleged oral agreement to sell the tenanted property by owner in favour of tenant, the suit for eviction of tenant cannot be stayed on ground that the suit for specific performance is pending(27)

In instant case there existed a prior registered agreement to sell a plot. The subsequent purchaser did not make necessary enquiry as regards agreement by inspecting records or by getting it inspected by somebody. In the circumstances the subsequent purchaser would be attributed actual or deemed knowledge of the agreement. He cannot claim to be bona fide purchaser for value without knowledge of prior agreement of sale(28)

In a suit for ejectment and arrears of rent the tenant took a plea that she was not liable to pay rent in view of the agreement to sell the tenanted premises between herself and the landlady, but no such stipulation was however found in the agreement. Moreover the tenant herself paid rent for some period after executing the agreement. The tenant could not claim ownership before the date of sale, in view of S. 54 of the T. P. Act. Thus the decree for arrears of rent could be passed against the tenant(29).

The plaintiff purchased the suit property which was in occupation of tenant, and filed suit for possession. The tenant resisted the suit on ground of agreement of sale in his favour. However, the said document was not duly stamped nor reliable. It's genuineness was doubtful. Mere agreement did not create any interest over the suit property in favour of the tenant. The plaintiff was entitled to possession(30).

A careful reading of Ss. 40, 54 of the T. P. Act and S. 95 of the Trusts Act make it abundantly clear that the subsequent transferee with notice stands in a fiduciary capacity and holds the property in trust to the prior agreement holder, but the prior agreement holder cannot automatically become the owner by seeking declaratory relief and has necessarily to file a suit for specific performance impleading both the vendor and the subsequent transferee(31)

Two persons A and B had jointly purchased certain land. There was contemporaneous agree-

23. AIR 2002 Andh Pra 8 (11) : 2002 AIHC 61 : 2001 (5) Andh LT 473.

24. AIR 1972 Orissa 136 (140-141) : 37 Cut LT 1114 (AIR 1928 All 726 (FB) and AIR 1953 Bom 437 (FB). Dissented from.)

25. AIR 1970 Guj 12 (DB) (AIR 1956 Cal 462 Diss. from.)

26. AIR 1975 Kant 155 : (1974) 2 Kant LJ 208

27. AIR 1989 Orissa 154 (155)

28. AIR 1995 All 357 (366).

29. AIR 1995 Andh Pra 189 (193).

30. 1998 AIHC 3417 (3419) (Kant)

31. AIR 1999 Andh Pra 170 (173) : 1999 (2) Andh WR 18 : (1975 ALT 334 and AIR 1958 Bom 194 Held not good law in view of AIR 1980 SC 1334, AIR 1954 SC 75, AIR 1967 SC 978 and AIR 1980 SC 1334. Foll.)

ment of sale executed by B in favour of A agreeing to convey her share in the property to A. When B attempted to sell her share to a third person A called upon her by notice to execute sale deed in his favour. Held that since the agreement of sale was a valid deed, the covenant became a contract between the parties. It is not a prohibition on her right to alienate the property. It is a fetter on her right to deal with her share in the property, a liability burdened with the land. Subsequent purchaser-third person purchased the property with notice of agreement of sale. So he could not get valid title. The agreement of sale could not be said to be void title. The agreement of sale could not be said to be 'void' by operation of rule against perpetuity. When a contract has been executed in which no interest in present has been created, the rule of perpetuity has no application. The agreement is in the nature of a perspective right created in favour of the co-owner. Therefore, it is enforceable as and when an attempt is made by the co-owner to alienate land to third parties(32).

A party to an agreement to purchase has no right or interest in the property left by the testator and has no locus standi to oppose grant of probate(33).

Even where under an agreement of sale which is subject to permission under the Act, if part of the premises was given in possession and certain amount of consideration was paid there should be no transfer(34).

An order of Chairman of a Municipal Board to sell the land of the Board does not amount to a sale and could utmost be a contract of sale(35).

Where the letter of seller accepting the price offered by the purchaser referred to future negotiation for finalisation of more terms of the contract, it could not be said that there was concluded contract between the parties(36).

Temporary injunction cannot be issued at the instance of person in whose favour agreement to sell was executed to prevent the transferee under the subsequent sale deed from enjoying the possession of the property and getting the sale mutated in his name, till the decree of specific performance is obtained by him and a sale-deed is executed in his favour(37).

Where the testimony of the owner is to the effect that possession is given to the purchaser after execution of the sale deed in respect of suit property, injunction restraining the purchaser from entering into suit property cannot be granted to the plaintiff who alleges that an earlier agreement for sale of the suit property is executed by the owner in his favour. Such contract does not create any interest in suit property(38).

A sale by auction is only a contract for sale(39). A contract for re-sale is merely a contract for sale and does not create any interest or charge on the property(40). Sale deeds of two properties

32. AIR 1997 SC 1917 (1918) : 1997 AIR SCW 1672 : 1997 (10) SCC 309 .

33. AIR 1977 Cal 496 (498) : (1977) 2 Cal LJ 137 (DB) (AIR 1956 Cal 462. Held no longer good law in view of AIR 1967 SC 744 and AIR 1977 SC 744)

34. AIR 1977 Cal 361 (362)

35. 1966 Raj LW 356 (357).

36. AIR 1991 All 343 (349)

37. AIR 1981 Delhi 291 (293) : 1981 Rajdham LR 596 : 1991 Rajdham LR 19 (19)

38. AIR 1986 Orissa 74 (76) : (1985) 2 Orissa LR 335

39. 1897 Pun Re No. 52, p. 229 (232) (DB).

40. AIR 1939 PC 14 (18) : 66 Ind App 50. (A personal contract to reconvey cannot create any interest in the land itself)  AIR 1960 Bom 105 (106-107) : ILR (1959) Bom 1705 (DB)  ILR (1950) All 32 (41) (DB)  AIR 1930 All 101 (103) (DB)  AIR 1929 Mad 807 (810)  AIR 1924 All 400 (402) : 46 All 333 (DB)  AIR 1915 Bom 22 (23) : 39 Bom 472 were executed and subsequently deed for reconveyance was signed. The sale deed did not contain any stipulation about reconveyance which was explained by the seller to be as per the advice given by the legal advisor. The reconveyance deed was signed by the agent of the purchaser and the letters written by the seller to the purchaser supported the existence of reconveyance deed. The reconveyance of one of the properties within the time limit fixed under deed of reconveyance and for the same amount as stipulated in the deed also pointed towards its existence. Thus it was held that reconveyance deed was genuine(41). A executed a document selling certain property to B for certain sum. On the same day a contemporaneous document was executed by B in favour of A agreeing to sell the property in question for same amount within 10 years of the date of execution of the document executed by 'A'. The possession of property remained with 'A' and he was to pay Rs. 80/- p.m. as rent to 'B'. The municipal and other taxes in respect of the property were to be paid by 'A'. The question was about the real nature of transaction between 'A' and 'B'.

[See also AIR 1917 Mad 358 (361) (DB) (Sale in execution of decree - Sale attacked on

The very length of period is suggestive of a transaction of mortgage and not a transaction of absolute sale with a stipulation to reconvey the property. If B wanted to purchase the property for his personal occupation he would not have allowed A to continue as tenant. The property was never mutated to the name of B. These factors already spell out the real intention of the parties that it was transaction of mortgage. Thus the transaction in question was one of the mortgage in essence and substance though it was clothed in garb of a transaction of ostensible sale.

The reason for entering into such transaction of ostensible sale coupled with a contemporaneous agreement to sell within 10 years was that if it was not garbed with this paraphernalia and was given the nomenclature of a mortgage the period of redemption would have been 30 years. This period could not have been curtailed without attracting the doctrine of clog or equity of redemption. This was an obvious reason for respecting this device(42).

An agreement to sell is a concession which is granted by a purchaser to the seller for repurchase of the property in case he fulfills his part assigned in the agreement within the time granted by the purchaser.

Plaintiffs who were in need of money entered into an agreement with the defendant to sell some of their property. It was also agreed that the purchaser would execute separate agreement promising to resell the property. In pursuance of the aforesaid agreement the sale deed was in fact executed on 17th Feb., 1969. On the same date an agreement to resell was also executed which was got registered. Before the expiry of the period stipulated in the agreement for repurchase the plaintiff transferred the defendant to transfer the property to him and finally on 11th Oct., 1974 a cheque for the balance consideration was also sent to the defendant. The defendant however, neither encashed the cheque nor executed the sale deed. In the meanwhile, the State prohibited the transfer of property by an ordinance which took the shape of an Act, and the restrictions on transfers were limited during the period of three months. By some amendments to the Act the life of the Act was extended uptill 31st Dec., 1975 by which date the Act was to expire. The fundamental basis upon which the agreement rested was mainly that a concession given by the seller to the purchaser was to be availed within a period of six years by performing his part of the contract and in case the concession was not availed within the period of six years, the right to claim repurchase of the property would come to an end. The plaintiffs exercised the right within the stipulated period and even performed their part of contract by depositing the entire amount of balance sale consideration in the Court itself. It was nowhere contemplated in the agreement to sell that in case the sale deed could not be executed within a period of six years the entire contract would stand frustrated.

Held the restrictions being temporary and the time limit having been fixed for which the ground of irregularities — Compromise — Agreement to reconvey property on payment of price within fixed period — Agreement held, did not convey any present interest in property.)]

41. AIR 1995 SC 1607 (1609, 1611) : 1995 AIR SCW 2528 : (1995) 4 SCC 15.

42. AIR 1988 SC 1074 (1077, 1078) : 1988 (1) JT 652 (2).

restriction was placed it could not be said that permanent inability has arisen due to which the defendant could not execute the sale deed. The first ordinance was only for a period of three months and the subsequent Acts and the Amending Acts are also for very short periods. From the intervening laws it can be inferred that the defendant would be able to execute the sale deed within a short period. The intervening laws thus by no stretch of imagination could be said to have knocked down the fundamental basis upon which the agreement rested. The agreement to repurchase subsisted and the plaintiffs admittedly having exercised their claim within the specified period of six years were entitled to get the sale deed executed by the defendant in their favour(43).

The flat owner entered into an agreement of sale of the flat. The agreement did not stipulate transfer of possession to the purchaser any time before or at the time of or after the execution of the agreement of sale without executing a conveyance in respect thereof. No interest in the immovable property was intended to be transferred. The purchaser was not given possession of the flat at any time. The agreement of sale was subsequently cancelled by a deed of cancellation before any such possession could be given. In the circumstances, the deed of cancellation which have the effect of reconveyance of the property can fall under Art. 15 and not under Art. 25 of Bombay Stamp Act.

It is well settled that the contract for sale of immovable property does not of itself create any interest in or charge on such property. It is merely a document creating right to obtain a sale deed executed in favour of a purchaser. By the agreement of sale which was cancelled, there was no conveyance even for the limited purposes of Art. 25. That being so, no immovable property or interest therein was conveyed to the purchaser by the said agreement and hence there was nothing to be reconveyed by the flat purchasers to the owners by the deed of cancellation. Art. 25 will be attracted only to such deeds of cancellation which have the effect of reconveyance of the property already conveyed by a valid document(44). Where an agreement of sale was executed by the vendor debtor prior to attachment of his property but the property was sold by him after attachment the agreement would not confer any interest in the purchaser merely because the agreement was executed in his favour(45). No distinction can be drawn between a contract for sale and a contract for purchase(46), and consequently a contract for pre-emption or for re-purchase does not create any interest or charge on the property(47).

Reading of S. 14 along with S. 54 makes it manifest that a mere contract for sale of immovable property does not create any interest in the immovable property and it therefore follows that the rule of perpetuity cannot be applied to covenant of pre-emption even though there is no time limit within which option has to be exercised(48).

As the contract for sale does not create any interest in the property, the possession of the transferor subsequent to the agreement to sell cannot be said to be wrongful and the transferor cannot therefore be called to account for the profits of the period subsequent to the date of the agreement to the date of execution of the sale deed(49). Possession of a vendee under an agreement of sale is merely permissive or at the most that of a licensee and is presumed to be so unless and until something occurs to make it adverse(50).

43. AIR 1984 All 369 (371, 372, 374) : 1984 All CJ 517

44. AIR 1994 Bom 228 (230, 231) : 1994 Mah LJ 1261.

45. 1981 All LJ 436 (438)

46. AIR 1924 Pat 81 (82) (DB).

47. AIR 1960 Assam 178 (181) ILR (1959) 11 Assam 423 (DB)  AIR 1924 All 400 (402) : 46 All 333 (DB).

48. (1992) 2 Cur CC 652 (655) (DB) (Cal) (1).

49. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 960 (961)  1954 Trav-Co 10 (24) (Lessee from transferor - His possession is not wrongful - Person in whose favour there is contract to sale cannot successfully claim mesne profits from lessee.)

50. AIR 1972 J & K 125 (127) : 1972 Kash LJ 110 (FB).

Where the vendee executed a deed of sale in favour of the seller promising to reconvey the property to the seller if he paid a certain sum within a certain period the right claimed by the vendor on the basis of such an agreement to reconvey the property to him does not create any interest in the property and therefore the second paragraph of Section 54 would have no application entitling the Legal Representatives to file a suit for reconveyance on payment of the amount(51)

A sale under a decree in a suit for specific performance crystallises on the date when the decree for specific performance is passed but does not date back to the date on which the agreement of sale was entered into(52)

A sale is deemed to take place on the date a decree is passed in a suit for specific performance of the agreement and not on the day of the agreement of sale(53). Likewise, the decree for the specific performance of the contract to sell, its effect being only to superadd the sanction of the Court to the agreement and make it enforceable, does not create any interest in favour of the decree-holder. The decree-holder gets interest in the property only after the execution of the conveyance(54). But if there is not only a contract to sell but also a payment of part of the price or earnest money, the property, in view of S. 55(6)(b), becomes subject to a charge for the amount paid which can be enforced against the property even when it has been sold in execution(55).

Possession by vendee in pursuance of the contract for sale pending registration is permissive in nature and continues to be so unless something happens to make it adverse. The fact that the right to sue for specific performance is barred by limitation does not change the permissive nature of vendors possession(56).

In the undermentioned case(57), A received a price from B and transferred to him possession of the property contracted to be sold but there was no registered sale deed. Some years afterwards the creditors of A sought to attach the property as the property of the vendor. It was held that the last clause of this section did not apply and that the vendor had no attachable interest in the property. The same view was expressed in the cases noted below(58) but has not been followed in other cases(59).

51. AIR 1977 All 322 (324) : (1977) 3 All LR 123

52. AIR 1977 Punj 38 (40) : 78 Pun LR 947.

53. AIR 1974 Punj 18 (21) : 1972 Pun LJ 71 (DB) (AIR 1973 Punj 254 Reversed, AIR 1976 Nag 95. Dissented from.)

54. AIR 1966 Mys 299 (304) (ILR 5 Bom 554. Dissented from.)  AIR 1956 Cal 147 (148) ILR (1957) 1 Cal 388 (Sale of such decree transfers only the interest of decree holder in the decree and not interest in the property)  AIR 1953 Nag 167 (169) ILR 1952 Nag 644 (649) (DB)  AIR 1955 Trav Co 195 (196) (DB) ; AIR 1922 Cal 412 (2) and AIR 1926 Nag 95. Dissented from.)

55. AIR 1956 Cal 462 (463, 464) ILR (1957) 3 Cal 99 (Held not good law in view of AIR 1977 SC 774 as stated in AIR 1977 Cal 496.)

56. AIR 1983 Orissa 107 : 55 Cut LT 77 (DB).

57. (1900) 24 Bom 400 (402) (DB). Under S. 55(6)(b) purchaser entitled to charge on property for purchase money paid. Vendor is nothing more than a bare trustee.

58. AIR 1924 Mad 610 (610)  (1904) 26 All 266 (269, 270) (DB)

[See also AIR 1918 Cal 923 (925) (DB) (A vendee who has paid the consideration and is in possession under a contract of sale, has until the conveyance is registered, a saleable interest which is transferable by sale)]

59. (1909) 36 Cal 920 (921, 922) (DB) (Sale for more than Rs. 100 — Sale deed not registered — Only possession transferred to vendee — Held, there was no sale and vendor was entitled to claim back-possession.)  (1904) 28 Bom 466 (470) (DB)

Where parties who are in possession of the property as co-tenants enter into an agreement deciding to purchase the property from the owner in equal shares and entire consideration is paid in equal shares a suit by one of the parties for partition before execution of the sale deed would be tenable(60).

There was a difference of opinion on the question whether the parties to a sale deed which cannot take effect as a sale for want of any formality such as stamp or registration can fall back upon the contract for sale implied in every sale and enforce its performance. It was held in the undermentioned cases that they could do so(61). A different view was taken by the Madras High Court in Thavarammal v Lakshmi Ammal(62). In that case the vendee who could have got the document registered failed to do so and it was held that by reason of his default it was not open to him to read into the terms of the document an agreement to sell which was superseded by the conveyance to sell. The Judicial Commissioner's Court of Nagpur had also, in the case noted below(63), held that where a sale deed is statutorily void the parties cannot fall back upon the contract for sale as such contract necessarily merged in the sale and perished along with it. See also the undermentioned case in which the High Court of Jammu and Kashmir has held that what is an out and out sale cannot be treated as a contract to sell on the ground of the non-registration of the sale-deed or other defects(64). In James R R Skinner v R H Skinner(65) it was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that a contract for sale though it does not of itself create any interest or charge on immovable property is nevertheless a transaction "affecting" immovable property within the meaning of S. 49 of the Registration Act and so, if such an agreement is found recited in a compulsorily registrable document, that document cannot be used as evidence to support such an agreement. The proviso to S. 49 of the Registration Act added by the Transfer of Property (Amendment) Supplementary Act (21 of 1929) supersedes the view taken by above Privy Council decision and makes it clear that an unregistered document affecting immovable property though required to be compulsorily registered may be received as evidence of a contract in a suit for specific performance under Chap. II of the Specific Relief Act(66), (since repealed — see now Specific Relief Act, 1963) or as evidence of part performance of a contract for the purposes of S. 53A of the Transfer of Property Act(67) or as evidence of any collateral transaction not required to be effected by a registered instrument(68). Where there is an agreement to sell interest in joint family property, a stranger

60. 1975 All WC 517

61. AIR 1926 Mad 1117 (1119)  AIR 1924 Pat 433 (434)  AIR 1916 Low Bur 79 (80)  (1891) 14 Mad 55 (57) (Unregistered sale deed is admissible in evidence for the purpose of obtaining specific performance of contract)  (1889) 12 Mad 505 (508) (DB)  (1914) 21 Ind Cas 777 (778) (DB) (Mad)

62. AIR 1920 Mad 660 (661) : 43 Mad 822 (DB)

63. AIR 1927 Nag 177 (178, 179).

64. (1948) 7 J & K LR 158 (160).

65. AIR 1929 PC 269 (271) : 56 Ind App 363.

[See also AIR 1916 Pat 212 (213) , Pat LJ 455 (DB) (Unregistered sale deed sought to be put in evidence to prove a contract to sell in a suit for specific performance)]

66. AIR 1960 Mad 33 (39) ILR (1959) Mad 552 (DB) (Words "may be received as evidence of contract" occurring in proviso to S. 49 do not mean may itself be read as contract to execute a document in future)  AIR 1956 Assam 154 (157) (But suit for specific performance cannot be founded on unregistered sale deed)  ILR (1954) Mys 209 (210, 211)  AIR 1943 Mad 761 (762).

67. AIR 1957 Bom 138 (140) ILR (1958) Bom 556 (DB) (AIR 1943 Bom 431 Overruled.)

68. AIR 1956 Manipur 16 (17) (Unregistered sale deed — Repudiation of sale — Sale deed though unregistered would be admissible in evidence for purpose of recovering purchase money.)

to a suit can be impleaded as he has direct interest, legal or equitable in the subject matter of dispute(69).

Section 54 of T P Act specifically provides that a contract of sale does not of itself create any interest in or charge on immovable property which is subject matter of the contract of sale

Thus where an agreement of sale was entered into during the pendency of the suit which was also not registered, nor delivery of possession took place in pursuance of the agreement of sale when the alleged agreement did not create any interest in the land in the suit

Therefore the non-impleadment of the applicant as a defendant in a suit for injunction for restraining interference with possession of land, principally on the ground that it had entered into an agreement of sale with other defendant in respect of part of the land in suit was proper(70)

Where the agreement to sell a flour mill was executed by the assessee in the relevant assessment year but the sale deed was executed in the following assessment year, the title in the mill remained with the assessee in the relevant assessment year, and the value of the mill was includible in its wealth(71).

Agreement for sale — Registration.

A contract for sale of immovable property need not be in writing. But the parties may agree that the negotiations between them for the sale of property may be reduced to writing in the form of a written contract(72). A mere agreement to sell immovable property merely creates a right to obtain another document conveying property and is not compulsorily registrable under S. 17 of the Registration Act(73). So also is a mere agreement to reconvey immovable property(74). Before

69. AIR 1968 Mad 142 : (1966) 2 Mad LJ 298

70. AIR 1995 All 316 (317)

71. 1984 Tax LR 1420 : (1984) 17 Taxman 73 (Delhi)

72. AIR 1924 Rang 214 (216) : 2 Rang 285 (FB)  AIR 1977 Guj 158 (160) : 18 Guj LR 83 (FB). (Documents of sale of Batakhata rights is merely an agreement for sale.  AIR 1964 Orissa 176 (177) : ILR (1964) Cut 89 (DB)

73. AIR 1927 All 287 (287) : 49 All 806 (FB)  AIR 1957 Bom 119 (125) : ILR (1957) Bom 668 (DB) (Agreement to sell is admissible in evidence though unregistered.)  1954 MBLJ HCR 1046 (1050)  AIR 1955 Raj 70 : 72 : ILR (1954) 4 Raj 705 (DB)  ILR (1954) Mys 209 (210 : 211)  1949 Trav-Co LR 18 (21) (Agreement which may be oral can also be specifically enforced. Such agreement need not be in writing even.)  AIR 1937 Rang 402 (405) : 1938 Rang LR 216 (DB)  AIR 1933 All 846 (848) : 56 All 142 (DB)  AIR 1932 Lah 95 (95) (DB) Even if executed before amending Act 2 of 1927)  AIR (1940) Lah 1020 (1023) (DB)  AIR 1927 Bom 195 (206) : 51 Bom 247  AIR 1926 Pat 89 (90) (DB)  AIR 1925 Lah 284 (285) (DB)  AIR 1924 Lah 337 (339) (DB)  AIR 1922 Lah 269 (270) (DB)  AIR 1916 All 342 : 343 : 38 All 184 (DB)  AIR 1914 Mad 577 (57) : 37 Mad 480 (DB)  (1892) 5 C P LR 102 (102) (Letter though not registered could be received as evidence of agreement.)  (1875) 12 Bom HCR 175 (178) (A bargain paper for the purchase of immovable property above the value of Rs. 100 providing for execution of a deed of sale at some future date need not be registered and is admissible in evidence — Case under Registration Act of 1871.)  1931 Mad WN 297 (298) (AIR 1926 PC 94 is superseded by Act II of 1927 — Even without registration contract to sell is admissible in evidence in suit for damages.)  (1921) 63 Ind Cas 22 (23) (DB) (Lah)

[See also AIR 1930 Mad 683 (688) (Where no interest is created agreement to sell is admissible though unregistered.)]

74. ILR (1950) All 32 (41) (DB)  AIR 1974 Guj 69 (72)  AIR 1923 Rang 242 (244) * AIR 1914 Bom 21 (232) : 38 Bom 703 (DB)  (1910) 6 Ind Cas 549 (550 : 551) (DB) (Cal)

the addition of the explanation in 1927 to S. 17 of the Registration Act there was a difference of opinion on the question whether an agreement to sell which acknowledges the receipt of either purchase money or earnest-money was compulsorily registrable, in view of the fact that such receipt creates a charge in favour of the vendee(75). In Daval Singh v. Inder Singh(76) it was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that such an agreement must be registered. The explanation added to sub-sec. (2) of S. 17 of the Registration Act, now makes it clear that such an agreement need not be registered(77). Whether the document in question is only a contract to sell and therefore does not require registration or is a sale deed has to be decided according to the tenor of its contents and not on the basis of how the parties have chosen to describe it(78). Thus, when the document evidences the transfer of ownership as well as possession for a price partly paid and partly promised it is a transaction of sale which could be validly effected only by the execution of a registered sale deed. Simply because it is expressed to be a contract to sell and also contains a stipulation for the execution of a formal deed of sale and its registration it cannot be held to be otherwise(79). Although a contract to sell does not create any interest in the property it is an obligation annexed to the ownership of immovable property within the meaning of S. 40 of this Act(80) and it prevails over any subsequent attachment of the property(81).

Though the agreement for sale does not create any right, title or interest under S. 54, but it creates an interest in the property by operation of 2nd paragraph of S. 40 and this right prevails by operation of O. 38, R. 10. Therefore the rigour imposed under S. 64, IPC does not prevail. The agreement of sale thereby is not void and the attachment before judgment does not prevail over the contract for sale(82).

A purchaser of judgment-debtor's property under an agreement of sale is entitled to file an application to set aside a Court sale(83).

[See also AIR 1926 Bom 131 (132) (DB) (If agreement to re-convey can be treated as separate transaction, it need not be registered.)]

75. (1883) 7 Bom 310 (315) (Need not be registered)  (1871) 14 Moo Ind App 129 (131) : 16 Suth WR PC 26 (27). (Must be registered.)  (1882) 5 Mad 115 (117) (DB) (Must be registered)  (1897) 10 CPLR 107 (110) (Need not be registered)  (1921) 63 Ind Cas 22 (23) (DB) (Lah) (Where agreement to sell can be separated from the receipt of money then the former need not be registered)  AIR 1917 Lah 43 (44) 1916 Pun Re N. 98 (DB)  (1876) 1 Bom 190 (195) (DB) (Do.)

76. AIR 1926 PC 94 (96) : 53 Ind App 214. (Overruling AIR 1924 Lah 337.)

[See also AIR 1927 Bom 157 (158) 51 Bom 231 (DB) (AIR 1926 PC 94, Followed.)  (1926) 98 Ind Cas 890 (892) (DB) (Lah). (Do.)]

77. AIR 1934 Pat 495 (497-498) 13 Pat 620 (DB)  AIR 1931 Cal 171 (172) 58 Cal 449 (DB) (Amending Act II of 1927 supersedes the decision in AIR 1926 PC 94)  AIR 1929 Mad 243 (245) : 52 Mad 300 (DB).

78. AIR 1964 Orissa 176 (177) 11 R (1964) Cut 89 (DB)  AIR 1961 Andh Pra 424 (426)  AIR 1959 Mys 194 (197) 11 R (1958) Mys 746 (DB)  ILR (1954) Mys 209 (210, 211)

79. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 424 (426)  (1977) 1 Ren CJ 1 (4) (Raj)  AIR 1957 Hyd 37 (39) ILR (1956) Hyd 733 (DB)

80. AIR 1967 SC 978 (981) : (1967) 1 SCR 873  AIR 1967 SC 744 (749) : (1967) 1 SCR 293  AIR 1960 Assam 178 (181) 11 R (1959) 11 Assam 423 (DB)  AIR 1958 Bom 194 (195) 11 R (1958) Bom 234  AIR 1935 Mad 193 (194)  AIR 1917 Mad 4 (5)  AIR 1942 Mad 67 (68)

See also Section 40, Note 8.

81. AIR 1952 Trav-Co 467 (471) : ILR (1952) Trav-Co 201 (DB)

82. (1987) 1 Andh LT 718 (721).

83. AIR 1968 Andh Pra 334 (336) (1967) 1 Andh WR 288  AIR 1953 Mad 409 (412)

While transfer can only be of specific property which is in existence there can be an agreement to transfer future property though there can be no assignment of interest not in existence, but there can be an agreement to assign an interest to be acquired in future(84)

The obligation referred to above is recognised by S. 3 of the Specific Relief Act (1877) (since repealed — see now Specific Relief Act, 1963) and S. 91 of the Trusts Act (1882). Section 91 provides that where a person acquires property with notice that another person has entered into an existing contract affecting that property of which performance could be enforced, the former must hold the property for the benefit of the latter to the extent necessary to give effect to the contract(85). See also Note 8 on S. 40.

So long as the contract for sale has not been completed by conveyance, the remedy of the parties is either to sue for damages for breach of the contract or for specific performance of the contract(86). In instant case held that the plaintiff had proved by cogent evidence that the disputed

(Third party who purchases with notice of prior agreement is subject to obligation created by S. 91, Trusts Act, and can be compelled to execute sale deed in enforcement of prior agreement by party in whose favour it is. But until that is done the person who can enforce the agreement acquires no title.)

[See also AIR 1960 Madh Pra 3 (41)  AIR 1957 Trav Co 189 (192-193) ILR (1956) Trav-Co 998 (DB) (Agreement for sale does not vest any interest in the property and if a third party obtains an assignment of the properties in question, the party in whose favour the agreement has been executed has to seek specific performance, but he cannot challenge the right of the subsequent assignee on the basis of the prior agreement and a second sale in his favour of a subsequent date. AIR 1953 Mad 409, AIR 1954 Trav Co 110 and AIR 1955 Trav Co 195 Rel on.)]

84. AIR 1967 All 484 (485) : 1967 All LJ 88

85. AIR 1967 SC 978 (981) : (1967) 1 SCR 873.

86. AIR 1966 Mys 299 (303) (Contract for sale — Decree for specific performance — Title passes with execution and registration of sale deed and does not flow from decree. ILR 5 Bom 554, Not foll.)  AIR 1962 Madh Pra 25 (27) ILR 1961 Madh Pra 97 (DB) (Contract of sale — Vendor conveying property to person having right of pre-emption pending suit for specific performance of contract of sale — Doctrine of lis pendens applies. Specific performance of contract will not be refused merely because of sale in favour of pre-emptor.)  AIR 1960 Mad 33 (35) ILR 1950 Mad 552 (DB) (Suit for specific performance)  AIR 1958 Pat 133 (140) (DB) (Control for sale create only a right which if not enforced in time is not of any avail to defend possession even if already delivered on that basis)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 960 (961)  AIR 1957 Mad 78 (81) ILR 1957 Mad 290 (DB) (If for some reason after resorting to the proceedings under the Registration Act it becomes impossible to obtain registration or if resort to those proceedings is prevented by other circumstance vendee can bring a suit for specific performance of the contract to sell. But that the remedy being an equitable remedy would be refused to the vendee if non-registration is due to his own negligence in not producing the document when handed over to him for registration or where he has made alteration in the document.)  AIR 195 Trav Co 189 (192-193) ILR (1956) Trav-Co 998 (DB) (But he cannot challenge the right of the transferee under the sale deed executed subsequent to the contract to sell in his own favour.)  AIR 1956 Assam 154 (157)  AIR 1956 Bom 120 (122) (That both parties are entitled to insist on completion of contract is inherent in contract for sale — Document need not mention that on failure, other party may file suit for specific performance or for damages. — Parties may, however, mention what is to happen in case of failure to perform contract.)  AIR 1940 Mad 625 (626) ILR (1940) Mad 852 (Contract by vendors to sell land — One of them minor Vendee going into possession and retaining it for long time without repudiating contract — Purchase price not paid — Suit by vendors for specific performance — Suit held maintainable — Right to repudiate held waived.)  AIR 1949 Sind 28 (32) ILR (1947) Kar 240 (DB)  (1907) 7 Ind Cas 408 (409) (DB) (All)  AIR 1927 Nag 177 document was agreement to sell and not sale deed and therefore the plaintiff could pray for decree for specific performance(87) Though relief of specific performance of a contract for sale of a tangible immovable property is discretionary but while exercising such discretion, the Court can enforce the terms settled between the parties, being the agreement for sale as provided in S 54(88) Where it is doubtful whether agreement for sale has come into existence; whether consideration had validly passed and whether non performance of contract can provide adequate compensation to the agreement holder the agreement did not confer any right, title or interest in property upon him Proper remedy therefore was to file suit for specific performance and not a suit for injunction(89) It has been held in a case from Calcutta High Court that where there is payment under a contract for sale, of the part price or earnest money, the provisions of S 55(6)(b) would be attracted and it will be treated as though the ownership of the property had passed to the purchaser and such purchaser will be entitled to enforce his charge against the property in case the completion of the sale does not fructify for some reason as, for instance, by the sale of the property in execution against the transferor(90) In a subsequent decision by the Division Bench of the same High Court, however, this view was held to be not a correct proposition of law(91).

Under Section 54 of the Transfer of Property Act a person having agreement to sell in his favour does not get any right in the property except the right to litigation so as to avoid multiplicity of proceedings Where the defendant-vendor entered into an agreement with a third party to sell a share of the suit property during pendency of the suit for specific performance relating to that property, the third party is entitled to get impleaded in the suit to safeguard its interest(92)

Where in a suit for specific performance of contract for sale, it was found that alleged letter of acceptance of offer of price on behalf of the purchaser, by the seller referred to future negotiation for finalisation of more terms of contract, it could not be said that there was concluded contract between the parties against which a decree for specific performance could be granted Actually the defendant was not a contracting party He was acting on behalf of third person Hence unless the third person had agreed to the terms and conditions there could be no contract at all

(178) (Specific performance or damages)  AIR 1925 Cal 61 (63) 52 Cal 121 (DB) (Specific performance)  AIR 1917 Mad 1001 (1009) (DB) (Compensation in addition to specific performance)  AIR 1917 Pat 585 (589) (DB) (Specific performance or damages)  AIR 1916 All 366 (367) 38 All 154 (DB) (Suit for specific performance)  AIR 1915 Mad 305 (306) 37 Mad 463 (DB) (Court cannot compel a party to execute a deed of sale for the whole of the property where he is not the owner of a moiety of the property.)

[See also AIR 1954 SC 75 (80) : 1954 SCR 360, (Contract for sale — Insistence of purchaser on a particular form of warranty in the sale deed to be drafted — That would not affect the completeness of the contract of sale already entered into — Such insistence may in certain circumstances disentitle him to specific performance — Further when it is not persisted in it cannot also amount to a repudiation of the contract)  AIR 1963 Ker 247 (247) (Contract for sale becoming impossible by act of defendant-seller — He is liable to refund advance paid by plaintiff purchaser)  AIR 1952 Tripura 28 (29) (Contract found to be one for sale of land by boundary though it mentioned area also — Vendee is not entitled to refuse to complete the bargain on the ground of actual area being less than that mentioned in the agreement or on the ground that necessary permission from Collector to sell entire area was not obtainable by the vendor and recover earnest money and damages from the vendor)]

87. (1992) 2 Sim LC 288 (292) (Him Pra)

88. 1997 (2) Cal LT 321 (356).

89. 1997 (2) Rec CR (Civ) 370 (374) (Punj & Har)

90. AIR 1956 Cal 462 (463, 464) . ILR (1957) 3 Cal 99

91. AIR 1977 Cal 496 (499) (AIR 1956 Cal 462, Held not good law in view of AIR 1977 SC 774)

92. 1992 Rajdhani LR 274 (275) (DB)

The decree for specific performance cannot be granted even in view of S 54 of T. P. Act as the definition therein of contract for sale includes the settlement of the terms between the parties as one of the essentials for completion of a contract (93)

A suit for specific performance of contract of sale does not relate to any right or interest in land and does not get abated under Section 4 of the Bihar Consolidation of Holdings Act (94) A vendee under an agreement to sell who has paid earnest money is entitled to file an application to a Court sale under Order XXI Rule 90 (C. P. Code) (95) An agreement of sale can be enforced by the assignee of the vendor against the vendee unless the agreement contains the assignment (96) But after the completion of the sale, the remedy of the parties is, in the case of a vendee, a suit for possession, and in the case of a vendor, a suit for recovery of the purchase-money (97) Where a lessee enters into an agreement of sale of land and there is no merger and the tenant continues to be a tenant specially when the vendor instead of completing the transaction sold the property to a different person (98)

In a suit for specific performance based on an alleged oral contract for sale, there was no agreement as to the exact amount of advance to be paid. The conduct of the plaintiff in purchasing the stamp papers and obtaining bank draft does not necessarily suggest that there was a completed bargain (99)

A person on the basis of agreement of sale to him in absence of a registered deed is not entitled to bring a suit for injunction against the purchaser of the same property from his vendor for interfering with his possession as the title in the property had already passed (100)

Though the agreement for sale does not create any right or interest in the property under Section 54 but it creates an interest in the property by operation of 2nd paragraph of S 48 and this right prevails by operation of O 38 R 10 CPC. Therefore, the decree imposed under S 64 CPC does not prevail. Thus where an agreement to purchase was entered into by purchaser long before the suit for recovery of money was filed by plaintiff against the vendor and the decree was executed and registered during the pendency of the suit but the purchaser obtained an order of attachment before judgment in respect of the said property, that order would not interfere upon the rights of the purchaser (101)

The vendor sold the property which was subject to hypothecation with a bank, subject to condition that the vendee shall discharge the debt by making payment of stipulated amount to the

93. AIR 1991 All 343 (347, 349)

94. AIR 1980 Pat 18 : 1979 BLJR 686 (DB)

95. 1970 Raj LW 245 (246)

96. AIR 1973 Madh Pra 15 : 1972 MPLJ 1000

97. AIR 1916 All 366 (367) : 8 A. J. 248 : 1914 CPJR 42 (47) : 11 A. J. 170 : 172 : 174 (DB) : 1866 : Agr 15 (17) (Intention of parties can be gathered from their acts and should be considered) : 1913 : 36 Mad 8 (16) (DB)

[See AIR 1925 Cal 61 (63) : 52 Cal 2 (DB) (Decree for specific performance of a contract after he has secured performance of the contract does not constitute a discharge thereof) : AIR 1926 Cal 339 (343) (DB) : Where it was stipulated in the contract that the kohala will be executed and registered and khas possession would be given by executing the tenants — Held, the purchaser's right to take possession of the land depends on the right to the execution of a conveyance by the vendor)]

98. (1979) 2 Kant LJ 218 (221) : ILR (1979) 2 Kant 1937 (DB)

99. (1990) 2 Cur Civ C 324 (327) (Andh Pra)

100. 1977 Rev LR 506 : ILR (1980) Pat 259-262 : 1980 Jan LJ 205 (206) : Madh Pra : AIR 1986 Orissa 74 (76) : (1985) 2 Orissa LR 335

101. (1987) 1 Andh LT 718 (721).

Bank. The vendee did not make the payment. It was made by the vendor himself. The sale was a conditional one and the vendee did not comply with the condition and therefore the sale became voidable, thus the vendor was entitled to decree for declaration and injunction. (102)

Where in a suit for eviction the tenant alleged that he was in possession of the tenanted property after expiry of the lease on the basis of an agreement to sell by the landlord but had not paid the earnest money nor completed the purchase by paying the balance and had replied to the notice for eviction by the landlord alleging that the landlord's title was doubted it could be said that he had repudiated the contract and had disabled himself from performing it. (103)

Where the vendor enters into contract for sale of immovable property with the purchaser or his nominee, and ultimately executes the sale deed in favour of the nominee and the purchaser is shown therein as a confirming party, in order to avoid further litigation, the Registrar of Assurance cannot refuse to register the sale deed by invoking the definition of "immovable property" under S 2(6) of the Registration Act on ground that confirming party should produce Income-tax Clearance Certificate. In view of the specific provision in S 54 of the T P Act the confirming party has not acquired any interest which can be transferred. What is transfer of property is provided under the T P Act and in this regard the T P Act overrides all other Acts. The scope of Registration Act is only confined to registration and not to transaction. The scope of the T P Act is confined to transaction, in other words, create or extinguish right, title or interest in any property. The legal effect of contract of sale of immovable property under the T.P. Act cannot be enlarged by invoking S 2 (6) of the Registration Act (104)

It is true that it is customary to include a recital regarding of the agreement of reconveyance in the sale-deed itself. But where there was an agreement preceeding the sale deed and that agreement contained such clause and sale deed was executed consequent thereto the absence of reference to the agreement of reconveyance in the sale deed would not lead to the inference that the said right was given up by the executant of the sale deed. In absence of detailed plea and evidence that before execution of sale deed there was novation and the parties expressly agreed to give go-bye to the agreement of reconveyance, no inference that agreement of reconveyance was given go-bye could be drawn. (105)

Where the person in whose favour agreement for sale is entered, is put on information as to the course of action adopted by the Revenue, neither by reason of S. 269 UD (2) nor S. 269 UL (3) could he contend that he has secured an interest in the immovable property contrary to the settled law as adumbarated u/s 54 of the Transfer of Property Act. Thus the transferee who entered into agreement to sell of immovable property has no locus standi to question the order of appropriate authority made u/s. 269 UD (1).

Merely because S 269 UD (2) says "every other person whom the appropriate authority knows to be interested in the property", it does not bring a transferee, who has no interest in its property in whose favour no interest is created by reason of the contract for sale (106)

Where a person is a defaulter to the Income-tax department and there is a statutory charge created on his property and the third party enters into an agreement thereafter with the defaulter to purchase the property by the dept., after due notice to defaulter, the third party has no locus standi to file application under R. 61 for setting aside the auction sale on the basis of agreement to sale in his favour. He has only a pecuniary interest under the agreement and not any interest in the property

102. 1996 (2) Civ LJ 607 (608) (SC).

103. ILR (1976) 2 Delhi 716 (722).

104. AIR 1989 Cal 65 (70) : (1988) 1 Cal LJ 307.

105. AIR 1998 SC 3021 (3027) : 1998 AIR SCW 2877 : 1998 All LJ 2149 : 1998 (6) SCC 358.

106. (1991) 97 Cur Tax Rep 97 (106, 108, 109) (DB) (Kant).

as such within the meaning of the expression "persons whose interest are affected" occurring in R 61. Rule 16 disentitles such person or persons from entering into an agreement with the defaulter for purchase of the property on which a statutory charge is created on the issue of notice in form No. ITCP-1 under R. 2. Rule 48 further imposes prohibition on the defaulter from transferring or charging the property in any way and also prohibits all person from taking any benefits under such transfer or charge. The expression "persons whose interest are affected" which occurs both in R 60 and R. 61 has to be understood, in the light of the meaning assigned to it u/s 54 of the T P Act meaning the same person.

The Schedule II Rules to the T P Act are framed more or less on the pattern of rules framed under O 21 C P C from the scheme of these rules read together it has to be construed that on application under either of the Rules viz R 60 or R 61 has to be made by the same person (107)

Where property agreed to be sold is compulsorily acquired the vendee suing for specific performance is not even entitled to the compensation awarded in respect of such property (108) Bona fide purchaser without notice. In view of a vendor has only partial interest in the property and disposes of the property of an interest greater than he really has, in such event the vendee has to establish and prove that he had taken reasonable care and made full enquiries about the title of the property purchased by him. No person can dispose of an interest in the property that is not vested in him and the only exception is that if the purchaser has purchased the property bona fide after making usual enquiry into the title as a reasonable and prudent man of business would do even if the property has been sold by that person who does not have full interest in the property, such purchaser can be protected. However the onus lies on the purchaser to establish that he had acted in good faith and purchased the property after making full enquiries into the title of the vendor and all reasonable care was taken by him.

Agricultural land was purchased in the instant case. Mere mutation entry in revenue record is not a document of title. The purchaser had not taken reasonable care to verify the title of the vendor. Thus he could not be said to be a bona fide purchaser. On the basis of verification of mutation entry such purchaser cannot be said to be entitled to protection under S 41 of the T P Act (109)

In the facts and circumstances of the present case it was held that the subsequent purchaser was a bona fide purchaser for value without notice of earlier agreement with plaintiff. Therefore the plaintiff would not be entitled to relief of specific performance against the subsequent purchaser (110)

In instant case second sale deed in respect of a property came into existence after first sale. The later sale deed cannot take away the valuable rights of the vendee of first sale deed (111)

The Court can enforce the terms settled between the parties, being the agreement for sale, as provided in S 54 and not some of such terms, nor any term which has not been settled between the parties. The right to claim possession is an additional right, which can be claimed in an appropriate case of specific performance in view of the language of S 22 (1) of the Specific Relief Act 1963 (112)

An agreement to sell immovable property was executed. It did not stipulate transfer of possession before execution of conveyance. The agreement was subsequently cancelled. Possession of property was never transferred. In the facts, the deed of cancellation of agreement would not amount to reconveyance and would fall under Art 15 and not Art 25 of the Bombay Stamp Act (113)

107. 1992 Tax LR 559 (562, 565, 567) : (1992) 194 ITR 409 (Kant)

108. AIR 1983 Punj 180 (187) : ILR (1983) 2 Punj 24.

109. 1997 (2) Mah LJ 855 (859) (Bom)

110. AIR 1998 SC 2028 (2038) : 1998 AIR SCW 1883 : 1998 (5) SCC 537.

111. 1997 (1) Civ LJ 811 (812) (Punj & Har)

112. 1997 (2) Cal LJ 321 (356).

113. AIR 1994 Bom 228 (230) : 1994 Mah LJ 1261

Agreement to sell property in Cantonment area was entered into Cantonment authorities granted permission subject to condition that the purchaser would not object resumption. The purchaser could not repudiate the contract on ground that the condition imposed prohibited him from resisting even illegal resumption. He could not therefore claim refund of earnest money.(114)

Where a person enters into agreement to purchase part of the property which is the subject matter of a partition suit, he does not acquire any interest in the property in view of the last para of S 54. Again in view of the doctrine of lis pendens he could not be considered to be either necessary or property party to the partition suit. Having no legal interest he could not be impleaded as a party in the partition suit.(115)

The transferee had filed a suit for specific performance on the basis of an agreement for sale in her favour. She also entered into agreement with third party assigning her rights in the suit property and whereunder she purported to transfer the decree that may be passed in her favour, to the third party. Also power of attorney was executed by her in favour of third party in order to achieve the said object. The transferee had no transferable interest in the property by virtue of agreement to sell in her favour and thus the third party could not be substituted in her place (116)

Where if prima facie from the language incorporated in a document that it is a contract of sale of agricultural land, it can be marked exhibit at the time of recording of evidence. Mere exhibiting a document does not dispense with its proof.(117) As to question whether in cases where the buyer has taken possession in pursuance of the contract for sale, he can resist a suit for possession by the seller on the ground that he is entitled to the specific performance of the contract, see Notes on section 53A.

24. Several sales of the same property — Priority.

Where the common vendor has already disposed of the entire land under five different sale deeds including the two involved in this litigation, both the sale deeds are genuine and of the same date and there is allegation of encroachment of a strip of land made by one purchaser against another, therefore to safeguard the interest of both the parties and it was suggested to suffer the shortfall in equal proposition.(1)

Where the suit land was situated in small village and all parties also belonged to that village, subsequent purchaser must be aware of earlier transaction and cannot be treated to be bona fide purchaser for value without notice.(2)

See also the undermentioned case.(3)

See also Notes 8, 9 and 10 on section 48

114. AIR 1998 SC 3389 (3392) : 1998 AIR SC 3337 : 1998 All LJ 2579 : 1998 (7) SCC 456.

115. 1999 (1) Cal LT 480 (488).

116. 1997 All HC 2947 (2962) : 1997 (67) Delhi LT 296

117. 1998 (1) Rajasthan LR 136 (138)

Section 54 — Note 24

1. 1987 Supp SCC 688 (689).

2. AIR 2002 Punj & Har 47 (54) : 2001 (1) Cur LJ (CCR) 271

3. AIR 2002 Mad 131 (143) : 2001 (3) Mad LW 603 (Subsequent purchaser for value without notice)

55. RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF BUYER AND SELLER.— In the absence of a contract to the contrary, the buyer and the seller of immoveable property respectively are subject to the liabilities, and have the rights mentioned in the rules next following, or such of them as are applicable to the property sold :

(1) The seller is bound—

- (a) to disclose to the buyer any material defect in the property “[or in the seller’s title thereto] of which the seller is, and the buyer is not, aware, and which the buyer could not with ordinary care discover;
- (b) to produce to the buyer on his request for examination all documents of title relating to the property which are in the seller’s possession or power,
- (c) to answer to the best of his information all relevant questions put to him by the buyer in respect to the property or the title thereto;
- (d) on payment or tender of the amount due in respect of the price, to execute proper conveyance of the property when the buyer tenders it to him for execution at a proper time and place;
- (e) between the date of the contract of sale and the delivery of the property, to take as much care of the property and all documents of title relating thereto which are in his possession as an owner of ordinary prudence would take of such property and documents;
- (f) to give, on being so required, the buyer, or such person as he directs, such possession of the property as its nature admits;
- (g) to pay all public charges and rent accrued due in respect of the property up to the date of the sale, the interest on all incumbrances on such property due on such date, and, except where the property is sold subject to incumbrances, to discharge all incumbrances on the property then existing.

(2) The seller shall be deemed to contract with the buyer that the interest which the seller professes to transfer to the buyer subsists and that he has power to transfer the same :

Provided that, where the sale is made by a person in a fiduciary character, he shall be deemed to contract with the buyer that the seller has done no act whereby the property is incumbered or whereby he is hindered from transferring it

The benefit of the contract mentioned in this rule shall be annexed to, and shall go with, the interest of the transferee as such, and may be enforced by every person in whom that interest is for the whole or any part thereof from time to time vested.

(3) Where the whole of the purchase-money has been paid to the seller, he is also bound to deliver to the buyer all documents of title relating to the property which are in the seller's possession or power.

Provided that, (a) where the seller retains any part of the property comprised in such documents, he is entitled to retain them all, and, (b) where the whole of such property is sold to different buyers, the buyer of the lot of greatest value is entitled to such documents. But in case (a) the seller, and in case (b) the buyer, of the lot of greatest value, is bound, upon every reasonable request by the buyer, or by any of the other buyers, as the case may be, and at the cost of the person making the request, to produce the said documents and furnish such true copies thereof or extracts therefrom as he may require, and in the meantime, the seller, or the buyer of the lot of greatest value, as the case may be, shall keep the said documents safe, uncanceled and undefaced, unless prevented from so doing by fire or other inevitable accident.

(4) The seller is entitled —

- (a) to the rents and profits of the property till the ownership thereof passes to the buyer;
- (b) Where the ownership of the property has passed to the buyer before payment of the whole of the purchase-money, to a charge upon the property in the hands of the buyer, [^][any transferee without consideration or any transferee with notice of the non-payment], for the amount of the purchase-money, or any part thereof remaining unpaid, and for interest on such amount or part [^][from the date on which possession has been delivered].

(5) The buyer is bound —

- (a) to disclose to the seller any fact as to the nature or extent of the seller's interest in the property of which the buyer is aware, but of which he has reason to believe that the seller is not aware, and which materially increases the value of such interest;
- (b) to pay or tender, at the time and place of completing the sale, the purchase money to the seller or such person as he directs : provided that, where the property is sold free from incumbrances, the buyer may retain out of the purchase-money the amount of any incumbrances on the property existing at the date of the sale, and shall pay the amount so retained to the persons entitled thereto :
- (c) where the ownership of the property has passed to the buyer, to bear any loss arising from the destruction, injury or decrease in value of the property not caused by the seller;
- (d) where the ownership of the property has passed to the buyer, as between himself and the seller, to pay all public charges and rent which may become payable in respect of the property, the principal moneys due on any incumbrances subject to which the property is sold, and the interest thereon afterwards accruing due.

(6) The buyer is entitled —

- (a) where the ownership of the property has passed to him, to the benefit of any improvement in, or increase in value of, the property, and to the rents and profits thereof;
- (b) unless he has improperly declined to accept delivery of the property, to a charge on the property, as against the seller and all persons claiming under him, ^B[* * *] to the extent of the seller's interest in the property for the amount of any purchase-money properly paid by the buyer in anticipation of the delivery and for interest on such amount, when he properly declines to accept the delivery, also for the earnest (if any) and for the costs (if any) awarded to him of a suit to compel specific performance of the contract or to obtain a decree for its rescission.

An omission to make such disclosures as are mentioned in this section, paragraph (1), clause (a), and paragraph (5), clause (a), is fraudulent

[A] Inserted by the Transfer of Property (Amendment) Act, 1929 (XX of 1929), S. 17

[B] The words "with notice of the payment" were omitted ibid

Synopsis

- | | |
|--|---|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Scope of the section. 1A. Time when of the essence of contract. 2. Disclosure of defects — Paragraph 1, clause (a). 3. Production of document of title — Paragraph 1, clause (b). 4. Answering relevant questions — Paragraph 1, clause (c) 5. Payment of price and execution of conveyance — Paragraph 1, clause (d). 6. Duty to preserve property and documents of title — Paragraph 1, Clause (e). 7. Duty to give possession — Paragraph 1, clause (f). 8. Duty to pay public charges, rent and incumbrances — Paragraph 1, clause (g). 9. Implied contract for title — Paragraph 2. 10. Delivery of documents of title — Paragraph 3. 11. Right to rents and profits and interest on purchase-money. 11A. Seller's right to rent and profits — Paragraph 4, clause (a). 12. Seller's charge for purchase-money — Paragraph 4, clause (b). | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> 13. Buyer's duty to disclose facts — Paragraph 5, clause (a). 14. Buyer's duty to pay or tender purchase-money — Paragraph 5, clause (b). 15. Third party, if can enforce contract between A and B as to payment of purchase-money. 16. Liability for loss from destruction, etc., after passing of ownership — Paragraph 5, clause (c). 17. Payment by buyer of public charges, etc., on passing of ownership — Paragraph 5, clause (d). 18. Property sold subject to incumbrances — Incumbrances found invalid — Who gets the benefit? 19. Buyer entitled to rents and profits, etc. — Paragraph 6, clause (a). 20. Buyer's charge — Paragraph 6, clause (b). 21. Omission to make disclosures referred to in paragraph 1, clause (a) and paragraph 5, clause (a). 22. "In the absence of a contract to the contrary." |
|--|---|

1. Scope of the section.

This section deals with the rights and liabilities of the buyer and the seller of immovable property. Some of these rights and liabilities refer to a stage after the contract for sale is entered into and before the completion thereof by the execution of the conveyance, some refer to a stage after the completion of the contract by the execution of a conveyance and some refer to both. In other words this section deals with the rights and liabilities of the parties to a contract for sale as well as those of the parties to a completed conveyance. (1) Paragraph 1, cls (a), (b), (c), (d) and (g), para 4, Cl (a), para 5, Cl (a) and para 6, cl (b) belong to the first class; para 1, cls (e) and (f), para 2, para 4, cl. (b), para 5, cls (c) and (d) and para 6, cl (a) belong to the second class. Paragraph 5, cl (b) belongs to the third class.

The obligations imposed by the section, except para 2, are in the nature of statutory obligations and are not implied covenants (2) In certain decisions, (3) however, they are referred to as covenants. It is submitted that the use of the word "covenant" to denote these obligations is not correct. But though the obligations are themselves not covenants, they are duties imposed by law on the parties in the performance of the contract and a failure to fulfil them will amount to a refusal to perform the contract within the meaning of S 39 of the Contract Act and will entitle the other party to repudiate or put an end to the contract. Once, however, the contract is completed by conveyance, a failure to perform any of these obligations will not entitle the other party to get the sale cancelled or avoided on that ground (4). But this does not apply where such failure renders the contract itself void. The reason is that every sale deed is necessarily based upon the contract (5) and, if such contract is void or voidable on the ground of fraud, misrepresentation, coercion, undue influence, mutual mistake, want of consideration, etc., the sale itself which is based upon such contract will also be vitiated to the same extent. (6) Thus, where a wrong property was sold by

Section 55 — Note 11. ILR (1967) Guj 323 (329)  AIR 1926 Mad 569 (570)

[See AIR 1916 Bom 1 (2) : 41 Bom 438 (FB). (Section 54 does not exhaust relations which flow from a contract for sale of immovable property — S 55 imposes many obligations on the vendor and gives corresponding rights to the purchaser with reference to the property contracted to be sold — In the last of the sub-section of that section it is clearly recognised that relief by way of specific performance may in certain events be open to the purchaser — Note — In this case, it was held that the vendee who had entered into possession under a contract for sale could resist a suit for ejectment by the vendor, so long as specific performance could have been enforced by him — See now S 53A.)]

2. AIR 1924 Mad 544 (546)3. AIR 1928 Sind 61 (63) 23 Sind LR 237  AIR 1924 Pat 822 (822)

[See AIR 1927 Mad 1072 (1072).]

4. (1866) 1 Agra 85 (86, 87) (DB) (A subsequent default by the purchaser in the due payment of the purchase-money.)5. AIR 1929 All 837 (839) (DB).

6. AIR 1922 PC 403 (405) : 50 Ind App 69. Sale of a mere expectancy — Agreement to sell rights of reversioners — Void  ILR (1967) Guj 323 (329) (Contract void under S 23, Contract Act — Buyer held had no charge under S. 55(6)(b).)  (1898) 22 Bom 176 (180, 181) (DB) (Sale avoided under S 25 Contract Act, for want of consideration)  (1895) 18 Mad 61 (63) (DB). (Sale without consideration is void)  (1869) 1 NWPHCR 85 (86) (DB) (Misrepresentation)  (1862) 45 ER 1238 (1240) 4 De GF & J 401 8 Jur (NS) 734 10 WR (Eng) 677 135 RR 212. Clark v Malpas (Sale void for undue influence)  (1884) 33 WR (Eng) 301 (302) 52 LT 49. Nash v Wooderson. (Sale subject to misleading condition, contract can be rescinded.)

A to B under a mutual mistake of fact between them, it was held that the contract preceding the sale being void under S 20 of the Contract Act, the sale itself was void and that B was entitled, under S 65 of that Act, to recover the purchase-money paid by him (7) Even after a contract is completed by a conveyance, it is open to the buyer to renounce his character of vendee and allow the original relationship between the parties to be resumed.(8)

There was a decree for permanent prohibitory injunction restraining the vendor from executing a sale deed without earmarking the area to be given to the decree holder. The vendor sold the property without earmarking the area. The sale is invalid and the purchaser could not claim that he had no knowledge of the decree and that he had reffered confidence in the vendor (9) The rules in this section are not applicable to sales in invitum (10)

Where the parties consiously negotiated but failed in respect of any term or condition, as a result of which the agreement itself could not be finally settled or concluded, there is no question of applying general principles contained in S 55.(11)

The principles underlying the provisions of this section have been applied to cases arising in Provinces to which this Act does not apply (12) But there is no obligation on the Court to so use the Act as if every particular detail of it is the law of the Province (13) Thus, a covenant for title was held not to be implied in a sale where the buyer knew the exact state of the seller's title (14) In the undermentioned case(15) it was held that the seller could not rely upon para 4 of (b) but could rely

(See also AIR 1927 Rang 90 (91) (Subject matter of sale substantially obtained by purchaser — Sale not cancelled but principle of S 54 Specific Relief Act applied.)

Also see S 4, Note 4.

7. AIR 1930 All 252 (254) (DB)

[See also (1865) 3 Suth WR 28, 28 (DB) (Vendor having no authority to sell — Sale void — Vendee entitled to get back purchase money.)]

8. AIR 1947 Cal 328 (329) (Thus, where a tenant conveyed his interest to his landlord it is open to the latter to renounce his character of vendee by subsequent conduct and resume the old relationship of landlord and tenant.)

9. 1999 AHC 181 (186) : 1997 (3) Mad LW 816.

10. AIR 1952 Kutch 10 (12) (Section 55 (6) (b) does not apply to Court sales)  AIR 1950 EP 74 (76) (DB)  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 605 (605) (DB) (Low Bur) (Mortgagee selling under power of sale.)

[See AIR 1966 Mys 299 (303) (Sale deed executed by Court in pursuance of decree for specific performance — It is a transfer by Court on behalf of judgment debtor and it has all the characteristics of a transfer inter vivos — Hence section applies.)]

11. (1990) 2 Cur Civ C 688 (697) : (1990) 2 Rev LR 222 (SC).

12. AIR 1919 PC 124 (125). (From Upper Burma)  AIR 1942 Lah 275 (278) : ILR (1943) Lah 17 (FB). (The principle of S 55(4) T P Act has been held applicable to the Punjab)  AIR 1941 Lah 407 (412) : ILR (1942) Lah 79 (FB). (Principle of S 55(6)(b) applied to the Punjab)  AIR 1964 Punj 123 (127) : ILR (1964) 1 Punj 143 (Principle of S 55(4) (b) is applicable to Punjab)  (1910) 6 Nag LR 98 (99) (Do)  AIR 1937 Pesh 8 (9) (DB)  AIR 1929 Lah 416 (418) (DB)  AIR 1923 Lah 590 (590) (DB)  AIR 1920 Nag 44 (145) (Berar)  (1908) 4 Low Bur Rep 224 (226)  1907 Upp Bur Rep (Evidence) 37  1907 Pun Re No. 148 p. 687 (691)  (1929) 120 Ind Cas 163 (164) (DB) (Lah)  (1926) 98 Ind Cas 890 (892) (DB) (Lah)  1913 Pun Re No. 39.

[See AIR 1941 Lah 10 (14, 15) : ILR (1941) Lah 568 (DB).]

[See also (1909) 5 Nag LR 70 (75). (Berar.)]

13. AIR 1925 Lah 92 (93)

14. AIR 1925 Lah 92 (93).

15. AIR 1927 Lah 103 (103) : 8 Lah 257 (DB).

upon general principles of equity for his lien. In the case noted below(16) it was held that in a suit for possession by a vendee under a completed sale, there being no rigid rules such as those contained in Ss 55(1)(f) and 4(b) in North West Frontier Province, the Court could pass a decree for possession in favour of the buyer conditional upon his paying the unpaid purchase money to the seller on the grounds of justice, equity and good conscience.

Where the T P Act is not in force in any area the vendor will not be liable to indemnify the purchaser from any loss as the principle of 'caveat-emptor' alone was applicable at the time when the purchaser got the property.(17)

In a suit between a transferor and a transferee arising out of a sale of property held by the transferor on annual patta from Government, the rights of the parties to the sale are governed by this Act in the absence of a statutory provision prohibiting transfer.(18)

A suit for specific performance of agreement to direct the vendor to apply for permission under Section 47 of Andhra Pradesh Act 21 of 1961 and then to execute a sale deed is maintainable.(19)

Where oral contract to sell immovable property is alleged, heavy burden lies on the party alleging to prove that there was consensus ad idem between the parties (20)

Where the vendee undertook to repay the mortgage debt of the vendor and it formed part of the consideration for sale of property to vendee, possession was delivered and property mutated in name of vendee. The mere fact that the mortgage debt was not discharged by the vendee would not make the sale transaction sham or nominal.(21)

In laying down the principle that the boundaries should prevail over the extent, the following principles are applied—

- 1) Doubtful extents — boundaries should be preferred
- 2) Absence of material to show exact extent — boundaries should outweigh
- 3) If recitals clearly show that lesser extent than area covered by boundaries is conveyed then extent should prevail over boundaries.(22)

There was conflict between the area mentioned in the sale deed and its boundaries and as such the executing Court held that the boundaries shall prevail, in the above circumstances the revisional Court remanded the case to the executing Court to record its finding after allowing the parties to lead their evidence on the objection.(23)

Bona fide purchaser without notice

Agreement to sell property in favour of third party was executed much prior in point of time to the agreement executed in favour of the plaintiff. There was no evidence on record to show that the third party had the knowledge of agreement in favour of the plaintiff. Thus the third party purchaser under the circumstances can be said to be bona fide purchaser without notice. The plaintiff was therefore not entitled to specific performance (24)

16. AIR 1944 Pesh 9 (10) (DB).

17. (1970) 2 Mad LJ 520 (525)

18. AIR 1951 Assam 20 ILR (1950) 21 Assam

19. AIR 1970 Andh Pra 19 (DB).

20. 1990 SCFBRC 351 (363) (SC).

21. AIR 1985 Mad 222 (234) : 1984 TLNJ 442

22. (1984) 97 Mad LW 365 (367)

23. (1970) 1 Rent LR 620 (622) (Punj)

24. AIR 2002 SC 1711 (1714, 1715 : 2002 AIR SCW 1653 : 2002 (4) SCC 460  AIR 2002

1A. Time when of the essence of contract.

Time is not essence of agreement to sell immovable property unless so provided specifically. Vendor did not inform vendee that mutation in favour of vendor is sanctioned, though provided accordingly in the agreement nor did he call upon vendee to get sale deed executed. Thus the conduct of the vendor showed that according to him time was not essence of the contract (1)

Where the intention of the parties is that time is of the essence of the contract and the vendor fails to execute the sale deed within stipulated time, the contract does not come to an end but it subsists and is voidable at the instance of the vendee (2)

It is settled law that in all cases of agreement of reconveyance, time is the essence of contract. (3)

The principle under S. 55 of the Contract Act that in regard to contracts of sales of immovable property time is not the essence of the contract, does not apply to contracts of reconveyance. If a vendor who agrees to sell his immovable property, is given the option to repurchase the property within a particular period, then such an option must be exercised strictly within the said period (4)

2. Disclosure of defects — Paragraph 1, clause (a).

This clause obliges the seller to disclose to the buyer any material defect in the property or in the title thereto of which the seller is aware and the buyer is not aware and which the buyer could not, with ordinary care, discover (1). In other words, the seller is bound to disclose all latent defects which are material and of which he is aware, but not patent defects (2). The duty does not thus extend to every defect in the property and, the seller can protect himself against even this limited duty to disclose a latent defect by appropriate clauses, as is shown by the words "in the absence of a contract to the contrary" in the beginning of the section.

The section will have no application to a case where the person sells property in which he has absolutely no interest (3)

Mad 131 (143) : 2001 (3) Mad LW 603. (In facts of the case held that subsequent purchaser had no notice of existence of the agreement for sale in favour of the plaintiff.)

Section 55 — Note 1-A

1. AIR 2002 Him Pra 166 (173)
2. AIR 1984 (NOC) 320 (DB) (Delhi)
3. 2000 AIHC 168 (172) : 2000 (2) Mad LW 92
4. AIR 1998 SC 3021 (3031) : 1998 AIR SCW 2877 : 1998 All LJ 2149

Section 55 — Note 2

1. AIR 1964 Orissa 269 (273). (Defect in vendor's title — Onus of proving that non-disclosure was fraudulent lies on purchaser)  AIR 1961 J & K 66 (70). (The fact that the seller (lessee of land for residential purposes in Jammu and Kashmir) had rendered the land liable to resumption by the State by his wilful default (by breach of the conditions of the lease) is undoubtedly a material defect of title)  AIR 1957 Madh B 25 (25)  AIR 1956 Bom 175 (178) (DB). (Material defects of which seller is aware should be disclosed at time when parties enter into agreement of sale — Seller must also answer requisition made by buyer)  AIR 1950 Lah 106 (115) : Pak LR (1950) Lah 1. Agreement for sale of property at Lahore by A to B — Subsequent notice under S. 36, Punjab Town Improvement Act, 1922, for acquisition of property in question — Notice cannot operate as a material defect either in the property or in seller's title thereto.  AIR 1925 Rang 372 (373) (DB). (A defect in title is a material defect)  (1906) 75 LJ Ch 175 (178) : (1906) 1 Ch 335 (341) : 94 LT 58 : 54 WR (Eng) 244. Carlish v. Salt.
2. (1800) 31 ER 707 (707) : 5 Ves 508 : 5 RR 107. Bowles v. Round  (1922) 92 LJ Ch 194 (201) : 128 LT 622, Simpson v. Gilley
3. AIR 1977 Andh Pra 90

There is no obligation on the seller to swear an affidavit or create a charge by way of security against any contingent loss that may accrue to the buyer for defect of title.(4)

Material defect.

The words "or in the seller's title thereto" were added by the amending Act of 1929. It gave effect to the view that had been taken before, that defects of title were within the scope of this clause (5). A defect in the title must be distinguished from a defect in the property. The latter defect prejudices the buyer in the physical enjoyment of the property whereas the former exposes him to adverse claims.(6)

It is only a material defect in the property or in the title thereto that the seller is bound to disclose under this clause. The test of materiality is that the defect must be of such a nature that it might be reasonably supposed that if the buyer had been aware of it he might not have entered into contract at all, for he would be getting something different from what he contracted to buy (7). A prior deed of assignment by which the owner had transferred his right, title and interest in the property is a material defect in title (8). The existence of an incumbrance not known to the buyer and which he could not discover by exercise of reasonable care is a defect in title.(9) so also is the existence of a permanent lease(10) or the existence of a liability of the land being taken over by a company under a local Act.(11) the existence of a restrictive covenant attached to the property sold.(12) the existence of a non-transferable permission to build, to a buyer of agricultural land for construction purposes(13) or the existence of a public right of way over the property not discoverable with ordinary care (14). The existence of a nuisance in the neighbourhood of the property sold

4. ILR (1973) 1 Cal 462

5. AIR 1930 Cal 56. (563) 57 Cal 1189 (DB) (The section does not say anything about delivery of abstract title. The seller is to produce his title deeds for verification if so demanded)  AIR 1925 Mad 968 (969) * AIR 1925 Rang 372 (373) (DB)  AIR 1920 Pat 727 (728)  AIR 1915 Sind 21 (22) 9 Sind LR 97  (1896) 20 Bom 522 (533) (DB).

6. Halsbury, Laws of England Vol XXV, p. 297  AIR 1936 Nag 4 (6) 31 Nag LR Supp 101.

7. AIR 1955 Bom 16 (20) 59 Bom 83 (DB) (Restrictive conditions in the nature of easements imposed on property are material defects)  (1970) 30 ER 311 1 Ves Jr 221, Calcraft v Roebuck (Trifling error in description in sales by auction is not a material defect)  (1834) 4 LJ CP 66 (69) : 1 Bing NC 370, Flight v Booth

[See also (1961) 65 Cal WN 881 (898) (Material defect is one which if not disclosed at the time of auction sale, exposes the purchaser to the risk of adverse claim)]

8. (1961) 65 Cal WN 881 (891, 892), (AIR 1936 Nag 4, Foll.)

9. ILR (1966) 1 Mad 114 (118) (Simple and unsecured debts not charged on any particular item of property in partition — Not a defect in title)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 405 (406)  AIR 1957 Madh B 23 (25)  AIR 1950 EP 278 (280, 281) (DB) (Non-disclosure of a mortgage on the property by the seller is not a material defect in his title covered by S 55(1)(a) unless the buyer can show that he could not by using ordinary care discover the existence of that mortgage.)  AIR 1925 Mad 968 (969)

10. (1913) 40 Cal 140 (149) (Abstract of title must commence with a document which is root of title)

11. (1836) 150 ER 540 (544) 1 M & W 520 Tyr & Gr 851 2 Gale 61 5 LJ (NS) Ex 207 : 46 RR 387, Ballard v Way

12. (1907) 76 LJ Ch 621 (624) (1907) 2 Ch 191 (199), Pemsel v Tucker

13. AIR 1957 Madh B 23 (25)  (1903) 72 LJ KB 873 (875) (1903) 2 KB 487 (491) 89 LT 350 52 WR (Eng) 23, Molyneux v Hawtrey is a defect in the property, (15) so also is the existence of an underground culvert running through the middle of the property, where the property is sold for residential purposes (16) or the existence of an easement over the property. (17) But on the purchase of an under-lease it is not a valid objection to the title that the under-lease may be forfeited by the non-performance of the covenants in the original lease (18) Notification under S 5 of the Kerala Escheats and Forfeitures Act (1964) was issued in respect of certain property. While executing an agreement of sale in respect of that property, the executant did not disclose the existence of the notification to the vendee. Held that in view of S 55 (1)(a) the executant was bound to explain the defective nature of title (19)

14. (1922) 91 LJ Ch 567 (570) (1922) 2 Ch 199 (203) 127 LT 783, Yandle & Sons v Sutton.

Where the vendor has not disclosed that the property was subject to a claim or pending a lawsuit which would be a material defect in the property, the vendee would be entitled to rescind the contract. (20)

A notification contacting proposal to acquire a part of the disputed land for construction of road was issued prior to the vendor coming into possession of the land. He was not aware of the proposed acquisition. The vendor had agreed to sell the entire land to the vendee. From the fact that a small part of land was to go in road widening, it could not be said that the same amounted to any defect in title or material defect in property. (21)

Seller must be aware of the defect.

Where at the time of the contract the seller is himself not aware of the defect he cannot obviously disclose it and is, therefore, not bound to disclose it (22) But this is subject to a contract to the contrary, for instance, where the seller expressly undertakes to indemnify the buyer if any defect is discovered, he is liable in damages on the discovery of encumbrance even though he was not aware of it. (23)

No duty where buyer is aware of the defect.

Where the buyer is aware of the defects there is no duty on the part of the seller to inform him of such defects (24) Nor is there any such duty unless the buyer could not, with ordinary care, 15. (1849) 68 ER 170 (173) : 18 LJ Ch 329 : 13 Jur 912 : 7 Hare 410 : 82 RR 147, Lucas v James.

16. (1902) 71 LJ Ch 666 (667) : (1902) 2 Ch 258 : 87 LT 189 : 50 WR (Eng) 532. In re Puckett & Smith's Contract.

[See also (1899) 47 WR (Eng) 203 (204). In re Brewer & Hamkin's Contract (But not where land is not for residential purposes)]

17. AIR 1956 Bom 175 (179, 180) (DB) : (An easement of right of way may not be material defect in title but may be material defect in property) :  AIR 1935 Bom 16 : 19 : 23 : 59 Bom 83 (DB) :  (1901) 70 LJ Ch 822 (823) : (1901) 2 Ch 825 (828) : 85 LT 90 : 50 WR (Eng) 237, Turner v. Moon.

18. (1855) 52 ER 1192 (1193) : 22 Beav 477 :  111 RR 447 Hayford v Cuddle

19. 1996 AIHC 4081 (4088) : 1996 (1) Ker LJ 656

20. ILR (1974) Delhi 689 (701).

21. 1996 (1) Guj LH 179 (183)

22. (1849) 68 ER 170 (173) : 7 Hare 410, Lucas v. James

23. AIR 1957 Trav-Co 59 (60) (DB)

24. AIR 1957 Madh B 23 (25) :  AIR 1925 Mad 968 (969) :  (1849) 68 ER 170 (173) : 18 LJ Ch 329, Lucas v. James

[See also AIR 1942 Sind 81 (82) : ILR (1942) Kar 32 (DB) (Buyer purchasing property with open eyes and obtaining possession - Buyer subsequently suing for return of price on the ground that seller had to part of the property - Held, no fraud on the part of seller by non-disclosure under S 55(1)(a), T P Act, was established) :  (1921) 61 Ind Cas 604 discover them (25) If the buyer does not avail himself of the knowledge open to him or to his agents he cannot be heard to say that he was deceived by the Vendor's misrepresentation on the principle of caveat emptor. (26) Where a prior incumbrance is registered, the buyer can, with ordinary care, discover it, the seller is not therefore under any obligation to disclose it. (27) A contrary view has, however, been taken by the High Court of Nagpur in the undermentioned case (28) In Chaturbhuj Sangji v Mansukh Ram Motilal (29) it was held by the Bombay High Court that the buyer could not be said to be guilty of negligence in not asking for the title deeds of an adjoining property, which prima facie, he had no right whatever to ask his vendor to produce, and that it was the vendor who was bound to disclose any covenant restricting the enjoyment of the property sold, which would be apparent from an examination of such title deeds.

Effect of non-disclosure.

As has been seen in Note 1, a failure to fulfil an obligation under this clause will amount to a refusal to perform the contract for sale within the meaning of S 39 of the Contract Act and will entitle the other party to repudiate or put an end to the contract. On the discovery, therefore, of a defect in title which the seller was bound to disclose under this clause the buyer may retire from the

(604) (Lah) (Occupancy rights — Sale by tenant — Purchaser knowing that landlord had right to get sale set aside — Sale set aside — Purchaser held could not recover from vendor money paid by him.))

25. AIR 1964 Orissa 269 (271) (Defect in vendor's title — Onus of proving that non-disclosure was fraudulent lies on purchaser)  AIR 1953 Mad 628 (639) (DB) (Particular area in property sold included in Town Planning Scheme — Assuming that Scheme is a material defect in seller's title, purchaser can discover it with ordinary care)  AIR 1945 Bom 187 (192) (DB) (Per Stone C J) Where the most rudimentary investigation would have discovered the existence of arrears of taxes, this clause was held not applicable)  AIR 1936 Nag 4 (6) : 31 Nag LR Supp 101  AIR 1930 Cal 561 (563) : 57 Cal 1189 (DB)  AIR 1915 Sind 21 (22) : 9 Sind LR 97.

[See also AIR 1957 Madh B 23 (25) (Sale of land for building purposes — Land agricultural and permission of Government for building essential — Vendor having such permission but permission not transferable — These facts not disclosed to vendee — It is non-disclosure of material defect in title — Defects held such that buyer could not, with ordinary care, have discovered)  (1909) 5 LBR 125 (128) (DB) (An enquiry into title which does not extend as to the actual possession of the property for at least twelve years cannot be said to be such an enquiry which a reasonable and prudent man should make)  AIR 1944 Mad 237 (238) (A deed of conditional sale executed by A in favour of B reciting 'if we do not pay your amount within 5 years we agree to this document being treated as a sale deed' — C an alienee from B, looking into the deed and misunderstanding it as sale deed — Held, principle of caveat emptor applied and C must bear the consequences — Section 41 has no application)]

26. AIR 1968 Goa 98 (100).

27. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 144 (145) (Notwithstanding specific mention in the sale deed that there was no incumbrance)  (1905) 27 All 561 (563) (Mortgage)  AIR 1915 Sind 21 (22) : 9 Sind LR 97.

[See also AIR 1955 All 24 (27) (DB) (The usual thing when a person purchases property is to find out from the Municipal office whether there are any arrears of taxes due and further to find out from the registration office whether there are any encumbrances)  (1910) 6 Ind Cas 114 (115) (All) (DB) (Purchaser dispossessed by mortgagee under previous usufructuary mortgage — Purchaser held must be presumed to have notice of mortgage as it was registered — He could not have an agreement to return purchase money fulfilled)]

28. AIR 1938 Nag 441 (442).

29. AIR 1925 Bom 183 (184, 185) (DB).

contract and refuse to complete it (30) He may, however waive his objections to the title, in which case he must complete the contract.(31) Prima facie where an abstract of title is delivered by the seller to the buyer and the latter takes possession thereafter his conduct will amount to a waiver of objection to any defects that may appear on the abstract (32) But the mere taking of possession by itself, does not indicate any waiver of the right to a good title.(33) except where the acts done by the buyer afford evidence of an intention to waive the right (34) Where the conditions of sale in an auction disclose a weakness in the title and the buyer buys the property without reading them, he would be deemed to have waived his objections to such defects (35)

The last clause of this section enacts that an omission to make the disclosure of the nature referred to in this clause is fraudulent (36) This fraud will entitle the buyer not only to avoid the contract, where the transaction has not passed beyond the stage of contract, but to set aside the sale

30. AIR 1957 Madh B 23 (26)  AIR 1935 Bom 16 (18) 59 Bom 83 (DB) (Liability of a property to be compulsorily acquired under Land Acquisition Act not disclosed by vendor is a defect in title)  AIR 1925 Bom 85 (87) 49 Bom 515 (DB) (Non disclosure of a restrictive covenant)  AIR 1925 Lah 481 (481) 6 Lah 308 (DB)  (1830) 39 ER 114 (119, 120) 30 RR 123 Dalby v Pulion (If the seller can make out a title after the repudiation it is of no use)  (1818) 36 ER 600 (601) 19 RR 68 Banks v Lord Kokeby  (1854) 69 ER 233 (236) 23 LJ Ch 1000 Darlington v Hamilton (Sale of an under lease as lease — The covenants in the original lease not disclosed — Purchaser discovering the defects alieunde held entitled to repudiate the contract for sale)  (1884) 33 WR (Eng) Dig 237 (237) 29 Ch D 661 (671) Edix v Rogers  (1885) 52 WR (Eng) 538 (538) 25 Ch D 57 (365), Heywood v Malahieu  (1817) 170 ER 1384 (385) 13 RR 803 Jones v Edney  (1830) 48 ER 199 (200) 31 RR 112 Hoggart v Scott  (1883) 52 LJ Ch 654 (655) In re Marsh and Earl Granville. (Affirmed in (1883) 24 Ch D 11)

[See also AIR 1939 Cal 639 (641) — Existence of municipal plan affecting premises sold — Refusal of seller to apply for cancellation or variation of plan — Buyer entitled to cancel agreement — Existence of standard plan of Municipality for construction of a road which affected the premises agreed to be sold may be called an encumbrance or removable defect in title. It is the duty of the vendor to remove the defect.]

31. (1820) 37 ER 339 (341) 21 RR 36 Burne v Brown  (1830) 48 ER 199 (201) 31 RR 112 Hoggart v Scott  (1859) 8 WR (Eng) Dig 92 (92) 34 LT (OS) 43 Deller v Simonds  (1838) 160 ER 669 (671) 33 & C 19 31 RR 361 Hays v Laver  (1883) 52 LJ Ch 654 (655) 23 Ch D 320 (329) 48 LT 629 31 WR (Eng) 601 In re Glegg and Miller's Contract

32. (1847) 63 ER 1217 (1220) 1 De G & Sm 609 12 Jur 199 75 RR 216 Shackleton v Sutcliffe  (1857) 53 ER 501 (504) 24 Beav 631 116 RR 235 Bown v Stenston

33. (1847) 63 ER 1217 (1220) 1 De G & Sm 609 12 Jur 199 75 RR 216 Shackleton v Sutcliffe  (1857) 53 ER 501 (504) 24 Beav 631 116 RR 235 Bown v Stenston

33. (1819) 36 ER 815 (817) 3 Swan 159 19 RR 188 Burroughs v Oakley  (1854) 43 ER 668 (670) 4 De G M & G 665 102 RR 326 Simpson v Sadd  (1827) 38 ER 540 (544) 545) 3 Russ 171 6 LJ Ch 164 27 RR 59 Stevens v Guppy  (1825) 3 LJ (OS) Ch 100 (101), Boxhall v. Jackson.

34. (1819) 36 ER 815 (818) 3 Swan 159 19 RR 188 Burroughs v Oakley  (1838) 48 ER 970 (972) 1 Beav 337 2 Jur 1008 Haydon v Bell  (1853) 23 LJ Ch 593 (594) 2 Eq Rep 485 2 WR (Eng) 89, Sibbald v Lowrie (Purchaser held to have waived his rights to investigate title.)

[See also (1855) 4 WR (Eng) Dig 56 (56) 2 Jur (NS) 179 106 RR 925 Wallis v Woodyearl

35. (1906) 75 LJ Ch 464 (467) (1906) 2 Ch 175 95 LT 412 52 WR (Eng) 451, Blairberg v Keeves.

36. See Note 21.

itself where the contract has been completed by the execution of the conveyance.(37) Before the sale is set aside the buyer can sue for return of the purchase-money. This remedy is independent of a suit for rescission of the sale deed, which the buyer may also bring if he so chooses (38) Where the buyer has suffered loss by reason of the fraud, he will, it is conceived, be entitled to claim damages from the seller, whether the fraud is discovered before or after conveyance (39) The reason is that fraud is by itself a ground of action in tort for damages (40) Apart from this clause, where the buyer discovers only defect in title after conveyance, he can sue for damages on the implied contract referred to in paragraph 2.

Misrepresentation and misdescription :

Section 19 of the Contract Act provides that where consent to an agreement is caused by misrepresentation, the contract is voidable at the option of the person whose consent was so caused. A misdescription is only a form of misrepresentation and where, in a contract for sale, the vendor is found to have made a misrepresentation or misdescription as to a material point, the buyer can on discovery of the true facts, avoid the contract (41) On the principles stated in Note 1, the buyer can, where the sale is completed by conveyance, set aside the sale on the ground of such misrepre-

37. AIR 1963 Raj 38 (41) ILR (1962) 12 Raj 744  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 688 (689) (DB)  AIR 1942 Sind 81 (82) ILR (1942) Kar 32 (DB)  AIR 1926 Cal 385 (389-390) 52 Cal 914 (DB) (Where a purchaser discovers defects in the property before conveyance, he can either rescind the contract or successfully oppose a suit for specific performance, but if he discovers material defects after the conveyance he must make out a case of fraud in order to set aside the sale — This he can show by establishing the circumstances bringing the case within para 1(a)  (1818) 36 ER 625 (626) 14 RR 261, Edwards v Moleay  AIR 1925 Rang 372 (373) (DB)  (1818) 171 ER 692 (693) 20 RR 707, Stevens v. Adamson

[See also (1963) Ker LJ 400 (402) (DB) (Sale of immovable property in Travancore (prior to applicability of Transfer of Property Act) — Defects in vendor's title discovered after conveyance — Vendee cannot bring suit for cancellation of sale deed unless fraud is proved.)]

38. AIR 1963 Raj 38 (41) ILR (1962) 12 Raj 744 (It may be that it would be safer in some cases for the purchaser to sue for the rescission of the sale deed also but it would be going too far to lay down as an absolute rule of law that a (suit) for return of the purchase-money on breach of warranty of title would be incapable of being maintained in law without suing for the cancellation of the sale deed. Observations to the contrary in AIR 1942 Sind 81 held obiter, AIR 1933 Lah 262, Disting, AIR 1935 Rang 372 and AIR 1932 All 224 and AIR 1933 All 203 and AIR 1951 Trav-Co 236, Rel. on.)  AIR 1953 Trav-Co 236 (237) (DB) (Seller receiving consideration money on false representation that he was owner in possession of property sold — Amounts to fraudulent misrepresentation — Buyer held entitled to decree for refund of purchaser money.)

[But see AIR 1942 Sind 81 (82) : ILR (1942) Kar 32 (DB).]

39. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 688 (689) (DB)  AIR 1920 Pat 727 (728) (Non-disclosure of defect — Sale completed — Portion of property lost — Buyer entitled to damages in the form of return of purchase-money.)  (1886) 9 Mad 89 (91) (DB).

40. AIR 1932 Nag 148 (152) 28 Nag LR 184 (Obiter — Case under S. 19 of the Contract Act.)

See Broom, A Selection of Legal Maxims, 10th Edn., 1939, pp. 540, 541; Halsbury Laws of England, Vol. XXV, para 705 p. 410.

41. AIR 1957 Madh B 23 (26) (Agreement to sell agricultural land for building purposes — Omission to disclose the fact that permission granted by Government for building thereon was non transferable was held to amount to misrepresentation, entitling buyer to rescind contract and to have back his deposit.)  (1834) 41 RR 599 (604, 605) 4 LJ CP 66 Flight v Booth  (1838) 173 ER 579 (579), Robinson v Musgrove  (1853) 65 ER 231 (235) 1 WR (Eng) 502, Stanton v Tattersall  (1838) 132 ER 866 (872) 7 LJ CP 282, Dykes v

sentation. (42) A misrepresentation may be a fraudulent one or an innocent one. In the former case, as in the case of any other kind of fraud, the buyer may claim damages in tort for any loss that he may have sustained by reason of such fraud. (43) An innocent misrepresentation by a party is not a ground in law for a claim for any damages (44) unless there is a special agreement for making compensation for such error or there is a warranty of title. (45) But where the contract is sought to be enforced by specific performance (which is an equitable relief) the Court can, in decreeing specific performance, award compensation to the other party. (46) The party to whom the misrepresentation is made may also, if he thinks fit, insist that the contract shall be performed and that he should be compensated so as to be put in a position in which he would have been if the representations made had been true. (47) Where A sold to B a house the size of which was stated to be 107 square yards, but which the buyer, after the conveyance, discovered to be only 86 square yards, and sued the seller for damages, it was held by the High Court of Allahabad that unless the misrepresentation could be held to be fraudulent, the buyer had no remedy in damages. (48)

Blake  (1868) 37 LJ Ch 830 (833); 18 LT 844. Turquand v. Rhodes  (1874) 43 LJ Ch 635 (637); 30 LT 314. Cubeller v. Henry  (1902) 71 LJ Ch 666 (667); (1902) 2 Ch D 258 (264). In re Puckett and Smith's Contract  (1872) 4 LJ Ch 643; 647; 14 Eq 124. Torrence v. Bolton  (1868) 17 WR (Eng) 211; 214; 4 Ch App 10; 108; Abernethy v. Works v. Wickens  (1884) 33 WR (Eng) Dig 220; 220; 28 Ch D 7 (13). Smith v. Land and House Property Corporation  (1888) 37 WR (Eng) 2; 7 (218); 40 Ch D 601; 608; 609. In re Davies & Cavey  (1900) 69 LJ Ch 879 (883); (1900) 2 Ch 858 (868). Jacobs v. Revell  (1815) 171 ER 45 (46); 16 RR 761. Belworth v. Hassell.

42. (1909) 4 Ind Cas 389 (390); All (DB). (But where the buyer has tested the statements he cannot be said to have been deceived by them and hence will not be entitled to rescind the contract.)  (1860) 9 WR (Eng) 155; 156; 3 LT 662; 663. Turner v. West Bromwich Union Guardians  (1871) 40 LJ Ch 577 (586); LR 12 Eq 320. Haygarth v. Wearing.

[See however (1905) 74 Ch 199; 202; (1905) 1 Ch 326 (333). Seddon v. North Eastern Salt Co. Ltd. (Innocent misrepresentation does not authorise rescission after completion of contract unless it is such as to show that there is a complete difference in substance between what was supposed to be and what was taken so as to constitute a failure of consideration.)]

[But see AIR 1933 Sind 144 (145) (DB). (Purchaser has only a limited right to claim compensation if misrepresentation is fraudulent.)]

43. AIR 1957 Ker 181 (184); ILR (1957) Ker 475 (DB). (Burden is on plaintiff to establish fraud as alleged by him.)  AIR 1953 Mad 769 (773); ILR (1952) Mad 682 (DB).  AIR 1932 Nag 148 (150); 28 Nag LR 184. (Misinformation of the income or rental property is fraudulent misrepresentation.)

44. AIR 1953 Mad 769 (773); Pr 28; ILR (1952) Mad 682 (Pr 28) (DB).  (1896) 18 All 322 (324; 325) (DB). (Misdescription of property must be fraudulent in order to entitle vendee to damages.)  (1883) 52 LJ QB 609 (618); 11 QBD 255; 269. Joffe v. Baker.

45. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 278 (280). (Agreement of sale of specified extent of land. Provision for adjustment of price in case extent found to be more or less. Land found deficient. Purchaser held entitled to compensation for deficiency.)  AIR 1953 Mad 769 (773); Pr 28; ILR (1952) Mad 682 (DB).

46. (1815) 14 RR 231 (235); G. Co-op. 173. Grant v. Munt.

47. See Second paragraph S. 19 of the Indian Contract Act.  AIR 1953 Mad 769 (773); (Pr 28); ILR (1952) Mad 682 (DB). (Error in extent of property agreed to be sold. Purchaser can claim specific performance with compensation if he can bring the case within S. 14 Specific Relief Act.)  (1811) 34 ER 153 (155); 11 RR 109. Hill v. Buckley.

48. (1896) 18 All 322 (324, 325) (DB).

[See also AIR 1953 Mad 769 (773); Pr 28; ILR (1952) Mad 682 (DB). (Error in extent of property sold. Contract completed. - Fraud not established nor special agreement for

Where the quantity of land sold was stated by estimation as being "more or less" of a certain extent, and the extent is found to be less, it cannot be said that there is any misrepresentation at all and in a suit for specific performance of the contract by the seller, the buyer is not entitled to an abatement for the deficiency.(49)

Contract to the contrary.

Where, in an auction sale, the conditions of sale notified that the would-be buyer should satisfy himself as to the nature of the property sold, it was held that there was a "contract to the contrary" and that the seller was not liable to disclose under this clause, any defect in the property (50) Where the buyer agrees to accept the seller's title "without dispute"(51) or with "all defects"(52) he cannot afterwards object to it.

An indemnity clause in a sale deed to cover the losses suffered on account of the vendor's default to pay off prior incumbrances, it was held, could not come into operation so as to cover losses sustained by the vendee of property on account of deficiency in extent (53)

3. Production of document of title — Paragraph 1, clause (b).

It is a well-recognised principle that where a contract for sale is made without any special conditions or stipulations as to title, the seller is bound, at all times, and under all circumstances, to make out a "marketable title" (1) "The right to a good title," said Sir William Grant, M. R., in Ogilvie v. Foljambe, (2) "is a right not growing out of the agreement between the parties but which is given by law. The defendant insists on having a good title, not because it is stipulated for by the agreement but on the general right of the purchaser to require it". (3) An agreement in restraint of making compensation for errors or warranty regarding extent conveyed, established — Buyer has no right to claim compensation)  (1883) 52 LJ QB 609 (618) 11 QBD 255 Joliffe v. Baker]

- 49. (1812) 34 ER 146 (147) : 12 RR 238, Winch v. Winchester
- 50. (1921) 65 Ind Cas 734 (735) (DB) (Lah).
- 51. (1846) 63 ER 759 (762) : 15 LJ Ch 173, Duke v. Barnett.
- 52. (1811) 170 ER 1338 : 13 RR 778, Baglehole v. Walters.
- 53. AIR 1957 Ker 181 (186) : ILR (1957) Ker 475 (DB).

Section 55 — Note 3

1. AIR 1964 Orissa 269 (274) (Marketable title is one which could be forced on an unwilling purchaser under a contract for sale)  AIR 1956 Bom 175 (179) (DB) (The title which a party agrees to convey must be a title free from reasonable doubt. A party in whose favour an agreement of sale has been executed is entitled to have a marketable title made out for him)  AIR 1938 Bom 77 (78) (Marketable title means one which could be forced upon the unwilling purchaser under a contract for sale)  AIR 1928 Lah 154 (155) : 9 Lah 67 (DB)  AIR 1927 Sind 49 (50) 19 Sind LR 41  AIR 1920 Mad 859 (861) (DB)  (1822) 1 LJ (OS) Ch 148 (151), Hawkins v. Shewen  (1818) 36 ER 600 (601) 2 Swan 222 19 RR 68, Binks v. Lord Rokeby  (1887) 11 Bom 272 (280) (Specific Relief Act S. 25.)  (1891) 15 Bom 657 (667)  1884 All WN 169 (170) (DB)

[See also (1820) 37 ER 501 (506) 1 Jac & W 611 21 RR 255, Wilson v. Allen (The buyer is entitled to money he has spent in clearing the seller's title)  (1841) 10 LJ Ch 367 (368), Mackreth v. Dunn (Where there are joint purchasers each can have a right to a good title proved)  (1819) 56 ER 690 (690) 4 Mad 227 20 RR 293, Roffey v. Shallcross  (1824) 2 LJ (OS) Ch 113 (115) 26 RR 188, Johnes v. Claughton  (1842) 134 ER 168 (169) : 11 LJ CP 256, Hall v. Betty.]

2. (1817) 36 ER 21 (25, 26) : 3 Mer 53 : 17 RR 13.
3. See also (1866) 2 Bom HCR 406 (408). (Case before Specific Relief Act, 1877 This principle of English law, held not applicable to Hindus)  (1873) 42 LJ Ex 108 (112) LR 8 Ex 175 : 29 LT 293 : 21 WR (Eng) 685, Want v. Stallibrass.

this right must be very clear and unambiguous.(4)

In England a good or marketable title has been held to mean such a title as the Court of Chancery would adopt as a sufficient ground for compelling specific performance (5) In this country it would mean a title "free from reasonable doubt" within the meaning of cl (b) of S 17 of the Specific Relief Act, 1963 (formerly, Cl (b) of S 25 of the Specific Relief Act of 1877) (6)

A title which will expose the buyer to litigation or hazard is not such a title as is referred to in S 17 of the Specific Relief Act, 1963 (7) A title depending upon the establishment of facts and dealings of a complicated and ambiguous nature such as may reasonably be challenged with a practical chance of success is not one which could be forced on an unwilling purchaser (8) A possessory title obtained by the operation of the statute of limitation is a good title (9) In England before the Vendor and Purchaser Act, 1874, (10) it was technical rule following by conveyancers that possession proved for a period of sixty years should be regarded as unobjectionable title to a fee simple. A title for sixty years raised an inference that the vendor had a good title and the Courts

4. (1866) 2 Bom HCR 406 (408) (The case before the Specific Relief Act, 1877 — The principle of English law was not applied to Hindus)

5. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 144 (145)  (1851) 155 ER 800 (803) 6 Ex 873 Jeakes v White "As would be a good answer to an ejectment)

(See also AIR 1968 Mad 161 (164) 1LR (1966) 2 Mad 385 (DB) (Sale by trustee of trust property — Beneficiary seeking to avoid sale on the ground that it is in breach of trust and vitiated by fraud — Trustee having power of sale under the device — Price for better properties found to be reasonable, fair and proportionate to the value of those properties — Held, sale will not be set aside and purchaser also cannot ask for rescission on the ground of misapplication of moneys already paid,  1852 68 ER 813 (816) 10 Hare 1, 90 RR 243 Pyrke v Waddingham (A doubtful title which a purchaser will not be compelled to accept, is not only a title upon which the Court entertains doubts, but includes title which, although the Court has a favourable opinion of it, yet may reasonably and fairly be questioned in the opinion of other competent persons)]

6. AIR 1966 Cal 605 (611) (Good title is title good against everybody. Marketable title is title free from reasonable doubt. Seller's liability is limited to the title which he has professed to transfer)  AIR 1964 Orissa 269 (273) (Vendor not in position to give title free from reasonable doubt at time mentioned in agreement for completion of contract — Vendee is entitled to repudiate contract)  AIR 1961 Raj 196 (201) 1LR (1960) 10 Raj 1153 (A marketable title is a title which a vendor would be in a position to force on an unwilling purchaser)  AIR 1956 Bom 175 (179) (DB)  AIR 1935 Bom 16 (80) 59 Bom 83 (DB)  AIR 128 Oudh 475 (477) (DB)  AIR 1923 Bom 148 (150, 152, 154) 47 Bom 369 (DB)  (1891) 15 Bom 657 (667)

7. AIR 1922 Sind 33 (36) 15 Sind LR 180  (1887) 14 Cal 518 (526) (Title depending upon the construction of an ill expressed document is one open to litigation)

(See also AIR 1961 Raj 196 (202) 1LR (1960) 10 Raj 1153 (A marketable title is a title which reasonably and strictly speaking a vendor would be in position to force on an unwilling purchaser, under all circumstances.))

8. (1902) 71 LJ Ch 850 (858) (1902) 2 Ch 296 (313, 314) In re Douglas and Powell's Contract

(See also AIR 1940 Mad 739 (743) (DB) (Where the vendor's title depends not on question of law but on a proof of disputed fact, he is bound to prove that fact and unless he does it, he cannot be said to have made out good title)  (1858) 141 ER 224 (231) 28 LJ CP 129, Symmons v Heseltine.)]

9. AIR 1961 Raj 196 (203) 1LR (1960) 10 Raj 1153  (1912) 81 LJ Ch 588 (591) (112) 2 Ch 1 (9). In re Atkison and Horsell's Contract.

10. (1874) 37 & 38 Vict., Ch 78.

acted upon it if the vendor could produce no better title, though the rule did not make the title positively a good title (11) The Vendor and Purchaser Act, 1874, reduced the period to forty years except in certain cases. The period was further reduced to thirty years by S. 44 of the Law of Property Act, 1925. (12)

A buyer cannot be compelled to accept a doubtful title (13) The failure to make out a marketable title will entitle the buyer to put an end to the contract. (14) The seller cannot enforce specific performance of the contract (15) unless the buyer has waived the defect in title. (16) The same prin-

11. (1857) 62 ER 66 (71) : 4 Drew 170 Parr v. Lovegrove.

[See also (1809) 127 ER 901 (901) : 10 RR 560, Barnwell v. Harris.]

12. 15 Geo V, Ch 20

[See also AIR 1924 Bom 357 (357) ILR 48 Bom 368 (Practice of Bombay solicitors was to accept recitals in deeds of over twenty years old in the same way as was done in England under Vendor and Purchaser Act, 1874.)]

13. AIR 1960 Punj 275 (277) ILR (1959) Punj 1463 (DB)  AIR 1952 Madh B 145 (145)  (1755) 28 ER 433 (433) 2 Ves Sen 679, Michel v. Neal  (1879) 48 LJ Ch 837 (842) 12 Ch D 131 (148), Broad v. Munton.

[See also (1855) 24 LJ Ch 246 (248) 3 WR (Eng) 231, McCulloch v. Gregory]

14. AIR 1916 PC 5 (6) : 44 Ind App 30 : 41 Bom 300 (PC) (Held, that agreement as to title had not been complied with and purchaser was entitled to refund of deposit with interest thereon)  1976 MPLJ 518 (523) 1976 Hindu LR 751 (Where the buyer felt that the vendor had no marketable title the only remedy available to him was to take back earnest money)  AIR 1960 Punj 275 (277) ILR (1959) Punj 1463 (DB) (Buyer will be justified in declining to carry through the transaction of sale and to accept delivery)  AIR 1952 Madh B 145 (145)  AIR 1928 Lah 154 (156) 9 Lah 67 (DB)  AIR 1927 Bom 195 (202) 51 Bom 247 (D)  AIR 1925 Sind 220 (220, 221) (DB) (Where in view of the doubtful character of the title of the property if the purchaser had completed the purchase he would have been required to bring a law suit and would not have obtained possession of the land without further litigation held that he was justified in not completing the purchase)  (1834) 110 ER 1058 (1062) 5 B & Ad 992, Souter v. Drake  (1854) 139 ER 253 (257) 98 RR 785, Wilson v. Wilson  (1858) 140 ER 986 (1001) 27 LJ CP 210, Poppleton v. Buchanan  (1827) 38 ER 705 (706) 4 Russ 5 Bryant v. Beek.

[See also (1890) 59 LJ Ch 604 (607) 45 Ch D 310 (316), In re Head's Trustees & MacDonald (Title different from that originally contracted)  (1879) 48 LJ Ch 239 (241) 10 Ch D 736 (742) Weston v. Savage (Contract by S to sell the residue of his lease for twelve years to W — Lessor having right of option to determine the lease at the end of five years — W was not bound to accept what was offered)]

15. AIR 1964 Orissa 269 (274)  (1828) 38 ER 540 (544, 545) 6 LJ Ch 164 Stevens v. Guppy  (1825) 3 LJ (OS) Ch 100 (101), Boxhall v. Jackson  (1834) 40 ER 97 (97, 98) : 3 My & K 255 : 41 RR 65, Lesturgeon v. Martin.

16. (1828) 38 ER 540 (544, 545) 6 LJ Ch 164 27 RR 59, Stevens v. Guppy (Purchaser of a share in co-partnership business by taking possession and acting as co-partner does not waive his right to marketable title, when the contract states that a good title shall be made by a stipulated future date)  (1825) 3 LJ (OS) Ch 100 (101), Boxhall v. Jackson  (1834) 40 ER 97 (98) 41 RR 65, Lesturgeon v. Martin  (1917) 86 LJ Ch 368 (370) (1917) 1 Ch D 414 (419), Alderdaile Estate Co. v. McGrory (Purchaser taking with notice of the defect — Duty to make good title does not exist to the extent to which the purchaser has knowledge)  (1867) 15 WR (Eng) 860 (861), Henderson v. Hudson (Purchaser with knowledge of misdescription — He cannot object on the ground that vendor did not make a good title)

ciple will apply where there is an express contract to make out a marketable title and the vendor fails to make it out (17) Where a prior conveyance was discovered by the buyer after the contract for sale it was held that he was entitled to rescind the contract even if it appeared that such prior conveyance was a voluntary conveyance in fraud of creditors (18) A seller who had no title at the date of the contract but who makes a good title at the date on which the conveyance is to be completed must be held to have a good title and the buyer cannot refuse to complete it on the ground that there was no title at the date of the contract.(19)

The obligations imposed by this clause and the next are particular applications of the general duty discussed above, of the seller to make out a good title While this clause enacts that the seller must produce to the buyer on his request all documents of title relating to the property which are in the seller's possession or power, the next clause requires him to answer all relevant questions put to him by the buyer in respect of the property or the title thereto

This clause is silent as to the place of production of the title deeds The seller is not bound to produce to the buyer the documents at the residence of the buyer or at the office of his advocates.(20)

The duty of the seller to produce documents of title under this clause arises only "on the request" of the buyer and not if there is no such request (21)

Where the vendor informs the buyer that all documents relating to title are ready for inspection, but the buyer does not care to inspect and his version about the same is not convincing, it cannot be said that he is ready and willing to perform his part of contract (22) Further, the seller is bound to produce only such documents which are in his possession or power and not the documents which are not in his possession or power.(23) though, if he has expressly agreed to produce the title deed such agreement will be a contract to the contrary and he cannot escape liability by relying upon this clause (24) Where in a contract for sale of a house, the seller undertook to produce all

17. AIR 1925 Bom 69 (79) : 49 Bom 245 (DB)  AIR 1925 Bom 64 (65, 68) (DB)  AIR 1924 Bom 282 (288) (DB)  AIR 1924 Bom 252, 257)  (1882) 31 WR (Eng) Dig 2-0 (210) : 9 QBD 616 (620) : 47 LI 491, Cato v. Thompson (Knowledge of the purchaser of the restrictive covenants in title will not modify the terms of such express contract)  (1912) 14 Ind Cas 811 (Low bur).

18. (1872) 21 WR (Eng) 73 (74) : LR 7 Ex 313, Clarke v. Willott

19. (1884) 54 LJ Ch 517 (521) : 33 WR (Eng) 64 Games v. Bonnor (Subsequent possessory title under statute of limitation is a good marketable title)  (1890) 59 LJ Ch 636 (637) : 44 Ch D 218. In re Bryant & Barningham's Contract.

See also Halsbury, Laws of England, Vol. XXV, page 342.

20. AIR 1953 Punj 231 (232) (DB)

21. AIR 1965 Cal 45 (47) (Pr 9) (DB) (Clause in agreement for sale stipulating 'seller shall forthwith deliver' title deeds — Construction of — 'Forthwith' means with all reasonable despatch, on request being made — Word 'shall' in conjunction with word 'forthwith' in regard to obligation to deliver title deeds does not militate against a request in regard thereto on part of purchaser and does not amount to a contract to contrary within meaning of S 55(1)(b))  AIR 1953 Punj 231 (233) (DB) (Sale to be completed by 23-5-1947 — Agreement reciting that seller was absolute owner without any defect in title — No request for examination of documents till 16-5-1947 — Buyer held must be taken to have accepted the title before he made the request)  AIR 1917 Low Bur 166 (167) (DB)

22. 1996 (2) Mad LW 135 (138).

23. (1864) 68 Cal WN 611 (639, 640) (Clause (1)(b) does not apply where the question is not of production but of possession of title deeds after completion of transaction)

24. AIR 1943 Mad 593 (596, 597) (Some of the documents of title may not be with the seller and they may be in the possession of a mortgagee or a trustee or some other person from the documents relating to the house," it was held that the seller did not undertake to produce all the documents necessary for making out the complete chain of title. The seller meant to do no more than what this clause says that a seller must do. (25) For instance, the buyer cannot insist on the seller taking out a probate of a Will (26) However, where the seller agreed to sell property but intimated to the purchaser his inability, in spite of best efforts, to obtain "No objection certificate" and "income-tax clearance" and also title deeds from the Bank with which it was mortgaged, the same would not result in frustration of the agreement to sell. The conditions to be fulfilled were not impossible of performance. (27) Where the buyer is not satisfied with the title on the documents which are produced and which alone the seller is bound to produce, and insists on the seller producing documents which are not in his possession or power and which he did not undertake to produce by the terms of the contract for transfer, the seller is entitled to rescind the contract. (28) Where, however, there is a partition between the co-owners of land and the title deeds remain in possession of the owner of the part, the owners of the rest of the land have an equitable right, independent of any covenant or statutory acknowledgment, to enforce production of the title deeds in order to effect the sale of their lands. The purchasers of such lands have, therefore, a right to enforce production of the title deeds for inspection. (29)

Where a contract of sale mentions a sum to be paid as damages in case of its breach and the buyer refuses to carry out the contract after the seller has made out a marketable title the seller is entitled to claim from the buyer reasonable compensation under section 74 of the Contract Act, even without showing that he has actually suffered any loss (30)

4. Answering relevant questions — Paragraph 1, Clause (c).

In England, the usual practice, in an open contract of sale, i.e., a contract in which nothing is said about the method in which the seller is to prove his title but which merely fixes the price for the land contracted to be sold, is for the seller to deliver to the buyer an abstract of title which gives a summary of the effect of all the documents by which any dispositions of the property have been made during the period for which title has to be shown, and of all facts affecting the devolution of the title during the same period. On receipt of the abstract the buyer examines it with the original document, and if he considers it necessary makes requisitions and inquiries which are to be answered by the seller. Usually the conditions of sale will fix a time within which such requisitions or inquiries should be made, after the expiry of which the buyer would be deemed to have accepted the title. If there is no stipulation as to time, the buyer must make his objections within a reasonable time after the delivery of the abstract. In the event of unreasonable delay the seller can, by notice, limit a reasonable time for sending in objections and, upon the buyer's default, rescind the contract, or the purchaser will be assumed to have accepted the title (1) whom they could be procured for the inspection of the buyer — Such documents may be held to be in the power though not in the possession of the seller — But this clause does not throw upon the seller the burden of putting himself to the expense of procuring deed not in his possession or power unless there is a contract to the contrary)  AIR 1914 Cal 137 (139) : 41 Cal 852 (DB)

25. AIR 1943 Mad 593 (597).

26. AIR 1943 Mad 593 (597).

27. AIR 1999 Delhi 383 (388) : 1999 (81) DLT 228

28. AIR 1966 Cal 605 (610, 611)  AIR 1943 Md 593 (597).

29. (1964) 68 Cal WN 611 (641).

30. AIR 1929 Mad 783 (784)

Section 55 — Note 4

1. Halsbury Laws of England Vol XXV pp 342, 355 323, 324 foot note  (1852) 51 ER 770 (772) 1 WR (Eng) 43, Pegg v Wisden (Abstract retained for five months without an objection — Buyer must be deemed to have accepted the title.)

This practice does not obtain in this country. The seller has merely to produce under para. 1, Cl. (b) at the request of the buyer, all his documents of title for the buyer's examination and is bound to answer, under para. 1, Cl. (c), to the best of his information all relevant questions put to him by the buyer in respect of the property or the title thereto. If he gives an answer which he knows to be false he would be guilty of a breach of duty and misrepresentation (2).

Where a requisition is made by the buyer, the seller must have a reasonable time to comply with it, the buyer cannot put an end to the contract before such time (3). The requisition must be specific. A general inquiry such as, whether to the knowledge of the seller, there are any incumbrances affecting the property need not be answered by the seller (4). The seller must answer the requisitions made to the best of his information and then it would be open to the buyer to say whether he would accept the title as made out. (5)

An information regarding the income or the rental of the property to be sold is a relevant question within the meaning of this clause. (6)

But answering requisitions made by the buyer under this clause will not absolve the seller from his duty under Cl. (a) of this para, to disclose to the buyer any material defect in the property of which he is aware and of which the buyer is not aware (7).

Contract to the contrary.

Even where the seller has, under the contract, an express power of rescission, if requisitions are made, which he is unwilling to comply with, it has been held that the power does not enable him to override reasonable requisitions. (8)

5. Payment of price and execution of conveyance — Paragraph 1, clause (d).

This clause provides that on payment or tender of the price and the tender of a proper conveyance by the buyer, the seller must execute the conveyance at a proper time and place. It is the duty of the buyer not only in the first instance to pay or tender the price, but also to prepare a conveyance and tender it to the seller for execution (1). This, however, does not mean that the buyer is under an

[See also AIR 1953 Punj 231 (232) (DB) (Agreement for sale made on 24.1.1947 providing for completion of sale on or before 23.5.1947 — No request made by buyer to seller for examination of deeds of title till 16.5.1947 — Buyer held must be taken to have accepted title of seller before he made request — (1852) 51 ER 770, Pegg v Wisden, Rel on.)]

2. AIR 1932 Nag 148 (149) : 28 Nag LR 184 (A false information volunteered by the vendor about income or rental of property amounts to misrepresentation.)
3. (1865) 55 ER 680 (681) : 145 RR 561 Micholls v. Corbett
4. (1901) 70 LJ Ch 477 (486) : (1901) 2 Ch 231 (258) Taylor v. London & Country Banking Co. (In re Ford & Hill), (1879) 48 LJ Ch 327, Followed)
5. (1861) 54 ER 566 (567) : 30 LJ Ch 470, Turpin v. Chambers.

[See also ILR (1955) Nag 236 (246-247) (Where there was no repudiation of the contract by the purchaser, the entire consideration was already received by the seller and the only thing remained was for the seller to execute the sale deed in favour of the purchaser, the mere fact that the purchaser questioned the seller about the marketable title would not lead to an inference that he was not ready or he was unwilling to perform his part of the contract.)]

6. AIR 1932 Nag 148 (149) : 28 Nag LR 184

7. AIR 1956 Bom 175 (178) (DB).

8. AIR 1927 Bom 195 (201) : 51 Bom 247 (DB)

Section 55 — Note 5

1. AIR 1919 PC 124 (125)  1997 (2) Cal LT 321 (326)  AIR 1983 Andh Pra 49 (53) (1983) 1 Andh WR 17 (DB) (In a compromise decree, the plaintiff was directed to pay obligation to the seller to tender a conveyance and that if he does not do it, the seller can compel him to do so. It really means that the seller himself need not do anything at all as regards the tender of the conveyance and if the buyer has not tendered the conveyance, he has no right to complain that the seller has not executed one.(2)

In considering what is a proper time, the general rule to be remembered is that in a contract for sale of land, time is not regarded as being of the essence of the contract,(3) if there is nothing in the express stipulations between the parties, the nature of the property, or the surrounding circumstances which would make it inequitable to apply the rule.(4)

But though time is not the essence of the contract the tender of the price and of the proper certain money to the defendants as balance of sale consideration within a certain period, failing which interest on delayed payment was to be paid. But this was never made good by the plaintiff despite the compromise decree although sale deed had been executed. The seller had, therefore, first charge on the property that was passed on to the buyer. It could be enforced by bringing the property to sale without a further suit under O 34 R 14.  AIR 1983 Orissa 107 (113) (1983) 55 Cal LT 77 (DB) (Failure to send such a notice to vendor shows that the vendee is not ready and willing to perform his part of contract in spite of the fact that he has paid full consideration)  AIR 1928 Bom 328 (330) (DB)  AIR 1927 Oudh 159 (160) (DB) (Payment or tender into Court is sufficient payment or tender for the purpose of this section)  AIR 1923 Nag 37 (39) (When a purchaser is in actual possession or receipt of the rents and profits he must pay interest upon his purchase-money (unless lying idle with notice of the fact to the vendor) from the time fixed or completion of the transaction)  AIR 1920 Mad 423 (424) (DB)  (1843) 114 ER 957 (960) 4 QB 422 (428) 12 LJ QB 120 62 RR 395, Stephens v De Medina

[See (1907-1908) 4 Low Bur Rul 86 (87).]

[See also AIR 1948 PC 192 (194) (Pr 7). (Contract for sale of land — Duty of taking all steps for effecting transfer in his favour resting on vendee — Subsequent enactment requiring a permit for transfer — Held it was for vendee to obtain it.)]

[See however AIR 1927 Nag 168 (169) (Where the agreement to sell immovable property makes the money payable "before the Sub-Registrar" it is the duty of the seller to seek out the purchaser with a proper sale deed.)]

2. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 57 (58) (DB) (It cannot be said that if a seller himself prepares a conveyance, he is doing something which the buyer is under law bound to do.)
3. AIR 1964 Orissa 269 (272) (Onus is on plaintiff to prove that time was essence of the contract — in commercial contracts, however, time factor goes to root of matter and is of essence of the contract)  AIR 1959 Madh Pra 42 (43)  AIR 1958 Madh Pra 295 (297) ILR (1957) Madh Pra 330 (DB)  AIR 1953 Orissa 105 (107) (DB)  AIR 1925 Mad 211 (212)  AIR 1920 Cal 651 (653) (DB)  AIR 1919 Sind 68 (69) 12 Sind LR 144 (DB)  AIR 1915 Mad 546 (547) (DB)

[See also (1877) 46 LJQB 537 (540) 36 LT 738 25 WR (Eng) 790 2 CPD 342, Patrick v. Milner.]

4. AIR 1948 PC 192 (194) (Pr 7). (Contract for sale requiring it to be completed within fixed period — Time becomes essence of contract — Vendee cannot ask for reasonable time beyond the fixed period to enable him to do what he has to do under the contract)  AIR 1964 Orissa 269 (272) (Vendor not in a position to give title free from reasonable doubt at time mentioned in agreement for completion of contract — Fact goes to root of matter and entitles vendee to repudiate contract on basis independent from time being essence of contract)  ILR (1949) 2 Cal 530 (535) (Time expressly made essence of contract. Default by vendee — Vendor can treat contract as broken)  AIR 1953 Orissa 105 (107) (DB)  AIR 1927 Sind 49 (50) 19 Sind LR 41  AIR 1921 Mad 141 (141) (DB)  AIR 1919 Sind 68 (69) 12 Sind LR 144 (DB) (Affirming)  AIR 1915 Mad 546 (547) (DB) (Sale arranged in order to meet expenses of marriage taking place on a certain date — Time is the essence of contract)  (1915) 84 LJ Ch 259 (268, 270) (1915) App Cas 386 (401), Stickney v Keeble  (1853) 43 ER 112 (114, 115) 98 RR 139, Roberts v Berry conveyance must be made within a reasonable time having regard to the facts of the particular case.(5) Where there is unreasonable delay in the completion of the contract either party can make time the essence of the contract by giving notice to the other limiting the time for performance at the expiration of which he will treat the contract as broken (6) Such limitation of time also must be reasonable.(7)

Where the buyer does not tender the price or the conveyance as required by this section he must be deemed to have refused to perform his part of the contract and this would entitle the seller to put an end to the contract under S. 39 of the Contract Act (8) But where the seller refuses to execute a proper document it is not necessary for the buyer to go through the useless form of tendering a conveyance to the seller for execution before he can enforce his contract against the seller by specific performance.(9)

If the seller insists on the purchaser to execute a meaningless indemnity bond which in law he cannot do and makes that a condition for executing the sale deed which he is bound to execute the mere fact that he does so by way of abundant caution cannot justify his action in law or save him from the consequences of such unreasonable conduct (10)

Where the buyer has performed his part of the contract it is the duty of the seller to execute the conveyance (11) This duty is not discharged by the execution of a document which is not

[See also AIR 1958 Punj 289 (293) ILR (1958) Punj 166 (DB) (Time essence of contract — Vendor not perfecting title by date when contract had to be completed — Vendee failing to pay consideration on that date — No breach of contract on part of vendor)  AIR 1958 Bom 658 (672) (On the facts time was held to be essence of the contract)  AIR 1933 Mad 736 (742-743) (DB) (Time was not the essence of contract — The bargain was made so afterwards)]

5. AIR 1929 PC 195 (200)  AIR 1964 Punj 123 (126) ILR (1964) Punj 43 (Stipulation in sale deed that balance of consideration would be paid — It is not possible but when vendee would be in position to make payment — True import held was that balance would be payable within reasonable time)  AIR 1958 Punj 111 (115) ILR (1958) Punj 294 (DB) (Reasonable time will all the same be of the essence of the contract)

[See AIR 1925 PC 124 (126)  AIR 1927 Sind 49 (50) 19 Sind LR 41]

[See also 1963 All 49 (51) (Ordinarily payment of sale consideration must be simultaneous with execution of deed but the rule is subject to contract to the contrary or to order of Court in decree.)]

6. AIR 1964 Orissa 269 (272) (Time essence of contract — No performance within fixed period — Held, S. 55 Contract Act applied)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 178 (181) (DB)  AIR 1958 Punj 111 (115) ILR (1958) Punj 294  AIR 1953 Orissa 105 (107) (DB)  AIR 1928 Lah 154 (155-156) 9 Lah 67 (DB)  AIR 1924 Bom 352 (358) ILR 48 Bom 368  AIR 1920 Cal 651 (654) (DB)  (1843) 49 ER 777 (773) 6 Beav 124 King v Wilson  (1870) 39 LJ Ch 606 (608) 10 LR Eq 281 Webb v Hughes (Should not terminate abruptly but should give other party reasonable time to complete contract)  1888 Bom PJ 75 (DB)  (1915) 84 LJ Ch 259 (268-270) 69 St App Cas 386 112 LT 664 Stickney v Keeble  (1892) 61 LJ Ch 113 (115) 1892 1 Ch 313 (321) 65 LT 706 Compton v Bagley  (1853) 43 ER 112 (114-115) 22 LJ Ch 398 Roberts v Berry
7. AIR 1920 Cal 651 (654) (DB)  (1870) 39 LJ Ch 606 (608) 10 LR Eq 281 Webb v Hughes  (1892) 61 LJ Ch 113 (115) 1892 1 Ch 313 (321) Compton v Bagley
8. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 178 (181) (DB)
9. AIR 1921 Low Bur 16 (18) 11 Law Bur Rul 94 (DB)  (1867) 4 Bom HCR (OC) 125 (128) (DB).
10. AIR 1954 Mys 145 (146) : ILR (1954) Mys 274 (DB)
11. AIR 1916 Low Bur 104 (104) (Vendor is bound to do everything necessary to complete the title of the vendee including registration of conveyance)  AIR 1916 1 B 73 (73) (Ex operative to effect a legal transfer (12) Thus, the offer of an unregistered document is not a discharge of the obligation. The buyer may refuse to receive it without its being registered. (13) Where, however, the seller has executed the conveyance tendered by the buyer and handed it over to him, and the buyer has received it, the seller is not under any further obligation to get it registered. The buyer can himself present the document for registration and get it registered. (14) Where he has allowed the time for registration to elapse it was held by the High Court of Madras that he was not entitled to ask the seller to execute another conveyance (15) As to whether the buyer could sue for the specific performance of agreement implied in the bargain, see also Note 18 under S. 77 of the AIR Commentary on the Registration Act and the undermentioned cases. (16)

When parties enter into an agreement for sale on certain representation made by the vendor as to his title, the conveyance that follows must be in conformity with the terms of the agreement. Thus where the agreement shows that the vendor was a full and absolute owner of the property which he professes to transfer, the disputes raised by the vendor later on would not deprive the agreement of its validity and if the agreement stands, the conveyance must be in conformity with its terms. (17)

Where the buyer has paid the price but the conveyance has not been executed for some reason, such as the default of the seller or the contract becoming unenforceable or for some other reasons, the buyer can recover the purchase money paid by him, (18) with interest from the date of the demand of the purchase money. (19) vendor must do all things necessary to complete the vendee's title and registration if it is compulsory)  AIR 1925 Rang 382 (383) (DB). (Where a purchaser has entered into possession of land and paid the purchase price the vendor is bound to convey on demand to the purchaser under S. 55(1)(d))  AIR 1921 Low Bur 16 (17) 11 Low Bur Rul 94 (DB)  (1911) 12 Ind Cas 78 (79) (DB) (Mad)  AIR 1927 Rang 234 (235)

Note :— This was also the law even before the Act. See (1873) 20 Suth WR 481 (481) (DB).

12. AIR 1921 Low Bur 16 (17, 18) : 11 Low Bur Rul 94 (DB).

13. AIR 1928 Mad 344 (345) (Purchaser accepting unregistered document — Vendor relieved from tendering registered document.)

14. AIR 1920 Mad 660 (661) (DB)  AIR 1916 Mad 14 (16) (DB)

[See also (1911) 2 MWN 241 (242) 12 Ind Cas 310 (DB) (Vendee, after sale of land and obtaining possession, executing mortgage in favour of vendor, for the sale price — Sale deed not registered owing to default of vendee — Suit by vendor mortgagee to enforce mortgage maintainable — Non-registration of sale deed no bar to suit)]

15. AIR 1928 Mad 344 (345)  AIR 1920 Mad 660 (661) (DB). (The completed conveyance cannot be treated as agreement and thus form basis for suit for specific performance.)

16. AIR 1977 SC 1226 (1228) : 1977 UJ (SC) 201. (S A No 179 of 1975 D/- 13-8-1975 (All) Reversed; 1972 All LJ 549. Overruled.)  1978 All LJ 733 (Where land agreed to be sold is allotted to some other person during the consolidation of holdings operations and other land is given to the vendor specific performance of the contract cannot be decreed.)  AIR 1953 Hyd 225 (226, 227) ILR (1953) Hyd 259 (DB) (Held that plaintiff was bound to take recourse to remedy under Registration Act before suing for specific performance)  AIR 1919 Cal 477 (478) (DB) (Vendee could sue for specific performance of agreement to sell which remained unperformed till the document was registered)

17. AIR 1938 Nag 411 (412).

18. AIR 1934 Cal 699 (702) (Vendor failing to perform his part of contract — The surety for vendee not liable to pay any sum under guarantee)  (1903) 25 All 618 (624, 625) (DB) (11 All 47 Relied on)  (1867) 4 Bom HCR (OC) 125 (129) (DB) (Money deposited with auctioneer as stake-holder — Action to recover lay against auctioneer and not against vendor.)

19. (1875) 24 Suth WR 457 (458) (DB) (Interest awarded from date of suit)

In England a buyer can always demand that the conveyance should be executed either in his favour, or in favour of any person he may nominate (20). This clause merely enacts that the seller shall execute a proper conveyance—it does not say that it should necessarily be in favour of the buyer. It has been held by the High Court of Bombay (21) that the rule of English law would apply here also and that the buyer can under this clause, call upon the seller to execute a conveyance in favour of his nominee. This view has been followed by the Mysore High Court (22). If vendor does not agree to execute a sale deed in favour of the vendee/his nominee the vendor will be liable for breach of contract (23). It is also the rule in England that the buyer may require the seller to convey the property in parcels on receipt of the whole purchase money and the additional cost of the several conveyances, provided they are executed at the same time and not at various times (24).

6. Duty to preserve property and documents of title — Paragraph 1, clause (e).

As has been seen in Note 23 on S. 54, a contract for sale in England makes the buyer of the property purchased an owner in equity. As a consequence of this the seller in possession of the property after the contract for sale is regarded as a trustee for the buyer and is bound, as such, to take as much care of the property and of the documents of the title relating thereto, as a prudent man would take of his own property. In Shaw v. Foster (1) Lord Cairns said:

I apprehend there cannot be the slightest doubt of the relation subsisting in the eye of a Court of equity between the vendor and the purchaser. The vendor was the trustee of the property for the purchaser. He was a trustee having a personal and substantive interest in the property, a right to protect that interest, and equally a right to assert that interest if anything were done in derogation of it.” (2)

The above passage deals with the right of the vendor to protect the property. The vendor has a duty to protect the property on the same principle. In Clarke v. Ramuz (3) Lord Coleridge, C. J. observed as follows:

“The foundation upon which the plaintiff’s claim in the action is rested comes to this, that upon a contract for the purchase and sale of land, though at law the property in the land does not pass until the execution of the conveyance, still between the time of the contract and the execution of the conveyance, the vendor is in the position of a trustee for the purchaser—not exactly in the same position as a trustee in the ordinary sense, but that he is subject to certain of the duties of a trustee, one of these being to use reasonable care to preserve the property as far as may be in the same State as when the contract was entered into.”

In those parts of this country to which S. 54 applies, the principle that a contract for sale conveys an equitable interest to the buyer is not recognised as is shown by the paragraph in S. 54, which enacts that a contract for sale of immovable property does not of itself create any interest in or charge on the property sold. Consequently, the rule that after a contract for sale the seller is a

20. (1877) 46 LJ Ch 356 (358) : 6 Ch D 469 (474) Egmont (Earl) v. Smith

21. AIR 1935 Bom 340 (341, 343) : 59 Bom 582 (DB)

22. AIR 1954 Mys 145 (147) : ILR (1954) Mys 274 (DB)

23. AIR 1972 Mad 36 (37, 38) : (1971) 2 MLJ 481

24. (1877) 46 LJ Ch 356 (358) : 6 Ch D 469, Egmont (Earl) v. Smith

Section 55 — Note 6

1. (1873) 42 LJ Ch 49 (56) : LR 5 HL 321.

2. See also the following cases :

(1929) 91 LJ Ch 228 (230) : (1922) 1 Ch 162 (163) Golden Bread Co. v. Hemmings **
(1872) 21 WR (Eng) 179 (180) : 8 Ch 173 (177) Phillips v. Silvester

3. (1891) 60 LJ QB 679 (681) : (1891) 2 QB 456 (459, 460).

[See also (1887) 56 LJ Ch 840 (843, 844) : 35 Ch D 390 (397) Royal Bristol Permanent Building Society v. Bomash (Phillips v. Silvester, (1872) 8 Ch 173 followed)] trustee for the buyer would not be applicable. This clause must, therefore, be interpreted as applying to a stage after the ownership has passed to the buyer and before the delivery of the property to the buyer (4). The words used, namely, "between the date of the contract of sale and the delivery of property" would also seem to make this clear. Further the previous clause deals with the duty of the seller to execute the conveyance and this clause coming after it is obviously meant to refer to the seller's duty after the conveyance and before the delivery of property. This clause is, however, referred to sometimes as having reference to a stage between the contract for sale and the delivery of property on the analogy of English decisions (5). It is submitted that this view is not correct.

A loss or destruction of title deeds will be a damage done to the property (6).

7. Duty to give possession — Paragraph 1, clause (f).

This clause imposes an obligation on the seller to deliver to the buyer, such possession of the property, as its nature admits (1). The right to obtain possession or delivery of a tangible immovable property, in respect whereof a contract has been entered by the parties for sale, springs from the contract itself, is the contract contains a term to that effect, and if not, in the absence of contract to the contrary, by reason of the statutory right conferred by S. 55(1) (2). Once the sale is complete the vendor is bound to deliver possession of the property even though the sale price was not paid at the time of registration as per terms (3). The right to possession, under this clause, arises in cases where a conveyance is necessary only on the execution of the conveyance, for a contract for sale does not of itself create any interest in or charge on the property sold. In a suit for specific performance of the contract for sale, the law allows the plaintiff, for the sake of convenience and in order to avoid multiplicity of suits, to make a claim for possession also (4). But it is not obligatory on the plaintiff

4. L. G. Mukerji, Law of Transfer of Property, 2nd Edition, 1931, p. 105. S. 84 and p. 112 S. 91.  AIR 1977 Mad 411. (If the property has deteriorated as a result of natural causes the seller cannot be made liable, and the Judgment Debtor seller was under no liability to maintain a house in a good state of repairs till possession was taken by the Decree Holder.)  ILR (1975) AP 433 (DB). (Violation of provisions of section does not afford a ground to refuse grant of specific performance under Section 20 of Specific Relief Act.)  AIR 1957 Andh pra 960 (961).
5. Shephard and Brown, Commentaries on Transfer of Property Act, 7th Edn. 1910, p. 200.  1956 Ker LT 648 (651) (DB). (Agreement to sell lease-hold interest in verumpattam holding by A in favour of B. A is in the position of trustee for B and could only do what a prudent owner could do and could not impose onerous terms so as to bind B. — A subsequently executing renewal with enhanced rent in favour of landlord. Renewal held not binding on B.)  AIR 1950 Cal 333 (335, 336). (The vendor is in the position of a trustee for the purchaser during the period between the contract for sale and the delivery of property, and his duty as such trustee is to protect the property from injury by trespassers.)
6. 1956 Madh Bha LJ 456 (461) (DB).  (1853) 68 ER 1182 (1184). 22 LJ Ch 1063. Brown v. Sewell.

Section 55 — Note 7

1. AIR 1960 Punj 51 (53). (The words 'such possession of the property as its nature admits' refer to an incident which is inherent in the property.)  AIR 1956 Andhra Pra 113 (114) (Para 5).  AIR 1950 Cal 333 (336). (The words 'its nature' in the section mean an incident which is inherent in the property which could be called as its nature.)  AIR 1924 Mad 360 (362). 47 Mad 150 (DB).  (1909) 4 Ind Cas 63 (64) (DB) (Cal) (Obiter).
2. 1997 (2) Cal LJ 321 (356).
3. (1980) 1 Andh WR 105; (1980) 1 Ren CR 347 (351).
4. AIR 1971 All 404.  AIR 1938 Rang 290 (291).  AIR 1925 Bom 181 (182) (DB).  (1910) 37 Cal 57 (61) (DB).  (1912) 16 Ind Cas 988 (991) (DB) (Cal).

[See also AIR 1919 Mad 374 (377) (DB). (Contract to sell — Decree for possession not to be given till title is completed by specific performance.)] to make such a claim and it is open to him, after the execution of the conveyance, or after the suit for specific performance is decreed, to sue for possession on the basis of his title, and such suit cannot be barred by the operation of O. 2, R. 2 of the Civil Procedure Code merely by reason of the fact that the prior suit for specific performance did not include a prayer for possession (5) The position might be different where there has been express agreement not only to convey but also to deliver possession, in such a case the right to the execution of a conveyance and the right to possession may arise coincidentally and a suit for specific performance alone might bar a subsequent suit for possession based on the same agreement (6) It has however been held in the undermentioned cases that it is not necessary in a suit for specific performance either to separately claim possession or for the Court to pass a decree for possession. The decree for specific performance which provides that the property shall be sold to the plaintiff by the defendants and the sale deed shall be executed within a certain time, failing which the Court will have the sale deed executed by a person nominated by it implies that delivery of possession shall be given in accordance with the provisions of S. 55 (1) (f). Where therefore a decree for specific performance of a contract of sale is silent as to the relief of delivery of possession even though claimed in the suit, the executing Court is still competent to deliver possession. (7)

The relief of possession is inherent in the relief for specific performance of the contract and the vendor is bound to give such possession to the buyer even if no decree for possession is sought for in the plaint for specific performance by the buyer. The Court shall have power to grant a decree for possession besides granting relief of specific performance (8)

The consent decree cannot be defeated on the ground that a third party has been illegally induced by the judgment-debtor. The executing Court will be fully justified in ignoring the said transfer as null and void and ordering possession to give full effect to decree for specific performance. (9)

Proceeding in S. 22 of the Specific Relief Act includes execution proceedings. The executing Court has power to direct delivery of possession of property to the decree holder even if the decree for specific performance of contract is silent on that point (10)

[But see AIR 1955 Cal 267 (269) 1LR (1956) 2 Cal 850 (DB) (Under this clause unless there is a contract to the contrary giving delivery of possession to the buyer by the seller is an incident of a contract for sale and the right to recover possession springs out of the contract which is being specifically enforced and not as a result of the execution and completion of the conveyance. When there is a decree directing the contract to be specifically performed it includes a direction upon the vendor to give delivery of possession to the purchasers.)]

5. AIR 1926 Rant 197 (198)  AIR 1925 Bom 181 (182) (DB) (Nor it be barred under S. 11 C.P.C.)  AIR 1924 Mad 360 (363) 47 Mad 150 (DB)  AIR 1918 Nag 221 (223) 14 Nag LR 176  AIR 1914 Mad 465 (467) 38 Mad 698 (DB) (Dissenting from 22 Mad 24)  (1908) 4 Nag LR 14 (17)  (1902) 12 Mad LJ 71 (72) (DB)
6. AIR 1924 Mad 360 (363) ; 47 Mad 150 (DB)
7. AIR 1977 All 156 (Even though a decree for specific performance of contract is silent as to the delivery of possession the decree holder is entitled to claim possession in execution of the decree if the defendant is in exclusive possession)  (1976) 2 Mad LJ 349  AIR 1974 Mad 289 (294)  AIR 1973 Mys 131 (133) (DB) (A decree for specific performance directing execution of the sale deed implies the liability to deliver possession)  AIR 1971 Tripura 1 (2)  AIR 1963 Madh Pra 86 (88)  AIR 1954 All 643 (644) (Prs 2-4) (DB).
8. 1999 (78) DLT 254 (259).
9. AIR 1996 Bom 296 (303) 1996 (3) Bom CR 373  (1982) 2 Civ LJ 523 (536) (Madh Pra).
10. 2002 (1) MPLJ 475 (477)

Similarly, relief of possession can be granted at appellate stage (11)

It has been seen in Note 5 that an ordinary contract for sale is not only to convey to the purchaser but to convey to such persons as the purchaser shall nominate. This clause is based upon that principle, in that it obliges the seller to give possession to the buyer or to such person as he directs. (12)

Where the property sold is a house, the possession that its nature permits delivery of is vacant possession (13) and it may be delivered by giving delivery of the keys (14). Similarly, in the case of sale of agricultural land, the purchaser is entitled, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, to demand vacant possession of the land (15). Where the property to be sold is in possession of tenant and the vendee had knowledge of the same. The vendee is entitled to symbolic and not actual possession (16). Where the property sold is in the possession of tenants, it has been held that the handing over of the title deeds is a sufficient delivery of possession (17). But the obligation is subject to a contract to the contrary and even in a case where the buyer knows that the property is in possession of tenants, the deed may provide for delivery of vacant possession to the buyer (18). It cannot be said that as soon as the vendor transfers the property, his possession ipso facto and without more becomes adverse to the vendee. It depends on nature of each case. Where a clause in the sale deed mentioned that proceeding for eviction of tenant is pending, the possession of vendor would become adverse only from the date tenant is evicted and vendor is in position to deliver vacant possession of the property sold. (19)

11. AIR 1982 SC 818 (823) : 1982 All LJ 345 : 1982 LJ (SC) 493.

See also AIR Commentary on Civil Procedure Code, 10th (1985) Edn., O. 21, R. 32, N. 3

12. AIR 1950 Cal 333 (337) (Therefore suit for specific performance of an agreement to sell and hand over possession can be brought by buyer along with such person)  AIR 1929 Bom 24 (30)

13. AIR 1956 Andhra 113 (114) (Contract might provide for vacant possession even though property is in possession of tenant.)  AIR 1950 Cal 333 (336) (Presence or absence of tenants in the house agreed to be sold in that sense does not affect the 'nature' of the property. It may very well be that the parties intended that the tenants could be removed before possession is given. "Nature" is something which in this context is irremovable. But whatever may be the position of a house with tenants, a house with trespassers can never be said to be a property whose "nature" does not admit actual and physical possession.)  1932 Mad WN 122 (124) (DB)

14. (1801) 31 ER 875 (877) 5 Ves 818 5 RR 176, Guest v. Homfray

15. AIR 1964 Raj 240 (241) : ILR (1964) 14 Raj 806

16. AIR 1992 Punj 18 : ILR (1991) 2 Punj 407 (412)

17. AIR 1964 Raj 240 (241) : ILR (1964) 14 Raj 806 (It is for vendor to prove that vacant possession could not be delivered to purchaser)  AIR 1956 Andhra 113 (114) (Possession does not mean personal occupation — Includes landlord's possession)  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 605 (605) (DB) (Low Bur) (Buyer acquires the right to receive rent and such acquisition is the possession the nature of property admits.)

[See also AIR 1960 Punj 51 (53) (Portion of property in tenant's possession — Tenant to attorn to purchaser under the deed — Purchaser held not entitled to rescind contract for not obtaining vacant possession.)]

18. 1964 Ker LT 39 (42) (Purchaser having knowledge of tenancy — Not entitled to vacant possession in absence of contract to the contrary)  AIR 1956 Andh 113 (114)

[See also AIR 1918 Cal 662 (1) 662 (DB) (Speculative purchase — Specific stipulation as to non-liability of vendor for failure to secure possession — Purchaser not entitled to get back purchase money on dispossession.)]

19. 1989 All LJ 1164 (1166).

The obligation under this clause is on the seller to give possession and not on the buyer to go and take possession (20). But where the property sold is in possession of a trespasser, neither the seller nor the buyer can forcibly eject him and get possession. They have to proceed according to law for getting possession from him (21). Where the vendee sues the trespasser for possession he must bring the suit within the same period of limitation as would be allowed to his vendor as the vendee does not get a better title than the vendor (22).

Where the seller fails to give possession after the execution of the conveyance the remedy of the buyer is to sue for recovery of possession and not to sue for specific performance (23). So also when the seller refuses or is not in a position to deliver possession of the property agreed to be sold by him to the buyer, the buyer can rescind the contract and ask back the earnest money which he has paid under agreement to sell. There is no need of filing a suit for specific performance (24). In the undermentioned case (25) certain property was conveyed by a registered deed. The property was in the possession of certain persons without any title. The buyer without calling upon the seller to deliver to him possession of the property sold, instituted a suit against the wrongdoers in possession and succeeded in getting possession. Thereafter he sued the vendor for recovery of the amount of expenses incurred by him in that matter. It has held by the Rangpur High Court that he was not entitled to succeed, and that the remedy of the buyer was to sue for the specific performance of the contract for sale or for damages. It is submitted that this last observation is not correct. After the execution of the conveyance there can be no specific performance of the contract for sale.

The breach of a covenant for title will not entitle the buyer to avoid the sale on that ground but will entitle him only to a claim for damages (26). It has, however, been observed by the Madras High Court (27) that where possession of a portion of the property sold is not given to the buyer, the latter can sue to avoid the sale itself on that ground. It is submitted that this view is not correct.

Where the buyer knows that he will not get immediate possession and if under his contract he is entitled to such immediate possession of the property contracted to be sold he may under S. 39 of the Contract Act put an end to the contract even before he has completed the purchase by paying full consideration. (28)

20. AIR 1916 Pat 222 (222, 223) : 1 Pat LJ 140 (DB)

21. AIR 1960 All 626 (628) : ILR (1960) 1 All 617 (DB).

22. AIR 1914 Cal 734 (736) (DB)

23. 1911 Pun Re No. 18

24. AIR 1981 Madh Pra 158 (160) : 1981 Jab LJ 273

25. AIR 1937 Rang 31 (32)

26. AIR 1933 Lah 262 (263)

[See also AIR 1942 Sind 81 (82) : ILR (1942) Kar 32 (DB) — Seller having title to part of property and buyer obtaining possession of part of property — Held, sale deed executed was not a nullity which the buyer could ignore — Buyer could not ask for return of price before the conveyance was rescinded — Sale deed, however, was voidable because of material defect in seller's title, such non-disclosure amounting to fraud under S. 55 — Buyer's remedy was suit for rescission of sale deed and for return of price under S. 38, Specific Relief Act.]]

Also see Note 9.

27. AIR 1933 Mad 382 (383)

28. AIR 1964 Raj 240 (241) : ILR (1964) 14 Raj 806  AIR 1960 Punj 51 (54) (Vendee can claim advance that has been paid)  AIR 1951 Mad 470 (471)  1952 Mad WN 122 (124, 125) (DB)

See also the undermentioned case.(29)

8. Duty to pay public charges, rent and encumbrances — Paragraph 1, clause (g).

In Dost Muhammad v Sanjad Ahmed, (1) a case which arose before the passing of this Act, it was held that there was no obligation on the part of the seller to pay a public charge on the property accrued due before the date of the sale, and that if the buyer was compelled to pay such a charge after the completion of the conveyance he could not recover the amount from the seller under Ss 69 and 70 of the Contract Act. Under this clause this decision would not be correct. The seller (2) is, under this clause, bound to pay—

- (1) all public charges (3) and rent accrued due in respect of the property up to the date of the sale,
- (2) the interest on all incumbrances on such property due on such date, (4) and
- (3) except where the property is sold subject to the incumbrances, the amount due on all incumbrances on the property then existing. (5)

The buyer can under this clause insist that the obligation under this clause should be fulfilled at or before the execution of the conveyance (6). He is not bound to accept any indemnity from the seller in respect of incumbrances on the property (7). But this does not mean that the seller can escape liability in respect of the payments referred to above by reason merely of the fact that the conveyance has been executed without fulfilling his obligation before that date. Thus where property is sold free of encumbrances, but after the execution of the conveyance it turns out that the

29. AIR 1963 Mys 159 (161) ILR (1962) Mys 809 (Property in possession of tenant on date of sale — Purchaser suing for possession — Relief of possession against vendors under covenant in deed of sale, and of eviction of tenant defendant under the Rent Act can be combined in one suit)

Section 55 — Note 8

1. (1883) 6 All 67 (67, 68) (DB)
 2. AIR 1950 PC 99 (103) : 77 Ind App 156. (A contracting with B to sell certain property — The fact that trustees of the property and not A were the conveying parties does not affect A's liability under the clause — A is 'seller' within this clause.)
 3. AIR 1956 PC 99 (103) : 77 IA 156. (Including Municipal Taxes accrued due in respect of the property up to the date of the sale)  AIR 1954 Nag 65 (69) ILR (1953) Nag 579 (Buyer is not bound to pay municipal taxes to be paid by seller for period prior to date of sale.)  (191) 8 Ind Cas 435 (435) (Mad).
- [Note :— Where a vendor pays an instalment under liability arising before the date of completion he is not entitled to recoupment against the purchaser unless the contract provides for it. Halsbury's Laws of England, 2nd Ed. Supp 918 G. citing In re Watford Corporation and Warris Contract (1943) Ch 82 : 59 ITR 98]
4. AIR 1949 Cal 510 (514) (Pr 24) ILR (1951) 1 Cal 331 (Contract to sell free of encumbrance — Delay caused by vendor — Default to pay interest on existing mortgage of property since date of contract — suit for specific performance — Plea of hardship caused by payment of interest is no defence as it is self-induced)
 5. AIR 1950 PC 99 (103) : 77 IA 156  (1977) 90 Mad LW 454 (459) (1977) 2 Mad LJ 68 (Where there is a clear and categorical term agreed to between the parties that the vendor alone will have to discharge the mortgage due to Bank, he is bound to discharge it, even on assumption that S 55 of T P Act applies to an agreement of sale)  AIR 1962 Madh Pra 144 (145) (The fact that buyer was aware of the encumbrance is immaterial)  (1911) 38 Cal 458 (464).
 6. AIR 1935 Oudh 142 (142) (DB)  AIR 1926 Mad 569 (570)
 7. (1907) 76 LJ Ch 179 (181) (1907) 1 Ch 244 (248) 96 LT 324, In re Weston & Thomas's contract

property is subject to incumbrances and the buyer is compelled to pay them, he can recover the amount so paid by him from the seller under S. 69 of the Contract Act (8). There are, however, some observations, in the undermentioned case, (9) to the contrary, namely, that the provision under this clause is one which cannot be enforced against the seller after the completion of the purchase without an express covenant. In that case the sale was subject to incumbrances and the buyer had expressly, in the sale deed, undertaken to pay, in entirety, a prior mortgage referred to therein and the amount due under which was stated to be 16,300 rupees. It turned out that the amount actually due was about 23,000 rupees. The buyer having paid off that amount sued the seller for the excess amount paid by him. It was held that the buyer having undertaken to pay the mortgage in entirety had no claim against the seller. The observation referred to above was not really necessary for the decision. It is submitted that it is not correct.

The liability to pay electrical dues is between contracting parties and the same cannot be enforced against the third party as it is a personal contract. Thus even if landlord's permission is taken for providing electric connection to the tenant, the landlord or purchaser from him will not be liable to pay electrical dues of the tenant who vacated the premises (10).

The seller's obligation to discharge prior incumbrances on the property sold arises in all cases, except where the property is sold subject to incumbrances. It is not correct to say that in order to raise this obligation the sale should be expressed to be free of incumbrances (11). The mere fact

8. AIR 1928 PC 98 (99) : 50 All 371 : 55 Ind App 135  (1908) 30 All 172 (175) (FB). (If vendee has paid encumbrances, he can set-off the amount so paid against unpaid purchase-money)  AIR 1962 Madh Pra 144 (145)  1956 Ker LT 302 (308) (DB). (Property not sold subject to encumbrance — Contract of indemnity by seller is implied if there are encumbrances)  AIR 1934 Oudh 142 (142) (DB). (Where under the terms of a sale deed, the property is sold free from encumbrance, but the vendee fails to obtain possession, and has to pay off an encumbrance existing on the property before he could get possession, he is entitled to recover the money so paid by him and also to damages for the period he was kept out of possession of the property purchased by him)  AIR 1922 All 508 (509) (DB)  (1904) 6 Bom LR 832 (834) (DB).

[See AIR 1926 Oudh 81 (85) — 1 Luck. (DB) — vendor not paying certain simple mortgages in stipulated time — vendee not suffering any loss owing to such non-payment cannot resist a suit to enforce vendor's lien for unpaid purchase money.)]

[See also (1875) 7 NWPHCR 336 (337-338) (DB). (Case before T. P. Act — Sale of property — Prior mortgage not mentioned in the sale deed and purchaser not aware of the mortgage — Suit by mortgagee before purchaser obtained possession and purchaser satisfying the mortgage-decree which was equal in amount to purchase money — Principle of S. 69 Contract Act applied and purchaser was entitled to a decree for possession without payment of purchase-money)  AIR 1920 Nag 144 (145). (Case from Berar — Transfer of Property Act did not apply — Held, on grounds of justice, equity and good conscience that seller must, under the circumstances, be deemed to have contracted to indemnify the buyer against loss.)]

Also see Note 9.

9. AIR 1930 Cal 568 (571, 572) : 57 Cal 683 (DB).

10. 1999 (3) Pat LJR (HC) 222 (226).

11. AIR 1934 Oudh 492 (493) — 10 Luck 274 (DB)  AIR 1929 All 791 (791) — 51 All 1053 (DB). (Private knowledge of encumbrance by vendee will not matter in the absence of specific contract in a sale deed.)

[See also AIR 1954 Nag 65 (68) — ILR (1953) Nag 579. (Owner of land bound to construct works of development in accordance with agreement with Improvement Trust in consideration of its sanctioning construction of buildings — If expenses for construction of development works are to be encumbrances on property, then owner of land is bound to discharge them before he sells the land unless there is agreement to the contrary with buyer)  AIR that the buyer is aware of the incumbrances does not relieve the vendor of the liability to get the same discharged (12) But there is no presumption that the sale is free of incumbrances. The question is one of fact in each case to be determined on the interpretation of particular document.(13)

In a sale of leasehold property the seller must pay all the rent due up to the date of sale even though a portion of it had been incurred even before the seller himself owned the property.(14)

The liability of the seller to pay prior incumbrances, etc., is a personal liability of the seller only and cannot be enforced against the transferee from him after the contract for sale falls through by reason of the seller's non-compliance with this clause (15) In other words, the obligation under this clause is not one which runs with the land and cannot be enforced against any person other than the transferor.(16) Nor can any person other than the buyer enforce it (17) Where even before the sale the prospective purchaser has paid off the arrears of public charges, they cannot be said to be due on the date of the sale within the meaning of this clause, which, therefore, will not apply to the case.(18)

Incumbrance.

The word "incumbrance" in this clause is of sufficient amplitude to include also a recurring liability like that of a maintenance allowance.(19) Where at the date of sale the property is under attachment, the vendor is bound to pay off the money due to the attaching creditor under this clause. Where the vendee pays the amount to avert the sale of the property in execution, he is entitled to recover the amount from the vendor.(20)

A trespasser's possession or occupation is a liability on the property. Removal of trespassers ordinarily involves litigious proceeding and such litigation is a liability or impediment within the ordinary meaning of the word "incumbrance (21) "

1937 Rang 287 (292) 14 Rang 786 (DB) (Agreement to convey land in satisfaction of decree amounts, in substance, to sale under S. 54, T. P. Act.)

12. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 144 (145)  AIR 1927 Mad 193 (193).

13. AIR 1952 Mys 120 (121) ILR (1953) Mys 29 (Sale purported to be without encumbrance — Buyer knowing existence of charge on property for Government loan and by subsequent letter undertaking to pay it. It was held that the sale was subject to encumbrance and buyer was not entitled to reimbursement)  AIR 1945 All 39 (40, 41) (DB) (Property subject to encumbrance — Sale without any reference to discharge of mortgage or retention of any part of consideration by vendee for payment to mortgagee — Sale held subject to encumbrance — AIR 1929 All 791, Expl.)

14. AIR 1924 Pat 822 (822) (DB)

15. AIR 1926 Mad 173 (174) (DB)

16. AIR 1927 Mad 1072 (1072).

17. (1909) 3 Ind Cas 936 (937) (DB) (Mad).

Also see S. 40, Note 14.

18. AIR 1945 Bom 187 (195, 196) (DB). (Per Kania, J.)

19. AIR 1934 Oudh 492 (493) : 10 Luck 274 (DB).

[See also 1957 Andh LT 475 (481). (Sale of property subject to maintenance charge — No contract to the contrary — Vendee held entitled to reimbursement under S. 69, Contract Act)]

20. AIR 1972 Mad 36  AIR 1946 Mad 244 (245) (DB) (The vendee is not bound to carry on negotiation with the attaching creditor for a reduction of the amount nor is he bound to wait till the property is put up for sale)

21. AIR 1950 Cal 333 (336). (A house in the occupation and possession of a trespasser and wrong-doer cannot be said to be free from all encumbrances.)

See also the undermentioned case.(22)

Contract to the contrary.

Where the seller covenanted with the buyer that if by reason of any prior incumbrances the buyer lost possession, the seller would refund the purchase-money it was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that the covenant was not contrary to the statutory obligation under this clause, but was only an additional security (23) Where the conveyance is "subject to payment of all rents, taxes, rates, dues and duties now or hereafter to become payable to the Government or to the Municipality," there is a contract to the contrary within the meaning of this clause (24) The recital in a sale deed that the right, title and interest of the vendor in the property as purchased by him in Court auction are being sold is not a contract to the contrary excluding his liability to discharge the existing encumbrances.(25)

The terms of the contract for sale may operate to substitute the date of possession for the date of sale which is otherwise the determining date for the obligation under this clause. In such a case, there is a contract to the contrary (26) Mere use of the word 'net' in the price in a sale contract would not be sufficient to exclude the application of this clause (27)

9. Implied contract for title — Paragraph 2.

Paragraph 2 contemplates a completed sale(1) and the contract implied by it corresponds to the covenants for title and for quiet enjoyment in an English conveyance (2) It has, however, been held in the undermentioned cases that this paragraph applies not only to a completed sale but also to an agreement for sale.(3)

Under the Roman law a warrant of title was, as a general rule, implied on the part of the seller of land, so that in case of eviction an action for damages lay against him at the instance of the buyer. The Common law of England did not recognise this rule but adopted the principle enunciated by

22. AIR 1954 Nag 65 (68) : ILR (1953) Nag 579 (Owner of land bound to construct works of development in accordance with agreement with Improvement Trust in consideration of its sanctioning construction of buildings — If expenses for construction of development works are to be incumbrances on property, then the owner of land is bound to discharge them before he sells the land unless there is an agreement to the contrary with the buyer.)

23. AIR 1928 PC 98 (99) : 55 Ind App 135 (Reversing AIR 1924 All 937)

24. AIR 1945 Bom 187 (192) (DB).

25. AIR 1944 Mad 572 (573)

26. AIR 1950 PC 99 (103) : 77 Ind App 156.

27. AIR 1950 PC 99 (103) : 77 Ind App 156.

[See also 1957 Andh LT 475 (479) : (The bare mention of the price in the conveyance does not exclude the statutory covenant.)]

Section 55 — Note 9

1. AIR 1930 Cal 561 (563) : 57 Cal 1189 (DB)

2. AIR 1918 Mad 1315 (1321) : 40 Mad 338 (FB). (Per Sadashiv Aker J — Abdul Rahim J contra)  (1948) 27 Pat 898 (923-924) (DB)  AIR 1949 Bom 154 (156) (DB)  AIR 1930 Cal 561 (563) : 57 Cal 1189 (DB).

3. AIR 1966 Cal 605 (611)  AIR 1963 Guj 239 (241) : 1963 (2) Cri LJ 369  AIR 1961 Raj 196 (200) : ILR (1960) 10 Raj 1153  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 307 (325) : ILR (1955) Andh Pra 170 (Per Chandra Reddy J — Section 55 (2) applies to contract for sale and also to completed transactions — AIR 1930 Cal 561 : 57 Cal 1189 Explained and Not Followed)  AIR 1951 All 93 (116) : ILR (1950) All 1033 (FB).

[See also AIR 1942 All 39 (41) : ILR (1942) All 120 (DB) (Sale deed not executed — Seller found to have no title — Paragraph 2 was assumed to apply)] the maxim caveat emptor (let the purchaser beware) (4) The meaning of the rule of caveat emptor was stated by Garth, C. J., in Gour Kishore Shaha v. Chunder Kishore Dutt Muzumdar(5) as follows :

"That rule means that the buyer is bound by the law to take care of himself, he is bound to see that what he buys, he buys after satisfying himself that there is a good title. It is a very old maxim of law, and a very good one, that, if people will not assist themselves the law will not assist them, if a person chooses to buy a property without looking into the title, he does so at his own risk and the law will not help him to get rid of his bargain."

It was accordingly the practice in England before the year 1881, in order to avoid the effect of the rule of caveat emptor, to insert in all conveyances, a covenant for title. And this practice was so general that a person agreeing to sell land was regarded as having agreed also to insert the proper covenant in the sale deed. As observed by Lord Eldon in Church v. Brown (6) "If a man covenants to sell a fee simple estate, free of all incumbrances, and says no more, it is clear, that the covenant carries in gremio, and in the bosom of it, the right to proper covenants." In the absence of an express covenant inserted in the conveyance, the rule of caveat emptor applied, and the buyer could not hold the seller responsible for any defect of title after the conveyance was executed (7)

This principle was generally followed in this country also before the passing of this Act.(8) specially if the purchaser had knowledge of the defect of title.(9) By the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881(10) and now by the Law of Property Act, 1925,(11) certain covenants are implied in every English conveyance of free-holds or other interests in the land.(12) They are four in

4. Broom, A Selection of Legal Maxims, 10th Edn., 1939, page 528  (1878) 3 Cal 806 (813) : 5 Ind App 16 (PC).

5. (1876) 25 Suth WR 45 (46) (DB)

6. (1808) 33 ER 752 (754) : 15 Ves 258 · 10 RR 74

7. (1781) 99 ER 415 (417) · 2 Doug (KB) 654, Bree v. Holbech  AIR 1956 Trav-Co 80 (83) · ILR (1956) Trav-Co 220 (DB).

8. AIR 1958 Ker 322 (323, 324) (DB) (The law in the former State of Travancore was the same as that which existed before the enactment of the Conveyancing Act of 1881 in England and of the T. P. Act in British India. Consequently no absolute unqualified covenant for title could be ipso facto imported into or implied in a sale deed executed in the State AIR 1953 Trav-Co 236, Rel on)  (1876) 25 Suth WR 45 (46) (DB)  (1866) 6 Suth WR 152 (153) (DB). (In the absence of fraud or express warranty of title in a sale of land, the vendee cannot recover from the vendor the consideration money when he finds that the vendor has no title.)

[See also (1886) 9 Mad 89 (91) (DB) (If vendor is, however guilty of fraud, then he will be liable for damages.)  (1887) 1 CPLR 178 (179).]

[See however (1874) 22 Suth WR 442 (443) (DB) (Where a vendee is dispossessed of the property purchased by him in consequence of the defect of vendor's title to the property the vendor and not the vendee should bear the loss as the latter put faith in the former's act of selling)]

[But see (1867) 2 Agra 199 (199) (DB) (A seller or mortgagor must always be held impliedly to warrant the title of the property sold or mortgaged.)]

9. (1875) 2 Ind App 131 (143) (PC)  (1902) 23 Bom 519 (522) (DB)  1876 Pun Re No 90 page 180 (181) (DB).

10. 44 and 45 Vic, Ch. 41, Section 7(1) (A).

11. 15 Geo V, Ch 20, Section 76.

12. See AIR 1968 Punj 110 (114, 115) : ILR (1967) 2 Punj 426 (FB), (Observations in Amir Chand v. Amir Chand, (R. S. No. 420 of 1951, D/- 9-2-59 (Punj) (DB), regarding English law relating to express and implied covenants on which the rules contained in the T. P. Act, are modelled, quoted.)

number that the seller has power to convey the land; that the buyer shall have quiet enjoyment of the land, that the land is free from encumbrances and that the seller will do all further acts necessary to assure the land to the buyer. In the case of conveyances by a trustee or by way of mortgage the covenant implied had reference only to incumbrances created by the person who conveys

This paragraph is framed so as to include all the covenants implied by the English Acts, (13) and something more (14) Under the English law the vendor covenants against the act of himself and the persons through whom he claims otherwise than by purchase for value, (15) whereas under this paragraph he warrants the title which he professes to convey and his power to deal with it (16)

In this respect this clause is an exception to the doctrine caveat emptor, so far as sales of immovable property by act of parties are concerned (17) It implies a warranty of title in all sales executed after the Transfer of Property Act came into force whether such warranty be expressed or not in the conveyance. (18) The warranty is absolute and, in the absence of a contract to the con-

13. AIR 1928 Sind 61 (62) : 23 Sind LR 237

14. AIR 1950 EP 74 (78) (DB) (The rule enacted in S. 55(2) goes far beyond for the ordinary rule of English Law and is more a technical rule than a rule based on justice, equity and good conscience)

15. Topham New Law of Property 4th Edn. 1932 Page 371  (1893) 62 LJ Ch 347 (351) (1893) 1 Ch 523 (539). David v Sabin

16. AIR 1961 Raj 196 (200) : ILR (1960) 10 Raj 1153

17. (1861) 65 Cal WN 881 (901)  AIR 1957 Madh B 23 (26)  (1911) 14 OC 343 (347) (DB)  AIR 1923 Lah 596 (590) (DB) (Principle of the clause was applied though the Act was not extended to the province.)  (1905) 8 Oudh Cas 345 (347)

[See also AIR 1957 Andh Pra 572 (577) : ILR (1956) Andhra 1114 (DB) (There is no scope for the application of caveat emptor in the case of a purchaser of specific items by private treaty)]

18. AIR 1954 SC 75 (80) (Pr 32) : 1954 SCR 360. (Vendee's insistence on a specific form of warranty of title to be inserted in the sale deed subsequent to the contract for sale cannot affect the contract. It might in a given case disentitle him to specific performance. But that would depend upon whether his proposal regarding a form of warranty to which he was not entitled was a mere proposal regarding the form of the sale or was a refusal to perform without it)  AIR 1951 All 93 (114, 115) : ILR (1950) All 1033 (FB). (Per Agarwala and Wanchoo, JJ)  AIR 1932 Nag 5 (9, 10) : 28 Nag LR 31 (FB)  (1968) 70 Punj LR 34 (36) (DB) (Section 55 (2) does not imply an obligation that the seller should make compensation to the buyer, should there be found to be a defect in his title subsequently by parting with some other land in lieu of the one in which the title has been found to be defective)  AIR 1962 Andh Pra 192 (195) (DB)  (1961) 65 Cal WN 881 (901)  AIR 1961 J and K 66 (71)  AIR 1959 Mys 46 (46, 47) : ILR (1958) Mys 237 (Hence non-production of sale deed in evidence in a suit for damages for breach of warranty is immaterial)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 307 (324) : ILR (1955) Andhra 170 (DB)  AIR 1957 Madh B 23 (26)  AIR 1944 All 243 (244) : ILR (1944) All 612  AIR 1931 Sind 141 (142) : 25 Sind LR 173 (This is so, whether the buyer has or has not notice of the infirmity of the title of the seller)  AIR 1930 Sind 12 (12) : 24 Sind LR 172  AIR 1930 Mad 748 (750)  AIR 1926 Mad 255 (256) (Statutory covenants attach equally to contract as well as sale)  AIR 1925 Lah 481 (481) : 6 Lah 308 (DB)  AIR 1924 Cal 148 (150) (DB)  AIR 1923 All 169 (169)  AIR 1919 Cal 404 (405)  AIR 1915 Mad 742 (743) : 38 Mad 1, 71 (DB)  AIR 1915 Mad 689 (690)  AIR 1915 Mad 708 (709) : 38 Mad 887 (Knowledge of defect in title should not be imputed to vendee)  (1904) 15 Mad LJ 396 (399) (DB)  (1900) 13 CPLR 97 (98)  (1899) 25 Cal 298 (300) (DB)

[See also (1887) ILR 9 All 705 (713) (PC). (Creditor purchasing property in execution of his own decree against Hindu coparcener — Agreement to sell — Purchaser withholding purchase money and demanding absolute warranty of title — Facts known to purchaser — Purchaser held not entitled to specific performance of contract)  AIR 1949 Bom 154

trary, irrebuttable.(19)

There is an obligation on the part of the transferor (which includes his representative-in-interest) to protect the rights of the transferee. This obligation runs with the land (20)

The implied covenant for title incorporated in S 55(2) cannot be set at naught except in cases where there is express contract to the contrary. Where the recitals in the sale deed do not constitute clear and unambiguous expression that the vendor has not guaranteed about his title to the property sold but it only contained an offer to compensate the purchaser for any defects in title, it is not an express contract overriding the implied covenant statutorily incorporated in S 55(2).(21)

Under S 52(2) in a sale of immovable property there is an implied covenant for title of seller, a title free from all reasonable doubts. There is no duty cast on the buyer to enquire as to vendor's title. This implied covenant may be excluded only by the contract to the contrary, the onus being on the person who denies it to prove a contract displacing that presumption. But mere knowledge or suspicion of the buyer about the defect of title in vendor does not prevent in express or implied covenant. This implied covenant may be get rid of only by an express contract to the contrary (22). The liability would be deemed to subsist notwithstanding the fact that the buyer may have some idea as to the defect of the title of the seller.(23)

(156) (DB) (Section 55(2) makes a departure from the English Law and provides for a statutory guarantee of title in the absence of any contract to the contrary)  (1887) 1 Mad LJ 162 (163) (DB)  1907 Upp Bur Rul 1 (3).]

19. AIR 1951 All 93 (114, 118) : ILR (1950) All 1033 (FB). (Per Agarwala and Wanchoo, JJ)  AIR 1963 Guj 239 (241) 1963 (2) Cri LJ 369  AIR 1961 J and K 66 (71) (Such a contract can be either express or implied but the contract must be such as would clearly negative the warranty of title)  (1961) 65 Cal WN 881 (897, 898)  AIR 1930 All 771 (773): 52 All 604 (DB)  AIR 1917 Nag 125 (127)

[See also AIR 1959 Mys 46 (46, 47) ILR (1958) Mys 237 (Suit for damages for breach of warranty — Contract to the contrary not pleaded by defendant — Non-production of sale deed by plaintiff is immaterial and suit cannot be dismissed on that ground)  AIR 1916 Sind 61 (62) 9 Sind LR 214]

20. 1996 (2) Mad LW 243 (262).

21. (1988) 2 LS (AP) 352 (355).

22. 2001 (1) Gauhati LR 27 (41)

23. AIR 1918 Mad 1315 (1320) 40 Mad 338 (FB). (Such knowledge of the defect will not mean a contract to the contrary) (Where the vendor failed to disclose the defects known to him in his own title (boundaries dispute), the vendee is entitled to get back the money paid by him as well as damages for the loss of interest on the amount of his deposit)  (1982) 1 WLR 495 (506) (Eng)  1977 Pun LJ 300 (301) (Suit by purchaser for refund of purchase money — Art 116 of Limitation Act (1908) applies)  AIR 1967 Mad 461 (463) ILR (1967) 1 Mad 95 (This applies only to the case where the buyer, though aware of the defect, believes and accepts the representation of the seller hoping that defect would not affect him)  (1867) 33 Cal LT 155 (169) (In absence of express contract to the contrary, S 55(1)(a) would be subordinated to S 55(2) when it involves question of warranty of title)  ILR (1966) 1 Mad 114 (117)  (1864) 77 Mad LW 555 (557) (Privity of estate between seller and transferee from buyer — Latter entitled to sue for damages for breach of implied covenant in spite of buyer's knowledge of the defect)  (1861) 65 Cal WN 881 (902)  AIR 1960 Punj 275 (277) ILR (1959) Punj 1463 (DB)  AIR 1959 Mys 46 (47) ILR (1958) Mys 237  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 307 (325) ILR (1955) Andh Pra 170 (DB) (Existence of mortgage on property — Title is incomplete — Knowledge of the purchaser not material)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 288 (290) (Knowledge of buyer as regards real state of title is immaterial)  AIR 1950 Nag 229 (230) ILR (1950) Nag 467  AIR 1947 Pat 477 (479) (Implied warranty of title on the part of the seller in favour of the buyer is irrespective of the question whether the buyer has or has not notice of the infirmity of the

Even though there was an agreement for sale in favour of the plaintiff the vendor sold the property to a third party. In a suit for specific performance the vendor did not file any written statement but supported the title of the third party/purchaser. It could be said that since the vendor did not file written statement his evidence was not supported by pleadings and, therefore, has to be eschewed. There is obligation on the part of seller under S. 55 to support the title of the purchaser.(24)

Having executed the sale deed claiming that the defendants are the owners of the land, they cannot be allowed to contend that they are not competent to sell the property. As between the parties to the contract and persons claiming under them, S. 55(2) will govern. The warranty of title will stop the defendants from putting forth such contention. The plaintiff/vendee is entitled to file a suit for fixation or demarcation of boundary.(25)

Section 55(2) deems implied contract for title in every conveyance and even in cases where there is a completed contract of sale, the purchaser is entitled to cancel the contract and seek the refund of purchase money. When that is so as regards completed contract, in a contract which is only at an executory stage, it would not be proper in law to force upon the purchaser to purchase the property on the ground that he was aware of the defective or imperfect title at the time of agreement of sale. It does not prevent in law for the purchaser to revise his opinion before the contract is concluded, however, with a qualified liability on the purchaser to compensate any loss or damages which the vendor has sustained in the course of such transaction for which the purchaser has equally contributed by his folly.(26)

Even where there is no representation by the transferor that he had authority to transfer the interest which he purported to transfer, such a representation is implied under S. 55(2) when nothing is said to the contrary in the deed of transfer. The knowledge of the buyer in such a case is immaterial. Even if the buyer knew that the seller has no power to transfer the interest, he is entitled to the benefit of the contract and to enforce the sale according to its terms and may hold the seller responsible in damages.(27) title of the seller)  AIR 1945 Mad 205 (206) (The fact that the buyer knew of a defect in the title of the seller prior to the purchase does not preclude him from suing for damages for breach of the covenant of title)  AIR 1944 All 243 (244) ILR (1944) All 612 (The right which is given to the vendee by the warranty of title, express or implied, to bring a suit for refund of sale consideration remains even if the vendee had knowledge of the defective title of his vendor AIR 1932 All 546 Followed)  AIR 1940 Mad 739 (740) (DB)  AIR 1933 All 389 (390)  AIR 1932 All 546 (547) 54 All 774  AIR 1931 Sind 141 (142) 25 Sind LR 173  AIR 1930 Mad 48 (49, 50) 52 Mad 787 (DB)  AIR 1929 Pat 388 (389) 8 Pat 432 (DB)  AIR 1929 Mad 775 (776)  AIR 1925 Mad 1209 (1209)  AIR 1920 Mad 634 (636) (DB)  AIR 1917 Nag 125 (127)  AIR 1916 Mad 633 (633) (DB)  AIR 1915 Mad 742 (743, 744) 38 Mad 1171 (DB)  AIR 1915 Mad 708 (709) 38 Mad 887  (1889) 16 Cal 330 (342)

[See also (1871) 3 NWP HCR 106 (107) (DB).]

[See however AIR 1916 Mad 603 (603) (DB) (If what is conveyed is not full title as for example a sale or karamkari tenure, S. 55 cannot warrant a larger title.)]

24. 1998 (1) Mad LW 49 (51).

25. 1999 (3) Mad LJ 778 (782).

26. AIR 2001 Kant 141 (146) 2001 AIR Kant HCR 596 2001 (3) Kant LJ 571

27. AIR 1961 Raj 196 (200) (Pr 11) ILR (1960) 10 Raj 1158 (A marketable title is a title which a vendor would be in a position to force on an unwilling purchaser)  AIR 1986 Ker 30 (31, 32) : 1985 Ker LT 862 (Compensation for loss of property due to defect in title is to be fixed on the value of property as on the date the property was lost and not on the date it was conveyed)  (1978) 1 Mad LJ 196 (212)  AIR 1960 All 367 (368) ILR

Title cannot be understood as something equivalent to a process involving making of title. In order to convey property the vendor should have a present right or interest which he contracts to convey. A title which has not been perfected and which cannot rationally be said to be free from doubt is no title at all (28). If the purchaser is compelled to give up possession by reason of extinction of the settlor's title the normal measure of damages follow the general principle of law and the measure of damages is the market value at the time of eviction. (29) A covenant for title presupposes a legal transfer of property. Consequently, this clause will apply only where the sale is a valid one and not where it is invalid (30). Where a guardian executed a sale on behalf of a minor on obtaining permission from the District Judge but the permission was found to be ineffective and consequently the sale was held invalid, it was held that the buyer was not entitled to any relief on the covenant for title, against the guardian or the minor. (31)

A vendor cannot convey title better than his own. If on allotment of land by Govt. it is subsequently found that excess land has been given the excess can be retrieved (32). The covenant implied under S. 55(2) for quiet enjoyment relates only to the title conveyed and if the title itself is subject to restrictions there cannot be a covenant for enjoyment of a higher title. (33)

This section, and therefore this paragraph, has no application to sale in invitum. In auction sale there is no guarantee by the Court or by the decree-holder corresponding to the guarantee under this paragraph (34). It is only the right, title and interest of the judgment-debtor that passes to the auction-purchaser, and the latter takes them subject to any claims that may subsequently be made by third parties. (35)

(1959) 2 All 521 (DB) (No duty on vendee to make enquiries — Vendee may accept representation by vendor as to his title)  AIR 1959 Mys 46 (46, 47) 1LR (1958) Mys 237  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 307 (327) 1LR (1955) Andh Pra 170 (DB)  AIR 1956 All 225 (229, 230) : 1LR (1956) 1 All 313 (FB)  1LR (1948) 1 Cal 492 (497)

[But see AIR 1981 Mad 303 (305) (1981) 2 Mad LJ 154 (The principle of damages is based on the representation being made by a party which was believed in and acted upon by another so that he sustained a loss on the basis of the belief in the said representation. But where buyer, deliberately purchase the property, having knowledge that vendor's title is defective, with a view to speculate on a litigation, he cannot be granted damages for violation of covenant for title)  AIR 1967 Mad 461 (463) 1LR (1967) 1 Mad 95 (When the buyer himself knew full well that the seller had no title and was entering into the transaction with full knowledge of want of title, this implied warranty cannot be invoked  AIR 1923 Mad 392 (396) (DB) (Sale conveying for title — Defect in title known to vendee — Implied covenant does not attach to the sale.))

28. AIR 1975 Mad 379 (382) (DB).

29. (1969) 1 Mad LJ 76 : 1LR (1968) 3 Mad 548.

30. AIR 1957 Raj 248 (249)  AIR 1950 Bom 401 (406) (DB).

31. AIR 1934 All 645 (651) : 56 All 997 (DB).

32. AIR 1979 Punj 201 (202)

33. AIR 1986 Ker 149 (152) : 1986 Ker LJ 83.

34. AIR 1950 East Punj 74 (76) (DB) (Per Kapur, J — Even if S. 55(2) is read as a rule of justice, equity and good conscience, it is not enforceable by a person who has taken a transfer in invitum)  AIR 1931 Nag 116 (116) 27 Nag LR 318  (1829) 116 Ind Cas 546 (547) (Lah)  AIR 1925 Lah 467 (468) 6 Lah 283 (DB)  AIR 1924 Cal 172 (172) (DB) (Rent sale)  (1906) 3 All LJ 820 (823) (DB)  (1901) 28 Cal 235 (237) (DB)  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 605 (605) (DB) (Low Bur). (A sale by a mortgage in professed exercise of a power of sale conferred by a mortgage deed is usually a sale in invitum.)

[See also (1878) 3 Cal 806 (813, 815) : 5 Ind App 116 (PC).]

35. AIR 1937 All 18 (19)  AIR 1933 All 63 (64, 65) 54 All 948 (DB)  AIR 1930 Lah 937 (941).

A covenant for title is not the same thing as a contract of indemnity (36) Section 55(2) implies a covenant for title and nothing more. It does not result in an obligation which can be implied in law that the seller binds himself to pay compensation to the buyer, should there be a defect in his title subsequently by parting with some other land in lieu of the one in which the title has been found to be defective. (37)

As will be seen below, a cause of action for a suit for damages for breach of the covenant for title will generally arise on the date of the conveyance itself and the buyer will be entitled to damages even though he has actually not suffered any loss by the breach (38) But the cause of action for a suit on a contract of indemnity arises only when loss is actually suffered by the plaintiff (39)

Section 55(1) and (2) contemplates implied warranty that seller would make good the title in case either he has no title or defective title. Seller can be sued on basis of implied warranty. Instant case is one of no title and not defective title. Sale deed was executed containing a clause indemnifying the purchaser for the loss caused if any on ground of defect in title and some other property of seller was offered as security. The suit filed for enforcing the indemnity was enforceable. (40)

In a case where misrepresentation by seller amounts to fraud and he had no title in the property sold. The purchaser cannot be deprived of the damages even if he is guilty of not making reasonable enquiries. In the instant case negligence in making enquiries on part of the seller was not established. (41)

Under the English Law, a covenant for title is an assurance to the buyer that the seller has the very estate in quantity and quality which he purports to convey (42) Where the seller stated that the property was subject to a yearly tenancy but it was found that the tenancy was a permanent one, it was held by the High Court of Bombay following the English Law that on the ground of defect in the quality of the property the buyer was entitled to claim damages for breach of the implied contract under this clause (43) Where the quantity of certain land sold was found to be less than that stated in the sale deed, it was held by the Lahore High Court that a breach of a covenant implied by this clause had been committed (44) The undermentioned cases (45) have however held that a deficiency in the quantity of the land sold does not amount to a breach of an implied covenant of title under this clause. It is submitted that this view is not correct.

36. AIR 1950 East Punj 74 (76) (DB) (Suit for return of purchase money based merely on breach of express contract of indemnity contained in deed of sale — It is not open to plaintiff to take advantage of S. 55(2) even if that were held to be rule of equity.  AIR 1950 Mad 621 (623) (DB) (Clause in sale deed held to be one of indemnity.  AIR 1928 Mad 894 (896). 51 Mad 688 (DB) (A contract of indemnity is a personal one.)  1902) 26 Bom 750 (754) (DB).

[See however AIR 1936 Lah 746 (746) (A covenant guaranteeing the non-existence of encumbrances necessarily implies such a condition of indemnity.)]

37. (1868) 70 Pun LR 34 (DB)

38. AIR 1956 Trav-Co 90 (92) (DB) (The fact that the vendee was still in possession and had not been ousted, would not make the suit premature.)

39. See Article 113 of the Limitation Act, 1963

40. 1997 (4) Andh LD 90 (94, 95).

41. 1997 AIHC 2755 (2759); 1997 (4) Andh LT 713.

42. Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XXV, p. 465.

43. AIR 1916 Bom 279 (280, 281) (DB)

44. AIR 1921 Lah 357 (360)

45. AIR 1957 Ker 181 (185) 11LR (1957) Ker 475 (DB) (Sale of property as enclosed by walls

Paragraph 2, if includes covenant for quiet enjoyment.

It has been held in the undermentioned cases(46) that this clause imports not only a covenant for title but also a covenant for quiet enjoyment. A covenant for a right to convey is a covenant for title. The covenant for quiet enjoyment is one relating to possession, and means that, the buyer shall not be disturbed in his possession and enjoyment of the property. In the undermentioned cases(47) it was held that this clause does not import any contract to put the buyer in possession of the property sold.

Sale by a person in fiduciary character.

The proviso to this paragraph enacts that where a sale is made by a person in a fiduciary character the implied contract for title is a limited one, namely, that the seller has done no act whereby the property is incumbered or whereby he is hindered from transferring it.

It has been held by the Allahabad High Court in Mt. Maida v. Kishan Bahadur(48) that the liability under the proviso is not enforceable against the person who has acted in a fiduciary character but only against the person on whose behalf the sale is executed, and that even this cannot be done if the sale is not binding upon the latter person. In that case a guardian executed a sale on behalf of a minor on obtaining permission from the District Judge, but the permission was found to be ineffectual and consequently the sale was not valid as against the ward. It was held that the buyer was not entitled to recover any compensation from the guardian, as the sale had been made by him only in his capacity as guardian, but would have been entitled to recover compensation from the property of minor ward, if the sale had been binding upon him, but that inasmuch as the sale was not valid against the ward it could not be enforced against him also. In the undermentioned case(49) specifically mentioned as its boundaries — Deficiency in area as stated in deed — Held, there was no express or implied warranty)  AIR 1916 Mad 526 (526) (DB)

[See also AIR 1953 Mad 769 (773) ILR (1952) Mad 682 (DB) (Decision in 1916) AIR 1916 Mad 526 approved but reasoning not approved.)]

46. AIR 1932 Nag 5 (9) : 28 Nag LR 31 (FB)  (1976) 89 Mad LW 405 (407) Breach of covenant for quiet enjoyment is to be proved by the vendee)  AIR 1961 J & K 66 (71)  AIR 1953 Mad 529 (530) (DB)  AIR 1950 Bom 401 (404, 406) (DB) (There is no justification for the assumption that covenant for title and covenant for quiet enjoyment are broken when title to property terminates by reason of absence of authority of vendor either initial or supervening to transfer)  AIR 1932 Nag 5 (9) : 28 Nag LR 31 (FB)  AIR 1948 Nag 382 (385) ILR (1948) Nag 50 (DB)  AIR 1935 Mad 636 (637) (Assumed)  AIR 1934 Nag 16 (17) 30 Nag LR 138 (Cause of action arises when buyer is deprived of possession)  AIR 1930 Sind 12 (12) 24 Sind LR 172  AIR 1928 Sind 61 (62) 23 Sind LR 237  AIR 1916 Mad 14 (15) (DB) (It is the duty of the seller to secure his purchaser in quiet and peaceful enjoyment of the property sold, the mere signing of the sale deed does not discharge this obligation which continues till the purchaser gets an indefeasible title to the property.)

[See also (1950) 28 Mys LJ 165 (170) (DB) (A mere claim for possession is not enough to constitute a disturbance of possession so as to constitute breach of covenant for quiet enjoyment)  AIR 1943 Mad 150 (151) (Dispossession of purchaser by mortgagee — Suit by purchaser for damages for breach of covenant for quiet enjoyment — Limitation starts from date of dispossession.)  AIR 1936 Oudh 136 (138, 139) (DB). (Mere decree obtained by claimant does not amount to dispossession of vendee.)]

[See however 1957 Ker LT 588 (591) (Covenant for title does not include a covenant for quiet enjoyment — Covenant for quiet enjoyment is a restricted covenant "limited to disturbance by the covenantor or persons claiming under him.")]

47. AIR 1948 Nag 382 (385) ; ILR (1948) Nag 50 (DB)  AIR 1926 Mad 495 (496).

48. AIR 1934 All 645 (650, 651) : 56 All 997 (DB).

49. AIR 1924 Oudh 99 (100) (But the ward can be so liable if there is express covenant of warranty) it was, however, held that a breach of a warranty implied by law in respect of a sale effected by a guardian could not result in a personal liability on the ward for damages. On the well settled principles of law, that a guardian cannot so contract in the name of his ward as to entail the imposition of a personal liability on the ward. In a later case⁽⁵⁰⁾ it has been held by the High Court of Allahabad that where the Official Receiver purports to sell property to which the insolvent has ceased to have title, the sale cannot be said to have been made in a fiduciary character within the proviso to paragraph 2.

Benefit of Implied contract runs with transferee's interest.

The last portion of this paragraph provides that the benefit of the implied contract runs with the transferee's interest ⁽⁵¹⁾ Thus, a transferee from the buyer ⁽⁵²⁾ a pre-emptor of the buyer ⁽⁵³⁾ a transferee from the pre-emptor, ⁽⁵⁴⁾ a Court auction-purchaser in execution of a decree against the buyer, ⁽⁵⁵⁾ or an appointee of a buyer ⁽⁵⁶⁾ can take advantage of the contract.

The fact that the covenant was broken by reason of the fraud of the original covenantee is not a defence to an action on the covenant by a subsequent transferee of the property ⁽⁵⁷⁾

After the buyer transfers the property purchased by him to a second transferee, he cannot claim the benefit of the covenant in respect of such property unless he shows that he has settled with his transferee and is himself entitled to damages on his covenant ⁽⁵⁸⁾

Section 55(2) makes it clear that the benefit of the covenant for title runs with the land and is enforceable by subsequent purchasers of the land and if buyer re-sells to several purchasers, each of the purchasers is entitled to sue on the covenant in respect of his part ⁽⁵⁹⁾

Breach of implied contract.

A breach of the implied contract under this paragraph takes place where there is an adverse right or an outstanding interest, charge, or claim, which may prevent the buyer from enjoying the

50. AIR 1942 All 39 (41) : ILR (1942) All 120 (DB)

51. AIR 1959 Mys 46, 46-47, ILR (1958) Mys 217  ILR (1948) Cal 492, 497

[See however AIR 1950 East Punj 74 (78) (DB) : The right under S. 55(2) does not run with the land in places where T.P. Act is not in force.]

52. AIR 1932 Nag 5 (9) : 28 Nag LR 31 (FB)  1964-27 Mad LW 555, 557  AIR 1938 Nag 257 (259) : ILR (1939) Nag 318 (DB)  AIR 1938 Mad 96-96  AIR 1939 Bom 361 (363), 364, 365  AIR 1947 Mad 296, 297  1943, 1 King (L) 813, 815, 816  1908 Pun Re No. 111 p. 510 (512) (An agreement by vendor to indemnify the purchaser against loss of property at the instance of any claimant extends to cover the loss of property as the suit of a pre-emptor)

53. AIR 1968 Punj 110 (119) : ILR (1967) 2 Punj 426 (FB)  AIR 1931 Nag 166, 168, 27 Nag LR 392  AIR 1930 All 771 (774) : 52 A. 604 (DB)  AIR 1928 Cal 557, 559, 59 Lah 659 (DB) (Not a covenant to indemnify the vendee  1929 12 Ind (L) 165, 164 (DB) (Lah).

[But see AIR 1950 East Punj 74 (78) (DB) : Pre-emptor of the buyer being a transferee in invitum cannot get advantage of rule in S. 55(2) which is a technical rule and not a rule of equity.]]

54. AIR 1929 All 293 (295) : 51 All 651 (DB)

55. See AIR 1928 Mad 894 (895) : 5, Mad 688 (DB) : Per Jackson J. Rei v J. d'Almeida

56. (1874) 43 LJ Ex 57 (62) : 9 Ex 99, Sporn v Green

57. (1893) 62 LJ Ch 347 (352) : (1893) 1 Ch 523 (534), David v Sablin

58. AIR 1930 Mad 748 (751).

59. AIR 1982 (NOC) 160 : (1981) 2 Mad LJ 395 estate (60) The very existence of such right or interest is a breach of the contract (61)

Illustrations

- (1) A purports to sell a property to B as owner thereof. It is found subsequent to the sale that A is merely a lease holder. There is a breach of the implied contract under this paragraph. (62)
- (2) A sells property to B "free of incumbrances." But subsequently it is found that there are prior incumbrances. The statutory contract must be deemed to have been broken by the seller. (63)
- (3) A sells to B property subject to prior incumbrances. The existence of the prior incumbrances cannot be said to be a breach of the implied contract. In other words, where A transfers the interest which is not larger than what he actually professes to transfer, there is no breach of the covenant for title if the buyer is evicted by a superior title holder. (64)
- (4) A sells property to B and it is subsequently found that a portion of it has already been granted by A to another person. There is a clear breach of the covenant of title (65). The mere fact that possession of that portion has not been given to the buyer does not debar him from claiming damages for the breach (66).
- (5) A sold property to B reciting a prior mortgage to C, the amount payable in respect of which was stated to be 366 rupees, which was reserved with the buyer for payment to C. As a matter of fact a larger sum was due to C. It was held that that fact constituted a breach of the implied contract, and that this was so, notwithstanding that B did not offer to pay C even the amount of 366 rupees reserved with him (67).

Where on the date of the sale itself the seller had no title to the whole or part of the property sold, the implied contract is broken with the execution of the conveyance (68) although the buyer

60. Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XXV, p. 465  AIR 1950 Bom 401 (406) (DB) (Seller subsequently found to have no title or only a limited interest.)  AIR 1916 Bom 279 (280) (DB) (It amounts to a clear case of a breach of warranty if a vendor professes to sell under his sale deed land burdened only by a yearly tenancy whereas it is burdened by a permanent tenancy.)

61. Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XXV, p. 465  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 307 (327) : ILR 1955 Andh 170 (DB) (The existence of a mortgage over a property would make the title therein incomplete and knowledge on the part of the purchaser of defects in title of the vendor does not take away his rights to the statutory covenants unless there is a specific provision to cover such defects also.)

62. AIR 1929 All 837 (839) (DB).

[See also (1899) 25 Cal 298 (300) (DB).]

63. AIR 1922 PC 176 (176)  AIR 1938 Nag 257 (258) : ILR (1939) Nag 313 (DB) (Covenant for title includes a covenant that it is free from incumbrances.)

64. AIR 1917 Mad 802 (802) (DB).

65. AIR 1961 Pat 11 (14) (Express covenant in sale deed that in case of defect of title vendee will be compensated. — Vendee not obtaining possession over portion due to want of title of vendor. — Suit for refund of part of consideration is maintainable.)  AIR 1939 All 170 (172) (DB) (The breach will cover a case where possession is not obtained of the area in question.)

[See also (1910) 6 Ind Cas 890 (890) (DB) (All) (The seller was found subsequently to own only a part of the property sold.)]

66. AIR 1939 All 170 (172) (DB).

67. AIR 1927 All 53 (53) (DB).

68. Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XXV, p. 465  (1950) 28 Mys LJ 165 (169) (DB) (In this case under terms of the express covenant right could not accrue to buyer till dispute was not settled by seller.)  AIR 1934 Mad 687 (688) : 57 Mad 1016  AIR 1927 Mad 273 (276, 277)  AIR 1915 Nag 46 (47) : 11 Nag LR 186

[See AIR 1916 Mad 480 (481) (No covenant for title in assignment of a mortgage debt.)]

may be ignorant of the breach. (69) Where the seller has power to transfer the property on the date of the sale, but the transaction is a voidable one at the instance of a third person, a breach of the implied contract will take place when the transaction is avoided by such third person and not on the date of the sale itself (70) Thus, a sale by the guardian of a minor or by the manager of a joint Hindu family would be a valid transaction until the minor or the other member of the family, as the case may be, avoids it as not binding upon him. A breach of the implied covenant will, in such cases, not take place unless and until the transaction is so avoided (71)

On a breach of the contract implied by this paragraph the buyer will be entitled to claim damages for such breach under S. 73 of the Contract Act (72)

69. AIR 1915 Mad 766 (767) (DB)  (1902) 26 Bom 750 (754) (DB)

70. AIR 1932 Nag 3 (4)

[See also 1925) 91 Ind Cas 441, 442, (Lah) (DB) (Part of consideration found not for necessity — Suit for refund of that part is not maintainable so long as vendee has suffered no loss)  AIR 1934 Nag 16 (17) - 30 Nag LR 138]

71. AIR 1967 SC 359 (361) - (1966) 3 SCR 608. (Sale of properties by D to X — Execution of sale deed by D for himself and as guardian of his minor son — D agreeing to indemnify any loss that might be caused to X in case sale of his son's half share should later on be set aside — Held, on facts, that suit could be brought for damages, either on basis of indemnity bond or for breach of covenant of warranty of title, only if vendee were dispossessed from properties.)

72. AIR 1961 J & K 66 (71, 72, 75) (The mere fact that the vendee had knowledge of the defect in vendor's title did not prevent him from recovering damages from the vendor on account of the breach)  1958 Andh LT 956 (959)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 688 (689) (Breach would not entitle buyer to avoid sale but to damages)  AIR 1956 Nag 124 (125) - ILR (1956) Nag 74 (A sold a field to B by sale deed containing in express covenant that A would be liable for any defect in title. After the sale, C instituted suit impeaching both A and B, impeaching the title of A and claiming eviction of B. A remained ex parte though the question of title was a matter within his special knowledge. B therefore compromised the suit and then filed a suit for damages against A for the breach of the covenant. It was held that A was liable for damages)  1950 2x Mys LJ 65 (71) (DB) (Purchase money is generally the measure of damages)  AIR 1933 Nag 364 (365)  AIR 1930 Mad 748 (750) (Damages were assessed at the enhanced value of land at the date of eviction — Purchasers cannot claim damages if they have transferred their share before institution of suit)  (1929) 120 Ind Cas 163, 164, (DB) (Lah) (Damages to be ascertained according to the price at the date of ejection)  AIR 1921 Mad 384 (385) - 44 Mad 167 (DB) (If vendee is dispossessed by a third person having a superior title than that of the vendor and if vendor gets a substituted property for the land sold, vendee does not become entitled to it. His only remedy is damages for breach of warranty implied by paragraph 2)  AIR 1920 Lah 297 (299) - 1 Lah 380 (DB) (Vendee evicted from portions by third person with superior title — Measure of damages — price of land at date of eviction)  AIR 1917 Nag 125 (127)  AIR 1916 Bom 277, 281 (DB)  (1913) 5 ALJ 168 (172) (DB) (Covenant for title indemnifying vendee — Claim by third person — Vendor not settling the claim — Vendee compromising suit by third person and suing vendor for damages — Held suit was competent)  (1902) 5 Oudh Cas 78 (80) (He cannot claim another in substitution of what he lost)  1881 All WN 50 (51) (DB)  (1867, 2 Agra 199 (199) (DB).

[See also (1920) 39 M LJ 706 (708) (DB) (A purchasing land for coparcener and selling it to B — A's vendor allotted other land in decree for partition — B cannot ask for substituted land — B can claim only damages for breach of warranty of title)  1881 All WN 160 (161) (DB)  AIR 1921 Lah 357, 360 (DB) (Vendee dispossessed due to defect in vendor's title — Measure of damages — the price of land on date of eviction)  AIR 1921 Mad 277 (277) (Seller sold his mortgagee rights — The mortgage was found invalid —

In the first class of cases referred to above, time for a suit for damages for a breach of the implied contract will run from the date of the conveyance itself. But in the second class of cases time for such a suit will run from the date when the sale is legally avoided by the person entitled to avoid it. In either class of cases where the sale is effected by a registered document the period of limitation was six years under Art. 116 of the Limitation Act, 1908(73) and where the sale is an oral one, the period was three years under Art. 115 of that Act (now Art. 55 of the Limitation Act, 1963). A covenant for title is not one which admits of a continuing breach within the meaning of S. 23 of the Limitation Act of 1908 (now S. 22 of the Limitation Act, 1963)(74) but a covenant for quiet enjoyment is one which admits of such breach (75). In cases(76) where it has been held that this clause also includes a covenant for quiet possession a breach of such covenant takes place when the buyer is deprived of the possession which had been given to him, and the article applicable to a suit on such breach is either Art. 115 or Art. 116 of the Limitation Act, 1908 (77). The Limitation Act of 1963 has, however, omitted Art. 116 and has thus done away with the distinction between the contracts in writing registered and other contracts. Now under the Limitation Act of 1963, Art. 55 provides for a period of limitation of three years for all breaches of contracts not specifically provided for whether in a writing registered or oral.

Apart from any relief which the buyer may claim by way of damages on the implied contract under this paragraph, the buyer has also other remedies open to him. Thus, where the buyer has been placed in possession of the property purchased by him and is subsequently evicted by a person with a superior title, he can recover the purchase money on the ground of failure of considera-

Seller was held liable for damages — AIR 1916 Mad 480, Dissented from.)  (1875) 12 Bom HCR 10 (13) (DB) (Real area of land was found to fall short of the area specified in the sale deed — Proportional compensation was awarded.)  AIR 1927 All 53 (53) (Vendor selling property subject to a prior mortgage and leaving certain amount with vendee to pay off mortgagee — Mortgage money was found much more than the amount left with vendee — Held that this fact constituted breach of implied contract.)  (1897) 21 Bom 175 (186) (DB) (Purchaser evicted from holding — Measure of damages is the value of land on the date of eviction.)  AIR 1931 Nag 4 (15), 27 Nag LR 207 (Do)  AIR 1924 Cal 148 (150) (DB) (Suit for refund of purchase money for a defect in the title may be regarded as one for damages.)  AIR 1923 Lah 590 (591) (DB, (Do)  AIR 1919 Mad 37 (38) (DB) (Do)  AIR 1929 Pat 388 (389), 8 Pat 432 (DB), (Do).]

[See however AIR 1938 Lah 743 (746, 747) (DB) (Vendee's negligent in defending mortgage suit — Not raising proper pleas available to them — No cloud on vendor's title — Vendee not legally entitled to mortgage amount paid by them or litigation cost in spite of indemnity clause.)]

73. AIR 1961 J & K 66 (75, 76), (Breach of covenant of title in registered sale deed — Suit for damages by vendee — Article 116 applies and not Art. 62.)  AIR 1932 Nag 5 (9) : 28 Nag LR 31 (FB)  AIR 1937 Rang 39 (40, 41) (DB)  AIR 1936 Oudh 141 (142) 11 Luck 725 (DB)  AIR 1933 Mad 126 (128)  AIR 1931 Sind 141 (142) 25 Sind LR 173  AIR 1930 Sind 12 (14) 24 Sind LR 172  AIR 1929 Mad 775 (776)  AIR 1927 Mad 273 (277)  AIR 1926 Mad 255 (255, 256)  AIR 1926 All 605 (608) (DB)  AIR 1925 Bom 440 (441) (DB)  AIR 1919 Mad 757 (757)  AIR 1915 Mad 742 (743) 38 Mad 1171 (DB)  (1904) 2 Nag LR 174 (177, 178)  (1898) 21 Mad 8 (9) (DB)  (1891) 1 Mad LJ 479 (480)  (1891) 1 Mad LJ 162 (163) (DB)  (1911) 11 Ind Cas 337 (338) (DB) (Mad)
74. See S. 22, Note 6 of the A.I.R. Commentaries on the Limitation Act, 7th (1997) Edition. See Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XXV, page 465
75. See S. 22, Note 7 of the A.I.R. Commentaries on the Limitation Act, 7th (1997) Edition.
76. See in this Note under sub-title "Paragraph 2, if includes covenant for quiet enjoyment"
77. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 445 (446)  AIR 1953 Mad 529 (531) (DB) (Suit by purchaser for breach of covenant — Cause of action either date of decree against him or of his dispossession — Suit filed within six years of either date — Held not barred under Art. 116, Limitation Act.)  AIR 1950 Bom 401 (404, 406) (DB)  AIR 1934 Nag 16 (17) 30

tion (78) The cause of action for such a suit will arise on the date of the loss of possession and the period of limitation will be that prescribed by Art. 97 of the Limitation Act, 1908 (now Art. 47 of the Act of 1963). (79) Where the sale is void ab initio the buyer can also recover the purchase money paid by him. (80) A mere suit for return of purchase money not based on breach of covenant for title will be covered by Art. 62 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908 (81) Where a sale is free of incumbrances, and the buyer, on discovery of an incumbrance is compelled to pay the incumbrancer, he can under S. 69 of the Contract Act recover the money so paid. (82)

Where the sale of property of B by C was adjudged void in a suit for possession by A, on the ground that the property belonged to A and that C had no title to it, the relief of payment of consideration amount by A to B would be inconsistent with the relief of possession granted to A, who was not under any liability to pay B any money that B might have paid to C (83)

It is not necessary for the plaintiff, in a suit for damages for the breach of the implied covenant under this paragraph, to show that he has actually suffered loss or damage. Thus, where an incumbrance, not disclosed at the time of the sale, is discovered thereafter, the buyer can sue for damages notwithstanding he has not paid off the incumbrance (84)

The measure of damages in a suit for damages on the implied contract would be governed as in the case of all contracts by the provisions of S. 73 of the Contract Act (85) It will include any loss

Nag LR 138 (Sole deed registered — Article 116 held applicable)  AIR 1919 Mad 849 (850) (DB) (Continuing covenant for title — Breach arising on declaration of title in other person — Buyer entitled to damages.)

[See also AIR 1934 Mad 687 (688) · 57 Mad 1016.]

78. AIR 1953 Mad 529 (531) (DB)  AIR 1934 Pat 280 (281) (DB) (Vendee negotiating with real owner and retaining possession — Vendor liable to refund purchase money)  AIR 1918 Pat 502 (503) · 3 Pat LJ 358 (DB) (In a suit for recovery of purchase money vendor cannot plead that former suit filed against him and vendee by the third party and decided in his favour was wrongly decided) 1913 Mad WN 1029 (1031) (DB)  (1902) 26 Bom 750 (755) (DB)  (1895) 18 Mad 173 (174) (DB).

79. See AIR Commentaries on the Limitation Act, 7th (1997) Edn. Notes on Art. 47  AIR 1959 Mys 46 (47) : ILR (1958) Mys 237

80. See A.I.R. Commentaries on the Limitation Act, 7th (1997) Edn., Art. 24, Note 12

[See also (1954) 20 Cut LT 591 (595) (Contract for sale void ab initio — Buyer would be entitled to recover purchase money under S. 65 Contract Act)]

81. AIR 1974 Pat 319 (DB).

82. AIR 1928 PC 98 (99) : 55 Ind App 135.

Also see Note 8.

83. 1954 Madh BLJ HCR 1685 (1688)

84. AIR 1931 Nag 166 (168) : 27 Nag LR 392

85. AIR 1962 Andh Pra 192 (198) (DB) (Basis of assessing damages would be the market value of the land (subject-matter of sale) as on date of dispossession of vendee)  AIR 1962 Madh Pra 144 (145) (Mortgage existing on date of sale — Buyer dispossessed of property in its enforcement. He is entitled to refund of sale price as damages)  AIR 1956 Trav-Co 90 (92) (DB) (The fair rule would be to give the defendant such damages as would compensate him for the defective quality of his title)  AIR 1953 Mad 529 (531) (DB) (Plaintiff must be given the property or its value on the date when he makes the demand by instituting a suit)  (1950) 28 Mys LJ 165 (171) (DB) (In the case of a breach of covenant for title the measure of damages is the difference between the value of the thing as it is and its value as it was warranted to be. Where the defect in title is so or damage caused to the buyer which naturally arose in the usual course of things from such breach, or which the parties knew, was likely to result from such breach. In Bunny v. Hopkinson(86) where A sold some building land to B and after some houses had been built on the land the purchaser was evicted, it was held that purchaser was entitled to recover, not only the value of the land, but also that of the houses subsequently built thereon. "I am of opinion" said Sir John Romilly, M.R., "that the measure of damages upon these covenants includes the amount expended in converting the land into the purposes for which it was sold." Bunny v. Hopkinson(87) was followed in the undermentioned case by the Judicial Commissioner's Court of Nagpur.(88) It was held in that case that the buyer was entitled on the implied covenant to claim not only the value of the property conveyed but also the value of the improvements effected by the buyer in the ordinary course. See also the undermentioned cases.(89)

Where a recital in the sale deed provided that in case vendee is deprived of land he will be compensated, and the vendee was in fact deprived because of vendor's defective title and he claimed possession of land, it was held that he was entitled to equivalent land or price of land, even though he had not claimed price.(90)

If the vendee is within his rights in calling upon the vendor to satisfy him that the property agreed to be purchased by him was free from encumbrances, the latter is not entitled to call upon the former to pay the balance of sale price and take a conveyance without complying with the requisition or without even telling him that he should be compensated for any loss that might be sustained by him consequent upon his failure to pay off the mortgage debt, if any, outstanding and later on put an end to the contract on the ground that the vendee did not perform his part of the contract.(91)

Against whom can the right be enforced.

By a covenant for good title, a statutory obligation is incurred by the original vendor. An obligation means an act which binds a person to some performance. In the case of a covenant for title the obligation is to make good the loss or damage caused to the vendee occasioned by the defect in title in the property conveyed and the general rule is that the legal representatives of a deceased-debtor are liable to the extent of the assets which come into their hands upon all contracts complete as to pass nothing to the vendee, the purchase money is generally taken to be the measure of damages)  AIR 1943 Mad 150 (151) (Measure is market value of property on date of dispossession)  AIR 1930 Mad 748 (750) (Vendee can claim as damages enhanced value of the land at the time of his eviction.)  AIR 1929 Lah 416 (418) (DB)  AIR 1921 Lah 357 (360) (DB) (Measure of price is the price at the time of eviction.)  (1929) 120 Ind Cas 163 (164) (DB) (Lah) (Measure is the price of land at the time of eviction and not compensation in the shape of other land and mesne profits)  (1908) 32 Bom 165 (171).

See also Footnote 46.

86. (1859) 54 ER 223 (224) 27 Beav 565 29 LJ Ch 93 6 Jur (NS) 187 1 LT 53 122 RR 529

87. (1859) 54 ER 223 27 Beav 565 29 LJ Ch 93 6 Jur (NS) 187 1 LT 53 122 RR 529.

88. AIR 1931 Nag 14 (16) : 27 Nag LR 207.

89. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 533 (541) (DB) (Damages for breach of contract - - Damages are only by way of compensation for loss suffered and not by way of punishment)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 307 (325) ILR (1955) Andh 170 (DB)  AIR 1943 Mad 752 (753) (Sale deed by A and B — Covenant for title by both — B's share in property found encumbered — Both A and B are liable in damages to buyer.)

90. (1988) 1 Land LR 429 (431) (Punj).

91. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 307 (329) ILR (1955) Andh 170 (DB).

of the deceased undischarged at his death.(92) The words 'legal representative' would include heirs at law whether they take by succession or by survivorship, a universal legatee and, in some cases, a person in de facto possession of the entire estate(93) but not a person who is in possession of a part of the property of the deceased vendor as a legatee from his universal legatees (94) See also the undermentioned cases.(95)

Sale of several items of properties — Defect of title with regard to some — Effect.

Where several items of properties are sold at one price under a sale deed and some of those items are subsequently found to have been subject to a charge the purchaser as regards those items is entitled to have the contract of sale rescinded and get damages for its breach and need not surrender the items with regard to which there is no such defect (96)

Several vendees taking under single sale deed as tenants-in-common — Covenant is several.

Where two vendees take under a single sale deed as tenants-in-common, the covenants entered into with the vendor are, in the absence of a contract to the contrary several A suit to enforce the covenant can be brought by any vendee without making the other a party to the suit (97)

Contract to the contrary.

The implied covenant for title under this paragraph may be negatived by a contract to the contrary (98) Where there is a covenant in the sale deed that the seller shall not be liable for any defect of title in the property transferred, it will be a contract to the contrary and the statutory covenant will not apply (99) But unless a contract between the parties is inconsistent with the statutory covenant for title, it cannot be considered to be a contract to the contrary (100) Thus a clause in the sale deed that the seller had not created any incumbrances on the property does not exclude the statutory covenant for title (101) An express warranty of title and possession is not necessarily inconsistent with the statutory covenant under this paragraph and is therefore not a contract to the

92. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 29 (30)

93. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 29 (31)

94. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 29 (31)

95. AIR 1959 Raj 254 (255) ILR (1958) 8 Raj 850 (Sale of ancestral property by Hindu father — Not for legal necessity or family benefit — Sale set aside at the instance of son — Son not liable to pay back the consideration as father's debt)  AIR 1952 Punj 298 (299) (DB) (A sale deed executed by A and B showed that the real seller was A and B only had a right of repurchase — The concluding portion of the deed was — we the vendors i.e. the executant No. 1 will be answerable, if by any reason the property or part thereof goes out of possession of the vendee — B was executant No. 1 — The whole tenor of the deed showed that both A and B were answerable if the vendee in any way had to part with property sold — It was held that under S. 55 both A and B were answerable if it was found that the vendors had no title to the property and if by that reason the vendee had to suffer.)

96. AIR 1945 Mad 205 (206, 207).

97. (1904) 15 Mad LJ 396 (399) (DB)

98. AIR 1962 Andh Pra 192 (195) (DB) (Covenant can be excluded only by an express contract)  AIR 1960 All 367 (368) ILR (1959) 2 All 521 (DB)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 307 (325) ILR (1950) Andh 170 (DB) (Per Chandra Reddi, J. and Subba Rao, C.J. Umamaheswaram, J. contra)  AIR 1950 Nag 229 (231) ILR (1950) Nag 467 (Implied covenant cannot be got rid of except by clear and unambiguous expressions)  AIR 1927 Sind 120 (122) 19 Sind LR 337  AIR 1920 Mad 634 (635) (DB)

99. (1907) 30 Mad 284 (286) (DB)

100. See Note 22.

101. AIR 1926 Mad 255 (256)  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 91 (95) (DB) (Cal) (Clause in the deed that if damage was sustained for any other cause vendor would not be responsible — Clause held sufficient to negative liability.)

contrary.(102) A stipulation that if the buyer lost possession of any portion of the property he was entitled to rescind the contract and sue for the consideration,(103) or a stipulation that if any legal or other defect in title is found in the future, the seller will be liable for the same.(104) or a stipulation that the heirs and reversioners of the seller would have no objection and if they claimed the land, the seller would pay damages, price and costs and take back the land,(105) or a stipulation that if any dispute arose through the seller in respect of the land, he would get it settled,(106) is not a contract to the contrary excluding the covenant for title. A contract to the contrary cannot be deduced from the mere fact that the buyer was aware of the defect in title (107) Where a mortgagee with a power of sale enters into a contract for the sale of the mortgaged property, but before the execution of the conveyance the mortgage is redeemed by the mortgagor, there is no breach of covenant for title by the mortgagee and he is not liable for damages for any such breach. He is only liable to return the earnest money. The fact that his agreement provided that he would make out a marketable title does not mean that the mortgagor would not redeem the property.(108)

A contract excluding the covenant for title implied by this paragraph must be embodied in the deed itself, and an oral agreement to that effect is not admissible in evidence under S. 92 of the Evidence Act.(109)

The benefit of an implied covenant for title may be waived by the buyer, who cannot, after such waiver, take advantage of it (110) But the waiver, implied in the act of the vendee in paying

102. AIR 1925 All 704 (705) (Express stipulation as to encumbrances does not exclude vendor's liability to discharge undisclosed encumbrance.)

[See also (1929) 120 Ind Cas 163 (164) (Lah).]

103. AIR 1960 All 367 (368) ILR (1959) 2 All 521  AIR 1933 All 203 (205) (DB)  AIR 1932 All 553 (554)  AIR 1932 All 224 (226) (DB).

[See also AIR 1926 Lah 182 (182) (Vendor guaranteeing peaceful enjoyment — Clause not confined to any present defect of title — Property lost by pre-emption — Vendor held liable to make good the loss)  (1912) 15 Ind Cas 334 (334) (Cal) (Attachment of property sold — Held, there was no dispossession)  1910 Mad WN 502 (502) (DB). (A condition in a sale deed that if the purchaser be dispossessed by Government the vendor will refund the purchase money is lawful)]

104. AIR 1961 Pat 11 (14) (Stipulation is only an additional safeguard)  AIR 1961 Raj 196 (202) ILR (1960) 10 Raj 1153 (Stipulation that if any trouble arises later on with respect to vendee's title, vendor would make good the loss — Not a contract to the contrary.)  AIR 1959 Raj 254 (255) ILR (1958) 8 Raj 850 (Sale by Hindu father — Express stipulation to pay back consideration if sale is set aside — Does not exclude statutory liability.)

105. AIR 1923 Lah 590 (591) (DB).

[See also (1931) 132 Ind Cas 802 (803) (All) (Provision in the sale deed for damages in case of breach — Vendee was held not entitled to claim costs of litigation in protecting his title)]

106. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 307 (326) ILR (1955) Andhra 170 (DB) (If any disputes arise I (seller) shall settle them at my expenses — Held not a contract to the contrary.)  AIR 1915 Mad 689 (690).

107. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 307 (325) ILR (1955) Andh 170 (DB) (Per Chandra Reddy, J. and Subbarao, C J)  AIR 1918 Mad 1315 (1319) : 40 Mad 338 (FB).

108. AIR 1949 Bom 154 (156) (DB).

109. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 307 (325) ILR (1955) Andh 170 (DB) (Per Chandra Reddy, J. and Subba Rao, C J, Umamaheswaram, J. contra — Clause to contrary must be in clear and definite terms — Clause in deed "if in respect of this property any disputes arise from anyone I (Seller) shall settle them at my own expense," held vague and not sufficient to constitute contract to the contrary)  AIR 1930 All 771 (774) 52 All 604 (DB).

110. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 307 (326) ILR (1955) Andh 170 (DB). (It was held that taking of possession of property which was given under the terms of the document and subsequent conduct of vendee namely payment of sums of money towards balance of price in the two sums towards the balance of the price after taking possession under the terms of the document will not refer to an encumbrance removable by the vendor (111)

The mere refusal on the part of the vendor to give a warranty of title does not disentitle the purchaser to a decree for specific performance in terms of the agreement. (112) As to the effect of the term in the agreement for sale that the agreement was 'subject to the approval of title by the purchaser's lawyer see the undermentioned cases. (113)

10. Delivery of documents of title — Paragraph 3.

The title deeds for the property sold belong to the buyer as an incident of the property sold, though not granted by express words (1) He is entitled to every deed forming a step in his title in such a shape that he can, if necessary, give it in evidence (2) He is not bound to complete the contract until the title deeds are handed over, unless it is shown that there is some difficulty as to title which prevents the seller from handing them over (3)

If a purchaser does not insist at the time of sale on delivery of title deeds which were with the prior unregistered mortgagee he is guilty of gross negligence and cannot be said to be without notice of prior mortgage. (4)

Where the mortgagee sells the mortgage property under a power of sale which he has under S. 69 of the Transfer of Property Act, the mortgage deed is a document of title and must be handed over to the buyer. (5)

The buyer is not entitled to the title unless the whole of the purchase money has been paid to the seller. Where the buyer had executed a promissory note to the seller for the price but did not circumstances of the case was not such as would amount to a waiver of his rights to require a good title.)  AIR 1950 EP 74 (76) (DB) (Suit based on breach of express covenant without alleging any defect of title — Vendee cannot fall back on S. 55(2) and take advantage of implied covenant)  (1892) 15 Mad 50, 53 (DB)  (1890) 13 Mad 158 (165) (DB)

[See also AIR 1923 All 169 (169)]

111. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 307 (326) : ILR (1955) Andhra 170

112. AIR 1951 All 93 (118) : ILR (1950) All 1033 (FB)  AIR 1938 Nag 4, 1 (412) (Agreement on basis of vendor's representation of absolute title — Vendor subsequently raising disputes as to title — Decree for specific performance must be in terms of agreement — Vendor cannot be permitted to introduce a contract to the contrary in the conveyance depriving vendee of the statutory covenant.)

113. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 256 (260-261)  AIR 1914 Cal 777 (2) (780) (Held, that the vendee was entitled to get back the earnest money and his solicitor's costs if the solicitor on reasonable grounds disapproved of the title.)

Section 55 — Note 10

1. (1887) 11 Bom 485 (486) (DB)  (1847) 74 RR 638 (637) 1 Ex 189, Goode v Burton

See also the following cases :

(1842) 174 ER 675 (675) 66 RR 892, Austin v Croome (Person entitled to the inheritance has a right to the possession of the title deeds)  (1832) 110 ER 63 (65) 17 RR 374, Harrington v Price  (1815) 128 ER 936 (937) 4 Camp 121 Hooper v Ramsbottom  (1801) 126 ER 1379 (1379) 2 Bos and Pul 451, Parry v Frame  (1572) 76 ER 1 (3) 1 Co Rep 1, Buckhurst Lord v Fenner.

2. (1881) 50 LJ Ch 463 (464) 17 Ch D 10 (12), Whitling v Loomes (Purchaser from mortgagor can insist to have the mortgage deed sufficiently stamped)

3. (1898) 67 LJ Ch 218 (220) (1898) 1 Ch 419 (423), In re Duthy and Jason's contract

4. AIR 1970 Mad 226 (228)

5. AIR 1939 Mad 774 (775) (DB).

tender a proper conveyance to him for execution by him under paragraph 1. Clause (d), it was held in a suit by the seller on the promissory note, that the buyer was not entitled to claim that the seller did not give him the title deeds, and that he was consequently and bound to pay the amount due on the note.(6)

Seller retaining part of property.

A owned property x over which there was a right of way in favour of the owner of the property y. A subsequently purchased property y and thus extinguished the easement, but subsequently sold property y to B without the right of easement. It was held that A could retain the title deeds of property y as they related to property x also and so far as the easement was concerned.(7) When the seller retains such deeds, he should enter into a covenant with the buyer to produce them whenever necessary.(8)

Sales to different buyers.

The buyer of the lot of a greatest value is, under the proviso, entitled to the possession of the title deeds, and the seller has no right as against him to retain them even though he had covenanted with the earlier buyers of other portions of the property that he would produce the title deeds when required; but, in such a case, according to the English practice, the purchaser of the greatest value must give a covenant to the seller that he will produce the deeds and indemnify the seller against his liability under the covenants in the prior sale deeds (9) A purchased the largest lot in value and extent. But B purchased several lots whose aggregate value and extent exceeded those of A's lot. It was held that A was entitled to the custody of title deeds (10) It is the purchaser of the lot greatest in value who is entitled to the custody of title deeds.(11) But if there is a condition that the purchaser of the "largest lot" shall have them, that must mean largest in superficial area.(12)

11. Right to rents and profits and interest on purchase money.

(A) Right to rents and profits.

The right to rents and profits of a property is an incident of the right of ownership and passes with the transfer of ownership. Until, therefore, the ownership passes to the buyer, the seller will be entitled to the rents and profits (paragraph 4, Clause (a)) A contract for sale does not transfer a right in rem. The law, therefore, allows the vendor the right of appropriation of rents and profits till there is a proper conveyance of title against payment of price.(1) Where the agreement to sell did not contain any stipulation that vendee was put in possession of property to be sold and the document was silent as to profits and rents, S 55(4)(a) is attracted. Owner is entitled to profits and rents till loss of ownerships (2) But this provision has no application to a case where in anticipation of the transfer of ownership the prospective buyer is put in possession of the property (3) Where an in-

6. AIR 1919 PC 124 (125).

7. (1906) 75 LJ Ch 768 (769) (1995) 2 Ch 640 (642). In re Lehmann and Walker's contract

8. (1854) 65 ER 354 (354) : 2 WR (Eng) 242, Yates v. Plumbe.

9. AIR 1941 Bom 48 (49) : ILR (1941) Bom 55 (DB)

10. (1855) 52 ER 800 (801) : 111 RR 39, Scott v. Jackman

11. (1854) 69 ER 350 (351) : 23 LJ Ch 957, Griffiths v. Hatchard.

12. (1854) 69 ER 350 (351) : 23 LJ Ch 957, Griffiths v. Hatchard.

Section 55 — Note 11

1. 1970 Jab LJ 252 : 1970 MPLJ 80  (1992) 3 Ker LJ 186 (206).

2. AIR 1993 Kant 257 (276) : 1992 (3) Kant LJ 207.

3. AIR 1966 Mys 86 (90, 91) : ILR (1963) Mys 1109  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 34 (36) : ILR (1956) Andh 87 (DB) (In such a case there is no completed transfer and, therefore, the statutory rule has no application.)

tending seller of a plot of land who agrees to sell and give possession to the buyer and the latter constructs not the agreed cottage but a house the seller would be entitled to rents and profits that would accrue from the plot of land, but not from the construction raised by the buyer (4) After the ownership passes to the buyer the latter is the person entitled to such rents and profits (para 6 Cl (a)). (5) If by neglect of the seller no rents and profits are received, he will be liable for what he might with reasonable care have received (6) Under this Act the contract for sale itself does not pass ownership in the property to the buyer; the ownership is transferred only on the conveyance executed in pursuance of a contract for sale (7) But in England a contract for sale of real property makes the purchaser the owner in equity of the estate (8) and the seller must hold the property as trustee for the buyer from the date of the contract until the conveyance is completed (9) The trusteeship is, however, a qualified trusteeship (10) He is as legal owner, entitled to the rents and profits of the land in his own right until the moment when the conveyance is completed or ought to be completed. From that moment the rents and profits belong to the buyer. If a date is fixed in the contract for completion, the right to rents and profits dates from the day so fixed. If no date is fixed it dates from the moment when a good title is made out (11) The distinction between legal and equitable estate is not applicable in this country where this Act is in force and no question as to the buyer's right to rents and profits can arise under this Act before the contract for sale has been completed by the execution of the conveyance. It cannot be said that the possession of the vendor is wrongful or that he is bound to account to the purchaser for profits till the sale deed is executed in favour of the purchaser. The purchaser therefore cannot sue for mesne profits from the date of contract for sale to the date on which he obtains possession (12) In the Punjab where the Act is not in force, it has been held on the analogy of the English law that after the contract for sale the seller is the trustee for the buyer of the property and the buyer is the trustee for the seller in respect of the purchase money, and that the seller is not entitled to rents and profits after the date fixed in the contract for completing the said. (13)

4. 1974 Rajdhani LR 252 (DB)

5. AIR 1966 Mys 86 (90) : ILR (1963) Mys 1109  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 960 (961) : 1954 (2) Mad LJ (Andh) 11 (13)  AIR 1923 Pat 206 (DB) (A lien on property for unpaid purchase money does not entitle vendor to retain possession and hence he is liable for mesne profits to vendee.)

[See also AIR 1967 Cal 390 (402) (A leasing property to B and then transferring it to C — B knowing about transfer after some months — B not paying rent either to A or to C — B is not protected by S. 50.)]

6. (1816) 56 ER 245 (247) : 2 Mad 28 : 17 RR 177  Acland v. Cuming (1852) 10 ER 222 (223) : 3 HLC 565 : 88 RR 212. Birch v. Joy.

[See however AIR 1927 Rang 134 (135) (Indemnity clause as to title does not guarantee rents — Failure of tenant to pay rent — Remedy of vendee is against tenant and not against vendor.)]

7. AIR 1966 Mys 86 (90) : ILR (1963) Mys 1109 (Title passes only when registered deed is executed)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 960 (961)

8. AIR 1916 PC 139 (140) : 44 Ind App 15.

9. Halsbury, Laws of England, Vol. XXV, pages 364, 365.

10. Halsbury, Laws of England, Vol. XXV, page 367.

11. (1904) 73 LJ Ch 279 (281) : (1904) 1 Ch 464 (469) : 90 LT 533 : 52 WR (Eng) 450 Prews v. Samuel  AIR 1965 Mad 37 (42) : ILR (1964) 1 Mad 691 (DB)

Topham, new Law of Property, 4th Edition, 1932, pages 353, 354

12. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 960 (961)

13. AIR 1930 Lah 131 (132) (DB)

If the transferee is assigned arrears of rent through a specific agreement between the parties the transferor and transferee, there is no impediment in buyer getting the rent prior to the date of registration of sale deed. Agreement to sell in the instant case provided for induction of the tenant on rent by the transferee. There being specific contract between the parties, the transferee was entitled to rent for the period prior to execution of sale deed in his favour.(14)

(B) Right to interest on purchase money.

The right to interest on the purchase money rests on other considerations than those referred to above. Where, on the passing of ownership, delivery of possession has been given to the buyer but he has not paid the purchase money, the act of taking possession will be regarded as an implied agreement on the part of the buyer to pay interest on the purchase money from the date on which he took possession.(15) and the seller will have a charge on the property in the hands of the buyer not only for the purchase money but also for the interest so payable (para 4, Clause (b)).(16) This would appear to rest on the broad principle that it is inequitable in the absence of an express stipulation that either party to a contract of sale should, at one and the same time, enjoy the benefits flowing from possession of the property and those flowing from the possession of the purchase money; the estate and the purchase money are things mutually exclusive (17) In Ratan Lal v. Municipal Commissioner for the City of Bombay(18) the same principle has been stated by their Lordships of the Privy Council as follows :

"The Board is of opinion that the right to interest depends upon the following broad and clear consideration. Unless there be something in the contract of parties which necessarily imports the opposite, the date when one party enters into possession of the property of another is the proper date from which interest on the unpaid price should run. On the one hand, the new owner has possession, use and fruits, on the other, the former owner, parting with these, has interest on the price. This is sound in principle and authority fully warrants it - see especially Sir William Grant's judgment in Fludger v. Cocker.(19)

14. 1999 AIHC 4705 (4706) : 1998 (2) MPLJ 489.

15. AIR 1970 Andh Pra 262 (FB)  AIR 1964 Punj 123 (129) : ILR (1964) 1 Punj 143 (DB)  (1806) 33 ER 10 (11) : 12 Ves 25, Fludger v. Cocker.

[See AIR 1956 Andh Pra 113 (114) (Pr 9) (Where physical possession is not delivered to the buyer there is justification for awarding interest to seller on purchase money)]

[See also (1880) 49 LJ Ch 618 (619) : 15 Ch D 122 (124) 43 LT 173 29 WR (Eng) 73, Ballard v. Shutt (Taking of possession carries with it the liability to pay interest on purchase money in the absence of any stipulation to the contrary.)]

[See however AIR 1930 Nag 32 (32) (NOTE It has been held in this case that this clause gives interest by way of damages — Submitted not correct — This clause by itself does not give any right to interest — See Note 12 — Further it is the implied agreement to pay interest that gives rise to the right.)]

16. AIR 1957 Mad 630 (631)  AIR 1956 Andh Pra 113 (114) (Where physical possession is not delivered to the buyer there is no justification for awarding interest to the seller on the purchase price)  AIR 1925 Mad 660 (668). (Seller not entitled to interest under this clause unless ownership has passed to the buyer and possession of the property is delivered to the buyer.)

17. AIR 1941 PC 114 (118, 119). (Interest granted on compensation money paid to the vendee.)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 34 (36) : ILR (1956) Andh 87 (DB)  AIR 1957 Mad 630 (631)  AIR 1952 Mad 678 (679) (DB)  (1950) 2 Mad LJ 773 (774) (DB)  (1912) 35 Mad 625 (627) (DB).

[See also AIR 1925 Mad 660 (668). (Ownership of property had not passed entirely to the buyer — Interest was not payable.)]

18. AIR 1918 PC 129 (134) : 45 Ind App 233.

19. (1805) 33 ER 10 (11) : 12 Ves 25 : 8 RR 275.

Where, however, on the passing of ownership no delivery of possession is given to the buyer, and no purchase money is paid by the buyer to the seller, the position under para 4, Cl. (b) read with para 6, Cl. (a) is, that the buyer will be entitled to the rents and profits from the seller from the date of the conveyance but the seller will not be entitled to a charge for interest on the unpaid purchase money,⁽²⁰⁾ as, under para 4, Cl. (b) he is declared to have a charge for the interest only from the date of the delivery of possession and not before.

The right of the seller to interest on the purchase money, being one derived from equity, is not absolute, but will depend upon the equities and circumstances of each case.⁽²¹⁾ and also may be negatived by a contract either express or implied ⁽²²⁾ Thus, the seller cannot claim interest if the non-payment of the purchase money is due to his own default ⁽²³⁾ Similarly, where a portion of the consideration money is retained by the purchaser under the express terms of the contract between the parties to be paid to an encumbrancer, the seller will not be entitled to any interest on such money. Thus, in the undermentioned Madras case⁽²⁴⁾ the property was sold free from encumbrance and a certain amount was retained by the purchaser for payment to the mortgagee. The purchaser agreed to pay the sum to the mortgagee with the interest that might accrue in future according to the terms of the mortgage. But he did not pay the sum to the mortgagee as provided in the sale deed. The Madras Agriculturists Relief Act having been passed in the meanwhile, the sellers who were agriculturists brought a suit directing the vendees to deposit the sum in their hands at the time of the sale together with interest from the date of sale and for paying out of the amount thus deposited the sum properly payable to the prior encumbrancer on scaling down the debt and the balance to the sellers as the persons entitled thereto. In holding that the sellers were entitled to the balance, but not to the interest Patanjali Sastri, J. delivering the judgment of the Bench observed

20. AIR 1956 Andh 113 (114)  AIR 1952 Mad 678 (679) (DB)  (1950) 2 Mad LJ 773 (774) (DB)  AIR 1937 Sind 198 (201) 31 Sind LR 150 (DB) (It was however held that as the vendee was awarded mesne profits he could not at the same time refuse to pay interest.)

21. AIR 1952 Mad 678 (679) (DB)  AIR 1933 Rang 40 (402) (Section 55 does not exclude the application of equitable principles)  (1912) 35 Mad 625 (627) (DB)

[See also (1912) Mad WN 915 (916) (DB) (Contract to pay interest on purchase money if not paid on specified date — Payment delayed owing to vendor's inability to pass clear title — Held, interest became payable only from the date on which vendor could give clear title.)]

[See however AIR 1933 Oudh 33 (34-35) 8 Luck 185 (DB) (Right to interest is statutory right and party cannot be deprived of it on equitable considerations.)]

22. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 34 (36) : ILR (1956) Andhra 87

23. AIR 1966 Mys 86 (91) ILR (1963) Mys 1109  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 34 (36) 11 R (1956) Andhra 87 (Vendor not taking consideration amount though offered by purchaser)  AIR 1930 Lah 568 (571) 11 Lah 587 (DB) (Case not governed by the Act)  AIR 1921 Mad 498 (503, 504) (DB) (Where a vendor fails to perform his part of the contract and the circumstances are such as to require the purchaser to keep the purchase money lying idle and unproductive or at least to justify him in doing so, the vendor will not be entitled to interest)  AIR 1918 Oudh 398 (402) 21 Oudh Cas 234 (DB)  AIR 1918 Mad 716 (717) (DB). (Per Spencer, J.)

[See also (1803) 32 ER 309 (310) 8 Ves 146 7 RR 7 Powell v Martyr (In this case money was lying idle without interest to the knowledge of the vendor.)]

[But see 1893 Bom PJ 349 (DB).]

24. AIR 1943 Mad 482 (486, 487) ILR (1943) Mad 885 (DB)

[See also AIR 1953 Mad 370 (371) (DB) (Vendor however held could not demand refund of balance of amount that would remain, after paying off mortgage amount as reduced when vendee had actually paid more than amount deposited towards the principal and also interest.)]

"It is to be observed that both under the terms of the sale deed and under S 55(b) of the Transfer of Property Act, the amount retained by the appellants out of the purchase money for payment to the mortgagee could not be and was not claimed by the respondents, as the property had to be cleared of the encumbrance. There was thus no wrongful withholding of money payable to the respondents, nor did the latter suffer any damage by reason of the appellants failure to pay the amount to the mortgagee, according to the stipulation in the sale deed. Indeed, the delay in payment of the amount has benefited the respondents by reason of Act IV of 1938 having come into force, as they would not otherwise be entitled to put forward their present claim. There is thus no legal basis for the respondents' claim to interest on the sum reserved with the appellants for payment to the mortgagee. It was suggested that interest could be awarded under S 55(4)(b) of the Transfer of Property Act, which provides for a charge on the property sold for the purchase money or any part thereof remaining unpaid and for interest on such amount or part from the date on which possession has been delivered. But this general provision clearly pre-supposes that the purchase money or part thereof remaining unpaid is payable to the seller and can have no application to a case where the buyer is entitled and allowed to retain out of the purchase money the amount of an encumbrance on the property for payment to the person entitled thereto."

The fact that the income from the land given in possession of the buyer is less than the interest on the purchase money cannot be, in itself, a circumstance to negative the claim for interest. (25)

Where before the ownership has passed to the buyer the latter has paid the purchase money but the seller has not delivered the property to him, and the contract goes off for no default of the buyer, the position of the buyer will be that of a person who has paid money to another not intending to do so gratuitously, the benefit of which is enjoyed by that other, and as such he will, under S 70 of the Contract Act, be entitled to compensation from the seller in addition to the purchase money. If interest is awarded as such compensation the buyer will be entitled to the charge on the property for such interest also. (Para 6, Cl. (b)).

Where before the owners, has passed to the buyer, the seller has delivered the property but the buyer has not paid the purchase money the seller would, as stated in the beginning of this Note, be entitled to the rents and profits of the property until the date of conveyance. It has, however, been held in the undermentioned cases (26) that in such cases the seller would be entitled to interest on the purchase money. It is submitted that this view is not correct. The seller is not entitled to the purchase money until the date of the conveyance and cannot, therefore, get any interest on it.

The seller is entitled to the rents and profits of the property till the ownership thereof passes to the buyer. In law, a transferee cannot claim that as corpus has been transferred to him, the rent accrued prior to the transfer shall also be deemed to have been transferred. In the instant case, the agreement of sale inter alia provided for induction of tenant by the buyer. There being specific contract between the buyer and the vendor the buyer shall be entitled to rent prior to registration of the sale deed. (27)

See also Note 12

11-A. Seller's right to rent and profits — Paragraph 4, Clause (a).

Mere agreement to sell does not confer any title of interest to purchaser. A tenant who enters into agreement to purchase rented premises is liable to pay rent to the owner, since even after execution of agreement to sell, the title continues to vest in owner (1)

25. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 34 (36) : ILR (1956) Andhra 87 (DB)

26. AIR 1966 Mys 86 (91) : ILR (1963) Mys 1109 (Vendee put in possession — Purchase price not fully paid — Circumstance that vendor could not remove doubt over his title not sufficient to relieve vendee from liability to pay interest.)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 34 (36) : ILR (1956) Andhra 87 (DB) (Principle of implied agreement applied.)  AIR 1933 Mad 844 (845, 846)  AIR 1922 Bom 186 (187) 46 Bom 195 (DB)  1893 Bom PJ 349 (DB)

27. 1999 ATHC 4705 (4706) : 1998 (2) MPLJ 439.

Section 55 — Note 11-A

1. AIR 2002 Kant 416 (422) : 2002 AIR - Kant HCR 2443

Where the tenant already in possession of the property entered into agreement with landlord to purchase that property but his suit for specific performance was dismissed, the relationship of landlord and tenant continued between them and the tenant could be evicted under the relevant Rent Control Act on his committing default in payment of rent (2)

12. Seller's charge for purchase money — Paragraph 4, Clause (b).

This clause enacts that where the ownership of the property has passed to the buyer before payment of the whole of the purchase money, the seller is entitled to a charge on the property in the hands of the buyer for the amount of the purchase money and for interest thereon from the date of the delivery of possession (1). It does not lay down any new rule of law but is merely a statutory recognition of the principles of the English doctrine of equitable lien that had been applied in this country even before the passing of this Act (2). The principle of the English equitable lien was stated by Baron Rolfe in Goode v. Burton, (3) as follows :

"The equitable right of the vendor is inaccurately described by the word 'lien' if that word is to be understood in its legal acceptation, which always implies possession by the party setting up the lien of the thing on which it exists, the legal principle in such case being, that the party having rights which in good conscience he may enforce, and which are more or less connected with the thing of which he has possession, shall not be compelled to part with his possession till those rights are satisfied. But the vendor's right in equity is altogether independent of his possession of the land

2. 2002 AIR - Kant HCR 1007 (1017) - 2002 AHC 1905 - ILR (2002) 1 Kant 1694

Section 55 — Note 12

1. AIR 1936 PC 204 (206) - 63 Ind App 304 -  ILR (1978) Him Pet 632 (642) -  AIR - 1969 Ker 234. (The charge available to the vendor for unpaid portion of the purchase money effected in erstwhile Cochin State prior to the extension of the T.P. Act to Cochin continues under the Cochin T.P. Act) -  AIR 1967 Andh Pra 7181 - (1965) 2 Andh WR 401. (Seller not entitled to get back possession of the sold property in default of payment of purchase money) -  AIR 1967 Ker 195 (196 -  196 - Ker LT 173 (174). (Sale deed containing provision for payment of balance of purchase money remaining unpaid after discharge of not only mortgage money on property but also other personal debts of vendors - Suit for recovery of balance of unpaid purchase money and decree obtained creating a charge on property - Assignment of decree - Decree debt held a liability for which a charge was provided under S. 55(4)(b)) -  AIR 1956 Andh Pra 113 (114) -  ILR (1950) 2 Cal 573 (575 to 577) (DB) -  AIR (1949) All 555 (557) - ILR (1949) All 692 (DB). (Sale deed executed in respect of certain village for fixed consideration - Along with sale deed agreement executed providing that if as result of settlement proceedings income of village increased above Rs. 1500, vendee would be liable to pay certain extra amount towards sale price of property - Extra amount being part of purchase money held would be deemed to be charge on property sold.)

[See also (1910) 6 Ind Cas 117 (117) (All) (DB). (Vendor can recover consideration but cannot ignore transaction and claim property back) -  1907 Pun ReNo. 148 p. 687 (691) 692 (DB) -  (1936) 165 Ind Cas 352 (352) (DB) (All) -  AIR 1942 Lah 275 (278) - ILR (1943) Lah 17 (FB). (On completion of sale vendor automatically acquires a charge on the property sold for unpaid purchase money) -  AIR 1916 Mad 1215 (1217) (DB). (Suit for cancellation of conveyance for failure of consideration - Held, if intention was to transfer title, relief should not be granted - Charge for purchase money can only be claimed) -  (1837) 28 LT 547 (547) - 21 WR (Eng) 819. Williams v. Aylesbury and Buckingham Ry -  (1886) 35 WR (Eng) 180 (181) - 33 Ch D 571. Aligood v. Merrybent and Darlington Ry. Co.]

2. AIR 1942 Lah 275 (278) - ILR (1943) Lah 17 (FB) -  AIR 1926 Oudh 81 (86-87) - 1 Luck 7 (DB) -  (1906) 9 Oudh Cas 284 (286) -  (1865) 2 Suth WR 10 (10) (DB) -  (1878) 3 Bom 172 (174) (DB) -  (1866) 3 Bom HCR (AC) 102 (103) (DB)
3. (1847) 74 RR 633 (637) : 1 Ex 189 : 16 LJ Ex 309 : 11 Jur 851

or the deeds. He has what, though called a lien, is in truth an equitable charge on the land, and which in general he may enforce in the same way as any other equitable mortgage."

In one respect, however, there is a difference between the vendor's equitable lien in England and the seller's charge under this paragraph; the former which is a creation of Courts of Equity can be modified according to the circumstances of the case by the Courts of Equity, while the statutory charge under this paragraph is rigorous and inflexible.(4)

Owelty which represents the unpaid price of the excess land taken from one co-sharer and given to another in partition, represents a liability for which the charge under this clause ensures.(5)

It is clear from what has been stated above that the vendor's equitable lien in England and the seller's charge under this Act are both non-possessory; that is, the charge is one which will not entitle the seller to retain possession of the property as against the buyer, but it will merely give him a right to enforce the charge by suit (6) There is a difference of opinion as to whether, in a suit for possession by the buyer, the Court can impose a condition in the decree that the unpaid purchase money should be paid before possession is delivered to the plaintiff. On the one hand it has been held that the seller's charge being non-possessory such a condition cannot be imposed.(7) though the Court can, in order to avoid multiplicity of suits, incorporate the statutory charge in the decree and order that it should be paid within a particular times (8) A contrary view that a condition can be imposed for payment of purchase money before recovery of possession by the buyer has been held in other cases.(9) It is submitted that the latter view is not correct. In those provinces to which this

4. (1904) 31 Cal 57 (72) : 30 Ind App 238 (PC)  AIR 1939 Nag 210 (212) ILR (1939) Nag 636 (And it has the same force as if it is created by act of parties)  AIR 1939 Mad 590 (591) (Charge is not lost by taking promissory note for unpaid balance.)  AIR 1932 Bom 247 (248) : 56 Bom 556 (DB)  AIR 1918 Mad 82 (83) (DB) (Under English law equitable estate does not pass unless the purchase money has been completely paid off.) [See AIR 1927 Lah 103 (103) : 8 Lah 257 (DB). (Act not being extended to the Punjab, general principles of equity were applied.)]
5. AIR 1962 Ker 85 (87, 88) : ILR (1961) 2 Ker 613 (FB). (It being covered by S 2(c)(vii) is not a debt within Kerala Agriculturists Debt Relief Act, 1958)
6. AIR 1933 Mad 821 (821) (DB)  AIR 1939 Nag 210 (212) : ILR (1939) Nag 636  AIR 1932 Bom 247 (248, 252) : 56 Bom 566 (DB) (Per Barlee, J.— The observation of Patkar, J., that the English equitable lien is possessory is not correct)  AIR 1923 Pat 205 (206) (DB)  AIR 1920 Mad 164 (164) : 43 Mad 712 (DB)  (1908) 30 All 125 (127) (DB) Halsbury, Laws of England, Volume XIX, pages 14, 15  (1907) 30 Mad 524 (525) (DB). [But see (1868) 10 Suth WR 194 (194) (DB) (Vendor may refuse to give delivery until consideration is paid but having given delivery he cannot retake possession.)]
7. AIR 1947 Mad 92 (94) : ILR (1947) Mad 397 (DB)  AIR 1944 Mad 124 (124, 125)  AIR 1920 Mad 164 (164) : 43 Mad 712 (DB)  (1909) 5 MLT 205 (206) (DB) [See (1866) 1 Agr 160 (161) (DB).]
8. AIR 1956 Hyd 114 (118) : ILR (1956) Hyd 328 (DB). (Vendor's lien for purchase money may be recognised and enforced in the same action.)  AIR 1952 Sau 72 (73, 74)  AIR 1939 Nag 210 (212, 213) : ILR (1939) Nag 636. (A 1932 Bom 247, followed)  AIR 1937 Sind 198 (200) : 31 Sind LR 150 (DB) (AIR 1932 Bom 247, followed.)  AIR 1932 Bom 247 (251) : 56 Bom 556 (DB) (On Letters Patent Appeal from AIR 1929 Bom 60)  (1911) 34 Mad 543 (544) (DB). (It is not open to Courts of this country to introduce and enforce equities modifying the provisions of statute law. The law of India, speaking broadly, knows nothing of the distinction between legal and equitable property, in the sense in which it was administered by the Court of Chancery in England.)
9. AIR 1965 Pat 29 (32)  (1963) 1 Mys LJ 592 (596)  1951 All LJ 750 (751) (DB)  1950 Trav-Co LR 477 (483) (DB)  (1915) 27 Ind Cas 336 (337) (Mad) (DB)  AIR

Court does not apply, it has been held that there being no statutory provision that the buyer must get possession of the property sold to him whether he has paid the price or not, the Court can impose such a condition of grounds of justice, equity and good conscience (10)

Invalid or oral sale

The provision of S. 55(4)(b) creating a statutory charge in favour of the vendor do not apply to the case of an invalid sale or an oral sale.(11)

Extent of the charge.

The charge is not only for the unpaid purchase-money but also for the interest on such amount from the date on which possession has been delivered (12) The words "from the date on which possession has been delivered" did not occur in the paragraph before the amending Act of 1929. The reasons for adding this phrase have been stated by the Special Committee as follows.

"This clause is also silent as to the date from which the interest on the unpaid purchase money should run. It seems fair that it should run from the date when the buyer is put in possession."

This paragraph, by itself, does not give the seller any right to interest on the purchase money. Its object is to give the seller a charge on the property for the unpaid purchase money and for the interest also assuming that interest is payable (13) Buyer was in possession of property as tenant. He had paid part of the total consideration. Balance to be paid by way of rent. He discontinued paying rent. Suit for specific performance was decreed subject to condition that buyer will pay interest on unpaid consideration, since he had use of money besides being in possession of the property.(14)

Section 55(4)(b) and S. 55(5)(b) should be read together and there is agency coupled with interest and since the plaintiff is not entitled to amount claimed by him as due from defendant there is no equity in his favour to award interest. The plaintiff has not proved that he suffered damages.

1945 All 139 (139) ILR (1945) All 183 (DB) (Section does not exclude application of principles of equity — Vendor is not confined to his statutory lien for unpaid purchase money  AIR 1933 Rang 401 (402) (Section 55 does not exclude application of equitable principles)  AIR 1918 Low Bur 26 (27) (DB)  AIR 1914 Cal 239 (241) (DB)  (1908) 30 All 125 (127) (DB)  (1904) 27 Mad 28 (30) (DB) (Vendor can retain possession until purchase money is paid)  (1890) 4 CPLR 92 (93-94)  (1889) 11 All 244 (252) (DB)  (1878) 2 Bom 547 (549) (DB)  (1910) 6 Nag LR 98 (102)

10. AIR 1944 Pesh 9 (10) (DB) (The Transfer of Property Act does not apply to the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province — The principles underlying S. 55 are used as guide or as principles of equity, justice and good conscience in those provinces.)

11. AIR 1985 Andh Pra 200 (1985) 1 APLJ (HC) 33 (Oral sale — Vendee acquired title by adverse possession — Vendor not entitled to claim charge for unpaid purchase money)  (1989) 1 Andh LT 389 (398).

12. AIR 1964 Punj 123 (129) ILR (1964) 1 Punj 143 (DB)  AIR 1956 Andh Pra 113 (114)  ILR (1950) 2 Cal 573 (575, 577) (DB)  (1950) 2 Mad LJ (774) (DB)  1913 Pun Re No. 39 (Though the Act is not extended to the Punjab, the principle was applied)  (1890) 13 Mad 158 (165) (DB).

[See also 1960 Ker LT 10 (11) (DB) (An express provision in sale deed creating charge on property sold for interest on unpaid purchase money — Not a contract contrary to S. 55)]

13. 1912) 35 Mad 625 (627) (DB).

[See also AIR 1943 Mad 482 (487)  ILR (1943) Mad 885 (DB) (Section 55(4)(b) which provides for charge on property sold for purchase money or any part thereof and for interest on such amount, presupposes that the purchase money remaining unpaid is payable to the seller and can have no application where the buyer is entitled and allowed to retain out of the purchase money the amount of an encumbrance on the property for payment to the person entitled thereto.)]

14. AIR 1990 Andh Pra 72 (75) : (1989) 2 Andh LT 449

due to non-payment of money.(15)

As to when the seller gets a right to interest see Note 11

A decree for profits passed on account of sharers' liability to account for same to the other sharers cannot be characterised as unpaid purchase money due from a vendee of an immovable property. Thus liability of sharer for which a charge is provided under this section is not a debt coming within purview of S. 2(3)(g) of Kerala Debt Relief Act, 1977 (16)

Ownership must have passed before the payment of purchase money.

The paragraph will not apply unless the ownership of the property has passed to the buyer (17). Nor will it apply where ownership has passed to the buyer after the payment of purchase money. A sold certain property to B for 935 rupees directing B to pay 435 rupees to C. D pre-empted B by depositing 935 rupees into the Court. This was drawn by B who did not, however, pay C, who therefore recovered it from A. A thereupon sued D to enforce his charge. It was held that D got the property only after he had paid the purchase money and this clause did not apply (18)

There was a specific condition in a sale deed that entire amount of consideration would be paid only on delivery of possession of entire property. However, possession of only a part of the property was given to purchase in 1984 and possession of remaining part was given in 1986. Therefore S. 55(4)(b) would not be attracted and the vendor could not claim charge against the sold property (19). Since there was no term for payment of interest on unpaid amount of purchase money in agreement for purchase of property, and since possession had not been delivered to buyer, the said interest would not payable to seller by the buyer (20)

Where the seller himself is not entitled to the property sold at the time of the sale, he cannot have a charge on such property. A agreed to purchase property from B and, before completion of the purchase, sold the property to C and asked B to execute the conveyance in favour of C. B. executed the conveyance to C who did not, however, pay the purchase money to A. It was held that A had no charge on the property in C's hands.(21)

Transfer of charge.

The charge given by this paragraph to the seller is an interest in immovable property(22) and is transferable as such (23). It may be attached by a creditor of the seller in execution of a decree against the latter.(24)

15. 2000 (3) Mad LW 412 (419).

16. ILR (1979) 2 Ker 166 (172).

17. AIR 1939 Rang 46 (47) (DB)  AIR 1925 Mad 660 (668)

18. AIR 1914 All 349 (349) (DB).

19. 1996 AHC 5139 (5150) (Him Pra).

20. (1977) 13 Delhi LT 369 (376).

21. AIR 1941 Mad 128 (129) (DB)

22. AIR 1934 Mad 615 (616) (DB) (Confirming AIR 1933 Mad 181 on Letters Patent Appeal.)

23. AIR 1918 Mad 1045 (1048) : 39 Mad 997 (FB)  AIR 1938 Mad 457 (458) (DB)  AIR 1934 Lah 348 (349) (DB)  AIR 1931 Nag 89 (90) 27 Nag LR 288  AIR 1927 Nag 332 (333)  AIR 1918 Mad 1012 (1014) (DB) (It also requires a proper conveyance)  AIR 1915 Cal 543 (544) : 42 Cal 849 (DB).

Also see Section 100, Note 19.

24. AIR 1941 Bom 198 (200) ILR (1941) Bom 290 (DB) (Property was only agreed to be sold before attachment — Same rule applies)  AIR 1937 Lah 608 (609) (Vendor of immovable property leaving purchase money with vendee for payment to his creditors —

Enforceability against transferees.

The words "any transferee without consideration or any transferee with notice of the non-payment" were inserted in this paragraph by the amending Act of 1929. Even before the amendment, it had been held that the seller could always follow the property in the hands of the transferee with notice of non-payment (25). The Madras High Court (26) went further and held that the charge was enforceable even against a transferee without notice of the non-payment. The amendment gives statutory recognition to the former view (27) and it is now clear that the charge can be enforced against a transferee from the buyer with notice of the non-payment (28) but cannot be enforced against a bona fide purchaser without notice (29).

If the property which was the subject-matter of contract of sale vests in the State Govt. the unpaid vendor's lien is not enforceable against the Government (30).

Several buyers.

Where property is sold to several purchasers in several shares, the seller has a lien for the whole of unpaid purchase money on the whole of the property in the hands of the buyers. He is not concerned with the proportion of the purchase money paid by each of them (31).

Exclusion of charge.

A charge for unpaid purchase money pre-supposes that purchase money in whole or in part is payable by the buyer to the seller. Where the consideration for transfer is a covenant to pay a sum of money no purchase money is due and consequently the seller's charge for purchase money does not arise. But where the consideration is a sum of money which the buyer covenants to pay, that sum is purchase money and consequently the seller will have a charge therefor under this clause (32).

Vendee failing to pay it within reasonable time. — Vendor is entitled to recover it as debt as he has lien on property for unpaid purchase money. — Such money in hands of vendee is liable to attachment in execution of decree against vendee.  AIR 1925 Mad 872 (873). 59 Mad 1 (DB).  AIR 1926 Mad 903 (903).  (1909) 31 All 443 (444). (Though the property itself cannot be proceeded against.)

But the creditor cannot directly enforce the charge. — see the following case.  (1883) 9 Cal 167 (172) (SB).

25. AIR 1931 Rang 139 (143). 9 Rang 56 (DB).  AIR 1926 Oudh 81 (87). 1 Luck 7 (DB).  AIR 1921 All 54 (54). 43 All 314 (DB).  AIR 1916 All 264 (265). 38 All 254 (DB).  1883 Pun Re No. 66, p. 194 (196) (DB).

[See however (1865) 3 Suth WR 138 (139) (DB). Persons who allow property to leave their possession before the purchase money is completely paid cannot certainly recover from third parties who are purchasers in good faith and for valuable consideration even if these persons should be held to have had notice of the amount of the consideration money still remaining unpaid.]

26. AIR 1937 Mad 92 (93).

27. AIR 1931 Rang 139 (143). 9 Rang 56 (DB).

28. ILR (1948) 1 Cal 492 (498).  AIR 1941 Lah 10 (15). 31 R. 1941 Lah 568 (DB). (Letters Patent Appeal from AIR 1939 Lah 273).  AIR 1939 Mad 876 (877).  AIR 1932 Oudh 88 (90). 7 Luck 405 (DB).  (1808) 33 ER 778 (785). 15 Ves 329. 10 RR 85. Mackreth v Symmons.

29. AIR 1965 Ker 28 (29).  AIR 1960 Punj 296 (297) (DB).  ILR (1950) 2 Cal 573 (575, 577) (DB).  AIR 1922 Mad 335 (336) (DB).  (1882) 51 LJ Ch 281 (287, 288). 21 Ch D 685. 46 LT 83. 30 WR (Eng) 402. Kettlewell v. Watson.

30. ILR (1978) Him Pra 632 (640) (DB).

31. AIR 1934 Lah 348 (349) (DB).

32. AIR 1954 Mad 508 (512). ILR (1954) Mad 484 (DB).

Where for instance A sells property to B in consideration of 1,000 rupees payable in a particular way, the consideration is the sum of money and not the undertaking by the buyer to pay it in a particular way; consequently, the seller will have a charge for that amount. On the other hand, where the consideration for the sale is a covenant by the buyer, such as a covenant to pay an annuity to the seller,(33) or a promise to allot certain shares of a company in future,(34) there is no purchase money due, the consideration for the sale being the covenant itself: consequently, no question of any charge for unpaid purchase money arises. The distinction between the two classes of cases is referred to by their Lordship of the Privy Council in Webb v. Macpherson(35) as follows :

"It was said that no charge ever arose, because the purchase was not in consideration of a sum of money, part of which was paid down and the payment of the balance of which was deferred, but it was a purchase in consideration of a particular covenant. There is no doubt, both on principle and authority, that a conveyance or sale in consideration of a covenant to pay a sum of money in the future is different from a sale in consideration of money which the purchaser covenants to pay. The distinction may seem fine, but it is a real distinction, and it is one which, if made out, might have had the effect which the High Court have given to it."

The question whether a separate agreement for payment of the purchase money is to be in addition to or in substitution of any charge, so that the sale can be considered to be one in consideration of a covenant depends upon the intention of the parties, to be gathered from the document itself and the surrounding circumstances.(36)

Even where consideration for a sale is a sum of money the seller's charge may still be excluded by a "contract to the contrary."(37) In the case of Webb v. Macpherson,(38) above referred to, where the sale was in consideration of a sum of money which the buyer undertook to pay by instalments, their Lordships of the Privy Council held that such undertaking was not a "contract to the contrary" within the meaning of this section. Their Lordships observed as follows :

"... the Transfer of Property Act gives a statutory charge upon the estate to an unpaid vendor unless it be excluded by contract . . . You have to find something, either express contract, or at least something from which it is a necessary implication that such a contract exists, in order to exclude the charge given by the statute. In their Lordships' opinion there is no ground whatever for saying that the charge is excluded by a mere personal contract to defer payment of a portion of purchase money, or to take the purchase money by instalments, nor is it, in their Lordships' opinion, excluded by any contract, covenant, or agreement, with respect to the purchase money which is not

33. (1830) 57 ER 1085 (1086) 3 Sim 499 30 RR 193, Clarke v Royle  (1843) 60 ER 157 (159) 13 Sim 406 60 RR 371, Buckland v Pocknell  (1862) 54 ER 1172 (1173) : 31 Beav 346 135 RR 461, Collins v Collins  (1823) 57 ER 174 (178) 1 Sim and S 434, Winter v Lord Anson  (1835) 40 ER 250 (253, 254) 3 My and K 635 41 RR 164, Parrot v. Sweetland

34. AIR 1939 Rang 46 (47) (DB) (31 Cal 57 (PC), Followed)

[See also AIR 1927 Lah 103 (104) : 8 Lah 257 (DB).]

35. (1904) 31 Cal 57 (73) : 30 Ind App 238 (PC).

[See also 1962 Ker LJ 1242 (1244) (DB) (ILR 31 Cal 57 (PC), Rel. on.)  ILR (1962) 2 Ker 740 (742) (Recital in sale deed that certain amount out of purchase money is reserved as first charge on property sold — It imports personal liability to pay and does not exclude it.)  ILR (1950) 2 Cal 573 (575, 577) (DB).]

36. AIR 1918 Mad 82 (83) (DB)  1883 Pun Re No. 66, page 194 (197) (DB).

[See also (1823) 57 ER 174 (177) 1 Sim and S 434, Winter v Lord Anson.]

37. (1876) 25 WR (Eng) 481 (482) 4 Ch D 562 (565) 46 LJ Ch 554 36 LT 343 25 WR (Eng) 481, In re Brentwood Brick and Coal Co  (1801) 31 ER 1152 (1156), Austen v. Halsey.

38. (1904) 31 Cal 57 (72) : 30 Ind App 238 (PC).

inconsistent with the continuance of the charge.(39)

A mere undertaking by the buyer to discharge the debt due to the creditor of the seller from out of money in consideration of which the sale is made is not inconsistent with the existence of the charge and is not "a contract to the contrary" The charge is, therefore, not excluded by such an undertaking.(40) The purchase money in such cases does not lose its character as such by the direction to any another.(41) Nor is the charge excluded merely by the seller accepting a promissory note or other personal undertaking from the buyer of third party.(42) or by a recital that the purchase money is reserved with the buyer in order that he may execute an hypothecation bond for

39. AIR 1918 Mad 1045 (1047) : 39 Mad 997 (FB).

See also the undermentioned cases :

* AIR 1942 Lah 275 (278) : ILR (1943) Lah 17 (FB). (Vendor's charge for unpaid purchase money is not excluded by a mere personal covenant to defer payment or to take it by instalments 31 Cal 57 (PC), Followed.) * AIR 1962 Mad 423 (424)  AIR 1939 Mad 590 (591) (Accepting interest by the vendor on the promissory note executed for unpaid purchase money does not extinguish his charge) * AIR 1937 Mad 92 (93) (Statutory charge subsists in spite of the agreement by vendor to accept unpaid purchase money on the happening of certain future event.) * AIR 1927 Lah 103 (103) 8 Lah 257 (DB) (General principles of equity were applied as the Act is not extended to the Punjab.)

40. AIR 1967 Ker 195 (196) (Stipulation that vendee to discharge mortgage debt of vendor) * (1948) 27 Pat 898 (907) (DB)  AIR 1942 Lah 275 (278) : ILR (1943) Lah 17 (FB). (Charge subsists even though vendor has directed the amount to be paid to his creditors or other nominees) * AIR 1918 Mad 1045 (1048) : 39 Mad 997 (FB). (Overruling 33 Mad 446 and 10 Ind Cas 98) * AIR 1939 Mad 876 (877). (Except in a case of privity between the creditor and vendee) * AIR 1938 Mad 457 (458) (DB)  AIR 1934 Oudh 240 (242) : 10 Luck 26 (DB)  AIR 1933 Oudh 33 (34) 8 Luck 185 (DB) (It is immaterial if the vendor has paid his creditors) * AIR 1921 All 54 (54) 43 All 314 (DB)  AIR 1920 Mad 385 (385, 386) (DB) (A complete agreement between the purchaser and the vendor's creditors will exclude the charge) * AIR 1918 Mad 1012 (1014) (DB)  (1928) 108 Ind Cas 291 (292) (Mad) (AIR 1918 Mad 1045, Followed.)  (1910) 7 Ind Cas 639 (640) (All) [But see (1913) 18 Ind Cas 336 (336) (All) (Referring with approval to 33 Mad 446 which was Overruled in AIR 1918 Mad 1045 (FB) * AIR 1916 Oudh 143 (144, 145) (Follows 33 Mad 446 which was subsequently Overruled in AIR 1918 Mad 1045 (FB)

41. AIR 1942 Lah 275 (278) : ILR (1943) Lah 17 (FB). (Fact that the money is, by agreement, made payable at a future date or that the vendor has asked the vendee to pay it to a third person makes no difference. It is nonetheless an existing and completed obligation and as regards it, the relationship between the vendor and the vendee is that of a creditor and debtor) * AIR 1933 Oudh 33 (34) 8 Luck 185 (DB)  AIR 1942 Bom 61 (70) (DB)

42. AIR 1967 Ker 195 (196)  AIR 1967 Mad 127 (128, 129) (DB)  AIR 1962 Mad 423 (429)  1950 Trav-Co LR 140 (143, 144) (DB)  AIR 1945 Mad 407 (409) (Deed styled "release deed" by one Hindu coparcener to another conveying share in family property for consideration — Held to be sale — Lien for unpaid purchase money — Right to — Execution of promissory note and decree on note — Lien not excluded) * AIR 1943 Mad 28 (29) : ILR (1943) Mad 405 (DB) (Buyer executing promissory note kept alive by payments — Held, unpaid vendor's lien continues while vendor has an enforceable claim against the buyer in respect of the purchase money) * AIR 193 Mad 590 (592) (The acceptance of interest under the pro-note would not indicate waiver of the charge) that amount in favour of the seller(43) or by a recital that the consideration of money has been received.(44) In the undermentioned case of the Bombay High Court(45) it was held that where the purchaser agreed to pay the purchase money only after redemption of a mortgage on the property, this was a contract to the contrary and no charge arose.

[See also 1936 Mad WN 549 (551) (Endorsement of promissory note taken by vendor for balance of purchase money — Statutory charge not excluded — Charge can be enforced by vendor on getting re-endorsement of note in his favour) * AIR 1930 Lah 568 (570) 11 Lah 587 (DB)  AIR 1929 Mad 242 (242, 243) (Only part of purchase money paid — Balance agreed to be paid afterwards — Sale is not in consideration merely of covenant to pay and vendor's charge is not lost) * AIR 1928 Mad 486 (486) (DB) (There was an

Where a mortgage is taken by the seller from the buyer for the purchase money due, and thus a higher security than that afforded by the charge is taken, the inference would be that the charge is excluded or abandoned.(46) though such inference may be rebutted by a proof of an agreement to the contrary (47) In R.M. A. R. S. Chettiar Firm v. Daw Ngwe,(48) where the seller had taken two promissory notes and a mortgage for the purchase money, it was held that the purchase money was replaced by the notes and the mortgage and that the question of any outstanding purchase money was at once settled; it was no longer purchase money which had not been paid, but was transformed into debts due on a mortgage and on two promissory notes. there was, therefore, no question of a charge for outstanding purchase money. A contrary view, namely, that the acceptance of a mortgage would not exclude the seller's charge was expressed in the undermentioned cases (49) It is submit-express stipulation that buyer should not alienate property until pronote was discharged —

Held, this negatived the intention to abandon charge :  AIR 1927 Mad 219 (221) : 50 Mad 548 (DB) (AIR 1926 Mad 903 Approved)  AIR 1927 Lah 103 (104) : 8 Lah 257 (DB)  AIR 1925 Mad 215 (217) (DB)  AIR 1924 Mad 854 (854) (Vendor's acceptance of bond by vendee to pay purchase money on happening of given event does not exclude vendor's charge for unpaid purchase money)  AIR 1921 All 74 (75) : 43 All 544 (DB) (Agreement to pay in instalments)  1883 Pun Re No. 66 p. 194 (197) (DB)  (1913) 18 Ind Cas 81 (82) (DB) (Mad) (It makes no difference if pronote was taken even before the execution of conveyance)  (1911) 11 Ind Cas 890 (891) (DB) (Mad)  (1813) 35 ER 335 (337) : 2 Ves and B 306 : 13 RR 101, Grant v. Mills (Acceptance of bills of exchange is not accepting a security for money but only accepting a mode of payment)  (1827) 38 ER 658 (660) : 3 Russ 488 : 6 LJ Ch 7 : 27 RR 171, Winter v. Lord Anson  (1843) 60 ER 157 (159) : 13 Sim 406 : 60 RR 371, Buckland v. Pocknell.

[See however AIR 1918 Mad 82 (83) (DB) (Promissory notes taken for money — It was held that the consideration was intended to be the covenant under the promissory note and not money)]

43. (1913) 18 Ind Cas 199 (201) (DB) (Mad).

44. Halsbury, Laws of England, Vol. XIX, p. 15  AIR 1926 Oudh 81 (83) : 1 Luck 7 (DB)  AIR 1916 Oudh 143 (145)  1883 Pun Re No. 66, p. 194 (197)

[See however AIR 1918 Mad 82 (84) (DB).]

45. AIR 1942 Bom 67 (71) (DB).

46. Halsbury, Laws of England, Vol. XIX, page 31  AIR 1973 Ker 181  AIR 1927 Mad 219 (221) : 50 Mad 548 (DB) (Unregistered mortgage does not exclude lien)  AIR 1919 Nag 109 (111) : 15 Nag LR 109  (1808) 33 ER 778 (785) : 15 Ves 329 : 10 RR 85, Macreth v. Symmons.

[See also ILR (1950) 2 Cal 573 (575) (DB). (If it is found that there is a transaction merely to secure the vendor's lien by taking some security or bond under S. 55(4)(b), I P Act then the case will not be hit by the Bengal Money-Lenders Act. But, if on the other hand, it was really in the nature of an investment, over and above being a security for the unpaid purchase money, then it was a loan under the Bengal Money-Lenders Act)]

47. Halsbury, Laws of England, Vol. XIX, page 31.

48. AIR 1934 Rang 190 (192).

49. AIR 1951 Trav-Co 39 (40) (DB) (Vendee executing hypothecation bond for balance of purchase money — Additional item included as security — Lien held not lost)  AIR 1930 Lah 568 (570) : 11 Lah 587 (DB).

ted that this view is not correct. Where a mortgage is executed, but is not registered, it is, however, clear that the lien is not excluded.(50)

Where in pursuance of an undertaking by the buyer to pay the creditor of the seller, the buyer enters into an agreement with the creditor and makes himself liable directly to him for the amount, the seller is freed from the liability to pay the creditor, and there is no longer any purchase money payable by the buyer to the seller. Consequently, there is no longer any charge for unpaid purchase money (51) In the undermentioned case(52) it was held that the novation between the buyer and the creditor was a "contract to the contrary" and that there was consequently no charge. It is submitted that this reasoning is not correct. A subsequent contract between the buyer and a third party cannot operate as a contract between the seller and the buyer that no charge should exist.

Where it is agreed between the seller the buyer and a third party that the buyer should pay the purchase money to the party, and not to the seller, there is no longer any purchase money payable to the seller and consequently there is no charge (53) Similarly where A, the father of B, a minor, sold property to X for 2,600 rupees out of which a sum of 800 rupees was left with the buyer on condition that he should keep it until B attained majority and then pay it over to B, it was held that A had no charge under this clause for any purchase money (54) See also the undermentioned cases.(55)

Extinguishment and revival of charge.

Where at the time of the sale there is a contract to the contrary excluding a charge, the charge does not arise at all, and there is no question of its revival later on (56) But where a charge arises under this clause, but is extinguished subsequently it may, under certain circumstances, revive. In the undermentioned cases (57) A sold property to B who did not pay a part of the purchase money. C pre-empted B and paid the purchase money to A. Subsequently, the pre-emption was set aside and A and B for the unpaid purchase money. It was held that as soon as C paid the purchase money to A, his charge under this clause was extinguished, and could not be enforced until A refunded to C the money received by him from C. It was assumed that on such repayment, the charge would revive in favour of A.

Estoppel.

Where in lieu in payment of balance of consideration under a sale the vendee executes a pronote for the amount in favour of the vendor the vendor's lien cannot be said to be kept alive (58)

Where the seller endorsed upon the sale deed a receipt for the full purchase money and delivered the title deeds to the buyer, and third person relying upon this endorsement took a transfer of

50. AIR 1927 Mad 219 (221) : 50 Mad 548  AIR 1920 Mad 152 (152)

51. AIR 1918 Mad 1045 (1049) : 39 Mad 997 (FB)  AIR 1939 Mad 876 (877)  AIR 1927 Mad 219 (221) : 50 Mad 548 (DB) (Third party taking a pronote from vendee)  (1913) 36 Mad 348 (350) (DB).

52. AIR 1927 Mad 219 (221) : 50 Mad 548 (DB)

53. (1910) 8 Ind Cas 674 (675) (DB) (Lah)

54. AIR 1939 Mad 722 (724) (DB)

55. AIR 1964 Punj 123 (128) : ILR (1964) 1 Punj, 143 (DB) (Principles of interpretation of contract to contrary excluding charge for purchase money stated)  (1948) 27 Pat 898 (914, 915) (DB) (Sale of property subject to usufructuary mortgage and in possession of mortgagee — Amount retained with purchaser to redeem mortgage — Amount not payable to vendor — He has no charge for it under Cl. (4)(b).)

56. AIR 1927 Mad 219 (225) : 50 Mad 548 (DB).

57. (1913) 16 Oudh Cas 1 (3).

58. AIR 1972 Ker 164 (165).

the property by way of mortgage, it was held that the seller was estopped under S. 115 of the Evidence Act from claiming a charge for the unpaid purchase money against the transferee.⁽⁵⁹⁾ Independent of any question of estoppel it is clear that the transferee under the above circumstances would be a bona fide transferee without notice of the non-payment, against whom the charge is not enforceable under this clause.

Limitation

A charge under this clause is enforceable within 12 years from the date of the conveyance under Art. 62 of the Limitation Act of 1963. Limitation for a suit to enforce money charged upon immovable property by way of unpaid purchase money is 12 years under Art. 132 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908 and not under Art. 111.⁽⁶⁰⁾ See the AIR Commentaries on the Limitation Act, 7th (1997) Edn., Art. 62, Note 7.

13. Buyer's duty to disclose facts — Paragraph 5, Clause (a).

This paragraph imposes an obligation on the buyer to disclose to the seller any fact as to the nature or extent of the seller's interest in the property of which the buyer is aware but of which the seller is not aware and which materially increases the value of such interest. The words "nature or the extent of the seller's interest" have reference to the title of the seller to the property sold.⁽¹⁾ Consequently it is conceived, that apart from facts relating to title, the buyer is not bound to disclose to the seller any facts which may make it desirable for him to purchase the property.⁽²⁾ It has been held in England that a vendee is not bound to disclose to the seller a coal mine existing under the land sold of which he is, but the seller is not, aware.⁽³⁾ This would also be the law under this clause for, the fact of the existence of the coal mine, cannot be said to have reference to the title of the seller of the property.

But though the non-disclosure of a fact not relating to title would not be a breach of the obligation under this paragraph, the same may nevertheless be a material factor in considering whether a Court could enforce specific performance of the contract. In Ellard v. Lord Landaff.⁽⁴⁾ a tenant obtained an agreement for lease in consideration of an old lease and suppressed the fact that the life on which the old lease depended was in extremis. In refusing specific performance of the contract Lord Eldon, L.C., observed as follows :

"All the material facts must be known to both parties; and is it not against all principles of equity, that one party, knowing the material ingredient in an agreement, shall be permitted to suppress it, and still call for specific performance?"

The principle of Ellard's case appears to have been followed by the Indian Legislature in S. 22 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, Illustration (a), which is based on the facts of that case (now S. 20 of the Act of 1963, which however has omitted the illustration).

14. Buyer's duty to pay or tender purchase money — Paragraph 5, Clause (b).

Where there is a contract for sale, it is the obligation of the buyer under the contract to pay the purchase money; the obligation of the seller is to execute the conveyance.⁽¹⁾ This clause enacts that

59. (1909) 33 Bom 53 (61) (DB).

60. AIR 1978 AH 436 (439).

Section 55 — Note 13

1. See (1896) 20 Bom 522 (532, 533) (DB).

2. (1856) 111 RR 414 (417) : 4 WR (Eng) Dig 53. Dolman v. Nokes.

3. (1788) 29 ER 224 (234) : 2 RR 55, Fox v. Mackreth.

[See also (1821) 37 ER 814 (818) : 23 RR 15, Turner v. Harvey.]

4. (1810) 12 RR 22 (27) : 1 Ball and B 241.

Section 55 — Note 14

1. AIR 1981 SC 519 (521) : 1980 UJ (SC) 739. (If a guardian has entered into a contract for this obligation to pay the purchase money, in cases not covered by the proviso, is to be discharged at the time and place of completing the sale, and that such payment must be made to the seller or such person as he directs. (2) It is the duty of the buyer to pay or tender the amount of consideration to the real owner. (3) Where recitals in sale deed showed that payment of full consideration and passing of title were intended to be simultaneous, and where balance consideration had not been paid, vendees would not acquire title to suit property, merely on execution of sale deed. (4) In cases coming within the proviso, it is provided that the amount of any incumbrance existing at the date of the sale, may be retained by the buyer and paid to the persons entitled thereto. But the clause does not say anything as to when such payment is to be made. Under S. 46 of the Contract Act, where no time for the performance of the contract is specified, the engagement must be performed within a reasonable time the question "what is a reasonable time" being, in each particular case, a question of fact. In cases covered by the proviso, therefore, the buyer must pay the amount retained by him to the persons entitled to it within a reasonable time from the date of the sale, though in some cases (5) it has been held that the payment must be made forthwith on the date of the sale deed and, in the undermentioned cases (6) that there is no breach of contract until the payment by the buyer becomes impossible. The buyer is, however, not bound to pay or tender the purchase money unless the seller is ready and willing to perform his part of the bargain by executing the conveyance (7)

Section 55(5)(b) does not require the buyer to deposit the purchase money in Court when his tender is refused by the seller. As such the tender will not become invalid for non-deposit. (8)

It has been seen in Notes 5 and 17 on S. 54 that a sale is not completed until the registration of the instrument of sale is completed and that it cannot be said to have been completed earlier because the instrument, by which it is effected, commences to operate from the date of its execution, after it has been registered. (9) It has accordingly been held in the undermentioned cases (10) that the duty of the buyer under this clause is to pay the purchase money at the time of the registration as the date of the registration is the date of the completion of the sale.

The principle underlying the proviso is that where a person contracts to buy property free from incumbrances, he agrees to pay full value for the property and that where there are incumbrances thereon, it is but just that he should retain the amount of the incumbrances out of the purchase money and pay it to the persons entitled to it, in order to safeguard himself (11) But this is all he can purchase of immovable property on behalf of minor, the liability to pay the purchase money would be that of the minor)  AIR 1937 Pat 44 (47) (DB) (This is statutory obligation and not a part of the contract.)

2. AIR 1954 Trav-Co 427 (429) : ILR (1954) Trav-Co 609 (FB)  AIR 1942 Lah 275 (278) : ILR (1943) Lah 17 (FB). (Obligation to pay unpaid purchase price to vendor arises at the moment the sale transaction is completed.)  AIR 1932 All 454 (456) (DB)
3. (1992) 1 Bank CLR 1 (10) (Madh Pra).
4. ILR (1978) 1 Cut 98 (103, 104).
5. AIR 1936 All 598 (599) (DB)  AIR 1929 All 121 (123) (DB)  AIR 1925 All 488 (490)
6. AIR 1927 Oudh 455 (456) : 2 Luck 731 (DB).
[See also (1905) 16 Mad LJ 20 (22) (DB).]
7. AIR 1923 Sind 50 (52) : 16 Sind LR 278 (DB).
[See also (1910) 10 Ind Cas 526 (Cal) (Purchaser not bound to pay balance till vendor has put property in condition in which it was to be conveyed.)]
8. AIR 1973 Pat 386 (388, 389).
9. AIR 1961 SC 1747 (1749) : (1962) 2 SCR 474.
10. AIR 1955 Pat 201 (206) (DB)  AIR 1937 Nag 246 (247) : ILR (1938) Nag 45 (49).
(Section 55, Cl. 1(b) referred to in the reports is a mistake for S. 55, Cl. 5(b))
11. AIR 1955 Pat 201 (207) (DB). (This is a statutory right of the buyer and there need not be any express agreement in this respect.)

do; he cannot break the contract on the ground that the property is subject to incumbrances.(12) The amount retained by the buyer will be "purchase money" and if it is not paid by the buyer to the incumbrancer,(13) or if there is any unexpended balance in the hands of the vendee as a result of a statutory reduction of the debt by the scaling down of the debt under some Debt Relief Legislation(14) it must be paid to the seller. In this respect a sale free of incumbrances differs from the sale subject to incumbrances. In the latter case what is sold is really the equity of redemption. The amount payable on the incumbrance is really not "purchase money" at all and the seller is not concerned as to whether and when the money is paid(15) though there is, in such cases, an implied contract by the buyer to indemnify the seller against any loss caused to the seller by reason of a non-payment of the incumbrance.(16)

A vendee undertaking to pay a part of the mortgage debt retains part of the consideration knowing that entire mortgage would not be satisfied by the amount is bound by his bargain and will be responsible for damage if failure to make the payment results in a suit by the mortgagee saddling costs on both the vendor and the vendee.(17) The difference between the two classes of cases has been explained by Patanjali Sastri, J., in Subba Rao v. Varadiah(18) as follows :

"On the sale of property subject to incumbrances, the bargain relates to the vendor's interest in the property such as it is, that is to say, his equity of redemption and the discharge of the incumbrances is the sole concern of the purchaser as between himself and the vendor who is only entitled to be indemnified against the incumbrances, while in the case of sale free from incumbrances, the price is fixed with reference to the full value of the property, the liability to discharge all the incumbrances being thrown on the vendor, the vendee, however, being given the right to retain out of the price an amount sufficient to clear the incumbrances. But as the liability to pay them off is that of the vendor who has to implement his sale by providing a clear title, the vendee must be regarded as paying the amount retained to the incumbrancer on behalf of the vendor out of the purchase money payable to the latter under the contract of sale. In other words, the vendee acts as the agent of the vendor as regards the disposal of the sum retained, although the agency is one which cannot be revoked as the vendee has himself an interest in the money being applied in the manner indicated. (See S. 202, Contract Act.)

If this is the position, as we apprehended it is, where immovable property is sold free from incumbrances, it follows that the vendor is entitled to call upon the buyer to account to him for any portion of the purchase money which it has become no longer necessary to apply in accordance with the stipulation in that behalf."

12. AIR 1917 Low Bur 166 (167) (DB)  (1907) 4 Low Bur Rul 86 (87)  (1847) 41 ER 1002 (1005) 2 Ph 413 78 RR 123, Lacey v Ingle  (1907-1908) 4 Low Bur Rul 224 (226) (Principles of S. 55(5)(b) applied, though T P Act was not in force in the province.)

13. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 688 (689) (DB) (The buyer acts as the agent of the seller as regards the disposal of the sum retained.)  AIR 1936 Mad 528 (530)

14. 1972 Ker LR 463 (DB)  AIR 1943 Mad 482 (486) ILR (1943) Mad 885 (DB) (But the vendor is not entitled to any interest on the purchase money as there is no wrongful withholding of money payable to him nor does the vendor suffer any damage by reason of the vendee's failure to pay the amount to the incumbrancer)  AIR 1942 Mad 525 (526) (DB) (Debt scaled down under Madras Agriculturists Relief Act, 1938.)

[See however AIR 1953 Mad 370 (371) (DB) (Debt reduced under Madras Act 4 of 1938 — Amount paid by vendee far in excess of amount left with him — Vendor held was not entitled to claim any money as balance of unpaid purchase money.)]

15. AIR 1916 Oudh 143 (144)  (1883) 10 Cal 92 (95).

16. AIR 1940 Lah 321 (325) ILR (1941) Lah 353 (DB)  AIR 1933 Mad 424 (426) 56 Mad 724  AIR 1918 Mad 1135 (1136) (DB)  (1912) 16 Ind Cas 73 (74) (DB) (Cal)

17. 1967 Ker LJ 101 (104) (DB)

18. AIR 1943 Mad 482 (484) ILR (1943) Mad 885 (DB)

In a case from Columbia,(19) their Lordships of the Privy Council stated that the buyer's contract of indemnity in regard to the mortgage debt subject to which the property is sold, is founded upon the doctrine that the purchaser of an equity of redemption is bound under an obligation of conscience to indemnify the vendor against the liability on the mortgage debt, and went on to observe :

"The obligation, as Fletcher Moulton, L.J., said in Mills v United Counties Bank Ltd (20) is based on good sense and 'it relates to every case where you can reasonably imply that it was the intention of the parties that such an indemnity should be given' "

Hence, in the particular circumstances of a case it may not be fair and reasonable to imply such a contract of indemnity. It is the modern practice in ordinary sales of an equity of redemption to insert an express covenant of indemnity by the purchaser where such a covenant is part of the agreement.(21)

The question whether a sale is free of incumbrances or is one subject to incumbrances is a question of fact.(22) The true test would appear to be whether after the sale the seller remains liable either personally or in respect of his other properties. If he is so liable the sale is really one free of incumbrances although the parties might have stated it to be one subject to incumbrances (23) On the other hand, if he is not so liable the sale though stated to be free of incumbrances is really one subject to incumbrances.(24)

Where the sale deed itself contains a direction by the seller to the buyer to pay a third person and the matter does not fall within the proviso, the question whether the money retained by the buyer for payment to the third person is "purchase money" which the seller is entitled to recover in the event of non-payment to the third person, depends upon the nature of the direction and the intention of the parties. The test to be applied is to find out whether the covenant implied in the direction is a pure contract of indemnity or not. If the covenant is a pure contract of indemnity the seller will not be entitled to claim any money as the balance of the purchase money still remaining with the buyer and as being payable to him. But if it is not a contract of pure indemnity, he may have to pay the purchase money in accordance with the directions of the seller and the latter would be entitled to receive the same if either the directions are not complied with, or the purpose, for which the said money was retained in the hands of the buyer became incapable of fulfilment (25)

19. AIR 1936 PC 65 (69).

[See also AIR 1940 Lah 321 (323) II R (1941) Lah 353 (DB) (1802) 7 Ves 332 (336) Rel. on.]

20. (1912) 1 Ch 231 : 81 LJ Ch 210 : 105 LT 742 : 28 TLR 40

21. AIR 1936 PC 65 (70).

22. See AIR 1943 Mad 482 (485) ILR (1943) Mad 885 (DB) (A sale deed after stating the amount of consideration to be Rs. 1,100 and the amount of mortgage incumbrance on the property to be Rs. 5,682 provided as follows — "By way of your having agreed to pay to the mortgagee without our having any concern with the same the said sum together with interest that may accrue due in future according to the terms of the mortgage and get the property released from the mortgage, the said sum of Rs. 5,682 has been received by us"

Held that the terms of the sale showed that the price of the property was fixed on the basis of its full value excluding the incumbrance from consideration and credit was given towards the payment of such price in respect of the amount payable to mortgagee and that therefore the sale was free of incumbrances.)

23. AIR 1934 All 406 (418) : 56 All 766 (FB).

24. AIR 1934 All 406 (422) : 56 All 766 (FB)  AIR 1935 Lah 50 (51)

[See also AIR 1926 All 352 (356) (DB).]

25. AIR 1948 All 307 (308) ILR (1948) All 207 (DB)  AIR 1945 All 139 (140) II R (1945)

In this class of cases, where the direction specifies a time within which the payment is to be made, the payment must be made within that time. Where no time is specified such payment must, under S. 46 of the Contract Act, be made within a reasonable time from the date of the sale deed. (26) A contrary view has, however, been held in the undermentioned cases (27) namely that the payment must be made on the date of the sale itself.

The direction to pay the purchase money or part of it to a simple money creditor of the seller is ordinarily revocable at any time before payment has actually been made. The seller can also vary the direction and ask the buyer to pay it to himself or to any other person. But in such a case, if the sale is free of encumbrances the vendee will be entitled to retain such amount as may be necessary to pay off the encumbrances. (28)

As to whether title passes before consideration is fully paid, see S. 54, Note 14.

Remedy of seller.

The seller is always entitled to recover personally from the buyer the unpaid purchase money as a debt due. (29) A suit for so recovering it would be governed by Art. 111, Limitation Act, 1908 (now by Art. 53 of the Limitation Act, 1963) (30) This personal liability of the buyer cannot be

All 183 (DB). (Portion of consideration reserved in hands of vendee for payment to vendor's creditor — Amount not paid to creditor — Vendor is entitled to the amount : AIR 1940 All 351, Relied on.)  AIR 1936 Mad 528 (530)  AIR 1919 Mad 367 (368) (DB).

See also Note 18.

26. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 688 (689) (DB)  AIR 1937 Lah 608 (609)  AIR 1933 All 386 (388) : 55 All 490 (DB)  AIR 1931 All 95 (97) : 52 All 761 (DB)  (1907) 6 Cal LJ 398 (402) (DB)

[See AIR 1952 Trav-Co 466 (467) (DB). (Portion of purchase money retained for payment to vendor's decree-holder — Default — Cause of action for enforcing seller's remedies arises on date on which property is sold in execution.)]

27. AIR 1957 Trav-Co 221 (222) (Suit to enforce vendor's lien — Time started from date of sale itself.)  (1948) 27 Pat 898 (910) (DB). (Per Mahabir Prasad, J.)  (1912) 34 All 429 (433) (DB).

[See also AIR 1924 Nag 111 (111). (Sale of property subject to encumbrance — Purchaser paying of mortgage as undertaken — Purchaser acts in his own right under S. 55(5)(b) and not as an agent of mortgagor.)]

28. AIR 1942 Mad 583 (584).

[See also AIR 1942 Lah 275 (277, 278) : ILR (1943) Lah 17 (FB). (Per Tek Chand, J., in order of reference — Part of purchase money left with vendee with instructions to pay it to vendor's creditors — Vendor can revoke instructions and require amount to be paid to himself except under certain special circumstances as when the person to be paid has a charge on the property sold which has to be redeemed with a part of sale consideration so that the vendee may get the property free from incumbrances.)]

29. AIR 1942 Lah 275 (278) : ILR (1943) Lah 17 (FB)  AIR 1936 All 870 (872) (DB)  AIR 1931 All 99 (100, 101) : 52 All 901 (DB)  AIR 1919 Mad 367 (368) (DB). (Buyer undertaking to pay simple money debts — Non-payment — Seller can recall direction to pay and recover the purchase money.)  AIR 1914 All 131 (132, 133)  (1905) 2 All LJ 379 (383) (DB).

[See AIR 1945 All 156 (158) : ILR (1945) All 204 (DB). (It may be that a vendee, who is competent to enter into a contract, incurs a personal liability with respect to unpaid purchase money. But if the vendee happens to be a minor or a ward of Court and is as such disqualified from entering into a contract it is manifest that he cannot incur such a personal liability. In such a case, the only remedy open to a vendor is to recover the unpaid purchase money by enforcement of the statutory charge against the property sold.)] transferred by him to any other person. Thus, a transferee from the buyer is not personally liable to the seller for the unpaid purchase money.(31) Where there is an express contract embodied in the registered sale deed for payment of purchase money, a suit for recovery of such money on that contract personally from the buyer would be governed by Art. 116 of the Limitation Act, 1908, (now by Art. 53 of the Limitation Act, 1963, as Art. 116 has been omitted by the Act).(32) But apart from the personal remedy which the seller may have under this clause or on any express contract which he may have entered into in the deed of sale, the seller has, under para 4, Cl. (b), a charge on the property in the hands of the buyer for the purchase money and for interest from the date of the delivery of possession.(33) (See Note 12) Unpaid purchase money left with the vendee is a "debt" due by him to the vendor and can be attached in execution of a decree against the vendor.(34) except, it is conceived, when the case comes under para 5, Cl. (b) of this section in which case, the vendee will have a statutory right of retaining the money to pay off encumbrances on the property in his own interests.

[See also AIR 1935 Lah 50 (51).]

30. See the A.I.R. Commentaries on the Limitation Act, 7th (1997) Edn., Notes on Art. 53.

Where the buyer under a contract for sale does not pay the purchase money at the time of completing the sale, the seller will be entitled to put an end to the contract under S. 39 of the Contract Act. He may also claim damages under S. 73 of the Contract Act.(35) Similarly, whether the buyers retains the amount of any incumbrance by virtue of the proviso and does not pay it to the persons entitled thereto within a reasonable time from the date of the sale, the seller would be entitled to sue for damages under S. 73 of the Contract Act(36) though he would not be able to

31. AIR 1924 Mad 358 (359) (DB)  AIR 1914 All 131 (134)

32. See the A.I.R. Commentaries on the Limitation Act 7th (1997) Edn., Art. 53 and Notes thereon.

33. AIR 1931 All 99 (101) · 52 All 901 (DB) (Assumed)  AIR 1914 All 131 (133) (Latter is available even if the former is barred.)  (1905) 2 All LJ 379 (383) (DB)

34. AIR 1942 Lah 275 (278, 279) : ILR (1943) Lah 17 (FB). (If at the instance of a decree-holder of vendor a prohibitory order under O. 21, R. 46, Civil PC., is served on vendee before he has paid out the amount to the nominees of vendor in accordance with directions set out in sale deed attachment is good and neither vendee nor vendor can object — Decree-holder need not wait until a reasonable time has elapsed from sale within which vendee could have paid, but has neglected to pay vendor's nominees but can attach the money immediately.)

[See also AIR 1954 Mad 729 (730). (Mortgagor selling mortgaged property — Part of consideration retained by vendee for paying of the mortgage — Suit on mortgage in which subsequent mortgagee was impleaded — Subsequent mortgagee paying off earlier mortgage and getting mortgagor's right to recover unpaid purchase money attached before judgment — Attachment made absolute later — Properties brought to sale by him and purchased by himself — Right to unpaid purchase money sold in execution of personal decree obtained by the subsequent mortgagee — It was held, that the proceedings taken were perfectly legal.)  AIR 1942 Mad 650 (651). (Right of vendor to unpaid purchase money from vendee is attachable as a debt where vendee admits liability to pay but claims for defer such payment till vendors pays off other incumbrances — Obligation to pay for property purchased springs into being by virtue of very transaction of sale itself — Right which is given to vendee by S. 55(5)(b) is not a right to say that he is under no obligation, but a right to postpone discharge of that obligation.)]

35. AIR 1932 All 454 (456) (DB) (Interest at reasonable rate on the purchase money paid was held to be sufficient damages.)

[See AIR 1936 All 598 (599) (DB).]

36. AIR 1940 Lah 321 (325) · ILR (1941) Lah 353 (DB) (Vendee of mortgaged property undertaking to pay off mortgagee out of amount left with him — Default in payment — Liability of vendee — Measure of damages — Effect of vendee's conduct.)  AIR 1937 avoid the sale itself on the ground of the breach of the obligation under this clause. The words "and shall pay the amount to the persons entitled thereto" must, however, be taken to apply only when the amount retained is sufficient to discharge the prior incumbrance.(37) Where A sold to B property free of incumbrances and stated that a certain amount was to be retained to pay C, a prior incumbrancer, and it was found that it was insufficient to pay C, it was held that B was not bound to pay the amount either to A or to C, but may retain it until the property is made free of the incumbrance.(38)

In a claim for purchase money against the buyer it is not necessary that the seller should show that he had suffered any damage on the ground of any non-payment. The reason is that the purchase money is payable not as any compensation for any loss suffered by the seller but as a debt due.(39) Even in a suit for damages for breach of the obligation to pay the purchase money, the general trend of opinion is that the seller is not bound to show that he has actually suffered any damage(40)

Nag 246 (247, 248) ILR (1938) Nag 45 (Debt of a creditor not mentioned by the vendor paid, payment unwarranted.)  AIR 1934 All 617 (617)  AIR 1928 Oudh 148 (151) (DB) (On the death of vendee, his son was held responsible for paying damages)  (1907) 6 Cal LJ 398 (402) (DB).

37. AIR 1940 Cal 380 (382)  (1912) 15 Ind Cas 854 (855) (All) (21 All 223 26 Ind App 45 (PC). Followed.)

38. ILR (1957) Cut 545 (548) (Vendee cannot retain the balance of purchase money on ground that he has paid in excess of the stipulated amount in discharging the encumbrance without waiting for vendor's contribution)  (1899) 21 All 223 (226, 227) : 26 Ind App 45 (PC)  AIR 1942 Mad 650 (651) (Money left with vendee to pay mortgagee not sufficient to pay off mortgage — He may defer payment till vendor contributes remainder of the sum to pay him off completely 21 All 223 (PC). Followed.)  AIR 1940 Cal 380 (383)

[See however AIR 1926 Mad 1031 (1032) (DB) (In this case it was clearly understood between the parties that prior mortgages were subsisting and that the payment by the vendee would not fully discharge the liability 21 All 223 (PC). Distinguished.)] The buyer must make an attempt to pay the incumbrancer at a reasonably early period so as to discover whether the amount retained is short of the amount due, see AIR 1917 Oudh 128 (130, 131).

39. AIR 1934 All 406 (422) : 56 All 766 (FB)  AIR 1944 Mad 330 (332) : ILR (1945) Mad 26 (DB)  AIR 1937 Lah 608 (609)  AIR 1936 All 870 (872) (DB)  AIR 1931 All 95 (97) 52 All 761 (DB)  AIR 1919 Mad 367 (368) (DB)  AIR 1914 All 131 (132)  (1913) 36 Mad 348 (351) (DB).

[See also AIR 1925 Lah 405 (406) (Money left with vendee to redeem mortgages on property other than the property sold — Vendee not redeeming — Vendor's duty was to redeem property or ask vendee to refund money)  (1906) 16 Mad LJ 20 (21) (DB)]

40. 1936 All LJ 1081 (1082) (DB) (Vendor held entitled to recover interest at 1 p c p m on the amount left with vendee)  AIR 1931 All 754 (755) 53 All 946 (DB)  AIR 1930 Pat 46 (49) 8 Pat 860  (1909) 4 Ind Cas 1121 (1122) (DB) (Mad). (Direction in sale deed to pay third party — Money not so paid — Vendor can recover purchase money with interest — He need not have paid the creditor before filing the suit 23 Mad 441. Followed.)  (1909) 1 Ind Cas 621 (622) (Mad) (23 Mad 441. Followed.)  (1910) 34 Mad 479 (481)  (1912) 34 All 429 (433) (DB)

[See also AIR 1914 Mad 655 (656) 38 Mad 791 (DB) (Where the defendant's promise is an absolute one to do a particular thing as to discharge or acquit the plaintiff from such a bond, an action may be brought the moment he has failed to perform his contract, and a plea of non-damification would be bad.)]

though a contrary view has been held in some cases (41)

But where a claim is made by the seller for damages as on a breach of an implied or an express contract of indemnity, he is bound to show loss or damage before he can succeed. A suit of that kind would be governed by Art. 83 of the Limitation Act, 1908 or by Art. 116 of that Act where the contract of indemnity is contained in a registered deed, (42) (now by Arts. 13 and 55 of the Limitation Act, 1963.)

There is no provision in S. 55 which makes the obligation of the buyer to pay the purchase money to the seller under S. 55(5)(b) conditional upon the fulfilment of the contract provided for in S. 55(2). A breach of the covenant for title or quiet enjoyment is therefore no bar to a suit by the seller for recovery of purchase money. (43)

The Zamindar's right of "Zarechaharum" in U P to recover 1/4th of the sale consideration of a house sold by a Riyaya cannot be said to be an encumbrance and, therefore, S. 55(5)(b) would not be attracted. (44)

Contract to the contrary.

This clause applies only where there is no contract to the contrary. Where the purchase money is contracted to be paid before the Sub Registrar, there is a contract to the contrary and the amount need not be paid at the time of the execution of the sale deed (45) In Ram Raghur Lal v. United Refineries (Bhurma) Ltd. (46) A agreed to sell to X or his nominee certain immovable property. There was no provision that in the case a nominee being mentioned, X should remain liable for the balance of the purchase money. The conveyance was made to a nominee as buyer who undertook to pay the balance. It was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that the nominee was substituted for X and that the latter was therefore not under a personal liability to pay the purchase money.

A sold certain property to B. A part of the purchase price was left with B for payment to C, a simple money creditor of A. As part of the same transaction of sale A undertook to pay immediately an existing incumbrance on the property. In case of A's failure to do so B was to pay it off and recover it from A. On A's failure to discharge the mortgage, B declined to pay the amount left with him either to C or A. It was held that as the property was sold free from incumbrances B was entitled to retain the amount left with him to pay off the incumbrance and that either the direction to pay to C or A's undertaking to discharge the mortgage could not be regarded as contract to the contrary so as to preclude B from retaining the amount for the purpose of discharging the mortgage. (47)

Tender of amount.

A tender of purchase-money is sufficient to discharge the obligation under this clause (48).

Receipt of consideration — Onus of proof.

As regards the onus of proving the receipt of consideration for a sale, see the undermentioned case. (49)

41. AIR 1934 All 406 (422) : 56 All 766 (FB)  AIR 1933 Nag 379 (382) : 29 Nag LR 298 (DB)  (1906) 16 Mad LJ 20 (22) (DB)  (1904) 14 Mad LJ 285 (286) (DB)

42. See the A I R Commentaries on the Limitation Act, 7th (1997) Edn., Arts. 55 and 113

43. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 688 (689, 690) (DB).

44. AIR 1973 All 162 (163) (Held no longer good law in 1981 All LJ 1111 on ground that the custom of "Zarechaharum" is unreasonable.)

45. (1910) 8 Ind Cas 804 (804) (DB) (Mad).

46. AIR 1933 PC 143 (145) : 60 Ind App 183.

47. AIR 1942 Mad 583 (583, 584).

48. (1910) 8 Ind Cas 804 (804) (DB) (Mad).

49. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 557 (559, 560) (DB)

15. Third party, if can enforce contract between A and B as to payment of purchase-money.

Where A sell property to B and B, the buyer, retains a portion of the purchase-money for paying a third party. B does not thereby become personally liable to the third party.(1) Even where B expressly undertakes with A to pay a creditor of the latter, such creditor cannot enforce the contract, as he has no privity of contract with B.(2) the general principle being that a third party cannot enforce a contract between A and B.(3) The buyer does not, by reason merely of his contract with the seller, become a trustee for the creditor.(4) A contrary view has, however, been expressed in the undermentioned cases(5).

But where the parties to the contract stand in a fiduciary relation to the stranger such as that of trustee, a guardian, etc., the stranger may enforce the contract which is for his benefit.(6) In the undermentioned case(7) where A agreed with his son B before the marriage of the latter, to pay B's intended wife karchi pandan monthly of the value of Rs. 500 for her life, it was held that the wife was, in equity, entitled to enforce her claim against A.

Where on the strength of the contract between A and B, that B should pay a third party, B enters into direct relationship with the third party and makes himself personally liable to him, the third party can sue B on the contract(8).

16. Liability for loss from destruction, etc., after passing of ownership Paragraph 5, clause (c).

In England a contract for sale of real property makes the buyer, the owner in equity of the

Section 55 — Note 15

1. AIR 1923 PC 54 (54). (AIR 1919 Pat 583. Affirmed.)  (1912) 34 All 63 (64) : 39 Ind App 7 (PC)  AIR 1954 All 348 (349, 350) (Sale of mortgaged property by mortgagor — Portion of consideration left in hands of vendee to pay off debts due to mortgagee — Mortgagee cannot recover amount from vendee if no trust is created in his favour.)  AIR 1949 Nag 319 (324) ILR (1949) Nag 122 (DB)  AIR 1936 Oudh 313 (315) : 12 Luck 215 (DB)  (1800) 31 ER 724 (726) : 5 Ves 534, Butler v Butler.
2. AIR 1930 Mad 382 (389) : 53 Mad 270 (FB)  AIR 1942 Lah 275 (278) : ILR (1943) Lah 17 (FB). (Creditors cannot sue vendee for the amount)  AIR 1919 Pat 583 (584) 78 Ind Cas 545 (546) (DB)  AIR 1934 All 770 (772). (Creditor has no charge on the property.)  AIR 1934 Pat 1 (2) (But if usufructuary mortgagee is dispossessed by such transferee then transferee is liable to repay the mortgage debt.)  AIR 1930 Mad 567 (567, 568)  AIR 1926 Pat 474 (477) : 5 Pat 468 (DB)  AIR 1923 Lah 459 (460).
3. AIR 1922 PC 176 (177)  AIR 1954 All 348 (349)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 988 (989) (Cal). [See also AIR 1933 Lah 658 (658) (Vendee paying the mortgagee — Sale declared void subsequently — Remedy of the vendee lies against the vendor and not against the mortgagee.)]
4. AIR 1942 Lah 275 (278) : ILR (1943) Lah 17 (FB)  AIR 1954 All 348 (350)  AIR 1925 Cal 599 (602) : 52 Cal 100 (DB)  AIR 1916 All 232 (233) : 38 All 209 (DB).
5. AIR 1949 Orissa 14 (17)  AIR 1933 Lah 178 (179)  AIR 1927 Mad 421 (421)  AIR 1918 Cal 941 (942) (DB) (Following AIR 1914 Cal 129.)  AIR 1914 Cal 129 (131) : 41 Cal 137 (DB) (This case was decided on its peculiar facts.)
6. AIR 1932 Oudh 82 (84) : 7 Luck 292  AIR 1918 Cal 941 (942)  AIR 1914 Cal 129 (131) : 41 Cal 137 (DB). (Buyer communicated to the creditor and acknowledged the liability.)
7. (1910) 32 All 410 (413) : 37 Ind App 152 (PC).
8. AIR 1952 Mys 109 (110) : ILR (1952) Mys 316 (DB) (Suit will be governed by Art. 116, Limitation Act, if the obligation to pay arises directly under registered instrument.)  AIR 1935 Mad 115 (116) (DB).

estate, with the consequence that he has to bear any loss arising from the destruction, injury or deterioration of the property not caused by the seller.(1) If the seller in possession spends money for repairing any such damage or injury, he can recover the amount from the buyer (2) But if the loss or destruction is due to the fault or the negligence of the seller(3) or if he delays the completion of the contract(4) the loss must be borne by the seller himself. This clause is based on the above principles of English law. The only difference being that under the Act ownership passes only by conveyance, while under the English law the contract for sale itself passes the ownership in equity to the buyer.(5)

Where the ownership of property had passed to buyer, and case of buyer, that seller had purposely and with a view to cause loss to him removed the superstructure from property had not been established seller could not be made liable for loss in view of S. 55(5)(c).(6)

17. Payment by buyer of public charges, etc., on passing of ownership — Paragraph 5, clause (d).

As between the buyer and the seller, the buyer under this clause is under an obligation to pay—

- (1) all public charges which may become payable in respect of the property,
- (2) rent which may become payable in respect of the property, and
- (3) the principal monies due on any incumbrances subject to which the property is sold and the interest thereon afterwards accruing due(1).

The liability of the buyer under this clause attaches as an incident of the property sold, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, and is complete when the property passes (2) The rights and liabilities are, however, only as between the buyer and the seller and do not in any way affect the rights of third parties. Where property which was the subject of a yearly tax was sold in the middle of the year, it was held in the undermentioned case(3) that the buyer was, as against the municipality, liable to pay the whole tax and not merely for instalments accruing due after the date of sale.

If the buyer fails to make a payment which he is, under this clause, bound to pay, with the consequence that the seller is forced to pay it, the seller will be entitled to recover such amount from the buyer under S. 69 of the Contract Act. Similarly, where the seller is bound to make a payment, as for instance rent accruing due prior to the date of sales(4) and he fails to pay it and the

Section 55 — Note 16

1. (1692) 23 ER 781 (781) · 2 Vern 28, Cass v Rudele  (1964) 33 LJ Ch 639 (640) · 12 WR (Eng) 683, Poolle v Adams  (1801) 31 ER 1088 (1089) · 6 Ves 349, Paime v Meller  (1805) 32 ER 1205 (1206) · 11 Ves 559 Ex parte Minor (The contract not being complete and binding the loss fell upon the vendor)  (1816) 56 ER 195 (198) · 1 Mad 532, Hartford v. Purner.
2. (1849) 50 ER 1061 (1064) · 12 Beav 260, Robertson v Skelton  (1864) 33 LJ Ch 639 (640) · 12 WR (Eng) 683, Poolle v Adams.
- [See also (1881) 20 WR (Eng) 546 (548) · 18 Ch D 1, Rayner v Preston]
3. (1873) 21 WR (Eng) 179 (180) · 42 LJ Ch 225, Phillips v Silvester
4. (1816) 56 ER 550 (550) · 3 Mad 394, Foster v Deacon
5. 1956 Madh BLJ 456 (461) (DB). (Ownership passing to buyer — Buyer must bear the loss caused by deterioration in property not caused by seller.)
6. AIR 1977 Mad 411 (413) : (1977) 1 Mad LJ 494.

Section 55 — Note 17

1. See (1907) 30 Mad 461 (461, 463) (Same principles apply to court sales)
2. (1906) 29 Mad 519 (523) (DB).
3. (1907) 30 Mad 423 (425).
4. AIR 1926 Cal 385 (387) : 52 Cal 914 (DB).

buyer has to pay it, the buyer can recover the same from the seller under S 69 of the Contract Act (5) A buyer making a payment which he is himself bound to pay is only performing his own obligation and cannot obviously recover it from the seller under S. 69 of the Contract Act(6).

Similarly, a seller paying charges which he is himself bound to pay before the ownership of the property has passed from him, cannot recover them from the buyer under S 69, Contract Act. But in the case noted below(7), where the buyer had entered into possession before the sale deed was executed, it was held that the seller, paying charges in respect of the property sold in the intervening period could recover the same from the buyer.

18. Property sold subject to incumbrances — Incumbrances found invalid — Who gets the benefit?

In Izzatunnissa Begum v Kunwar Pertab Singh, (1) where property was sold subject to certain incumbrances, and it was afterwards found that they were invalid, their Lordships of the Privy Council observed as follows :

"On the sale of property subject to encumbrances the vendor gets the price of his interest, whatever it may be, whether the price he settled by private bargain or determined by public competition, together with an indemnity against the encumbrances affecting the land. The contract of indemnity may be express or implied. If the purchaser covenants with the vendor to pay the encumbrances, it is still nothing more than a contract of indemnity. The purchaser takes the property subject to the burden attached to it. If the encumbrances turn out to be invalid, the vendor has nothing to complain of. He has got what he bargained for. His indemnity is complete. He cannot pick up the burthen of which the land is relieved and seize it as his own property. The notion that after the completion of the purchase the purchaser is in some way a trustee for the vendor of the amount by which the existence or supposed existence, of encumbrances has led to a diminution of the price, and liable, therefore, to account to the vendor for anything that remains of that amount after the encumbrances are satisfied or disposed of is without foundation. After the purchase is completed, the vendor has no claim to participate in any benefit which the purchaser may derive from his purchase."(2)

5. AIR 1926 Cal 385 (391) : 52 Cal 914 (DB).

6. AIR 1916 Mad 980 (982) : 39 Mad 795

7. AIR 1927 Mad 1060 (1063).

Section 55 — Note 18

1. (1908) 31 All 583 (589) : 36 Ind App 203 (PC).

2. See also the following cases (1967) 2 Andh LT 273 (282, 283) (DB) (Mortgage debt scaled down at instance of agriculturist mortgagor — Non-agriculturist purchasers of equity of redemption can be proceeded against only for the scaled down amount)  AIR 1957 Ker 98 (99) ILR (1957) Ker 321 (Fidelity bond — Amount charged on property sold — Bond discharged on retirement from service — Buyer is entitled to benefit and not the seller)  AIR 1954 Mad 508 (512) ILR (1954) Mad 484 (DB)  AIR 1953 Punj 110 (113) ILR (1952) Punj 219 (DB) (Sale of property — Part of purchase money left with purchaser for payment to previous mortgagee — Extinction of mortgage as a result of operation of Punjab Restitution of Mortgaged Lands Act — Seller has no right to participate in the benefits which purchaser might get by non-payment)  AIR 1942 Mad 527 (527) (DB), (Immovable property sold subject to mortgage — Mortgage debt scaled down at instance of mortgagor agriculturist, under Madras Agriculturists' Relief Act (1938) — Purchasers although non agriculturists are entitled to benefit of reduction and are liable only to extent of amount scaled down)  AIR 1937 Oudh 159 (164) . 12 Luck 540 (Auction sale)  AIR 1916 Mad 980 (982) 39 Mad 795  (1909) 33 Bom 311 (316) (DB) (There is nothing to prevent him from benefiting by the clearance of any claim upon the property even if he has himself to sue to procure it)  (1787) 29 ER 87 (88) : 2 Bro CC 151, Tweddel v Tweddel

The buyer, is in fact, entitled to contest the validity of the incumbrances(3)

On the sale of property free of incumbrances on the other hand, where the buyer retains a portion of the purchase-money to pay off the prior incumbrances, it cannot be said that the seller gets the price of his interest until the prior incumbrances, free of which the property is sold, are paid off. Until then the money retained by the buyer retains the character of unpaid purchase money. If under such circumstances, the incumbrances turn out to be invalid, or for some other reason a lesser amount than that retained, is to be paid, the amount not paid, or the balance of the amount remaining unpaid, as the case may be, must be paid to the seller as unpaid purchase money. In the under-mentioned case(4) A sold to B property x for Rs. 3,000 out of which Rs. 928-8-0 were to be retained by the buyer to discharge a prior mortgage. That mortgage comprised only property x and no other. By reason of the subsequent passing of the U P Agriculturists Relief Act, 27 of 1934, the amount payable under the mortgage was reduced to Rs. 732-13-0, and the vendee discharged the mortgage by paying only Rs. 732-13-0. A thereupon sued B for the balance of Rs. 195-11-0. It was held that he was entitled to recover. See also the undermentioned cases(5) to a similar effect. As to the test to see whether a sale is free of incumbrances or is one subject to incumbrances, see Note 14.

19. Buyer entitled to rents and profits, etc. — Paragraph 6, clause (a).

Where, under the sale, the buyer is entitled to get possession of the property at once, he will be entitled to damages for the period he is kept out of possession for no fault of his(1).

Where land is sold in execution of money decree vendee would be entitled to the rents and profits of the same as a legal incident of the property in respect of crops raised after the date of sale(2).

Where the agreement of sale of house was terminated by vendor on failure of vendee to pay purchase price but subsequently vendee agreed to take over the house, the vendee would be entitled to rents collected by vendor from the tenants of the house after the date of sale until the date of transfer(3).

Where the property occupied by tenant was transferred during pendency of proceedings for eviction against the landlord, and there was default committed by tenant long prior to date of transfer, and in the sale deed such arrear of rent was not specifically assigned to transferee, he could not claim such arrears of rent(4).

3. (1913) 21 Ind Cas 79 (80) (Cal).

4. AIR 1940 All 351 (352) : ILR (1940) All 340 (DB)

5. AIR 1955 Pat 254 (256) (DB) (The purchaser must be held to be in position of trustee for unpaid purchase money and was liable to refund the excess amount in his hands,  AIR 1953 Mad 370 (371) (DB) (Debt reduced under Madras Act 4 of 1938 — Vendor held was not entitled to claim any money as balance of unpaid purchase money when vendee had paid more than the amounts left with him)  AIR 1949 All 340 (341) (DB) (Where a vendee under a sale for a fixed sum fails to pay the vendor's creditor part of the consideration left in his hands for such payment, the vendor is entitled to it under S. 55(4)(b) of the T.P. Act as it is really unpaid purchase money)  AIR 1943 Mad 482 (487), ILR (1943) Mad 885 (DB). (Sale free from incumbrance — Sum left in hands of vendee to discharge prior mortgage — Due to passing of Madras Agriculturists Relief Act, 1938 amount payable to mortgagee reduced — Seller is entitled to recover balance as unpaid purchase money.)

Section 55 — Note 19

1. (1947) 52 Mys HCR 69 (72) (DB)  AIR 1935 Oudh 142 (142)

2. AIR 1973 Andh Pra 94 (95).

3. (1978) 1 Malayan LJ 23 (29).

4. AIR 1989 Pat 13 (17) : 1988 Pat LJR (HC) 950.

Where a person has purchased land from a private person and not Municipality. The purchaser would be entitled to all rights under Ss. 8, 55(6)(a) of the T.P. Act. Thus on the purchaser making construction on the land or some alteration, the Municipality could not demand any conversion charges by invoking S. 173-A of the Rajasthan Municipalities Act(5).

20. Buyer's charge — Paragraph 6, clause (b).

This clause enacts that, if before the title passes to the buyer, the latter has paid purchase money or earnest money, he has a charge on the seller's interest in the property for the amount of the purchase money, etc., provided he has not improperly declined to accept delivery of the property. (1) Section 55(6)(b) creates a statutory charge and not a charge or interest which can be said to have been created by act of parties. Such charge depends upon certain contingencies. It does not create an absolute charge as such but the charge arises provided it is shown that the buyer has not improperly declined to accept delivery of the property. (2) under S. 55(6)(b) the buyer has got a charge for the price pre-paid. This charge attaches from the moment the buyer pays any part of the purchase money and is only lost in case of his own subsequent default. This charge on the property is enforceable not only against of the seller but all persons claiming under him. A transferee for value with notice or without notice would be liable to under S. 55(6)(b). The buyer's charge under this section is a statutory charge and he is entitled to enforce it against property and the plea of the want of notice by third party purchaser is of no avail. (3) The charge in favour of buyer as converse to the seller's charge under S. 55(4)(b). The buyer's charge under the section is a statutory charge and differs from a contractual charge which a buyer may be entitled to claim under a separate contract. No charge is available unless the agreement to genuene. When the property upon which the charge is created gets converted into another form, the buyer will be entitled to proceed against the substituted security. (4) It follows the English law, that a purchaser has got a lien for the money

5. AIR 2001 Raj 9 (13) : 2000 (2) Rajasthan LR 644.

Section 55 — Note 20

1. AIR 1941 Lah 407 (411, 412) : ILR (1942) Lah 79 (FB)  1999 (3) Cal LT 177 (185)  (1973) 86 Mad LW 738 (If the vendor wrongfully declined to complete the transaction the buyer is entitled to the charge for the prepaid purchase price.)  AIR 1968 Mad 142 (151) : ILR (1966) 2 Mad 78. (C, a Hindu coparcener, executing agreement of sale in favour of P in respect of certain property asserting that it was his self acquired property and receiving some purchase price — Suit for partition by other coparceners against C claiming that property was joint family property — Held, that P was entitled to charge for pre-paid purchase price on share of C either in property agreed to be sold or any other property that might be allotted to him at partition)  AIR 1965 Pat 404 (406) (Fact proved by vendee showing that vendors were willing to fulfil their part of contract of sale by executing sale deed at any time — Sale deed not executed — Held, that it must have been due to some laches on part of vendee and it could be said that there was improper refusal by vendee to accept delivery so as to disentitle him to a charge on property)  AIR 1959 Ker 389 (390) (DB)  AIR 1953 Bom 145 (149) : ILR (1953) Bom 253 (DB) (The creation of a charge under S. 55(6) is not at all dependent upon the buyer not coming into possession of the property intended to be sold)  AIR 1938 Rang 367 (368) (DB)  AIR 1937 Bom 142 (143) : ILR (1937) Bom 140  AIR 1937 Mad 714 (716) (DB)  AIR 1931 Mad 592 (593, 594) : 54 Mad 708 (DB). (Purchaser paying earnest money and then refusing to complete the purchase has no charge on property  (1906) 9 Oudh Cas 259 (266) (DB)  (1900) 24 Bom 440 (402) (DB)  (1899) 23 Bom 56 (63)  (1897) 7 Mad LJ 234 (236) (DB). (Seller includes his subsequent transferee.)

[See also AIR 1941 PC 47 (48). (Question whether charge exists depends upon the question whether buyer has improperly declined to accept delivery.)]

2. AIR 1970 Guj 12 (DB).

3. (1989) 1 Ker LT 581 (582).

4. AIR 2000 SC 573 (578) : 2000 AIR SCW 113 : 1999 (10) JT 223.

paid by him on the vendor's interest when the contract goes off (5) The principles underlying this rule were stated by Vice-Chancellor Kindersley, in Wythes v. Lee(6) as follows :

"Suppose a person, absolute beneficial owner in fee of an estate contracts to sell it, and the purchaser pays the deposit in part payment of the purchase-money, and by reason of the vendor being unable to make a title or from any other reason, not being misconduct on either side the contract goes off and cannot be completed, has the purchaser a lien on the estate for his deposit ?

... Now the question I have looked at in three different points of view

- (1) With reference to natural justice, irrespectively of any specific rule of law, and it does appear to me that it is consistent with natural justice that if a purchaser on the faith of the contract being completed, and the same becoming his, has advanced money in payment or part payment for the purchase, he has advanced it under circumstances which entitle him to say 'if you cannot complete, not only are you bound to give me back my money, but I have a right to lien on the estate'
- (2) With reference to the general law of this Court I do not mean with reference to decided cases, but to the general law and principles of this Court. This is clear, that the vendor if he has parted with the estate to the purchaser before he has got his money, has a lien for it on the estate, that is unquestionable. Now, does the right of the purchaser, if the contract goes off, stand in principle on the same footing as that of the vendor ? The only distinction that occurs to me is this — the vendor when he contracts to sell his estate is owner, he has the estate in his own possession, at least under his own control, and when he contracts to sell his right is to say 'I will convey the estate when the purchase-money is paid, but till that is done I will not convey it, that creates a lien of itself, very analogous to the common law lien, and that lien which exists before conveyance, still continues; it is not a new, but the same lien. But with regard to the purchaser, he has not the estate in his possession, and his lien is not in its origin the same sort of lien as that of the vendor. But when a contract is made, and then goes off, it appears to me that, in principle and justice, the equity of the purchaser to a lien on the estate ought to stand on as good a footing as the lien of the vendor after conveyance

This clause applies to a stage before the buyer has accepted delivery of the property and therefore does not apply where the delivery has been accepted (7) The words "accept delivery of the property" must be understood as meaning "accept the completion of the contract by the execution of the conveyance or delivery of the property as the case may be." It does not mean acceptance of mere possession without the execution of a conveyance in cases where a conveyance is necessary. Thus, where under a contract for sale A, the seller, puts B, the buyer, in possession and receives the purchase-money, and the contract is not completed for no fault of the buyer, it cannot be said that by reason of the fact that B was placed in possession, he has "accepted delivery" within the meaning of this clause, and that he has no charge on the property (8) But where the contract has

5. Halsbury, Laws of England, Volume XIX pages 16 and 17  (1898) 67 LJ Ch 313 (317) · (1898) 1 Ch 478 (485) · 78 LT 185 Levy v. Stogdon, (Contract not completed by seller not being able to discharge incumbrances)  (1864) 33 LJ Ch 385 (389, 390) 10 HL 672, Rose v. Watson.

6. (1855) 61 ER 954 (957) : 3 Drew 396.

7. AIR 1966 Mad 330 (330)  AIR 1952 Kutch 10 (12)

[See also (1947) 52 Mys HCR 69 (71) (DB) (It is only when possession is not with the buyer, either because he has declined to take delivery for proper reasons or because possession was not delivered to him that charge is created in favour of purchaser for the amount he might have paid.)]

8. AIR 1957 Bom 79 (81) ILR (1956) Bom 844 (DB)  AIR 1953 Bom 145 (152) ILR (1953) Bom 253 (DB)  (1947) 52 Mys HCR 69 (71) (DB)  AIR 1916 Low Bur 67 (67)  AIR 1916 Low Bur 38 (39)  AIR 1914 Low Bur 53 (54) · 7 Low Bur Rul 262 (Property merely delivered to buyer without a proper conveyance as required by S. 54 — Buyer has got a charge — The case is dissented from in AIR 1922 Low Bur 25 (26), but the reasons for the dissent are not given and the facts are quite different) been duly completed in the manner prescribed by S 54, this clause does not apply (9) Nor will it apply if the sale is otherwise invalid, (10) or if subsequently the sale is avoided at the instance of a third party. The remedy of the buyer would in the latter case be merely a personal one against the seller to recover the purchase money paid by him as on a failure of consideration. (11)

When the property upon which the charge is created gets converted into another form, the buyer will be entitled to proceed against the substituted security. This is a general principle of law and S 73 is only an example of it the same principle which is applicable to mortgages applies to cases of statutory charge under S 55(6)(b). If immovable property is charged and is converted into another property or money, then the charge will fasten on the property or money into which the subject-matter of the agreement is converted, S. 55(6)(b) also makes it clear that the buyer is entitled to interest on the amount of purchase money paid, interest is payable from the date of payment of purchase money to the seller till date of delivery of property to the purchaser or till the execution of sale deed whichever is earlier. (12)

The clause presupposes that the seller has some existing interest in the property contracted to be sold. Where the thing contracted to be sold no existence at all, obviously the buyer cannot have a charge under this clause on any property of the seller. He will only be entitled to recover the purchase-money personally from the seller on the ground that the money had been paid to him wholly without consideration (13). In Sudha Mukhi Devi v Chairman of Commissioner of the Tollygunge Municipality, (14) the contract for sale was not completed and possession was not delivered owing to the fact that the property agreed to be sold became non-existence. It was held that the buyer was entitled to claim a refund of the purchase-money which had been paid by him, personally from the seller as on a failure of a consideration.

Where the contract depends for performance upon the vendor recovering possession of the property from a protected tenant and the purchaser can well be said to be aware of this contingency unless and until vendor secures possession the statutory lien under Sec. 55(6)(b) would not be created in favour of the purchaser in respect of the money that he might have paid (15).

If the agreement itself is void or becomes void by reason of statute prohibiting a contract of sale the Section would not become applicable and would create no charge (16)

[See also ILR (1959) Bom 35 (37), (AIR 1953 Bom 145, Foll.)  AIR 1944 Mad 556 (556, 557). (Buyer put in possession under written contract of sale but S 53A not applicable as transaction was prior to its enactment and that section is not retrospective — In suit for possession by vendor, vendee cannot rely on S 53A but will be entitled under S 55(6)(b) to refund of the purchase money before he is dispossessed.)  (1904) 28 Bom 466 (471) (DB). (Execution of conveyance without registration — Vendor receiving purchase money and delivering possession to vendee — Suit by vendor to recover possession was decreed subject to vendee's charge)  AIR 1926 PC 94 (95, 96) : 53 Ind App 214. (In such cases vendor is a bare trustee and has no attachable interest)]

9. AIR 1966 Mad 330 (330)  AIR 1937 Bom 142 (143) ILR (1937) Bom 140  AIR 1928 Bom 328 (332) (DB).

10. AIR 1973 SC 1368  ILR (1967) Guj 323 (329) (Contract for sale void under S 23, Contract Act — Buyer not entitled to charge under S 55(6)(b))  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 1089 (1089, 1090) (DB) (Mad).

11. See (1892) 19 Cal 123 (126) : 18 Ind App 158 (PC).

12. AIR 2000 PC 573 (578) : 2000 AIR SCW 113 (119) : 1999 (10) JT 223.

13. (1852) 86 RR 619 (629) : 7 Ex 208, Strick Land v. Turner.

14. AIR 1934 Cal 148 (149) (DB)  AIR 1964 Onssa 269 (273) (Vendee is entitled to ask for refund of earnest money.)

15. AIR 1974 Bom 155 (161, 162)

16. 1980 Law Summary 30 (32) (AP)  1996 (1) Guj LH 893 (900)

In case of sale of land in favour of a non-agriculturist being in violation of Bombay Act 7 of 1948 and the land and the price is ordered to be forfeited the purchaser would be entitled to refund of consideration. Because in such cases the contract of sale would imply a condition of permission from the Collector being obtained for validating the sale(17).

Even where a buyer wanted to take delivery of agricultural land agreed to be purchased by him, but for no fault of his the sale could not be effected and the land was acquired the buyer would be entitled to have a charge on the land for the amounts of purchase price paid by him(18).

The first part of the clause deals with the buyer's charge for purchase money. The second part of the clause deals with the buyer's charge for the earnest money (if any) that he might have paid and the last part deals with the buyer's charge for the costs if any awarded to him of a suit to compel specific performance of the contract(19) or to obtain a decree for its rescission.

The buyer will be entitled to earnest money when he properly declines to accept delivery. It follows, therefore, that under S 55(6)(b) unless the buyer properly declines to accept delivery the charge for the earnest money will remain from the time of payment. This Section, however, begins with the words "in the absence of the contract to the contrary". So if the parties expressly stipulate that earnest money would be forfeited under certain circumstances the provisions of sub-section (6) will not be attracted. But mere fact that money is described as earnest does not make the contract to the contrary within the meaning of this sub-section. Mere use of the word 'earnest' would not be sufficient to exclude the operation of S 55(6)(20).

In the absence of express stipulation in the agreement to that effect, the amount of earnest money could not be forfeited on ground that the sale transaction did not materialise (21).

Earnest money can be forfeited if the party who paid the same was in default(22).

The buyer is, under paragraph 5, clause (b) above, bound to pay the purchase-money only at the time of conveyance and if he pays it before that time the seller is really a trustee for the buyer in respect of that amount until the conveyance is executed(23) and, therefore, in the first class of cases a charge arises from the moment the purchase-money in whole or in part is paid by the buyer in pursuance of the contract of sale(24).

Where the purchaser has committed default he is not entitled to claim a charge under S 55(6)(b).(25) In a suit by vendor for recovery of possession of the land agreed to be sold and for mesne profits, the counter-claim of the buyer was only for specific performance and alternatively for

17. (1972) 13 Guj LR 343 (353)

18. (1969) 10 Guj LR 635 (638) (DB).

19. AIR 1956 Bom 443 (447) (DB)

20. AIR 1978 Cal 285 (295) (DB)

21. 1997 AIHC 975 (977) : 1997 (1) Kant LJ 605

22. AIR 1972 Mys 28 (29)

23. (1864) 12 WR (Eng) 585 (586) 10 HL 672, Rose v Watson (Per Lord Cranworth)

24. AIR 1978 Andh Pra 334 (A purchaser of J D's property under an agreement of sale has sufficient interest to entitle him to file an application under O 21 R 90 C P C)  (1978) 2 An WR 312 (316)  (1978) 80 Pun LR 195 (198) 1978 Pun LJ 14  AIR 1968 Andh Pra 334 (336)  AIR 1952 Bom 145 (149) 1LR (1953) Bom 253 (DB)  AIR 1952 Bom 67 (68, 69)  AIR 1916 Nag 78 (79, 80) 13 Nag LR 19  AIR 1916 Low Bur 38 (39)  (1897) 23 Bom 56 (61) (DB)

{But see (1910) 8 Ind Cas 144 (145) (DB) (Mad) (Purchaser not entitled to get back purchase-money until contract goes off by vendor's default and therefore charge does not arise on payment — Submitted not correct on principle)  AIR 1922 Nag 81 (81, 82) (Charge does not arise until decree declaring charge — Submitted not correct)}

25. 1983 TLNJ 339 (342) (Mad).

refund of advance paid. There was no plea based on charge. Therefore, he could not raise the plea of charge as contemplated under S 55(6)(b) as a mere point of law in the absence of pleadings and proof to that effect.(26) Earnest money, on the other hand, when paid, cannot be said to belong to the buyer in the same way as purchase money paid before the execution of the conveyance. As will be seen below it is paid as a guarantee for the due performance of the contract and is not returnable to the buyer until he properly declines to accept delivery. Consequently, it is at that time that the charge will arise. It has, however, been held in the undermentioned cases(27) that the charge for the earnest money comes into existence at the time the earnest money is paid. As regards cost it is obvious that until it is actually awarded the buyer cannot have a charge for it.

A buyer who had to give up his right of sale of the property under an agreement executed in his favour because official assignee in whom the property vested on the seller's insolvency insisted on bringing the property to sell in the interest of creditors on the approval of the insolvency Court the buyer can insist upon a charge on the property being created for the amount of purchase money(28)

If the vendor sells the property to another person vendee under earlier contract who has paid the purchase price is entitled to recover the sum from the new vendee(29).

In anticipation of delivery.

In order that the first part of the clause may apply, the purchase money must have been paid in anticipation of delivery. Where, at a sale in Government auction, the buyer is to deposit the price within a certain time, but the confirmation is to take place only later on, it cannot be said that the auction purchaser pays the purchase money "in anticipation of delivery", and he is, therefore, not entitled to any interest on the purchase money by reason of the delay in the confirmation of the sale.(30)

Declining to accept delivery.

The buyer does not lose his charge under this clause unless he has improperly declined to accept delivery. In the undermentioned case(31) it was held that this clause applied where there was a failure of the contract for sale, it having fallen through owing to some default on the part of one or other of two parties. It is submitted that this view is not correct; the clause specifically enacts "unless the buyer has improperly declined to accept the delivery."

A buyer cannot be said to improperly decline to accept the delivery by the fact of his rejecting the contract for a valid reason caused by the seller's default.(32) In Rose v. Watson(33) where the buyer had rejected the contract owing to default of the seller and it was argued that the buyer had no lien. Lord Westbury, L.C., observed as follows :

"But, my Lords, it has been contended at the Bar in words, that the contract has been rejected by the purchaser, and that therefore the purchaser ought not to have the benefit of lien, that is, of that

26. 1998 (2) Mah LR 738 (752) (Bom).

27. AIR 1953 Bom 67 (68) AIR 1942 Sind 120 (120) 1LR (1942) Kant 200 (If the property is thereafter attached and sold in execution, such attachment and sale cannot affect the buyer's charge and can take effect only after the payment to the buyer of his earnest money out of the sale proceeds : 23 Bom 56, Foll.)

28. AIR 1978 Mad 186 (190)

29. 1981 All LJ 62 (64).

30. AIR 1928 Bom 328 (329) (DB).

31. AIR 1928 Bom 328 (332) (DB).

32. AIR 1929 Mad 189 (191) (DB). (Using option under S 15, Specific Relief Act in rejecting offer, is not declining delivery under this section.)

33. (1864) 11 ER 1187 (1191) . 12 WR (Eng) 585 . 10 HL 672 . 33 LJ Ch 385 . 3 NR 673 . 10 Jur (NS) 297 . 10 LT 106

partial ownership, that interest in the estate which is due to the purchase-money which he has paid. It is quite a mistake and a misapplication of the word to say that the purchaser has rejected the contract, or put an end to the contract. The purchaser would have been willing to perform the contract if the vendor had performed those things which, in good faith, he was bound to do. And it is impossible to say with any truth or accuracy of expression, that the purchaser has repudiated the contract, because the vendor has failed to redeem his own promises to which he had pledged his faith, and in dependence upon which the purchaser entered into the contract. It only gives, in point of fact, an additional ground of complaint to the purchaser, that he cannot obtain the estate that he contracted for, and that being unable to obtain it by reason of the failure of the vendor, the loss to him is attempted to be aggravated by its being sought to deprive him of the only means of acquiring the repayment of his money (the vendor having become bankrupt), namely by following the interest which in respect of that payment of money he had acquired in the estate."

It follows that where the seller fails to make out a marketable title at the time fixed for completion of the contract for sale and the buyer consequently puts an end to the contract⁽³⁴⁾ he cannot be said to have improperly declined to accept the delivery and cannot therefore be deprived of the charge under this clause.

It is, however, not necessary that the contract should have gone off by reason of the default of the seller. The charge will exist in every case in which a right to recover the money has not been lost by reason of the misconduct of the buyer. In other words, where the contract goes off either by reason of the default of the seller or without any default on the part of the buyer the charge becomes operative⁽³⁵⁾. Thus, where the buyer rescinds the contract by virtue of a power of rescission reserved to him under the contract for sale, he does not lose his charge⁽³⁶⁾.

34. AIR 1973 Mad 353 (Where the vendor having only life interest purported to convey absolute title to the vendee and vendee was entitled to return of purchase money even if he was aware of the defect in the title.)  AIR 1964 Onssa 269 (273)  AIR 1958 Madh Pra 239 (241-242) (DB) (Land transferable only on sanction by Revenue Officer — Seller failing to obtain sanction — Buyer declining to complete sale — Not improper)  AIR 1952 Madh-B 145 (145) (Pr 4) (AIR 1943 Sind 92 Rel on.)  AIR 1943 Sind 92 (93) ILR (1942) Kant 543 (DB) (Seller's title would be doubtful where there is reasonable probability of litigation in respect of the property agreed to be purchased — Fact that after subsequent judicial investigation the seller's title was found to be clear will not deprive the buyer of his charge if at the time of the completion of the contract the seller was not able to give a title free from reasonable doubt)  AIR 1937 Pesh 8 (9) (DB)  AIR 1924 Bom 282 (285) (DB) (Vendor's difficulties in making out a marketable title and complete the same should not be allowed to affect the vendee prejudicially)  AIR 1924 Lah 476 (477-478) (DB) (Knowledge of vendee of the defective title does not disentitle him from getting a clear title for only a refund)  AIR 1915 Lah 237-237  (1909) 5 Nag LR 70 (75)  (1912) 14 Ind Cas 811 (811-812) (Low Bur)  (1912) 81 LJ Ch 386 (390) (1912) 1 Ch 601 (610), In re Lloyds Bank and Litlington (1862-63) 1 Bom HCR 77 (80)  (1873) 42 LJ Ex 108 (112) 8 Ex 174, Watt v Stables  (1867) 15 WR (Eng) 420 (423) 3 Eq 744 Turner v. Marriott.

[See also AIR 1960 Punj 275 (278) ILR (1959) Punj 1463 (DB) (Seller's title doubtful and reasonable probability of litigation in respect of property — Buyer would be justified in declining to carry through transaction)  (1897) 21 Bom 827 (865) (FB).]

[See however AIR 1950 Lah 106 (115) Pak LR (1950) Lah 1 (DB) (Agreement of sale of property at Lahore by A to B — Subsequent notice under S. 36 Punjab Town Improvement Act, 1922 for acquisition of property in question — A's title is not rendered defective — B held not entitled to repudiate contract and recover earnest money.)]

35. AIR 1952 Bom 67 (68) (In this case there was no default on the part of buyer, so that the buyer had a charge and the buyer's charge continued and was never lost,  (1902) 71 LJ Ch 424 (426) (1902) 1 Ch 835 (840, 841) (Whitbread v Watt (Per Cozens Hardy LJ))

36. (1902) 71 LJ 424 (426) (1902) 1 Ch 835 (840) Whitbread v Watt

[See also 1908 All WN 5 (5) (Rescission of contract inferred from conduct of parties.)]

But though, if the default is that of the buyer he cannot have a charge under this clause, he will, in respect of any purchase money that had been paid by him, be entitled to a return thereof, which can be enforced independent of any charge(37). The reason is that, unless the conveyance is executed, the seller is not entitled to any purchase money and cannot retain it as against the buyer. The position is different where earnest money has been paid by the buyer and the contract goes off by his default. In this case he cannot recover, as will be seen below, the earnest-money at all, much less will he have a charge for it(38).

Extent of charge.

The buyer's charge under this clause extends not only to the purchase money but also to the interest on such amount(39). This clause does not, however, provide for any interest on the earnest money in cases where the buyer has a charge in respect thereof(40). In England where a contract for sale goes off on account of the seller's default the buyer is entitled to a refund of the deposit (earnest money) with interest(41). In this country also it has been held that in similar circumstances he is entitled to interest(42). It is doubtful, however, whether he will have a charge for such interest in view of the wording of the section.

Where in a contract for sale a certain amount was provided as liquidated damages in the event of default on either side and the seller did not carry out his part of the contract, it was held that the charge which the buyer had under this clause did not extend to the amount of damages awarded(43).

Buyer has got charge on the property for price pre-paid and it is enforceable not only against seller but also against all persons claiming under him, including transferee for value without notice(44).

37. 1983 TLNJ 339 (342) (Mad)  AIR 1955 Orissa 20 (23) (DB)  AIR 1955 Orissa 11 (13) . ILR (1954) Cut 526 (DB) (Part payment of purchase money)  AIR 1942 Sind 37 (39) : ILR (1941) Kant 495 (DB)  AIR 1927 Mad 204 (206)

38. ILR (1950) Nag 625 (631) (DB)  AIR 1936 Cal 51 (52) 63 Cal 804 (In the absence of contract to contrary or if inferred from terms of contract.)

[See also (1924) 93 LJPC 237 (239, 240) 1924 App Cas 980 131 LT 645 40 TLR 678. Mayson v. Clouet]

39. AIR 1956 Bom 443 (447) (DB) (Contract falling through due to seller's default in making out good title — Buyer is entitled to purchase money paid by him and also interest thereon)  AIR 1929 Mad 189 (191) (DB)  (1909) 31 All 68 (71) : 36 Ind App 44 (PC)  (1864) 33 LJ Ch 385 (389) 12 WR (Eng) 585 10 HL 672 : 11 ER 1187 10 LT 106 10 Jur (NS) 297 : 3 NR 673. Rose v. Watson

[See also AIR 1927 Bom 195 (208, 209) 51 Bom 247 (DB)]

40. AIR 1956 Bom 443 (447) (DB).

41. Halsbury, Laws of England, Vol XXV, p 401  (1822) 58 ER 322 (322) 5 Sim 227 : 35 RR 153. Lord Anson v. Hodges.

42. AIR 1937 Pesh 8 (9) (DB) (Provision of the Act taken as a guide though the Act is not applicable in the province.)

[See also AIR 1958 Madh Pra 239 (242) (DB) (Suit for refund of purchase money — Interest can be claimed from date of suit and not from date of payment of money)  AIR 1958 Punj 111 (115) ILR (1958) Punj 294 (Unreasonable delay on part of vendor in fulfilling condition requisite for sale to be effected — Vendee held entitled to get back earnest money with interest.)]

43. AIR 1929 Mad 189 (191) (DB) (Purchaser's lien in this country created by statute and the Court cannot go beyond the words of the section itself.)

[See also 1962 Ker LT 728 (730) (Or on costs in respect of damages awarded)]

44. AIR 1990 Ker 169 (170) : (1989) 1 Ker LT 245.

In spite of agreement to sell the vendor gifted the property to grandson, the vendee filed a suit for specific performance and in the alternative for return of the advance paid, the vendor died during pendency of the suit. Held that S 55(6)(b) would apply and the donee would be liable to refund the advance, though no prayer for refund was made against him(45).

The charge under this clause attaches only to the seller's interest in the property(46). So far as claim for interest on the purchase money is concerned it can be enforced only against the defaulting vendor and not against subsequent purchaser(47). The word "interest" means personal interest and not the interest which a person may have in property as a trustee. Where, therefore, a trustee sells trust property and receives the earnest money but refuses to complete the sale the buyer cannot under this clause, have any charge on the trust property(48). But where a guardian of a minor agrees to sell property of the minor for a purpose binding on the minor and receives purchase money but refuses to complete the contract, it has been held by the High Court of Nagpur that the buyer has a charge under this clause on the minor's property(49). So also where there is a charge under this clause in favour of a non-evacuee on the property belonging to an evacuee the interest of the evacuee is only the property subject to the charge. The charge does not vest in the custodian, nor has he any power under the Administration of Evacuee Property Act, 1950 to determine the charge in favour of a non-evacuee(50). In Aberamun Inn Works Co v Wickness(51), where A contracted to purchase certain property from B and then contracted to sell the same to C who paid the purchase money to A but A could not perform the contract with C it was held that C had a lien on A's equitable interest in the property. This would not be so in this country where A's contract for purchase from B will not give him any equitable interest. See also the undermentioned case(52).

Earnest money.

"Earnest" is the sum of money paid by the buyer of property under a contract for sale in order to bind the seller to the terms of the agreement for sale(53). In other words it is a guarantee for the performance of a contract(54). The test for vendee's right to recover the deposit is whether the action for specific performance at the instance of the vendor could be successfully resisted by the vendee

45. AIR 1987 Raj 11 (14) : 1985 Rajasthan LR 802 (805)

46. AIR 1962 Cal 12 (16) ILR (1961) 2 Cal 558 (DB) (If therefore the seller has no interest in the property then there can be no statutory charge for the earnest money paid to him.)

47. AIR 1971 All 189 (191) : 1970 All LJ 969

48. AIR 1932 Cal 356 (366) : 59 Cal 586 (DB)

49. AIR 1939 Nag 209 (210)

50. AIR 1964 Raj 48 (49) : ILR (1963) 13 Raj 1111

51. (1869) 17 WR (Eng) 211 (215) : 4 Ch 101.

52. AIR 1981 SC 519 : 1980 UJ (SC) 739. (A contract of purchase of property by a minor through his guardian is enforceable as there is no personal liability on the minor regard for payment of purchase price)  AIR 1972 Bom 217 (Where the contract of sale is frustrated due to the acquisition of land by the Government the buyer would be entitled to a limited interest to the extent of definite amount in respect of what was acquired)  AIR 1962 Bom 169 (173-174) (Effect of S 11 (1) of Evacuee Interest (Separation) Act 1951 on sale of composite property subject to charge under S 55 (6)(b) — Charge not lost by sale — Charge attaches to sale proceeds.)

53. Wharton Law, Lexicon, Edn 14 1938 p 357, Sub voce 'Earnest'  AIR 1960 Punj 51 (54) (Forfeitures are not as a rule favoured unless right claimed is clearly established)  AIR 1956 Vind Pra 42 (43)  AIR 1952 Cal 93 (96).

54. AIR 1963 Andh Pra 304 (305) (Mere fact that earnest money is mentioned in the contract as 'advance' or 'consideration for sale' does not take away the seller's right)  AIR 1961 Punj 378 (383) ILR (1961) 2 Punj 293 (DB)  AIR 1960 Punj 51 (54)  AIR 1956 Vind Pra 42 (43)  AIR 1955 Orissa 20 (23) (DB)  AIR 1955 Orissa 11 (13) ILR (1954) Cut on the ground that vendor's title was defective(55) The essential characteristic of earnest money is that it is held as an amount by way of security for due performance of the contract. A clause provided for forfeiting of the earnest for default of purchaser is one of the circumstances to ascertain the real character of the amount paid. If the amount is paid on the date of the agreement there is presumption that it was a security for performance i.e. earnest(56) Where a purchaser paid earnest money in respect of a sale advertised by the official receiver of the High Court but failed to pay the balance he could not claim the refund(57). When the transaction goes forward the earnest, or as it is called in England "deposit", becomes part of the purchase money(58) It is forfeited if the transaction falls through by reason of the fault or failure on the part of the buyer(59) and the buyer cannot get it

526 (DB)  AIR 1952 Cal 93  AIR 1938 Mad 246 (247)  AIR 1937 Mad 681 (683)  AIR 1936 Cal 51 (52) 63 Cal 804  AIR 1930 Bom 213 (214) (DB)  AIR 1926 Cal 339 (343) (DB)  AIR 1916 Nag 104 (111) 12 Nag LR 177 (DB)  (1911) 81 LJ Ch 46 (47) : (1911) 2 Ch 551, Hall v. Burnell.

55. ILR (1966) 1 Mad 114

56. AIR 1972 Mys 28 (29).

57. (1972) 42 Com Cas 415 (418) (Delhi).

58. AIR 1967 Delhi 91 (94) (DB)  AIR 1960 Punj 51 (54)  1957 Ker LT 950 (952)  AIR 1956 Vindh Pra 42 (43)  AIR 1955 Orissa 20 (23) (DB)  AIR 1955 Orissa 11 (13) ILR (1954) Cut 526 (DB)  AIR 1952 Cal 93  AIR 1930 Bom 213 (214) (DB) * (1910) 33 Mad 375 (379) (DB).

59. AIR 1926 PC 1 (2)  AIR 1915 Mad 896 (898) : 38 Mad 178 (FB)  AIR 1929 Nag 30 (32) : 24 Nag LR 189 (FB)  (1897) 21 Bom 827 (853) (FB)  AIR 1963 Andh Pra 304 (305)  AIR 1961 Punj 378 (383) ILR (1961) 2 Punj 293 (DB) (Part payment of purchase price cannot, however, be forfeited as it is not guarantee for performance of contract)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 515 (516)  AIR 1960 Punj 51 (54)  AIR 1959 Pat 176 (180) (Seller need not prove special damage under S. 73, Contract Act in order to retain the amount)  1957 Ker LT 950 (952)  AIR 1956 Vindh Pra 42 (43)  AIR 1955 Orissa 20 (23) (DB)  AIR 1955 Orissa 11 (13) ILR (1954) Cut 526 (DB)  1953 AMLJ 136 (137) (Breach of contract for sale by vendee — Vendor is entitled to forfeit the earnest money even though the agreement does not contain a clause for forfeiture but on the other hand has a condition that on the vendor's failure to get the sale deed executed within the stipulated period, he would refund the earnest money with interest)  AIR 1952 Cal 93 (This liability exists notwithstanding Ss. 64, 65 and 74 of the Contract Act and is not affected by any of the said provisions)  AIR 1952 Punj 380 (381) (Contract for sale — Part of property destroyed by fire. In view of S. 13, Specific Relief Act (1877), contract cannot be said to be wholly impossible of performance — Vendee not prepared to take sale is not entitled to return of earnest money)  AIR 1952 Sau 88 (99)  ILR (1950) Nag 625 (631) (DB) (Bidder being aware of all the defects in property put up to sale successfully bidding and depositing percentage required of him — Deposit can be validly forfeited if sale falls through by his default — That resale resulted in bid for larger sum is not a plea open to him nor is it necessary that there should have been forfeiture clause)  AIR 1945 All 70 (75, 76) ILR (1944) All 204 (DB) (The rule of forfeiture of earnest money does not depend on proportion of earnest money to total price)  (1915) 27 MLJ 482 (483) (DB) (Failure of vendee to tender expenses of sale and registration — Vendee held could forfeit earnest money)  AIR 1948 Cal 208 (209)  AIR 1942 Sind 37 (39) ILR (1941) Kar 495 (DB)  AIR 1938 Mad 246 (247) (The mere fact that deposit is demanded proves that it will be forfeited if defaulted by vendee unless an agreement to the contrary is proved.)  AIR 1937 Mad 681 (683) (This is also the principle of English law and applies in India)  AIR 1936 Cal 51 (52) 63 Cal 804  AIR 1930 Bom 213 (214) (DB)  AIR 1929 Oudh 254 (255) 5 Luck 49 (DB)  AIR 1926 Cal 339 (343) (DB)  AIR 1920 Cal 931 (932) (DB)  AIR 1920 Cal 679 (680) (DB)  AIR 1919 Sind 68 (69) 12 Sind LR 144 (DB)  AIR 1916 Cal 974 (975) (DB)  AIR 1916 Sind 71 (72) 9 Sind LR 137  (99) 23 Bom 56 (61) (DB)  (1897) 19 All 489 (492) (DB)  (1926) 98 Ind Cas 890 (892) (DB) (Lah) back(60) As observed by Bowen, L.J., in Howe v Smith(61).

"It is quite certain that the purchaser cannot insist on abandoning his contract and yet recover his deposit, because that would be to enable him to take advantage of his own wrong

The test to see whether an amount paid is earnest money is to find whether the parties intended that the amount paid was to be treated, not merely as part payment, but as a guarantee for the due performance of the contract(62). See also undermentioned case(63)

The principle of forfeiture of the earnest money will not apply when the buyer not repudiate the contract(64), or where the seller is responsible for the breach of contract(65)

Whether the payment is earnest or not is a mixed question of law and fact and one of the factors is the proportion the amount bears to the sale price the need to take deposit intended to act as

 (1911) 33 All 166 (167-168) (DB)  (1910) 33 Mad 375 (378) (DB)  (1862) 33 LJ Ch 134 (136) 12 WR (Eng) 191, Depree v Bedborough  (1843) 62 LJ QB 232 (235) 1893-1 QB 350, Ellis v Gulton (Earnest money paid to agent of vendor)  19, 181 LJ Ch 46 (47) (1911) 2 Ch 551 (556) Hall v Burnell  (1854) 23 LJ Ex 94 (96) 9 Ex 309 Devan v M'Donnell  (1875) 23 WR (Eng) 846 (846) 10 Ch 512 (514) Ex parte Burrell In re Pamell  (1884) 53 LJ Ch 1055 (1058) 27 Ch D 89 (112) Howe v Smith  1958 27 LJ QB 361 (363) : EL B1 & EL 485, Ockenden v Henly

(See also (1887) 56 LJ Ch 456 (459) 37 Ch D 96 (103), Soper v Arnold)

60. AIR 1961 Raj 196 (203) ILR (1960) 10 Raj 1153 1957 Ker LT 950 952  AIR 1956 Vind Pra 42 (43)  AIR 1955 Orissa 20 (23) (DB)  AIR 1952 Cal 93  AIR 1952 Sau 88 (99)  AIR 1929 Oudh 254 (255) 5 Luck 49 (DB)  AIR 1915 Mad 546 (547) (DB)

61. (1884) 53 LJ Ch 1055 (1059) 27 Ch D 89 (98)

62. AIR 1963 Ker 247 (247) (No clause in deed for forfeiture of advance — Amount can only be part of sale consideration)  AIR (1960) Andh Pra 515 (516)  AIR 1960 Bom 204 (225) ILR (1960) Bom 36 (Contract for sale drawn up by lawyer referring to particular amount paid as earnest money — Recital that this amount was liable to be forfeited in event of other party not carrying out its part of contract — Amount held was intended to be earnest money and not part payment of price)  AIR 1958 Madh Pra 239 (242) (DB) (Question whether amount paid is part payment or earnest — Depends on intention of parties and surrounding circumstances)  AIR 1958 Mys 106 (4) ILR (1957) Mys 72 (DB)  1957 Ker LT 950 (52)  AIR 1955 Orissa 11 (13) ILR (1954) Cut 526 (DB) (It depends on the parties as to whether the sum paid was intended to be the one or the other or a combination of both)  AIR 1920 Cal 679 (680) (DB) (The intention may be express or implied and is to be collected from the whole instrument)

63. AIR 1959 Pat 176 (179) (When money is paid at the time of the agreement whether it is called earnest money or not it is presumed to be earnest or security and liable to forfeiture)

64. AIR 1968 Assam 26 (27) ILR (1964) 16 Assam 513 (DB) (Contract of sale coming to an end by frustration — Vendees entitled to refund of earnest money — Principle for refund of earnest money is independent of considerations laid down in Ss 64, 65 and 74 Contract Act — The earnest money is liable to be forfeited when the contract goes off for default on the part of the purchaser  AIR 1952 Cal 93  AIR 1959 Pat 176 Fall 21 Bom 827 (FB) Relied on  AIR 1953 Orissa 105 (106) (DB) (Forfeiture of earnest money is in nature of penalty — Purchaser's failure to secure relief of specific performance of contract of which time was of essence — Purchaser can be relieved from forfeiture of earnest money by Court in exercise of its equity jurisdiction)  AIR 1919 Sind 68 (69) 12 Sind LR 144 (DB)  (1858) 140 ER 986 (1001) 4 CB (NS) 20 Ropleton v Buchanan  (1910) 33 Mad 375 (385) (DB)  (1911) 10 Ind Cas 525 (526) (DB) (Cal)

65. ILR (1966) 1 Mad 114 (120) (Test of vendee's right to recover back deposit is whether action for specific performance at instance of vendor could be successfully resisted by vendee on ground that vendor's title was defective)  AIR 1958 MP 239 (242) (DB) (Breach of contract for sale committed by vendor — Vendor bound to return amount paid whether as purchase money or earnest money)  AIR 1958 Punj 111 (115) ILR (1958) in terrorem, the nature of the contract and other circumstances(66)

In order that the principle of the forfeiture of earnest money, where the contract falls through owing to the default of the buyer, may apply, it must be unmistakably clear from the contract that the sum was paid or deposited as earnest. There may be cases where the Court may find that the amount of the deposit is so great in comparison with the amount payable under the contract, that the parties cannot have intended it as a mere guarantee for performance, but rather as a punishment or penalty for non-performance of the contract, in such cases the Court may refuse to allow the retention of the whole of deposit. But where there is no disproportion and nothing unreasonable in regarding the deposit as a guarantee, then the defaulter will not be allowed to recover back what he has paid on an express stipulation that it shall be forfeited in the event of default(67)

The plaintiff's claim as a vendee for refund of earnest money forfeited by the vendor without pleading and raising an issue to that effect or any evidence about it, is not tenable(68).

What is called advance may be deposit or earnest money and what is termed as deposit may ultimately be proved to be an advance, mere description by parties does not conclude the matter. Intention is to be looked at(69)

The mere fact that specific performance of the contract is refused to the buyer by the Court does not show that he has repudiated the contract. In Howe v Smith(70) Cotton, L.J., observed :

"I do not say in all cases where this Court refuse specific performance, the vendor ought to be entitled to retain the deposit. It may well be that there may be circumstances which would justify this Court in declining, and which would require the Court according to its ordinary rules, to refuse to order specific performance, in which it could not be said that the purchaser had repudiated the contract, or that he had entirely put an end to it so as to enable the vendor to retain the deposit. In order to enable the vendor so to act, in my opinion, there must be acts on the part of the purchaser which not only amount to delay sufficient to deprive him of the equitable remedy of specific performance, but which would make his conduct amount to repudiation on his part of the contract."

Where the seller, in a suit for specific performance by the buyer, totally denied the contract for sale but specific performance was refused by the Court not on the ground that there was no contract, but on the ground that the buyer failed to pay the purchase money within the time specified, it was held by the Calcutta High Court that the buyer could not be said to have repudiated the contract and that he was entitled to a return of the earnest money(71).

Where a contract falls through by reason of the default of the buyer and the seller claims damages from the buyer, the earnest money must be taken into account in assessing damages(72).

Punj 294 (DB) (Unreasonable delay on part of vendor in fulfilling condition requisite for sale to be effected — Vendee held entitled to get back earnest money with interest)  AIR 1955 Nag 38 (40) ILR (1955) Nag 538 (DB)  AIR 1955 Orissa 11 (13) ILR (1954) Cut 526 (DB). (Vendor is bound to return the sum so paid.)

66. ILR (1966) 1 Mad 114.

67. ILR (1966) 1 Mad 114 (117)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 515 (516) (Whether in a given case a stipulation to forfeit the amount deposited is so unreasonable as to amount to a punishment for the non-performance of the contract is a question of fact)  AIR 1956 Vind Pra 42 (43) (Earnest money amounting to 10 p.c. of the consideration held was not disproportionate and the whole of it was forfeited)  AIR 1937 Mad 681 (683, 684)

68. AIR 1978 Cal 559 (565).

69. AIR 1973 Mad 353.

70. (1884) 27 Ch D 89 (95) 53 LJ Ch 1055 50 LT 573 32 WR (Eng) 802 48 JP 773

71. (1897) 24 Cal 897 (899) (DB)

72. AIR 1960 Punj 51 (54)  1957 Ker LT 950 (952)  AIR 1955 Orissa 11 (13) ILR (1954) Cut 526 (DB) (If the vendor resells the property and claims to recover the loss arising on such resale the deposits is to be taken into account in diminishing the deficiency)  AIR

Where, however, a part payment is made and the buyer commits default in performance he can recover the purchase price that he has paid subject to the right of the seller to set off a certain sum for damages against the purchaser(73).

Where the contract of sale became void because of the acquisition of the property, sought to be sold, the buyer is entitled to refund of earnest money with interest(74).

Though a deed of assignment of the benefit under a contract of sale simplicitor will not come under S 17(1) of the Registration Act, it would not be so in a case where such a contract further acknowledges payment of earnest money and/or purchase money because such acknowledgment creates a statutory charge under the provisions of S 55(b)(b). Where a charge is purported to be created by a document in writing and so also in assignment of such charge, both would require registration(75).

Charge is non-possessory.

Where in pursuance of the contract for sale the buyer has paid purchase money and obtained possession, but the contract falls through for no default of the buyer, the charge which he may have on the property for the purchase money will not entitle the buyer to retain possession as against the seller. In other words, the fact that the buyer has a charge on the property is not a defence to a suit for possession by the seller(76).

The vendor's right to get possession of the property is founded in his title and only so long as the title subsists he is entitled to get back possession of the property from the buyer and not thereafter(77). When an owner purports by an oral sale to transfer his property and delivers possession to the vendee the possession of the transferee must be deemed to be adverse to the owner and a suit for recovery of possession must be filed within 12 years from the date on which possession was delivered. If the right is not so exercised, by the combined operation of Art 144 and S 28 Limitation Act of 1908 (now Art. 65 and S 27 of the Limitation Act 1963) the vendor's title must be deemed to be extinguished(78).

Against whom charge is enforceable.

The words "with notice of the payment" which occurred in the section after the words "persons claiming under him" before the amending Act of 1929 were omitted by that Act. The buyer's charge could not, before the amendment be enforced against transferees without notice(79). Under 1952 Cal 93 (96, 97, 99)  (1910) 79 LJ Ch 121 (122) (1910) 1 Ch 176 (178) Shuttleworth v. Clews.

73. 1957 Ker LT 950 (952)  AIR 1955 Orissa 11 (13) ILR (1954) Cut 526 (DB)

74. 1992 Bom CJ 320 (331)

75. (1985) 1 Cal HN 95.

76. (1947) 52 Mys HCR 69 (72) (DB)  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 1089 (1089) (DB) (Mad)

[See also AIR 28 Bom 466 (471) (DB).]

77. AIR 1957 Bom 79 (81, 82) : ILR (1956) Bom 844 (DB)

78. AIR 1957 Bom 79 (81, 82) : ILR (1956) Bom 844 (DB)

[See also AIR 1957 Bom 18 (19) ILR 19 Bom 427 (Position with regard to oral sales is that the buyer becomes a charge holder and it would be open to the debtor to offer the amount in question to the intending buyer and require him to release his property from the burden of the charge. But after a lapse of 12 years the alleged purchaser would be able to set up adverse title.)]

79. AIR 1952 Bom 67 (69, 70) (The circumstance that the transfer in favour of the subsequent purchaser has taken place before the date of the suit by the buyer praying for a declaration of the charge makes no difference and the purchaser is bound by the decree declaring the charge.)  (1897) 7 Mad LJ 234 (236).

[See AIR 1929 Mad 189 (191) (DB) (A agreeing to sell property to B — B paying Rs 200 the present section it is clear that the charge can be enforced not only against the seller but against all persons claiming under him irrespective of notice notwithstanding the provisions of S. 100(80). The reason for the amendment has been stated by the Special Committee(81) as follows :

"Sub-clause (b) of clause (6) of the same section relates to the buyer's lien and provides that it can be enforced against the seller and other persons claiming under him with notice of the payment. It also provides that the buyer's lien can only be enforced against a person claiming under the seller, if such person has notice of the payment of the purchase-money. The transferees and legal representatives of a seller are thus enabled to escape any liability for the amount received by the seller by pleading that they had no notice of the payment of the purchase money. The reasons for limiting the seller's lien against third persons who have notice of the sale do not hold good in the case of the buyer's lien against persons claiming under the original seller. The words 'with notice of the payment' in sub-clause (b) of clause (6) should, therefore, be omitted."

Where the seller in breach of the contract transferred the property to a third person and delivered possession the buyer who failed to get delivery is entitled to refund and to a charge on the property against the seller unless he has improperly declined delivery(82).

The charge can be enforced not only against the seller but all persons claiming through him irrespective of notice of the prior agreement of sale notwithstanding the subsequent sale of the property(83).

If the property is transferred by the vendor subsequent to the agreement for sale before filing of the suit by the first vendee to enforce his charge for prepaid purchase money the subsequent transferee is a necessary party(84).

Buyer's charge not an interest in immovable property.

It has been held in the undermentioned cases that the buyer's charge under this section for the earnest money paid under an agreement for sale is an interest in immovable property(85). This view is no longer good law in view of the last paragraph of S. 54, T.P. Act and of the Explanation added to S. 17(2) of the Registration Act, 1908. See Note 23 under S. 54 and Note 53 under S. 17 of the AIR Commentary on the Registration Act, 1908. See also the undermentioned cases(86).

Modification or waiver of charge by agreement.

As the provisions of this section are expressly made subject to a contract to the contrary, it is open to the parties to dispense with the statutory charge under this clause by means of a contractual arrangement between them. But an arrangement between the parties which is consistent with the lien under this clause cannot be regarded as intended to waive or modify the statutory charge. An agreement by the seller to pay the purchase money by instalments is not inconsistent with the statutory as part payment — A failing to perform his part of contract and selling property to C — C having notice of the prior contract for sale — Held, C being a person claiming under A "with notice of the payment" charge could be enforced against them)]

80. 1962 Ker LT 728 (729)  AIR 1959 Ker 389 (390) (DB)  AIR 1952 Madh B 145 (145)  AIR 1937 Bom 142 (144) : ILR (1937) Bom 140

81. See Report of the Special Committee on S. 55

82. 1979 All LJ 1309 (1311) : (1979) 5 All LR 498.

83. AIR 1973 Mad 353 (356)

84. (1969) 71 Bom LR 769.

85. AIR 1926 PC 94 (96) : 53 Ind App 214  AIR 1956 Cal 462 (563, 464) : ILR (1957) 3 Cal 99 (Such a purchaser can apply under O. 21, R. 89, Civil P.C., for setting aside execution sale.)

86. 1962 Ker LT 728 (730) (Section 17 (2) Explanation of Registration Act — Explanation supersedes effect of decision in AIR 1926 PC 94)  AIR 1916 Low Bur 67 (67) (Charge is not interest in immovable property.)

charge under this clause. A provision that the money should be realisable by the buyer by bringing to sale the seller's interest in the property is only a statement of the right conferred by this clause and does not amount to its waiver or modification. Hence, a consent decree between the parties making the earnest money payable by instalments and providing that the seller's interest in the property should remain mortgaged and should be liable to be brought to sale in execution for recovering the money is entirely consistent with the charge declared by this section and is in no way a waiver or modification of the charge(87).

Limitation for enforcing charge.

A suit on a charge under this clause is governed by Art. 62 of the Limitation Act, 1963 corresponding to Art. 132 of the Limitation Act, 1908(88).

Other remedy of the buyer.

Where the buyer has paid purchase money and the contract goes off without any default on his part, he can, independently of this clause, sue for the recovery of the purchase money personally from the seller(89). The remedy by way of enforcement of the charge under this clause is only an additional remedy.

Punjab

Principles enunciated under S. 55(6)(b) was applicable to Punjab, though T P Act did not apply(90).

21. Omission to make disclosures referred to in paragraph 1, clause (a) and paragraph 5, clause (a).

The omission by the seller to make a disclosure under para 1, cl. (a)(1) and by the buyer under para. 5, cl. (a) is declared to be fraudulent by the last paragraph of the section. This was the law even before the Act was passed(2). As has been seen already in Note 2, a seller is not bound under para. 1, cl. (a) to make a disclosure of a fact where either he himself has no knowledge of that fact or where the buyer himself could, with ordinary care, have discovered it. In such cases the seller cannot be considered to be guilty of fraud in not disclosing the fact(3). It has also been seen in the said Note

87. AIR 1943 Sind 236 (236, 237) ILR (1943) Kar 342 (DB) (The decree and the adjustment did no more than repeat or emphasise what existed before and there was no necessity for registration either of the decree or of the adjustment and they could be used in evidence.)

88. (1899) 21 All 454 (458).

89. AIR 1963 Ker 247 (247)  AIR 1924 Mad 903 (903)

90. AIR 1989 SC 1426 (1430).

Section 55 — Note 21

1. 1965 All LJ 786 (789) (Vendor entering into previous agreement for sale with another — Not a material defect in property or its title — Non-disclosure does not amount to fraud)  AIR 1964 Orissa 269 (273) (Onus of proving that non-disclosure was fraudulent lies on purchaser.)  AIR 1963 Raj 38 (41) ILR (1962) 12 Raj 744  AIR 1957 Madh B 23 (26) (Such an omission will entitle the buyer to avoid the contract)  AIR 1950 Lah 106 (111) Pak LR (1950) Lah 1 (DB) (Reasoning under S. 20 Contract Act cannot be used in support of a reasoning under S. 55 T P Act)  AIR 1929 All 199 (200) (DB) (Sale deed including various mortgage-bonds as sold — Rate of interest thereon not mentioned — Omission held not fraudulent concealment)  AIR 1925 Bom 85 (87) : 49 Bom 325 (Such an omission may also be a fraud as defined by S. 17, Contract Act)  AIR 1925 Rang 372 (373).
2. (1886) 9 Mad 89 (91)  (1867) 7 Suth WR 258 (259) (The gratuitous representation by third party would not affect the position of contracting parties.)
3. AIR 1928 Bom 427 (429, 430) 52 Bom 883 (DB) (Buyer himself could with ordinary care discover)  AIR 1923 Cal 641 (643) 50 Cal 615 (DB) (Seller himself having no that the buyer can set aside even a completed sale on the ground of fraud by reason of a non-disclosure of a defect under para. 1, cl. (a). The non-disclosure by the buyer under para. 5, cl. (a) would similarly entitle the seller to set aside a completed sale on the ground of fraud(4).

22. "In the absence of a contract to the contrary".

The rights and duties under this section arise only "in the absence of a contract to the contrary". A contract to the contrary may be express or implied. But in order to exclude the statutory liabilities referred to in this section, the contract must be so clearly inconsistent with them as to lead to the inference that it has been made to qualify the generality of the rule(1). In Web v. Macpherson(2), where the question was whether the statutory charge under para. 4, cl. (b) was excluded by a contract to the contrary, it was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that it was not excluded "by any contract, covenant, or agreement with respect to the purchase-money which is not inconsistent with the continuance of the charge". When reliance is placed upon an express contract to exclude the operation of the statute, the contract, to be binding, must be expressed in plain and unambiguous terms(3).

See also Notes under respective paragraphs and clauses

^[56. MARSHALLING BY SUBSEQUENT PURCHASER.—If the owner of two or more properties mortgages them to one person and then sells one or more of the properties to another person, the buyer is, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, entitled to have the mortgage-debt satisfied out of the property or properties not sold to him, so far as the same will extend, but not so as to prejudice the rights of the mortgagee or persons claiming under him or of any other person who has for consideration acquired an interest in any of the properties.]

[A] Substituted for the original section, by the Transfer of Property (Amendment) Act, 1929 (XX of 1929), S. 18.

Synopsis

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1. Doctrine of marshalling. | 4. Conditions to be satisfied for application of section. |
| 2. Marshalling, an exception to the rule of contribution. | 5. "Two or more properties". |
| 3. Marshalling distinguished from equitable rule of apportionment. See Note 3 on S. 81. | 6. "Mortgages them to one person". |
| | 7. "Then sells one or more of the properties". | knowledge)  AIR 1925 Mad 968 (969) (Do)  (1899) 47 WR (Eng) 479 (479) (1899) 1 Ch 879 68 LJ Ch 359 80 LT 355, Hope v. Walter (Do)  AIR 1915 Sind 21 (22) 9 Sind LR 97.

4. (1866) 55 ER 804 (806) : 35 Beav 27, Sumners v. Griffiths.

Section 55 — Note 22

1. AIR 1961 Pat 11 (14)  AIR 1950 Nag 229 (231) 1LR (1950) Nag 467 (Express covenant not superseding implied covenant in clear and unambiguous terms — Plaintiff can rest his claim on implied covenant of title)  AIR 1936 Cal 12 (14) (Liability under S 55, Cl. 1 (f)  AIR 1933 All 203 (205).

[See also AIR 1921 Mad 277 (277) (DB).]

[See however AIR 1944 Mad 572 (573). (Provisions can be excluded only by an express contract that is by clear and unambiguous language contained in the sale deed itself. A contract to the contrary cannot be implied.)]

2. (1903) 31 Cal 57 (72) : 30 Ind App 238 (PC).
3. AIR 1952 Punj 298 (299) (DB)  AIR 1950 Nag 229 (231) 1LR (1950) Nag 467  AIR 1920 Mad 634 (635) (DB)  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 91 (95) (DB) (Cal)

8. "In the absence of a contract to the contrary".
9. "So far as the same will extend". See Note 10 on Section 81.
10. "But not so as to prejudice the rights of the mortgagee".
11. "Or of any other person who has for consideration.... properties". See Note 14 on this section and Note 2 on Section 81.

12. Executing Court when can give effect to right of marshalling.
13. Purchaser's knowledge of prior mortgage — Effect of.
14. Against whom right under this section available.

1. Doctrine of marshalling.

This section and S 81 enact what is known as the doctrine of marshalling which has been stated in Story's Equity Jurisprudence(1) as follows :

"The general principle is that one party has a lien on interest in two funds for a debt and another party has a lien or an interest in one only of the funds for another debt the latter has a right in equity to compel the former to resort to the other fund in the first instance for satisfaction if that course is necessary for the satisfaction of the claims of both parties, whenever it does not trench upon the rights" or operate to the prejudice of the party entitled to the double fund (2)

The equitable principle underlying the doctrine is that a person having two funds out of which to satisfy his demands, shall not, by his election, prejudice a person who has only one such fund (3) And this principle itself is bottomed on the great ethical maxim utere tuo ut alienum non laedas (so exercise your right as not unnecessarily to prejudice that of your neighbour) (4)

Marshalling implies the existence of two sets of properties, one of which is subject to both the mortgages and the other in subject only to the earlier mortgage (5)

Under S 56 mortgage debt is a charge on the property and therefore the charge remains subsisting on the property so long as it has not been only discharged (6)

The doctrine of marshalling was applied to cases arising in this country before this Act was passed not only as between prior and subsequent incumbrances (7) but also between a mortgagee of two properties and a subsequent purchaser of one of such properties(8) on the ground that such

Section 56 — Note 1

1. Story, Equity Jurisprudence, (cited in (1867) 7 Suth WR 483 (484))

2. See also the following cases :

(1835) 46 RR 218 (220) L and G Sugden 252. Averell v Wade  (1803) 32 ER 402 (405) 7 RR 86. Aldrich v Cooper  (1893) 2 Ch 54 (52) 62 LJ Ch 804 (803) Faint v Howard  (1893) 2 Ch 461 (475) 62 LJ Ch 996 (100) In re Jones, Farrington v Forrester  (1893) 62 LR 944 (948) 1 Y and CCC 401 (411) Barnes v Rickster  (1842) 6 RR 39 (41) 3 Dr and War 173 Baldwin v Belcher (The right of marshalling is not lost even if mortgagor becomes bankrupt)  (1742) 26 ER 668 (669) 2 Atk 444 Jones v Duke of Athol  (1857) 108 RR 953 (958) 3 Jur (NS) 24 Lawrence v Gaisworthy  (1867) 36 LJ CH Ch 442 (46) 3 Eq 668 (679 680) In re Professional Life Assurance Company  (1863) 55 ER 46 (47) 32 Beav 118 Hales v Cox (doctrine applied in favour of donee under voluntary settlement)  (1903) 72 LJ Ch 664 (669) 1903) 2 Ch 494 (505) Marian v Wilson (Do)  (1840) 9 LJ (NS) Ch 37 (38) 4 Jur 20 52 RR 243 Alundge v Farhes (Do).

3. Wharton, Law Lexicon, 14th Edn 1938 sub voce marshalling  AIR 1962 Punj 477 (478)

4. Story, Equity Jurisprudence, Section 633.

5. (1990) 2 Mad LJ 347 : (1991) 1 Mad LW 726 (727)

6. AIR 1995 SC 973 (974).

7. (1867) 7 Suth WR 483 (484) (DB).

8. (1867) 7 Suth WR 483 (484) (DB)

purchaser had as great an equity as a subsequent incumbrancer.(9)

Section 81 of the Act substantially gave legislative effect to the doctrine as applied to prior and subsequent incumbrances except that it disallowed the benefit of the doctrine to subsequent mortgagees with notice of the prior lien, but the Act did not provide for a right of marshalling by a subsequent purchaser against the prior mortgagee. It will be noticed that a right of marshalling is a right enforceable against the prior incumbrancer but the old S. 56 gave the subsequent purchaser merely a right as against the seller to have the prior charge satisfied out of the other property so far as the same extended. The right was not enforceable against the prior charge holder(10) and was thus not a right of marshalling at all. It merely had the effect of creating in favour of the purchaser a statutory charge on the other property for the amount which the purchaser might be compelled to pay to the prior charge holder (11). In practice this section did not really give any relief to the purchaser(12) and in cases arising before the Act was extended to Bombay, the Bombay High Court followed the law as it was applied before the Act was passed and held that a subsequent purchaser had a right of marshalling against the prior chargeholder (13). The present section which has been substituted for the old section by S. 18 of the Transfer of Property (Amendment) Act, 1929 has given statutory recognition to this view. The right which the prior mortgagee had under the old S. 56, of realising the entire amount due to him from any part of the mortgaged property, however, remained unaffected notwithstanding the amended section which came into force by the time of the institution of the suit by the prior mortgagee.(14)

The distinction between this section and S. 81 is thus merely that this section deals with the right of marshalling of a purchaser of one of the items of the mortgaged properties, while S. 81 deals with the right of a subsequent mortgagee of one of the mortgaged properties. The rule of law enacted by these two sections is that if the owner of two or more properties mortgages them to one person and then sells or mortgages one or more of them to another person, the buyer or the subsequent mortgagee, as the case may be, is, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, entitled to have the mortgage debt satisfied out of the property or properties not sold or mortgaged to him so far as the same will extend, but not so as to prejudice the rights of the prior mortgagee or persons claiming under him or of any person who has, for consideration, acquired an interest in any of the proper-

[See (1864) 1 Suth WR 353 (355) (DB) (Mouzah hypothecated as security — Subsequent mortgage of mouzah with other property — Security deed registered later than mortgage deed — Mouzah sold on account of sum due under security deed — Held, purchaser of mouzah was entitled to require that other property should first be applied in satisfaction of mortgage debt.)]

9. (1867) 7 Suth WR 483 (484) (DB)  (1885) 7 All 711 (715) (DB)  (1898) 22 Bom 304 (314) (FB).
10. AIR 1955 Mad 439 (441) (DB)  AIR 1914 Sind 170 (171) · 8 Sind LR 257 (DB)  (1905) 29 Mad 217 (221) (DB) (Impliedly overruled on another point by AIR 1942 PC 50) (1904) 31 Cal 95 (102) (DB)  (1908) 31 Mad 419 (421) (FB)  (1905) 2 All LJ 698 (700) (DB)  (1911) 35 Bom 395 (400) (DB)  AIR 1931 Nag 91 (94)  (1895) 17 All 434 (435) (DB)  AIR 1920 All 253 (256) 42 All 336 (DB)  AIR 1925 Pat 484 (486, 487) (DB) (Though the Court could, under the discretionary power, order the sale of the properties in a particular order for adjusting equities, where a person purchased only the equity of redemption in one of the properties there was no equity in his favour as against the mortgagee)  (1897) 24 Cal 746 (749) (DB)  AIR 1928 Mad 500 (502) 51 Mad 648 (DB)
11. AIR 1926 All 415 (416) (DB) (Note — The marginal note to the old section did not use the word "marshalling" as the present section does.)
12. See the Report of the Special Committee on S. 56 in Vol. I.
13. (1898) 22 Bom 304 (314) (FB)  1896 Bom PJ 629 (630) (DB)
14. AIR 1955 Mad 439 (441) (DB)

ties. (15) The section is intended for the benefit of the buyer and not the owner himself (16)

The Act and, therefore, this section was not in force in the Punjab but the principle of the section has been held applicable as being in consonance with justice, equity and good conscience (17) Now this Act is extended to Punjab.

2. Marshalling, an exception to the rule of contribution.

Suppose, A mortgages property X worth Rs. 2,000 and property Y worth Rs. 3,000 to B for Rs. 500 and sells property Y to C. Under S. 82, X and Y would be contribute towards the payment of the mortgage debt in the proportion of 2 : 3. That is to say, property X would be liable for the debt to the extent of Rs. 200 and property Y to the extent of Rs. 300. The effect of this section is, however, to make property X liable for the mortgage debt to the extent of its full value, namely Rs. 2,000. In this respect, the right of marshalling is an exception to the rule of contribution enacted in S. 82 (1). It may be observed that the last paragraph of S. 82 expressly provides that nothing in that section applies to a property liable under S. 81 to the claim of the subsequent mortgagee. Contribution under S. 82 is applicable where the property has been sold subject to the mortgage while marshalling arises under this section where the property has been sold free from incumbrances (2).

3. Marshalling distinguished from equitable rule of apportionment.

See Note 3 on S. 81.

4. Conditions to be satisfied for application of section.

In order that a right of marshalling under this section may arise, it is essential that—

- (1) the owner of two or more properties must have mortgaged them to one person
- (2) he must have subsequently sold one or more of such items to another person,
- (3) the exercise of the right must not prejudice the rights of the mortgagee or of persons claiming under him or of any other person who has, for consideration, acquired an interest in any of the properties, and
- (4) there must be no contract to the contrary

The principle of marshalling applies only to cases where there is a common debtor but not to cases of more than one debtor mortgaging their separate properties jointly for contracting debt (1).

The section will not apply where A and B owning separate properties jointly mortgage them to one mortgagee and then A or B sells his property (2).

5. "Two or more properties."

The old section began with the words "where two properties are subject to a common, charge" and consequently did not apply to cases where more than two properties were subject to a common

15. AIR 1960 Pat 378 (379-380) (DB)  AIR 1939 All 314 (315) ILR (1939) All 150 (DB)

16. AIR 1947 Lah 230 (232)

17. AIR 1962 Punj 477 (478)  AIR 1940 Lah 291 (292)  AIR 1941 Pesh 49 (51) (DB), (Case from N.W.F. Province)

Section 56 — Note 2

1. AIR 1936 Mad 106 (111) 59 Mad 121 (DB). Overruled on another point in AIR 1943 Mad 429 (FB)  AIR 1924 Mad 749 (753) (DB). (Section 82 is subject to the exception that the mortgagor is not entitled to contribution when he has assigned the property with an express covenant as against encumbrances)

Also see S. 82, Note 10

2. AIR 1962 Pat 236 (238) (DB).

Section 56 — Note 4

1. AIR 1973 Andh Pra 46 (47) : (1972) 2 Andh WR 14
2. 1967 All WR (HC) 450 (453)

charge and one of them was subsequently sold to a third person.(1) This defect has now been removed by the new section. The Special Committee in their report(2) on the amending bill, observed

"The section. . . does not provide for the case when there are more properties which are subject to a common charge and some or one of them is afterwards sold. To provide for such cases we propose to amend this section and bring it into line with S. 81 which deals with the marshalling of securities."

In order to apply this section it is necessary that the property mortgaged must be recognised and described as consisting of two or more properties; where a single survey number is mortgaged first and later on a portion of it is sold or mortgaged this does not make the property "two or more properties" at the time of the first mortgage (3) This section does not apply where one of the properties is movable.(4)

6. "Mortgages them to one person."

The old section used the word "charge," but obviously included mortgages also. This was inconsistent with S. 100 where a charge was defined as not including a mortgage. The amendment of the section by omitting the word "charge" and inserting the word "mortgage" has now removed this inconsistency.

The use of the word "mortgage" instead of the word "charge" does not, however, mean that the section has no application to cases where a person creates a charge on two or more properties and then sells one or more of such properties to a third person. Section 100 provides that all the provisions which apply to a simple mortgage shall, so far as may be, apply to a charge also. This section would, therefore, by virtue of S. 100, apply to charges also. In the undermentioned case(1) the Chief Court of Oudh applied S. 56 to case of a charge, though S. 100 was not specifically referred to. In the undermentioned case(2) of the Nagpur High Court the view has been expressed that though the section is inapplicable in terms of a charge, the principle underlying it can be applied by virtue of the provisions of S. 100 and O. 34, R. 15, Civil Procedure Code.

A charge created by decree of Court cannot come within scope of S. 100 of the Act and, therefore, all incidents of simple mortgage cannot come into play, so as to attract the relevant provisions which apply to such a simple mortgage, consequently S. 56 will not apply to such case.(3)

The section has no application to hypothecation of movable property. See Note 5 on S. 81.

7. "Ten sells one or more of the properties."

The Act does not, save as provided by S. 57 and Chap. IV, apply to transfers by operation of law or by or in execution of a decree (1) This section does not, therefore, in terms apply to cases

Section 56 — Note 5

1. AIR 1935 Cal 666 (670) (DB).
2. See Report of the Special Committee on S. 56 in Vol. I.
3. 1979 Nag LJ 235 (236)
4. 1967 All WR (HC) 450 (453)

Section 56 — Note 6

1. AIR 1937 Oudh 301 (311) (DB).
2. AIR 1944 Nag 25 (27) ILR (1944) Nag 230 (DB) (The omission of the word 'charge' in S. 56 of the TP Act as amended in 1929 clearly indicates that this section is intended for cases of mortgages only.)
3. 1980 TLNJ 402 (404) (Mad).

Section 56 — Note 7

1. AIR 1983 NOC 141 : (1983) 2 Mad LJ 139.
See Section 2, Clause (d)

where subsequent to a mortgage of several items one or more of such items is sold in execution of a decree against the mortgagor.(2) It has been held by the High Court of Allahabad that even the principle of this section is not applicable to such cases (3) According to the Lahore High Court it is applicable (4) The Punjab(5) and the Patna High Courts(6) are also of the same view. In any view the Court can, in the exercise of its discretion under O. 34, R. 4, Civil Procedure Code, order that the mortgaged properties other than the properties sold in execution may be sold first for the purpose of adjusting the equities between the parties (7) If there are no equities in favour of any party the mortgagee is of course entitled to sell the properties in any order he chooses. It was observed in the undermentioned case(8) that if the execution purchase was a collusive one or if the purchaser had paid only for the equity of redemption, no equity would arise in his favour and the Court should not make the sale in an order different from that fixed by the mortgagee.

The subsequent purchaser referred to this section does not exclude a purchaser who holds mortgage rights over some other property of the seller (9)

Neither this section nor the principle underlying it applies to a lessee from the mortgagor(10) or to creditors who have merely obtained money decrees against the mortgagor and have attached his properties.(11) See also S. 81, Note 6

Where X held a mortgage over items a, b and c under one mortgage document and another mortgage over item d, and he sued only on the former one impleading Y who was a subsequent purchaser of item a, it was held that Y was not doubt entitled to claim that X should first sell items b and c by virtue of the doctrine of marshalling laid down in this section, but that he had no right either in equity or in law to claim that X should exhaust his remedy against item d also, the subject of the second mortgage, before proceeding against item a. It was observed that such a claim cannot be allowed even by resorting to the provisions of O. 34, R. 4, Civil Procedure Code, inasmuch as the power under that rule must be exercised only in conformity with some principle of law or equity and that there was no such principle of law or equity in favour of Y (12)

Where three items of property were mortgaged to R and two of the items were sold to 'P' and the third item was settled by the mortgagor on her daughter in execution a decree obtained by the mortgagee 'P' was entitled to have postponed sale of his properties till the sale of the property settled in favour of mortgagor's daughter.(13)

8. "In the absence of contract to the contrary."

The right of marshalling given by this section only exists where there is no contract to the

2. 1967 All WR (HC) 450 (453)  AIR 1953 Pat 193 (193)  1953 BLJR 682 (683)  AIR 1921 All 323 (324) 43 All 589 (DB)  AIR 1929 All 309 (311) 51 All 606 (DB)  AIR 1930 All 634 (636) (DB)

3. AIR 1929 All 309 (311) : 51 All 606 (DB)

4. AIR 1947 Lah 230 (232) :  AIR 1940 Lah 291 (292)

5. AIR 1962 Punj 477 (478)

6. AIR 1953 Pat 193 (193) (DB)  1953 BLJR 682 (683)  AIR 1962 Pat 236 (238) (DB)

7. AIR 1932 All 85 (87) : 53 All 391 (DB)

Also see Notes 10 and 12.

8. AIR 1927 Cal 522 (526) (DB)

9. AIR 1963 SC 1607 (1611, 1616).

10. AIR 1926 Cal 525 (527) (DB) (Mining lease of some of the mortgaged properties — Lessee taking with notice of incumbrances.)

11. (1881) 6 Cal 142 (148) (DB).

12. AIR 1940 Mad 776 (776) (DB).

13. (1969) 82 Mad LW 201 (202).

contrary (1) The contract to the contrary need not necessarily be as between the mortgagor and the mortgagee, it may be as between the mortgagor and the purchaser. (2) The contract to the contrary need not be express but can be implied from the facts and the surrounding circumstances (3) It cannot be implied from a bare promise by the purchaser to pay off the mortgage debt. (4) Thus where the three vendees under three different sale deeds promise to pay a certain sum of money to the mortgagee in part discharge of the mortgage debt and it was contemplated that the whole mortgage debt would be discharged if all the three vendees paid as promised but no provision was made as to what was to happen in case the money was not paid promptly it was held that since the parties did not contemplate the possibility of the property, being brought to sale and a question arising as to the priority of the sale of the various items no contract to the contrary could be spelt out of the three sale deeds themselves (5) So also where there was no contract express or implied, that the object of the sale was to discharge the burden of the mortgage and the mortgagor vendor never placed sufficient funds in the hands of the vendee to extinguish the mortgage, it was held that the vendee's right of marshalling under this section was not lost. (6) Where, however, the vendee of one of the mortgaged properties undertook, as part of the consideration for the sale, to discharge the mortgage to a certain extent and it was further agreed between the vendor and the vendee that the balance of the mortgage amount should be paid by the vendor himself on failure of which he was to be personally liable for the amount, it was held in the undermentioned case (7) that there was a "contract to the contrary" between the vendor and the vendee and that the vendee's right as against the vendor under the old S 56 was excluded by such contract. Even under the present section, such a contract would exclude the right of marshalling (8) But where there was an indemnity clause in the sale deed to the effect that if any part of the property should go out of the vendee's possession due to the claim of any one, the vendee should be entitled to recover the loss from the vendor personally and from his other properties it was held that this did not amount to a "contract to the contrary" (9)

9. "So far as the same will extend."

See Note 10 on S. 81.

10. "But not so as to prejudice the rights of the mortgagee."

As has been seen in Note 4, in order that a right of marshalling under that section may arise it is essential that the exercise of the right must not prejudice the rights of the mortgagee or of persons, claiming under him or of any other person who has, for consideration, acquired an interest in any of the properties. The question of prejudice is purely one of fact which has to be pleaded and the necessary facts and circumstances established. (1) It is well settled that every item of the mortgaged

Section 56 — Note 8

1. AIR 1983 NOC 141 (1983) 2 Mad LJ 139 (145)  ILR (1961) Mad 794 (797)  AIR 1955 Pat 108 (110).
2. AIR 1950 Mad 224 (225, 226) (DB).
3. AIR 1950 Mad 224 (225, 226) (DB)  AIR 1946 Mad 59 (60) (Undertaking by purchaser of one of several items of mortgaged property to discharge mortgage out of consideration held implied contract to the contrary.)
4. AIR 1950 Mad 224 (225, 226) (DB).
5. AIR 1950 Mad 224 (225, 226) (DB).
6. AIR 1952 All 163 (167) (DB). (AIR 1926 All 415 and AIR 1946 Mad 59, Distinguished.)
7. AIR 1926 All 415 (415, 417, 418) (DB).
8. AIR 1983 NOC 141 (1983) 2 Mad LJ 139  AIR 1946 Mad 59 (60)
9. AIR 1952 All 163 (166) (DB).

Section 56 — Note 10

1. AIR 1962 Punj 477 (478)  AIR 1963 SC 1607 (1612)  AIR 1960 Pat 378 (380) (DB) property is a security for the entire mortgage debt and the mortgagee, as such, has a right to realise the whole of the mortgage debt from any item of the mortgaged property.(2) In other words, a mortgagee has an absolute right to give up or release any portion of the mortgaged property from the mortgage and sue to enforce his claim against the other properties (3) A right of marshalling does not exist if it prejudices this right (4) Where, therefore, a mortgagee of items x, y and z, for example releases x and y from the mortgage and sues to enforce his mortgage against z, a subsequent purchaser or subsequent mortgagee of z cannot claim under this section or under S. 81 that the mortgagee should satisfy his debt first out of properties x and y, inasmuch as such a claim would prejudice the rights of the mortgagee (5) But though a mortgagee has an absolute right to give up any portion of the mortgaged properties and to limit his claim to the other portion he has no such absolute right, where such other portion consists of several items, to determine in what order such items should be sold for the satisfaction of his debt (6) The subsequent purchaser or mortgagee of some of the items is entitled to have the other items sold first. In such a case the right of marshalling under this section and S. 81 cannot be defeated by merely saying that the prior mortgagee will be prejudiced if he is deprived of his right to proceed against any part of the mortgaged property. Such an argument would nullify the provisions of these sections. The prior mortgagee cannot be said to be prejudiced in any legal sense if he is deprived only of a choice depending on mere caprice. In each case it will have to be considered as a matter of fact whether marshalling would cause any substantial prejudice to the prior mortgagee.(7) So also where a person claiming under the original mortgagee, i.e. a subsequent

2. AIR 1918 Mad 1030 (1031) : 40 Mad 968 (FB), (Per Napier J. in the order of Reference)  AIR 1959 Punj 490 (496)  ILR 1961 Mad 794 (798),  AIR 1959 All 3, 4 (14) ILR (1939) All 150 (DB)  AIR 1932 All 85 (87) 53 All 391 (DB)  AIR 1928 Mad 500 (501) 51 Mad 648 (DB)  (1882) 5 Mad 385 (386) (DB)  (1882) 5 Mad 387 (388) (DB)  (1966) 6 Suth WR 253 (254) (DB)

3. AIR 1918 Mad 1030 (1031) : 40 Mad 968 (FB)  ILR (1961) Mad 794, 798

4. AIR 1964 All 381 (383) (DB)  ILR (1961) Mad 794 (798)  AIR 1955 Pat 108 (109)  AIR 1936 Nag 125 (127) ILR (1936) Nag 22 (DB)  (1908) 31 Mad 419 (422) (FB) (29 Mad 217, Referred to.)

[See also AIR 1932 All 85 (87) 53 All 391 (DB) (So long as rights under mortgage sought to be enforced by decree are not prejudiced, Court executing decree has full power to regulate the order in which and condition subject to which mortgaged properties should be sold in order to do justice between two subsequent transferees)  (1885) 11 Cal 258 (260) (DB).]

5. AIR 1962 Andh Pra 425 (429-430) (DB)  AIR 1938 Mad 503 (503-504) (Right of contribution of the person claiming marshalling is not however lost and it can be worked out in a separate suit)  AIR 1928 Mad 500 (501) 51 Mad 648 (DB)  AIR 1936 Rang 266 (267) 14 Rang 198 (DB) (In this case the mortgagee held a mortgage of immovable property and hypothecation of moveables. Reversing AIR 1935 Rang 139)  AIR 1930 Lah 731 (732) : 11 Lah 694 (DB)

[But see AIR 1941 Pesh 49 (51) (DB) (The Court applied the principles of the section but held that the mortgagee cannot release one item and throw the whole burden on the other)]

6. AIR 1932 All 85 (88) 53 All 391 (DB)  AIR 1927 Cal 522 (526) (DB)  (1936) 40 Cal WN 1173 (1175).

7. AIR 1943 All 156 (158) ILR (1943) All 444 (DB) (Dissenting from the general observations made in AIR 1928 Mad 500 51 Mad 648 to the effect that the rights of a mortgagee would always be prejudiced if he was deprived of his right to proceed against any part of the mortgaged property — It is submitted that the decision in AIR 1928 Mad 500 is correct on facts as in that case the mortgagee had actually released some portion of the mortgaged property from his security.)

mortgagee claims that he will be prejudiced if the prior mortgagee proceeds in the first instance against the property mortgaged to him, i.e. the subsequent mortgagee, he must establish such a plea.(8) If even after paying off the prior mortgage from such property there is enough left for payment to the subsequent mortgagee there would be no question of prejudice (9) Further, the Court has, at the time of passing the decree under O. 34, R. 4 of the Civil Procedure Code a discretion to regulate the order of sale so as to adjust the equities between the parties and the right of the mortgagee is only subject to this discretion of the Court.(10) Thus, the mortgagee of properties a, b, c and d may release property a from the mortgage and may sue to enforce his mortgage against b, c and d only But he has no absolute right to claim that b, c and d should be sold in any particular order. The Court may regulate the order of sale in the exercise of its discretion. The exercise of this discretion cannot legally prejudice the mortgagee's right, for his right is only subject to such discretion (11) The discretion must, however, be exercised on judicial principles. Thus, where, as between the properties b, c and d to which the mortgagee has limited his claim, there is a right of marshalling under S 56 or S 81, in one of the defendants who has purchased or taken a subsequent mortgage of d, and he claims such right, the Court is bound to give effect to this substantive right,(12) and the giving effect thereto cannot, as seen above, be said to "prejudice the mortgagee." Where there is no right of marshalling in any party, the Court may still, for the purpose of adjusting the equities between the parties, regulate the order of sale, though it may differ from that fixed by the mortgagee (13) In the absence of any equities in favour of any party, the mortgagee is, of course, entitled to sell the properties in any order he chooses, and it is not open either to the Court or to the defendants to compel him to proceed against any particular property first (14)

8. AIR 1963 SC 1607 (1612).

9. AIR 1963 SC 1607 (1612)  (1965) 1 Mad LJ 137 (140).

10. AIR 1960 Pat 378 (380) (DB) (This power can be exercised not arbitrarily but only judicially to square up the equities between the parties and to prevent prejudice to the mortgagee)  AIR 1955 Mad 208 (209)  AIR 1932 All 85 (88) 53 All 391 (DB) (Court should frustrate any attempt on the part of mortgagee to throw most of the burden on one only of the mortgaged properties)  AIR 1924 Pat 459 (464) 3 Pat 522 (DB)  (1910) 7 Ind Cas 4 (5) (DB) (Cal) (This power of the Court cannot be taken away by the mortgagee bringing to sale in execution only one of the items reserving his claim against other items for another execution petition.)  AIR 1939 All 314 (315, 316) 1LR (1939) All 150 (DB) (Order under this order is in spite of the doctrine)  (1908) 31 Mad 419 (423) (FB).

[See also (1870) 11 Suth WR 202 (203) (DB) (Sale by a mortgagee of one of the items of mortgaged property in his money decree does not cause automatic release of such property and the purchaser can claim marshalling.)]

11. AIR 1924 Mad 509 (510) (DB).

12. 1864 Suth WR 374 (374) (DB) (Purchase)  AIR 1914 Cal 828 (830) 41 Cal 418 (DB) (Mortgage.)  AIR 1927 Cal 522 (526) (DB).

13. AIR 1932 All 85 (87) 53 All 391 (DB)  AIR 1931 All 657 (658, 659) (DB)  AIR 1939 All 314 (316) 1LR (1939) All 150 (DB)  AIR 1924 Mad 509 (510) (DB) (May be done even at execution stage.)

Also see Notes 7 and 12.

14. AIR 1962 Andh Pra 425 (430) (DB) (Puisne mortgagee of some of the properties agreeing to pay off prior mortgagee — Condition not fulfilled — Suit by prior mortgagee to recover mortgage money by sale of items covered by puisne mortgage — Puisne mortgagee who has not fulfilled condition is not entitled to benefit of S. 81 — His claim to direct prior mortgagee to sell items not covered by puisne mortgage cannot be allowed as that would prejudice prior mortgagee's right to proceed against any item)  AIR 1932 All 85 (87) 53 All 391 (DB)  AIR 1925 Mad 332 (333) (DB)  1887 All WN 183 (184) (DB). (No equities in defendant — Mortgagee's right to sell properties in any order he chooses not to be curtailed by Court.)  AIR 1927 Cal 522 (526) (DB).

It has been observed in the undermentioned case(15) that the right of the mortgagee to realise his mortgage debt from any portion of the mortgaged property is subject to two exceptions, namely, the doctrine of marshalling provided for by Ss 56 and 81, and the Court's power under O. 34, R. 4 to direct the mortgaged properties to be sold in a particular order. If the right of the mortgagee referred to in the decision is the right to determine in what order the mortgaged properties which he wishes to proceed against are to be sold, then the decision is unexceptionable for, as has been seen already, such right is not an absolute one, but is subject to the discretion of the Court under O. 34, R. 4 of the Code of Civil Procedure, which discretion must be exercised in favour of a person who has a right of marshalling. If the right of the mortgagee referred to is, on the other hand, the absolute right in the mortgagee to give up any item of the mortgaged property and to proceed against the other items for the whole of the debt, the decision, it is submitted, is not correct. Such right cannot, under this section, be prejudiced by the right of marshalling. It is not correct to say in such a case that the right of marshalling is an exception to the right of the mortgagee. Nor can O. 34, R. 4 of the Civil Procedure Code which enables the Court to regulate the sale of the properties, the subject matter of the suit before it, be construed as authorising the Court to take away in its discretion, a right given to the mortgagee by the substantive law, to limit his suit to such portions of the mortgaged property as he chooses.

In Sarju Lal v Baijnath Prashad(16) the mortgagee having purchased himself some of the mortgaged properties after his decree on the mortgage, claimed to execute the decree against the other properties which had been subsequently purchased by third persons. It was held that the purchasers cannot insist that the mortgagee should sell also the property purchased by him, and that any equity which they might have must be worked out only in a separate suit.

11. "Or of any other person who has for consideration. properties."

See Note 14 on this section and Note 2 on Section 81

12. Executing Court when can give effect to right of marshalling.

It has been seen already that the Court has a discretion at the time of passing the decree under O. 34, Rr. 4 and 5 of the Code of Civil Procedure to determine the order in which the mortgaged properties should be sold. Where a question as to the order in which the mortgaged properties should be sold has been raised and determined by the decree, the Court cannot, at the time of the execution, go behind the order so made (1). Where, however, the decree merely states that the properties mentioned therein should be sold without any determination as to the order in which such properties are to be sold, the executing Court has a discretion to regulate the order of sale of the various items (2). This does not mean that some of the items decreed against can be excluded from being brought to sale at all. All the properties decreed against must be advertised for sale and when they are actually

[See however AIR 1925 Mad 1214 (1214) (DB)]

Also see Note 12

15. AIR 1939 All 314 (314, 315) : ILR (1939) All 150 (DB)

16. AIR 1923 Pat 44 (44) (DB)

Section 56 — Note 12

1. AIR 1960 Pat 378 (380) (DB)  AIR 1926 Mad 1144 (1144)  AIR 1943 Mad 705 (706) (DB)

2. AIR 1975 Pat 223 (224) 1976 BLJR 74  AIR 1964 Mad 547 (549) (Decree on mortgage Court has discretion to fix order in which property is to brought for sale.  AIR 1960 Pat 378 (380) (DB)  AIR 1939 All 314 (315) ILR (1939) All 150 (DB)  AIR 1934 Pat 329 (329) (DB)  AIR 1926 Mad 1031 (1032) (DB)

[See however AIR 1925 Pat 484 (486) (DB).]

[But see AIR 1916 Oudh 288 (288) (DB) (Submitted not correct)]

brought into execution and become subject to sale, it would be then for the Court to decide on just and equitable grounds which property ought to be sold first (3) If a right of marshalling is claimed at that time, and has not already been determined at the time of the decree, the executing Court is bound to give effect to it. Even in the absence of any right of marshalling existing in any of the parties the executing Court can regulate the order of sale for the purpose of adjusting the equities between the parties (4) Where there are no equities in favour of any party the mortgagee is entitled to choose the order in which the properties decreed against should be sold (5) and the judgment-debtor has no legal right to demand that the decree-holder should proceed against a particular item first (6) In the under-mentioned case (7) properties a and b were mortgaged to X and subsequently a was sold to R. X obtained a decree against R and the mortgagor for sale of both a and b. He then applied for execution by sale of both the properties. The Court ordered in the exercise of its discretion that property b should be sold first. X thereupon did not press the petition which was consequently dismissed. Within a week thereof X applied again for execution of his decree but for sale of property a alone. It was held by the Calcutta High Court that X could not be allowed to fetter the exercise of the Court's discretion by thus applying for the sale of a alone. X was ordered to amend his petition by including both the properties. It may be noted that X did not give up property b from his mortgage, but merely claimed to sell a first.

13. Purchaser's knowledge of prior mortgage — Effect of.

Under the old S. 81 a right of marshalling could not be claimed by a subsequent mortgagee who has taken his mortgage with notice of the prior mortgage. This section did not apply to mortgages not governed by this Act or to mortgages made before the Act. In such cases it was held that the English law of marshalling of securities would be applicable, and under that law, the fact that the subsequent mortgagee had notice of the prior mortgage did not affect his right of marshalling (1). This principle was applied even in cases where marshalling was allowed in favour of a subsequent

3. AIR 1975 Pat 223 (225) 1976 BLJR 74  AIR 1960 Pat 378 (380) (DB)  AIR 1924 Pat 802 (802) : 3 Pat 962 (DB)  (1910) 7 Ind Cas 4 (5) (DB) (Cal).

4. (1908) 31 Mad 419 (423) (FB)  AIR 1955 Mad 208 (209)  AIR 1944 Nag 25 (27) ILR (1944) Nag 230 (DB) (Charge decree — S. 56 does not apply as it is restricted to mortgages only — Principle of S. 56 can however be applied — Even apart from S. 56 executing Court can order that property purchased by stranger should be sold after other properties if decree-holder is not prejudiced thereby)  AIR 1932 All 85 (87) 53 All 391 (DB)  AIR 1931 All 657 (658, 659) (DB) (When the question as to which of the properties has to be sold first comes up before the executing Court, the solution of the question will depend upon a determination of the equities between the holders of the properties.)

Also see Notes 7 and 10

5. AIR 1960 Pat 378 (380) (DB) (Where there is no equity in favour of any party, it will be an illegal exercise of discretion if the executing Court prescribes the order in which the properties should be sold)  AIR 1925 Pat 484 (487) (DB)  AIR 1924 Mad 366 (367) 47 Mad 688 (DB).

[See also AIR 1955 Pat 108 (110) (Equities should be left to be decided in properly constituted suit.)]

6. (1957) 2 Andh WR 385 (388, 389)  AIR 1924 Mad 366 (367) 47 Mad 688 (DB)

Also see Note 10

7. (1910) 7 Ind Cas 4 (5) (DB) (Cal)

Section 56 — Note 13

1. (1893) 18 Bom 160 (170, 171) (DB).

purchaser on general principles.(2) though in some cases(3) the view was expressed that a subsequent purchaser with notice should not, on general principles, be allowed the right of marshalling.

Section 81 has now been amended by omitting the provision as to notice. A right of marshalling whether under this section or S. 81 is now independent of any question of notice.(4)

As seen in Note 7 this section does not, in terms, apply to cases where subsequent to a mortgage of several items, one or more of such items is sold in execution of a decree against the mortgagor, but according to some High Courts the principle of the section is applicable to such cases provided the auction purchaser shows that he is a bona fide purchaser for value without notice of the prior mortgage.(5)

14. Against whom right under this section available.

As has been seen in Note 1 the old section gave a right to the subsequent purchaser as against the seller to have the prior mortgage satisfied out of the property not sold to him. The right was thus not available against the mortgagee, or against any person who had purchased the other property from the mortgagor (1) The omission of the words "as against the seller" in the present section now makes the right of the subsequent purchaser enforceable against the mortgagee also (2) But the addition of the words "but not so as to prejudice the rights of a person who has for consideration acquired an interest in any of the properties" has the effect of negating any right of marshalling in the purchaser of one of the mortgaged properties as against the purchaser of any item of the mortgaged properties, inasmuch as the exercise of any such right will clearly prejudice the latter (3) Where, however, the other item is mortgaged and not sold by the mortgagor the right of the purchaser of marshalling is not lost in every case and can be claimed if after paying off the prior mortgage from such item there is enough left for payment to the subsequent mortgagee because there would be no question of prejudice in such a case (4)

The principle of marshalling as provided in S. 56 can be applied to a bona fide purchaser for value without notice of a prior mortgage.(5)

But if A purchases one of the mortgaged properties with an express condition that it is not to be liable for the debt and B purchases another of the mortgaged properties with the condition that the entire debt is to be satisfied by B out of the consideration in his hands A can claim that the property in the hands of B should be sold first.(6)

See also Note 2 on Section 81.

2. (1896) 22 Bom 304 (314) (FB). (The principle applies to auction-purchaser as well as purchaser at private sale.)
3. (1885) 7 All 711 (715) (DB).
4. AIR 1962 Punj 477 (478)  AIR 1947 Lah 230 (232)
5. 1980 TI NJ 402 (406) (Mad)  1953 BLJR 682 (683)  1965, Mad LJ 132 (140) (AIR 1953 Pat 193 Applied)  AIR 1953 Pat 193 (193) (DB)  AIR 1963 Pat 236 (238) (DB)

Section 56 — Note 14

1. AIR 1955 Mad 439 (441) (DB)  (1905) 2 All LJ 698 (701) (DB)  AIR 1931 Nag 91 (94)  (1903) 31 Cal 95 (102) (DB)  AIR 1920 All 253 (256) 42 All 336 (DB)
2. AIR 1955 Mad 439 (441)
3. AIR 1947 Lah 230 (232)
[See AIR 1930 All 634 (636) (DB) (Right of auction-purchaser of one of the mortgaged properties against the auction-purchaser of another)]
[See also AIR 1955 Pat 108 (110).]
4. AIR 1963 SC 1607 (1612).
5. (1991) 1 Mad LW 726 (727) : (1990) 2 Mad LJ 347.
6. AIR 1929 Pat 664 (671) : 8 Pat 585 (DB).

Discharge of Incumbrances on Sale

57. PROVISION BY COURT FOR INCUMBRANCES AND SALE FREED THEREFROM.— (a) Where immoveable property subject to any incumbrance, whether immediately payable or not, is sold by the Court or in execution of a decree, or out of Court, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of any party to the sale, direct or allow payment into Court,—

- (1) in case of an annual or monthly sum charged on the property, or of a capital sum charged on a determinable interest in the property — of such amount as, when invested in securities of the ^A[Central Government], the Court considers will be sufficient, by means of the interest thereof, to keep down or otherwise provide for that charge, and
- (2) in any other case of a capital sum charged on the property — of the amount sufficient to meet the incumbrance and any interest due thereon.

But in either case there shall also be paid into Court such additional amount as the Court considers will be sufficient to meet the contingency of further costs, expenses and interest, and any other contingency, except depreciation of investments, not exceeding one-tenth part of the original amount to be paid in, unless the Court for special reasons (which it shall record) thinks fit to require a large additional amount.

(b) Thereupon the Court may, if it thinks fit, and after notice to the incumbrancer, unless the Court, for reasons to be recorded in writing, thinks fit to dispense with such notice, declare the property to be freed from the incumbrance, and make any order for conveyance, or vesting order, proper for giving effect to the sale, and give directions for the retention and investment of the money in Court.

(c) After notice served on the persons interested in or entitled to the money or fund in Court, the Court may direct payment or transfer thereof to the persons entitled to receive or give a discharge for the same and generally may give directions respecting the application or distribution of the capital or income thereof.

(d) An appeal shall lie from any declaration, order or direction under this section as if the same were a decree.

(e) In this section “Court” means (1) a High Court in the exercise of its ordinary or extraordinary original civil jurisdiction, (2) the Court of a District Judge within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the property or any part thereof is situated, (3) any other Court which the ^B[State Government] may, from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare to be competent to exercise the jurisdiction conferred by this section.

[A] Substituted for the words ‘Government of India’ by A.O., 1937.

[B] Substituted for the words ‘Provincial Government’ (which was a substitution for Local Government) by A.L.O. 1950.

Synopsis

1. Analogous law.
2. Scope of the section.

3. Section compared with Section 83 and Order 34, Rule 12 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

4. Incumbrance.
5. "Whether immediately payable or not."
6. "May, if it thinks fit."
7. "Direct or allow payment into Court."
8. "On the application."
9. "Any party to the sale."
10. Procedure.

11. "In any other case of a capital sum," etc. — Clause (a), sub-clause (2).
12. "Not exceeding one-tenth part of the original amount."
13. Notice to incumbrancer — Clause (b).
14. Service of notice — Clause (c).
15. "Appeal" — Clause (d).
16. "Court" — Clause (e).

1. Analogous law.

Section 5 of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881 (44 and 45 Vict. C 41) provided as follows : (1)

"5 (1) Where land subject to any incumbrance, whether immediately payable or not, is sold by the Court, or out of Court, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of any party to the sale, direct or allow payment into Court, in case of an annual sum charged on the land, or of a capital sum charged on a determinable interest in the land, of such amount as, when invested in Government securities, the Court considers will be sufficient, by means of the dividends thereon, to keep down or otherwise provide for that charge; and in any other case of capital money charged on the land, of the amount sufficient to meet the incumbrance and any interest due thereon; but in either case there shall also be paid into Court such additional amount as the Court considers will be sufficient to meet the contingency of further costs, expenses, and interest, and any other contingency, except depreciation of investments, not exceeding one-tenth part of the original amount to be paid in, unless the Court for special reasons thinks fit to require a larger additional amount.

(2) Thereupon, the Court may, if it thinks fit, and either after or without any notice to the incumbrancer as the Court thinks fit, declare the land to be freed from the incumbrance, and make any order for conveyance, or vesting order, proper for giving effect to the sale, and give directions for the retention and investment of the money in Court.

(3) After notice served on the persons interested in or entitled to the money or fund in Court, the Court may direct payment or transfer thereof to the persons entitled to receive or give a discharge for the same, and generally may give directions respecting the application or distribution of the capital or income thereof.

(4) This section applies to sales not completed at the commencement of this Act, and to sales thereafter made."

The section has been now replaced in England by S. 50 of the Law of Property Act, 1925 (15 Geo. V. Ch. 20) which runs as follows : (2)

"50 (1) Where land subject to any incumbrance, whether immediately realisable or payable or not, is sold or exchanged by the Court, or out of Court, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of any party to the sale or exchange, direct or allow payment into Court of such sum as is hereinafter mentioned, that is to say—

(a) in the case of an annual sum charged on the land, or of a capital sum charged on a determinable interest in the land, the sum to be paid into Court shall be of such amount as, when invested in Government securities, the Court considers will be sufficient, by means of the dividends thereof, to keep down or otherwise provide for that charge; and

(b) in any other case of capital money charged on the land, the sum to be paid into Court shall be of an amount sufficient to meet the incumbrance and any interest due thereon;

but in either case there shall also be paid into Court such additional amount as the Court considers

Section 57 — Note 1

1. The italics are intended to show where the section differs from Section 57 of the Indian Transfer of Property Act.
2. The italics are intended to show where the section differs from Section 57 of the Indian Transfer of Property Act.

will be sufficient to meet the contingency, of further costs, expenses and interest and any other contingency, except depreciation of investments not exceeding one-tenth part of the original amount to be paid in, unless the Court for special reasons thinks fit to require a larger additional amount

(2) Thereupon, the Court may if it thinks fit and either after or without any notice to the incumbrancer, as the Court thinks fit, declare the land to be freed from the incumbrance and make any order for conveyance or vesting order, proper for giving effect to the sale or exchange and give directions for the retention and investment of the money in Court and for the payment or application of the income thereof.

(3) The Court may declare all other land if any, affected by the incumbrance (besides the land sold or exchanged) to be from the incumbrance, and this power may be exercised either after or without notice to the encumbrancer, and notwithstanding that on a previous occasion an order, relating to the same incumbrance has been made by the Court which was confined to the land then sold or exchanged.

(4) On any application under this section the Court may if it thinks fit, as respects any vendor or purchaser dispense with the service of any notice which would otherwise be required to be served on the vendor or purchaser.

(5) After notice served on the persons interested in or entitled to the money or fund in Court, the Court may direct payment or transfer thereof to the persons entitled to receive or give a discharge for the same and generally may give directions respecting the application or distribution of the capital or income thereof

(6) This section applies to sales or exchanges whether made before or after the commencement of this Act, and to incumbrances whether created by statute or otherwise."

2. Scope of the section.

This section has been borrowed from S 5 of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881, now replaced by S 50 of the Law of Property Act, 1925 (1) The English cases bearing on these sections will be thus a useful guide in the construction and the application of this section

Where the subject-matter of a sale is property subject to an incumbrance, this section empowers the Court to provide for the discharge of the incumbrances, and then to declare the property free from such incumbrances (2) It is a remedial enactment for facilitating the sale of land (3) The object of S 5 of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881, was stated by Sargant, J, in the following terms :

"Prima facie the object of the whole of S 5 is not to disturb any vested or other rights more than is necessary but to enable a sale to be effected and the property to be transferred to the purchaser notwithstanding there may be on the land a liability for payment of a future sum which would, but for the provisions of the section, clearly have prevented the sale of the land free from incumbrance. Of course, a purchaser might think fit to take the land subject to the incumbrance, but the purchase of land subject to an incumbrance is not usually a desirable investment, and the object of the section was to enable the land to be conveyed to the purchaser so that he might get a full and complete title to it (4)

The section presupposes the existence of an incumbrance. The question whether there is an incumbrance or not cannot be determined under this section (5)

The section has no application where the incumbrance has merged into a decree and a question

Section 57 — Note 2

1. See Note 1 for the text of these sections.

2. AIR 1916 Pat 113 (114) : 2 Pat LJ 118 (DB).

[See also AIR 1937 Nag 36 (36) ILR (1938) Nag 183 (If appropriate procedure is taken under S. 57 the charge may be wiped out.)]

3. (1915) 1 Ch 94 (101) 84 LJ Ch 252 (256) In re Wilberforce, Wilberforce v Wilberforce

4. (1915) 1 Ch 94 (102) 84 LJ Ch 252 In re Wilberforce, Wilberforce v Wilberforce

5. (1895) 43 WR (Eng) 473 (474) (1895) 2 Ch 256 In re Freme's Contract

of the adjustment of the decree out of Court is involved. In the undermentioned case (6) A had mortgaged his property to B who obtained a decree for sale thereon. C then negotiated with A for the sale of the property and B consented to the proposed purchase and agreed to accept from C a sum of money in full satisfaction of his decree. C thereafter completed the sale, but B refused to accept the sum tendered by C, whereupon C applied under this section and prayed for a declaration that the property was free from the incumbrance. It was held that the section had no application to the case as it involved a question of the adjustment of a decree out of Court which was governed by other provisions of law.

The Transfer of Property Act has no application to the Punjab, but the principles on which it is based will apply as being in consonance with justice, equity and good conscience. The principle of this section may therefore be applied to cases arising in the Punjab (7).

Section 2(d) excepts this section from the operation of that provision. Thus this section will apply to transfers by operation of law or by, or in execution of, a decree or order (8) (See also S. 2, Note 6).

3. Section compared with Section 83 and Order 34, Rule 12 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

Section 83 provides for the discharge of a mortgage on property after it has become due. This section provides for declaring an incumbered property free of the incumbrance (which is not confined to mortgages), where such property is the subject-matter of sale. Under S. 83 the Court cannot compel the mortgagee to accept the deposit in discharge of the mortgage, while under this section the Court can declare the property free of incumbrance even against the will of the incumbrancer.

Order 34, Rule 12 of the Code of Civil Procedure provides that where any property, the sale of which is directed by that order is subject to a prior mortgage, the Court may with the consent of the prior mortgagee direct that the property be sold free from the same, giving to such prior mortgagee the same interest in the proceeds of the sale as he had in the property sold. This section is wider than the said rule and applies to sales by the Court or in execution of a decree or out of Court, and not merely to a sale directed by O. 34 of the Code.

4. Incumbrance.

An "incumbrance" is defined in Wharton's Law Lexicon as "a claim, lien or liability attached to property." Bouvier in his Law Dictionary defines an "incumbrance" as "any right to, or any interest in, land which may subsist in a third person to the diminution of the value of the land not inconsistent with the passing of the fee in it by a deed of conveyance." The word has also been defined in S. 2 of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881 (now replaced by S. 205 of the Law of Property Act, 1925), as follows :

"Incumbrance includes a mortgage in fee, or for a less estate, and a trust for securing money, and a lien, and a charge of a portion, annuity or other capital or annual sum, and incumbrancer has a meaning corresponding with that of incumbrance, and includes every person entitled to the benefit of an incumbrance, or to require payment or discharge thereof."

This section having, as has been seen already, been borrowed from S. 5 of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881, the word "incumbrance" may also, appropriately, be taken to have the same meaning as it has under the said Act. Thus, it will include a charge on property (1).

6. (1901) 24 Mad 412 (413) (DB). (Overruled on another point in 28 Mad 473 (FB).)

7. 1907 Pun Re No. 148, p. 687 (691) (DB).

8. AIR 1965 SC 834 (838). (AIR 1940 Mad 701 and AIR 1937 Cal 129 Overruled.)

Section 57 — Note 4

1. See Section 101 of the Act as it stood before the amendment of 1929.

[See also AIR 1937 Nag 36 (36). ILR (1938) Nag 183. Section 57 may be applicable to maintenance allowance charged on property.]

5. "Whether immediately payable or not."

These words contemplate that the Court can, under this section, make provision for a charge that is not immediately payable, i.e., for charges payable in futuro, though ordinarily this should not be done except where it is necessary.(1)

6. "May, if it thinks fit."

These words show that the Court has a discretion to act or not, as it thinks fit, under this section. In In re Great Northern Railway Co. and Sanderson (1) a Railway Company contracted to sell certain lands free from incumbrances for £ 868. It turned out that the land was subject to a perpetual rent charge for £ 63 which was unknown to the Company at the time of the contract. The purchaser applied under S. 5 of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881 (corresponding to this section) asking the Court to declare the property free of incumbrances, after calling upon the company to deposit into Court a sum sufficient, out of the dividends, to pay the rent charge with a further sum to meet the contingencies. This sum amounted to £ 2,300. Pearson, J., observed

"Section 5 is only permissive in its language. It says that 'the Court may, if it thinks fit . . . direct or allow payment into Court' of the amount mentioned, and the Court may, if it thinks fit . . . declare the land to be freed from the incumbrance. In the present case, the amount which would have to be paid into Court would be about £ 2,300."

The amount was three times the amount of the purchase money. The Court refused to exercise the discretion in favour of the applicant.

See the undermentioned cases.(2)

7. "Direct or allow payment into Court."

In In re Great Northern Railway Co. and Sanderson(1), Mr. Justice Pearson said "I think that, when it is said that the Court may 'direct or allow payment into Court,' the word 'direct' applies to a sale by the Court, and the word 'allow' to a sale out of Court."

8. "On the application."

The Court can act only on the application of a party to the sale. It cannot act suo motu.

9. "Any party to the sale."

The parties to a sale are the vendor and the purchaser. The application must be made by one or the other of these two. Where there are more vendors than one or more purchasers than one, it is conceived that any one of them may apply.

10. Procedure.

In an action for partition of certain hereditaments which were the subject of an annuity in favour of one X, the plaintiffs asked that the property might be sold free from the incumbrance of the

Section 57 — Note 5

1. (1895) 43 WR (Eng) 473 (474-475) (1895) 2 Ch 256, In re Freme's Contract

Section 57 — Note 6

1. (1884) 25 Ch D 788 (793) : 32 WR (Eng) 519 (520).
2. (1884) 54 LJ Ch 567 (568) : 28 Ch D 402. Milford Haven Ry Co. v. Mowatt (Section 5 of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act was applied to the case)  (1910) 79 LJ Ch 669 (672) (1910) 2 Ch 438. In Re Evans & Bettells Contract (Existence of liability held an objection to title on the sale of estate — Opportunity was given to vendors to apply for an order under S. 5 of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881)  AIR 1931 Cal 763 (769) : 58 Cal 598 (DB) (In a mortgage suit the Court can pass by consent a combination of several decrees in favour of different mortgagees, determining the order in which they are to be paid and incorporating orders which the Court would be amply justified in making under S. 57, Transfer of Property Act.)

Section 57 — Note 7

1. (1884) 25 Ch D 788 (793) : 32 WR (Eng) 519 (520).

annuity. X was not a party to the action. It was held by Chitty, J., that the Court could dispense with the consent of X, and the proper order in the case would be that out of the purchase money to be paid into Court, such an amount, as, when invested, in Government securities, the Court shall consider sufficient to provide for the annuity and costs be set aside and invested as a provision for the annuity, and that thereupon any person interested is to be at liberty to apply in Chambers for an order declaring the hereditaments freed from the annuity (1).

11. "In any other case of a capital sum," etc. — Clause (a), sub-clause (2).

The second alternative in Cl. (a) of the section provides that in any other case of a capital sum charged on the property, the Court may direct or allow payment into Court of 'the amount sufficient to meet the incumbrance and any interest due thereon.' The "amount sufficient" to be paid into Court is the amount which, in the opinion of the Court, is sufficient when invested in Government securities to meet the incumbrance and any interest thereon. In coming to this conclusion Mr Justice Sargant observed in In re Wilberforce (1) as follows:

"Then comes the other alternative — 'In any other case of capital money charged on the land,' when the payment into Court is to be 'of the amount sufficient to meet the incumbrance and any interest thereon.' Does that merely mean the actual amount of the capital money, or does it mean the amount which is considered by the Court sufficient 'when invested in Government securities' to meet the incumbrance and any interest thereon? — that is to say, are the words in the first alternative reflected in the second alternative, so that, by the words 'the amount' I am to understand the Legislature as meaning the sufficient amount as set out in the earlier part of sub-section (1) (i.e. Cl. (a)) or am I to take 'the amount' as meaning merely the bare amount of the capital charge? In my opinion, the former is the truer construction. It seems to me that there is no reason why, in the second part of the sub-section, the Court should not have the same discretion that it has in the first part of the sub-section or be limited to directing payment into Court of the bare amount of the charge itself. It seems to me that the amount which is to be paid into Court is the amount which, in the opinion of the Court, is sufficient 'when invested in Government securities' to meet the incumbrance and any interest thereon."

12. "Not exceeding one-tenth part of the original amount."

The Court is entitled under this section to direct the party to pay an additional amount not exceeding one-tenth part of the original amount to be paid in for meeting further contingencies. But for special reasons to be recorded in writing the Court can order a larger amount to be paid into Court. Mortgages to secure future advances and mortgages containing agreements that the money shall remain for a fixed period might furnish special reasons for demanding a larger amount (1).

13. Notice to incumbrancer — Clause (b).

Under S. 5 of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881, and also S. 50 of the Law of Property Act, 1925, the Court may, if it thinks fit, act under this section whether after or without notice to the incumbrancer. Under this section the Court is bound to give notice to the incumbrancer unless it thinks for reasons to be recorded in writing that notice should be dispensed with. But the consent of the incumbrancers is not necessary either under the English law, or under this section, to enable the Court to apply the provisions of this section (1). Nor are the incumbrancers necessary parties to the application.

Section 57 — Note 10

1. (1882) 30 WR (Eng) 887 (887), Dickin v. Dickin.

Section 57 — Note 11

1. (1915) 1 Ch 94 (102, 103) 84 LJ Ch 252 (257) 111 LT 797 58 SJ 797.

Section 57 — Note 12

1. See Shephard and Brown, Transfer of Property Act, 7th Edition, p. 219.

Section 57 — Note 13

1. (1882) 30 WR (Eng) 887 (887), Dickin v. Dickin.

14. Service of notice — Clause (c).

There is no provision in this Act prescribing the mode of service of notice under this section, on the persons interested in or entitled to the money or fund in Court. Section 102 deals with the service of notice under Chapter IV. It is conceived that the service of notice under this section must be made in the manner provided for by O. 5 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

15. "Appeal" — Clause (d).

A right of appeal is given against all directions and orders made under this section, as a safeguard against possible errors in the exercise of a novel jurisdiction. See Note 16.

16. "Court" — Clause (e).

The jurisdiction to act under this section can be exercised only by—

- (1) the High Court in the exercise of its ordinary or extraordinary original civil jurisdiction;
- (2) the Court of a District Judge within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the property or any part thereof is situate; and
- (3) any other Court notified by the State Government in the Official Gazette.

The reasons for limiting the exercise of the powers given by this section to the above Courts is stated in Whitley Stoke's Anglo-Indian Codes(1) as follows:

"The corresponding section in 44 and 45 Vic., c 41 has been hailed in England as likely to effect one of the greatest reforms every made in the law of real property, and there is reason to believe that it will be equally beneficial in India. But to prevent any chance of error in the exercise of a novel jurisdiction, the Indian Legislature has taken two precautions. first, it has confined the jurisdiction to the High Courts, the District Courts and any other Courts specially empowered by the local Governments, and, secondly, it has declared that an appeal shall lie from all directions and orders given under this section."

CHAPTER IV

OF MORTGAGES OF IMMOVEABLE PROPERTY AND CHARGES

58. "MORTGAGE," "MORTGAGOR," "MORTGAGEE," "MORTGAGE-MONEY" AND "MORTGAGE-DEED" DEFINED.— (a) A mortgage is the transfer of an interest in specific immoveable property for the purpose of securing the payment of money advanced or to be advanced by way of loan, an existing or future debt, or the performance of an engagement which may give rise to a pecuniary liability.

The transferor is called a mortgagor, the transferee a mortgagee; the principal money and interest of which payment is secured for the time being are called the mortgage money, and the instrument (if any) by which the transfer is effected is called a mortgage deed.

Simple mortgage.

(b) Where, without delivering possession of the mortgaged property the mort-

Section 57 — Note 16

1. Whitley Stokes, The Anglo-Indian Codes, Vol. I, 1892 Edn., Introduction to the Transfer of Property Act, page 731

gagor binds himself personally to pay the mortgage money, and agrees, expressly or impliedly, that, in the event of his failing to pay according to his contract, the mortgagee shall have a right to cause the mortgaged property to be sold and the proceeds of sale to be applied, so far as may be necessary, in payment of the mortgage money, the transaction is called a simple mortgage and the mortgagee a simple mortgagee

Mortgage by conditional sale.

(c) Where the mortgagor ostensibly sells the mortgaged property—on condition that on default of payment of the mortgage money on a certain date the sale shall become absolute, or on condition that on such payment being made the sale shall become void, or on condition that on such payment being made the buyer shall transfer the property to the seller, the transaction is called a mortgage by conditional sale and the mortgagee a mortgagee by conditional sale :

^A[Provided that no such transaction shall be deemed to be a mortgage, unless the condition is embodied in the document which effects or purports to effect the sale.]

Usufructuary mortgage.

(d) Where the mortgagor delivers possession ^A[or expressly or by implication binds himself to deliver possession] of the mortgaged property to the mortgagee, and authorises him to retain such possession until payment of the mortgage money and to receive the rents and profits accruing from the property ^B[or any part of such rents and profits and to appropriate the same] in lieu of interest, or in payment of the mortgage money, or partly in lieu of interest ^C{or} partly in payment of the mortgage money, the transaction is called an usufructuary mortgage and the mortgagee an usufructuary mortgagee.

English mortgage.

(e) Where the mortgagor binds himself to repay the mortgage money on a certain a date, and transfers the mortgaged property absolutely to the mortgagee, but subject to a proviso that he will retransfer it to the mortgagor upon payment of the mortgage money as agreed, the transaction is called an English mortgage

Mortgage by deposit of title deeds.

^A[(f) Where a person in any of the following towns, namely, the towns of Calcutta, Madras, ^D[and Bombay], ^E[* * *] and in any other ^Ftown which the ^G[State Government concerned] may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf, delivers to a creditor or his agent documents of title to immoveable property with intent to create a security thereon, the transaction is called a mortgage by deposit of title deeds.

Anomalous mortgage.

(g) A mortgage which is not a simple mortgage, a mortgage by conditional sale, an usufructuary mortgage, an English mortgage or a mortgage by deposit of title deeds within the meaning of this section is called an anomalous mortgage.]

[A] Inserted by the Transfer of Property (Amendment) Act, 1929 (XX of 1929), S. 19.

[B] Substituted for the words "and to appropriate them," ibid.

[C] Substituted for the words "and," ibid.

[D] Substituted for the words, "Bombay and Karachi" and A C A O., 1948 (23-3-1948).

[E] The words "Rangoon, Maulmein, Bassein and Akyab" were omitted by A O., 1937 [1-4-1937]

[F] For extension of S. 58(f).

To the State of Haryana w.e.f. 10-5-1972 — See Hary Govt. Gaz., 10-5-1972 Pt. III (L.S.), Ext., P. 561.

To the State of Punjab — See Punj Govt. Gaz., 28-8-1975, Pt. III (L.S.), Ext., P. 545.

and for extension of S. 58 to Chandigarh with immediate effect — Chd. Admn. Gaz., 18-12-1980, Ext., P. 446

For notifications relating to the towns of—

Bandra, Kurla and Ghatkoper-Kiroli, See Gaz. of Ind., 1924, Pt. I, page 1064;

Kanpur, Allahabad and Lucknow, See Gaz. of Ind., 1933, Pt. I, p. 158.

Coimbatre, Madura, Cocanada and Cochin, See Gaz. of Ind., 1935, Pt. I, p. 526.

Ahmedabad, See Gaz. of Ind., 1935, Pt. I, p. 936 or Bom. Gaz., 1936, Pt. IV-A, p. 646.

Agra, See U.P. Gaz., 1939, Pt. I, p. 44;

Tuticorin, See Ft. St. Geo. Gaz., 1948, Pt. I, page 776.

Guntur, See Ft. St. Geo. Gaz., 1949, Pt. I, p. 1356;

Neillore, Rajahmundry, Eluru, See Ft. St. Geo. Gaz., 1950 Pt. I, page 1293;

Mangalore, See Ft. St. Geo. Gaz., 1951, Pt. I, page 334;

Bangalore, Mysore and Davangere, See Mys. Gaz., 1-10-1951, Extra, Pt. IV-IC

Vellore, See Ft. St. Geo. Gaz., 1952, Pt. I, page 344;

Ballary and Adoni, See Ft. St. Geo. Gaz., 1952, Pt. I, page 561

Trivandrum, Nagarcot, Quillon, Alleppey, Kottayam, Alwaye, Changanacherry, Ernakulam, Mattancherry and Tinchur, See T and C Gaz., 1-4-1952, Pt. I, p. 356.

Baroda and Surat, See Guj. Gaz., dt. 3-8-1961, Pt. IV-A, p. 97.

Ajmer, Alwar, Bhilawara, Bikaner, Ganganagar, Jaipur, Jodhpur, Kota, Pali and Udaipur — See Raj. Gaz., 21-6-1962, Pt. I (Kha), p. 29;

Delhi and New Delhi, w.e.f. 1-11-1962, See Gaz. of Ind., 24-11-1962, Pt. II, S. 3(1), p. 1884;

Delhi Cantonment, w.e.f. 1-6-1963, Gaz. of India, 1-6-1963, Pt. II, S. 3(1), p. 1020.

Hubli-Dharwar, See Mys. Gaz., dt. 14-5-1964, Pt. IV, S. 2-C(ii), p. 1363.

Anantpur, Chittoor, Cuddappah, Srikakulam, Adilabad, Karimnagar, Khammam, Mehbubnagar, Sangareddy, Nalgonda, Nizamabad, Proddutur, Tenali, Kothugudem, Vijaypur, Guntakal, Tirupati, Chirala, Godivada, Nandyal, Anakapalle and Bhimavaram, A.P. Gaz., 28-8-1969, Pt. I, p. 1349

Shillong, Gauhati, Jorhat, Dibrugarh, Tezpur, Silchar and Dibrui — Assam Gaz., 10-6-1970, Pt. IIIA, p. 2062.

Patna, Muzaffarpur, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Motihari and Arrah, w.e.f. 4-9-1969, Bih. Gaz., 4-9-1969, Ext., No. Patna 290 (S.O. 748).

Gaya, Darbhanga, Champā, Monghyr and Saharsa, w.e.f. 30-10-1969 — Bih. Gaz., 30-10-1969, Ext. (No. Patna 450) (S.O. 948, D/- 23-10-1969);

Ahwa, Amreli, Bharuch, Bhuj, Gandhinagar, Godhra, Himatnagar, Kheda, Mehsana, Palanpur, Valsad, Guj. Govt. Gaz., 16-2-1978, Pt. IV-A, p. 142;

Ambala City, Karnal, Gurgaon, Hissar, Rohtak, Narnaul and Jind — Hary. Govt. Gaz., 10-5-1972, Pt. III (LS), Ext., p. 563

Bhiwani, Sonapat and Kurukshetra — Har Govt. Gaz., 27-2-1973, Pt. III (LS), Ext., p. 217

Tahsil headquarters in the State of Haryana and the towns of Faridabad and Yamunagar — Har Govt. Gaz., 22-8-1975, Pt. III, Ext., p. 593.

All the district headquarters in Mysore State specified under this clause — Mys Gaz., 24-7-1969, Pt. II, S. 2C(ii), p. 376.

Gokak, Raibag, Hospet, Serigappa, Bilgi, Jamkhindi, Mudhol, Harihar, Gagawathi, Manvi, Sindhanoor, Bhadravathi, Channagiri and Honnali — Kant. Gaz., 14-5-1970, Pt. IV-2C(ii), p. 1701.

Udipi in the State of Karnataka — Kant. Gaz., 21-2-1974, Pt. IV-2c(ii), p. 498.

Tirur Municipal Town — See Ker. Gaz., 31-12-1978, Pt. I, S. IV, P. 1, G. 91.

Bhopal, Jabalpur, Raipur, Bilaspur, Salna, Bhilai and Dewas — M P Gaz., 20-11-1973, Pt. I, p. 1790.

Thana, Alibag, Ratnagiri, Nasik, Dhulia, Jalgaon, Poona, Ahmadnagar, Satara, Sangli, Sholapur, Kolhapur, Parbhani, Bhir, Usmanabad, Nanded, Nagpur, Buldhana, Akola, Amravati, Yeotmal, Bhandara, Wardha and Chandrapur — Mah. Govt. Gaz., 15-3-1973, Pt. IV, p. 133.

Rayagada, Sunabeda, Talcher — Orissa Gaz., 15-5-1976, Ext., p. 1 (No. 801).

Mahe and Yanam — See Pondi. Gaz., 6-2-1969, Ext., p. 1.

All the block headquarters in the State of Punjab — Punj. Govt. Gaz., 23-6-1979, Pt. III (LS), Ext., p. 403.

Tanjavur, Cuddalore, Salem, Tirunavelli, Virudhanagar, Polluchi — Fort St. George Gaz., 5-2-1969, S. II, p. 69.

Kanchipuram and Dharmapuri — T N Govt. Gaz., 24-4-1970, Pt. II, S. 1, p. 678.

Sivakasi, Didigal, Palani, Periakulam, Theni, Bodi and Cambam — T N Govt. Gaz., 23-9-1970, Pt. II, S. 1, p. 1510.

Tiruppur — T.N. Govt., 20-6-1973, Pt. II, S. 1, p. 615.

Udhagamandalam in the Nilgiris district — T N Govt. Gaz., 17-2-1982, Pt. II, S. 2, p. 103.

District Headquarters at Kailashahar and Udaipur of North Tripura District and South Tripura District respectively — Tri. Gaz., 27-7-1977, Pt. I, Ext., p. 2.

Aligarh, Almorah, Ballia, Bareilly, Basti, Bulandshahr, Dehra Dun, Faizabad, Garhwal (Pauri), Gorakhpur, Gaziabad, Jhansi, Meerut, Naini Tal, Rae Bareilly, Saharanpur and Varanasi — U P Govt. Gaz., 1-2-1975, Pt. 3, p. 256.

Azamgarh, Bahraich, Barabanki, Banda, Badaun, Bijnor, Chamoli, Deoria, Etawah, Etah, Farrukhabad, Fatehpur, Gonda, Ghazipur, Hamirpur, Hardoi, Jaunpur, Jalaun, Kheri, Lalitpur, Mainpuri, Mathura, Muzaffarnagar, Moradabad, Mirzapur, Pilibhit, Pithoragarh, Pratapgarh, Rampur, Shahjahanpur, Sultanpur, Sitapur, Tehri-Garhwal, Unnao and Uttar Kashi.

The above towns are in addition to the cities of Agra, Allahabad, Aligarh, Almorah, Ballia, Bareilly, Basti, Bulandshahr, Dehradun, Faizabad, Garhwal (Pauri), Gorakhpur, Gaziabad, Jhansi, Kanpur, Lucknow, Meerut, Naini Tal, Rae Bareilly, Saharanpur and Varanasi which are notified earlier — U P Govt. Gaz., 28-3-1976, Ext., p. 1.

Division	District	Town
Meerut	Saharanpur	1. Hardwar Union 2. Roorkee 3. Deoband 4. Manglaur 5. Gangoh 6. Behal 7. Landhaura 8. Nakur 9. Ambetha 10. Rampur 11. Titron 12. Sarsawa

Division

1907-11

District

Town

Bulandshahr

13. Nahauta
14. Jhabrera
15. Chilkana
1. Sikandrabad
2. Khurja
3. Debai
4. Anupshahr
5. Jahangirabad
6. Aurangabad
7. Bhon Bahadumagar
8. Bugrasi
9. Gulaothi
10. Siana
11. Shikarpur
12. Khanpur
13. Chhatari
14. Rabupura
15. Kakore
16. Bilaspur
17. Jawar
18. Dankaur
19. Pahasu

Muzaffarnagar

1. Kandhla
2. Shamli
3. Kairana
4. Khatauli
5. Charthawal
6. Thanabhawan
7. Jhinhana
8. Miranpur
9. Jalalabad
10. Sisauli
11. Jansath
12. Shahpur
13. Par Qazi
14. Budhana
15. Bhaunkerherhi

Meerut

1. Meerut
2. Mawana
3. Sardhana
4. Kankerkhera
5. Agarwal Mandi
6. Bakser Khera
7. Abdullapur
8. Khekra
9. Chhaprauli
10. Aminagar Sarai
11. Parikchatgarh
12. Phalauda
13. Lawar
14. Sewalkhas
15. Bashuna
16. Karawal
17. Kithor
1. Hapur

Ghaziabad

Division	District	Town
Agra	Aligarh	2 Pilkhuwa
		3. Muradnagar
		4 Kharkhauda
		5 Niwari
		6 Fandnagar
		7 Babugarh
		8 Loni
		9 Patla
		10 Dadri
		1 Hathras
Agra	Agra	2 Sikandra Rao
		3 Atrauli
		4 Jalali
		5 Jattari
		6 Harduaganj
		7 Sashi
		8 Mursan
		9 Mendu
		10 Khair
		11 Chharra
Agra	Agra	12 Beswan
		13 Brijagarh
		14 Nassain
		15 Kauriaganj
		16 Pilkhana
		17 Pundil Nagar
		1 Firozabad
		2 Fatehpur-Sikri
		3 Achhnera
		4 Shamshabad
Agra	Agra	5 Eimadpur
		6 Dayalbagh
		7 Tundla
		8 Swarnibagh
		9 Pinhat
		10 Bah
		11 Fatehabad
		12 Jagner
		13 Kheragarh
		1 Vrindaban
Agra	Mathura	2 Kosi
		3 Gohardhan
		4 Radhakund
		5 Sonkh
		6 Farrah
		7 Gokul
		8 Baldeo
		9 Sadabad
		10 Mahaban
		11 Sahpau
Agra	Mainpuri	12 Raya
		13. Chhata
		1. Shikohabad
		2. Sirsaganj
		3. Karhal
		4. Bhongaon

Division	District	Town
Rohilkhand	Etah	5. Bewar
		6. Kuraoli
		7. Jasrana
		8. Pharha*
		1. Kasganj
		2. Soron
		3. Jalesar
		4. Ganj Dundwara
		5. Marhera
		6. Aliganj
		7. Amapur
		8. Sakit
		9. Nidholi-Kalan
		10. Sahawar
		11. Bilram
		12. Raja-ka Rampur
Rohilkhand	Bareilly	13. Patiali
		14. Awagarh
		15. Mohanpur
		16. Bhargain
		1. Aonla
		2. Baheri
		3. Fandpur
		4. Nawabganj
		5. Thiriya Nijawal Khan
		6. Senthai
		7. Rathaura
		8. Richha
		9. Shishgarh
		10. Fatehganj Purbi
		11. Sirauli
		12. Shahi
Rohilkhand	Bareilly	13. Dhaura Tanda
		14. Shergarh
		15. Fatehganj-Pashchami
		16. Mirganj
		1. Ujhani
		2. Sahaswan
		3. Kakrala
		4. Bilsa
		5. Bisauli
		6. Islamnagar
		7. Mundia
		8. Dataganj
		9. Alapur
		10. Usehat
		11. Gunnaur
		12. Gawan
Rohilkhand	Shahjahanpur	13. Saidpur
		14. Babrala
		15. Kunwargaon
		1. Tihar
		2. Jalalabad
		3. Puwayah
		4. Katra
		5. Kant
Rohilkhand	Pilibhit	1. Bilaspur

Division	District	Town
Moradabad	Moradabad	2. Puranpur
		3. Husainpur Neoraj
		4. Bilisanda
		1. Chandausi
		2. Amroha
		3. Sambhal
		4. Hasanpur
		5. Bilan
		6. Dhanaura
		7. Behjoi
		8. Thakurdwara
		9. Kanth
		10. Kundarki
Allahabad	Rampur	11. Bechhraon
		12. Bhojpur-Dharampur
		13. Narauli
		1. Suar
		2. Bilaspur
		3. Milak
		4. Tanda
		5. Shahabad
		6. Kemri
	Bijnor	1. Dhampur
		2. Najibabad
		3. Nagina
		4. Nchaur
		5. Chandpur
		6. Afzalgarh
		7. Kiratpur
		8. Seohar
		9. Haldaur
		10. Jhalu
		11. Sahampur
		12. Bathapur
		13. Mandawar
Allahabad	Farrukhabad	14. Sahaspur
		1. Fatehgarh
		2. Kannauj
		3. Kaimganj
		4. Chhibramau
		5. Shamshabad
		6. Sekanderpur
		7. Kamaiganj
		8. Tirwaganj
		9. Talgram
		10. Gurusahaiganj
	Etawah	1. Auraiya
		2. Bharthana
		3. Jaswantnagar
		4. Phaphund
		5. Lakhana
		6. Ekdil
		7. Achhalda
		8. Dibiyaipur
		9. Bidhoona
	Fatehpur	1. Bindki

Division	District	Town
Jhansi	Jhansi	2. Khaga
		3. Kishanpur
		4. Kora Jahanabad
		1. Mauranipur
		2. Baruasagar
		3. Samthar
		4. Ranipur
		5. Gursara
		6. Moth
		7. Chirgaon
	Lalitpur	8. Katera
		9. Erich
		1. Talbehat
		2. Mahroni
		3. [REDACTED]
		1. Chitrakut Dham
		2. Attarra
		3. Naraini
		4. Bisanda Bujurg
		5. Baberu
	Jalaun	6. Rajapur
		7. Manikpur Sarhat
		8. Mataundh
		9. Oran
		1. Konch
		2. Jalaun
		3. Kalpi
		4. Madhogarh
		5. Kadaura
		6. Kotra
	Hamirpur	1. Mahoba
		2. Rath
		3. Maudaha
		4. Hamirpur
		5. Charkhan
		6. Sumerpur
		7. Khoreela
		8. Sarila
Varanasi	Mirzapur	1. Chunar
		2. Kacchwa
		3. Robertsganj
		4. Ghorawal
	Jaunpur	1. Mongra Badshapur
		2. Machhlishahar
		3. Maraha
		4. Kerakat
		5. Zafrabad
	Ballia	1. Baragaon
		2. Sahatwar
		3. Bansidih
		4. Bilthara Road
	Ghazipur	1. Dildarnagar — Fatehpur Bazar
		2. Bahadurganj
		3. Zamania
		4. Saidpur
		5. Sadat

Division	District	Town
Gorakhpur	Varanasi	1. Bhadohi
		2. Moghalsarai
		3. Ramnagar
		4. Gangapur
		5. Gyanpur
		6. Gopiganj
		7. Chakiya
		8. Khamaria
		9. Saiyed Raja
		10. Chandauli
	Gorakhpur	1. Nautanwa
		2. Pipraich
		3. Gola
		4. Siswa Bazar
		5. Barhalganj
		6. Munders Bazar
	Azamgarh	1. Maunath Bhanjan
		2. Mubarakpur
		3. Dohnghat
		4. Atrauli
		5. Kopaganj
		6. Phulpur
		7. Sarai Mir
		8. Nizamabad
		9. Mohammadabad
		10. Amila
Kumaon	Basti	11. Ghosi
		12. Adan
		1. Mehdawal
		2. [REDACTED]
		3. Shoharat Garh
	Deoria	1. Padrauna
		2. Gaurabarahaj
		3. Lar
		4. [REDACTED]
		5. Rampur-Karkhana
		6. Captainganj
		7. Rudrapur
		8. Sewarahi
		9. Kasyan
		10. Bhatpur-Rani
	Naini Tal	1. Haldwani-cum-Kathgodam
		2. Kashipur
		3. Ramnagar
		4. Rudrapur
		5. Jaspur
		6. Tanakpur
		7. Khalima
		8. Kala Dhuggee
		9. Bhimtal
		10. Sultanpur
Almora	Almora	11. Kichha
		12. Bazpur
		13. Sitarganj
		14. Gadarpur
		1. Bageshwar

Division	District	Town
	Pithoragarh	1. Dharchula 2. Dedechat 3. Champawat
Garhwal	Garhwal	1. Kotdwara 2. Pauri 3. Srinagar 4. Dogadda 5. Rudra-Prayag
	Tehri Garhwal	1. Narendranagar
	Uttar Kashi	1. Bhatwari 2. Barkot
	Dehra Dun	1. Mussoorie 2. Vikasnagar 3. Rishikesh
	Chamoli	1. Cochar
Lucknow	Unnao	1. Bangemau 2. Purwa 3. Hardarabad 4. Maurawan 5. Beeghapur 6. Bhagwantnagar 7. Safipur 8. Ugoo 9. Ganj-Moradabad 10. Fatehpur-Chaurasi 11. Ganga Ghat 12. Kursath 13. Auras 14. Nawahganj
	Sitapur	1. Biswan 2. Neemsar Misrikh 3. Khairabad 4. Laharpur 5. Maholi 6. Mahmudabad 7. Paitapur 8. Tambaur-cum-Ahmedabad
	Hardoi	1. Shahabad 2. Sandila 3. Sandi 4. Pihani 5. Bilgram 6. Madhoganj 7. Mallawan 8. Kachauna Patsain 9. Pali 10. Beniganj 11. Gopamau
	Rai Bareilly	1. Dalmau 2. Lalganj 3. Mahrajanj 4. Bachhrawan 5. Jais 6. Salon
	Kheri	1. Kheri 2. Golagokaran Nath

Division	District	Town
Faizabad	Lucknow	3. Mohammadi
		4. Palia
		5. Dhaurehra
		6. Od Dhakna
		7. Singhai Bhirauna
		1. Malihabad
		2. Kalori
	Faizabad	3. Amethi
		4. Gosainganj
		1. Tanda
		2. Akbarpur
		3. Bikapur
		4. Jalalpur
	Bahraich	5. Goshaganj
		6. Bhadarsa
		1. Ikauna
		2. Jarwal
	Gonda	1. Balrampur
		2. Nawabganj
		3. Colonelganj
		4. Katra
		5. Khargoopur
		6. Mankapur
	Sultanpur	7. Pach Perwa
		1. Amethi
		2. Koenpur
		3. Dostpur
	Pratapgarh	1. Pratapgarh City
		2. Katamedniganj
		3. Manikpur
		4. Kunda
	Bara Banki	1. Nawabganj
		2. Dewa
		3. Fatehpur
		4. Tikait Nagar
		5. Daryabad
		6. Satikh
		7. Zaidpur
		8. Ramnagar

—U.P. Govt. Gaz., 30-4-1977, Ext., p. 10 (No. 215-Kha)

Headquarters of New Okhla Industrial Development Authority i.e. Noida Complex in District Ghaziabad
—U.P. Gaz., 24-10-1981, Pt. 4(अ), Ext., p. 2

Provisions of S. 58 extended to the Union Territory of Chandigarh — Chd. Admn. Gaz., 18-12-1980
Ext., p. 446.

Cooch-Bihar — Cal. Ga., 14-8-1969, Pt. I, p. 1434:

- (1) Haldia Port — Midnapore
- (2) Bolpur — Birbhum
- (3) Kalyani — Nadia
- (4) Memari — Burdwan
- (5) Pandooah — Hooghly
- (6) Boinchce — Hooghly
- (7) Barulpore 24 Parganas
- (8) Baduria — 24 Parganas
- (9) Kanchrapara — 24 Parganas
- (10) Habra — 24 Parganas

- (11) Khardah — 24 Parganas
- (12) Gosaba — 24 Parganas
- (13) Naihati — 24 Parganas
- (14) Kakdwip — 24 Parganas
- (15) Conning — 24 Parganas
- (16) Nimpith — 24 Parganas
- (17) Hamiltonganj — Jalpaiguri
- (18) Falakata — Jalpaiguri
- (19) Dhupguri — Jalpaiguri
- (20) Changrabandha — Cooch Behar
- (21) Khagrabari — Cooch Behar
- (22) Bijanbari — Cooch Behar
- (23) Sukiapokhri — Cooch Behar
- (24) Raiganj — West Dinajpur
- (25) Kaliaganj — West Dinajpur
- (26) Harishchandrapur — Malda
- (27) Gazole — Malda
- (28) Samsi — Malda
- (29) Chachol — Malda
- (30) Ajodhya — Howrah
- (31) Bauria — Howrah
- (32) Donjur — Howrah
- (33) Liluah — Howrah
- (34) Belur — Howrah

—Cal Gaz., 8-6-1978, Pt. I, p. 1192.

—Panji, Mapusa, Margao and Vasco of Union Territory of Goa, Daman and Diu (Goa in view of State).

—Goa Gaz., 18-4-1974, Series 1, No. 3, P. 22.

—Latur, Jalna, Gadchiroli and Kudal in Maharashtra.

—Mah. Govt. Gaz., 15-10-1987, Pt. III-B, p. 797.

(Note— The list of the names of the towns given above is not exhaustive — Ed.)

[G] The words "Governor General in Council" were successively amended by A.O., 1937 and A.L.O., 1950 to read as above.

Synopsis

1. Amendments under Act XX of 1929.
2. Mortgage — General.
3. The Punjab and other States.
4. Mortgage is a transfer of an interest in immovable property.
5. Sub-mortgages.
6. Agreement to grant or accept a mortgage.
7. Subsequent mortgage in lieu of earlier mortgage, found invalid — Revival of earlier mortgage.
8. Muhammadan widow's possession in lieu of dower.
9. Specific immovable property.
10. Mortgage and pledge of future property.
11. Mortgage of moveables.
12. "For the purpose of securing the payment of money."
13. "Existing or future debt."
14. "Or the performance of an engagement."
15. "Mortgagor."
16. "Mortgagee."
17. Mortgage-money.
18. Non-payment of consideration — Effect.
19. Mortgage without title — Subsequent acquisition — Principle of making good.
20. Mortgage by person having voidable title.

21. Mortgage by co-owners.
22. Mortgage by pardanashin women.
23. Mortgage by beneficiary under trust.
24. Mortgage by person incompetent to contract.
25. Mortgage by one person when binding on another.
26. Mortgage in favour of minor.
27. Simple mortgage.
28. Possession remains with the mortgagor.
29. Mortgagor binds himself personally to pay.
30. "Mortgagee shall have a right to cause the mortgaged property to be sold."
31. Mortgage by conditional sale.
 - (A) Legislative history.
 - (B) Ostensible sales.
 - (C) Personal liability.
 - (D) "On default of payment of mortgage-money on a certain date."
32. Distinction between mortgage by conditional sale and a sale with a clause for re-purchase.
33. Sale or mortgage — Tests of distinction.
 - (A) Effect of the proviso.
 - (B) Dekkhan Agriculturals' Relief Act.
 - (C) U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1951).
34. Mortgage by conditional sale or other kinds of mortgage.
35. Usufructuary mortgage.
 - (A) Delivery of possession.
 - (B) Appropriation of rents and profits.
 - (C) Absence of personal liability.
 - (D) Time limit for redemption.
 - (E) Distinction between usufructuary mortgage and lease. See S. 105, Note 67).
36. Zuripeshgi lease.
37. Kanom and otti.
- 37A. Lekha mukhi mortgage.
- 37B. Chitham mortgage.
- 37C. Valantar mortgage.
- 37D. Pukhta Maurusi Tenant.
38. English mortgage.
 - (A) Personal liability.
 - (B) Absolute transfer.
 - (C) Proviso for reconveyance.
 - (D) Possession of property.
39. Equitable mortgage.
 - (A) Delivery of documents of title.
 - (B) Scope of the security is the scope of the title.
 - (C) Delivery must be made to a creditor or his agent.
 - (D) The delivery must be with intent to create security.
 - (E) Registration.
 - (F) Remedy of the equitable mortgagee.
 - (G) Remedy of the mortgagor in equitable mortgage.
 - (H) Merger.
 - (I) Interest.
 - (J) Territory in which equitable mortgage can be made.
 - (K) Punjab and other areas.
 - (L) Simla.
 - (M) Rajasthan.
40. Anomalous mortgages.
41. Simple mortgage usufructuary.
42. Limitation to enforce mortgages

See Arts. 61, 62 and 92 of the A.I.R. Commentaries on the Limitation Act 7th (1997) Edn
43. Sale in execution of mortgage decrees and money-decrees.
44. Miscellaneous — Construction.

1. Amendments under Act XX of 1929.

- (1) The proviso to clause (c) is new. See Note 33.
- (2) The words "or expressly or by implication binds himself to deliver possession" and the words "or any part of such rents and profits and to appropriate the same" in clause (d) have been newly added. Note 35.
- (3) Clauses (f) and (g) have been newly added. The Act recognised a mortgage by deposit of title deeds in S. 59, and an anomalous mortgage in S. 98, but there was no definition of such mortgages before.

The amendments have been declared by section 63 of amending Act not to be retrospective in their operation(1).

2. Mortgage — General.

A right in another's property was known in Roman law as a jus in re aliena. To this class of rights according to Holland(1) belongs a right which is given for the subsidiary purpose of enabling the person to whom it is granted to make sure of receiving a certain value to which he is entitled, if not otherwise, then at all events by means of the right in question. This right which is known as pledge merely enables a person who is entitled to receive a definite value from another, in default of so receiving it, to realise it by eventual sale of the thing which is given to him in pledge. This right of sale is one of the component rights of ownership and is a right in rem. "The objects aimed at by the law of pledge are obviously, on the one hand, to give the creditor a security on the value of which he can rely, which he can readily turn into money, and which he can follow even in the hands of third parties, on the other hand, to leave the enjoyment of thing in the meantime to its owner and to give him every facility for disencumbering in when the debt, for which it is security, shall have been paid."(2)

These objects were attained in Roman Law by three different methods(3) :

- (1) By fiducia, involving an actual transfer of ownership in the thing from the debtor to the creditor accompanied by a condition for its retransfer upon due payment of the debt. This corresponds to English mortgages and to mortgages by conditional sale.
- (2) By pignus, in which the ownership of the thing remained with the debtor, but its possession was transferred to the creditor. This corresponds to a usufructuary mortgage.
- (3) By hypotheca, by which not merely the ownership of the thing but its possession also remained with the debtor. This corresponds to a simple mortgage.

In England the original form of mortgage in Common law seems to have been in the nature of a pignus in Roman law. Subsequently, it seems to have taken the form of a conditional sale, the condition being that on repayment, the sale determined and the land came back to the mortgagor. Later still the form became one of absolute sale on condition that the creditor will retransfer the property on payment of the money on the due date, on default of payment on the due date, the creditor became the absolute owner of the property. In the Courts of Chancery, however, this rigour of the Common law was mitigated by the rule of equity that the time fixed for repayment was not of the essence of the transaction, and that the debtor had an equity of redemption which he could exercise even after the due date had passed. After 1925 the mortgage takes the form of a lease which ceases when the money secured by it has been paid.

In this country also mortgages under various forms have been in vogue from very ancient times. A mortgage by conditional sale under various names such as katakshela or bve-bil-wufa, gahan lahan, muddatakrayam(4) and perutham, has been a very common form in use in various

Section 58 — Note 1

1. AIR 1952 All 716 (719) : ILR (1952) 2 All 200 (FB). (Proviso to S. 58(c) is not retrospective.)

Section 58 — Note 2

1. Holland, Jurisprudence, 6th Edn., page 200.
2. Holland, Jurisprudence 6th Edn. page 201. AIR 1962 Raj 12 (18) : ILR (1961) 11 Raj 76 (Transfer of Property Act not in force in Marwar when transaction took place — No prohibition against making oral mortgage of immovable property — 1940 MLR 299 (Civil), Foll.)
3. Holland, Jurisprudence, 6th Edn., pages 201, 202, 203.
4. (1906) 29 Mad 531 (533) (DB) (A document described as "meddatu kravan" which is defined as "land, mortgaged with option to the lender to consider it as his property if the parts of India. Usufructuary mortgages were also prevalent under various names such as bhogyam swadina adamanam, kanom, otti Bhagbandak, khai khalari, rehan(5) or bandaknamia. So also were simple mortgages under the names of adamanam, dhristabandaka, tanaka(6) panayam, tarangahan, arh, mushtagraq, or bhandaki Khai. The English mortgage came to be used, in the Presidency Towns, and by Europeans after the British advent in this Country. In the Bombay Presidency, the general though not an invariable rule among Hindus and Muhammadans was that it was deemed essential in order to complete a transfer by mortgage, to transfer possession to the grantee (7). Certain exceptions were, however, recognised (8). A Kanom in Malabar has got incidents of a usufructuary mortgage and a lean. Even though document is styled as Kanom it has to be considered and treated as a mortgages in some cases and as a lean in other cases. A Kanom and mortgage with possession have many features in common and only way to decide is to find out the object in which transaction was entered viz. whether transfer was of right to enjoy or as security for payment.(9) The essential characteristics of a mortgage under the section are the following

- (1) There is a transfer of an interest in specific immovable property and
- (2) the object of the transfer is to secure the payment of a loan or debt or the performance of an engagement giving rise to a pecuniary liability(10)

If both these essentials are present, the transaction is a mortgage irrespective of its form (11) mortgage is not redeemed within a stipulated period" seems to fall under the first kind of mortgage by conditional sale specified in the section. The mere use of the word "medidatu krayan" in a document is not, however, conclusive.)

5. AIR 1915 All 142 (142) (DB)

(See also 1962 Mys LJ (Supp) 534 (538) (DB) (Mysore T P Act S. 58) — Case before addition of explanation — Two documents together, constituting single transaction of mortgage by conditional sale — Both the documents must be registered before transaction can be held to be valid and enforceable.)

6. AIR 1919 Mad 1117 (1121) (DB) (The word 'tanaka' occurring in a document evidencing a loan means a mortgage and not merely an assignment of land revenue)  AIR 1914 Mad 306 (306) (DB) (Tanaka is a phrase commonly used and perfectly well understood by the people of the Ganjam District as meaning a mortgage and in no other sense.)

[But see (1913) 19 Ind Cas 221 (221) (DB) Mad) (The words "I and my heirs with all my property movable and immovable as tanaka shall be liable" are not enough to create a charge or a mortgage.)]

7. (1882) 6 Bom 490 (493) (DB)  (1877) 2 Bom 299 (311-319) (DB) (Case of a sale, but observations are general.)

[See also (1872) 9 Bom HCR 275 (277-278) (DB)  (1872) 9 Bom HCR 364 (306) (DB).]

8. (1882) 6 Bom 193 (200, 201) (FB) (Delivery of possession is not necessary in the case of a san mortgage in Gujarat)  (1882) 6 Bom 538 (540) (FB). (Do)  (1881) 6 Bom 168 (176, 177, 178) (FB). (The exceptions are set out in detail)  (1896) 20 Bom 158 (163) (DB) (San mortgage in Gujarat)  (1870) 7 Bom HCR (AC) 24 (26) (DB) (Do)

[See also (1874) 11 Bom HCR 41 (42) (DB) (Rule of Hindu law that a mortgage with possession takes precedence over a mortgage of a prior date unaccompanied by possession is not applicable in Gujarat.)]

9. AIR 1970 Ker 16 : 1969 Ker LT 62 (FB).

10. AIR 1965 Mys 54 (59) : ILR (1964) Mys 545 (FB).

[See AIR 1960 SC 1030 (1032) : ILR (1960) 2 Punj 555. (Loan or debt to secure which mortgage is created remains pecuniary liability of the person creating it — Therefore mortgage debt would be covered by definition of 'debt' in S. 2(6), Displaced Persons (Debts Adjustment) Act.)]

11. AIR 1965 Mys 54 (59) : ILR (1964) Mys 545 (FB). (Need for document — nature of

If one or the other of the said essentials is lacking the transaction is not a mortgage(12).

It has been the consistent view of the Allahabad High Court that usufructuary mortgage of an occupancy holding is not valid as a mortgage with all its incidents and subject to the provision of law relating to usufructuary mortgage but is valid in only qualified sense i.e. in the sense of sub-letting with a covenant that the mortgagor will not be entitled to recover possession without payment of the mortgage money and further that under such a mortgage there is no transfer of the right of occupancy tenant and consequently no suit for redemption was maintainable. The view that a usufructuary mortgage by an occupancy tenant was not valid in the eye of law has been accepted by the legislature in Cl. (d) of S. 21(1) of U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1951. Since the matter stands concluded by the doctrine of stare decisis the Supreme Court did not find it proper to upset the same.(13)

The fact that a transaction which satisfied the requirements of cl (a) of this section has not been effected by a registered instrument as required by S. 59 cannot detract from its character of being mortgage. The question as to what is a mortgage is dealt with only by this section and not by S. 59 which deals only with the mode of validity effecting a mortgage. Hence while determining whether a transaction is a mortgage or not it is not permissible to combine both these sections and read them as constituting a single definition of a mortgage and hold the transaction to be not a mortgage solely because it has not been effected by a registered instrument(14).

The document in instant case recited that the executant had received certain amount and had handed over possession of property to opposite party. The executant was to bear municipal taxes etc. The period of mortgage was 5 years before which it could not be redeemed. It was stipulated between the parties to execute registered deed. Held, that the document was an unregistered mortgage deed and not an agreement to execute mortgage deed in future.(15) However, where deed was unregistered and it was not clear when mortgage loan was not taken, what was rate of interest, what were the other terms, who was the mortgagor and who was mortgagee, the document would not be sufficient to create any mortgage or charge on suit lands(16).

Credit facility was given by a financial institution to a company against its agreeing to mort-recitals, stamp registration etc., are matters which bear upon mode of executing mortgage and are not essential ingredients of mortgage.)  AIR 1942 Cal 55 (57) (DB)  AIR 1917 Mad 368 (370) (DB).

[See also AIR 1915 Mad 382 (383) (DB).]

12. AIR 1981 Bom 335 (337, 338) 1980 Mah LJ 263 (Held, transaction in instant case was lease and not mortgage)  1979 Mah LJ 438 (LR (1981) Bom 1273 (1290, 1291, 1292). (Document called "Patte-Khat" held was not mortgage as the transfer was not as a security for the debt)  (1962) 40 Mys LJ 669 (670)  (1900) 2 Bom LR 215 (217) (DB). (Where there is no transfer of an interest, transaction is not mortgage)

[See AIR 1916 Mad 1219 (1219) (DB) (A security bond, after reciting an order of the Court, stated that "we have for a sum not exceeding Rs. 300 made over properties mentioned below as security" — Held, that the document did not transfer any interest in the property nor was there any existing or future debt or an agreement which might give rise to a pecuniary liability — It merely created a charge.)]

[See also AIR 1963 SC 1041 (1042). (On payment of mortgage money by mortgagor mortgage ceases to exist because then no debt can be said to be due from him to mortgagee and hence no security for payment of debt can exist.)]

13. AIR 1987 SC 987 (989) : 1987 All LJ 443 : (1987) 2 SCC 482.

14. AIR 1959 J & K 64 (64) (FB).

15. AIR 1998 Guj 31 (35) : 1998 (1) Guj LR 760.

16. 2002 (1) MPHT 529 (532).

gage immovable property. Resolution was also passed accordingly in the Board's meeting of the company. However, the Company neither mortgaged the property nor register the charge with the Registrar of the Companies though it availed of credit facility. The company went into liquidation. Held, that the undertakings given by the company did not amount to mortgage or charge attracting S. 125 of the Companies Act and became void against the Liquidator (17).

It has been held in the undermentioned case (18) that it is possible to create a mortgage merely by operation of law, apart from what is provided for in the Transfer of Property Act. Such a legal mortgage is not to be confounded with the conventional mortgages which could arise only out of the voluntary consent of the parties. The law attached to certain obligations in the case of legal mortgages a charge on the debtor's property with the same incidents as a consensual security.

A mortgage under the T P Act can be created by a living person. Court is not a living person within the meaning of the T P Act. Thus a self-liquidating usufructuary mortgage created by the Collector under Section 17 of the U P Debt Redemption Act is not a mortgage (19).

Mortgage by owners in respect of loan advanced to person having no interest in mortgage property is contemplated by S. 58 (20).

"Undertaking affidavit" executed by successful bidder of a Chit Fund for securing repayment of prized chit amount received by the bidder creating charge over a property amounts to transfer of interest in immovable property and is a mortgage (21).

The definition of "transfer of property" in S. 5 of "mortgage" in this section makes no reference to the locus to which the property belongs. Hence, a mortgage deed cannot be challenged on the mere ground that a part of the property embraced by it was outside India (22).

Mortgage being a creature of contract cannot be brought into existence by prescription (23). However, it was held in the instant case by M P High Court (24) that even if the mortgage was illegal at its inception, where the mortgagee remains in possession of the mortgaged property for a period of 12 years, a valid mortgage comes into existence after the expiry of 12 years period of confirming in possession.

Definition under Stamp Act compared :

Section 2(17) of the Stamp Act provides as follows :

" 'Mortgage deed' includes every instrument whereby, for the purpose of securing money advanced, or to be advanced, by way of loan, or an existing or future debt, or the performance of an engagement, one person transfers, or creates, to, or in favour of, another, a right over or in respect of specified property."

17. 2000 CLC 704 (711) (Cal)

18. AIR 1955 Trav-Co 130 (131, 132) (DB). (Where, at a time when the T P Act was not in force in Travancore, the decree in a suit for recovery of property and mesne profits allowed the defendant to retain possession till she got the amount that was declared to be due to her or to surrender possession of the property and to claim the amount with interest and further she was also allowed to appropriate the profits from the property till she was paid her amount or till she surrendered possession of the property and claimed the amount with interest thereafter, it was held that a mortgage was created on which the plaintiff could file a suit for redemption — Ghose on the Law of Mortgage in India, Vol. 1, page 14, Ref.)

[But see ILR (1959) Ker 1147 (1182) 1959 KLT 956 (Overruled on another point in ILR (1960) Ker 475.)]

19. 1968 All WR (HC) 696 (DB).

20. (1977) 81 Cal WN 300 (306) ILR (1977) 2 Cal 607 (DB)

21. AIR 1979 Mad 282 : (1979) 2 Mad LJ 170 (SB).

22. AIR 1951 All 462 (463) : ILR (1951) 2 All 703 (DB).

23. AIR 1938 Pat 479 (480) (DB). (Mortgagee rights, therefore, cannot be prescribed.)

24. AIR 1999 Madh Pra 86 (88) : 1999 (2) MPLJ 31.

This definition is more extensive than the definition in this section in the following respects .

(1) It includes movable property.

(2) The engagement referred to therein is not limited to one which may give rise to a pecuniary liability.

(3) It is not limited to cases where there is a "transfer" of an interest in immovable property.

Thus, a mortgage deed under the Stamp Act will include an instrument whereby only a charge is created and no transfer of an interest in property is effected(25).

It is not the name that is given to a document that matters. If really a document operates to create rights of the nature contemplated by S 2(17), in favour of persons who advance money, clearly the document is a mortgage(26).

Where the plaintiff filed suit for recovery of mortgaged amount by sale of mortgaged property and who prayed for personal decree, but the mortgage was found to be in contravention of statutory provisions, the passing of simple money decree on ground of personal covenant for repayment of debt is valid and legal. Primary consideration in such transactions is the way of security in favour of mortgagee (27). Under S 8, a transfer of property passes forthwith to the transferee all the interest which the transferor is then capable of passing in the property and the legal incidents thereof. Where a mortgaged property is sold, the mortgagor-vendor is capable of passing in the property only that right of ownership subject to the encumbrance already created, if any fraud has been created by the vendor and the mortgagee has nothing to do with it, it cannot be said that the mortgage created or taken by him is invalid for any purpose. The remedy of the purchaser can only be against the vendors, if they had misrepresented the purchaser.(28) Where the findings of fact as to interpreting the document to be a mortgage, recorded by the lower appellate Court on the basis of as many as seven surrounding circumstances was neither perverse nor against record, it was not liable to be interfered with under S 100, C.P.C.(29) Where a party executed sale deed of immovable property in favour of the creditor for securing loan, an agreement to reconvey was embodied in separate document and simultaneously a rent deed mentioning interest payable as rent payable by borrowers was also executed, held, that these transactions did not amount to creating mortgage but amounted to loan within meaning of the Hyderabad Money Lenders Act (30) In a suit for redemption of mortgage the defendant pleaded that he was in possession of the suit shop as a tenant, that the mortgage was a sham transaction and therefore the suit itself was not maintainable. However, no cogent evidence to prove the allegation of intention to create tenancy was adduced. The mortgage deed was registered. There was no evidence to create doubt about its genuineness and authenticity. Thus the plaintiff was entitled to decree for redemption of suit.(31)

3. The Punjab and other States.

Though the Transfer of Property Act is not in force in the Punjab, the definitions of the various kinds of mortgages given in it have always been accepted as correctly describing their

25. AIR 1978 All 443 (445) (SB)  AIR 1968 Andh Pra 213 (216) (FB). (There is no warrant for the importation of the requirements of either the TP Act or the Registration Act, to construe documents or instruments under the Stamp Act as the latter Act itself specifically defines the terms used therein — The Stamp Act does not require a valid mortgage deed (i.e., a valid transfer in law) as contemplated under S 59, TP Act — Under Stamp Act what is sought to be defined is only a mortgage deed — AIR 1953 Mad 764, Diss. from)

26. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 650 (651) : ILR (1959) Andh Pra 495 (SB).

27. AIR 1998 Madh Pra 73 (74) : 1998 (2) MPLJ 195.

28. 1996 CTC 653 (656) (Mad)

29. 1996 AIHC 3493 (3497) (All) : 1996 All CJ 42.

30. 1997 AIHC 135 (139) : 1996 (3) Andh LT 257

31. 1999 AIHC 1055 (1057) : 1998 (119) Pun LR 68

essential ingredients and incidents (1) But the definition will not be applied without taking into consideration the particular circumstances of the case. Where by S. 16 of the Punjab Alienation of Land Act, 1900, the mortgaged property could not be brought to sale by the Civil Court, the definition under cl. (b) of the present section was not applied to a simple mortgage so as to give the mortgagee a right of sale through Court (2)

Oral mortgages in villages are not uncommon and the mortgagee is satisfied when entry in revenue record is made in his favour (3)

The proviso to S. 58(c) is merely a technical rule as to proof and there is nothing in it in accord with equity, justice and good conscience and that being so, it is not applicable to the Punjab (4)

The Transfer of Property Act had no statutory force in the erstwhile Travancore State. Nevertheless the Courts there were freely following many of the principles laid down in that Act. The conditions laid down in Section 58(c) of the T P Act which defines a mortgage by conditional sale can be applied to the transaction in dispute to find out whether it was really a mortgage by conditional sale (5).

As the rules prevalent in the erstwhile Seraikella State were not inconsistent with the T P Act the principles of the Act were applied in the matter of redemption of mortgage (6)

Where the text of deed showed that

- (i) the deed did not create, expressly or by implication, the relationship of debtor and creditor, nor was the amount paid by the transferee to the transferor made a charge on property;
- (ii) there was no provision in the deed in regard to interest,
- (iii) possession of the land was handed over to the transferee and municipal taxes were made payable by the transferee;
- (iv) a period is stipulated within which the transferor may repurchase land after making payment of the amount for which it was originally transferred, and the statement in the deed that if the amount was not paid within the stipulated period the deed was to be treated as permanent sale deed, Held that such a deed was not a deed of mortgage by

Section 58 — Note 3

1. AIR 1940 Lah 401 (403) : ILR (1941) Lah 71 (FB)  AIR 1932 Lah 465 (466) : 13 Lah 660 (FB) (Though the Act is not in force in the Punjab, the definition of mortgage contained in S. 58, is uniformly and unreservedly adopted by the Courts in this province.) AIR 1916 Lah 155 (FB) Rel. on  AIR 1916 Lah 155 (156) 1916 Pun Re No. 53 (FB)  AIR 1936 Pesh 43 (45) (DB) (N W F P)  AIR 1933 Lah 151 (152) (DB) (Definition of usufructuary mortgage as given in S. 58(d) applied)
2. AIR 1941 Lah 274 (276) (DB)
3. 1978 Pun LJ 117 (117)  1978 Rev LR 337
4. AIR 1964 Punj 81 (82) (DB)  AIR 1960 Punj 444 (445) ILR (1960), 2 Punj 741 (DB)  (1946) 48 Pun LR 517 (518) (DB).
5. AIR 1970 Ker 81 (84, 85) : 1969 Ker LT 338 (DB)
6. AIR 1981 Pat 215 (218-219) (DB) (Under a document executed in 1933 in the erstwhile Seraikella State, a loan was to be re-paid with interest within a stipulated time failing which the lender, the relative of the borrower, was to have the property in question after paying dues and as per procedure prevailing in the State and the lender got his name mutated. The document read with mutation order showed that the mutation was for collection of rents alone, and not for creating title in favour of the lender. Following the principles of T P Act, it was held that the lender was a mortgagee and the borrower was entitled to redeem the mortgage.)

way of conditional sale, is an outright sale, with a condition of repurchase(7).

4. Mortgage is a transfer of an interest in immovable property.

In England a mortgage debt is a chose in action but the mortgagee is treated as having an interest in the mortgaged property and priorities are governed by the rules applicable to interests in land and not by the rules which apply to interest in personality(1). Under the present Act a mortgage debt is not an actionable claim. It is the transfer of an interest in immovable property(2). The owner of the bundle of rights transfers some of those rights to the mortgagee and the remainder of them still remain with him (3). A mortgage cannot be conceived of without a transfer of property to be mortgaged. It is not a mere promise to perform any act but it contemplates transfer of property in praesenti in favour of mortgagee (4). This distinguishes it from a sale which is a transfer of ownership, that is, all the interests in the immovable property(5). The interests referred to in this section thus has refer-

7. AIR 1982 Bom 437 (439) : 1982 Mah LJ 538.

Section 58 — Note 4

1. (1901) 70 LJ Ch 477 (484) (1901) 2 Ch 231, Taylor v London and County Banking Company.

[See also (1804) 32 ER 659 (661) 9 Ves 407 (410), Jones v Gibbons]

2. AIR 1981 SC 981 (987) : 1981 UJ (SC) 641  AIR 1964 Pat 193 (196) (DB)  AIR 1963 Andh Pra 489 (490) ILR (1964) Andh Pra 832 (DB) (AIR 1963 Andh Pra 239, Reversed)  ILR (1959) Ker 1147 (1152) (Overruled on another point in ILR (1960) Ker 475)  AIR 1960 Pat 196 (198) 37 Pat 1465 (DB)  AIR 1959 Pat 153 (155) : 37 Pat 1577 (FB)  AIR 1952 Bom 454 (455, 457) ILR (1952) Bom 1090 (DB)  AIR 1951 Pat 327 (328) (DB)  AIR 1949 Lah 264 (265)  AIR 1938 All 564 (566) (DB)  AIR 1938 Pat 16 (17) (DB) (Mortgage of right to recover rent from tenant)  AIR 1938 Rang 461 (462) (Hence cannot be transferred for consideration by the endorsement of the promote together with the making over of title deeds)  AIR 1936 Rang 152 (155) (DB)  AIR 1947 All 27 (29, 30) : ILR (1946) All 883 (FB). (Mortgage is merely transfer of an interest in specific immovable property and not absolute transfer. Mortgaged property cannot be described as property "in the hands" of the mortgagee within the meaning of S. 6 of U P Temporary Postponement of Execution of Decrees Act, 1937)  (1901) 29 Cal 1 (6) (FB)  AIR 1931 Cal 223 (227) 58 Cal 136 (DB)  AIR 1918 Cal 411 (412, 413) (DB)  (1909) 36 Cal 665 (668) (DB) (Rents and profits derivable from a hat are immovable property and can be validly mortgaged)  (1883) 9 Cal 511 (512) (DB)  (1912) 34 All 273 (276) (DB) (It is not a mere contract.)

[See also ILR (1954) 1 All 563 (571) (DB) (A bare licence confers merely a personal right and does not transfer an interest in the property. On the other hand a lease or a mortgage transfers an interest in the property itself)  AIR 1916 Cal 714 (717) (DB)  (1897) 2 Cal WN 29 (31) (DB) (Creation of a mortgage gives certain rights to the mortgagee over the mortgaged property but it does not necessarily prevent third parties from dealing with the mortgagor still as the owner of the property nor is the mortgagee entitled in every case to ignore the rights arising out of such dealings in favour of third parties)]

3. AIR 1963 Andh Pra 489 (490)  ILR (1964) Andh Pra 832 (DB) (AIR 1963 Andh Pra 239, Reversed.)  AIR 1952 Pat 469 (471) (DB).

[See also AIR 1939 All 369 (372) (DB). (Mortgage is a transfer of the proprietary rights in a case where the mortgagor is the owner of such proprietary rights and makes a mortgage of them.)]

4. (1977) 81 Cal WN 300 (306) ILR (1977) 2 Cal 607 (DB) (In instant case held that the transaction was a simple mortgage as it satisfied the requirements of S. 58(a) and (b))
5. AIR 1964 Pat 193 (196) (DB)  AIR 1960 Punj 444 (447, 448) ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (DB).

[See also AIR 1959 Pat 153 (155) : 37 Pat 1577 (FB). (Sale by mortgagor of immovable property usufructuarly mortgaged is sale of tangible immovable property — ILR 24 Mad

ence to interest less than ownership which continues with the mortgagor. The interests transferred in the several classes of mortgages are, however, not identical(6)

Hypothecation of property does not create any bar in execution of agreement of sell of the same property. In hypothecation title of the property is not transferred to mortgagee, moreover in the instant case the purchaser had no knowledge of hypothecation(7)

In this connection, the following must be noted. The ownership of property is a right which is distinct from the possession of it. Where a lease is granted, it is the right to possession that is transferred. This also amounts to the transfer of an interest in the immovable property. But the interest transferred in such a case is of a kind different from the interest that is transferred when a property is mortgaged. The distinction is this. Where a lease is granted, the transfer does not affect the ownership of the property. It is only the right to possession that is transferred. But where a property is mortgaged the ownership of the property is affected. Though the ownership continues to be vested in the mortgagor it is subject to the interest created in favour of the mortgagee. Even where the mortgagee is entitled to possession as under a usufructuary mortgage, it is not a mere right of possession that is transferred to the mortgagee. An interest in that aspect of the mortgagor's right which falls under the category of ownership is also transferred to the mortgagee. (See S. 105. Notes 6 and 67.)

This characteristic of a mortgage, namely, that it is the transfer of an interest in immovable property distinguishes it from a charge, which is a security of property without any transfer of any interest therein (8). But though there is no transfer of an interest, the right is more than a personal

449 (463) and AIR 1919 Cal 325. Sulaiman A C J. in AIR 1928 All 726 (FB). Ram Lubbhaya J. in AIR 1950 Assam 107. Dissented from.  AIR 1954 Pat 326 (329) (DB). (A usufructuary mortgagee therefore is not a proprietor within the meaning of Bihar Tenancy Act, S. 3(2).)

6. AIR 1936 Rang 290 (291). 14 Rang 292 (DB). (Simple mortgage and mortgage by deposit of title deeds — Neither right to possession nor right to rents and profits are parts of interest transferred in absence of agreement to contrary.)

7. AIR 2001 All 224; 2001 All LJ 1743; 2001 (1) All CJ 665

8. AIR 1970 SC 1041 (1055, 1056). (1970) 1 SCJ 487. (A charge creates only a right of payment out of the specified property but a mortgage effectuates a transfer of interest in the property.)  AIR 1971 Pat 27 (30). 1970 BIJR 481 (DB).  1965 All LJ 1104 (1107).  AIR 1964 Bom 1 (3). ILR (1963) Bom 509 (DB). (Subsequent mortgage of property for consideration and without notice of prior charge created over said property prevails — Such mortgage is transfer of property in hands of mortgagee.)  AIR 1962 Cal 2 (16). ILR 1961 2 Cal 558 (DB).  (1956, 60) Cal WN 988-991.  AIR 1943 Pesh 24 (26) (DB).  AIR 1941 Cal 436 (440-441). (A borrowing sum from B and mortgaging certain properties — Consent decree creating charge in favour of C on same properties — Further advance by B to A secured by instrument called further charge — Instrument incorporating provision in first mortgage regarding transfer of property to mortgagee amounts to mortgage.)  AIR 1941 Lah 274 (275) (DB).  AIR 1936 Nag 125 (127). ILR (1936) Nag 22 (DB).  AIR 1936 Oudh 196 (200) (DB).  AIR 1935 Al 150 (151).  AIR 1930 All 375 (376).  AIR 1929 All 281 (285). 50 All 612 (DB).  AIR 1922 Pat 529 (532). 1 Pat 387 (DB).  AIR 1918 Cal 194 (196) (DB).

Also see Section 100, Note 13.  AIR 1915 Cal 478 (480). 42 Cal 625 (DB).  (1908) 35 Cal 837 (843, 844) (DB). (The difficulty that arises in cases of lien created by parties especially for payment of debts must be solved in each case from the terms and expressions used in the instruments creating them and formalities actually observed in execution — If an instrument is expressly stated to be a mortgage and gives the power of realisation of the mortgage money by sale of the mortgaged premises it should be held to be a mortgage — The fact that the necessary formalities of due execution were wanting would not convert the mortgage into a charge — If, on the other hand, the instrument is not on the face of it a mortgage, but simply creates a lien, or directs the realization of money from a obligation being a right to payment out of a particular fund or property (9) Thus a document which gives immovable property as security for the satisfaction of a debt, or for payment in future of a sum, without transferring any interest therein, merely constitutes a charge on the property and is not a mortgage (10) Where A having already mortgaged his land with possession to the mortgagee took a further advance on the security of the land already mortgaged on the same conditions as the original mortgage, it was held that the transaction did not amount to a fresh mortgage but that it created only a charge. (11) But if the new transaction purports to cancel the earlier one, or contains condition substantially different from those contained in the original mortgage, or an additional area of land is included in this security, the transaction may amount to a fresh mortgage as evidencing an intention to transfer an interest in property and not merely to create a security (12) Where subsequent to the execution of a usufructuary mortgage the mortgagor agreed to allow the mortgagee to remain in possession of the mortgaged property for an additional period in lieu of interest on the new debt incurred subsequent to the mortgage, it was held that the subsequent contract did not amount to a mere charge but amounted to an additional usufructuary mortgage (13) The right of substituted security whether on equitable grounds or under an agreement is a right to a security and would be a charge and cannot be considered to be a mortgage (14) In Hunter v Abdul Ali (15), the distinction between a mortgage and a charge was stated as follows

"In the case of a charge there is no transfer of any interest in the property in favour of the charge holder as in the case of a mortgage. A charge is merely a security for payment of money to be enforced against the property charged. Thus, from the very nature of it, as a general rule, a charge cannot be enforced against a transferee for consideration without notice. In fact this constitutes an essential distinction between a mortgage and a charge. As in the case of a mortgage there is a transfer of interest a transferee of the mortgaged property can acquire only the remaining interest of the mortgagor and is therefore bound by the mortgage. But in the case of a charge, there being no transfer of interest, it cannot ordinarily be enforced against a transferee for value without notice."

particular property without reference to sale, it creates a charge)  (1906) 33 Cal 985 (992) (DB) (To constitute a mortgage not only should the payment of money be secured on land but some interest in specific immovable property should be transferred — A mortgagee can follow the property in any case, but one who holds a charge can follow the property in the hands of a transferee with notice)  (1905) 9 Cal WN 1001 (1002) (DB)  (1890) 13 All 28 (44) (DB)

[See however AIR 1941 All 345 (349, 351) : ILR (1941) All 691 (FB), (Case under the Electricity Act, 1910, S. 9(2).)  AIR 1914 Nag 32 (34) 10 Nag LR 81.]

9. AIR 1936 Lah 482 (484) (DB)  AIR 1926 Mad 903 (904)  AIR 1921 Mad 514 (515) (DB).

[See also AIR 1937 Lah 35 (37) : 17 Lah 659 (DB).]

10. AIR 1919 PC 55 (56) : 42 All 158 (164)  AIR 1932 Lah 465 (466) : 13 Lah 660 (FB), (AIR 1921 Mad 514, Foll.)  AIR 1921 Mad 514 (515) (DB)  AIR 1914 All 187 (188) 36 All 201 (DB)

11. AIR 1932 Lah 465 (466) : 13 Lah 660 (FB), (Such a transaction does not amount to a fresh alienation of an interest in the land so as to attract the Punjab Alienation of Land Act — All that was done was that mortgagor took a further advance on the security of the land already mortgaged.)  AIR 1943 Pesh 24 (26) (DB) (The provisions of the Punjab Alienation of Land Act are therefore not attracted.)

12. AIR 1932 Lah 465 (467) : 13 Lah 660 (FB)  AIR 1943 Pesh 24 (27) (DB)

13. AIR 1952 Hyd 5 (6) : ILR (1952) Hyd 351.

14. ILR (1957) Punj 79 (84) (DB).

15. AIR 1932 Oudh 336 (340) 8 Luck 168 (DB) (This was approved in AIR 1937 Oudh 35 (FB))

See also the undermentioned cases to the same effect(16)

It may also be noted that a charge is not, like a mortgage, subject to redemption or foreclosure.(17) See also S. 100, Note 15.

A mere undertaking by the borrower of money that he will not alienate his property until the loan is paid does not transfer any interest in the property to the creditor and a document merely containing such an undertaking is therefore, not a mortgage (18) But where a covenant not to alienate is associated with words expressly making property a security for the debt, there may be a transfer of an interest constituting a mortgage(19) Whether there is a transfer of an interest depends upon the intention of the parties gathered from the document as a whole (20) It is not necessary that there should be a formal transfer of interest in so many words (21) Where a bond provided for repayment of a debt and stated 'as collateral security I mortgage 23 bighas' etc. but there was no express transfer of any interest it was held that it was a mortgage (22) Where the true nature of the contract between the parties is one of a charge, the erroneous belief of the parties that they had created a simple mortgage would not affect such true nature of the document (23) The word "tarain" is ordinarily understood to signify a charge rather than a mortgage (24) Where A and B executed a mortgage to X and subsequently A borrowed a further sum of money from X and executed a further deed stating that until the latter sum was paid he was not entitled to redeem the earlier mortgage, it was held that the deed was a mortgage, that there was a transfer of an interest by way of security and that explicit and express transfer of an interest was not necessary (25) A executed a mortgage in favour of B, C and D. On a partition between B, C and D the mortgage fell to the share of D. A subsequently executed an instrument in favour of D recognizing D as the sole mortgagee, raising the

16. (1956) 60 Cal WN 988 (991)  ILR (1948) 1 Cal 492 (498)  (1940) 188 Ind Cas 669 (672) (DB) (Mortgage as distinguished from charge is a ius in rem and holds good against subsequent transferees even without notice.)

17. AIR 1933 All 934 (938) (DB)  (1866) 147 RR 129 (132) 35 LJ Ch 253 Earl Poulett v Hood.

18. AIR 1917 All 4 (5, 6) 39 All 244 (FB)  AIR 1917 Lah 35 (37) 17 Lah 659 (DB) (This is a charge)  (1879) 2 All 449 (450) (DB)  1878 3 Cal 336 337 338 (DB)  (1869) 1 NWP HCR 159 (160) (DB)  (1868) 3 Agra 270 (270) (DB)

[See also (1881) 7 Cal 196 (197) (DB)  (1881) 8 Cal 1 R 57 (60) (DB) (The circumstances that the judgment-debtor induced the judgment creditor from time to time to put off the sale of his property by promising that he would not sell the property to anybody else could not convert such promise into mortgage) * AIR 1934 Pat 495 (496 498) 13 Pat 620 (DB)  (1906) 33 Cal 985 (992) (DB) (Clause against alienation is needless in a deed of mortgage)  (1871) 3 NWP HCR 205 (206) (DB) (Such a stipulation though entitling the contractee to sue on breach of it, cannot be enforced by third person, an assignee of the bond)]

19. AIR 1916 Pat 11 (13) 1 Pat LJ 563 (DB)  (1871) 6 Beng LR App 14 (14) (DB)

20. (1906) 29 Mad 531 (533) (DB)  (1890) 13 All 28 (37) (DB)

21. AIR 1918 Mad 558 (560) (DB)  AIR 1915 Mad 370 (371) (DB)  AIR 1914 Mad 333 (333) (DB)  (1912) 16 Ind Cas 209 (209) (DB) (Mad)  (1911) 11 Ind Cas 629 (632) (DB) (Mad) (Nor is it necessary that there should be a statement that the mortgagee shall recover his money by sale of the property)

[See also AIR 1937 Mad 148 (149).]

22. (1905) 9 Cal WN 1001 (1002) (DB).

23. AIR 1927 Sind 66 (75)  AIR 1914 Nag 32 (36) 10 Nag LR 81

24. AIR 1933 Bom 298 (300) (DB).

25. AIR 1930 PC 176 (177) 5 Luck 365 57 Ind App 173  AIR 1922 All 174 (177, 178) 44 All 37 (FB)  (1926) 96 Ind Cas 555 (557) (DB) (All) rate of interest and stipulating for an extension of the period of redemption. It was held that this was not a fresh mortgage but merely an agreement. (26) Where by a compromise between the mortgagor and the mortgagee the mortgagee released certain items from the mortgage, it was held that this did not effect any fresh transfer of interest to the mortgagee in respect of the non-released portions and was therefore not a mortgage. (27) In a bond the executant admitted the receipt of a certain amount from the obligees and agreed to pay interest regularly. Further, it was stipulated that in default of payment of interest the executant would put the obligees in possession of a certain specified property referred to as the "mortgaged property" and that the obligees would be at liberty to enjoy the usufruct and appropriate the profits to the interest. There was another mention of the "mortgaged property" and at the end it was agreed that on payment of the entire money due to the obligees, the executant would be entitled to take back the property, and the recitals ended with the following words: "I write this Arki mortgage deed so that it may be of use when needed." It was held that although the obligees had no immediate right to take possession, yet the right to take possession upon default in the payment of interest came into existence at the date of the execution of the bond in same way as the right to put the property to sale upon a breach of a contract under a simple mortgage comes into existence when the bond is executed. The deed therefore operated as a mortgage bond from the date of its execution. (28) See also the undermentioned cases. (29) Debentures issued by a company are not mortgages, though they bind the estate of the company. (30)

Where persons are used to recognise legal terms in a particular form of transaction, it is presumed that they intend that those terms should have their ordinary meaning. Where therefore a person states in the document that he had "mortgaged" the property, it will be assumed that he intended to transfer an interest in the property. (31) The nature of the interest transferred may also be a matter of implication. Thus where in a mortgage there is covenant to pay and a charge on property, it implies that the property may be sold for the debt and the mortgage is a simple mortgage. (32)

Since a mortgage is a transfer of an interest in immovable property such interest is capable of

26. AIR 1925 All 501 (502) : 47 All 310 (FB).

27. AIR 1918 Mad 1204 (1206, 1209) (DB).

28. AIR 1943 All 337 (339) : ILR (1943) All 802 (FB). (It was contended that the bond was a simple money bond at its inception, but was liable to be converted into a usufructuary mortgage on default in payment of interest.)

29. AIR 1934 All 950 (950-951)  (1907) 4 All LJ 253 (256) (DB)  (1906) 33 Cal 1133 (1153) (DB)  (1891) Bom PJ 284 (DB)  (1890) 14 Bom 577 (579) (DB). (A bond contained the following stipulation as regards the liabilities of sureties: "in respect of this we have given you in writing as a nazargahan (i.e., sight mortgage) the fields belonging to ourselves and which we are enjoying. If we do not pay according to contract you may sell the aforesaid number through the Court and recover your amount. If any balance remains we will pay it off personally or by means of our other property." - Held that the document must be treated as creating a mortgage and not a mere charge)  (1890) 15 Bom 183 (185, 186) (DB). (Bonds which do not give possession or provide for foreclosure or sale, but merely pledge property as security for a loan are regarded as mortgages in the Bombay Presidency)  (1889) 14 Bom 377 (380) (DB). (Land given as security for repayment of loan under instalment bond which contained an express power of sale in case of default — Bond held a simple mortgage bond)  (1887) 14 Cal 687 (690, 691) (DB).

30. AIR 1939 Mad 202 (203) : ILR (1939) Mad 199 (DB). (Quere)  (1877) 26 WR (Eng) 123 (124) : 38 LT 377. Norton v Florence Land and Public Works Co. (Ltd.)

31. AIR 1941 Lah 274 (275) (DB).

32. AIR 1941 Lah 274 (275) (DB).

transfer by way of assignment, mortgage, etc. (33) and is henable (34) But the assignee of the mortgage without privity of the mortgagor takes it subject to the state of account between the mortgagor and the mortgagee at the date of the transfer (35) Further a payment by the mortgagor to the mortgagee without notice of the assignment is binding on the mortgagee (36) And the result of the principle that a mortgage is a transfer of an interest in immovable property is that from the time of lending his money, the mortgagee whether he be in or out of possession, acquires the right to have the mortgaged property secured from deterioration in the hands of the mortgagor or of any other person to whose rights those of the mortgagee are superior (37).

An equitable mortgagee of a lease in England has no privity of estate with the lessor and is not liable to him on the covenants in the lease even though he may have entered into possession by virtue of his mortgage (38)

Where after the period of grace under Regulation XVII of 1806 the mortgagee sues for possession as owner and the suit is compromised by allowing the mortgagor a further period of redemption it has been held that this compromise does not constitute a fresh mortgage (39)

It has been held in the undermentioned case (40) that as a mortgage creates a transfer of an interest in property for consideration, S. 53-A, which is based on equitable considerations, applies to a usufructuary mortgage According to this case, a transfer of some of the rights in the property is sufficient to come within the purview of S. 53-A.

When there was no evidence to doubt genuineness of the registered mortgage deed and also no evidence was adduced to prove tenancy, no presumption could be drawn contrary to the contents of the mortgage deed. Thus the mortgage could not be treated as a sham transaction (41)

5. Sub-mortgages.

As has been seen already the right of a mortgagee is itself a right in rem and can be transferred by way of a mortgage Such a mortgage by the mortgagee of his right is called a sub-mortgage (1) and all the provisions of law applicable to mortgages will apply to sub-mortgages also such as

33. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 319 (320) (Usufructuary mortgagee can give a lease of the property either to the mortgagor himself or a third person)  AIR 1928 All 378 (380) (DB) (Equity of redemption — Sale of apart from corporeal property is permissible)  (1907) 29 All 385 (399) (FB)  AIR 1916 Upp Bur 5 (6) 2 Upp Bur Rul 89

[See also (1910) 8 Ind Cas 256 (256)]

34. (1913) 18 Ind Cas 455 (457) (DB) (Cal)

35. (1798) 31 ER 62 (66) : 4 Ves 118. Mathews v Wallwyn

36. (1799) 31 ER 198 (199) : 4 Ves 389. William v. Sorrell.

37. (1905) 28 Mad 208 (209) (DB)

38. (1848) 41 ER 1120 (1123). Moore v Greg (Lucas v Comerford 3 Bro CC 166 Overruled)

[See also (1857) 26 LJ Ch 389 (393) 8 De GM & G 8 5 5 WR (Eng) 437. Cox v Bishop]

39. (1873) 20 Suth WR 176 (176, 177) (DB)  (1868) 10 Suth WR 359 (360) (DB)

[See also AIR 1924 Lah 696 (697) (DB).]

40. AIR 1963 Andh Pra 489 (490) ILR (1964) Andh Pra 832 (DB) (AIR 1963 Andh Pra 239 Reversed)

41. 1999 AIHC 1055 (1057) : 1998 (119) Pun LR 68.

Section 58 — Note 5

1. AIR 1959 Mad 246 (248) : ILR (1959) Mad 369 (FB)  AIR 1916 Upp Bur 5 (6) 2 Upp Bur Rul 89

attestation, registration, etc.(2). A mortgagee can also effect an equitable sub-mortgage of his right by deposit of the mortgage-deed.(3) or where the original mortgage is itself one by deposit of title deeds, by a second deposit of such title deeds (4) Further as a mortgagee right is an interest in immovable property priorities will be governed by the rules applicable to interests in immovable property. Thus, a sub-mortgagee is entitled to be paid the amount due to him under the sub-mortgage in priority to the claim of a subsequent assignee of the mortgage right (5) A sub-mortgage by deposit of title deeds entitles the sub-mortgagee to bring a suit for amounts against original mortgagor or his mortgagee though he may limit his suit to the sub-mortgagor (6) Even in England a mortgage debt, although a chose in action, is regarded as an interest in land and priorities are governed by the rules applicable to such interests and not by the rules which apply to interests in personality(7).

A sub-mortgagee has no privity of estate or contract with the original mortgagor (8) The sub-mortgagee without privity of the mortgagor only takes subject to the state of account between the mortgagor and the mortgagee at the date of the sub-mortgage (9) It is also settled that payment of interest and payments on account of capital made by the mortgagor to the mortgagee after, but without knowledge of, the transfer, must, in the absence of collusion, be allowed to the mortgagor as against the sub-mortgagee (10) The doctrine extends to cases where the whole mortgage-debt is, under similar circumstances, paid off (11) But if the original mortgagor has notice of the sub-

2. AIR 1935 Rang 483 (483)

3. AIR 1936 Rang 366 (366).

4. AIR 1938 Mad 865 (874) (DB)  AIR 1937 Rang 69 (69, 70) 14 Rang 522 (DB)  AIR 1935 Rang 483 (483)

[See also (1909) 5 Low Bur Rul 93 (94) (DB).]

5. AIR 1943 Mad 100 (103) : ILR (1943) Mad 195 (DB)

6. (1974) 87 Mad LW 89 (DB).

7. (1901) 70 LJ Ch 477 (484) 84 LT 397 49 WR (Eng) 451 17 TLR 413 (1901) 2 Ch 231, Taylor v. London and County Banking Company.

[See AIR 1917 Mad 928 (930) : 40 Mad 683 (DB)]

8. AIR 1951 Trav-Co 271 (271) (Sub mortgage can be put an end to by redemption or by release only by the original mortgagee.)

9. AIR 1939 All 719 (720) ILR (1939) All 943 (DB)  AIR 1928 Mad 382 (383) (DB)  AIR 1928 Nag 223 (224 225) (DB) (No reason to make any differentiation in case of usufructuary mortgage)  AIR 1919 Mad 1082(1082) (DB) (There is no necessity to give notice of the sub-mortgage to the mortgagor)  (1899) 68 LJ Ch 572 (575) 81 LT 111, Dixon v Winch (Mathews v Wallwyn (1798) 4 Ves 118, Followed Affirmed on appeal in Dixon v Winch (1900) 69 LJ Ch 465)  (1914) 83 LJ Ch 166 (170) 109 LT 727, De Lisle v. Union Bank of Scotland.

10. 1900 Pun Re No. 31, p. 102 (107) (FB)  AIR 1928 Rang 30 (31) 5 Rang 749  (1880) 50 LJ Ch 218 (220) 43 LT 687, In re Lord Southamptons Estate  (1899) 68 LJ Ch 572 (575) 81 LT 111, Dixon v Winch, ((1798) 4 Ves 389, (Williams v Sorrell Rel. on.)

11. 1900 Pun Re No. 31, p. 102 (111) (FB)  AIR 1938 Pesh 73 (76) (DB)  AIR 1932 Mad 115 (116, 117) 55 Mad 320 (DB) (Payment out of Court)  AIR 1924 Oudh 209 (216) (DB)  AIR 1921 Mad 374 (376) (DB)  AIR 1917 Mad 11 (11) (DB)  (1905) 29 Bom 199 (202) (DB)  (1905) 8 Oudh Cas 140 (141)  (1895) Pun Re No. 12, p. 46 (48) (DB)  (1913) 18 Ind Cas 389 (390) (Oudh)  (1901) 70 LJ Ch 144 (147) (1901) 1 Ch 213 83 LT 704 49 WR (Eng) 186 17 TLR 141, Turner v Smith

[See also AIR 1940 Pesh 25 (26).]

mortgage he cannot make any payment to the mortgagee so as to bind the sub-mortgagee(12) and cannot dispossess the sub-mortgagee (where the mortgage is with possession without redeeming him)(13).

The transfer by way of sub-mortgage cannot affect the rights of the mortgagor in any way. Thus, where the sub-mortgagee brings the mortgagee's interest to sale and purchases it himself, he cannot resist a suit by the mortgagor for redemption of the original mortgage (14). A sub-mortgagee is an assignee of the mortgagee's interest by way of security and the sub-mortgage may be redeemed by the original mortgagor but the sub-mortgagee cannot redeem the original mortgage, because sub-mortgagee is not a derivative title holder of the original mortgage (15). If the mortgage is void(16) the sub-mortgage is also void. There is no merger of the sub-mortgage on mortgagor's acquiring the rights under the sub-mortgage. Such merger is possible only if there is no intermediate charge subsisting(17).

There is a difference between an assignment of mortgage and the creation of a sub-mortgage. A mortgagee's right to realise the amount secured by the mortgage is itself property and he can therefore either assign it, or create a security over it. If he chooses to make an assignment, the transferee gets all his rights, and the assignor's title — the mortgage right as such passes to the transferee. But if he chooses to create only a mortgage over his mortgage right, there is no passing of the title, though a mortgagee is sometimes said to get a derivative title to the mortgage right. In relation to the sub-mortgagee, the mortgagee is the mortgagor and he will therefore have a right to pay off his debts and redeem the property which will not be the case if an assignment of the mortgage right is made. In the latter case, the mortgagee retains no interest with him, but in the case of a sub-mortgage, some interest still remains. In other words, all the interests of a mortgagee do not pass to the transferee when a sub-mortgage is created, and if that is so, it cannot be said that the interests of the two are identical, so as to hold that the one is predecessor in interest to the other(18).

The position of a mortgagee in relation to the sub-mortgagee is closely analogous to that of a surety (19) and he is liable to the sub-mortgagee for the debt even if he is unable to recover the debt from the mortgagor. He cannot, for instance, by taking a fresh mortgage in discharge of his earlier mortgage, prejudice the rights of his sub-mortgagee to proceed to bring the mortgagee's rights under the earlier mortgage to sale.(20)

The fact that the mortgagee has sub-mortgaged his rights under the mortgage for a larger amount than the mortgage money secured by the mortgage in his favour does not result in the extinguishment of that mortgage and the cessation of his mortgagee interests under that mortgage(21).

12. 1900 Pun Re No. 31, p. 102 (111) (FB)  (1899) 12 Oudh Cas 260 (267) (DB)  (1913) 18 Ind Cas 389 (390) (Oudh).

13. AIR 1925 Rang 140 (142) 2 Rang 56 (DB)  (1925) 13 Mad LJ 375 (376) (DB)  (1908) 18 Mad LJ 462 (463) (DB).

[See also 1900 Pun Re No. 31, pp. 102 (111) (FB) (Sub-mortgagee held entitled to retain possession against original mortgagor having notice of sub-mortgage until payment of amount due under sub-mortgage.)]

14. (1910) 5 Ind Cas 935 (936) (DB) (Mad).

15. (1966) 2 Mad LJ 308 : (1966) 79 Mad LW 400.

16. (1851) 51 ER 475 (483, 484) 15 Beav 103 Cockell v Taylor.

17. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 271 (271).

18. 1979 Ker LT 257 (259, 260).

19. AIR 1940 Pesh 25 (26)  AIR 1918 Lah 310 (312) 918 Pun Re No. 3 (DB)  (1913) 18 Ind Cas 389 (390) (Oudh).

20. AIR 1919 Mad 1082 (1083) (DB)  (1908) 18 Mad LJ 462 (463) (DB).

21. 1958 Ker LJ 182 (183, 184).

As to the procedure for enforcing the rights of the sub-mortgagee, see the commentaries on the Code of Civil Procedure, O 34, R. 1, Note 9 in the Appendix.

In a suit by the mortgagor for redemption against the mortgagee and his sub-mortgagee, the proper form of the decree is that upon the amount due to the mortgagee being paid into Court, the mortgagee and the sub-mortgagee should re-convey the estate to the mortgagor: the mortgagor is not bound to wait until the accounts between the mortgagee and the sub-mortgagee are settled.(22) In the undermentioned cases,(23) it was held that in such a suit the judgment should direct an account of what is due to the original mortgagee and then of what is due to the sub-mortgagee and that upon payment to the latter of the sum due to him not exceeding the sum due to the original mortgagee, and upon payment of the residue, if any, of what is due to the original mortgagee, both shall re-convey the property to the mortgagor.

If the person representing the mortgagor wants to redeem the original mortgage, he can terminate the sub-mortgage by making the sub-mortgagee also a party to that suit. But the mortgagor has no right to directly terminate the sub-mortgage independent of the mortgage (24) Where pending a suit for redemption against the mortgagee and the sub-mortgagee the mortgagee dies and his representatives are not brought on record, the suit abates as the mortgagor has no cause of action against the sub-mortgagee(25).

As to the sub-mortgagee's right to sue for a decree for sale or foreclosure, see S. 67, Note 21.

6. Agreement to grant or accept a mortgage.

An agreement to give a mortgage merely creates a right in the promisees to get a regular deed of mortgage, and does not, of itself, create any mortgage or charge upon the immovable property dealt with by the agreement(1).

In England it is well settled that an agreement to borrow or to lend a sum of money will not be specifically enforced. An agreement to mortgage for a sum of money to be advanced cannot, therefore, be specifically enforced(2) though a suit for damages for breach of such a contract will lie (3)

22. AIR 1927 Mad 703 (704)  (1906) 28 All 638 (641) (DB)  (1864) 55 ER 429 (430) 33 Beav 417, Lysaght v. Westmacott.

23. AIR 1956 Madh Bha 118 (119)  (1891) 15 Bom 692 (693) (DB)

24. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 271 (271)

25. (1896) 20 Bom 549 (552) (DB).

Also see S. 60, Note 19

Section 58 — Note 6

1. AIR 1930 PC 76 (78)  ILR (1963) 2 Ker 60 (64) (DB)  AIR 1938 Mad 889 (892) : ILR (1939) Mad 7 (FB)  AIR 1938 Bom 357 (358) (DB)  AIR 1932 Oudh 54 (56) 7 Luck 237 (DB)  AIR 1923 Bom 287 (287)  (1905) 28 Mad 54 (55) (DB)  (1869) 11 Suth WR 520 (521) (DB) (An agreement to deposit deeds and to execute a proper agreement is not actual mortgage and does not come within Cl (2) of S 17 of Act XX of 1866)

Also see S. 100, Note 5

2. AIR 1925 Rang 291 (293) : 4 Rang 1 (FB)  AIR 1938 Bom 357 (358) (DB)  (1859) 54 ER 68 (69) 27 Beav 175 29 LJ Ch 240 7 WR (Eng) 710, Rogers v Challis  (1892) 61 LJ Ch 244 (246) (1892) 1 Ch 271 66 LT 402 40 WR (Eng) 182, Western Waggon Co v West  (1898) 67 LJQB 470 (471) 46 WR (Eng) 545 1898 AC 309 78 LT 426 14 TLR 298, The South African Territories, Ltd v Wallington

[See also (1862) 54 ER 932 (935) 30 Beav 371 31 LJ Ch 386 8 Jur (NS) 275 5 LT 784 10 WR (Eng) 283 Sicher v Mosenthal  AIR 1927 Oudh 55 (57, 58) 2 Luck 299 (DB)]

3. (1898) 67 LJQB 470 (471) , 1898 AC 309, The South African Territories, Ltd v. Wallington.

The law is the same in this country also.(4) Similarly a mortgage holds good to the extent of the amount paid. Where any part of the amount agreed to be advanced remains unpaid a suit will not lie for recovering such para (5) (See also Note 18) Where, however, money has actually been advanced, and subsequently the borrower agrees to mortgage property to secure such advance, such an agreement can be specifically enforced(6)

The principle that an agreement to lend a sum of money is not specifically enforceable has no application where money has been left with the mortgagee to pay off the mortgagor's creditor and on the failure of the mortgagee to do so, the mortgagor sues to recover the money(7)

So also where the mortgagor allows the loan to remain with the mortgagee on the understanding that it is to be taken by him from time to time a suit for its recovery is not one to enforce a contract of loan but merely one for recovery of a deposit(8)

Where A mortgaged to B certain property with possession for moneys advanced by B but possession could not be given as the property had been seized by the Collector under a decree against A, it was held by the Privy Council that B was entitled to damages for non-delivery of possession(9).

Where money is lent on the express condition that a mortgage therefor will be executed and a mortgage is subsequently so executed, the debt cannot be said to be independent of the mortgage and cannot be considered an "antecedent debt" binding under the Hindu law on the sons of the borrower. But if the agreement is merely to execute a mortgage as and when called upon to do so, the fact that a subsequent mortgage is called for and executed will not make the debt and mortgage form part of the same transaction but the will constitute an "antecedent debt" within the meaning of the Hindu law(10).

4. AIR 1950 Kutch 86 (86) (Unless plaintiff shows that compensation would not afford adequate relief or that he has actually advanced money on the promised mortgage contract to mortgage cannot be specifically enforced).  AIR 1936 Lah 222 (229) (1) Lah 270 (DB)  AIR 1935 Mad 1045 (1045) (Unpaid portion of loan kept with mortgagee for payment to mortgagor is not debt and cannot be sued upon nor enforced specifically)  AIR 1925 Mad 62 (63) 47 Mad 698  AIR 1919 Mad 322 (326) 41 Mad 959 (DB)  AIR 1918 Mad 364 (365) (DB)  (1908) 11 Oudh Cas 217 (218)  (1905) 8 Oudh Cas 5 (9)  (1888) 12 Bom 242 (245-246)  (1877) 2 Mad 79 (79) (DB)

5. AIR 1942 Lah 234 (236) ILR (1943) Lah 746 (DB). The mortgagee cannot be compelled to lend more. If possession has passed, the mortgagor might sue to get it back or take steps to relieve himself of some of other conditions of mortgage. If he has suffered any loss he may sue for damages. But it is clear that unpaid part of the mortgage-money is not a debt nor has the mortgagor an actionable claim for its recovery against the mortgagee.

[But see AIR 1935 Lah 141 (142).]

6. AIR 1928 PC 80 (82) : 55 Ind App 107 : 7 Pat 305  AIR 1927 Oudh 55 (58) 2 Luck 299 (DB)  AIR 1919 Mad 322 (326) 41 Mad 959 (DB)  (1871) 41 LJ Ch 96 (97) LR 13 Eq 76. Ashton v Corrigan  (1873) 21 WR (Eng) 571 (571) LR 16 Eq 18. Herrman v. Hodges.

[See also AIR 1935 Mad 560 (563) (DB) (Pressure by creditor on debtor for repayment of debt or for furnishing security by way of mortgage — Debtor handing over title deeds of certain properties and promising to execute a mortgage deed if he fails to repay without delay — Creditor is entitled to decree for specific performance on the failure of debtor to repay.)]

7. AIR 1935 Lah 141 (142)  AIR 1933 Lah 1 (2, 3).

[See also AIR 1935 Lah 26 (27).]

8. AIR 1916 Oudh 184 (185).

9. (1890) 17 Cal 432 (436) (PC).

10. AIR 1938 Mad 889 (892) : ILR (1939) Mad 7 (FB).

7. Subsequent mortgage in lieu of earlier mortgage, found invalid — Revival of earlier mortgage.

Where a new security is accepted in lieu of an old one but the former is found to be invalid, the mortgagee can fall back upon the earlier one (1) In the undermentioned case (2) where the mortgagee accepted a new security from certain reversioners of a Hindu for an old one, and in a suit on the later mortgage, it was found, on the objection of the reversioners themselves, not to be binding on them, it was held by the Privy Council that it was not consistent with equity or good conscience that the reversioners should thereafter claim that the invalid mortgage operated as a release of the earlier valid mortgage (3).

8. Muhammadan widow's possession in lieu of dower.

A Muhammadan widow retaining possession of her husband's property in lieu of dower is not a mortgagee of the property (1) "In the case of a mortgage, the mortgagee takes and retains possession, under an agreement made between him and the mortgagor. Any rights, the mortgagee may get, are conferred upon him by the mortgagor. "In the case of a Muhammadan widow in possession in lieu of dower, "neither the possession of the property nor the right to retain that possession when acquired is conferred upon the widow by the agreement or by the bounty of her deceased husband. The possession of the property being once peaceably and lawfully acquired, the right of the widow to retain it till her dower-debt is paid is conferred upon her by the Muhammadan law" (2).

On the question whether the right of Muhammadan widow to retain possession of her husband's property in lieu of dower can be transferred by way of mortgage, sale, etc., there is a conflict of decisions. (See S 6, Note 38) In a Patna case, (3) it has been held, relying upon the Privy Council decision in Maina Bibi v Chaudhri Vakil, (4) that the widow has no estate or interest in the property, and therefore her right to retain possession is not transferable. It was observed that those decisions which take the view that the widow's right is transferable (5) are no longer good law after the pronouncement of their Lordships of the Judicial Committee in the case referred to above.

9. Specific immovable property.

In England general words of conveyance such as "all my real and personal estate whatsoever and wheresoever" will create a good charge on all the property belonging to the mortgagor at the

Section 58 — Note 7

1. AIR 1927 Nag 83 (84)

Also see Section 101, Note 4.

2. AIR 1916 PC 68 (70) : 39 All 178 : 44 Ind App 60.

3. See AIR 1938 All 418 (423) : ILR (1938) All 714 (FB). (AIR 1916 PC 68. Followed.)

Section 58 — Note 8

1. (1902) 25 Mad 658 (659) (DB)  (1901) 23 All 432 (DB)

[See also (1911) 33 All 421 (428) (DB).]

[See however (1907) 9 Bom LR 188 (197, 198) (Where widow is in lawful possession, her position is analogous to that of a mortgagee.)]

2. AIR 1925 PC 63 (65) : 52 Ind App 145  AIR 1944 Pat 163 (169) (DB)

[See also (1871) 6 Beng LR 54 (63, 64, 65) 14 Suth WR 239 (243, 244) (DB)  AIR 1928 Oudh 209 (211) : 2 Luck 553 (DB).]

[But see (1902) 25 Mad 658 (659) (DB).]

3. AIR 1944 Pat 163 (169, 170, 171) (DB) (Widow cannot mortgage her right of possession.)

4. AIR 1925 PC 63 (65) : 47 All 250 : 52 Ind App 145.

5. See the cases in F N. (4), Note 38 on S 6

date of the mortgage (1) But where the deed recites particular property as being conveyed and is then followed by general words of conveyance sufficient to cover everything belonging to the mortgagor, only the particular property will pass. A executed a document in favour of B whereby certain messuages, lands, hereditaments and premises at K in the county of M were mortgaged by a particular description and by reference to schedules. After this came the following words: "and all other lands, tenements, hereditaments in the county of M aforesaid whereof the mortgagor is seised". At the date of the mortgage the mortgagor A was seised in fee of a manor at K. It was held that the manor at K was not included in the mortgage (2) Wood, V C. said:

"It is true, that the Courts have held, and the authorities are very numerous on this subject that you cannot control clear words of conveyance by the words of recital. That is one canon undoubtedly. But then those words, clear words of conveyance, are subject to interpretation, and the exception will be found to be always that large and general words are not within that description of 'clear words of conveyance' which cannot be controlled by the recital. Where there are large and general words amply sufficient to cover everything, it has been long settled that the recitals clearly bind down the effect of those general words."

Under this section, for the creation of a valid mortgage, the property mortgaged must be specified (3). There can be no mortgage of implied immovable property (4). If the hypotheca is sufficiently precise to enable the property to be determined even after a lapse of time, it is specific property. (5) The word "specific" has the same meaning as it has in the phrase "specifically mortgaged" occurring in S. 22 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879 (since repealed) (6).

Where the mortgagor purported to give, in the earlier part of the deed, the properties described in the schedule to the document and later on added, "all other mauzas, manus, etc. comprised in the sanad," it was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that the properties comprised in the sanad were also mortgaged, though not referred to in the schedule (7). Similarly, where in the mortgage deed it was stated that mauzas Bansjora and Simitarr were to stand mortgaged but in the same paragraph the mortgagor agreed that should any case of action arise, the mortgagee shall be competent to realise the full amount by selling mauzas Bansjora, Simitarr and Bahaldih, it was held that mauza Bahaldih was also mortgaged (8). But where the instrument purported to pledge certain specified properties as well as certain properties not specified but mentioned in general as "I have pledged to you the properties in villages A, B, C, etc.," it was held that the mortgage attached only to the specified properties (9).

Section 58 — Note 9

1. (1899) 48 WR (Eng) 59 (60); 81 LT 354; 68 LJ Ch 742; (1899) 2 Ch 530. In re Kelcey Tyson v. Kelcey.
2. (1856) 25 LJ Ch 795 (799); 2 K & J 753; 2 Jur (NS) 755; 4 WR (Eng) 829. Roke v. Lord Kensington.
3. (1970) 72 Pun LR 312; 1970 Cur LJ 169 (DB). (In absence of specific immovable property the creditor is entitled to money decree,  AIR 1978 Cal 557 (566) (DB). (General description not sufficient.)  (1910) 5 Ind Cas 654 (655) (DB) (Cal).
[See also (1871) 16 Suth WR 203 (206) (DB).]
4. 1980 Pun LJ 292 (293); 1980 Rev LR 651.
5. AIR 1919 Mad 718 (726) (DB). (A property can be specific so long as it is identifiable, though it may not be in existence on the date of transfer.)  AIR 1914 Mad 306 (307) (DB).
6. (1902) 26 Bom 33 (39) (DB). (Covenant to pay the produce amounts to specific mortgage of the land.)
7. (1898) 26 Cal 395 (398) (PC).
8. AIR 1964 SC 1295 (1298); 43 Pat 895; (AIR 1955 Pat 505, Reversed).
9. AIR 1931 Cal 732 (733) (SB). (Case under the Stamp Act.)

The following are illustrations of cases where the description of the property was held to be specific :

- (1) "Our rights and property in taluk R(10)."
- (2) "Our zamindari property(11)."
- (3) "The entire zamindari of village P with hills, jungles as well as our entire right and income and Kattubadis on enfranchised inams(12)."
- (4) "My jiroyati and inam lands which I own at the village of my residence(13)."

See also the undermentioned cases(14).

The following are illustrations of cases where the description was held to be not specific but general :

- (1) "Our property" or "my whole property(15)."
- (2) "Property of myself and of my daughter for which I am about to sue(16) "

10. (1886) 8 All 486 (489) (DB).

11. (1890) 12 All 175 (179) (DB) (Mortgagors entitled to a certain ascertained and definite fractional share in zamindaris of villages 'T' and 'S' — Property described as our 'zamindari property' — Description held specific.)

12. (1902) 25 Mad 42 (50) (DB).

13. AIR 1914 Mad 306 (307) (DB).

14. AIR 1959 Ker 294 (296) (Mortgage of land passes by implication to the mortgagee the buildings erected upon the land in view of the provisions of S 8)  (1957) 70 Mad LW 205 (206) (Where the description of mortgaged property was as follows — "Municipal Survey No 221-B-1 together with the cinema theatre building being built on date of mortgage — Held that what was intended to be hypothecated was only building as such — It may be that building was intended to be used for running cinema but it was not a running cinema house as such that was mortgaged — Hence ceiling boards, ceiling fans and exhaust fans would not form integral part of building though they may be required to run cinema in the building)  AIR 1955 Pat 189 (191) (The parti land attached to the house, used for business carried on in house, held should be considered as part of house which was mortgaged)  AIR 1953 Mad 764 (765) : ILR (1953) Mad 566 (FB). (Reference to the premises described in the document as bearing door No 27, Thiruvottiyur High Road as also to the stock in trade held was to "specified" property within the meaning of S 2(17), Stamp Act)  AIR 1951 Kutch 4 (4)  AIR 1923 Mad 511 (512, 513) (DB)  AIR 1919 Mad 1117 (1122) (DB) (Where a deed of mortgage of 100 villages began by stating that 100 villages with hamlets, tanks, rasams, channel, etc., are secured and then recited that 92 out of the 100 villages were secured without possession and that the remaining eight were mortgaged usufructually but the additions of forest and forest produce were not repeated, though it was expressly stated that the mortgagee was to enjoy all the income realisable from the eight villages — Held, intention was clear to include forest and forest produce in respect of the 8 villages also)  AIR 1917 Pat 268 (270, 271) — 2 Pat LJ 293 (DB) (Shares in a company)  (1901) 11 Mad LJ 27 (28) (DB) (General words will suffice without any specification of the boundaries or exact locality of the land)  (1970) 2 NWP HCR 263 (264) (DB). (My zamindari share.)

15. (1892) 14 All 162 (164) (DB)  (1881) 3 Mad 35 (37) (DB) (Promise to pay out of my property indefinitely.)  (1876) 1 All 275 (276) (DB)

[See also AIR 1949 Pat 505 (508) — 28 Pat 303 (DB) (Conveyance of property to mortgagee in satisfaction of his mortgage — Indemnity clause providing that in case mortgagee was put to loss for defect in title he was entitled to realise it from "entire movable and immovable property of me and all my heirs and representatives" — Stipulation held did not create mortgage.)]

16. (1881) 7 Cal 196 (198) (DB).

See also undermentioned case(17).

A mortgage of the equity of redemption is a mortgage of specific immovable property(18)
But a contrary view is taken in the undermentioned case(19)

A mortgage under this Act is confined to immovable property. A right to specific performance of an agreement to sell is not an interest in immovable property and cannot be the subject of a mortgage.(20) Profits that would accrue from immovable property in the future do not constitute an interest in immovable property and cannot be mortgaged (21) A life insurance policy is neither immovable nor movable property and therefore cannot be the subject of a mortgage(22)

The definition of a mortgage under the Indian Stamp Act is wider and includes the transfer by way of security of specified property, whether movable or immovable(23)

10. Mortgage and pledge of future property.

A mortgage of property that may come into existence in the future operates merely as an agreement to mortgage such property when it comes into existence (1) (See S. 5 Note 7) There cannot be a pledge of future property inasmuch as no actual possession can be given (2) Even in an hypothecation of movable property the property must be existing(3)

17. (1978) 80 Pun LR 46 (48) 1978 Cur LJ (Civ) 66 (Where the land said to have been mortgaged had neither been specified inasmuch as neither its Killa number nor Rectang e number had been given nor it was mentioned where it was situate and to whom it belonged nor the revenue estate in which the same was situated and the particulars of its owner or owners were missing in the documents alleged to have been executed as mortgage deeds such documents do not fall within the definition of 'mortgage' as defined in S. 58(a) of the T.P. Act, as their bare reading betrayed the intention of the parties to create a mortgage as envisaged by S. 58(a) of the said Act.)

18. (1895) 22 Cal 33 (41) (DB) (Mortgaging the property for second time does not remove the 'specific' nature present at the time of first mortgage)

19. AIR 1961 Guj 129 (130).

20. AIR 1917 Mad 358 (362) (DB)

21. AIR 1939 Lah 15 (16) (DB)

22. (1950) 54 Cal WN 710 (712).

[But see (1905) 7 Bom LR 138 (139) (Policy of insurance can be mortgaged like any other property.)]

23. (1885) 8 Mad 104 (107) (FB). Reference under Stamp Act S. 46 (Growing crops)  (1888) 11 Mad 39 (40) (FB). Reference under Stamp Act S. 46 (Transfer of promissory notes by way of security.)

Section 58 — Note 10

1. ILR (1960) 10 Raj 978 (980) (Mortgage of future crops)  AIR 1924 All 833 (834) (Mortgage of future crops is enforceable as an executory agreement and creates valid equitable charge — But it is unavailing against bona fide purchaser without notice of prior charge)  (1886) 13 Cal 262 (264) (DB) (Indigo crops case of moveable property to which T.P. Act does not apply.)

[See also  (1910) 5 Ind Cas 373 (373) (All) (DB) (Mortgage of future crops operates as an agreement to assign)  AIR 1927 Nag 216 (216) (In equity a mortgage of future crops only amounts to an agreement to assign them when they come into existence.)]

2. (1886) 13 Cal 262 (264) (DB).

3. (1896) 23 Cal 592 (601) In the matter of Ambrose Summers

[See however AIR 1920 Lah 178 (179) (A hypothecation of future crops becomes complete when the crop is grown and the produce realised and is enforceable against a transferee of such produce with notice of the obligee's equitable interest but not against a transferee without notice. 10 All 133, Foll.)]

11. Mortgage of movables.

The section has no application to a mortgage of movable property (1) In the absence of specific rules applicable to any matter, the principle recognised in the various Civil Courts Acts is that the Courts should decide according to justice, equity and good conscience (2), which is considered to be equivalent to the English law wherever such law is applicable to Indian conditions. (3) Under these principles, a mortgage of movable property is valid and a decree can be passed in enforcement of the mortgage (4) The mortgagee will be entitled to a right of sale quite as much as the mortgagee of immovable property in execution of the decree (5) Delivery of possession is not necessary for a mortgage of movable property (6) The mortgagee's right is only to enforce the mortgage by suing for sale of movable property or by the appointment of a Receiver to secure possession of it (7) But if possession is delivered, the mortgagee has a right to sell it without the intervention of the Court, if the mortgagor, after a proper notice given to him to repay the money, fails to do so (8) Though actual possession is left with the Company which pledged and mortgaged movables with the Bank its possession is on behalf of the Bank which is a secured creditor. Movables cannot be attached and sold by other creditors of the Company (9) A mortgagee of movables without possession is liable to

Section 58 — Note 11

1. (1946) 50 Cal WN 258 (259) (DB)  AIR 1941 Mad 805 (805)  (1911) 7 Nag LR 72 (75)
2. See for instance Madras Civil Courts Act III of 1873, S. 16  AIR 1964 Andh Pra 201 (203) : ILR (1964) Andh Pra 681.
3. AIR 1930 PC 142 (143) : 57 Ind App 168  (1887) 11 Bom 551 (561) : 14 Ind App 89 (96) (PC)  AIR 1964 Andh Pra 201 (203) : ILR (1964) Andh Pra 681  AIR 1952 Sau 107 (109)
- . AIR 1964 Andh Pra 201 (203) : ILR (1964) Andh Pra 681  1961 Jab LJ 306 (307)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 273 (277) (DB) (There can be mortgage or pledge of shares)  AIR 1955 Trav-Co 162 (163) : ILR (1955) Trav-Co 216 (DB)  (1946) 50 CWN 258 (259) (DB)  AIR 1940 Mad 929 (930, 931) : ILR (1941) Mad 144 (DB) (Mortgage of produce realized from immovable property, e.g. growing crops)  AIR 1932 Cal 524 (526) : 59 Cal 667 (DB) (Mortgage of goodwill and stock-in-trade)  AIR 1924 Cal 990 (991)  AIR 1918 Cal 165 (166) (DB) (Mortgage of moveable property consisting of plant and machinery both fixed and unfixed.)  (1905) 7 Bom LR 138 (139) (A policy of insurance can be mortgaged just like any other property — It can be made available as security by mere deposit)  (1905) 9 Cal WN 14 (15) (DB)  (1896) 23 Cal 592 (601). (Hypothecation of a letter of lien over stock-in-trade)  (1869) 2 Beng LR (AC) 230 (233) : 11 Suth WR 149 (149, 150) (DB) (A mortgage of fees in deposit in collectorate)
- [See also AIR 1922 Pat 36 (37) (DB) (Royalty is in reality the price paid for a portion of the soil the payment whereof is distributed over a number of years — If that be so, then the interest in the royalty cannot constitute an interest in immovable property)  (1911) 39 Cal 227 (230) (DB) (A turn of worship in a temple is not an interest in immovable property and S. 59 of the T.P. Act does not apply to it.)]
5. AIR 1939 Lah 398 (403) (DB)  AIR 1933 Mad 241 (242) : 56 Mad 560 (He has a right to foreclose too.)  (1902) 4 Bom LR 577 (581) (DB).
- . 1961 Jab LJ 306 (307)  AIR 1952 Sau 107 (109)  AIR 1939 Lah 398 (403) (DB)  AIR 1932 Cal 524 (526) : 59 Cal 667 (DB)  AIR 1924 Cal 990 (991)  AIR 1918 Cal 165 (166) (DB)  AIR 1916 Bom 77 (80)  (1906) 8 Bom LR 344 (345) (DB)  (1905) 7 Bom LR 138 (139)  (1905) 9 Cal WN 14 (16) (DB)  (1903) 6 Oudh Cas 230 (231)  (1871) 3 NWPHCR 71 (72) (DB)  (1871) 3 NWPHCR 54 (58) (DB)
7. AIR 1940 Mad 929 (930, 931) : ILR (1941) Mad 144 (DB).
8. AIR 1932 Bom 613 (614).
9. AIR 1977 Madh Pra 188 : 1977 MPLJ 797 (DB) be defeated by the mortgagor selling the property to a bona fide transferee without notice (10) A transferee taking it with notice will, however, be bound by the mortgage (11) The mortgagor of movables will be entitled to sue for redemption (12)

A mortgage of movable property must be distinguished from a pledge of movables dealt with by S. 172 of the Contract Act. In the case of a mortgage the ownership of the goods passes, whereas in the case of a pledge the pledgee gets possession, but no rights to the goods beyond what is necessary to secure the debt. (13) Mortgage of movables without possession is hypothecation (14). In absence of a contract to the contrary the pawnee has no right to accretion to the goods pledged (15) While there can be a hypothecation of immovables without delivery of possession, there can be no pledge of movable property without an actual delivery of the movables (16) Mortgage of movables without possession is only hypothecation (17).

A subsequent pledge without notice of the prior hypothecation will, however, have priority over a previous hypothecation (18) The remedy of foreclosure is not confined to mortgages of land. It extends also to mortgage of chattels (19) On the other hand a pledgee's remedy is only a sale of 10. AIR 1955 Trav-Co 162 (163) ILR (1955) Trav-Co 216 (DB)  AIR 1952 Sau 107 (109)  AIR 1940 Mad 929 (932) ILR (1941) Mad 144 (DB)  AIR 1939 Lah 15 (16) (DB)  AIR 1928 Rang 28 (28-29) 5 Rang 633 (DB) (Mortgage of stock-in-trade)  AIR 1923 Rang 60 (61)  AIR 1919 Mad 779 (779) 42 Mad 59 (DB)  AIR 1914 Low Bur 265 (265) 7 Low Bur Rul 336 (DB)  (1909) 5 Low Bur 8 (10) (DB)  (1889) 2 C PLR 109n (109n)  (1911) 7 Nag LR 72 (79).

11. AIR 1940 Mad 929 (931) ILR (1941) Mad 144 (DB) (Mortgage of produce of land — Land subsequently leased — Standing crop on land claimed by mortgagee before its removal — Mortgagee's title must prevail over lessee with notice of mortgage)  AIR 1987 Cal 143 (145) : (1987) 91 Cal WN 821.

12. AIR 1949 Nag 368 (370) ILR (1949) Nag 243

13. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 201 (203) ILR (1964) Andh Pra 681 (Shares of limited company transferred without transfer of ownership and loan secured — Transaction is pledge)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 273 (277) (DB) (There can be mortgage or pledge of shares)  AIR 1959 J & K 67 (69)  AIR 1954 Madh B 6 (7)  AIR 1952 Madh Bha 196 (198) ILR (1952) Madh Bha 136 (DB)  AIR 1949 Nag 368 (370) ILR (1949) Nag 243  AIR 1943 Mad 71 (74) (DB) (Citing Willes J. in Halliday v Hoigale (1868) 3 Ex 299 — Case relating to mortgage of promissory notes — But a transaction may amount to both a mortgage and a pledge.)

[See also AIR 1956 Pat 32 (37) 34 Pat 8 (DB) (Mortgage and pledge of shares — Whether it is one or the other will depend on the intention of the parties and the circumstances of each case.)]

14. (1968) 38 Com Cas 884 (Mad)

15. AIR 1969 Delhi 313 : 72 Pun LR (D) 42 (DB)

16. AIR 1960 Punj 42 (43) ILR (1959) Punj 1969 (DB)  AIR 1958 AH 864 (865) (DB)  AIR 1952 Madh Bha 196 (198) ILR (1952) Madh Bha 136 (DB)  AIR 1952 Sau 107 (109). (Mortgage of machinery — Mortgagor remaining in possession paying interest equal to rent — Transaction is hypothecation and not pledge)  AIR 1949 Nag 368 (370)  (1894) 21 Cal 241 (244) (SB)  AIR 1939 Lah 15 (16) (DB)  (1935) 62 Cal 1046 (1051).

[See also AIR 1918 Cal 165 (166) (DB).]

17. (1968) 38 Com Cas 884 (Mad)

18. AIR 1932 Cal 524 (530-531) 59 Cal 667 (DB) * (1935) 62 Cal 1046 (1051)  (1889) 2 CPLR 108 (109) (Subsequent hypothecation with possession with notice not postponed to a prior hypothecation without possession)  1874 Pun Re No. 70 p. 223-224 (DB)

19. AIR 1915 Cal 161 (168) : 42 Cal 455 (DB)

the property. He cannot obtain a foreclosure(20).

A mortgage or a pledge of movable must also be distinguished from a simple lien. In the case of a lien there is no transfer of any interest; the person exercising a lien has only a right to retain the subject-matter of the lien until he is paid. A pledge is something between a simple lien and a mortgage(21).

In England a mortgage of personal property may be made without deed (22). In this country also, no particular formality is necessary to create a mortgage of movable property(23).

As to applicability of rules relating to redemption to mortgages of movables, see S 60, Note 2.

12. "For the purpose of securing the payment of money."

A transfer of an interest in immovable property must, in order to constitute a mortgage, be for the purpose of securing the payment of money advanced by way of a loan or a debt or the performance of an engagement giving the rise to a pecuniary liability.(1) In the English Law of Property Act, 1925, (S 205) a mortgage is defined as including any charge or lien on any property for securing money or money's worth. A transfer, not for securing the repayment of the loan but as an acquittance of it is not a mortgage. The test, therefore, for seeing whether a transaction is a mortgage or not is to see whether the property comprised in it is made security for a loan or a debt or the performance of an engagement.(2) The established principles do not, however, warrant an interpretation that the transfer was solely to secure the amount advanced before it can be inferred that there was a mortgage.(2A) mortgage is essentially a form of security for a debt. Debt must subsist. Any document by which debt or liability is discharged cannot therefore be a mortgage. Where in a document there is neither a personal covenant to pay nor any provision for redemption nor for sale of property if debt is not paid, and transferee was to remain in possession for a specified limit

20. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 201 (203) ILR (1964) Andh Pra 681  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 273 (277) (DB)  AIR 1954 Madh B 6 (7)  AIR 1915 Cal 161 (168) · 42 Cal 455 (DB)  (1877) 4 Ch D 605 (606) : 46 LJ Ch841 (841), Carter v. Wake.

21. AIR 1959 J & K 67 (69).

22. (1852) 86 RR 746 (750) · 7 Ex 481 · 21 LJ Ex 223, Flory v Denny.

23. (1946) 50 Cal WN 258 (259) (DB) (No particular form need be employed and writing is not necessary)  AIR 1916 Bom 77 (80) (A mortgage of movables can be as validly effected by parole as by a writing)

Section 58 — Note 12

1. AIR 1960 SC 1030 (1032) : ILR (1960) 2 Punj 555. (Loan or debt to secure which mortgage is created remains pecuniary liability of the person creating it. Therefore, mortgage debt would be covered by definition of "debt" in S 2(6), Displaced Persons (Debts Adjustment Act)  ILR (1978) 1 Ker 137 (144) (Possession given by way of security, creditor debtor relationship created. It is mortgage even if there is an element of lease in the transfer)  AIR 1967 Ker 70 (DB)  (1962) 40 Mys LJ 669 (670)  AIR 1960 Pat 196 (198) · 37 Pat 1465 (DB)  1959 Andh LT 457 (461)  ILR (1956) Cut 650 (664) · 24 Cut LT 52 (DB) (It is the assurance in its payment or ready recoverability that constitutes a particular thing a security for a debt)  AIR 1954 Trav-Co 7 (9) · ILR (1952) Trav-Co 438 (DB)  AIR 1951 Pat 327 (328) (DB) (Debt subsists in mortgage — Transaction by which debt is extinguished is a sale)  AIR 1923 All 586 (587) · 45 All 581 (DB).

2. (1902) 26 Bom 252 (256) (FB)  AIR 1915 Mad 382 (383) (DB)  (1864) 2 Mad HCR 51 (54) (DB)  (1864) 2 Mad HCR 108 (109) (DB) * (1913) 19 Ind Cas 221 (221) (DB) (Mad) (A simple bond under which the obligee bound himself and his heirs "with all my property movable and immovable as thanaka" is not a mortgage or charge)  (1913) 20 Ind Cas 544 (545) (Oudh)

[See also (1869) 4 Mad HCR 434 (441) (DB).]

2A. 1975 Ker LT 1 (10, 18) (FB). (AIR 1968 Ker 38 (FB). Overruled.)

irrespective of whether amount was satisfied or not only because consideration is not cash, but a past liability, the transaction cannot be termed as mortgage (3) It is not the name given to a contract, but its contents or the relation constituted by it that determines its nature (4) If it appears from the deed that it was the intention of the parties to create a security on the land, it is sufficient to create a mortgage (5) A 'security', speaking generally, is anything that makes the money more assured in its payment or more readily recoverable, as distinguished from e.g., a mere I.O.U. which is only evidence of a debt Therefore, it is the assurance in its payment or ready recoverability that constitutes a particular thing a security for debt (6) For transfer of an interest to secure repayment, there need not be a present advance at the date of the execution of the deed Even an arrangement to advance money in future will support a mortgage (7)

Illustrations

- (1) A executed in favour of B what purported to be a mortgage with possession for 14 years the deed providing that "on the expiration of the term the mortgagor shall come into possession of the mortgaged villages without settlement of accounts that on the expiration of the term the mortgagee shall have no power whatever in respect of the said estate which, after the expiration of the term, shall be returned to the mortgagor without his paying the mortgage-money secured under this document" It was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that the transaction was not a mortgage in the proper sense of the word that it was not a security for the payment of any money or the performance of any engagement but that it was simply a grant of land for a fixed term free of rent in consideration of a sum made up of past and future advances (8)
- (2) A transferred property by a lease for a certain advance by B not as a security for repayment but as an acquittance of it An agreement was also executed for retransfer of the property when the grantor or his heirs paid back the money without interest It was held that the transaction was not a mortgage (9).
- (3) A deed gave the creditor the right to take possession of the property described in it for the purpose of receiving from the profits thereof the amount of the debt with interest if the debt was not paid off within the period fixed It was held that where such a right is given for such a purpose there is "a transfer of an interest in specific immovable property for the purpose of securing the payment of money advanced" within S. 58 of the Transfer of Property Act (10)

See also the undermentioned cases (11) See also S. 105, Note 67

3. AIR 1981 Bom 335 : 1980 Mah LJ 263.

4. (1902) 26 Bom 252 (257) (FB)  (1870) 13 Suth WR 82 (85) (FB)  AIR 1955 Bom 419 (425, 427)  AIR 1954 Pat 562 (566) 33 Pat 638 (DB)  AIR 1940 Bom 225 (227) ILR (1940) Bom 453 (DB) (Per Wassoodew J)  AIR 1934 Pat 624 (625)  AIR 1925 Rang 102 (103)  AIR 1924 Pat 580 (582) 3 Pat 465 (DB)  AIR 1921 Pat 43 (43) 6 Pat LJ 37 (DB).

Also see S. 8, Note 20 and S. 105, Note 14.

5. AIR 1955 Bom 419 (425, 427)  (1870) 13 Suth WR 82 (85) (FB). (If the intention can be collected from the instrument the form of expression is not material.)

6. (1969) 35 Cut LT 821 : ILR (1970) Cut 396

7. AIR 1959 Bom 482 (485) : ILR (1959) Bom 1112 (DB)

8. (1903) 25 All 115 (119) : 30 Ind App 54 (PC).

9. (1884) 10 Cal 30 (35) : 10 Ind App 129 (PC).

10. (1889) 13 Bom 90 (98) (FB).

11. (1969) 35 Cut LT 821 ILR (1970) Cut 396 (403) (Delivery of house to mortgagee — Stipulation that on failure to pay within stipulated time mortgagee entitled to sell etc. — Repayment of mortgage money secured)  (1962) 40 Mys LJ 669 (670) (A mortgaging land to B and later on executing agreement in favour of B under which mortgaged property delivered to possession of B in consideration of mortgage debt and interest thereon — An

13. "Existing or future debt."

A security may be given for a general balance that might be due on account. Thus, a deposit of title deeds as security for money due on a general balance of account that may be struck in the future is a mortgage.(1) See also section 79.

The onus of proof that a security was intended to cover the balance of an account current is on those who assert it(2).

It is well settled that when there is a transfer of interest of immovable property by way of mortgage then all advances of money which may have been made both prior to the date of mortgage and subsequent thereto would be covered by it. In such cases one mortgage covers all such advances(3).

Where A in consideration of a past debt due by him to B, executes a document in favour of B, by which A's property is handed over to B for 14 years, the debt to be liquidated from out of the proceeds of the property, it is a mortgage for the purpose of securing an existing debt(4). A mortgage may be executed to secure a future debt(5).

A security bond given to an officer of the Court to secure an amount that may be decreed or ordered by the Court is a mortgage to secure a future debt (6) But such a security bond executed in favour of the "Court" is not a mortgage, as the Court is not a juridical person, and so not a agreement containing stipulation that at end of ten years P should deliver possession of land to A free from encumbrance — No stipulation in agreement for payment of mortgage debt nor property delivered made security for repayment of loan — Held, transaction was not mortgage)  AIR 1956 All 332 (333) (Sale of grove in protected land without consideration and without permission — Sale cannot be converted into usufructuary mortgage under S. 13(1)(a), U.P. Regulation of Agricultural Credit Act (14 of 1940), there being no principal amount towards which mortgagor could be required to make payment)  ILR (1956) Cut 650 (664) (DB) (Mortgagee was simply to remain in possession paying the entire rajbhagam to mortgagor till mortgage money was paid, without getting anything towards his debt and without having a right to sell or foreclose — This did not amount to securing payment of money advanced.)  (1911) 10 MLT 187 (187) (Consent decree stipulating for payment of the money by instalments and execution of mortgage for such payment forms one transaction and the mortgage is not without consideration)  AIR 1943 All 337 (339) : ILR (1943) All 802 (FB). (Under the terms of a bond the executant covenanted that he would regularly pay the interest on the sum lent and it was agreed that in default of any payment of interest the obligees would be entitled to take possession of certain specified plots of land. It was held that the bond was a mortgage bond from the date of its execution, the intention of the parties being, that the property specified at the foot of the bond should be security for the debt. It was not a simple mortgage bond, but was a mortgage of a kind which by the amending Act of 1929 came to be known as an anomalous mortgage)  AIR 1943 Pesh 15 (17) (DB). (Deed in the form of a (Mustaki) lease mortgage — Transferor letting transferee in possession for 7 years — Property to be taken back after 7 years as redeemed and mortgage debt to be treated as paid up — No payment on account of principal or interest to be made by transferor at any time — Deed held lease and not a mortgage)  AIR 1922 Pat 36 (37) (DB)  AIR 1918 Oudh 279 (280)  1936 RD 365 (365) (BR)

Section 58 — Note 13

1. (1880) 2 Mad 239 (257) : 7 Ind App 83 (PC).
2. (1870) 39 LJ Ch 655 (656) : LR 10 EQ 467, In re Boys.
3. 1987 Rev LR 140 (142) (Punj & Har)  (1986) 89 Pun LR 671
4. (1934) 18 RD 231 (231).
5. (1912) 13 Ind Cas 653 (655) (DB) (Cal)
6. (1956) 58 Bom LR 622 (623)  AIR 1915 Cal 533 (533, 534) (DB)  (1905) 32 Cal 494 (496) (DB) (Security bond given to Registrar putting immovable property as security for costs of respondent in appeal)  (1899) 26 Cal 246 (249) (DB)

mortgage (7) (As to when it will operate as a "charge" see Note 8 on S 100) The hypothecation of property for the purpose of securing a future liability to pay the mortgage money in case the mortgagee should be deprived of the mortgaged property is a mortgage to secure a contingent liability(8). (See also S 5, Note 7 and S 48, Note 7) A mortgage may be made not only to secure a present advance but also a future advance contemplated by the parties up to a particular limit(9)

14. "Or the performance of an engagement."

The word "engagement" means a contract and the phrase "which may give rise to a pecuniary liability" includes cases where the breach of the engagement will give rise to a right to claim damages (1) Where X executed a rent deed to Y in respect of the latter's property and by the deed itself he (X) hypothecated certain property of his for the payment of the agreed rent and for delivery of certain articles yearly such as straw etc., it was held that the document was one "for securing the performance of an engagement" i.e. the engagement to pay rent and to deliver certain articles, and was a mortgage (2) A kootchit executed by the stakeholder of a chit fund of his property in favour of the subscribers for the due performance of his obligation to conduct the chit properly is a mortgage for the performance of an engagement which may give rise to a pecuniary liability(3).

Where A sells property to B and executes a document of indemnity agreeing that if B was deprived of the property or suffered loss A would pay the whole amount of the mortgage the document contains an engagement which may give rise to a personal liability(4)

Where A took a loan of paddy stated as being worth Rs. 300 from B and promised to pay interest on the loan in paddy at a specified rate and hypothecated certain property therefor, it was held that the intention of the parties was that if the paddy was not returned as stipulated the mortgagee was entitled to recover the price thereof, that it was an engagement which would give rise to a pecuniary liability and that it was therefore a mortgage(5)

Where a person is a subscriber and bidder of chit of a chit company, acknowledged his liability to pay instalments and mortgaged the property, the chit company is entitled to realise future loan borrowed after execution of mortgage(6).

Where A, a decree holder against B, applied for possession of the property decreed, and B having appealed from the decree, the Court ordered that A should be placed in possession if he furnished security for restoring the property to B if he should succeed in the appeal, and C executed a security bond making himself liable to pay one and a half lacs of rupees compensation if A failed to restore possession and hypothecated certain property for that amount, it was held that it was a mortgage within the meaning of the Stamp Act(7).

7. See Note 2B on S 145 of the AIR Commentaries on the Code of Civil Procedure, 10th (1985) Edn.,  (1956) 58 Bom LR 622 (623)

[See also AIR 1929 All 834 (835, 836) (DB)]

[But see (1908) 31 Mad 330 (DB) (Cannot be considered as good law)]

8. AIR 1925 Pat 288 (290) (DB).

9. (1889) 11 All 136 (143) : 16 Ind App 12 (PC)  AIR 1955 Cal 194 (199) : ILR (1956) 2 Cal 822 (DB).

Section 58 — Note 14

1. (1902) 25 Mad 50 (54) (DB) (Engagement to withdraw an appeal under certain circumstances.)

2. (1894) 17 All 56 (57) (FB). (Reference under Act No. 1 of 1879 (Indian Stamp Act) S 49.)

3. AIR 1927 Mad 773 (775)  AIR 1918 Mad 997 (997) : 38 Ind Cas 813 (DB)

4. AIR 1920 Mad 650 (651) (DB)  (1908) 5 All LJ 723 (724) (DB)

5. AIR 1921 Cal 172 (173, 174) : 48 Cal 625 (FB).

6. 2001 AIHC 982 (Ker).

7. AIR 1928 Oudh 143 (143) : 3 Luck 298 (FB).

It must be noted that under the Stamp Act, the restriction that the engagement must be one which may give rise to a pecuniary liability does not occur in the definition of "mortgage deed". See Note 2

15. "Mortgagor".

A person in order to be a mortgagor, must transfer an interest in his property. Where A and B join in a mortgage as mortgagors, but the property mortgaged is only B's property and no property of A is included in the mortgage, A is not a "mortgagor"(1).

Although a person may be entitled to redeem the mortgage, if he is not the transferor himself or one deriving title from the transferor, he cannot be considered a mortgagor within the meaning of the section(2).

The person who has purchased the right of equity of redemption in the suit property from the original mortgagor by a registered document steps in the shoes of the original mortgagor. In view of Sec. 59 read with Sec. 60, such a purchaser for all practical purposes becomes the mortgagor(3).

A mortgagee cannot deny the mortgagor's title to mortgage the property during the pendency of the mortgage but this principle would not apply when the mortgagee in possession is evicted by a person having paramount title(4).

Where the property belonging to wakf was mortgaged by its mutawalli describing himself to be the owner of the property and there was no indication appearing from the transaction that it was made known to the mortgagee that the property belonged to wakf, the mortgagee would be precluded from denying right of mortgagor to redeem. The mortgage may be void against Allah Tala but it does not affect adversely the relationship between mortgagor and mortgagee(5).

Only, the owner i.e. the mortgagor can transfer the property itself, subject to the interest which he has transferred to others, out of totality of his rights which constitute the ownership(6).

Even after the creation of charge or mortgage the mortgagor constitutes to be Bhumiswami of the land and he can transfer the right of ownership to a third person on whom the charge of mortgage would be binding. The sale would be subject to charge or mortgage. The repayment of loan remains secured. The vendee gets the right to redeem the mortgage(7).

16. "Mortgagee".

It is the transferee of the interest that is the mortgagee. Where a judgment-debtor executes a security bond in favour of the Judge of a Court for the due performance of any decree or order that may be passed against him, the decree holder does not thereby become the mortgagee(1). As to

Section 58 — Note 15

1. 1954 All LJ 336 (338) (DB)  AIR 1924 All 787 (788) (DB)
2. 1964 All LJ 244 (246). (Grantee of Guzara having no power to transfer, mortgaging subject-matter of grant. Though mortgage becomes valid after lapse of 12 years, grantor of Guzara cannot be regarded as the mortgagor.)
3. AIR 1980 Pat 163 : 1980 BLJR 371 (FB)  AIR 1983 All 197 (199) : (1983) 0 All LR 69  AIR 1981 Guj 120 (131) : 22 Guj LR 473
4. AIR 1973 Mys 28 (30) : (1973) 1 Mys LJ 186
5. (1984) 10 All LR 757 (765)
6. ILR (1992) Kant 650 (654) : AIR 1933 Cal. 228 : AIR 1936 Mad 70 : AIR 1945 Cal 135, Dissented from.)
7. 2000 (1) MPLJ 257 (258)

Section 58 — Note 16

1. (1903) 30 Cal 1060 (1062) (DB)

17. Mortgage-money

[illegible]

- Version 5B — Page 17

- ¹ See also AIR 1922 All 362 (363) (DB.)

- See also A.P. 957 Travancore, 1957. But Travancore was Re-annexed to India in Travancore, and warrant for arrest of the prisoner, the court, 22/1/1957, order of the court, 22/1/1957 was made. The court, 22/1/1957, order of the prisoner, 22/1/1957, order of the court, 22/1/1957, order of the court, 22/1/1957, order of the release, the court, 22/1/1957, order of the court, 22/1/1957, order of the court, 22/1/1957, order of the Relief Act i]

4. AIR 1924 PC 183 183 SI Ind App 3
- rd
- S Lab 425 PC

- [illegible]

Where a mortgage extends the security providing maximum limit of advance the security extends also to the interest on the amount lent(6) As to illustrations of a contract excluding interest from being a charge on the property see the undermentioned cases(7) Where there is no stipulation for interest express or implied, in the mortgage document, it cannot be claimed as part of the mortgage-money(8).

The question whether the interest claimed is money of which payment is secured must be decided on the particular terms of the mortgage document(9) Where there is no mention of any kind of interest in the mortgage document, simple interest would be allowable according to the ordinary cursus curiae But it is open to the parties to agree aliunde that the interest to be charged on accounting is to be compound interest. That would not be a variation of the original mortgage bond but would be an independent agreement and as such provable under the Evidence Act(10) Where the mortgage bond fixes a date for the payment of the mortgage-money and provides for payment of interest till that date, an agreement to pay interest even subsequent to the date so fixed, until payment of the principal, might be implied in the absence of an agreement to the contrary(11).

on the property, as there was nothing in the contract to indicate that there was to be no such charge AIR 1924 PC 183 (Foll)  AIR 194, Oudh 498 (504) 16 Luck 812 (DB) (The fact that mortgagor has made himself personally liable to pay up the deficiency if the interest is not realised from the profits does not make any difference)  AIR 1939 Lah 129 (134) (DB)  AIR 1935 Lah 142 (143) (DB) (The mere fact that separate date is mentioned for the payment of the interest is not sufficient to displace the rule)  AIR 1933 Lah 289 (290) (A recital in the mortgage deed that in default of payment of interest, it may be recovered from the person and property of the mortgagor does not by itself necessarily mean that interest ceases to be a charge on the property)  AIR 1928 Pat 398 (399) (DB)  AIR 1928 Lah 342 (343) 9 Lah 140 (DB) (AIR 1924 PC 183, Foll)  AIR 1928 Oudh 273 (275) 3 Luck 459 (DB)  AIR 1927 Lah 817 (819) (DB)  AIR 1927 Lah 850 (850) (DB)  AIR 1926 Lah 624 7 Lah 559 (DB) (The fact that the mortgagor undertook to pay the interest personally is not incompatible with the interest being a charge on the property)  AIR 1926 Lah 530 (532) (AIR 1924 Lah 273 held must be taken to have been Overruled by AIR 1924 PC 183)  AIR 1925 Lah 113 (114) ((1888) Pun Re No 57, Foll)  AIR 1923 Lah 587 (588) (DB)  AIR 1923 Nag 181 (182) (Note — Facts not clear whether interest was by way of damages or under an agreement to pay)  AIR 1915 Cal 77 (78) (Where under a Sudherma bond (usufructuary mortgage) the mortgagee obtains possession of the land, the land is security both for principal and interest)  (1909) 3 Ind Cas 978 (979) (DB) (Lah)  (1904) 1 All LJ 470 (473) (DB)  (1932) 135 Ind Cas 497 (498) (DB) (Lah)  (1911) 33 All 107 (109) (DB)

[See also AIR 1967 Mys 41 (44) (DB) (Usufructuary mortgagee kept out of possession — Mortgagor is liable to pay him interest on the mortgage amount AIR 1958 Mys 32, Rel on)

6. (1970) 1 Mad LJ 200
7. AIR 1956 Mad 434 (441) ILR (1956) Mad 983 (DB)  1913 Pun Re No 45 (DB)  (1932) 136 Ind Cas 332 (332, 333) (DB) (Oudh) For other illustrations, see Note 10 on S 60
8. AIR 1924 Pat 302 (303) (DB) (In a deed providing for interest being paid out of usufructuary mortgaged property, interest cannot be deemed to be charged on property) * (1913) 40 Cal 514 (517) (DB)  (1886) 8 All 182 (185) (DB)  (1910) 5 Ind Cas 285 (286, 287) (DB) (All). (Express agreement not to pay interest)
9. (1911) 35 Bom 327 (332) (PC). (Terms of the document were held to show that there was a covenant to pay.)  AIR 1915 Lah 331 (332) (Mortgage held to contain agreement to pay interest up to payment.)  AIR 1961 Mad 415 (416) (DB)
10. AIR 1952 Nag 25 (28, 29) : ILR (1951) Nag 858 (DB).
11. (1901) 11 Mad LJ 183 (185) (SB)  AIR 1935 Oudh 213 (216) : 10 Luck 481 (DB)  AIR 1928 Lah 342 (344) 9 Lah 140 (DB) (Principles in 19 All 39, Followed)  AIR

In such cases, the post diem interest would clearly be part of the mortgage-money and would be a charge on the property(12) Where it was stipulated in general terms that interest at a particular rate was to run upon the principal sums advanced without any limitation as to the period of its currency and it was also stipulated that in default of punctual payment at the end of each year the creditors were to be at liberty to treat the interest as principal and to recover it from the mortgaged property post diem interest was granted by the Privy Council on the ground that the contract did not intend that the interest should cease after the stipulated period(13) Where it was stipulated that interest at a certain rate would be paid, that within one year the principal money and interest would be paid, that otherwise after the expiry of the period the property would be deemed to be sold for the entire money, it was held that the intention of the parties was that the relationship of mortgagor and mortgagee should cease after the expiry of the year and that no post diem interest was to be charged(14). In the undermentioned case it was, however, held that mortgage-money did not include interest unless it was expressly secured by the mortgage(15)

Where a mortgage deed provided for payment of principal and interest at a fixed rate "within one year" and a further covenant not to transfer the property till "payment in full of the principal and interest", it was held, on a construction of the document that the contract was to pay interest until payment, and not merely for one year and that interest was therefore recoverable as part of the mortgage-money under the contract and not merely as damages(16) Where under a mortgage there is a stipulated rate of interest payable by the mortgagor for the mortgaged money and the amount of income recovered from the properties is to be first applied to the interest and balance towards the principal the mortgagee is entitled to recover the interest by filing a suit(17) Even if there is no express or implied provision for post diem interest, the mortgagee may be granted interest technically as damages(18) and the rate would be prima facie the same as that provided in the bond though there is no rule of law making that rate necessarily the measure of the damages(19) Post diem interest at a reasonable rate might also be decreed under the Interest Act, 1839 though there

1926 Oudh 378 (379)  AIR 1924 Muz 736 (740)  AIR 1923 Oudh 133 (145) (Time of the payment of the amount fixed — On default the mortgage to be treated as absolute sale — Interest continues after the fixed date)  AIR 1923 Lah 648 (649) 4 Lah 346 (DB) — In a mortgage by conditional sale, a covenant to pay post diem interest is implied)  AIR 1923 All 7 (8) 44 All 772 (774) (DB)  AIR 1915 Oudh 16 (23) 18 Oudh Cas 16 (DB)  AIR 1914 Oudh 137 (139) (DB)  (1900) 13 Mad 534 (536) (DB)  (1897) 20 Mad 371 (374, 375) (DB)  (1912) 16 Ind Cas 216 (217) (DB)

[See also (1899) 22 Mad 339 (340) (DB) (Bond provided for payment of interest annually and of the principal at the end of three years — Intention to pay interest even subsequently implied.)]

12. AIR 1919 Cal 46 (47) 46 Cal 448 (DB)

13. (1898) 20 All 171 (180) : 25 Ind App 915 (PC).

14. (1921) 63 Ind Cas 533 (535) (DB) (Lah)

15. AIR 1920 Pat 170 (171) (DB).

16. (1897) 19 All 39 (49) : 23 Ind App 138 (143, 144) (PC).

[See also AIR 1914 All 171 (172) (DB)  (1898) 25 Cal 246 (249) (DB) (23 Ind App 138 PC), Foll.)]

17. (1970) 2 SCJ 348.

18. (1906) 2 Nag LR 162 (168) (PC)  (1891) 13 All 330 (333) (DB)  (1889) 11 All 416 (419) (DB)  (1887) 10 All 85 (90) (DB).

19. (1906) 2 Nag LR 162 (168) (PC)  AIR 1922 Lah 254 (257) : 3 Lah 200 (FB)  AIR 1933 Mad 171 (171)  AIR 1923 Lah 632 (633) 4 Lah 406 (DB) (Rate of interest reduced as it was unusual)  AIR 1915 Oudh 31 (56) (DB) (In fixing the rate the Court may be no agreement express or implied, to pay interest(20) There was a difference of opinion on the question whether interest awarded as damages or under the Interest Act could be considered part of the mortgage-money so as to constitute a charge on the property(21). The present O. 34. R. 11 of the Code of Civil Procedure now makes it clear that even such interest is part of the mortgage-money(22). As to the meaning of interest, see the case noted below(23)

Where it was stipulated by the mortgage deed that if the entire amount is paid by the mortgagor without committing any default the mortgagee would not be entitled to more than 11½% and at the same time the mortgagor would be paying the mortgage money not in a lump sum but in 30 half yearly instalments, however in event of two defaults in payment of mortgage money, the entire sum would be due and on that entire sum mortgagee was entitled to additional interest of 2½%, such condition was penal in nature as it enured to the benefit of mortgagee(24).

The expression "mortgaged money" read with its definition in Section 58(a) does not include compensation for improvements effected by the mortgagee(25). However, if expenditure in making improvement and repairs of mortgaged property was permitted by terms of mortgage deed, it cannot be disallowed on ground that property was mortgaged for lesser sum(26).

See also Note 10 on S. 60 generally.

The term 'mortgage money' in S. 58 is not exhaustive. It includes all sums payable by mortgagor to the mortgagee at time of redemption(27).

The amount due under the mortgage or in other words the amount stipulated in the mortgage deed to be returned by mortgagor to get back the property mortgaged is debt(28).

Damdupt

The rule of damdupt is an equitable rule debarring the creditor to recover at any given time the amount of interest which is in excess of the principal amount due at that time. As mortgage is principally a loan transaction, the rule of damdupt would also be applicable to mortgage(29).

As mortgage is principally a loan transaction there is no reason why the rule of Damdupat which is an equitable rule should not apply also to mortgage(30).

must be guided by the circumstances of the case)  (1886) 8 All 486 (489, 490) (DB)
(Post diem interest granted as damages, but the rate of interest reduced)

[See also (1890) 18 WR (Eng) 712 (713) 60 LJ Ch 43 61 LT 189 45 Ch D 225, Mellersh v Brown  (1911) 14 Oudh Cas 106 (106) (Rate provided in bond being exorbitant 6 per cent was allowed.)]

20. (1895) 17 All 581 (586) (FB).

21. (1895) 17 All 581 (588) (FB) (No.)  (1897) 24 Cal 699 (703) (FB). (No.)  AIR 1918 Lah 99 (101) 1918 Pun Re No. 56 (DB) (Yes)  (1896) 18 All 316 (319) (DB). (No.)  (1895) 18 Mad 248 (250) (DB) (Yes)  (1895) 5 Mad LJ 154 (155) (DB) (Interest awarded under the Interest Act XXXII of 1839 is a charge)  (1895) 18 Mad 257 (261) (DB) (No.)  (1894) 21 Cal 274 (277, 278) (DB) (Yes)  (1891) 13 All 330 (336) (DB) (No.)

22. AIR 1958 Mys 32 (33) : ILR (1957) Mys 125.

23. AIR 1935 Rang 525 (527) : 14 Rang 16 (DB).

24. ILR (1991) Kant 3186 (3195) (DB).

25. 1974 Ker LT 879 : ILR (1974) 1 Ker 201 (DB).

26. 1982 WLN (UC) 342 (344) (Raj).

27. AIR 1984 (NOC) 297 (All).

28. AIR 1991 Guj 85 (90)

29. AIR 1988 SC 1200 (1204) : (1988) 2 Civ LJ 388. ((1903) ILR 26 Mad 662, Overruled.)

30. AIR 1988 SC 1200 (1204) : (1988) 2 Civ LJ 388.

18. Non-payment of consideration — Effect.

A mortgage or a sale without consideration will be a void transaction(1). But where a mortgage or a sale is intended to be for a consideration, the transaction is not void. As has been seen in the Notes on S. 54 the non-payment of consideration for a sale does not prevent title from passing. On the same principle, a mortgage would, in the absence of a covenant or stipulation to the contrary, be complete, i.e., the transfer of interest is effected, not when the consideration is paid or made good, but when the mortgage contract is entered into, regardless of whether and when the consideration is paid(2). Merely because no consideration has passed to the mortgagor, that by itself is no ground to hold that it was a sham transaction or was not enforceable. Once the due execution of the mortgage deed stands proved, the passing of consideration is of no consequence so far as its validity is concerned because mortgage is not a contract but is a transfer of interest(3). There is, however, a difference between a sale and a mortgage in this respect. In the case of a sale, as has been seen in Note 14 on S. 54, the non-payment of the consideration does not prevent title from passing to the purchaser and the remedy of the vendor is only to sue for the recovery of the purchase-money or to enforce his seller's charge. In the case of a mortgage, the non-payment of consideration will not render the mortgage void but will disentitle the mortgagee from suing for the amount not paid by him. The reason is that a mortgage is prima facie only a security for a debt and where the debt does not exist to any extent, the security cannot be enforced to that extent(4).

Once the due execution of the mortgage deed stands proved, the passing of consideration is of no consequence so far as its validity is concerned because mortgage is not a contract but transfer of interest(5).

Section 58 — Note 18

1. AIR 1930 Nag 166 (169)  AIR 1924 Lah 381 (381)  AIR 1917 Mad 492 (493) (DB)  AIR 1914 Mad 684 (685) (DB)  (1876) 1 A L J 69 (31) (DB)  (1876) 1 Ind Cas 4 (4) (DB) (All).

[See also AIR 1958 Andh Pra 145 (146) (DB) (Where the mortgagee is not aware that the mortgagor's daughter for whose marriage the debt was alleged to have been contracted by her father by executing the mortgage was a minor aged 12, it cannot be said that the mortgagee's object in lending the amount was unlawful or that the provisions of the Child Marriage Restraint Act were to be contravened, and hence the mortgage cannot be challenged as invalid or unenforceable.)  AIR 1950 Mad 146 (150) (Sale of property by A to B on assumption that title vested in A — B mortgaging back same property for full sale price — B and not A found to have title to the property — Mortgage is devoid of consideration and is unenforceable.)]

Also see Section 4, Note 4.

2. AIR 1916 Lah 155 (156) : 1916 Pun Re No. 53 (FB)  AIR 1956 Trav-Co 234 (235) ILR (1956) TC 167 (DB)  AIR 1930 Lah 678 (679) (Land mortgaged by D to P but mortgage money left in deposit with P as land was already under mortgage to H — Interest to be paid by mortgagor and in default mortgagee could sue for possession — Transfer of interest held to be effected)  AIR 1922 Pat 299 (301) : 1 Pat 281 (DB)  AIR 1919 Mad 781 (782) : 42 Mad 20 (DB) (No suit for cancellation of mortgage under S. 39, Contract Act, would lie)  AIR 1919 Lah 402 (404)  AIR 1917 Pat 514 (515) : 2 Pat L Jour 168 (DB)  1908 Pun LR No. 60, P 149 (150)  (1912) 34 All 273 (276) (DB)  (1912) 13 Ind Cas 653 (DB) (Cal) (1859-1896) Oudh Sel Cas No. 280 (DB)
3. AIR 1994 Punj & Har 15 (18) : 1993 Pun LJ 789.
4. AIR 1968 SC 1361 (1363)  AIR 1972 Mys 23 (25, 26) (1971) 2 Mys LJ 62 (DB)  AIR 1917 Mad 492 (495) (DB)  1911 Pun Re No. 31 : 11 Ind Cas 321 (325) (DB)
[See also AIR 1956 Trav-Co 234 (245) ILR (1956) Trav-Co 167 (DB)  AIR 1915 Mad 945 (946) (DB).]
5. AIR 1994 Punj & Har 15 (18) : 1993 Pun LJ 789.

The covenant or stipulation to the contrary may be express or implied, the question in such cases being "when did the parties intend that the 'transfer of interest' should take place"? The presumption would be in favour of immediate transfer but this presumption could be rebutted by proof of an express stipulation to the contrary or by proof of acts and circumstances from which such a contrary intention might reasonably be inferred(6). A provision in a mortgage deed that the mortgagor will make over the mortgage deed to the mortgagee upon payment of the full consideration does not amount to a contract that the mortgage was not to take effect until payment of the consideration(7).

A mortgage of which the whole cash has not been paid is valid to the extent of the money advanced unless the mortgagor has expressly put an end to the mortgage(8). To the extent to which the money was not paid, there will be a failure of consideration(9). Where the mortgagee undertakes to pay the creditors of the mortgagor, there is no failure of consideration, if the liability of the creditors is cleared off and this is so even if the creditors forgo their rights(10). It has, however, been held in the undermentioned case(11) that where the liability is in respect of the amounts to be advanced by the mortgagee for the discharge of a particular debt and the consideration for the mortgage is not a mere promise to discharge a particular debt, the mortgagee is not entitled to anything more than what he has actually paid to discharge the debt. Where the mortgagee undertakes to pay the creditors of the mortgagor, he must pay them within a reasonable time(12). If he does not do so and the mortgagor suffers damages the mortgagee will be liable for it(13). Where the consideration for a mortgage has not been paid by the mortgagee the mortgagor cannot sue for

6. AIR 1916 Lah 155 (156) : 1916 Pun Re No. 53 (FB)  1884 Pun Re No. 16 Page 48 (49, 50) (DB) (Money not paid immediately — Held, as there was no indication that in default of the consideration being paid immediately or within a reasonable time the mortgage was to be void the mortgagor could not treat it as void)  (1912) 13 Ind Cas 653 (655, 656) (DB) (Cal).

7. AIR 1922 Pat 299 (301) : 1 Pat 281 (DB).

8. AIR 1916 Lah 155 (157) : 1916 Pun Re No. 53 (FB)  AIR 1942 Lah 234 (236) ILR (1943) Lah 746 (DB)  AIR 1930 Lah 549 (551) (DB)  AIR 1927 Pat 388 (389) (DB) (The mortgagor stipulated that mortgagee should pay the mortgage amount into Court in case an execution sale of the property was set aside — The execution sale was not set aside but the mortgagee paid the amount into Court, and it was attached in execution of other decrees against the mortgagor — Held, that the mortgagee was not entitled to recover the amount from the mortgagor)  AIR 1925 Oudh 132 (134)  AIR 1921 Cal 435 (440) (DB)  AIR 1920 Mad 906 (906) (DB)  AIR 1919 Mad 1117 (1124) (DB)  AIR 1919 Oudh 104 (105)  AIR 1919 Oudh 251 (251) (DB)  AIR 1918 Mad 898 (905) (DB)  AIR 1917 Pat 514 (517) 2 Pat LJ 168 (DB)  AIR 1916 Cal 349 (351) (DB)  AIR 1916 Oudh 197 (198) 18 Oudh Cas 280  (1909) 32 Mad 281 (283) (DB)  (1908) 35 Cal 1051 (1057) (DB)  (1906) 10 Cal WN 932 (933) (DB)  1893 Bom PJ 82  (1913) 36 Mad 29 (31)  (1912) 34 All 273 (280) (DB)  (1912) 35 Mad 114 (118) (DB)  (1911) 10 Ind Cas 258 (259) (DB) (Mad)

[See also (1911) 35 Bom 395 (399) (DB) (Mortgagee failing to pay a part of consideration — Subsequent payment of that part cannot serve to undo the effect of partial failure of consideration.)  AIR 1930 Nag 166 (169).]

[But see (1894) 18 Mad 126 (128) (DB)]

9. AIR 1917 Mad 630 (635) : 40 Mad 308 (FB). (Per Wallis, C J)  (1912) 35 Mad 114 (118) (DB)  (1910) 5 Ind Cas 334 (336) (DB) (Cal)

[See also (1907) 31 Bom 552 (557, 558) (DB)  1881 All WN 13 (13) (DB)]

10. 1883 All WN 213 (214) (DB).

11. AIR 1947 Mad 197 (199) : ILR (1947) Mad 411 (DB).

12. AIR 1931 All 95 (96) 52 All 751 (DB)  AIR 1918 Oudh 331 (332)

13. AIR 1953 Mad 603 (603) * AIR 1937 Oudh 138 (140) (DB)  AIR 1936 All 598 (600)

specific performance of the contract to pay money, though he can sue for compensation(14), the measure of compensation being the difference between the amount stipulated and the amount paid(15) and any loss that the mortgagor may have sustained(16). (See also Note 6.)

A usufructuary mortgagor parting with possession but not receiving full consideration can not claim a return of the proportionate extent of land and mesne profits(17). Where a usufructuary mortgagee undertook to pay off a prior mortgagee and obtain possession, but did not pay him off and the mortgagor paid him off and obtained possession, the usufructuary mortgagee cannot compel the mortgagor to perform his part of the contract and claim possession from the mortgagor even though the mortgage cannot be said to be invalid(18). But where the redemption of the prior mortgage was not a condition precedent to obtaining possession, the mortgagee was given a decree for possession on condition of his paying the mortgagor the amount payable to the first mortgagee(19). Where under the terms of a simple mortgage the mortgagee deducts a certain sum of money from the principal sum of money to be advanced, towards the first year's interest in advance there is no reduction of the principal to that extent(20).

(DB)  (1921) 63 Ind Cas 87 (89) (DB) (All)  AIR 1918 Oudh 331 (331-332)  (1907) 10 Oudh Cas 69 (73) (DB). (These cannot be claimed as set-off in a suit by the mortgagee on his mortgage bond — A separate suit must be brought.)  (1912) 15 Ind Cas 526 (527) (Oudh)  1901 All WN 14 (15).

14. AIR 1947 Mad 197 (200) : ILR (1947) Mad 411 (DB). (The rights of a mortgagor in a case where the entire consideration of the mortgage is not advanced by the mortgagee are rights personal to him and a purchaser in Court auction of the mortgaged property who not automatically become entitled to such rights of the mortgagor. It is even a question if the right of the mortgagor which may sound in damages could be transferred or assigned validly.)  AIR 1942 Lah 234 (236) : ILR (1943) Lah 746 (DB). (If possession has passed the mortgagor might sue to get it back after a time or take steps to relieve himself of some of the other conditions of the mortgage. If he has suffered any loss he may sue for damages. But it is clear that the unpaid part of the mortgage money is not a debt nor has the mortgagor an actionable claim for its recovery against the mortgagee.)  AIR 1945 Lah 21 (22)  AIR 1935 Pat 125 (126)  AIR 1931 All 40 (44) : 52 All 1037 (DB)  AIR 1923 Cal 567 (567)  AIR 1916 Cal 530 (530-531) : 43 Cal 59 (61-63) (DB)  (1908) 11 Oudh Cas 85 (92) (DB)  (1908) 30 All 252 (255) (DB)  1891 13 A 200 (204) (DB)  1884 Pen Re No. 16, P 48 (49, 50) (DB)  (1913) 34 All 273 (276) (DB).

[See also AIR 1935 Nag 135 (136-138), Nag LR 235. Mortgagee undertaking to pay creditors of mortgagor — Failure to pay — Mortgagor can sue for damages.]

[But see AIR 1935 Lah 141 (142). (A suit for the recovery of the unpaid balance would lie. The amount must be treated as a debt due to the mortgagor. The fact that the unpaid balance is according to the contract between the parties to be paid not to the mortgagor but to another person who holds a mortgage on another property belonging to the mortgagor makes no difference as the mortgagee is merely an agent of the mortgagor for the payment of the amount in question to a mortgagee of another property.)  AIR 1925 Lah 774 (174)  AIR 1931 All 95 (98) : 52 All 761 (DB).

15. AIR 1938 Lah 21 (22).

[But see (1905) 8 Oudh 5 (9). (The sum agreed to be paid cannot be a measure of damages.)]

16. (1891) 13 All 200 (205) (DB).

17. AIR 1947 Mad 197 (200) : ILR (1947) Mad 411 (DB).

18. AIR 1925 Oudh 132 (134)  AIR 1924 Oudh 425 (426) : 27 Oudh Cas 60  AIR 1916 Oudh 197 (198) : 18 Oudh Cas 280  1906 Pen Re No. 103, P 363 (365) (DB).

19. AIR 1919 Oudh 104 (105). (34 All 273. Rel. on.)

[See also AIR 1919 Oudh 267 (269) : 22 Oudh Cas 112.]

20. AIR 1953 Sau 84 (85) (DB).

In the Punjab it has been held that non-payment of consideration after demand avoids the mortgage and destroys the mortgage lien and right to possession, in the absence of a stipulation postponing payment(21), unless the mortgagor condones the breach or the non-payment(22). This, however, will not apply where the mortgagor admits receipt of consideration though in point of fact, he did not receive any(23).

As to the burden of proof of non-payment of consideration, see the undermentioned cases(24).

See also S. 60, Note 5.

19. Mortgage without title — Subsequent acquisition — Principle of making good.

A mortgage of property to which the mortgagor has no title creates no lien on the property(1). But if A mortgages land to B to which he has no title, and subsequently acquires that property the principle of equity which regards that as done which ought to be done will be applied and the mortgage will attach to the property(2). But this principle will not apply where the mortgagee knew at the time of the mortgage that the property was not then owned by the mortgagor though he expected that the mortgagor would shortly own it(3). Nor will the principle apply so as to compel A who has acquired other property, to make good to B out of that property for the loss caused by want of title to the mortgaged property(4).

See also notes on Section 43 and also Section 5, Note 7

21. 1907 Pun Re No. 59, P. 274 (277) (FB)  1889 Pun Re No. 100, P. 344 (346)

22. AIR 1914 Lah 187 (197, 198) : 1915 Pun Re No. 3 (DB).

23. AIR 1914 Lah 316 (316, 317) : 1914 Pun Re No. 67 (DB).

24. AIR 1964 Raj 72 (74) ILR (1963) 13 Raj 866 (Mortgagor admitting execution but pleading want of consideration — Burden of proof is on the mortgagor)  1957 All LJ 475 (476) (Mortgage — Burden of proof is on the defendant to prove want of consideration.)  AIR 1950 Kutch 84 (85) (Admission of receipt of consideration in mortgage deed — Presumption as to payment of consideration can be rebutted by minor heir of mortgagor — Burden on minor heir is discharged when he shows that the admission cannot be safely acted upon)  AIR 1949 Ajmer 52 (54) (Execution of mortgage bond proved or admitted — Purchaser from mortgagor alleging want of consideration must prove the same)  AIR 1947 Mad 310 (311) (Mortgagor — Consideration — Burden of proof — Suit by mortgagee to recover money on mortgage bond — Allegation that consideration as recited did not pass — Burden of proof is on executant — But burden to prove consideration is on plaintiff so far as persons not parties to deed are concerned)  (1918) 50 Ind Cas 71 (73) (Cal) (If the evidence given by mortgagee himself shows that the recital as to payment of consideration in the mortgage bond is false the mortgagee must prove it by some other cogent evidence)

Section 58 — Note 19

1. AIR 1957 Pat 706 (709) (DB) (Under-tenure sold in certificate proceedings for recovery of cess — Purchase by patnidar — Subsequent mortgage of under-tenure by under-tenure holder — Mortgagee gets no interest)  (1908) 4 Nag LR 28 (30)  (1866) 1 Agra 286 (287) (DB).

[See also AIR 1959 Pat 239 (242) 27 Pat 904 (DB) (Compromise between decree-holder and judgment-debtor that if decretal amount was paid within 12 months, sale held by Court to be set aside — If not paid, sale to be confirmed — Compromise held not a mortgage.)]

2. AIR 1915 Mad 972 (974) (DB) (Transferor acquiring title by inheritance)  1900 Pun Re No. 32, P. 112 (114, 115) (DB)

3. AIR 1938 Cal 48 (51)  AIR 1938 All 22 (25) ILR (1938) All 63 (DB)

4. 1900 Pun Re No. 32, P. 112 (114) (DB).

20. Mortgage by person having voidable title.

A person who has acquired property under a voidable title can himself give a good title in respect of that property to a bona fide purchaser or mortgagee from him who deals for value and has no notice of the defects in the title(1) See also Notes on Section 41

21. Mortgage by co-owners.

One of the several co-owners, whether tenants in common or joint tenants, can ordinarily mortgage his share(1). If he mortgages the entire property, the mortgage is valid to the extent of his share in the property. If a suit brought by the other co-sharers for a declaration that the mortgage is not binding on their share, is decreed, the property furnished as security for the loan is evidently rendered insufficient and the mortgagee is entitled to sue under S. 68(2). Where a mortgage is executed by several muhammadian co-owners the mere fact that some of them are minors and pardanashin ladies, who had not executed the deed in accordance with law cannot make the execution by the rest invalid. The mortgage would be valid and binding against the rest(3). In the case of a mortgage by a joint tenant in England it has been held that it severs the joint tenancy so far as it affects that share(4). A coparcener of a joint Hindu family in some provinces cannot alienate even his share of the family properties(5). A mortgage by such coparcener of joint family property, neither for a family necessity nor for discharging an antecedent debt, is void in toto and is not binding even on his own share(6).

22. Mortgage by pardanashin woman.

In a transaction with a pardanashin woman it must be shown that the transaction was explained to her and its legal effect clearly understood by her(1). Where her legal adviser is himself

Section 58 — Note 20

1. AIR 1924 Mad 67 (69) (DB)

Section 58 — Note 21

1. AIR 1971 Delhi 316 (318)  AIR 1954 All 314 (314) AIR 1943 Pesh 17 (20) (He can mortgage only his share — The mortgage money is therefore payable by his share alone — Other co-sharers' shares are not affected)  (1906) 8 Bom LR 550 (551) (DB)  (1903) 2 Low Bur Rul 167 (167)  (1874) 11 Bom HCR 76 (80) (DB)  (1911) 12 Ind Cas 858 (858) (Low Bur).
[See also (1899) 23 Bom 385 (389) (DB) * (1874) 11 Bom HCR 72 (73) (DB) (Assumed.)]
2. AIR 1954 All 314 (314, 315).
3. AIR 1951 All 618 (619, 620) (DB)
4. (1863) 46 ER 746 (752) 3 De GJ & Sm 541 142 RR 161 In re Pollards Estate
5. See cases cited in Note 7 on Section 7.
6. AIR 1917 PC 41 (42) : 44 Ind App 163  (1909) 31 All 176 (217) (FB)

Section 58 — Note 22

1. AIR 1914 PC 95 (96)  (1954) 94 Cal LJ 39 (42-43) (DB) (The cloak of protection which the Court puts round pardanashin women is available to them not only in the cases of documents executed by them but also in the cases of transactions like creating a mortgage by depositing title deeds — Omission to record the certificate that documents were read out and explained cannot be lightly treated)  AIR 1944 All 42 (53) (DB) (The mere declaration by the lady, subsequently made, that she had not understood what she was doing, obviously cannot in itself be conclusive. It must be a question whether, having regard to the proved personality of the lady, the nature of the transaction, the circumstances under which it came into existence and the whole history of the parties, it is reasonably established that the transaction was a free and intelligent act of the lady or not)  AIR 1933 Oudh 365 (368-369) 9 Luck 12 (DB) (In order that a deed executed by a the mortgagee and obtains a mortgage bond from her, the Court is entitled and bound to examine the transaction with close scrutiny and strictly insist on the mortgagee showing that the client was fully aware of the meaning and effect of the deed and that the transaction was a fair and honest one(2).

The circumstances under which a pardanashin woman agrees to sell or mortgage property must be carefully examined in order to ascertain that she had independent advice, that the lady had sufficient intelligence to understand the relevant and important matters, that she did understand them as they were explained to her, that nothing was excluded and that there was no undue influence or misrepresentation(3). In a suit to enforce a mortgage-deed executed by a pardanashin illiterate lady, therefore, the burden is heavily on the plaintiffs to establish affirmatively that the mortgage bond was explained to and really understood by the executant lady and that she had independent advice or else that she had so much business capacity and strength of will as to dispense with the necessity of independent advice(4). In Faridunnissa v. Mukhtar Ahmad(5), Lord Sumner said :

"Independent legal advice is not in itself essential . . . The real point is, that the disposition made must be substantially understood and must really be the mental act, as its execution is the physical act, of the person who makes it . . . It, however, the settlor's freedom and comprehension can be otherwise established, or if, as is the respondent's case here, the scheme and substance of the deed were themselves originally and clearly conceived and desired by the settlor, and were then substantially embodied in the deed, there would be nothing further to be gained by independent advice. If the settlor really understands and means to make the transfer, it is not required that someone should have tried to persuade her to the contrary. Again, the question arises how the state of the settlor's mind is to be proved. That the parties to prove it are the parties who set up and rely on the deed is clear. They must satisfy the Court that the deed has been explained to and understood by the party thus under disability, either before execution or after it under circumstances which establish adoption of it with full knowledge and comprehension."

pardanashin lady may be valid it is necessary that she should have intelligently executed it. A lady who was both pardanashin and illiterate was said to have executed a mortgage deed which was in a large measure designed for the payment of her husband's debts and in which property mortgaged belonged exclusively to her having been given along with other property in lieu of her dower. It was in evidence that her husband was a man of violent temper and was addicted to drink and prostitutes. Further he had retained a sufficient portion of his property in his own hands for the payment of his debts. All that was proved was that there was a draft and that it had been read to the lady who instead of applying her mind to the contents of the deed as it was in the end written out, contented herself with an assurance that it was in accordance with the draft. Held, that there was no intelligent execution of the deed,  AIR 1931 Oudh 103 (105) 5 Luck 526 (DB)  AIR 1921 Cal 435 (441) (DB)  AIR 1918 Cal 557 (560, 561, 562) (DB)  (1921) 63 Ind Cas 574 (575) (DB) (All)  (1910) 37 Cal 526 (533) (DB)  (1910) 6 Ind Cas 689 (691, 692) (DB) (All).

[See also AIR 1936 All 858 (859) (DB) (Execution of a document in the case of a pardanashin lady means intelligent execution.)]

Also see S. 122, Note 3 and S. 126, Note 10

2. AIR 1914 PC 95 (96)  (1868) 1 Beng LR (OC) 31n (33n)  AIR 1921 Cal 435 (441) (DB).
3. AIR 1921 PC 118 (122) : 47 Ind App 265. (On appeal from AIR 1918 Cal 557 AIR 1919 PC 24, Rel. on.)  AIR 1921 Cal 435 (441, 442) (DB)  (1868) 1 Beng LR (OC) 31n (32n, 33n)

[See also (1868) 1 Beng LR (OC) 28 (33, 34) (DB).]

4. AIR 1958 Orissa 62 (64) : ILR (1958) Cut 67 (DB).
5. AIR 1925 PC 204 (209, 210) : 52 Ind App 342.

This view was reiterated in the case noted below(6) See also the undermentioned cases(7)

Where for want of explanation, a purdanashin woman did not understand an important feature of the transaction, namely that she was making herself personally liable to pay the money borrowed under a mortgage, it cannot be said that her mind and free consent went with her act in executing the deed. The mortgage therefore does not bind her at all(8)

Where the execution of a mortgage deed by a purdanashin lady is found not to be her mental or conscious act, there being no room for a semi-conscious act, the whole deed is affected and must be set aside. If those founding on the deed fail to show that the grantor intelligently understood the deed there is an end of the matter. The question of undue influence does not arise(9)

23. Mortgage by beneficiary under trust.

A person having a beneficial interest in property, under a trust deed, is competent to mortgage his interest. In Hemachandra Roy v Suradhani Debta(1), their Lordships of the Privy Council said

"No doctrine of the law of India has been indicated to their Lordships which prevents a beneficiary under a trust from dealing with his interest by way of mortgage though it is true enough that in India such an interest is not technically regarded as an equitable estate

24. Mortgage by person incompetent to contract.

A mortgage by a minor who is incompetent to contract is void(1) and the creditor cannot recover the money even under Ss. 64 and 65 of the Contract Act which are based on there being a contract between competent parties(2). It is also settled that such a mortgage, being a nullity, is

AIR 1936 PC 207 (210, 211) : 63 Ind App 326.

7. (1901) 28 Cal 546 (554, 557) : 28 Ind App 71 (PC) (Deed was quickly read over to the illiterate purdanashin lady at the time of the execution)  (1870) 13 Moo Ind App 419 (431, 432) (PC)  AIR 1970 Cal 200 (201 to 204) : 73 Cal WN 43. Where the executant a Purdanashin lady was found to have independent advice at the relevant time and the transaction was spontaneous and well understood mere execution of the document would only be a physical act)  AIR 1944 All 42 (53, 54) (DB). A Purdanashin woman, merely because she is purdanashin, is not exempt from operation of all legal rules, even when it is clearly established by evidence that she is intelligent and competent person, capable of understanding and conducting business, and that she had voluntarily, deliberately, intelligently and after fully realising the nature and effect of what she was doing, done things on which other people are, under the law, entitled to rely)  AIR 1936 Cal 378 (380, 381) (DB)  AIR 1932 Oudh 123 (129) : 7 Luck 454 (DB) (Illiterate purdanashin lady deserves special consideration — Independent legal advice is not in itself essential)  AIR 1915 Oudh 190 (191) : 18 Oudh Cas 147

8. AIR 1940 PC 134 (135) : 67 Ind App 309.

9. AIR 1940 PC 147 (150) : 67 Ind App 377.

Section 58 — Note 23

1. AIR 1940 PC 134 (136) : 67 Ind App 309.

Also see S. 5, Note 6

Section 58 — Note 24

1. AIR 1958 Pat 29 (80) (Minor is not competent to make transfer by mortgage — Usufructuary mortgage entered into on behalf of minor by one who is neither the natural or de facto guardian of the minor — It is not void against the minor's and will not bind him)  AIR 1921 All 326 (327) (DB) (If the minor sues for declaration that the mortgage is void he cannot get such declaration without repaying the amount if he was guilty of fraud)  (1906) 28 All 508 (515) (DB) ((1903) 30 Ind App 114 (PC), Foll.)

[See also AIR 1919 All 453 (454) : 40 All 558 (DB).]

2. (1903) 30 Cal 539 (548) : 30 Ind App 114 (PC).

incapable of founding a plea of estoppel(3). The undermentioned cases to the contrary(4) are no longer good law. Where A and his minor brother B were owners of an estate as members of a joint Hindu family, and A mortgaged the estate as his own absolute property and got B's signature also by way of assent to the mortgage, it was held that so far as B was concerned the mortgage was void, and of no effect, that since A executed the mortgage as absolute owner of the property, he did not act as manager of the family or as guardian of B, and that, on that ground also, the mortgage was not binding on B(5).

25. Mortgage by one person when binding on another.

Guardians of minors and managers of the estates of disqualified persons can mortgage the property of their wards subject to restrictions imposed by law. Thus, the guardian of a minor under the Hindu law can mortgage the minor's property only in case of necessity and not otherwise(1). A guardian appointed under the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890, can mortgage with the sanction of the Court and not otherwise(2). Such mortgage without the sanction is, however, not void but voidable by the minor(3). When he does avoid it he has to restore any benefit he has received thereunder(4).

A Hindu widow can mortgage her husband's estate so as to bind the reversioners only in the case of necessity and not otherwise(5). But if the reversioners do not question it, a third party cannot question its validity(6).

An executor or administrator may make a valid mortgage binding on the estate(7).

A mortgage by a partner of a firm for the benefit of the firm will be binding on the other members of the firm.(8)

As to when a mortgage by a Hindu father, or the manager of a joint Hindu family, of family

(See AIR 1959 All 788 (789) (DB) (Executant of mortgage not under general incapacity to contract — Deed becoming void as mortgage deed because of incapacity imposed on him by para 11, Sch. 3, Civil PC, as property is under attachment and sale in execution before the Collector — Held, that under S. 65, Contract Act, executant was bound to restore to the lender the advantage received by him.)

3. AIR 1928 PC 152 (156).

[See also (1899) 26 Cal 381 (388) (SB). (Confirming on appeal 25 Cal 616, Section 115, Evidence Act, does not apply to the case of minor.)

4. (1898) 25 Cal 371 (394) (SB)  (1895) 21 Bom 198 (201) (DB)

5. (1912) 34 All 296 (306) : 39 Ind App 109 (PC).

Section 58 — Note 25

1. (1899) 26 Cal 707 (711) : 26 Ind App 97 (PC)  (1912) 17 Ind Cas 247 (249) (DB) (Lah)

2. AIR 1936 Lah 946 (956) : 17 Lah 686 (DB)  AIR 1927 Mad 233 (235) : 50 Mad 217 (DB)  (1880) 2 All 902 (903) (DB)

[See also (1910) 5 Ind Cas 334 (335) (DB) (Cal) (A mortgage executed by a certificated guardian of a minor's property in pursuance of a permission obtained on misrepresentation of a fact and not by fraud is a valid mortgage, even though the permission ought not to have been granted.)]

Also see S. 7, Note 7 and S. 38, Note 5

3. (1899) 22 Mad 289 (291) (DB)  (1898) 23 Bom 287 (290) (DB). (Such a transaction was void under Act XX of 1864.)  (1912) 14 Ind Cas 515 (516) (DB) (Cal).

4. (1899) 22 Mad 289 (291) (DB)  (1912) 14 Ind Cas 515 (516) (DB) (Cal).

5. AIR 1933 Oudh 170 (175) : 8 Luck 538 (DB).

6. AIR 1923 Pat 122 (126, 127) : 2 Pat 217 (DB).

7. (1878) 1 All 710 (720) (FB).

8. (1841) 2 Moo Ind App 487 (500) (PC). (Such members will be 'mortgagors') property is binding on the other members of the family, see the undermentioned cases(9)

Where certain male members of a family governed by Muhammadan law mortgaged property belonging to themselves and to purdanashin members of the family, the mere fact that the ladies left the management of the property in the hands of the males does not show that the male members represented the female members in the transaction, it is not therefore binding on them(10) As to when and how far the owner of a life-estate can create a charge on the property so as to be binding on the remainderman, see the case noted below(11).

26. Mortgage in favour of minor.

It has been seen in the Notes on S 7 that a minor can be a transferee of property. Consequently, a mortgage executed in favour of a minor who has advanced the whole of the mortgage money is enforceable by him or by other persons on his behalf(1). In the undermentioned case(2) it was held that the fact that the minor may have had no power to transfer the mortgage-money and may, on that ground, be entitled to recover it back is not a sufficient ground for holding that a mortgage in favour of a minor cannot be enforced against the property, although the minor may not be entitled to sue the mortgagor on the personal covenant to pay, and the advance, by reason of his incapacity to contract, may not be strictly by way of loan.

27. Simple mortgage.

The nature and incidents of a simple mortgage before the Act were stated by Turner, J., of the Allahabad High Court in Khub Chand v Kallian Das(1), as follows

"It is an arrangement by which the borrower, binding himself personally for the repayment of a loan, pledges his land as a collateral security. The pledge does not directly confer on the mortgagee the power of sale. In order to make his security available he must obtain an order of a Civil Court directing a sale. The mortgagee, in the case of a simple mortgage, has, in the event of

-
9. (1880) 5 Cal 855 (863) (FB). (Where the father of a Mitakshara family consisting of himself and a minor son, mortgages ancestral property and there is no proof of legal necessity for the loan or of its immorality or illegality or of any enquiry on the lender's part of the purpose for which it was raised the mortgagee-lender cannot in a suit against the father and the son enforce the mortgage itself)  AIR 1968 Cal 213 (215) (DB) (Mortgage by sole coparcener — Mortgagee is entitled to rely on his mortgage against all coparceners born subsequent to date of mortgage)  AIR 1929 Pat 130 (133) 7 Pat 798 (DB) (Legal necessity does not mean indispensable or compelling necessity)  AIR 1928 Oudh 465 (466) 4 Luck 107 (DB)  AIR 1926 Oudh 470 (472) 2 Luck 226 (DB)  AIR 1926 Nag 449 (451) (Cost of necessary litigation is legal necessity)  AIR 1922 Pat 122 (144) (DB)  AIR 1917 Cal 375 (377) (DB)  (1909) 1 Ind Cas 442 (443) (DB) (Cal)  (1908) 7 Cal LJ 195 (196) (DB)  1907, 34 Cal 184 (188, 189) (DB)  (1900) 27 Cal 762 (767) (DB)  (1898) 2 Cal WN 603 (604) (DB) * (1898) 21 Mad 28 (29) (DB) (Hindu father)  (1904) 27 Mad 326 (327) (DB) (Do)  (1886) 12 Cal 389 (399) (DB)  (1883) 6 Mad 400 (401) (DB)  1881 Bom PJ 293 (DB)  1880, 5 Cal 792, 805, 806 (DB)  (1877) 2 Cal 438 (444, 445) (DB)  1864 Suth WR 143 (144) (DB)

10. (1913) 40 Cal 378 (385) (PC).

11. AIR 1921 Pat 397 (399) (DB)

Section 58 — Note 26

1. AIR 1917 Mad 630 (635, 638) : 40 Mad 308 (FB). (33 Mad 312 Overruled)  (1965) 69 Cal WN 593 (607) (English mortgage)  AIR 1929 All 604 (605) (DB)  AIR 1919 Pat 561 (563) 4 Pat LJ 682 (DB)  (1881) 3 All 408 (412) (DB)

[See also (1910) 33 Mad 312 (314) (DB) (A sale in favour of a minor is void)]

2. AIR 1917 Mad 630 (635) : 40 Mad 308 (FB). (Per Wallis C J)

Section 58 — Note 27

1. (1876) 1 All 240 (244) (FB).

default being made in the payment of the debt two causes of action the one arising out of the breach of the personal obligation, and the other arising out of the contract of hypothecation

He may put both these causes of action in suit at once or he may pursue the one remedy at one time and the other at another. If he sues on the personal undertaking only he obtains what is known as a money decree, if he sues on the contract of hypothecation, he obtains only an order for the sale of the property.

Notwithstanding the pledge the mortgagor remains the owner of the property, and may deal with it in any manner he pleases not inconsistent with the condition of the mortgage. Subject to the charge created by the mortgage he may alien his property in part or wholly (2).

Where a bond hypothecates property for money advanced, it is, in the absence of anything to show the contrary, only in name, but not in its incidents, different from simple mortgage (3)

Clause (b) of the section merely enacts the principles so stated above. The outstanding characteristics of a simple mortgage under the clause are

- (1) Possession remains with the mortgagor (4). (See Note 28)
- (2) The mortgagor obliges himself personally that he will repay to the mortgagee the mortgage-money or the amount of the debt (5). (See Note 29)
- (3) The mortgagor agrees, expressly or impliedly, that in the event of default in payment the mortgagee shall have a right to cause the mortgaged property to be sold and the proceeds of sale to be applied in payment of the mortgage-money so far as may be necessary (6) (See Note 30).

The mortgagee has thus a two-fold security for his money, namely the personal obligation and the mortgaged property (7). Thus, where the document consisted of personal liability as well as a right to the creditor to recover the amount by sale of specific immovable property the document

2. See also AIR 1917 Mad 880 (882) (DB)  (1896) 19 Mad 249 (252, 254) : 23 Ind App 32 (PC). (Notwithstanding mortgage, the mortgagor remains the owner of property)  AIR 1938 Cal 524 (525) (DB) (Do.)

3. (1870) 14 Suth WR 461 (462) (DB)

[See also AIR 1915 All 15 (15) (DB) (Hypothecating the interest with a condition, not to transfer it till the debts are satisfied — Held, simple mortgage)]

4. AIR 1927 Rang 33 (36) : 4 Rang 368 (FB)  AIR 1940 Lah 486 (489) ILR (1941) Lah 601 (DB)  (1938) 40 Pun L R 541 (542) (Till it is brought to sale in execution proceedings)  AIR 1918 Cal 933 (937, 938) 44 Cal 425 (DB)  AIR 1914 Nag 32 (34) 10 Nag LR 81.

5. AIR 1939 Rang 321 (322) : 1939 Rang LR 403 (FB)  1965 All LJ 1104 (1107) (Mortgage is a transfer of an interest in property while charge is merely a right to receive payment out of some property. In the case of simple mortgage there is a personal liability to pay the debt. The liability may be express or implied)  AIR 1961 MP 216 (220) ILR (1969) MP 1029 (DB) (Mortgage of Jagir lands with possession — Jagir resumed by Government under Vindhya Pradesh Abolition of Jagirs and Land Reforms Act — Effect of substituting simple mortgage under S. 6(1)(g) of that Act is that the Jagirdar becomes personally liable for the debt)  AIR 1938 Cal 524 (525) (DB)  AIR 1915 Nag 63 (64) 12 Nag LR 19  AIR 1914 Mad 114 (115) (DB)  (1912) 16 Ind Cas 209 (210) (Mad) (DB)  (1911) 11 Ind Cas 629 (632) (Mad) (DB).

6. AIR 1939 Rang 321 (322) : 1939 Rang LR 403 (FB). (The right to bring the land to sale must be worked out in execution proceeding under the supervision of Court)  1965 All LJ 1104 (1107)  ILR (1956) Cut 650 (663) (DB) (Document held not simple mortgage as possession was delivered to mortgagee but there was no right of sale in default of payment)  AIR 1939 Cal 323 (325) (DB)  AIR 1938 Cal 524 (525) (DB)  AIR 1914 Nag 32 (34) 10 Nag LR 81

7. AIR 1969 Manipur 23  AIR 1932 Pat 360 (361, 362) (DB) (He cannot satisfy his claim would be simple mortgage(8)

Rights of mortgagee in case of or otherwise are not spelled out from definition of simple mortgage(9).

28. Possession remains with the mortgagor.

As has been seen already possession with the mortgagor is one of the characteristics of a simple mortgage. The security which the mortgagee obtains is that of the mortgaged property and not of the rents and profits arising out of it. In the absence of an express stipulation, the rents and profits of the land belong to the mortgagor(1). The fact that possession subsequently passes to the mortgagee does not convert a simple mortgage into a usufructuary mortgage(2). The onus of proving what the transaction is by which possession passed to the mortgagee under a simple mortgage is on the mortgagor(3). The mortgagee can set up and plead an agreement to sell under which the possession was given(4). An instrument styled a simple mortgage provided 'if the whole or portion of the interest remains unpaid by the due date the mortgagee shall take possession immediately thereafter and enjoy the said properties as a usufructuary mortgagee'.

It was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council in a suit for sale on the mortgage on default of payment, that the mortgagee retained the position of a simple mortgagee and was entitled to a decree(5). Where a bond provided for the payment by the mortgagor of the loan advanced by a particular date with interest, and recited that possession had been given to the mortgagee but this was not a fact, it was held that the recital as to possession having been delivered was a mere form out of the rents and profits of the mortgaged property nor can he acquire the absolute ownership of the estate by foreclosure. * * AIR 1922 Nag 98 (99) : 18 Nag LR 145 (DB). * * (1866) 3 Mad HCR 241 (243-245) (DB). (Both remedies may be pursued at the same time although of course the claimant cannot recover more than the amount due on the obligation.)

8. ILR (1985) Kant 1742 (1747)

9. 1991 Har Rent R 634 (639) (Punj & Har)

Section 58 — Note 28

1. AIR 1962 Mad 59 (70) : ILR (1961) Mad 1158 (FB) * * AIR 1939 Rang 321 (322) : 1939 Rang LR 403 (FB) * * 1980 Mah LJ 246 (249) : ILR (1982) Bom 427. (The preferential claim of a secured creditor in winding up proceedings in a case where the secured creditor as a mortgagee had advanced mortgage money on a security of a simple mortgage under S. 38 T.P. Act. can be available only with respect to the security covered by a mortgage that is to say the right to use and enjoy the property is not hypothecated to the mortgagee, and the income received from mortgaged property would not be a mortgage security since in a simple mortgage the mortgagor continues to enjoy the income of property. However, a mortgagee may be able to lay its hands over the income of property if a receiver is appointed in the execution of the decree which is a mode of execution.) * * AIR 1934 All 772 (775) (DB). (Mortgagee would be entitled to usufruct only when mortgaged property is sold and he purchases that property.)

2. AIR 1923 Nag 161 (161).

[See also AIR 1961 Assam 70 (73) : ILR (1961) 13 Assam 101 (DB)]

3. AIR 1928 Rang 44 (46) : 5 Rang 668 (DB)

4. AIR 1927 Rang 33 (35) : 4 Rang 368 (FB). (AIR 1925 Rang 322, Overruled.)

[See also (1963) 2 Mad LJ 528 (530). (Mortgagee not shown to have got into possession qua mortgagee — Oral sale set up disbelieved — No evidence to show case of permissive possession — Possession of mortgagee held adverse.)]

5. (1911) 10 Ind Cas 272 (272) (PC).

[See AIR 1963 Raj 100 (103) : ILR (1963) 13 Raj 54. (Document evidencing transaction of loan — Stipulation to repay loan with interest within certain period — In default mort and that the mortgage was a simple one(6).

Where a simple mortgagee was let into possession in pursuance of a contemporaneous oral agreement to the effect that the mortgagee should go into possession in satisfaction of his claim for the interest agreed upon under the mortgage, it was held that the agreement not being one which contradicted or varied the terms of the mortgage could be proved so as to preclude the mortgagee from claiming any interest in his suit on the mortgage(7).

However it was held in undermentioned case(8) that claim that there was contemporaneous agreement under which mortgagee was to take possession of mortgaged property and that he was in occupation thereof which had the effect of converting simple mortgage into mortgage with possession cannot be allowed as it is hit by S. 92 of Evidence Act.

Where land is mortgaged under a simple mortgage grant of lease by the mortgagor during pendency of a suit mortgage does not violate the doctrine of lis pendens(9).

See also the undermentioned case(10).

29. Mortgagor binds himself personally to pay.

In order to constitute a transaction a simple mortgage, the mortgagor must bind himself to pay the mortgage-money(1). The personal liability may be express or may be a matter of implication(2).

gagee entitled to enter into possession of property given by way of security for loan — Document is simple mortgage — Express personal covenant to pay not destroyed by stipulation as to possession — Mortgagee entitled to sue for simple money claim based on personal covenant)  AIR 1932 Lah 630 (632) 13 Lah 508 (DB) (Condition that mortgagee is entitled to take possession only in default of payment, will not by itself convert a simple mortgage into a usufructuary mortgage)  (1892) 21 Bom 267 (272) (DB). (Special stipulation in a simple mortgage for possession, inserted for securing the due payment of interest during the continuance of the mortgage, does not convert mortgage into a usufructuary one)]

6. (1906) 2 Nag LR 162 (163) (PC).

7. AIR 1928 Mad 233 (233) (DB)  1887 All WN 61 (61) (DB).

8. (1988) 101 Mad LW 517 (519)

9. AIR 1973 Bom 75 (80) : 74 Bom LR 666 (FB). (Where a land is mortgaged by way of simple mortgage, grant of lease by mortgagor during pendency of suit by mortgagee does not violate the doctrine of lis pendens.)

10. 1958 Ker LT 777 (778) (Illom granting kanom demise to A — Puramkadam for money lent by kanomdar A also executed on same day by the illom — Puramkadam providing that A was to appropriate from purappad payable to illom interest payable by illom for money rent — Held puramkadam was only a simple mortgage of jenmom rights and the fact that the illom allowed him to appropriate interest from purappad would not make it a usufructuary mortgage)

Section 58 — Note 29

1. AIR 1969 Manipur 23 (A document reciting the borrowing of money and mortgaging certain land and promise to pay within certain period amounts to a simple mortgage.)  AIR 1992 Kant 388 (390) (Mortgagor agreeing to give possession of property under certain circumstances — Mortgagor not binding himself to pay mortgage money — Absence of personal obligation — It is equitable mortgage and not simple mortgage)  1965 All LJ 1104 (1107)  AIR 1961 Assam 70 (73) ILR (1961) 13 Assam 101 (DB)  AIR 1961 Madh Pra 216 (220) ILR (1960) Madh Pra 1029 (DB)  AIR 1918 Mad 997 (997) (DB). (Kootchit deed is a mortgage — The mere fact that there was no express covenant to pay, when one must necessarily be implied, will not affect the construction of the document)  AIR 1918 Mad 558 (559) (DB) (A stipulation for repayment of a certain amount within a specified time involves a personal covenant to pay.)

2. 1965 All LJ 1104 (1106)  AIR 1952 Kutch 65 (66)  AIR 1941 Lah 274 (276) (DB)

In England a mortgage (analogous to the English mortgage defined in clause (e)), involves a personal covenant on the part of the mortgagor to pay the mortgage-money. In King v. King(3) it was held that every mortgage implied a loan and every loan a debt(4). Prima facie even though there is no express covenant to pay, the borrower remains personally liable to pay off the mortgage(5). In Ram Narain Singh v. Adhindranath(6), it was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that in considering the question whether there is a personal liability to pay, "it must be borne in mind—

- (1) that a loan prima facie involves such a personal liability(7),
- (2) that such a liability is not displaced by the mere fact that security is given for repayment of the loan with interest(8); but
- (3) that the nature and terms of such security may negative any personal liability on the part of the borrower."

See also the undermentioned cases(9) to the same effect.

It follows that a personal covenant to repay the mortgage-money must be presumed to exist in all mortgages unless there is something in the nature or terms of the mortgage to negative it(10). A

(Implied.)  AIR 1937 Rang 151 (153) 14 Rang 685 (Undertaking to redeem mortgage if mortgagee requires it — Held, covenant to pay implied)  AIR 1932 Lah 164 (166) 13 Lah 259 (DB) (Implied)  AIR 1924 Nag 97 (98) 20 Nag LR 46 (Deed ran as follows — 'If I do not pay in fifteen months I shall go on paying interest as long as I remain responsible for the debt' — Held, covenant to pay implied)  (1906) 4 Cal LJ 510 (516) (DB) (Implied)  (1870) 4 Beng LR (App) 48 (49) (Promise to repay expressed.)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 660 (661) (DB) (Cal) (Do)

3. (1735) 24 ER 1100 (1101) : 3 P Wms 358

4. See (1813) 12 RR 82 (85) 2 Bal and Bev 274 Gardman v. Grierson (King v. King 735, 3 P Wms 358, Followed)  (1843) 62 RR 316 (323, 326) 4 QB 182 Yates v. Aston

5. AIR 1944 Nag 289 (290, 291) : ILR (1944) Nag 568 (FB). (Whether the mortgage is simple or by a conditional sale, the mortgagor is bound by the contract in the first instance to pay the debt.)

[See (1882) 52 LJ Ch 333 (336) 48 LT 95 Sutton v. Sutton (Every mortgage implies a personal liability to repay the amount advanced)  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 302 (304) (Mad)  AIR 1925 Mag 991 (992) (The question whether a mortgagor binds himself personally to repay the loan or not "must depend on the construction of the mortgage bond in each case and the intention of the parties as evidenced by the circumstances.")]

6. AIR 1916 PC 119 (120) : 44 Ind App 87 (On rehearing of AIR 1916 PC 169)

7. See also AIR 1939 Pesh 41 (44) (DB)  AIR 1940 Lah 486 (489) : ILR (1941) Lah 601 (DB)  (1873) 19 Suth WR 281 (281) (DB)  AIR 1929 Pat 605 (608) 8 Pat 16 (DB)  (1906) 4 Cal LJ 246 (248) (DB)  (1909) 1 Ind Cas 442 (443) (DB) (Cal)  (1896) 5 Cal LJ 287 (288, 289) (DB).

8. See also (1906) 29 Mad 491 (495) (DB) (Where a deed provided that "the mortgagor will pay the money on the liability of the mortgaged property — Held, that the personal liability of the mortgagor was not excluded by the terms of the deed)  AIR 1916 Mad 13 (14) (DB). (Hypothecation does not bar the personal liability)  (1906) 4 Cal LJ 510 (515, 516) (DB).

9. AIR 1963 Raj 100 (102) : ILR (1963) 13 Raj 54  AIR 1940 Lah 486 (486) : ILR (1941) Lah 601 (DB)  AIR 1924 Nag 97 (97) 20 Nag LR 46 (AIR 1915 Nag 63 12 Nag LR 19 held no longer good law.)  AIR 1922 Nag 98 (99) 18 Nag LR 145 (DB)

10. AIR 1961 Punj 477 (480)  AIR 1957 Pat 575 (578) 36 Pat 323 (DB) (Overruled on another point in AIR 1958 Pat 630 (FB))  AIR 1935 Pesh 10 (10)  AIR 1932 Lah 164

Welsh mortgage in England(11) or a usufructuary mortgage(12) or a mortgage by conditional sale(13) is of such a nature that there is no personal covenant to pay the mortgage-money, and even a sentence in such a mortgage that the mortgagor will pay the money cannot be taken to import a personal covenant to pay. Some such sentence is found in almost all mortgages, the test in each case is what is the remedy provided for in the deed for the satisfaction of the debt(14). As regards the terms of a document negating a personal liability, the general rule is that a covenant to pay the debt in a particular manner will exclude the general personal liability for such payment(15)— expressum facit cessare tacitum. In the undermentioned case(16) where the mortgagor covenanted to pay the debt out of the hypothecated estate, it was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that there was no personal covenant to pay. Where the mortgagor stipulated that he will pay the mortgage-money on a particular date and that if the property was sold for arrears of revenue, then the mortgagee could recover from the person or other property of the mortgagor, it was held that there was no personal covenant to pay(17). Where the remedy provided in the mortgage was foreclosure of the mortgage in default of payment, it was held that there was no personal liability(18). But where a mortgage deed contained an express covenant to pay personally the option given to the mortgagor of repaying the loan by selling the mortgaged property or a provision in the deed that the mortgagee would be entitled to bring the property to sale was held not to exclude the personal covenant(19). See

(166) 13 Lah 259 (DB)  (1908) 30 All 388 (390) (DB)  (1892) 14 All 513 (519) (DB)
(Mortgagee must however sue for his remedy against the property first)

Also see S. 68, Note 2.

11. (1745) 26 ER 962 (963) 3 Atk 278 (280) Lawely v Hooper

12. AIR 1916 PC 119 (120) : 44 Cal 388 : 44 Ind App 87  AIR 1959 Madh Pra 178 (179) (but the nature of the transaction i.e., whether it is a simple or usufructuary mortgage depends on construction of the deed embodying the transaction. If personal covenant can be made out from terms the mortgagee can sue for recovery of mortgage money notwithstanding the parties have described the transaction as usufructuary mortgage)  AIR 1957 Pat 575 (578) 36 Pat 323 (DB) (Overruled on another point in AIR 1958 Pat 630 (FB))  (1900) 22 All 149 (159) : 27 Ind App 58 (PC)  AIR 1940 Lah 486 (489) ILR (1941) Lah 601 (DB)  AIR 1932 Lah 164 (167) : 13 Lah 259 (DB).

Also see S. 68, Note 2.

13. AIR 1929 Nag 254 (257) : 25 Nag LR 187 (FB). (Lahangahan mortgage which is on the same footing as a mortgage by conditional sale)  AIR 1959 Madh Pra 178 (179)  AIR 1957 Pat 575 (578) 36 Pat 323 (DB) (Overruled on another point in AIR 1958 Pat 630 (FB))  AIR 1937 Oudh 517 (519) (DB)  (1909) 12 Oudh Cas 275 (277)

[See also AIR 1922 Nag 119 (119) 19 Nag LR 67 (Lahangahan mortgage does not involve personal liability)]

Also see S. 68, Note 2.

14. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 178 (179)  (1955) 21 Cut LT 459 (461) (DB)  AIR 1937 Oudh 517 (519) (DB)

15. (1895) 22 Cal 434 (444) : 22 Ind App 68 (PC)  (1955) 21 Cut LT 459 (461) (DB)  AIR 1929 Nag 254 (256) : 25 Nag LR 187 (FB). (Lahangahan mortgage — Remedy for foreclosure expressly given — Implied covenant of personal liability does not exist)  AIR 1940 Lah 486 (489) ILR (1941) Lah 601 (DB) (Agreement to repay the loan out of particular fund and in a particular manner — Held, no personal liability  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 302 (304) (Mad)  (1857) 108 RR 810 (815) 26 LJ Ex 150 Mathew v Black More).

16. (1883) 10 Cal 740 (742) : 11 Ind App 83 (PC).

17. (1889) 16 Cal 540 (543, 544) (DB). (10 Cal 740 (PC), Foll.)

18. AIR 1915 Nag 63 (64) : 12 Nag LR 19

19. AIR 1949 Nag 354 (356, 357) ILR (1949) Nag 284 (DB)

also the undermentioned cases(20)

The words "we shall, on paying the money advanced, recover the property" have been interpreted by the Madras High Court as containing a promise to pay the amount(21)

It may be noted that even if there be no personal covenant to pay, the mortgagor may become personally liable under Section 68(22)

A suit to enforce the personal liability on the personal covenant to pay in a mortgage deed is not governed by Art. 62 of the Limitation Act of 1963 (which corresponded to Art. 132 of the Act of 1908 which has now been repealed)(23). A right to recover money from the mortgagor personally under a covenant to pay and the right to realise the security are independent and distinct causes of action. A mortgagee wishing to enforce the personal liability is not bound to sue also for the realisation of the security(24).

[See also AIR 1955 Vindh Pra 415] (Merely because the document contains a term under which the mortgaged property is to be deemed to have been sold outright on failure of payment the mortgage does not become mortgage by conditional sale.)

20. (1913) 35 All 164 (166) (FB)  AIR 1963 Raj 129 (13) 132 ILR (1963) 13 Raj 334 (An agreement in a usufructuary mortgage to pay interest or to the fact that the mortgagor has undertaken not to claim the property until the debt is paid "amount by itself amount to a promise by the mortgagor to pay the mortgage money personally."  AIR 1963 Raj 100 (103) ILR (1963) 13 Raj 54 (Document evidencing transaction of loan — Stipulation to repay loan with interest within certain period — In default mortgagor entitled to enter into possession of property given by way of security of loan — Document is simple mortgage — Express personal covenant to pay not destroyed by stipulation as to possession — Mortgagee entitled to sue for simple money claim based on personal covenant.)  AIR 1959 Madh Pra 178 (179, 180) Stipulation that borrowers would pay mortgage money after two years and take back the land but if they fail to do so the creditor would continue to remain in possession and enjoy the profits in lieu of interest until the amount is repaid implies no covenant enforceable personally against the borrowers.)  1935 (WV) 1199 (1200) (Deed stating executant had borrowed certain sum at a certain rate of interest and that he promised to repay it in 3 years — In case of default the amount of the deed which was of further charge would be borne by the mortgaged property under previous deeds and would be payable at the time of the redemption of the said mortgages — Held, there was only a promise for payment as is to be found in every loan transaction and not a personal liability as is contemplated in S. 58.)  AIR 1939 Mad 847, 848, (DB)

21. (1903) 27 Mad 526 (527) (FB)  1968-1 Mad LJ 139 (144)

[See also (1964) 77 Mad LW 666 (668) (Clause in usufructuary mortgage that on the money being paid by particular date the land and the mortgage deed would be returned to the mortgagor but if there is default on that date money may be paid on the corresponding date of any following year and on payment the land and the deed would be handed over to the mortgagor by the mortgagee held contained a personal covenant to pay. 27 Mad 526 (FB) Foll.)  AIR 1946 Mad 312 (313) (Oth) — Clause "I shall pay the amount and redeem" amounts to a personal covenant to pay the othi amount enabling the mortgagee to bring a suit for sale.)  AIR 1924 Mad 513, 514 (DB) (In a usufructuary mortgage deed there was this clause "you shall yourself enjoy the said land from this date in lieu of interest and having paid the amount of the principal by 7th July, 1917 having endorsed on this deed I shall enjoy the said land, if the amount be repaid at the cultivation season of any Annam month after due date on which it falls due the same must be received in full and the land restored to my possession" — It was held that there was a personal covenant to pay.)]

22. AIR 1916 PC 119 (120) : 44 Cal 388 : 44 Ind App 87  AIR 1963 Raj 100 (102) ILR (1963) 13 Raj 54  AIR 1961 Punj 477 (480) (Case under S. 68(1)(d))  AIR 1924 Pat 91 (93) (DB)  AIR 1923 Rang 242 (243, 244)  (1886) 12 Cal 389 (395) (DB)

23. (1885) 7 All 502 (505, 506) : 12 Ind App 12 (PC).

24. AIR 1935 Lah 672 (676) : 16 Lah 640 (DB).

A covenant to pay does not run with the land and the assignee of the equity of redemption is not personally liable to the mortgagee for the amount(25)

30. "Mortgagee shall have a right to cause the mortgaged property to be sold".

In a simple mortgage, the interest transferred is the right to have the mortgaged property sold in satisfaction of the debt(1) The agreement by the mortgagor that, in the event of his failing to pay the mortgage-money according to contract, the mortgagee shall have a right to cause the mortgaged property to be sold, need not be express(2) It may be implied from the words used(3). It may be implied when there is a personal covenant to pay the mortgage-money(4), though this is not necessarily so in all cases. Words of hypothecation generally import the right of the mortgagee to bring the mortgaged property to sale for the satisfaction of the claim(5) In the undermentioned case(6) where in a document purporting to be a mortgage, there was a personal covenant to pay but the language in other parts of the document showed that there was no covenant, express or implied, that the mortgagee shall have a right to cause the mortgaged property to be sold, it was held that it was not a simple mortgage and that the mortgagee had no right to bring to sale the mortgaged property. Where the terms of the document ran as follows : "I mortgage my field, the same shall stand mortgaged so long as the money is not paid off. If repayment is not made within time I shall pay compound interest until liquidation", it was held that an agreement that the creditor may get the land sold was implied(7) Where the mortgagor expressly agreed to pay the mortgage money with interest at a specified rate and in case of default of the mortgagee was given two options namely either to recover the money with interest at a higher rate or to get possession of mortgaged property in lieu of the principal money, it was held that the mortgage was a simple mortgage in which a right of sale was impliedly given to the mortgagee(8).

25. AIR 1930 Nag 139 (142) : 26 Nag LR 312.

Also see Section 68, Note 8

Section 58 — Note 30

1. AIR 1968 Pat 222 (226) : ILR 46 Pat 1202 (DB)  1965 All LJ 1104 (1107)  AIR 1916 Pat 11 (13) : 1 Pat L Jour 563 (DB)  1894 All WN 57 (58) (DB).

[See AIR 1917 All 149 : 39 Ind Cas 119 (120) (DB) (Under the law which existed prior to the passing of the T P Act (1882), the mortgagee could proceed against either the hypothecated property or any other property of the mortgagor.)]

2. 1965 All LJ 1104 (1107)  AIR 1951 Pat 327 (329) (DB) (Any words placing the property as security for the debt are sufficient to imply a power of sale)  AIR 1937 Mad 148 (149)  AIR 1915 Mad 370 (371) (DB)  AIR 1914 Mad 333 (333) (DB)  (1912) 16 Ind Cas 209 (209) (DB)  (1912) 16 Ind Cas 236 (236, 237) (DB) (Mad) (Even in mortgages before the Act the power of sale was incidental to a simple mortgage)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 828 (829) (DB) (All)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 163 (163) (DB) (Mad). (Hypothecation bond executed before Transfer of Property Act — No express provision for sale — Simple mortgage.)  (1911) 11 Ind Cas 629 (632) (DB) (Mad).
3. ILR (1956) Cut 650 (663) (DB)  AIR 1951 Pat 327 (329)  AIR 1922 Pat 529 (532) : 1 Pat 387 (DB) (The word bandhak implies a mortgage)  AIR 1916 Pat 11 (13) : 1 Pat L Jour 562 (DB)
4. AIR 1947 Lah 40 (47) : ILR (1946) Lah 805 (DB)  (1904) 27 Mad 526 (528) (FB)  AIR 1934 Oudh 255 (256) : 10 Luck 10 (DB)  AIR 1929 Lah 289 (290)  AIR 1914 Nag 32 (35, 36) : 10 Nag LR 81.
5. (1899) 12 CPLR 26 (33)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 828 (829) (DB) (All)  (1910) 6 Nag LR 20 (24).
6. AIR 1938 All 418 (421) : ILR (1938) All 714 (FB)
7. AIR 1914 Nag 32 (35) : 10 Nag LR 81.
8. AIR 1958 Punj 309 (340) (DB) (Even assuming it was anomalous mortgage the mortgagor

A mortgagee is normally entitled to realise the entire amount from any and every bit of the mortgaged property and the liability cannot be apportioned pro rata between ancestral and non-ancestral character of the land mortgaged(9)

The words rehan, arh and mustagharaq import a power of sale(10) but not the words muakhaza(11), dastawez makfuli(12), tamassuk(13) or makbuza(14)

The right to "cause the mortgaged property to be sold", means a right to cause the property to be sold through the intervention of the Court(15) The mortgagee cannot exercise the power of sale himself. Sale of mortgaged land by mortgagee — mortgagee can confer no better title than what he had under deed of mortgage i.e. right of mortgagee(16) As to the procedure to be followed for bringing the mortgaged property to sale, see O 34 of the Code of Civil Procedure

The mortgagee, under a simple mortgage, has a right only to cause the mortgaged property to be sold and not to claim possession of the property A decree therefore which gives possession to the mortgagee on default of payment is illegal(17)

It is specific kind of right which could be exercised against mortgagors However, mortgagors of property under simple mortgage would not acquire interest of mortgagee on paying off the debt(18).

31. Mortgage by conditional sale.

(A) Legislative history.

Mortgages by conditional sale under various names such as bai-bil-wafa, kutkubala and lahangahan(1) have been a very common form of mortgage in India from very early times It is not necessary in such mortgages that the mortgagor should make himself liable for the repayment of the loan(2) Nor is the mortgagee entitled to possession in such cases, though generally possession having clearly undertaken to repay the amount with interest the mortgagee was entitled to file a suit for the recovery of the money and to have the property sold)

9. 1969 Cur LJ 804

10. 1894 All WN 57 (58) (DB)  (1891) 13 All 28 (41-43) (DB)  (1913) 20 Ind Cas 870 (871) (Oudh) (Mustagharaq)  (1913) 19 Ind Cas 658 (660) (DB) (All)  (1913) 19 Ind Cas 661 (662) (DB) (All).

11. (1912) 34 All 446 (449) (DB) (Merely denotes a charge)  (1890) 13 All 28 (42) (DB) (Do.)

12. (1912) 15 Ind Cas 851 (851) (DB).

13. (1912) 16 Ind Cas 638 (639) (All).

14. AIR 1917 All 439 (440, 441) · 38 All 361 (DB)

15. (1896) 19 Mad 249 (252) : 23 Ind App 32 (PC)  AIR 1939 Rang 321 (322) : 1939 Rang LR 403 (FB)  (1890) 13 All 28 (48) (DB)

16. (1991) 1 Kant LJ 597 (597).

17. (1896) 19 Mad 249 (254) : 23 Ind App 32 (PC).

Also see S. 67, Note 13 and S. 76, Note 4

18. 1988 Jab LJ 653 (655) (Madh Pra)

Section 58 — Note 31

1. (1882) 4 Mad 179 (183) (FB). (Innes, J. Dissenting.)  AIR 1949 Nag 34 (36) (DB) (Lahangahan mortgage — Essence of, is foreclosure whether there is a personal covenant or not)  AIR 1929 Nag 254 (255) : 25 Nag LR 187 (FB). (Lahangahan)  AIR 1927 All 137 (140) · 48 All 787 (DB)  (1877) 2 Bom 231 (238) (DB) (Lahangahan)  (1883) 7 Bom 532 (535) (DB). (Do)  (1868) 5 Bom HCR (AC) 109 (115) (DB) (Bai-bil-wafa.)

2. (1900) 22 All 149 (159) : 27 Ind App 58 (PC)  (1882) 4 Mad 179 (183) (FB).

also is transferred(3). Where he is put in possession under the terms of the deed, he is entitled, if wrongfully dispossessed, to recover possession even though his right to foreclosure is barred, but such possession is only that of a mortgagee(4). When a mortgage by conditional sale is effected without delivery of possession but subsequently with the consent of the mortgagor, the mortgagee obtains possession, this will not change the nature of the mortgage and convert it into a usufructuary mortgage(5). However, if a mortgage is by way of conditional sale it does not necessarily mean that it is not usufructuary mortgage. If the ingredients of usufructuary mortgage are also satisfied by way of delivery of possession, it may also amount to usufructuary mortgage. The two mortgages are not necessarily mutually exclusive and one mortgage can be of both types(6).

The nature of a mortgage by conditional sale, as it was common in India before the Act, was described by Macpherson in his work on Mortgages as follows

"The mortgage by conditional sale 'karkubala' or 'bai-hil-wafa' is that in which the borrower not making himself personally liable for the repayment of the loan, covenants that on default of re payment of the principal and interest on a certain date, the land pledged shall pass to the mortgagee."

In Thumbusawmy v Hossain Rowthen(7) their Lordships of the Privy Council, after referring to the above passage in Macpherson on Mortgages, observed

"Such a mortgage might or might not be usufructuary. If usufructuary, it usually contained a stipulation that the usufruct should be in lieu of interest. . . The essential characteristic of a mortgage by conditional sale was that on the breach of the condition, the contract executed itself, and the transaction was closed and became one of absolute sale without any further act of the parties or accountability between them.(8)

In Mt Bakhtawar Begam v Hussaini Khanum(9) it was again observed, that a mortgage by conditional sale was a form of security recognised throughout India, that the form which it usually took was, for the mortgagor to execute a deed of sale in respect of the mortgaged property in favour of the mortgagee, who on his side, executed an agreement covenanting that on liquidation of the debt according to the terms of the contract the sale would be cancelled and he would reconvey the property to the mortgagor, and that on breach of the condition relating to re-payment the contract executed itself and the transaction became one of absolute sale.

It would thus be seen that under the ancient law of India there was no right of redemption in a mortgage by conditional sale after default was made in payment as agreed upon.(10) The sale simply became absolute, and the mortgagor lost his property (11) It was necessary for the mortgagor if he wished to save his estate from forfeiture, to pay or tender the amount due within the specified time.

3. (1893) 16 Mad 64 (66) (DB).

4. AIR 1933 Bom 439 (442, 443) : 57 Bom 593 (DB) (Per Rangnekar, J)  (1899) 27 Cal 185 (187) (DB).

5. AIR 1917 Cal 217 (218) (DB).

Also see S. 76, Note 5

6. 1985 Guj LH 1207 (1209)

7. (1875) 1 Mad 1 (16) : 2 Ind App 241 (PC).

8. AIR 1926 All 493 (496) : 48 All 302 (DB).

[See also AIR 1933 Lah 174 (175).]

9. AIR 1914 PC 36 (36) : 36 All 195 : 41 Ind App 84.

10. (1880) 2 All 633 (635) (DB).

[See also AIR 1949 Kutch 10 (11)]

11. AIR 1916 Mad 841 (844) : 39 Mad 1010 (DB)  AIR 1914 Mad 42 (43) : 38 Mad 667 (DB).

The first attempt to relieve the mortgagor from the severity of this rule was made in Bengal by Regulation XVII of 1806. It introduced a modification of the strict rights given by the contract analogous to, though not identical with, that which Courts of Equity imposed on mortgagees in England. The seventh section extended the period within which the mortgagor might redeem, to any time within one year from and after the application of the mortgagee to the Court under S. 8. The latter provided that the mortgagee desirous of foreclosure on the expiration of the stipulated period or at any time subsequent before the sum lent was repaid, should, after demanding payment from the borrower, apply for that purpose to the Court, which would cause a copy of the application to be given to the mortgagor and notify to him that if he did not redeem the property within one year from the date of the notifications, the mortgage would be finally foreclosed and the conditional sale made absolute. If anything be due on the mortgage and the mortgagor made an insufficient deposit and a fortiori if he made no deposit at all, the right of redemption was gone at the expiration of the year of grace (12). But the title of the mortgagee, however, was even then not complete: he had to bring a regular suit to recover possession if he was out of possession or to obtain a declaration of his absolute title if he was in possession (13). In such a suit the mortgagor was entitled to contest on any sufficient grounds, the validity of the conditional sale or the regularity of the proceedings taken under the Regulation in order to make it absolute (14). He could also allege and prove that nothing was due or that the deposit, if any, which he had made was sufficient to cover what was due. But the issue so far as the right of redemption was concerned was whether at the end of the year of grace anything remained due to the mortgagee and if so whether the necessary deposit had been made.

If that was found against the mortgagor, the right of redemption was gone (15). The functions of the Judge under S. 8 of the Regulation were purely ministerial (16) and the provisions as to service of notice and the furnishing of a copy of the application to the mortgagor were imperative and had to be strictly followed, being intended for the protection of the mortgagor (17).

12. (1906) 3 All LJ 531 (533)  (1868) 3 Agra 358 (363) (DB)  (1867) 8 Suth WR 476 (477) (DB)

Also see S. 60, Note I

13. (1883) 12 Cal LR 479 (482, 483) (DB)

14. (1868) 3 Agra 358 (362, 363)

15. (1865) 10 Moo Ind App 340 (348, 349, 350, 351) (PC).

[See also (1878) 3 Cal 397 (405) : 5 Ind App 19 (PC).]

16. (1865) 10 Moo Ind App 340 (350) (PC)  (1896) 23 Cal 228 (244) : 22 Ind App 183 (PC)  (1878) 3 Cal 397 (405) : 5 Ind App 18 (PC).

17. (1884) 11 Cal 111 (117) : 11 Ind App 186 (PC)  (1877) 2 Cal 311 (317, 319) (DB) (Service of copy of application)  (1873) 20 Suth WR 363 (364) (DB) (Failure in furnishing the mortgagor with a copy of the application to foreclose)  (1871) 15 Suth WR 263 (263) (DB) (Omission to give notice)  (1867) 7 Suth WR 123, 124 (DB) (Under Regulation XVII of 1806 the Zillah Judge is judicially required to see that it is proved before him that the notice has been duly served, and to record a proceeding certifying that all that Regulation XVII of 1806 required has been duly carried out, and also any elucidating facts necessary to be recorded as occurring within the year of grace)  1864 Suth WR 49 (50) (DB)  (1911) 12 Ind Cas 530 (531) (Lah) (Defective notice)  1912 Pun Re No 59 (DB) (The omission to affix the seal of the Court on the foreclosure notice is fatal to a suit by the mortgagee.)

[See however 1864 Suth WR 36 (36) (DB) (Copy of the application not furnished — Held, whatever effect might have been given to the irregularity at or soon after the time when it occurred had long since been waived by mortgagor's conduct in allowing the mortgagee to build houses on the land and use them without objection)]

As to other decisions under this Regulation, see the undermentioned cases. (18)

Regulation XVII of 1806 was applicable only to Bengal but it was adopted even in Provinces

18. (1867) 7 Suth WR 66 (66) : 4 Moo Ind App 392 (PC)  (1889) 16 Cal 693 (701) : 16 Ind App 85 (PC)  (1857-1859) 7 Moo Ind App 323 (354) (PC). (Mortgage under the Regulation were redeemable and were subject to foreclosure)  (1886) 12 Cal 583 (587, 589) (FB)  (1868) 1 Beng LR 14 (16, 22) (FB). (The year mentioned in S 8 of the Regulation is to be reckoned from the date of the service of the notice of foreclosure under that section)  AIR 1929 Pat 537 (545) (DB)  AIR 1926 Lah 302 (302) (DB)  AIR 1926 All 755 (756) 48 All 643 (DB)  AIR 1923 Nag 274 (277, 280)  AIR 1914 Lah 396 (397) 1914 Pun Re No 57 (DB)  (1907) 4 All LJ 717 (720) (DB)  (1907) 29 All 145 (147) (DB) (If the parwanah is otherwise correct it does not become invalid only because the Judge has initialled it instead of signing in full 16 All 59 Overruled on this point)  1907 Pun Re No 46 P 191 (192) 1908 Pun LR No 192  1907 Pun Re No 70 P 380 (382) 1908 Pun LR No 38 (DB)  1907 Pun Re No 105 P 491 (493) (DB)  1906 Pun LR No 74 P 222 (223) (DB)  1906 Pun Re No 65, P 237 (238) 1907 Pun LR No 72  1906 Pun Re No 119 P 457 (458) 1907 Pun LR No 81 (DB)  (1906) 2 Nag LR 113 (114)  (1906) 3 Nag LR 97 (100) (Regulation makes no reference whatever to costs)  (1893) 16 All 59 (65) (Petition for foreclosure made before the date of payment Foreclosure proceedings invalid)  (1893) 20 Cal 269 (271, 272) (DB)  (1889) 12 All 189 (192) (DB) (Notice not signed by the Judge but by munsarim — Foreclosure proceedings void ab initio)  (1889) 11 All 164 (171)  (1888) 15 Cal 357 (361, 362) (DB)  (1887) 14 Cal 599 (604) (DB)  (1887) 14 Cal 451 (456) (DB)  (1886) 8 All 388 (392) (DB)  (1886) 12 Cal 138 (140) (DB)  (1886) 13 Cal 50 (52) (DB) (A notice of foreclosure not signed by the Judge but signed by the Sheristadar of the Court and bearing the seal of the court is not valid under S 8 of Regulation XVII of 1806)  (1885) 11 Cal 341 (342) (DB) (The purchaser at a sale in execution of a money decree held before the institution of the foreclosure proceedings is entitled to a notice though the sale is confirmed and the sale certificate issued later on)  (1885) 12 Cal 614 (619) (DB)  (1884) 6 All 344 (350) (DB)  (1882) 4 All 276 (277) (DB)  (1882) 4 All 332 (333) (DB)  (1881) 3 All 413 (414) (DB) (The holder of a decree for money does not merely because he has attached land belonging to his judgment-debtor while it is a subject to conditional mortgage become the 'legal representative' of the mortgagor within the meaning of S 8 of the Regulation)  (1881) 3 All 509 (514) (DB)  (1881) 3 All 408 (411) (DB)  (1879) 2 All 313 (314) (DB)  (1877) 1 All 499 (501) (DB)  (1875) 14 Beng LR 315 (318) (DB)  (1875) 15 Beng LR 34n (35n) (DB)  (1875) 15 Beng LR 28 (33) (DB)  (1875) 25 Suth WR 139 (139)  (1874) 22 Suth WR 168 (168) (DB)  (1874) 22 Suth WR 475 (476) (DB) (A second mortgagee under a mortgage bond is entitled to notice of foreclosure under the Regulation.)  (1874) 22 Suth WR 539 (540) (DB)  (1873) 19 Suth WR 170 (170) (DB)  (1873) 19 Suth WR 274 (275) (DB)  (1873) 5 NW PHCR 29 (30) (DB) (Sale could become absolute by agreement and act of parties without following the procedure under the Regulation)  (1873) 20 Suth WR 176 (176, 177) (DB)  (1872) 17 Suth WR 230 (230) (DB)  (1871) 3 NWPHCR 176 (177) (DB)  (1871) 3 NWPHCR 325 (327) (DB)  (1871) 3 NWPHCR 35 (36, 37) (DB)  (1870) 14 Suth WR 423 (424) (DB)  (1870) 5 Beng LR 389 (393) (DB)  (1870) 2 NWPHCR 444 (445) (DB)  (1869) 11 Suth WR 544 (546) (DB) (Purchaser from mortgagor is his legal representative)  (1869) 1 NWPHCR 81 (84) (DB)  (1869) 3 Beng LRAC 172 (173) (DB)  (1869) 12 Suth WR 105 (107) (DB)  (1868) 10 Suth WR 359 (360) (DB)  (1868) 3 Agra 129 (130) (DB)  (1868) 3 Agra 184 (185) (DB)  (1867) 2 Agra 176 (177) (DB)  (1868) 3 Agra 358 (359) (DB)  (1868) 3 Agra 307 (308) (DB)  (1868) 10 Suth WR 326 (327) (DB)  (1868) 10 Suth WR 478 (480, 482) (DB)  (1865) 1 Beng LR (SN) 3a (3a) (DB) (Purchaser from mortgagor comes within category of legal representatives under the Regulation)  (1866) 6 Suth WR 230 (231) (DB)  (1865) 3 Suth WR 230 (231) (DB)  (1864) Suth WR 285 (286) (DB)  1864 Suth WR 183 (184) (DB) (The benefit of Regulation XVII of 1806 could not be applied to mortgages made prior to the passing of that enactment)  (1926) 95 Ind Cas 863 (863) (Lah)  (1922) 67 Ind Cas 161 (162) (DB) (Lah) (Mortgagee's omission to where it was not in force, as a cursus curiae (19) Sections 7 and 8 of the Regulation were declared to be in force in the Punjab by S. 3 of the Punjab Laws Act 4 of 1872

The Transfer of Property Act repealed the Regulation as well as the Punjab Laws Act, 1872 so far as it related to the Regulations but as the Act itself does not extend to the Punjab, the Regulation is still in force in the Punjab. (20) Sections 7 and 8 of the Regulation only laid down rules of procedure.

Section 2, Cl (c) of this Act provides that all legal relations constituted before the Act came into force are left unaffected, and, as has been seen in the Notes on that section this does not apply to rules of procedure. Therefore, it was held that even if a mortgage was executed while the Regulation was in force, the mortgagee, if he wanted to foreclose after this Act had come into force must follow the procedure laid down in the Transfer of Property Act (now transferred to the Code of Civil Procedure). (21)

The Regulation had no force in Madras and the law in that Presidency as laid down by decisions up to the year 1858 (22) was the same as it was in Bengal before the Regulation namely that the contracts were enforceable according to the strict terms thereof and that the interest of the mortgagee became absolute according to the terms of the contract by the mere failure of the mortgagor to redeem within the stipulated time. But in the year 1858, the Court began to apply the English doctrine of the equity of redemption in such cases and the mortgagor was held entitled to redeem even after breach of the condition (23) This was disapproved by the Lordships of the Privy Council in the case of Pattabhiramier v. Venkata Row Naikent (24) decided in the year 1870. Their Lordships observed that what was known as "the equity of redemption" in the law of England depended upon the doctrine established by Courts of Equity that the time stipulated in the mortgage was not of the essence of the contract and that such a doctrine was unknown to the ancient law of India. Their Lordships, however, remarked .

- "It must not be supposed that, in allowing this appeal, their Lordships design to disturb any rule of property established by judicial decisions so as to form part of the Law of the Forum wherever such may prevail, or to affect any title founded thereon."

In the Province of Bombay also the view taken up to the year 1864 was the same as that taken in Madras up to the year 1858. But in 1864 the Court adopted the later Madras view (25) which, as make a demand for mortgage money before notice is issued in foreclosure proceedings is a fatal flaw in the proceedings and renders them nugatory.  1913 Pun Re No. 91 (DB)  (1912) 17 Ind Cas 467 (468) (A 1) (A right barred under the Regulation cannot be resuscitated by T.P. Act.)  1912 Pun Re No. 31 (DB)  (1912) 14 Ind Cas 332 (333) (Lah)

19. (1873) 13 Beng LR 205 (213) (PC)  AIR 1914 Lah 274 (274) (DB)  (1895) 8 CPLR 113 (115) (7 CPLR 22 and 7 CPLR 29 held no longer good law in view of 13 Beng LR 205 (PC).)

20. AIR 1933 Lah 174 (175)

(See also AIR 1933 Lah 676 (677) : 14 Lah 640 (DB))

20. (1884) 6 All 262 (267, 268) (FB). (Stuart J. contra  AIR 1926 All 667 (668)

22. See the cases cited in (1869-70) 13 Moo Ind App 560 (565) (PC)

23. See the cases cited in (1869-70) 13 Moo Ind App 560 (565) (PC)  (1865) 2 Mad HCR 420 (421) (DB)  (1865) 2 Mad HCR 450 (450) (DB)

[See also (1875) 7 Mad HCR 6 (12) (DB). (Deed held to be sale)]

24. (1869-70) 13 Moo Ind App 560 (569, 571, 572) (PC).

25. (1872) 9 Bom HCR 69 (78) (SB)  (1872) 9 Bom HCR 79 (82) (SB)  (1864) 1 Bom HCR 199 (202, 203) (SB)  (1868) 2 Bom HCR 214 (218) (DB). (1 Bom HCR 199 (SB) Foll)

in Madras, was followed even 'after the decision in Pattabhiramier's case.(26) In this state of affairs the question came on again before the Privy Council in Thumbusawmy v. Hossain Rowthen(27) and it was held by their Lordships that the departure from the original line of decisions both in Madras and Bombay was wrong, but in view of the great hardship that might be caused to persons whose titles may have come into existence on the basis of the Madras and Bombay decisions, their Lordships suggested, without deciding, a rule of guidance to be followed in future cases, in the following words :

'On a stale claim to redeem a mortgage, and dispossess a mortgagee who had before 1858 acquired an absolute title there would be strong reasons for adopting the former course. In the case of a security, executed since 1858, there would be strong reasons for recognising and giving effect to the Madras authorities, with reference to which the parties might be supposed to have contracted''

After the decision in Thumbusawmy's case(28) where the claim arose out of a conveyance executed before 1858, redemption was not allowed after the due date(29), while in cases of conveyances executed after 1858, the rule according to the Madras decisions was followed and redemption was allowed even after the due date (30) In the undermentioned cases(31) of Burma and Sind where the Transfer of Property Act did not apply, Thumbusawmy's case(32) was followed and it was held that the contract executed itself and that the right of redemption was lost. The Bombay High Court, however, even after the decision in Thumbusawmy's case(33) continued to adopt its own view and allowed redemption after the due date, and held that Thumbusawmy's case(34) did not have the effect of overruling the course of decisions in the Presidency.(35)

The incidents of a mortgage by conditional sale as it prevailed before 1882 have now been embodied in S 58, Cl (c) (36) As observed by their Lordships of the Privy Council in Balkishen Das v. Legge,(37) in enacting clause (c) of S 58, 'it may be assumed that the framers of it intended

26. (1869-70) 13 Moo Ind App 560 (571, 572)

27. (1876) 1 Mad 1 (23) : 21 Ind App 241 (PC).

28. (1876) 1 Mad 1 (13) : 21 Ind App 241 (PC).

29. (1884) 8 Mad 185 (191, 192) (DB)  (1881) 3 Mad 26 (30) (DB).

30. (1882) 4 Mad 179 (190) (FB). (Innes J. dissenting)  AIR 1941 Mad 666 (669) (DB). (Mortgages of 1873 and 1880)  AIR 1926 Mad 386 (387) (DB)  AIR 1917 Mad 232 (232) (DB) (Mortgage deed executed in 1879 — Redemption allowed)  AIR 1915 Mad 33 (33) (DB)  (1904) 14 Mad L Jour 347 (349) (DB)  (1899) 23 Mad 114 (118) (DB)  (1892) 15 Mad 230 (232) (DB). (Mortgage of 1880.)

[See also (1883) 6 Mad 339 (341) (DB) (Document before 1858 — Held, time fixed was not of the essence of the contract — Redemption allowed after due date)]

31. AIR 1927 Sind 46 (48) (DB)  AIR 1917 Low Bur 39 (39) (Case before S 60 was extended to Lower Burma.)  AIR 1917 Low Bur 178 (178) (DB)  AIR 1915 Low Bur 147 (148)  (1900) 1 Low Bur Rul 192 (193)  (1912) 6 Sind LR 178 (179) (DB)

32. (1876) 1 Mad 1 (13) : 21 Ind App 241 (PC).

33. (1876) 1 Mad 1 (13) : 21 Ind App 241 (PC).

34. (1876) 1 Mad 1 (13) : 21 Ind App 241 (PC).

35. (1904) 6 Bom LR 630 (630) (DB)  (1890) 14 Bom 78 (81) (DB)  (1890) 14 Bom 19 (23) (DB)  (1883) 7 Bom 139 (145) (DB)  (1877) 2 Bom 231 (238) (DB)

36. AIR 1914 PC 36 (36) : 36 All 195 : 41 Ind App 84 (PC)  AIR 1927 All 137 (140) 48 All 787 (DB) (Mortgage by conditional sale in vogue before 1882 was known as bat-bil-wafa.)

[See also (1906) 29 Mad 531 (532) (DB).

37. (1900) 22 All 149 (160) : 27 Ind App 58 (PC).

to state the existing law and practice in India" See also the undermentioned cases (38)

(B) Ostensible sales.

For a mortgage by conditional sale under clause (c) there must, to begin with, be an ostensible sale(39), i.e., a transaction which bears the appearance of a sale, but is not really that of which it bears the appearance.(40) The sale being merely an ostensible one, the mortgagor does not lose his title or the right to possess the property(41) though, as has been seen already, possession also may be transferred. The document by which mortgage by conditional sale is created is one by which the mortgagor ostensibly sells the property, ostensible sale is not by itself a sale though it may become one when the condition regarding repayment is not fulfilled. The mortgagor continues to be the owner of the mortgaged property till the date for repayment of mortgage debt has not expired, it is only after that date that the mortgagee can claim right of ownership(42). Where the plaintiff has sold certain land subject to condition of reconveyance within stipulated period on payment of the amount the transaction is mortgage by conditional sale the plaintiff's right to sue for specific performance is not taken away by the U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1951)(43) where the document purports to be a mortgage only but says that on default of payment the land is to be regarded as sold, it is not a mortgage by conditional sale (44)

38. AIR 1964 Pat 193 (196) (DB)  AIR 1974 Cal 824 (823) (DB)  (1971) 10 Ind Cas 630 (631) (DB) (All)

39. AIR 1921 Mad 12 (16) · 43 Mad 589 (FB) (Provision as to future sale — Mortgage is not one by conditional sale)  AIR 1961 Mad 276 (278) · ILR (1961) Mad 387. Reversed on another point in AIR 1966 SC 902)  ILR (1960) 1 Punj 70 (74)  AIR 1959 Pat 239 (242) · 37 Pat 904 (DB) (Property sold in execution — Compromise between decree holder and judgment-debtor that if decretal amount were paid within 12 months sale to be set aside, if not paid sale to be confirmed — Compromise held not a mortgage by conditional sale)  AIR 1958 Pat 67 (69) (DB)  AIR 1940 Cal 486 (487) · ILR (1948) 2 Cal 573 (DB) (By a document described as a mortgage by conditional sale the possession of the properties was delivered over to the mortgagees and the stipulation was that they would enjoy the usufruct and credit the same towards interest — The document mentioned a due date for payment of entire mortgage debt and provided that in default of payment on or before that date, the mortgagee would be entitled to foreclose and that the conditional sale would then ripen into an absolute sale — Held, that the transaction was not a usufructuary mortgage but a mortgage by conditional sale)  AIR 1926 Bom 107 (109) (DB), (AIR 1921 Mad 12 (FB), Followed.)  AIR 1917 Cal 217 (217) (DB)

[See also (1956) 2 Mad LJ 565 (566) (To establish that a particular document which purports to be a sale deed is a mortgage by conditional sale according to S. 58(c) it is not necessary to show that there was a mortgagor mortgagee mortgage property and mortgage money at the time of the execution of the ostensible sale)]

40. AIR 1964 Pat 193 (196) (DB)  AIR 1961 Mad 276 (278) · ILR (1961) Mad 387 (Reversed on another point in AIR 1966 SC 902)  AIR 1929 All 174 (177) (Reversed on another point by AIR 1931 All 196.)

[See also AIR 1952 All 716 (724) · ILR (1952) 2 All 200 (FB) (Per Agarwala J. The word 'ostensible' in S. 58(c) has two meanings — (a) that the object bears a certain form or appearance without suggesting that it is or is not that of which it has the superficial appearance and (b) that the object bears a certain appearance but is not really that of which it bears the appearance)]

41. AIR 1939 Nag 287 (294) (DB).

42. 2001 (252) ITR 350 (351) (Mad)

43. 1980 UPLT (NOC) 18 : (1979) 5 All LR 373 (374)

44. AIR 1955 Vind Pra 4 (5)  AIR 1921 Mad 12 (16) · 43 Mad 589 (DB)  (1931) 14 Nag LJ 31 (32, 33) (Rev) (Mortgage deed with possession and after happening of certain contingency to ripen into a sale — Held, not mortgage by conditional sale)

Where a property is ostensibly sold by a mortgagor to the mortgagee with a condition that on making payment by the mortgagor to the mortgagee and getting the sale executed and registered, the sale shall become void or on committing default in payment of the mortgage money on a specified date, the sale shall become absolute or on condition that on such payment being made the buyer shall transfer the property to the seller, the transaction is called only a mortgage by conditional sale and it is not sale out and out.(45)

In instant case property was sold but there was an agreement to reconvey if the consideration is repaid within a period of 3 to 5 years. Within about 6 months from the date of execution of sale, the vendor executed an agreement to sell the property to another person, that person subsequently brought suit for specific performance which was decreed. The purchaser challenged the same. Held that the first sale transaction was not a mortgage by conditional sale but a conditional sale with an option to repurchase.(46) Where the landlord on receipt of money gave possession of land to purchaser and it was stipulated in the agreement that the purchaser was to execute reconveyance on payment of amount by landlord otherwise sale was to be confirmed and there was no stipulation for payment of interest, the transaction amounted to sale with condition to repurchase and not mortgage by conditional sale (47) Where the sale deed contained condition regarding recovery of property within two years of payment on same consideration, the deed was mortgage with conditional sale and not a sale deed with condition of reconveyance suit for specific performance was therefore not maintainable.(48)

(C) Personal liability.

There is no covenant to pay in a mortgage by conditional sale (49) This characteristic chiefly distinguishes it from an English mortgage.

The absence of a personal covenant does not render the transaction any the less a debt secured by immovable property.(50) See Note 35.

(D) "On default of payment of mortgage-money on a certain date."

The words "on a certain date" mean "on or before a certain date (51)

It was held in the undermentioned cases(52) that the fixing of a certain date for payment was an essential ingredient of this mortgage. The High Court of Madras has held that the words "on a certain date" refer to the default in the second clause and not to the payment in the third and fourth clauses (53) in the case noted below(54) it was held that the absence of the mention of certain date was no indication that the transaction was not a mortgage

45. (1987) 2 LS (AP) 289 (291).

46. ILR (2000) Kant 2912 (2916).

47. AIR 2001 Bom 369 (372) : 2001 (3) Bom LR 436

48. 2002 All LJ 576 (579) : 2001 (44) All LR 289.

49. AIR 1959 MP 178 (179)  AIR 1954 Trav-Co 142 (144) ILR (1953) Trav-Co 999  AIR 1952 Kutch 65 (66)  AIR 1920 Nag 244 (244)  AIR 1917 Nag 57 (57)

50. AIR 1944 Nag 289 (291) : ILR (1944) Nag 568 (FB). (Overruling AIR 1942 Nag 88 in so far as it held that a preliminary decree for foreclosure is not a debt)

(But see AIR 1941 Oudh 479 (481) 16 Luck 789 (DB) (Submitted not correct)]

51. AIR 1941 Cal 823 (823, 824) (DB).

52. AIR 1956 Bhopal 59 (61)  AIR 1928 Cal 825 (825) (DB) (If the mortgage deed contains a clause that the mortgage would be turned into an out and out sale on the expiry of a certain period, a clause which is essential for a mortgage by conditional sale under S 58, Transfer of Property Act, the deed is not an out-and-out sale to begin with, but only a mortgage by conditional sale, although the deed contains the word (Bikrita) meaning "sold")

53. AIR 1928 Mad 28 (32, 34) (DB).

54. AIR 1925 Cal 1151 (1153).

Where on default of payment of mortgage money at the end of a certain period, the sale does not take effect owing to the waiver of the mortgagee or any laches on his part, the original terms as to payment of interest and the method of repayment would be the same as that entered in the original contract.(55)

See the undermentioned case(56) under Bengal Money Lenders Act

32. Distinction between mortgage by conditional sale and a sale with a clause for re-purchase.

A mortgage by conditional sale is a transaction essentially different from a sale with a condition of repurchase. In the latter, the ownership vests in the transferee from the date of the document, and there is no question of any debt being in existence after the date of the transaction. Further, the right of re-purchase can be exercised only on a strict compliance with the terms of the agreement (1) In the former the debt subsists and the right to redeem remains with the debtor (2) The mortgage by conditional sale is a mortgage in which the ostensible sale is conditional and is intended as a security for the debt and in case of payment at the time fixed, condition was that the sale

55. AIR 1926 Lab 237 (237).

56. AIR 1984 Cal 130 (135) (1984) 1 Cal LJ 204. A borrower in order to get the protection of Bengal Money-Lenders Act must show among other things that he ostensibly sells the mortgaged property on any of the conditions enumerated in S. 58(c) of Transfer of Property Act namely (i) that on default of payment of the mortgaged money on a certain date the sale becomes absolute or (ii) that on condition of such payment being made such sale becomes void or (iii) that on such payment being made the buyer shall transfer the property to the seller. Section 37-A of Bengal Act overrides the proviso to S. 58(c).

Section 58 — Note 32

1. AIR 1966 SC 902 (903). (Reversing AIR 1961 Mad 276 on facts)  AIR 1963 SC 1906 (1907)  AIR 1963 SC 1182 (1184)  (1965) 31 Cut LT 233 (235)  AIR 1964 Pat 193 (195) (DB)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (82) (DB)  AIR 1961 Mad 276 (278) ILR (1961) Mad 387 (Reversed on facts in AIR 1966 SC 902)  AIR 1960 Punj 444 (448) ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (DB)  AIR 1958 Pat 371 (374) (DB)  (1954) Madh B.L.J. (H.C.) 610 (615) (DB) ((1890) 12 All 387 17 Ind App 98 (PC) Full  1949 Bur L.R. (H.C.) 58 (61-62) (However, the conduct of a creditor may amount to a dispensation with the literal compliance of the conditions set out in the agreement)  AIR 1942 Cal 452 (453) (DB)  AIR 1925 Oudh 533 (534) (DB).

[See also ILR (1960) 1 Punj 70 (74) (Sale with condition of repurchase — Transferee having accepted the sale is bound also by the stipulation to reconvey the property to transferor — He must either accept the transaction as a whole with all obligations or repudiate it altogether)  AIR 1927 Oudh 159 (160) (Sale with condition for reconveyance — Vendor to exercise right on or before 31-3-1925 — Vendee not complying with vendor's request to take the money and execute a sale deed — Vendee filing a suit and tendering the amount in Court on 30-3-1925 though order of Court was passed on 31-3-1925 and the Bank received the payment on 1-4-1925 — Held, that the vendor had complied with the terms of the deed and was therefore entitled to have an order directing the vendee to reconvey the house to the vendor.)]

2. AIR 1963 SC 1906 (1907) : (1965) 31 Cut LT 233 (235). (Postponement of absolute character of legal title of transferee till expiry of certain date and avoidance of entire transaction on repayment by transferor are two features, laid down in S. 58(c) as appertaining to mortgage by conditional sale)  AIR 1964 Pat 193 (195) (DB)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (82) (DB)  AIR 1961 Mad 276 (278) ILR (1961) Mad 387 (Reversed on another point in AIR 1966 SC 902)  AIR 1960 Punj 444 (448) ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (DB)  AIR 1958 Pat 371 (374) (DB)  AIR 1942 Cal 452 (454) (DB) (Mortgage by conditional sale is essentially in the nature of security and that being so, notwithstanding becomes void or that the mortgagee would execute a reconveyance.(3) In other words, a mortgage by conditional sale postulates the creation by the transfer of a relation of mortgagor and mortgagee, the price being charged on the property conveyed. In the sale coupled with an agreement to reconvey there is no relation of debtor and creditor nor is the price charged upon the property conveyed (4) Whether a transaction is mortgage by conditional sale or sale with a condition of repurchase will depend on (1) absence of conveyance of absolute title from the date of document, (2) an absolute title to rest only in the amount is not repaid within stipulated time (3) whether the transferee is entitled or not to occupy the premises, (4) whether title deeds are handed over to the vendee or not, and (5) provision for return of the same amount as borrowed.(5)

The following are some tests as laid down by Gujarat High Court(6) to determine whether a transaction is mortgage by conditional sale or sale with condition to repurchase. They are not exhaustive .

1. Nomenclature hardly conclusive To be taken into consideration when consistent with intention of parties
2. Existence of relationship of debtor creditor
3. Stipulation of payment of interest or delivery of possession
4. Incorporation of two transactions in one document
- Two separate document — Sale with condition to repurchase
- 5 Mortgage by conditional sale — Vesting of title postponed Repurchase — Immediate Vesting of title
6. Inadequacy of consideration.
7. Same price in reconveyance
- 8 Recital that purchaser may deal with property in any matter — Repurchase
9. Intention to be gathered from attending circumstances and evidence.

There is a lot of difference between an agreement of sale and an agreement of reconveyance In agreement of sale the agreement holder is definitely bound to prove that he had been ready and willing always but such a strict requirement of pleading and proof is not required in case of reconveyance In agreement of reconveyance a period is normally fixed for performance and time is the essence of the contract while in agreement for sale it is not.(7)

Where a question arises, whether a particular document executed by the mortgagor, is a mortgage by conditional sale or an out and out sale with a condition to repurchase the document presents no difficulty in its being construed as mortgage by conditional sale when (a) not only the the form of the transaction, the mortgagor's right to redeem the security will remain even if the due date may have passed — But notwithstanding this, if a decree for foreclosure is passed the effect is the same as if the mortgagor has himself executed an out and out transfer to the mortgagee and where such a transfer is not allowed, the foreclosure also will come under the prohibition. See S. 67, Note 10)  AIR 1939 Cal 730 (731) : ILR (1940) 1 Cal 133 (DB).

[See AIR 1929 All 864 (865) (DB).]

3. 1999 (3) Mad LJ 713 (719).
4. AIR 1966 SC 902 (903) : (1966) 2 SCR 918. (Reversing AIR 1961 Mad 276 on another point.)  AIR 1964 Orissa 17 (18).
5. AIR 1969 Guj 239 (246 to 248) : 10 Guj LR 811.
6. 1998 (1) Guj LR 633 (638).
7. 1998 AIHC 2232 (2238) · 1998 (1) Mad LW 173 (Defendant agreeing to reconvey property on last date of fixed period — But not appearing before sub-Registrar on that date — Plaintiff entitled to decree for reconveyance .)

twin ingredients of S 58 (c) of T P Act viz, (i) that the document does not only constitute an ostensible sale but (ii) has a condition that on repayment of the prescribed amount the buyer shall re-transfer the property to the seller are fulfilled; but also (b) the surrounding circumstances which could be gathered from the document itself indicate irresistibly the intention of the parties to treat it as a mortgage by conditional sale (8) Thus, where the recital of the deed would clearly establish that the vendor had an intention to part with the title on execution of the document and so it was stated that if the reconveyance was not obtained within the time stipulated, the purchaser could continue to enjoy the property as absolute owner and though it was pleaded that value mentioned in the document did not reflect the correct value, no evidence was let in to that effect and no relationship of creditor and debtor existed between the vendor and vendee, it was held that the document was sale deed and not mortgage by conditional sale (9) Where a deed hypothecated property with a stipulation that in default of payment within a stipulated period, or if the mortgagor dies without payment within that period, the transaction should be a "complete sale," it was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that the transaction was a mortgage by conditional sale (10) Where a sale-deed incorporated a condition that vendor was entitled to get back property within period of limitation it was held that the intention was to create mortgage and not out and out sale (11)

Where the first part of the document spoke about outright sale, however second part contained reference for redemption of suit land, the document cannot be interpreted as document of sale only on basis of first part. The document has to be read as a whole. In case of sale transaction with condition to repurchase, there is no lending and borrowing arrangement. No question of redemption would arise in case of sale with condition of retransfer. But in a mortgage by conditional sale, right of redemption subsists, notwithstanding that the mortgagor has failed to pay at the stipulated time. (12)

Where the first part of a document speaks about outright sale while the second part contains a reference for getting the suit land redeemed, the document constitutes mortgage by conditional sale and not sale with right to repurchase. (13)

The deed in the instant case was held to be a deed of mortgage of property by conditional sale and that since mortgage money has been paid, the property stands released from the mortgage, the mortgage comes to an end though the statutory rights to recover possession services (14)

Where a property is alleged to have been sold to a money lender at a price less than market price, the vendor continued to remain in possession, same property was agreed to be reconveyed the transaction was one of mortgage and not sale (15)

Sale with condition to repurchase

In instant case there was no debtor-creditor relationship between the parties. Intention of the parties was to create assignment deed. The executant was in much better financial position than opposite party. There was no stipulation for interest nor any charge created. Inadequacy of consideration was not established. In the facts of the case held that the document was sale with condition to repurchase and not mortgage with conditional sale (16)

8. (1982) 2 Andh LT 260 (271).

9. 2002 (2) Mad LJ 26 : 2002 (3) Mad LW 532 (542).

10. (1906) 28 All 496 (507) : 33 Ind App 107 (PC).

11. (1979) 20 (2) Guj LR 51 (55).

12. AIR 1994 Guj 8 (11).

13. AIR 1994 Guj 8 (10).

14. 1999 (1) Cur CC 209 (212) (Madh Pra).

15. 1999 A1HC 2126 (2131) : 1999 (1) Andh LT 199.

16. AIR 1997 Ker 173 (174) : 1997 (1) Ker LJ 213.

Where possession of mortgaged property was given to transferee, he was to pay taxes and on repayment of loan was to endorse receipt and would execute sale deed in favour of transferor and consideration was to be fixed by 4 persons it was held that the transaction was a mortgage with conditional sale and not sale with condition to repurchase.(17)

Where the owner executed a document for himself and his minor son for certain sum of money on condition that transferee would possess the property by paying tax etc and in case money is repaid within stipulated time, the factum would be endorsed on the document and possession should be re-delivered to executant and in case he fails to repay, a sale deed for the consideration to be fixed would be executed, and the purchaser shall enjoy the property absolutely, such recital is consistent with transaction of mortgage with conditional sale rather than sale with condition to repurchase.(18)

See also the undermentioned case to the same effect.(19)

A co-sharer of a patti took possession of the share of another co-sharer under an agreement that any sharer who pays the revenue due by a defaulting sharer should take possession of such defaulting sharer's share without power of transfer and without liability for rendition of accounts; on failure of the defaulter to pay the amount within 12 years, the possessor should be the owner of it. It was held that the transaction was a mortgage by conditional sale.(20)

33. Sale or mortgage — Tests of distinction.

Questions very often arise as to whether a particular transaction, whether consisting of a single document or consisting of two documents, one a sale and the other an agreement to reconvey is an out and out sale or a mortgage. The form of the transaction may give rise to a presumption that the transaction is what it purports to be. Where the transaction is apparently a sale, the onus of showing that it is a mortgage lies on the person who contends against the tenor of the deed.(1) Similarly, where the document is apparently a mortgage, the onus is on the person who alleges it to be a sale to prove it.(2) The form of the transaction is not, however, the final test. The true test is the

17. 1998 AIHC 2382 (2383) : 1997 (3) Civ LJ 77 (Onssa).

18. 1998 AIHC 2382 (2383) : 1997 (3) Civ LJ 77 (Onssa).

19. AIR 1927 Lah 748 (751) (DB)

20. (1904) 26 All 337 (341) (DB).

Section 58 — Note 33

1. AIR 1936 PC 65 (69). ("Strong evidence is required to establish the contention that a conveyance in form absolute ought to be treated as a mortgage since the contention requires that the written document should be in some sense modified or added to for the purpose of carrying out the true intent of both the parties to it")  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (83) (DB)  AIR 1960 Manipur 11 (13)  AIR 1960 Punj 444 (448) ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (DB)  AIR 1954 Nag 193 (197) (DB)  AIR 1953 Mys 105 (106) ILR (1952) Mys 247 (DB)  AIR 1952 Punj 181 (183)  AIR 1950 Nag 198 (200) ILR (1950) Nag 719  AIR 1944 Oudh 305 (306) (DB)  AIR 1934 Nag 18 (19)  AIR 1917 Low Bur 161 (161)  (1911) 9 Ind Cas 770 (771) (Low Bur)

[See also AIR 1957 Manipur 9 (11) (Contents showing out and out sale — Mere fact that word 'Mahajan' has been used in the deed will not make it a loan transaction)  AIR 1955 Manipur 37 (38) (Property conveyed by registered deed, through out and out sale — No condition of repurchase attached to this deed — Mortgage cannot be deemed to be a mortgage by conditional sale within S 58(c) — Mere fact that the word "Mahajan" was used will not in any way go to establish that it was really a mortgage by conditional sale)]

2. AIR 1983 Pat 60 (61, 63) 1982 BLJR 473 (DB)  (1965) 31 Cut LT 233 (235)  AIR 1960 Punj 444 (448) ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (DB)  AIR 1954 Pat 562 (564) ILR 33 Pat 638 (DB)  AIR 1925 Rang 377 (379) 3 Rang 367 (DB)

[See also AIR 1953 Madh B 143 (144) (DB) (Where the document is on the face of it a intention of the parties in entering into the transaction (3) If the parties intended that the transfer was only by way of security, the transaction would be a mortgage (4) But if the parties intended a permanent transfer the transaction would be a sale even though the deed happens to be in the form mortgage it cannot be regarded as a sale merely because the mortgage was executed for defeating the right of pre-emption.))

3. AIR 1954 SC 345 (346) AIR 1916 PC 49 (50) : 43 Ind App 284 AIR 1926 Bom 497 (507) : 50 Bom 566 (FB) AIR 1919 Mad 1 (5) : 42 Mad 407 (FB)  1895 Pun Re No. 100, p. 471 (473) (FB)  AIR 1957 All 740 (741) (DB)  ILR (1967) 2 Ker 69 (71)  (1967) 11 Law Rep 767 (772) (Mys)  AIR 1967 Orissa 191 (192) ILR (1967) Cut 32  AIR 1966 Andh Pra 252 (255) (DB)  AIR 1965 Assam 90 (92) ILR (1963) 15 Assam 496  (1865) 31 Cal LT 233 (235)  AIR 1964 Pat 193 (198) (DB)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (82) (DB)  1962 Mys LJ (Supp) 534 (539) (DB)  AIR 1961 Mad 276 (278) ILR (1961) Mad 387 [Reversed on another point in AIR 1966 SC 902]  ILR (1961) Mys 542 (545-546)  ILR (1961) Cut 487 (489) (DB)  AIR 1960 Punj 444 (448) ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (DB)  1959 Andh LT 457 (459)  (1959) 63 Cal WN 430 (434)  1956 Andh LT 534 (535)  AIR 1954 Nag 193 (196) (DB)  AIR 1950 All 430 (431)  AIR 1930 Mad 160 (162) (DB)  AIR 1944 Lah 175 (177)  AIR 1941 Oudh 479 (481) : 16 Luck 789 (DB) (Held on facts a mortgage)  AIR 1931 Lah 258 (259) : 12 Lah 488 (DB)  AIR 1931 Bom 371 (374) (DB)  AIR 1931 Rang 210 (211) : 9 Rang 452 (DB)  AIR 1929 All 174 (178) (Reversed in AIR 1931 All 196 on another point)  AIR 1928 Lah 726 (727) (DB)  AIR 1927 All 321 (323) : 49 All 405 (DB)  AIR 1925 Mad 37 (38)  AIR 1923 All 586 (587) : 45 All 581 (DB)  AIR 1916 Bom 215 (215-216) : 40 Bom 378 (DB)  AIR 1915 Mad 656 (657) (DB)  (1911) 33 All 337 (339-340) (DB)  (1904) 6 Bom LR 630 (631) (DB)  (1898) 22 Bom 245 (251) (DB)  898 Bom PJ 239 (241) (DB).

[See also 1967 Ker LJ 835 (835) (In this case the question was whether the transaction was a mortgage or a lease)  ILR (1966) Andh Pra 39 (44) (DB) (In this case the question was whether the transaction was a mortgage or lease.)]

4. AIR 1960 SC 301 (304) AIR 1954 SC 345 (347) AIR 1936 PC 65 (69)  (1894) 21 Cal 882 (898) : 21 Ind App 96 (PC)  ILR (1967) 2 Ker 69 (74)  AIR 1965 Assam 90 (91, 92) ILR (1963) 15 Assam 496  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (82) (DB)  AIR 1960 Punj 444 (448) ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (DB)  (1959) 63 Cal WN 430 (434)  AIR 1967 Ker 169 (170) (If the absolute transfer of right is intended to be postponed so as to take effect only on a future date the transaction will be a mortgage)  1956 Andh LT 534 (535)  AIR 1950 All 430 (431)  1946 Jaipur LR 379 (385, 384) (DB) (An orchard was mortgaged under a deed for a certain sum of money and later on some more money was taken under another deed providing that if the money is not paid back by a certain date the orchard shall be deemed to have been sold absolutely for the consolidated sum Held, that the later document was not independent of the original mortgage transaction and did not change the nature of the original transaction from mortgage to a sale)  AIR 1930 Mad 160 (162)  AIR 1931 All 196 (197) (Reversing AIR 1929 All 174)  AIR 1930 All 101 (102) (DB) (Two contemporaneous deeds, one purporting to sell the property other giving right of repurchaser to vendor — Held, transaction is not mortgage)  AIR 1928 Mad 28 (33) (DB)  AIR 1928 Mad 690 (700) (DB)  AIR 1925 Mad 37 (39)  (1906) 8 Bom LR 764 (770) (DB) (Per Heaton J)  (1875) 8 Mad HCR 31 (35) (DB)  (1926) 94 Ind Cas 756 (758) (DB) (Mad)  (1910) 6 Ind Cas 512 (512) (DB) (Mad) (If all indicia showing relation of a debtor and creditor are present an instrument will not operate as a sale merely because it provides that the alienee would retransfer the property to the alienor if the debt would be paid up by the alienor within a certain period.)

[See also 1967 Ker LJ 835 (835, 836) (Question in this case was whether the transaction was a mortgage or a lease)  ILR (1966) Andh Pra 39 (44) (DB) (Question in this case was whether transaction was a lease or mortgage Held, on a consideration of the document that it was a possessory mortgage and not a lease)  AIR 1951 Orissa 362 (373) : ILR (1951) Cut 281 (FB), (Ray C J — A mere delay in launching the suit for redemption will not make the transaction a sale which from its very inception was a mortgage)] of a mortgage.(5) The question whether a document which is ostensibly a sale deed is intended to be only a pretence for a mortgage deed is in every case a question of fact to be determined on the contents of the documents and the surrounding circumstances.(6) A mortgage is none the less a mortgage even though its terms are onerous.(7) or its terms are such as to render redemption impossible.(8)

5. AIR 1982 Mad 57 (61) (1981) 2 Mad LJ 122  ILR (1967) 2 Ker 69 (74)  AIR 1957 Ker 169 (170) (If the transferee became entitled to all the rights of the transferor on the date of the execution of the document the document will be regarded as a sale)  1956 Andh LT 534 (535)  AIR 1947 Pesh 33 (34)  AIR 1931 Lah 258 (260) 12 Lah 488 (DB) (Case of pre-emption)  AIR 1925 Mad 37 (39) (Vendee agreeing to reconvey the property at any time within a specified time on payment of consideration amounts to out and out sale)  AIR 1917 Mad 368 (369, 373) (DB)  1895 Pun Re No 100n, p 477n (478n) (DB) (Case of pre-emption)  (1890) 3 CPLR 154 (155) (A mortgage is a temporary transfer and the fact that it may result in a permanent transfer cannot be deemed to make it a permanent transfer)  (1872) 2 Bom 113 (116) (DB) (A deed which, on the face of it, was described as a mortgage, stated that the grantee was already in possession under a previous mortgage by the grantor, and was under the new deed to receive the profits in liquidation of interest so far as they would go, and that the grantor was not to be liable to repay the principal money or such balance of interest (if any) as might accrue upon it, unless he adopted a son, and the grantee, unless that event happened, was to enjoy the property conveyed in right of purchase for the sum due to him, both on account of principal and interest — Held, that such a deed was a sale liable to be converted into a mortgage, and not a mortgage liable to be converted into a sale)

[See also AIR 1962 Pat 53 (55) (DB) (Where the document in express and clear terms purports to be an absolute sale with a condition to repurchase within a stipulated time, the terms serve as the best guide for determining the nature of the deed and any other consideration such as the inadequacy of price or the payment of cost of stamp by the executant cannot alter the nature of the deed.)]

6. AIR 1966 SC 902 (908). (Reversing AIR 1961 Mad 276 on facts)  AIR 1960 SC 301 (304)  (ILR (1967) 2 Ker 69 (71)  (1967) 11 Law Rep 767 (772) (Mys)  AIR 1967 Orissa 191 (192) ILR (1967) Cut 32  AIR 1965 Assam 90 (91) ILR (1963) 15 Assam 496 (Evidence of contemporaneous conduct is admissible as surrounding circumstance)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (82) (DB)  AIR 1964 Pat 193 (198) (DB)  1962 Mys LJ (Supp) 534 (538) (DB)  AIR 1962 Pat 53 (55) (DB)  ILR (1961) Mys 542 (545)  ILR (1961) Cut 487 (489) (DB)  (1959) 63 Cal WN 430 (434)  AIR 1957 All 740 (741) (DB)  ILR (1957) 9 Assam 109 (114) (DB) (Each case will have to depend on its own facts, and any other decision on the point cannot be of much use or guidance unless the facts are essentially similar or identical)  AIR 1957 Ker 169 (170)  (1956) 1 Mad LJ 385 (387)  AIR 1954 Nag 193 (196) (DB)  AIR 1953 Madh B 143 (144) (DB) (Very little assistance can be derived from the construction put on different documents by the Courts in decided cases)  AIR 1953 Mys 105 (105) ILR (1952) Mys 247 (DB)  AIR 1950 All 430 (431)  (1946) 51 Mys HCR 187 25 Mys LJ 1  AIR 1944 Lah 175 (177, 178) (But when in deciding that question, the lower Court fails to consider all the essential conditions of the document as a whole and also the definition in S 58 its finding is not binding in second appeal)  AIR 1941 Oudh 479 (481) 16 Luck 789 (DB)  AIR 1941 Oudh 582 (584) 17 Luck 198 (DB)  AIR 1934 Nag 18 (20)

[See also 1967 Ker LJ 835 (837) (Question whether transaction is a mortgage or a lease)  AIR 1944 Oudh 305 (306, 307) (DB) (The conduct of the vendor pursuant to the deed is also an important factor to be taken into consideration.)]

7. AIR 1954 Pat 562 (565) ILR 33 Pat 638 (DB)  AIR 1928 Oudh 103 (104) 2 Luck 470 (DB)  AIR 1919 Oudh 374 (375)
8. AIR 1951 Pat 327 (328) (DB) (Stipulation in mortgage to sell at the end of stipulated period amounts to a clog and is void)  (1913) 16 Oudh Cas 9 (18) (DB)  (1912) 15 Oudh Cas 1 (5) (DB)

It is not the form of document that is a decisive factor but it is only the intention of the parties at the time of the execution of the deed. A document which is ostensibly a sale deed could be a mortgage if the intention could be gathered from the circumstances attended upon the document. Strong evidence would be required to establish that the conveyance in form absolute ought to be treated as mortgage. The intention could only be gathered from the recitals of the document itself, and if the language is ambiguous then only it will be possible to look into surrounding circumstances to determine what was intended. It does not follow that if the condition is incorporated in the deed effecting or purporting to effect a sale, a mortgage transaction must of necessity have been intended.(9)

We must concentrate our attention on the document to find out the real jural relationship between parties, but in so doing, neither the nomenclature employed by the parties nor even the formal terms of the deed should be taken as conclusive and it is permissible to even travel outside and have regard for the surrounding circumstances (10). Having regard to the fine distinction between a mortgage by conditional sale and sale with an option to repurchase, one should be guided by the terms of the document alone without much help from the case law. The attendant circumstances could be looked into to gather the intention. Such an intention if explicitly expressed in the document itself, there is no scope for looking at the attendant circumstances. If therefore there is no relationship of debtor and the creditor the question of it being a mortgage by conditional sale does not arise.(11)

It is only where the deed of sale and the contract to repurchase are parts of one and the same transaction that the sale could be a mortgage but the mere fact of singleness of the transaction though a strong piece of evidence, is not conclusive that the transaction is a mortgage (12)

It cannot be said broadly that where there is an ostensible sale subject to the condition of repurchase the transaction must necessarily always be a mortgage by conditional sale. It will be for the person pleading that it is an out and out sale to establish it. In the absence of such proof it must be held to be a mortgage (13). There is no presumption that a sale with a clause for repurchase executed in favour of a Muhammadan is only a mortgage clothed in the garb of a sale in order to avoid the prohibition in Muhammadan law against charging interest (14). In England the Laws of Evidence permit the establishment of facts showing the intention of the parties by proof at large. But in this country the matter of evidence is governed by S. 92 of the Evidence Act. In Maung Aye v Ma Shwe Law (15) Lord Shaw in delivering the judgment of the Board said

"The principles of equity which are universal forbid a person to deal with an estate which he knows that he holds in security as if he held it in property. But to apply the principles you must be placed in possession of the facts, and facts must be proved according to the law of evidence prevailing in the particular jurisdiction. In England the Laws of Evidence for the reasons set forth in Lincoln v Wright (16) and other cases permit such facts to be established by a proof at large, the general view being that unless this were done the Statute of Frauds would be used as a protection or vehicle for frauds. But in India, the matter of evidence is regulated by S. 92 of the Indian Evidence Act and it

9. (1986) 1 Andh LT 531 (537).

10. 1983 TLNJ 179 (180) (Mad).

11. AIR 1992 SC 1236 (1238) ; 1992 AIR SCW 1170 ; 1992 (2) JT 525 -  (1992) 2 RRR 301 (303) (SC).

12. 1961 MPLJ 1298 (1300)  AIR 1927 All 321 (327) 49 All 405 (DB).

13. AIR 1951 Orissa 362 (370) ; ILR (1951) Cal 281 (FB)  AIR 1944 Oudh 305 (309) (DB)  AIR 1929 All 619 (619) (DB).

14. AIR 1944 Oudh 305 (309) (DB).

15. AIR 1917 PC 207 (209) ; 45 Cal 320 ; 44 IA 236 ; 9 Low Bur Rul 114.

16. (1859) 45 ER 6 (9) ; 7 WR (Eng) 350.

accordingly remains to be asked, what is the evidence which under that statute may be competently adduced?"

It is now definitely settled by their Lordships of the Privy Council in Balkishen Das v Legge(17) that, as between the parties to the document or documents, the intention to treat the transaction as an out and out sale, or as a mortgage, must be decided on a consideration of the contents of the documents themselves with such extrinsic evidence of surrounding circumstances as may be required to show in what manner the language of the documents is related to existing facts. Oral evidence of such intention is not admissible by virtue of S 92 of the Evidence Act. See also the undermentioned cases to the same effect.(18)

17. (1900) 22 All 149 (158, 159) : 27 Ind App 58 (PC). (On appeal from 19 All 430)

18. AIR 1966 SC 902 (903). (Reversing AIR 1961 Mad 276 on another point)  AIR 1960 SC 301 (304)  AIR 1924 PC 226 (227) : 51 Ind App 305  AIR 1916 PC 49 (53, 54) : 38 All 570 : 43 Ind App 284. (Cogent evidence is required to prove that an instrument which is very old, is not what it purports to be)  (1901) 28 Cal 289 (291, 292) (SB)  (1902) 26 Bom 252 (256) (FB)  (1866) 5 Suth WR 68 (68, 72, 76) (FB)  (1866) 5 Suth WR 76 (76, 78) (FB)  AIR 1951 Orissa 362 (370) : ILR (1951) Cut 281 (FB). (This rule of admissibility of evidence is subject to the exception that only in case of fraud, the oral evidence of real intention may be admissible)  AIR 1984 Orissa 62 (63) (1984) 1 Orissa LR 135 (Impliedly overruled in view of (1900) 22 All 149 (PC)  AIR 1968 Orissa 65 (66) (DB)  AIR 1967 Orissa 191 (192) ILR 1967 Cut 32  AIR 1965 Assam 90 (92) ILR (1963) 15 Assam 496  AIR 1965 Mys 297 (299)  (1965) 31 Cut LT 233 (235)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (82) (DB) (But evidence to explain or even contradict recitals as distinguished from terms of the document can be given)  AIR 1962 Manipur 45 (47) (Oral evidence though not of the parties or attesting witnesses or the scribes, to show that at the time of the execution of the document the parties agreed as between themselves that the document was not a sale but a mortgage, will be admissible to show the surrounding circumstances, or the conduct of the parties which will show that it was only a mortgage and not a sale)  AIR 1962 Mys 44 (46) ILR (1961) Mys 513  1962 Mys LJ (Supp) 534 (539, 540) (DB) (It is only in cases of ambiguity that it is possible to adduce and rely upon oral evidence within the limits prescribed by proviso 6 to S 92, Evidence Act with a view to ascertain how the language employed is related to existing facts)  AIR 1962 Pat 53 (55) (DB)  AIR 1961 Mad 301 (302)  ILR (1961) Cut 487 (489) (DB)  AIR 1960 Punj 444 (448) ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (DB)  AIR 1960 Manipur 11 (12, 13) (Subsequent purchaser from party who was vendor in prior sale deed of same property — He is representative in interest of said vendor within S 92, Evidence Act and would be precluded from contending that first sale deed was only mortgage and not sale deed)  AIR 1959 Pat 230 (233) (DB)  AIR 1957 Bom 6 (7) ILR (1957) Bom 283  AIR 1957 Pat 673 (674) (DB)  AIR 1956 Bhopal 59 (61)  ILR (1956) 1 Cal 59 (64) (DB)  AIR 1955 Ameer 28 (29)  AIR 1954 Nag 193 (196) (DB) ((1900) 22 All 149 (PC) Foll.)  AIR 1954 Pat 562 (567) ILR 33 Pat 638 (DB)  AIR 1952 All 200 (203) (DB)  AIR 1950 Nag 198 (200) ILR (1950) Nag 719  (1946) 51 Mys HCR 187  AIR 1947 Mad 60 (61) ILR (1947) Mad 265 (DB)  AIR 1947 Pat 345 (347) 25 Pat 666 (DB)  AIR 1944 Lah 175 (177)  AIR 1942 Nag 115 (116) ILR (1942) Nag 592 (DB) (Intention of parties must be deduced from the actual words used in the instrument and it is only when the words used are ambiguous and do not yield clear meaning that extraneous evidence of surrounding circumstances may be looked into, 22 All 149 (PC), Rel. on.)  AIR 1940 Bom 1 (3) (DB)  AIR 1934 Nag 18 (19)  AIR 1934 Pat 217 (219) (DB) (The question was whether transaction was lease or usufructuary mortgage)  AIR 1933 Lah 104 (104)  AIR 1933 Cal 381 (382) 60 Cal 167  AIR 1931 Rang 210 (211) 9 Rang 452 (DB)  AIR 1931 Bom 371 (374) (DB)  AIR 1929 All 174 (178)  AIR 1929 Lah 530 (531)  AIR 1929 Cal 548 (550, 553) (DB) (After a lapse of considerable period cogent evidence is required to hold that the instrument is not what it purports to be)  AIR 1928 Mad 690 (696) (DB)  AIR 1928 Rang 58 (60) 5 Rang 644 (DB)  AIR 1927 All 321 (323) 49 All 405 (DB)  AIR 1926 Bom 107 (110) (DB) (Per Madgavkar, J)  AIR 1926 Cal 458 (459) (DB)  AIR

There is a conflict of opinion on the question whether evidence of the conduct of parties can be let in to show the intention of the parties, one view (19) being that such evidence is admissible.

1925 Bom 501 (503) 49 Bom 662 (DB) (Oral evidence is not admissible to prove that a document which on the face of it is a sale deed was really intended to operate as a mortgage)  AIR 1928 Nag 182 (184) (Do)  AIR 1925 Bom 288 (288) (DB) (Sale by Hindu father as manager — Son cannot adduce evidence under S. 92 Evidence Act in seeking to dispute the nature of the transaction — He is a party to the document of sale within the meaning of S. 99)  AIR 1925 Cal 115 (1152) (DB) (In construing a document between Mohammadans in order to find whether the transaction is a mortgage by conditional sale or an out and out sale, it should be remembered that documents are executed by Mahommadans in which they conceal, or at least try to conceal, the real nature of the transaction and attempt to make out that the transaction is an out and out sale, although as a matter of fact the intention of the parties is to create a mortgage)  AIR 1924 Rang 57 (58) 1 Rang 472 (DB)  AIR 1923 All 586 (588) 45 All 58 (DB)  AIR 192 Mad 498 (500) (DB)  AIR 1920 Bom 117 (118) 44 Bom 961 (DB) (Subsequent unregistered document of reconveyance held not admissible in evidence to look into the nature of a sale deed)  AIR 1920 Cal 683 (684) (DB) (The claim to redeem on the footing that the transaction was a mortgage and not a sale made after a lapse of 26 years)  AIR 1919 Cal 1077 (1077-1078) (DB) (Where parties to a document style it as karkhi but a word that indicates a mortgage by way of conditional sale, and all the terms contained in the document are consistent with the terms of a mortgage by way of conditional sale, the proper construction is that the document is a mortgage by way of conditional sale)  AIR 1919 Low Bur 140 (140)  AIR 1918 Mad 500 (500) (DB)  AIR 1918 Low Bur 140 (140) (DB)  AIR 1916 Mad 1074 (1077) (DB)  AIR 1916 All 153 (154) (DB)  AIR 1914 Cal 174 (175) (DB)  AIR 1914 Mad 37 (39) (DB)  AIR 1914 Cal 823 (823) (DB)  AIR 1914 Oudh 366 (367)  (1926) 98 Ind Cas 497 (497) (All)  (1908) 11 Oudh Cas 95 (98)  (1907) 3 Nag LR 97 (99)  (1907) 3 Nag LR 19 (34)  (1906) 30 Bom (19121) (DB)  (1906) 30 Bom 426 (429) (DB)  (1906) 2 Bom LR 1058 (1062) (DB)  (1892) 14 All 195 (199, 200) (DB)  (1889) 2 CPLR 125 (126)  (1879) 1 Cal LR 386 (390) (DB)  (1876) 1 Bom 333 (337) (DB)  (1923) 67 Ind Cas 113 (114) (DB) (Cal)  (1921) 64 Ind Cas 583 (584) (DB) (Cal)  (1913) 21 Ind Cas 90 (90) (DB) (Cal)  (1913) 6 Sind LR 245 (246) (DB)  (1911) 35 Bom 93 (96) (DB) (22 All 149-27 Ind App 58 (PC) (Foll))  (1911) 35 Bom 231 (235-236) (DB) (Do)  (1911) 33 All 337 (339) (DB)  (1910) 34 Bom 59 (64) (DB) (Evidence cannot be set up to prove the oral agreement, except on grounds of fraud or misrepresentation.)

[See also AIR 1946 PC 178 (179) ILR (1947) Kant (PC) 20 (Sale or mortgage — Court must find the substance behind form — But where oral evidence is unreliable and contradictory Court cannot safely depart from written evidence of documents)]

Also see S. 105, Note 67.

[But see (1864) 1 Suth WR 22 (22) (DB) (No longer good law)]

19. (1901) 28 Cal 289 (291, 292) (SB)  (1898) 25 Cal 603 (608) (FB)  (1866) 5 Suth WR 68 (72, 76) (FB). (Although evidence of the acts and conduct of the parties is admissible in suits in which third parties are not concerned the rights of a third party acting bona fide upon the faith of an absolute sale would not be affected even by the acts or conduct of the original parties and the third party would not be precluded by such acts or conduct from having effect given to the contract as expressed by the writing)  (1866) 5 Suth WR 76 (77, 78) (FB). (Do)  AIR 1928 All 34 (36, 37) (DB)  AIR 1920 Cal 683 (684) (DB)  AIR 1917 Cal 565 (566) (DB)  AIR 1914 Oudh 335 (335)  (1901) 28 Cal 256 (258-259) (DB)  1898 Bom PJ 239 (240, 241) (DB)  (1893) 16 Mad 80 (83) (DB) (Oral evidence is admissible to prove the nature of the transaction provided the innocent purchaser for value without notice is not prejudiced)  (1890) 13 Mad 494 (495) (DB)  (1883) 9 Cal 898 (900) (DB) (The rule of admitting evidence for the purpose of defeating the fraud involved in the conduct of the person who is really a mortgagee but who sets the other view(20) being that it is not admissible inasmuch as evidence of conduct could be relevant only on the ground that the conduct leads to the inference that there was a contemporaneous oral agreement or statement between the parties that the document, in form an absolute sale, was to operate as a mortgage and not a sale. But S 92 of the Evidence Act enacts that no evidence of any oral agreement shall be admitted to vary the terms of the contract or grant and no exception is made in the provisos in favour of evidence which consists of the acts and conduct of the parties from which an inference might be drawn that there was such an oral agreement. In Maung Kyin v. Ma Shwe Law(21) their Lordships of the Privy Council approving the decisions taking the latter view have held that such evidence is inadmissible. See also the undermentioned cases to the same effect decided after the above Privy Council decision.(22) The decisions taking the former view are now no longer good law.

The mere fact that a sale is accompanied by an agreement to reconvey the property sold, on repayment of the purchase-money within a certain time is not such a circumstance as will be sufficient, by itself, to show that the transaction was a mortgage(23) irrespective of the intention of the parties.

An agreement of repurchase before a specified date on payment of purchase money with himself up as an absolute purchaser would not apply to an innocent purchaser without notice of the existence of the mortgage who merely buys from a person who is in possession of the title deeds and is the ostensible owner of the property)  (1883) 9 Cal 528 (532, 533) (DB)  (1883) 7 Bom 73 (76) (DB)  (1883) 7 Bom 78 (81) (DB)  (1880) 4 Bom 594 (598) (DB)  (1873) 19 Suth WR 333 (334) (DB)  (1872) 18 Suth WR 256 (257) (DB)  (1866) 5 Suth WR 104 (105) (DB).

[See also (1898) 26 Cal 160 (163) (DB) (25 Cal 603 Foll — Case of a lease)  (1908) 12 Cal WN 878 (881, 884) (DB) (Conduct taken into consideration by the Court in deciding whether transaction amounted to a mortgage or out and out sale)  (1906) 8 Bom LR 669 (670) (DB).]

20. (1905) 3 Low Bur Rul 100 (104) (FB). (22 All 149 Foll 2 Low Bur Rul 1 Overruled.)  AIR 1934 Nag 18 (19)  AIR 1928 Rang 58 (59, 60) 5 Rang 644 (DB)  AIR 1925 Cal 1151 (1152) (DB)  AIR 1916 Low Bur 26 (27)  AIR 1914 Mad 37 (39) (DB)  (1907) 3 Nag LR 19 (33)  (1902) 25 Mad 7 (13) (DB)  (1880) 5 Cal 300 (302) (DB)

21. AIR 1917 PC 207 (209) : 45 Cal 320 (332) : 44 Ind App 236 : 9 Low Bur Rul 114.

22. AIR 1960 SC 301 (304). (Only evidence of contemporaneous conduct is admissible.)  (1991) 1 Kant LJ 477 (482) ILR (1991) Kant 2445 (Normally contemporaneous conduct of parties to document is taken into account for determining nature of document. But where the subsequent conduct of the parties is closely connected with document itself and they have treated the document in a particular manner and have acted accordingly the fact that such a conduct is subsequent to the document could not in any way be made a ground to exclude such conduct from consideration in determining the nature of the document, as such conduct being relevant cannot at all be excluded from consideration)  AIR 1965 Assam 90 (92) ILR (1963) 15 Assam 496 (Evidence of subsequent conduct not admissible as evidence of surrounding circumstance)  AIR 1964 Orissa 17 (18) (If there is ambiguity in the language employed evidence of contemporaneous conduct is always admissible as a surrounding circumstance. But evidence as to subsequent conduct of the parties is inadmissible)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (82) (DB) (But evidence of contemporaneous conduct is admissible as a surrounding circumstance)  ILR (1961) Cut 487 (489) (DB)  AIR 1959 Pat 230 (233) (DB)  AIR 1957 Pat 126 (127) (Proviso 6 to S 92, Evidence Act, can be resorted to where there is any ambiguity in the document itself)  AIR 1955 Hyd 179 (184) ILR (1955) Hyd 440 (DB)  AIR 1952 Pat 431 (433) (DB).

23. AIR 1954 SC 345 (346)  AIR 1919 Mad 1 (5, 6) : 42 Mad 407 (FB). (Overruling AIR 1914 Mad 37  AIR 1966 Andh Pra 252 (254) (DB)  AIR 1960 Punj 444 (449) ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (DB)  1959 Andh LT 457 (460)  AIR 1931 Bom 371 (373) (DB). (Though there may be an agreement of sale with a right of repurchase that circumstance in interest will not by itself make a transaction of sale a mortgage, nor can the permission to the vendor to sell the property to others with a view to repurchase make it a mortgage.(24)

In Williams Owen(25) Lord Cottenham, L. C., said :

"That this Court will treat a transaction as a mortgage although it was made so as to bear the appearance of an absolute sale if it appear that the parties intended it to be a mortgage is no doubt true but it is equally clear, that if the parties intended an absolute sale a contemporaneous agreement for a repurchase, not acted upon, will not of itself entitle the vendor to redeem. The question always is, was the original transaction a bona fide sale with a contract for re-purchase, or was it a mortgage under the form of a sale?"

The leading case on the point in India is Bhagwan Sahai v Bhagwan Din(26) where their Lordships referred with approval to the following observations of Lord Granworth in Alderson v White :(27)

"The rule of law on this subject is one dictated by common sense: the prima facie an absolute conveyance, containing nothing to shew that the relation of debtor and creditor is to exist between the parties, does not cease to be an absolute conveyance and become a mortgage merely because the vendor stipulates that he shall have a right of repurchase. In every such case the question is, what upon a fair construction, is the meaning of the instrument? Here the first instrument was, on the face of it, an absolute conveyance: the second gave a right to re-purchase on payment, not of what should be due, but of the full amount of the purchase money of £4,739. Was that, if taken according to its terms, a lawful contract? Clearly so. What then is there to shew that it was intended to be a mere mortgage?"

The question whether a sale and an agreement to reconvey were intended to create a mortgage or not must be decided with reference to the surrounding circumstances (28) Where two itself is not a sufficient basis for the inference that the transaction is a mortgage.  AIR 1929 All 174 (177-180)  AIR 1927 Rang 314-315)  AIR 1925 Mad 37 (38)  AIR 1923 All 48 (50) 45 All 72 (DB)  AIR 1921 Mad 498 (500) (DB)  AIR 1916 All 305 (306)  (1902) 1 Low Bur Rul 257 (258) (Transaction held to be a sale with a covenant to repurchase and not a mortgage)  (1897) 21 Bom 528 (532) (DB)  (1891) 14 Mad 170 (172) (DB) (A mortgagor executed a deed of conveyance for an inadequate price to the mortgagee, who executed in his turn a counter-part on the same date agreeing to reconvey the same if the sum without interest be repaid in a certain time. — No payment was made in time but after a long time the property was sought to be redeemed. — Held, that there was no evidence to show that the parties intended to enter into a transaction different from what appears on the face of the documents and that the plaintiff could not redeem.)  1883 Bom PJ 258 (DB)  (1877-78) 2 Bom 231 (246) (DB)  (1912) 15 Ind Cas 423 (423) (Low Bur)  (1911) 11 Ind Cas 124 (125) (Cal)  (1911) 33 All 337, 339-340 (DB)  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 981 (982) (Low Bur).

[See also (1911) 35 Bom 258 (260) (DB) (Sale with option to repurchase at any time — Suit by vendor's grandson for redemption — Held, that the covenant repurchase was personal and that there being no debt existing at any time there was no mortgage.)  AIR 1917 Low Bur 161 (161) (Sale and an agreement that vendor may repurchase within three years — Suit by vendor for redemption of alleged mortgage — Held, onus was on vendor to prove that the transaction was mortgage and not sale.)]

24. (1971) 2 Andh WR 2 (12) (DB).

25. (1840) 48 RR 322(324) : 9 LJ (NS) Ch. 70.

[See also (1863) 1 Mad HCR 460 (464) (DB).]

[But see (1864) 2 Mad HCR 289 (290) (DB).]

26. (1890) 12 All 387 (391) : 17 Ind App 98 (PC).

[See also (1910) 6 Ind Cas 183 (185) (DB) (All).]

27. (1858) 44 ER 924 (928) : 2 De G and J 97.

28. AIR 1966 SC 902 (903). (Reversing AIR 1961 Mad 276 on another point)  AIR 1968 deeds, one a sale and the other an agreement to reconvey, are of even date, there would arise a presumption in favour of the transaction being a mortgage (29) But where they are not of even date and, at the time of the sale, there was no intention of executing an agreement to reconvey, the documents would not constitute a mortgage (30) Where the intention of the parties is not otherwise ascertainable from the document or from the surrounding circumstances, the name or the heading of the document may be taken as evidence of intention of the parties. (31)

Some of the surrounding circumstances that will tend to show that a transaction is a mortgage and not a sale, though in form a sale, are :

- (1) The Price fixed being far below the real value of the property (32) Where the amount paid by the transferee has no relation to the market price of the property, but is merely the amount advanced for interest as debt to the transferor, it is an indication that the transac-

Orissa 65 (66) (DB) ILR (1967) 2 Ker 69 (71)  AIR 1965 Assam 90 (91) ILR (1963) 15 Assam 496 (Evidence of subsequent conduct is not admissible as evidence of surrounding circumstance though evidence of contemporaneous conduct is admissible)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (82) (DB)  ILR 1961 Cut 487 (489) (DB)  AIR 1957 All 740 (741)  (1956) 1 Mad LJ 388 (389)  (1956) 1 Mad LJ 385 (387)  AIR 1915 Mad 651 (651) (DB)

29. (1911) 9 Ind Cas 1013 (1014) (FB) (All). (Deed of reconveyance was executed after a week from the execution of the deed of sale — Transaction held not to be mortgage)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (83) (DB)  1961 MPLJ 1298 (1301)  AIR 1957 All 740 (741) (But that fact is not conclusive of the matter)  AIR 1952 Mad 11 (12) ILR (1952) Mad 604 (DB)  AIR 1952 Punj 181 (183)  AIR 1915 Mad 790 (790) (DB)  AIR 1914 Bom 177 (178) ; 39 Bom 119 (DB)  AIR 1914 Bom 179 (180) (DB).

[See also 1959 Andh LT 457 (463) (Agreement for repurchase coming into existence contemporaneously with sale deed — It is not a sure sign of transaction being a mortgage)  AIR 1915 Bom 229 (231) 40 Bom 74 (DB) (Sale deed with the deed of agreement to reconvey and another deed providing for annual payment of sum equal to assessment and interest executed on one day — Held that in view of circumstances of the case transaction was mortgage.)]

30. (1883) 5 All 324 (329, 330) (FB)  1959 Andh LT 457 (463)  AIR 1952 Mad 11 (12) ILR (1952) Mad 604  AIR 1952 Punj 181 (183)  AIR 1937 Rang 402 (403) 1938 Rang LR 216 (DB)  AIR 1935 Rang 212 (213)  (1895) 17 All 451 (453)  (1883) 6 All 37 (37) (DB).

[See also (1906) 29 Mad 307 (308, 309) (DB).

31. (1959) 63 Cal WN 430 (434)

32. AIR 1966 SC 902 (904). (Reversing AIR 1961 Mad 276 on facts)  AIR 1924 PC 226 (230) : 47 Mad 729 : 51 Ind App 305  AIR 1985 Cal 133 (138) (1984) 88 Cal WN 915 (Mortgage by conditional sale — Possession of suit land remaining with mortgagor — Value of suit property as recited in deed was below market value prevailing at relevant time — Transaction is mortgage by conditional sale and not out and out sale with agreement for reconveyance)  AIR 1972 J & K 81 (83, 84) 1972 J & K LR 75 (The document providing that on payment of the consideration vendor will take back possession — Intention is to create a mortgage and not sale)  AIR 1968 Orissa 65 (66) (DB). (Price fixed at Rs 800 when value of property is Rs 3,500)  (1967) 11 Law Rep 767 (773) (Mys)  AIR 1967 Orissa 191 (193) ILR (1967) Cut 32 (But the inadequacy or adequacy of consideration is not the only factor to be taken into consideration Thus where the possession is delivered to the transferee and he is to enjoy the usufruct without any liability to account and he has to reconvey on payment of the consideration for the document and there is no evidence that there was any bargaining fixing the market price the adequacy of that consideration does not militate against the transaction being a mortgage)  (1965) 2 Mad LJ 480 (481)  AIR 1964 Pat 193 (197) (DB)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (83) (DB)  AIR 1961 Mad 276 (279) ILR (1961) Mad 387 (Reversed on another point in AIR 1966 SC 902 ILR 1961 Cut 487 (489) (DB)  AIR 1960 Punj 444 (448) ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (DB) (Question of adtion is intended to be a mortgage.(33) So also where the amount agreed upon as the price of repurchase is the same as the consideration for the original sale that is generally considered as indicative of a mortgage by conditional sale.(34)

- (2) The sale deed being accompanied by an agreement to reconvey, stated in the sale deed itself, and imposing an obligation on the seller to repurchase the property (35)

equacy has to be judged as at the time of transaction and not after the property had acquired a greatly enhanced value from some unexpected cause.  1956 Andh LT 534 (538)  AIR 1954 Nag 193 (198) (DB)  AIR 1952 Mad 11 (12) ILR (1952) Mad 604 (DB)  AIR 1952 Punj 181 (183)  AIR 1947 Pat 345 (347) 25 Pat 666 (DB) (Inadequacy of price and absence of bargaining to settle the price are circumstances to be considered)  (1946) 51 Mys HCR 187  AIR 1944 Oudh 305 (309) (DB)  AIR 1941 (Oudh 583 (584) 17 Luck 198 (DB) (Adequacy of consideration is one circumstance)  (1866) 5 Suth WR 68 (72) (FB)  AIR 1940 Bom 1 (4) (DB)  AIR 1940 Nag 84 (86)  AIR 1934 Nag 18 (20)  AIR 1931 Bom 371 (374) (DB)  AIR 1928 Mad 696 (697) (DB)  AIR 1925 Cal 1151 (1152) (DB)  (1883) 9 Cal 528 (534) (DB)  (1877) 2 Bom 231 (245) (DB)  (1921) 64 Ind Cas 583 (584) (DB) (Cal)  (1913) 2 Ind Cas 90 (91) (DB) (Cal)

[See also AIR 1960 Ker 198 (199) ILR (1960) Ker 857 (Failure to give due importance to value of property that by itself does not vitiate conclusion arrived at as to nature of document)  1959 Andh LT 457 (463, 464)  AIR 1928 Nag 361 (362) (The primary object of a mortgage is to secure the payment of debt usually much below the market value of the property mortgaged)]

[See however AIR 1962 Pat 53 (55) (DB) (Document purporting to be absolute sale with condition of repurchase is express and clear terms — Intention of parties be determined from document itself and not from surrounding circumstances — Inadequacy of price or payment of cost of stamp by executant cannot alter its nature  AIR 1944 Lah 175 (178) (The fact that the price stipulated to be paid is adequate does not by itself render the transaction a sale because adequacy of consideration is a circumstance which is consistent with the transaction being a mortgage by conditional sale or its being an out and out sale)]

33. AIR 1925 PC 75 (78) : 3 Rang 106  1956 Andh LT 534 (536)  AIR 1916 Mad 1074 (1078) (DB)  (1900) 2 Bom LR 1058 (1066) (DB). (Per Ranade, J.)

[See also (1904) 6 Bom LR 630 (631) (DB) (The fact that the consideration money represented the full value of the property in dispute is not conclusive circumstance to show that the transaction is intended to be a sale)  AIR 1921 Mad 498 (500) (It was however held that consideration of the disproportion between the price and the value of the property was excluded by the evidence Act.)  AIR 1925 Mad 37 (39)

34. AIR 1968 Orissa 65 (67) (DB)  AIR 1984 A 1219 (223) 1984 A 1 C J 185 (Transfer of possession of immovable property worth Rs. 1 lakh in favour of X for consideration of Rs. 45,000/- only — Deed making reference to loan of Rs. 45,000/- received in cash and providing that on payment back of Rs. 45,000/- by executant on specified date X would reconvey property to executant — Held, document was mortgage by conditional sale and not out and out sale)  (1867) 11 Law Rep 767 (772) (Mys)  AIR 1961 Mad 276 (278) ILR (1961) Mad 387 (Reversed on another point in AIR 1966 SC 902)  (1956) 2 Mad LJ 565 (567) (Sale deed for Rs. 900 the pre-existing debt — Condition that transferee would reconvey property to transferor if that amount was paid by certain date)  1956 1 Mad LJ 388 (389).

[See however AIR 1988 Bom 94 (104) 1988 Mah LR 764 (Execution of sale deed in favour of person — Agreement of same date agreeing to reconvey property on payment of same amount as mentioned in sale deed by fixed date — Held, transaction was sale and not mortgage.))

35. AIR 1924 PC 226 (230) : 51 Ind App 305.

[See also AIR 1954 Nag 193 (197) (DB) (AIR 1924 PC 226, Foll)]

- (3) The time fixed for repurchase not being of the essence of the contract (36)
- (4) That there was a debt subsisting at the time to discharge which the document was executed. (37)
- (5) Possession not having been given to the purchaser at the time of the ostensible sale (38)
Where, however, possession was handed over to the purchaser in furtherance of an agreement to guarantee interest, it was held that the handing over of possession indicated a mortgage rather than a sale. (39)
- (6) When the stipulated period for repurchase is a long term (40)
- (7) The purchase of stamp paper by the vendor, and the vendor remaining in possession. (41)

36. AIR 1924 PC 226 (230) : 47 Mad 729 : 51 Ind App 305  AIR 1954 Nag 193 (199) (DB)  AIR 1941 Oudh 582 (584) ILR 17 Luck 198 (DB) (Short period of time for repurchase suggests sale while long period a mortgage AIR 1937 All 724 and AIR 1939 All 713, Rel on.)

[See however 1959 Andh LT 457 (462) (Fact that time is not made essence of contract of repurchase does not make transaction a mortgage — Held that provision for refund of sum paid in contingency specified showed that parties considered time to be of essence)]

37. (1965) 2 Mad LJ 480 (481)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (83) (DB)  1956 Andh LT 534 (536)  (1956) 2 Mad LJ 565 (567) (Sale deed executed for the pre-existing debt with a condition for repurchase if the vendor paid that amount by a certain date)  AIR 1952 Mad 11 (12) : ILR (1952) Mad 604 (DB)  AIR 1916 Mad 1074 (1077, 1078) (DB).

[See also AIR 1960 Punj 444 (449) ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (DB) (Financial embarrassment of the grantor at the time of the execution of the deed is sometimes considered as a circumstance showing that the transaction was intended as a mortgage)]

38. AIR 1966 SC 902 (904). (Reversing AIR 1961 Mad 276)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (83) (DB)  1961 MPLJ 1298 (1301)  AIR 1952 Mad 11 (12) ILR (1952) Mad 604 (DB)  AIR 1952 Punj 181 (183)  AIR 1934 Nag 18 (20)  AIR 1931 Bom 371 (374) (DB)  (1907) 6 Cal L Jour 208 (211) (DB)  (1883) 9 Cal 528 (534) (DB)  (1866) 5 Suth WR 68 (71) (FB)  (1921) 64 Ind Cas 583 (584) (DB) (Cal)

[See 1959 Andh LT 457 (463) (But significance may attach to non-delivery of possession only in a case where the possession is to come into effect from the final date fixed for the sale becoming irrevocable. Where the deed expressly recites that possession is given to the vendee subject to the rights of lessee the fact that the receipt of rent by the vendee from the lessee of the seller is postponed (because the lessee has already paid the rent in advance) will not indicate that the seller is to continue in possession until that date and as there is non-delivery of possession contemporaneously with the deed, the transaction is a mortgage.)]

39. AIR 1954 Nag 193 (199) (DB).

40. AIR 1975 Guj 120 (122) 16 Guj LR 509 (Though the document described a transaction as a sale it also provided that the transferee would become absolute owner if the amount paid by the transferee was not returned within a period of 21 years, the fact of such long period provided for exercising the right of purchase shows the transaction to be a mortgage — Overruled on another point in AIR 1978 (NOC) 16 (Guj)  (1967) 11 Law Rep 767 (773) (Mys)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (83) (DB)  1961 MPLJ 1298 (1301)  1959 Andh LT 457 (463) (Period of one year and five months not a long period indicative of mortgage)  1956-1 Mad LJ 388 (389)  AIR 1954 Nag 193 (199) (DB) (It was held, that the period of five years fixed for repurchase was not abnormally short)  AIR 1953 Mys 105 (106) ILR (1952) Mys 247. (Short period provided for repayment is indicative of sale and not a mortgage)  AIR 1952 Mad 11 (12) ILR (1952) Mad 604 (DB)  AIR 1952 Punj 181 (183). (Short period indicative of sale)  AIR 1950 Nag 198 (200) ILR (1950) Nag 719 (A short period such as 2 years is indicative of sale rather than of mortgage)  (1921) 64 Ind Cas 583 (584) (DB) (Cal).

41. (1969) 11 Law Rep 767 (773) (Mys)  (1956) 2 Mad LJ 565 (567)  AIR 1952 Mad 11 (12) ILR (1952) Mad 604 (DB)  AIR 1919 Cal 109 (109, 110) (DB)

- (8) That a relation of debtor and creditor existed between the parties at the time of the sale(42) though it is not a test by itself (43) In the undermentioned case(44) it has been held that an antecedent transaction resulting in the relationship of debtor and creditor is not essential and that by the very act by which the parties enter into a mortgage by conditional sale they can bring about a relationship of debtor and creditor
- (9) In the Punjab, the term "Shariah Bai" is usually employed as indicative of an intention to execute a mortgage by conditional sale.(45)
- (10) Stipulation for payment of interest suggests a mortgage but is not conclusive.(46)
- (11) Restrictions imposed on transferee as to enjoyment, improvements on property, etc.(47) or

[See however AIR 1962 Pat 53 (55) (DB) (Document purporting to be absolute sale with condition of repurchase in express and clear terms — Intention of parties be determined from document itself — Inadequacy of price or payment of cost of stamp by executant cannot alter its nature)  AIR 1934 Nag 18 (19)]

42. (1967) 11 Law Rep 767 (773) (Mys)  (1965) 2 Mad LJ 480 (481) (Sale deed — No cash paid for entire amount of consideration — Entire amount representing prior debts — Intention to show that relationship of debtor and creditor subsisted was apparent)  (1965) 31 Cut LT 233 (236)  AIR 1960 Ker 198 (199) ILR (1960) Ker 857 (Relationship of debtor and creditor is one of the circumstances to be considered)  AIR 1960 Punj 444 (448) ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (DB) (If, however, pre-existing debt is recovered by parties as extinguished that would be strong proof in favour of conditional sale)  1959 Andh LT 457 (462) (Where there is no undertaking by the seller to repay the sum and what is imposed is an obligation on the buyer to reconvey the property if and in case the seller pays him a certain amount calculated in a particular manner, the mere fact that the consideration for the repurchase is to be in a particular manner is not necessarily indicative of a subsisting relationship of debtor and creditor between the seller and the buyer)  (1956) 2 Mad LJ 565 (567)  (1956) 1 Mad LJ 388 (390)  AIR 1954 Nag 193 (197) (DB)  AIR 1953 Mys 105 (105) ILR (1952) Mys 247 (DB)  (1946) 51 Mys HCR 187  AIR 1940 Bom 1 (3)  AIR 1940 Nag 84 (86)  AIR 1939 All 539 (541)  AIR 1937 Rang 402 (403) 1938 Rang LR 216 (DB)  AIR 1934 Nag 18 (20)  AIR 1931 Bom 371 (374) (DB)  AIR 1929 Rang 39 (40) (DB)  AIR 1927 Rang 314 (315)  AIR 1925 Can 105 (105) (DB)  AIR 1917 Low Bur 72 (72) (DB)  (1898) 22 Bom 245 (251) (DB)  (1883) 7 Bom 73 (76) (DB)  (1878) 2 Bom 231 (243-244) (DB)  (1912) 15 Ind Cas 423 (423) (Low Bur)  (1910) 8 Ind Cas 981 (982) (Low Bur)

[See (1897) 21 Bom 528 (532) (DB) (To make a mortgage there must be a debt)]

[See also AIR 1944 Lah 175 (178)  (1900) 2 Bom LR 1058 (1064) (DB)]

43. AIR 1941 Oudh 479 (481) 16 Luck 789 (DB)  (1982) 2 Andh LT 260 (270)

44. AIR 1962 Mys 238 (239)

45. AIR 1944 Lah 175 (178) (Document described as Shariah Bai provided that certain shop was transferred to the vendee by way of conditional sale for a certain sum out of which major portion was to go in discharge of previous mortgage in favour of vendee — Vendee given proprietary possession with power to repair — Deed also providing that if the purchase price with its interest and also the amount spent on repairs with interest thereon was not repaid within three years the sale was to become absolute but in case of such payment the vendee was to resell the shop — Held that the document created a mortgage by conditional sale.)

46. (1967) 11 Law Rep 767 (773) (Mys)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (83) (DB)  AIR 1960 Punj 444 (448) ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (DB)  (1959) 63 Cal WN 430 (434)  1956 Andh LT 534 (536) (Vendee made accountable for rents and profits — Vendor to pay balance of interest at stipulated rate after deducting rents and profits)  1956 1 Mad LJ 385 (387)  AIR 1954 Nag 193 (199) (DB)  AIR 1952 Mad 11 (12) ILR (1962) Mad 604 (DB)  AIR 1952 Punj 181 (183)  AIR 1947 Pat 345 (347) 25 Pat 666 (DB)

47. AIR 1947 Pat 345 (348) : 25 Pat 666 (DB).

condition in the document to pay compensation for the improvements, if any, effected by the purchaser.(48)

- (12) Where the covenant for resale provides that after a certain period the transferor might repay and obtain a reconveyance, a mortgage is indicated (49)
- (13) An express provision for postponement of mutation of the grantee's name in the landlord's papers till after the time for payment expires, is decisive of the transaction being a mortgage.(50)
- (14) A covenant for refund of the consideration money with interest on dispossession or disturbance of possession of the vendee not attributable to the vendor's defective title is indicative of a mortgage.(51)
- (15) The mortgagor building a house on the property mortgaged at his own expense (52)

Illustrations

- (1) In an agreement for repurchase accompanying a sale, the words used were similar to those in Bengal Regulation I of 1898 relating to the deposit of mortgage-money into the treasury and the amount payable on repurchase included not only the price fixed but also a sum due on an account open to be increased. It was held that these circumstances indicated a mortgage (53)
- (2) A purported to execute an absolute sale to B. A was then in great difficulties, the consideration was inadequate. A's object within the knowledge of B was only to obtain a loan and not to sell. One solicitor acted for both parties. B had been suddenly introduced to A instead of an intended lender on the date of the transaction. It was held that the transaction was only a mortgage (54)
- (3) Where a transfer was in terms absolute but for a consideration far less than the real value, and was accompanied by an agreement that if the amount is satisfied from out of the rents and profits, the vendee will give back the land to the vendor, it was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that the transaction was a mortgage.(55)

48. (1967) 11 Law Rep 767 (773) (Mys)

49. AIR 1966 SC 902 (904) (Reversing AIR 1961 Mad 276 on another point)  AIR 1940 PC 160 (166) : ILR (1940) All 625 : ILR (1940) Kar (PC) 287 : 67 Ind App 318  AIR 1988 SC 1074 (1077) : (1988) 1 JT 652(2). (A selling property to B — Contemporaneous agreement to resell property to A executed by B for same consideration — Period 10 years stipulated for claiming resale — Possession of property to remain with A on payment of rent to B — Transaction in reality was a mortgage (obiter))  AIR 1991 Guj 85 (89) (Stipulation in the document describing the transaction evidenced by it as conditional sale, that at any time within 10 years of its execution, the seller could remain the same amount of consideration as paid by the buyer and that thereupon the land would be returned to the seller would be indicative that there was no outright sale of the land covered by the document and only relationship of debtor and creditor was intended to be brought about by the said transaction and the document was in reality a mortgage by conditional sale)  AIR 1974 Guj 19 (23) 14 Guj LR 600 (Omission to fix certain date for repayment of the mortgage money is not fatal.)  (1965) 31 Cut LT 233 (239).

50. AIR 1951 Orissa 362 (370, 373, 378) : ILR (1951) Cut 281 (FB). (But in cases of transfer of occupancy holdings before they were made transferable by Orissa Tenancy (Amendment) Act, 1938, postponement of mutation is inconclusive.)

[See however (1956) 1 Mad LJ 385 (388) (Provision for postponement of transfer of patta till the expiry of the period for repurchase does not necessarily indicate a mortgage and in the circumstances of a case the transaction may be a sale in spite of such a provision)

51. AIR 1968 Orissa 65 (67) (DB)  AIR 1951 Orissa 362 (371, 374, 378) : ILR (1951) Cut 281 (FB).

52. AIR 1962 Mys 238 (239).

53. (1900) 22 All 149 (161) : 27 Ind App 58 (PC).

54. (1861) 66 ER 403 (407, 408) : 3 Gift 251, Douglas v. Culverwell.

55. (1837) 2 Moo Ind App 1 (21, 22) : 5 Suth WR 117 (PC).

- (4) Where though there was a conveyance in fee the acts of the parties showed that they treated the transaction from the first as one of security and that a power of repurchase on the footing of redemption was intended to be reserved, it was held by their Lordships of the Privy Council that the transaction was in the nature of a mortgage. (56)

In the undermentioned cases (57) it was held that the transaction amounted to a mortgage

56. (1849) 5 Moo Ind App 72 (79, 81) (PC).

57. AIR 1966 SC 902 (904). (Condition of repurchase embodied in the same document — Consideration for transaction only half of the real value of property — Put a not transferred to the transferee — Kist also paid by the executant and after his death by his son — Consideration for reconveyance to be the same as for the original transaction — Held, transaction was a mortgage and not a sale with a condition for retransfer — AIR 1976 Mad 26 Reversed on another point)  AIR 1999 Madh Pra 86 (88) 1999 (2) MPLJ 31 (In instant case there was a usufructuary mortgage. Although the mortgage was illegal at its inception for want of registration, a valid mortgage came into existence at the expiry of 12 years period as the mortgage continued to be in possession of the mortgaged property during all that period)  1999 (3) Mad LJ 713 (720). (In instant case there was relation to creditor and debtor between the parties. Though the earlier portion of the document executed by the debtor would show that the purchaser/creditor was entitled to suit property absolutely with all rights the later portion specifically provided that in the event of mortgagee repaying the consideration during the particular period with stamp duty incurred, the purchaser would execute the deed of reconveyance in favour of the debtor/seller, the amount to be paid was the same consideration even after 9/10 years. Thus it is a transaction of secure repayment of amount advanced and charged over the suit property as security. Thus the document was held to be a mortgage by conditional sale falling under S 58(c) and not a sale with a condition to repurchase)  1998 (6) Andh LD 615 (621). (Where the vendee is a regular money lender, the suit premises are located in prime locality but consideration is much below the market price, the mutation was not done, the amount of rent represented interest and the vendor continued to be in possession, the transaction was a mortgage and not outright sale)  1998 AHC 3205 (3207), Orissa) (Reading of the recitals of the document showed it to be a usufructuary mortgage deed and there was not a variable to give it an expression of an agreement for sale)  AIR 1997 Andh Pra 53 (67) 1996 (1) Andh WR 655. (In the instant case it was found that the sale deed was in reality executed as a supplement to the anomalous mortgage. It was agreed that the loan would carry interest. Possession of suit property was given to mortgagee. Thus it was usufructuary mortgage. Period of 5 years was agreed. On payment of balance, property would be reconveyed to mortgagor. Thus it was not out and out sale but was usufructuary mortgage. The mortgagee was therefore entitled to redeem mortgage on fulfilment of its terms. AIR 1971 Orissa 58. Dis-sented from.)  AIR 1997 Mad 105 (120) 1996 (1) CTC 337. (Certain property worth Rs. 2,000/- was sold at Rs. 250/- The document contained a condition and recital that on payment of Rs. 250/- within 5 years, a resale shall be executed by purchaser to seller. If the amount is not re-paid within 5 years, the sale in favour of purchaser would stand confirmed. Also it was stipulated that the purchaser would not create any encumbrance over the property, while it is in his possession. Held, that the document was a mortgage by conditional sale and not a sale with a condition for retransfer)  1995 (2) Cur CC 188 (196) (Bom). (The document stipulated reconveyance within 10 years from date of document, such a long period is normally not consistent with the transaction of sale with condition to reconvey. The liability of mortgagor to pay assessment of land was continued. The consideration was also much less than market price. Thus it was a transaction of mortgage with condition to reconvey and not outright sale)  AIR 1994 Ker 141 (148, 149) 1994 (1) Ker LJ 89. (A document was styled as a usufructuary mortgage. An amount of Rs. 1,000/- was borrowed and was handed over as security in the deed. Possession was given to mortgagee. He was to pay Rs. 85/- as "excess profits". Interest was at 12% p.a. Mortgagee was not entitled to alienate. Repayment if not made within stipulated time, mortgagee could bring the property to sale. He was not given right to make improvements. Held that the document was a mortgage deed and not a lease of the building) (1991) 2 Cur CC 130 (132) (Kant). (The transaction in the instant case was a mortgage by conditional sale and not a sale deed. The mortgage deed conferred a right on the mortgagor to repurchase the land only after expiry of 8 years. The mortgagor was therefore entitled to redeem the mortgage.)  1984 All Civ LJ 185 (188) (DB)  AIR 1973 Guj 190 (192, 193)  AIR 1973 Madh Pra 15 (16) 1972 MPLJ 1000  (1967) 11 Law Rep 767 (773) (Mys)  AIR 1967 Orissa 191 (193) ILR (1967) Cut 32 (Under terms of document vendee to have full title only after stipulated period — Vendee not entitled to affect transfer of property during the period but to have only its possession and enjoy the usufruct — Vendor paying kist to Government during that period and vendee paying only rent — Held, transaction was a mortgage by conditional sale and not a sale.)  (1965) 2 Mad LJ 480 (DB) (Where the terms of the deed purporting to be a deed of sale showed that the amount of consideration consisted of prior debts and no amount by way of cash was paid, that the property which was conveyed was worth more than the consideration, that the consideration for reconveyance was fixed at an amount less than the consideration by Rs 500, indicating that the parties expected that the enjoyment of the property by the creditors for three years would give them by way of profits much more than the interest that would accrue on the debts during that period Held, that these circumstances were more consistent with the transaction being one of mortgage by conditional sale, than an outright sale with an agreement for reconveyance)  (1965) 31 Cut LT 233 (236)  AIR 1964 Orissa 17 (18) (No clause for reconveyance on payment within stipulated period and only redelivery of possession to be made — Term for reimbursement to transferee not restricted to dispossession due to grantor's defective title — Term for redelivery of possession on repayment of consideration without interest — Held all these showed a mortgage and not a sale)  AIR 1964 Pat 193 (196) (DB) (Condition of repurchase in ostensible sale deed postponing absolute character of legal title in transferee till the expiry of the stipulated date and rendering void the entire transaction on repayment by transferor — Transaction is a mortgage)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (83) (DB) (Held in view of the inadequate price and the possession continuing with vendor the transaction was not a sale but a mortgage by way of conditional sale.)  1961 MPLJ 1298 (1301) (Sale of house for Rs 185 and agreement for resale within 3 years on payment of the same amount with arrears of rent and expenses of repair executed on even date — Possession remaining with vendor — Held a mortgage.)  ILR (1961) Mys 542 (548) (Sale deed giving executant right to 'free' property, creating charge and giving to vendee permanent right to enjoy property only on default of payment of amount by executant within stipulated period — Transaction held was mortgage and not sale.)  ILR (1961) Cut 487 (491) (DB)  AIR 1960 Ker 198 (199) · ILR (1960) Ker 857 (Document styled Kana Theeradharam — Property worth Rs 800 — Possession transferred for consideration of Rs 400 — Property to be returned back on payment of consideration within 3 years — After expiry of three years without any repayment executant to have Kanom rights — Document held was mortgage by conditional sale)  (1959) 63 Cal WN 430 (435) (Interest on money ordinarily meant legal profit or recompense on loan of money taken from borrower by lender — This was piece of internal indication that document was meant to be instrument of mortgage)  AIR 1959 Madh-Pra 221 (222) (DB)  AIR 1958 Pat 67 (69) (DB) (The executants executed a baifulwafa deed in respect of a plot of land in favour of A for a period of five years. The executants were, however, given the right to repay the amount loaned to them even before the expiry of the stipulated period. The document ended with a recital that 'in lieu of the said consideration money, the property covered by this deed of conditional sale will stand mortgaged, hypothecated, liable and pledged' Held, that the transaction was a mortgage by conditional sale)  AIR 1957 All 740 (742) (DB)  AIR 1957 Ker 159 (170)  1957 Jab LJ 403 · 1957 MPLJ 196 (199) (Owner in need of loan executing conditional sale — Purchaser though to take possession immediately property not to pass to him till expiry of period fixed for repayment and there was default — Held transaction was mortgage and not a sale with a condition of repurchase)  AIR 1957 Pat 126 (128)  AIR 1956 Bom 575 (576) (Document described as 'Mudat Kharedi Khat' (conditional sale deed) — No covenant whereby property could be said to have been conveyed by H to K — Recitals in substance stating that H borrowed Rs 700 from K and that he had in consideration thereof given property belonging to him into the possession of K — Further recital that if the amount of

Rs 700 was not repaid within ten years. K on the expiry of those ten years was to be the absolute owner of the property — Held that the transaction intended to be effected by the document was a mortgage, and not a sale)  1956 Mad LJ 565 (567)  (1956) 1 Mad LJ 388 (389)  AIR 1955 Nsg 272 (275) ILR (1955) Nag 942 (Sale absolute with condition for repurchase — Restrictive covenant binding the vendor not to alienate the property or effect any changes in it — Transaction held amounted to mortgage)  AIR 1954 Nag 193 (200) (DB)  AIR 1954 Pat 562 (566) ILR 33 Pat 638 (DB)  AIR 1954 Trav-Co 142 (144) ILR (1953) Trav-Co 999 (DB)  AIR 1953 Bhopal 18 (20) (The following circumstances, viz (1) a contemporaneous agreement to reconvey (2) agreement forming the terms of the consideration of the transaction of sale (3) a fairly long period of five years for repayment and reconveyance and (4) possession continued with the defendant transferor clearly indicate the relationship between the parties to be of a debtor and creditor leading to the irresistible conclusion that the intention was to mortgage the property by conditional sale and the rent was intended to cover interest)  AIR 1952 Mad 11 (12) ILR (1952) Mad 604 (DB)  AIR 1951 Orissa 362 (372, 373, 378) : ILR (1951) Cut 281 (FB). (Condition that on repayment within certain time of consideration money buyer to return the land together with the Kabala — On failure of payment buyer to possess and enjoy from generation to generation and after getting his name duly mutated in the Sherist of Zamindar to use the land in any way — Difference in the operative words of conveyance of ownership used in earlier portion and later portion of the document indicating detraction from full ownership prior to the stipulated time — Transaction held to be a mortgage and not a sale)  AIR 1950 All 430 (431, 432) (Conditional sale of house worth Rs. 1200 for Rs. 150 — Vendor continuing in possession on payment of rent — Stipulation for reconveyance on repayment within three years contained in same deed — Held that the document was mortgage and not sale)  ILR (1949) Cut 776 (779) (DB)  AIR 1949 Pat 508 (510) ILR 28 Pat 286 (DB) (Deed providing that if the vendor paid back consideration from his private fund within certain date he would be entitled to take back property sold — In case vendee objected vendor was to deposit amount in Government Treasury and to take back possession after notice to vendee through Court — Vendee not allowed to transfer property during period of conditional sale — In case of vendor's failure to pay back consideration within prescribed period vendee to have full rights in property — Held that it was a mortgage by conditional sale and not an out and out sale with condition of repurchase)  AIR 1947 All 334 (336) (DB) (Sale subject to separate deed of agreement executed on same day for reconveyance)  AIR 1947 Mad 60 (62) ILR (1947) Mad 265 (DB) (Later deed undertaking to reconvey the property to the vendor — Stipulation that vendor should have the right of resale if he produced the consideration out of his own pocket did not conclusively establish that the transaction was a sale and not a mortgage. AIR 1916 PC 49, explained Note — Compare AIR 1949 All 335 where such a transaction was held to be a sale with a clause for repurchase)  AIR 1947 Pat 345 (348) 25 Pat 666 (DB) (Sale deed of village with condition of repurchase — Provision for interest — Restrictions on transferee as to amount he might spend on improvements — Restrictions on use of forest etc — Transaction held mortgage)  AIR 1947 Pesh 33 (34) (Where there is not only a condition that on payment being made the property should be transferred to the seller, but there is also a recital to the effect that it is on the failure of the seller to pay back the amount after the expiry of a period of fifty years that the sale should become absolute transaction is mortgage)  AIR 1944 Mad 237 (237) (In a deed of conditional sale it was recited by the transferor, "if we do not pay your amount by the due date, (viz, within five years) we agree to this document being treated as a sale deed " Held that the conveyance was not a sale but a mortgage as it was to operate as a sale after the period of five years if the amount was not paid, and the transferor was entitled to redeem. The recital that "after the due date you and your heirs will have absolute powers in respect of the property, we and our heirs will not have any rights" would merely amount to a clog on the equity of redemption)  AIR 1943 Mad 100 (101) ILR (1943) Mad 195 (DB) (Three documents executed on 19th September 1905 — By first document A selling item I to G for Rs. 15,000 — By second document G agreeing to reconvey property for same amount after five years but within ten years of execution — Third document a security bond though relating to item 2 containing provisions governing item 1 as well — First and second documents read with third held created mortgage by conditional sale)  AIR 1942 Nag 115 (117) ILR (1942) Nag 592 (DB) (Document mentioning that property was sold conditionally for the amount stated therein and put in possession of the transferee — Transferee to enjoy property till five years — Amount not to carry any interest nor the property which was land, any rent — Land revenue to be paid by transferee who was to sow the land himself or by leasing to others — At the agreed time, the transferor to redeem the land by paying the amount and obtain receipt therefor — On default of payment, the conditional sale was to be an absolute sale — Held, on construction that the deed was a mortgage)  AIR 1940 Nag 84 (86, 87) (Where a deed of transfer contained a stipulation that if at any time within three years the transferor was to pay back the amount paid to him in respect of the property transferred with interest after deducting the income which the transferee might derive from the property there should be a reconveyance to the transferor, it was held that the transaction amounted only to a mortgage by conditional sale and not to a sale with a condition for repurchase)  AIR 1940 Bom 63 (64) (DB) (Consideration received less than the value of the property — Parties referred to as debtor and creditor — Property to be reconveyed to transferor on repayment of consideration within 12 years — Transaction held mortgage by conditional sale)  AIR 1933 All 443 (445) (DB)  AIR 1933 Lah 155 (156) (DB) (Mortgagee authorized to construct house according to his liking at his own cost — Deed containing also stipulation that mortgagor would be liable for whole amount — Transaction is mortgage and not an out and out sale)  AIR 1930 All 283 (285) (DB) (Both the deeds executed and registered on the same day — Both written and attested by same persons — Had they been independent other deed would be without consideration — Hence both presumed to be part and parcel of the same transaction)  (1928) 110 Ind Cas 392 (393) (All) (Where a lambardar took possession of the lands of other co-sharers by reason of the fact that he paid the revenue on their behalf and the co-sharers agreed to pay rent for the lands in their cultivation and to divide the land whenever the controversy about the compensation would be settled and the claim of the lambardar would be satisfied Held, that the transaction amounted to a mortgage by conditional sale)  AIR 1928 Lah 726 (728) (DB)  AIR 1927 All 137 (141, 144) 48 All 787 (DB)  AIR 1926 All 670 (671) (DB) (A stipulation in a sale-deed that on the executant handing over half the price the vendee would hand over half the property — Deed, held amounted to mortgage by conditional sale)  AIR 1925 Cal 862 (863, 864) (DB) (Deed of conveyance followed by an Ekrarnama by which the parties agree that if the vendor pays to the vendee in cash the principal with interest in lump after the expiry of ten years held to be a mortgage)  AIR 1925 Lah 55 (56) (DB)  AIR 1925 Oudh 11 (13) (DB)  AIR 1924 Oudh 417 (417)  AIR 1924 All 444 (444) : 46 All 173 (DB)  AIR 1924 Rang 235 (237) ILR 2 Rang 113 (DB) (A deed of sale duly executed and registered contained an agreement for re-purchase but the space intended to insert the amount of re-purchase money was left blank. The executant brought a suit for specific performance and rectification of the deed, or in the alternative for its cancellation. Held, that the vendor was entitled to treat the document as a mortgage by conditional sale as defined in S 58(e), and could therefore redeem the property on payment of the mortgage money under S 60.)  AIR 1923 All 48 (50) 45 All 72 (DB)  AIR 1923 Bom 473 (474) 47 Bom 621 (DB)  AIR 1920 All 270 (274) 42 All 437 (DB)  AIR 1918 UB 32 (34) : 2 UBR 141. (The mere insertion of the following clause in a mortgage deed — "When five months have elapsed, if the principal and interest be not paid and the property redeemed, let the creditor go with the mortgage-bond to the Town Lots Office and effect a mutation of names and take the property as his absolutely" does not of itself convert the mortgage into a sale on failure of the mortgagor to pay the principal and interest within five months and the right to redeem continues in spite of such failure)  AIR 1914 Low Bur 243 (244)  1905 Pun LR No 107 (DB)  1904 Pun Re No 78, p. 263 (281) (DB)  (1904) 6 Bom LR 630 (632) (DB)  (1900) 3 Oudh Cas 213 (215)  (1897) 21 Bom 704 (708) (DB)  1891 Bom PJ 16 (DB)  (1926) 94 Ind Cas 756 (758) (DB) (Mad)  (1921) 64 Ind Cas 583 (584) (DB) (Cal). (Where the document does not contain any condition for reconveyance but only states that on payment of the money the vendee will give up posses-while in the cases noted below(58) the transaction was held not to be a mortgage

Where a sale and an agreement to reconvey form part of a single transaction constituting a mortgage but the sale alone is registered and the agreement is unregistered, no valid mortgage is sion and return the deed there is no sale but a mortgage)  (1913) 20 Ind Cas 666 (667) (Low Bur)  (1911) 33 All 122 (123-124) (DB)  (1986) (27) 2 Guj LR 1133 (1134) (Document not mentioning that absolute proprietary rights in the property were transferred in favour of mortgagee — Condition of repurchase embodied in same document — Consideration for reconveyance was same as mortgage amount — Relationship of debtor and creditor established — Value of property at relevant time, much more than amount for consideration — Held, document was mortgage by conditional sale)

58. AIR 1984 Onssa 62 (64) (1984) 1 Onssa LR 135 (Held transaction amounted to out and out sale.)  AIR 2001 Bom 369 (372) 2001 (3) Bom LR 436 (The landowner on receipt of money gave possession of land to opposite party. The agreement between them stipulated that the opposite party was to execute reconveyance on payment of the amount by landowner within stipulated period. There was no stipulation for payment of interest. Held that the transaction amounted to sale with condition to repurchase and not mortgage by conditional sale)  1998 (4) Cur CC 409 (411, 414) (Guj) (Simply because there is one document it cannot be said that it must be held to be a mortgage by conditional sale within the meaning of S 58(c) — No such transaction shall be deemed to be a mortgage unless the condition is embodied in the document which affects or purports to affect the sale. In instant case the relationship of creditor and debtor is not established and therefore the document could not be interpreted as a mortgage by conditional sale) 1997 (1) Cut Tax Cas 592 (596) (Mad) (In instant case a sale deed for consideration was executed. The records therein did not show any debtor-creditor relationship between the parties. Separate agreement for repurchase was also executed. Held that the transaction was not mortgage by conditional sale)  AIR 1993 Kant 208 (220) 1992 (3) Kant LJ 244 (No condition in document as to mortgagor and mortgaged property — No relationship of debtor and creditor — Only condition that vendor could repurchase within two years for same value — Property mutated in name of purchaser and he was put in constructive possession — Transaction was out and out sale with option to repurchase and not mortgage by conditional sale)  AIR 1992 Madh Pra 22 (27) (In the absence of any word in the sale deed which suggests or purports to suggest that the transferor ostensibly sold the property on condition that in default of payment of the consideration (loan) on a certain date the sale shall become absolute or on consideration that on such payment being made the sale shall become void or that on such payment being made the buyer shall retransfer the property to the seller, the document in question cannot by any stretch of imagination be treated as a document of mortgage by conditional sale)  (1989) 2 Cal HN 121 (128) (No stipulation of payment of interest — No stipulation for retransfer — Relationship of debtor and creditor not established — Consideration not too inadequate — Fact that possession remained with transferor not proved — Held, it was sale and not mortgage with conditional sale)  (1988) 1 Kant LJ 478 (482) (Where the document was executed with the object of protecting the other family properties from being sold for the debts and also to satisfy the other debts, and relationship of debtor-creditor was also not established, the document was of out and out sale)  AIR 1984 Cal 399 (404) (Sale of surplus lands by trustees of improvement trust in favour of a company — Owner of land, a confirming party — Lease deed of land executed by company in favour of owner — Held, transaction was neither loan nor mortgage under S 58(c) but it is sale)  AIR 1983 All 195 (Where the defendant happened to be a tenant of a portion of disputed property, before the execution of a sale-deed, embodying no condition to reconvey the property by the landlord in favour of the defendant, consequent to which the defendant became full owner of the property thereafter and remained as such till the execution of another sale-deed by the defendant in favour of the plaintiff (Landlord's wife) and where there is absolutely no mention in any sale-deed that relationship of landlord and tenant subsisted among the parties so far as the disputed property was concerned, after execution of those documents, then, by virtue of S 58 Cl (c) of T P Act such a transaction could not be deemed to be a mortgage. It was an outright sale)  AIR 1980 Kant 154 (156) (1980)

1 Kant LJ 216  AIR 1974 Mad 311 (312, 313) (1974) 1 Mad LJ 371 (DB)  AIR 1973 All 234 (235) (By a document the executant conveyed certain property absolutely to the purchaser — No obligation on the part of the vendor but gave him only an option to recover the property on payment of the price the document did not create any relationship of debtor and creditor and neither was there any stipulation of payment of interest nor that the property was given by way of security for any loan, the transaction evidenced by the document was not a mortgage by conditional sale but an outright sale)  AIR 1973 Gauhati 43 (48) (DB) (Adequacy of consideration, non-existence of debt, short period of one year for reconveyance, possession of property given to purchaser, no stipulation of interest on repayment are all circumstances which lead to the conclusion that the transaction is not a mortgage by conditional sale but sale outright with the condition of repurchase)  AIR 1972 Raj 250 (251 to 253) 1971 Raj LW 426  (1971) 1 Cut WR 689  ILR (1967) 2 Ker 69 (71)  AIR 1966 Andh Pra 252 (256) (DB) (Agreement to sell property — Formal sale deed executed two years later — Purchaser given immediate possession — Agreement of reconveyance executed on same day fixing a short period for exercise of right of reconveyance and also stating that the consideration mentioned in sale deed with interest thereon would be payable for obtaining reconveyance — Consideration for sale not shown to be inadequate — Purchaser not given right to insist on seller repurchasing the property — Held that though the formal sale deed and the agreement for reconveyance were executed on the same day and there was agreement to pay interest on the amount payable for the repurchase the transaction was a sale and not a mortgage by conditional sale)  ILR (1966) 1 Ker 276  AIR 1965 Assam 90 (92) ILR (1963) 15 Assam 496. (Document in the form of absolute sale — Though seller was at the time indebted to purchaser sale consideration not shown to be inadequate — Transferor entitled to get back property if he returned purchase money within three years — Held, that the document was one of sale as the relationship of debtor and creditor did not continue thereafter)  AIR 1961 Mad 301 (302). (Recital that the vendee shall have the right to alienate the properties even before the expiry of the stipulated period — Other clause stating that on the expiry of the period fixed under the document neither the vendor nor his heirs shall have any manner of right over these properties Transaction held an outright sale and not a mortgage.)  AIR 1960 Punj 444 · ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (Contemporaneous documents embodying sale, reconveyance and lease — Vendor continuing in possession on payment of rent — Consideration comprising of principal amount of debt and interest — Intention of parties to perpetuate relationship of debtor and creditor not deductible — Grantor (mortgagor) evicted for non-payment of rent and allowed time for repurchase to expire — Payment of taxes by grantee — Lapse of considerable time after expiration of time given for re-purchase during which grantee was in possession as ostensible owner — Transaction held to be absolute sale with reservation of repurchase and not mortgage by conditional sale)  1959 Andh LT 457 (464)  AIR 1958 Pat 371 (374) (DB)  ILR (1957) 9 Assam 109 (115) (DB)  AIR 1956 Bom 607 (608)  (1956) 1 Mad LJ 385 (387) (The term 'Vayida crayam, in a deed of sale is used in contradistinction to 'sudhha crayam' and means nothing more than the fact that the document is a sale deed with a condition to repurchase within a fixed period and not absolute sale without any such condition)  ILR (1955) 2 Cal 214 (218) (DB)  (1954) Madh BLJ (HCR) 1610 (1616) (DB)  AIR 1953 Mys 105 (106) ILR (1952) Mys 247 (DB) (Document described as conditional sale — Consideration almost equal to value of property — Period of repayment 4 years — Agreement to reconvey in same deed — Evidence of previous negotiation between parties for sale of property to discharge existing debt — It was held that the document was conditional sale and not mortgage)  AIR 1952 Punj 181 (183)  AIR 1949 All 335 (337) (Deed reciting itself as sale-deed) — Consideration and area of property sold mentioned — Possession with all proprietary rights given to transferee — Transferee to pay Government revenue and enjoy profits from generation to generation — Title guaranteed — Agreement whereby transferee agreed to retransfer property to transferor or his heirs whenever in any Jeth entire amount due under transfer was paid in lump sum, provided money for the purpose was not borrowed from creditor — Transaction held not mortgage by conditional sale but out and out sale with condition of repurchase Note — Compare AIR 1947 Mad 60 (62) (DB) where it was pointed out that a stipulation that the vendor should have the right of resale if he produced the consideration out of his own pocket did not conclusively prove the transaction to be a sale and AIR 1916 PC 49 was explained in this connection)  AIR 1940 All 227 (230) (DB) (Time for redemption only six months)  AIR 1940 Bom 1 (3-4) (DB)  AIR 1933 Cal 381 (383-384) 60 Cal 167  AIR 1931 All 113 (123) (DB) (Case law reviewed and tests summarized)  AIR 1940 Oudh 6 (8) (DB)  AIR 1929 All 174 (179)  AIR 1929 Cal 548 (553) (DB) (Vendor claiming back possession after 60 years — Held that after a lapse of long time cogent evidence is needed to prove that document is not what it purports to be)  AIR 1929 Lah 833 (834) (DB)  AIR 1927 All 204 (205, 206) (DB)  AIR 1927 Mad 1081 (1082) (Under a document which purported to be a sale deed the transferee was put in possession by a decree of Court on payment of the amounts mentioned in the document and which the transferee had undertaken to pay — No time for redemption was fixed nor was any amount fixed as payable on redemption — Held that the transaction did not amount to a mortgage)  AIR 1926 Bom 107 (110) (DB)  AIR 1926 Cal 458 (459) (DB) (Consideration money mentioned in the document representing the actual price of the land at the date when the (sic).)  AIR 1924 All 743 (744) (DB)  AIR 1917 Mad 368 (369) (DB) (Sale (sic) market value — Held, it is a sale)  AIR 1916 Bom 215 (217) 40 Bom 328 (DB) (A deed of transfer of lands under a sale in lieu of principal and interest due upon a pre-existing mortgage, reserving to the vendor the right to repurchase the same on payment of the sale consideration within twenty years, even when read with a lease of the same lands by the vendee to the vendor at an annual rent which was liable to reduction in proportion to any fractional payment of the sale price, amounts to a sale and not a mortgage)  AIR 1915 Mad 651 (652) (DB) (A mortgagor executed a deed of absolute sale in favour of his mortgagee who was about to sue on his mortgage — Some days later the mortgagee executed an agreement to reconvey the property within eighteen months if the mortgagor paid the money — Held, that in the circumstances of the case the transaction amounted to a sale with an agreement to reconvey and not to a mortgage by a conditional sale)  (1909) 2 Ind Cas 930 (931) (DB) (Cal) (Where a document purported to be a sale out and out and under it the purchaser took possession of the property and on the same day there was an ekarnamah to the effect that if the purchase money was repaid within four years the purchaser would be bound to give up the property — Held, that the deeds did not constitute a mortgage but a sale with a contract for repurchase)  (1907) 6 Cal LJ 208 (211) (DB) (On the construction of two contemporaneous documents, one of which purported to be a deed of sale and the other provided that, on the vendor repaying the purchase money mentioned in the deed of sale, with costs, within a fixed period the vendee would return the land and in case he did not do so, the vendor would deposit the money in Court and take possession — Held, that the two documents together did not constitute a mortgage — A certain date of payment is an essential element of a mortgage by conditional sale)  (1904) 14 Mad LJ 337 (338) (DB)  (1902) 6 Cal WN 192 (194, 195) (DB) (Where a property is sold and on the same date the purchaser executes an agreement promising to reconvey the land to the vendor if the latter repays the amount of the purchase money with interest at a certain rate within the period of three years, held that the stipulation as to the payment of interest is not conclusive to show that the transaction is not an absolute sale but a mortgage)  1899 Pun Re No 20 p 118 (120) (DB)  (1897) 7 Mad LJ 299 (301) (DB) (The mere circumstance that interest was stipulated for by the parties did not by itself indicate that the document which apparently was a sale was intended to be a mortgage)  (1882) 6 Bom 674 (679) (DB) (Where after the expiration of the period fixed for redemption, the mortgagor and mortgagee agreed that the mortgagee should continue in absolute possession for a fixed term and then restore the property free from the mortgage lien, agreement held did not amount to a mortgage but conveyance for a term of years)  (1922) 67 Ind Cas 113 (115) (DB) (Cal) (The words "principal amount" and the clause that if the money be not paid within the time limited the kabala will be regarded as a deed of absolute sale are not by themselves sufficient for holding that the transaction is a mortgage and not an absolute sale)  (1913) 21 Ind Cas 69 (72) (DB) (Oudh) (A case of pre-emption)  (1913) 21 Ind Cas 19 (20-21) (DB) (Cal). (A document was described in its earlier portion as a deed of sale out and out — created by the transaction, (59) The principle is that where a transaction is evidenced by a document which is in effect divided into two parts one of which is registered and other is not then the law looks to what is the real transaction between the parties and demands that the whole document evidencing the transaction must be registered whether it consists of one part or two. (60)

Where the agreement and the sale are independent transactions i.e., where the intention was not to create a mortgage but to execute a sale and give an agreement to reconvey, the latter agreement need not be registered (61) It has been held that evidence of oral agreement of reconveyance is admissible and is not excluded by S 92 of the Evidence Act (62)

(A) Effect of Proviso.

The amendment of the section by the addition of the proviso to clause (c) has now, to a considerable extent, rendered academical the question as to when and whether a sale and an agreement to reconvey in two different documents, constitute a mortgage by conditional sale. The proviso now expressly provides that where the agreement to reconvey is not embodied in the same document which effects or purports to effect the sale the transaction shall not be deemed to be a mortgage (63)

There was no mention of interest: the amount was prescribed not as principal but as consideration — The transferee was allowed to have his name registered after expunction of the name of the transferor: the transferee and after him his sons and grandsons in succession were to continue peacefully to enjoy the property, and neither the transferor nor his heir was to have any claim to or concern in the property at any time — Held, that the document was not one of mortgage but a sale-deed out and out with a condition of re-purchase)  (1911) 11 Ind Cas 124 (125) (Cal) (The sale-deed and agreement if not between the same parties cannot be construed as constituting a mortgage.)

59. AIR 1926 Bom 497 (506, 507) : 50 Bom 566 (FB). (AIR 1926 Bom 133 followed AIR 1914 Bom 231. Overruled.)  AIR 1982 All 37 : 1982 UPLT (NOC) 20  AIR 1914 Mad 639 (639) (FB). (An unregistered letter cannot be received as evidence to show that a registered sale deed was intended to operate only as mortgage)  AIR 1962 Mys 44 (46) : ILR (1961) Mys 513  AIR 1955 Hyd 179 (183) : ILR (1955) Hyd 440 (DB)  AIR 1950 Hyd 51 (52) : ILR (1951) Hyd 189 (DB)  AIR 1927 Rang 314 (315)  AIR 1923 Rang 52 (54) : 11 Low Bur Rul 456  AIR 1921 Bom 442 (443) (DB)  AIR 1919 Mad 711 (712) (DB).

[See also AIR 1956 Bhopal 59 (61) (Fact that agreement is not registered can be used to infer that the transaction was not a mortgage by conditional sale)  AIR 1927 Rang 132 (133) (When sale deed was executed the vendee verbally agreed to reconvey property if money was repaid within a month — No mortgage)  AIR 1928 Mad 459 (461, 462) (Sale deed executed — Holder of decree against vendor attaching property sold — Suit by decree-holder claiming that there was an oral agreement to reconvey the property between vendor and vendee and hence there was a mortgage — Held, no mortgage)]

60. AIR 1926 Bom 497 (506) : 50 Bom 566 (FB)  AIR 1950 Hyd 51 (52) : ILR (1951) Hyd 189 (DB)  AIR 1934 Lah 453 (453, 454)  AIR 1930 Bom 79 (79) : 54 Bom 30  AIR 1921 Bom 442 (443) (DB)
61. AIR 1926 Bom 497 (508) : 50 Bom 566 (FB)  AIR 1956 Bhopal 59 (61)  AIR 1953 Punj 292 (293) (DB) (Registered sale deed conveying house absolutely to vendee — Subsequent unregistered agreement to reconvey house at any time within five years — Transaction does not amount to mortgage by conditional sale but is an absolute sale — Agreement to reconvey though of itself does not require registration still when it is sought to modify the terms of registered sale deed by such agreement requires registration.)  AIR 1927 Rang 314 (315)  AIR 1926 Bom 97 (99) : 49 Bom 862 (DB) (12 All 387 (PC), followed)
62. AIR 1953 Nag 337 (338).
63. AIR 1966 SC 902 (903). (Reversing AIR 1961 Mad 276 on another point)  AIR 1963 SC 1182 (1184)  AIR 1960 SC 301 (304)  AIR 1954 SC 345 (347). (Under the proviso if the sale and the agreement to repurchase are embodied in separate documents then the

The effect of the proviso is that a transaction in which the stipulation for re-conveyance is contained in a separate document cannot be a mortgage of any kind both because the language of the proviso, and because it cannot fall in any other category of mortgage. If the sale and the agreement to repurchase are embodied in separate documents, then the transaction cannot amount to mortgage, whether or not the documents are executed contemporaneously (64). The proviso is really of the nature of a rule of evidence (65) and has been added to restrict the inference to be drawn in favour of a mortgage only to cases where the condition of repurchase is embodied in one document which effects or purports to effect a sale (66). If the sale and agreement to repurchase are transaction cannot be a mortgage whether the documents are contemporaneously executed or not.)  ILR (2000) Kant 2173 (2187). 1997 AJHC 135, 139. 1996 (3) Andh LT 257. (Sale of immovable property and agreement to reconvey embodied in separate documents — Transaction not mortgage.)  AIR 1989 Gauhati 39 (40). (1987) 2 Gauhati LR 402.  (1988) 1 Rajasthan LR 278 (281).  1984 Raj LW 32, (334).  (1983) 1 APLJ (HC) 297 (298, 299). 1983 LS (AP) 116.  1981 All LJ 1357. 1982 All CJ 41.  (1979) 1 APLJ (HC) 463 (472).  (1979) 20 (2) Guj LR 354 (360). (Subsequent conduct of parties is immaterial.)  1979 Ker LT 614. ILR (1979) 2 Ker 51.  AIR 1981 Cal 584 Cal WN 711 (DB). (If there are two separate documents one of sale out and out and another for reconveyance of the purchase property and lease of the property the provisions of the Bengal Money Lenders Act cannot be invoked to hold that it is a mortgage and declaration to that effect cannot be given by the Court. If such claim was tenable the proviso to Section 58(c) would be meaningless.)  ILR (1972) Guj 1102 (1123).  AIR 1968 Orissa 55 (66) (DB).  AIR 1967 Cal 351 (351). (It may still amount to a loan in substance so as to fall within the definition of S. 2(12) of the Bengal Money Lenders Act.)  AIR 1967 Orissa 191 (192). ILR (1967) Cut 32.  AIR 1967 Pat 415 (416). (Merely because both the documents were executed on the same day will not create the relationship of mortgagor and mortgagee between the parties.)  1967 Raj LW 218. ILR (1967) 17 Raj 200.  AIR 1965 Assam 90 (92). ILR (1963) 15 Assam 496.  AIR 1965 Mys 297 (299). (Where in a sale-deed executed by the plaintiff on 7-5-1955, i.e. after the Transfer of Property Act became applicable to Part-B States of Mysore, the alleged oral agreement to treat the transaction as mortgage and to reconvey the property on payment of the mortgage money with interest was not embodied in the sale-deed, the plaintiff could not get over the bar created by S. 58(c) of the T. P. Act and the transaction could not be considered to be a mortgage by conditional sale. Hence, it was not open to him to lead oral evidence contrary to the recitals of the sale-deed.)  AIR 1964 Orissa 17 (18).  ILR (1963) Bom 246 (259) (DB).  AIR 1962 Mys 44 (47). ILR (1961) Mys 513.  AIR 1962 Pat 53 (55) (DB).  1959 Andh LT 457 (459).  AIR 1958 Madh Pra 295 (296). ILR (1957) Madh Pra 330 (DB).  ILR (1956) 1 Cal 59 (63) (DB).  ILR (1955) 2 Cal 214 (218) (DB).  AIR 1955 Tripura 30 (32).  AIR 1954 Nag 193 (197) (DB).  AIR 1953 Nag 337 (338).  AIR 1952 Mys 56 (56-57). ILR (1951) Mys 427 (DB).  AIR 1950 Nag 198 (199). ILR (1950) Nag 719.  AIR 1950 Nag 22 (26). ILR (1949) Nag 933 (DB).

[See also AIR 1955 Hyd 177 (179). ILR (1955) Hyd 380 (DB). (Contention cannot be accepted that proviso should be read as providing only that such a transaction shall not be deemed to be a mortgage by conditional sale with the consequence that the transaction can still be regarded by conditional sale, with the consequence that the transaction can still be regarded as a mortgage falling under S. 58 Clause (d) or (e). Such a construction would involve reading into the proviso words which are not there and would moreover stultify the amendment as would leave the previous state of the law practically unchanged.)  AIR 1953 Mad 830 (830). ILR (1953) Mad 1196 (DB). (AIR 1946 Mad 456 (DB) Foll.)]

64. 1999 (2) All Rent Cas 328 (332).

65. AIR 1960 Punj 444 (445). ILR (1960) 2 Punj 741 (DB).  (1946) 48 Pun LR 517 (518) (DB). (Proviso does not apply to Punjab.)  AIR 1936 Sind 209 (210). 30 Sind LR 196 (DB).

66. 1981 All Civ J 622 (623). 1981 Luck LJ 175.  AIR 1995 Raj 130 (132, 133). (Documents for alleged sale and resale exempted on two different dates cannot be held to be mortgage.)

embodied in separate documents then the transaction cannot be a mortgage whether the documents are contemporaneously executed or not. (67)

The proviso does not mean that if the conditions are embodied in the same document the transaction will necessarily be a mortgage (68) There may arise a rebuttable presumption when  1990 Tax LR 310 (314) (All) (There cannot be a mortgage by conditional sale when the agreement of sale and resale is embodied in more than one document)  (1987) 2 Gauhati LR 402 (406). (Conditions effecting on purporting to effect sale as mortgage not embodied in sale deed.— Three separate deeds executed — Transaction is not mortgage by conditional sale)  ILR (1963) Bom 246 (259) (DB)  (1959) 63 Cal WN 430 (435)  AIR 1959 Madh-Pra 221 (222) (DB)  AIR 1958 Madh-Pra 295 (296) ILR (1957) Madh-Pra 330 (DB) (Sale and agreement to reconvey not embodied in same document — Transaction cannot be regarded as mortgage by conditional sale)  AIR 1958 Pat 371 (372) (DB)  AIR 1957 Ker 169 (170) (The fact that a transaction is embodied in one document and not two and its terms are covered by S 58(c) may give rise to the inference that it is a mortgage by conditional sale unless there are express words to indicate the contrary or in a case of ambiguity the attendant circumstances necessarily lead to the opposite conclusion.)  AIR 1955 Hyd 177 (179) ILR (1955) Hyd 380 (DB) (Its object evidently was to shut out an inquiry whether a sale with a stipulation of retransfer is a mortgage where the stipulation is not embodied in the same document.)  AIR 1955 Nag 272 (273) : ILR (1955) Nag 942 (DB)  AIR 1953 Mys 105 (105) : ILR (1952) Mys 247 (DB)  AIR 1952 All 200 (202, 203, 204) (DB)  AIR 1951 Orissa 362 (370) : ILR (1951) Cut 281 (FB)  ILR (1949) 1 Cut 776 (779) (DB)  AIR 1949 All 194 (195) (Sale and agreement to reconvey evidenced by separate documents of even date — Transaction is sale in spite of parties' intention — Subsequent transfer of his rights by vendor is not transfer of equity of redemption but only of his right to repurchase — No right of pre-emption can arise in such transfer — Pre-emption)  AIR 1949 Nag 243 (244) ILR (1949) Nag 78  AIR 1947 Pat 345 (346) 25 Pat 666 (DB)  AIR 1946 Mad 456 (457) (DB)  AIR 1946 Nag 264 (265) : ILR (1946) Nag 278 (DB)  AIR 1931 Bom 371 (372) (DB).

[See also AIR 1963 All 194 (198)  AIR 1956 Bhopal 18 (20) (Proviso was not added to section in Bhopal T P Act — It was not necessary that condition of reconveyance should have been embodied in document of sale itself.)]

67. 2000 (1) Cal LJ 129 (139)

68. AIR 1966 SC 902 (903) : (1966) 2 SCR 918. (Reversing AIR 1961 Mad 276 on facts)  AIR 1960 SC 301 (304)  AIR 1954 SC 345 (347)  AIR 1979 Mad 282 : (1979) 2 Mad LJ 170 (FB)  AIR 1978 Mad 75 : 89 Mad LW 364. (A transaction will not be considered to be a mortgage if it is shown (1) that there are express words in the document indicating the character of the document not as a mortgage and (2) that attending circumstances will necessarily lead to the inference that the transaction was meant to be a sale)  AIR 1975 Mad 282 (283, 284) (1974) 2 Mad LJ 360 (DB). (Where the document though described as a sale deed was on a stamp paper provided by the transferor the consideration was much less than the value of the property, patta was not transferred to the vendee and there was a specific condition that on payment of the principal amount the property would be reconveyed the transaction was a mortgage)  ILR (1973) 2 All 300 (306) (DB)  AIR 1968 Orissa 65 (66) (DB)  AIR 1967 Orissa 191 (192) ILR (1967) Cut 32  AIR 1965 Assam 90 (92) ILR (1963) 15 Assam 496  AIR 1964 Orissa 17 (18)  ILR (1963) Bom 246 (259) (DB)  AIR 1962 Pat 53 (54) (DB)  AIR 1961 Mad 276 (279) : ILR (1961) Mad 387 (Reversed on facts in AIR 1966 SC 902)  AIR 1958 Pat 371 (372) (DB)  AIR 1957 Ker 169 (170)  AIR 1954 Nag 193 (197) (DB)  AIR 1953 Mad 830 (831) : ILR (1953) Mad 1196 (DB) (When the condition of reconveyance is embodied in the same document it is open to the Court to hold that what purports to be a sale is really a mortgage.)  AIR 1953 Mys 105 (105) : ILR (1952) Mys 247 (DB)  AIR 1952 All 200 (202, 203, 204) (DB)  AIR 1950 Nag 198 (199) : ILR (1950) Nag 719 (Prima facie, an absolute conveyance containing nothing to show that the relation of debtor and creditor is to exist between the parties does not cease to be an absolute conveyance and become a mortgage merely be-both the conditions are in the same document (69) It will depend upon the intention of the parties as gathered from the document itself and the surrounding circumstances (70) In other words, it will be a matter for construction as to which of the two, mortgage or sale, was meant (71) If more than one investment is executed contemporaneously then the intention of the parties will be gathered by reading all the instruments together as they will be deemed to constitute one transaction (72) But the agreement to reconvey in the deed of sale will indicate the intention to create a mortgage rather than a sale and this will be so even when the proviso applies (73)

Usual test to determine are (1) whether debtor creditor relationship is intended (2) whether it is an outright sale; (3) whether consideration is adequate in the case of a sale (4) whether possession is given to the transferee, (5) whether title deeds were handed over (6) whether the language employed is unambiguous without need for extraneous evidence (7) whether the ambiguity necescause the vendor stipulates that he shall have a right to repurchase  AIR 1934 Nag 18 (19)  AIR 1941 Oudh 582 (584) : 17 Luck 198 (DB)

[See AIR 1951 Orissa 362 (370) : ILR (1951) Cut 281 (FB) (Burden is on party to prove that transaction is not mortgage.)

[But see AIR 1952 All 716 (745, 746) : ILR (1952) 2 All 200 (FB) (Must be held to be no longer good law after the decision of the Supreme Court in 1954 SC 345.)

69. AIR 1974 Andh Pra 232 (233)  ILR (1968) Andh Pra 198 (201)

70. AIR 1966 SC 902 (903), (Reversing AIR 1961 Mad 276 on facts)  AIR 1960 SC 301 (304). (Though the circumstance that the condition is incorporated into the sale deed has to be taken into account the value to be attached thereto should vary with the degree of formality attending upon the transaction)  AIR 1954 SC 345 (349). (It was held on construction of the document and taking everything into consideration that the deed was a mortgage by conditional sale under S. 58(c))  (1977-44 Cut LT 57 (1977) : Cut WR 310 (313) (Held that transaction in instant case was not a mortgage by conditional sale but was an outright sale with a condition to repurchase)  (1955) Kant 13 391 : ILR (1957) Kant 723 (Where a document further provided that the ostensible vendee will become full owner in consideration was not paid the document was held to be a mortgage by conditional sale and not out and out sale)  (1970) 76 ITR 354 (All) (If the conditions are in the same document but circumstances outweigh it being considered as an outright sale the document will be a mortgage)  AIR 1968 Orissa 65 (66) (DB)  AIR 1967 Orissa 191 (192) : ILR (1967) Cut 32  AIR 1964 Orissa 17 (18)  AIR 1964 Punj 81 (82) (DB)  AIR 1961 Mad 276 (279) : ILR (1961) Mad 387 (Reversed on facts in AIR 1966 SC 902)  AIR 1959 Madh Pra 221 (222) (DB)  AIR 1958 Pat 371 (372) (DB)  AIR 1957 Ker 169 (170)  1957 MPLJ 196 (198)  AIR 1955 Nag 272 (274) : ILR (1955) Nag 932 (DB)  AIR 1954 Nag 193 (197) (DB) (The cardinal test which is to be applied in all such cases is whether the relation of a debtor and creditor is preserved between the vendor and the vendee)  AIR 1952 All 200 (202, 203, 204) (DB) (It was held that transaction was an out and out sale and not a mortgage.)  AIR 1951 Orissa 362 (370) : ILR (1951) Cut 281 (FB)  AIR 1950 Nag 198 (199-200) : ILR (1950) Nag 719  AIR 1940 All 227 (229) (DB)  AIR 1938 Oudh 57 (59) : 13 Luck 680 (DB)  AIR 1937 All 724 (726) (The mere fact of one document does not conclude the matter — Court must look to the intention and surrounding circumstances Confirmed in L. P. A. in AIR 1939 All 713.)

71. AIR 1954 SC 345 (347).

72. AIR 1986 Sikkim 10 (16).

73. AIR 1968 Orissa 65 (66) (DB)  AIR 1964 Orissa 17 (18)  ILR (1961) Cut 487 (489) (DB)  (1959) 63 CWN 430 (435)  AIR 1959 Madh Pra 221 (222) (DB)  AIR 1957 Madh Pra 207 (209) : ILR (1957) Madh Pra 29 (If the purchasers do not desire that their transaction should be interpreted as a mortgage by conditional sale they must insist on two separate documents. If, however, they choose to incorporate the condition of repurchase in the same document, they must insist that clear and express words excluding the mortgage are incorporated in the same document. Otherwise, however, ostensible the first part conveying absolute title to the purchaser may be Courts will hold that a mortgage was intended sitates consideration of contemporaneous circumstances.(74)

The proviso is not retrospective. (See Note 1).

(B) Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act.

Under section 10-A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879 (since repealed) the Court could determine for the purposes of that Act, the real nature of the transaction notwithstanding the provisions of S 92 of the Evidence Act,(75) and the proviso to S 58(c)(76) of this Act (77)

(C) U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1951).

By virtue of S. 164 of the U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, the mortgage by a Bhumidar is treated as sale notwithstanding that the deed is registered and contains recital to redeem property by repayment of loan.(78)

34. Mortgage by conditional sale or other kinds of mortgage.

The test whether a particular document is a mortgage by conditional sale or is some other kind of mortgage is not what the parties have said it is, but is rather whether it fulfils those statutory requirements which the Legislature has laid down. The parties can call it by whatever name they like, but that will not make it a mortgage of a particular kind unless it complies with the requirements of such mortgage as defined by the Act.(1)

Where the agreement to reconvey is not embodied in the same document which effects or purports to effect the sale, such a transaction, as seen in Note 33, will not operate as a mortgage by conditional sale under cl. (c). That is the effect of the proviso newly added to cl. (c) Nor can it be regarded as a mortgage falling under cl (d) or (e) (2) and they will go to the surrounding circumstances only if there be ambiguity but not otherwise.)  1957 MPLJ 196 (198) (Presumption can be rebutted only by words of the deed or by circumstances surrounding the transaction which are clearly incompatible with a mortgage and necessarily leads to the conclusion of sale)  (1956) 2 Mad LJ 565 (567)  (1956) 1 Mad LJ 388 (390)  AIR 1955 Nag 272 (274) ILR (1955) Nag 942 (DB) (It must be left to one who contends that the conveyance was absolute with only an option of repurchase to establish it)  AIR 1951 Orissa 362 (370) : ILR (1951) Cut 281 (FB)  ILR (1949) 1 Cut 776 (779) (DB) (Burden lies on the party contending to show that it appears rather to be an out-and-out sale)  AIR 1940 Nag 84 (86)

[See however AIR 1958 Pat 371 (373) (DB) (Document executed before proviso was added to S 58 (c) — Presumption will not arise in favour of mortgage being by conditional sale - Question will have to be decided on construction of document and intention of parties.)]

74. (1973) 1 APLJ (HC) 361 (377) (DB)  1999 (2) Mad LJ 130 (135)  1997 (1) Cur Tax Cas 200 (204) (Mad)  ILR (1966) 1 Ker 216.

75. AIR 1922 Sind 39 (40) : 15 Sind LR 160 (DB).

76. AIR 1936 Sind 209 (210) : 30 Sind LR 196 (DB).

77. NOTE — Under S 85 of the Bombay Agricultural Debtors' Relief Act XXXVIII of 1939, it is provided that on the date on which that Act comes into force the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act shall be repealed.

78. 1982 All LJ 29 : 1982 All WC 47.

Section 58 — Note 34

1. AIR 1941 All 169 (170) : ILR (1941) All 240

[See also (1932) 16 RD 16 (17) (Mortgage held usufructuary and not simple mortgage as described)]

2. AIR 1955 Hyd 177 (179) ILR (1955) Hyd 380 (DB)  AIR 1953 Mad 830 (830) ILR (1953) Mad 1196 (AIR 1946 Mad 456 (DB) Foll)

35. Usufructuary mortgage.

The following are the characteristics of a usufructuary mortgage—

- (1) that the possession of the mortgaged property is delivered or agreed to be delivered to the mortgagee; (1)
- (2) that the mortgagee is to appropriate the rents and profits in lieu of interest or of principal or of both;
- (3) that the mortgagor does not incur any personal liability to repay the money, and
- (4) that, there being no personal liability to pay, there is no 'forfeiture' and therefore, the remedies by way of foreclosure or sale are not open to the mortgagee (2)

Section 58 — Note 35

1. AIR 1958 Mys 20 (21) ILR (1957) Mys 100. (In the case of a mortgage-deed executed in favour of the lessee during the continuance of the lease the possession which the mortgagee retains even after the termination of the lease cannot be said to be a possession of a usufructuary mortgage.)
2. AIR 1947 Lah 40 (45) ILR (1946) Lah 805 (FB)  AIR 1940 Lah 401 (403) ILR (1941) Lah 71 (FB)  AIR 1963 Raj 129 (131, 32) ILR (1963) 13 Raj 334. Amount borrowed on security of shop — Delivery of possession — Agreement to pay interest — Rent payable by mortgagee to be adjusted towards debt — Mortgagor stipulating that property would not be redeemed until entire debt is paid — Mortgage usufructuary and not anomalous as there was no personal covenant to pay  AIR 1950 Pat 32 (33) (DB)

[See also AIR 1953 Kutch 8 (10) (Custom (Kutch)) — Vantantar transaction — Nature of — Has all the characteristics of usufructuary mortgage.]  AIR 1953 Kutch 4 (6) (Custom (Kutch)) — Vantantar transaction — Amounts to usufructuary mortgage.]  AIR 1927 All 567 (569) ILR 49 All 820 (DB) (Grant of occupancy land for fixed term in consideration of discharging debts — Not a sub-lease within Ss 24 and 25, Agr. Tenancy Act (1901) — Mukarji. Transaction falls within S. 58 T.P. Act and is one of purely usufructuary mortgage.)  AIR 1942 Cal 55 (58) (DB)  AIR 1946 Cal 426 (427) (DB)  AIR 1918 Mad 1033 (1038) (DB) (Possession essential)  (1900) 2 Bom LR 201 (202) (DB) (No foreclosure or sale)  (1907) 4 Low Bur Rul 222 (224)  (1897) 24 Cal 677 (680) (DB)  (1892) 16 Bom 172 (177) (DB) (Usufructuary mortgage confers no right to have the property sold)  (1893) 17 Bom 425 (428) (DB) (Do)  AIR 1941 Pat 301 (302) (DB) (Do).

[See also AIR 1921 Lah 351 (352) (DB) (Though the deed does not expressly say that the mortgage is one with possession, yet stipulations such as those as to the mortgagee's right to take produce in lieu of interest on a moiety of the mortgage money, to recover compensation for any improvements which may be effected by him, and to cut trees for the purpose of husbandry, can leave no doubt that both the parties contemplated the mortgage to be one with possession.)  AIR 1936 Pat 583 (584) (DB) (A mortgage in the form of a Zarpeshgi of the year 1880 and executed by the mortgagor to secure a sum of Rs. 10,500 provided that the entire rent and profits of the estate were to be appropriated by the mortgagee, and the mortgagee was to enter into possession of the mortgaged property and to hold it as security for the entire peshgi money until the whole advance of Rs. 10,500 shall be paid in one lump sum — The mortgagee covenanted to pay certain specified sums annually to the proper authorities in respect of taxes or/and cesses subject to the condition that if such taxes or cesses were remitted or reduced, the amount by which the provided fixed payments exceeded the new and reduced amount should be paid to the mortgagor. A fixed annual sum of Rs. 82 was also to be paid to the mortgagor — There was expressed to be a "fixed and consolidated jama of Rs. 984-8-3", which after deducting therefrom the fixed payments abovementioned and Rs. 31-7-8, as "establishment charges is to leave a sum of Rs. 708-12-0 as the mortgagee's profits on account of the peshgi money" — Held that the mention of the "fixed and consolidated jama" was merely a relic of the device by which the sin of usury might be avoided and that the phrase in general had no legal significance and that the contract as a whole was a usufructuary mortgage.)]

See the undermentioned cases(3) for applicability of the definition of usufructuary mortgage.

Whether a mortgage is a simple one or a usufructuary mortgage has to be ascertained from the character of the transaction itself and not from what the mortgagees themselves say about it.(4)

For the purpose of application of S. 10(v) of the Kerala Land Reforms Act (1963), the document must be a usufructuary mortgage as defined in S. 58(d). A document introducing any conditions other than those covered by S. 58(d) could not be regarded as usufructuary mortgage but an anomalous mortgage (5). A document introducing any conditions other than those covered by S. 58(d) cannot be regarded as a usufructuary mortgage but an anomalous mortgage.(6)

(A) Delivery of possession.

Chief requirement of a pure usufructuary mortgage is delivery of possession to the mortgagee and the mortgage money including interest to be realised out of the usufruct of the property and the mortgagee has no other remedy except enjoyment of the property (7).

The word "delivers" does not necessarily mean delivers immediately. Where the mortgagor is not in a position to give immediate possession, it is sufficient if he gives the right to possession.(8) In Maina Bibi v Chaudhri Wakil Ahmad(9) their Lordships of the Privy Council observed :

"The difference between a usufructuary mortgage and an ordinary mortgage is not so much a difference in the kind of security created as in the method of enjoying it. In each case, the property of the mortgagor is pledged to secure the debt, and when the amount secured is paid, the property pledged must be returned to the owner. The main difference between a usufructuary mortgage and an ordinary mortgage is that in the former it is part of the initial agreement by which the security is created that the mortgagee shall at once go into possession of the mortgaged property and apply the proceeds he may derive from the use and occupation of it to discharge the mortgaged debt, while in the case of an ordinary mortgage of the usual sort, it is, in general, not the initial intention of the parties that the mortgagee should go into possession of the property pledged immediately or at all — although he is empowered to do so if the interest on the mortgage money be not paid."

It follows that a mortgage will be a usufructuary one where the initial agreement is that the mortgagee shall at once go into possession and apply the rents and profits towards the interest or the principal or both. It is not a usufructuary mortgage where there is no such agreement.(10) Thus, where a simple mortgage was executed in 1898 and subsequently in 1904 the same property was leased to the mortgagee with a direction to apply the rent towards the interest due under the mort-

3. 1995 Pat 69 (72) (Where the recital in alleged mortgage deed not strictly fitting in definition of usufructuary mortgage, benefit of S. 12 of Bihar Money-Lenders Act), cannot be denied to mortgagor.)  (1989) 1 BLJ 338 (347) : (1989) 1 BLJR 214 (FB). (The definition of 'usufructuary mortgage' in S. 58(d) of Transfer of Property Act is not applicable in strictitude to S. 12 of Bihar Money-Lenders Act.)

4. AIR 1958 Mys 20 (21) : ILR (1957) Mys 100

5. AIR 1994 Ker 371 (376) : 1994 (2) Ker LJ 88 (FB).

6. AIR 1994 Ker 371 (376) : 1994 (2) Ker LJ 88 (FB).

7. AIR 1973 Raj 173 (183, 184) : 1972 Raj LW 310 (FB). (If mortgagee is entitled to recover any part of the mortgaged money it will amount to an anomalous mortgage.)

8. (1912) 16 Oudh Cas 56 (60, 61).

[See also (1911) 10 Ind Cas 190 (192) (Oudh) (Mortgagor who is not in possession can make a mortgage with possession.)]

9. AIR 1925 PC 63 (65) : 47 All 250 : 52 Ind App 145.

10. AIR 1963 Raj 100 (103) : ILR (1963) 13 Raj 54 (Document evidencing transaction of loan — Stipulation to repay loan with interest within certain period — Mortgagee entitled to enter into possession of property given as security on default — Mortgage is a simple mortgage and not a usufructuary mortgage)  AIR 1961 Punj 477 (480)  AIR 1958 Mys 20 (21) : ILR (1957) Mys 100  AIR 1936 Pat 211 (216) : 14 Pat 560 (DB)  AIR 1930 All 175 (176) (Mortgagee was to enter into possession on failure of repayment by the gage, it was held that the mortgage did not get converted into a usufructuary mortgage (11) Nor will the mere fact that possession was given to the mortgagee over the mortgaged property necessarily show that the mortgage was a usufructuary one (12) Where while lessee is in possession of part of the property, the lessor sells the entire property and the purchaser mortgages the whole property with the lessee the transaction which is a simple mortgage is not converted into a usufructuary mortgage. (13) So also where two documents are executed on same day one a simple mortgage under which amount is to be paid within three years and the other a lease for five years in favour of a member of the mortgagee's family the transaction is not a usufructuary mortgage (14) A mortgage purporting to be a usufructuary mortgage does not cease to be so by reason of the fact that instead of actually taking possession on the date of the mortgage the mortgagee leases it back to the mortgagor for the period of the mortgage (15) It does not become a simple mortgage on that ac-stipulated date, an event which may or may not have happened — No initial agreement to deliver possession — Mortgage held simple and not usufructuary)  (1879) 2 All 527 (533) (DB)

[See also AIR 1968 Pat 222 (225) ILR 46 Pat 1202 (DB)  ILR (1956) Trav Co 130 (113) (DB) (In a case where there is a simple mortgage deed when a party claims that the mortgaged properties were handed over as per an oral agreement with the direction that the income was to be adjusted towards interest, the burden is heavily on him to prove the same)  AIR 1956 Tripura 6 (8) (A registered deed of simple mortgage in its inception cannot be converted into a usufructuary mortgage by subsequent oral agreement altering the mode of payment of interest and by delivering possession to the mortgagee)

11. AIR 1916 Mad 974 (974)

[See also AIR 1961 Assam 70 (73) ILR (1961) 13 Assam 101 (DB) (Lessee executing simple mortgage on his interest — Subsequent possession given to mortgagee under a separate agreement does not make the mortgage a usufructuary mortgage)  AIR 1958 Mys 20 (21) ILR (1957) Mys 100 (Mortgage in favour of lessees — Mortgagee retaining possession after termination of lease — No induction in document to show that possession had in fact been delivered or promised to be delivered — Mere provision in deed that rent payable by mortgagee is to be adjusted towards interest payable to him does not make it a usufructuary mortgage)  AIR 1956 All 150 (150) (Loan of Rs. 500) on foot of promissory note — Subsequent oral agreement under which creditor entered into possession of debtor's fields till liquidation of debt — Transaction is not mortgage)]

12. ILR (1956) Cut 650 (662) (DB) (Possession given but no provision for appropriation of rents and profits — Deed held not usufructuary mortgage)  ILR (1953) Patiala 570 (576, 577) (DB)  AIR 1944 All 198 (199) : ILR (1944) All 588.

13. AIR 1972 Delhi 146 (147) : ILR (1972) 1 Delhi 755 (FB).

14. 1967 All LJ 996 (998)

15. AIR 1976 Guj 50 (56) 20 Guj LR 36 (DB)  AIR 1966 Guj 59 (61) ILR (1965) Guj 378  AIR 1964 All 370 (371) (Usufructuary mortgage of a house — Mortgagor continuing to reside in it under a rent note executed simultaneously is a tenant and as such liable to pay rent — Agreement of tenancy is independent of mortgage transaction — Money paid by mortgagor is not interest on loan but rent)  AIR 1964 Madh Pra 129 (132) (DB)  AIR 1963 MP 265 (269, 270) (DB)  AIR 1961 J & K 85 (87, 88) (DB)  AIR 1959 J & K 103 (105) (Though mortgage with possession and lease back forms part of same transaction the mortgage cannot be treated as a simple mortgage)  AIR 1957 Ker 109 (112)  1956 BLJR 125 (126) (Usufructuary mortgage and lease back — Rent payable held represented interest on mortgage money — Relationship of landlord and tenant not created)  AIR 1951 Trav-Co 154 (154) (DB)  AIR 1944 All 221 (222) ILR (1944) All 346 (DB). (Usufructuary mortgage — Mortgagor executing quabuliyat of even date and continuing possession — No lease deed executed by mortgagee — Mortgagee held entitled to decree count.(16) In such a case a suit by mortgagee on the rent note and recovery for possession is for compensation for use and occupation.)  AIR 1940 Mad 946 (948, 949) (DB)  AIR 1931 Lah 498 (499) (DB) (Mortgagors allowed to be in cultivating possession)  AIR 1927 All 552 (553, 555) 49 All 658 (DB)  (1898) 20 All 401 (407) (DB)  (1897) 19 All 496 (498) (DB)

[See also AIR 1967 Mys 41 (43) (DB) (Circumstances when reveal that in leasing back property mortgagee intended no more than to resort to a device to secure payment of interest by mortgagor on mortgage money, lease is not separate transaction but forms part of mortgage transaction.)  AIR 1963 Raj 69 (72) ILR (1962) 12 Raj 947 (Mortgage of house with possession — Mortgagor executing quabuliyat on same date — Rent stipulated equal to monthly interest on mortgage money — Transactions held were independent — Suit for arrears of rent and eviction on basis of rent note — Held, maintainable AIR 1955 Pat 357, AIR 1960 Pat 106 and AIR 1961 Pat 133, Dissented from.)  AIR 1961 Pat 133 (134) (DB) (Usufructuary mortgage and lease back on monthly rent by executing unregistered kiryanama by mortgagor — Documents of same date — No stipulation as to rate of interest in mortgage deed — Mortgage deed and the kiryanama are two different transactions — Suit for arrears of rent on basis of kiryanama — Maintainable)  AIR 1959 Ker 155 (156) ILR (1959) Ker 11 (DB) (When a usufructuary mortgage is accompanied by a lease back and they form distinct transactions, the mortgagor is entitled to redeem on payment of the principal mortgage amount alone, leaving the mortgagee to seek other remedies for the rent, if any, due to him under the lease AIR 1952 Trav-Co 92, Folt)  AIR 1958 Madh Pra 319 (320) (Usufructuary mortgage — Lease back to mortgagor — Without prejudice to relationship of mortgagor and mortgagee a new relationship of landlord and tenant is also created — Suit for rent is maintainable AIR 1957 Pat 24, Commented upon)  AIR 1958 Punj 140 (141) ILR (1958) Punj 427 (Mortgage with possession and lease back to mortgagor — Relation of landlord and tenant is created although mortgagee intends to secure an income equal to interest at certain rate — AIR 1955 Pat 857, Dissented from.)  AIR 1957 Pat 24 (27), (Overruled on another point in AIR 1971 SC 310)  AIR 1957 Punj 57 (58) ILR (1957) Punj 331 (Relation of landlord and tenant comes into existence.)  AIR 1955 Pat 357 (359) (DB) Held no longer good law in view of AIR 1971 SC 310 as stated in AIR 1976 Pat 212)  (1907) 4 Low Bur Rul 222 (224) (Case before T P Act was extended to Burma)  AIR 1930 Lah 386 (387) (DB) (The mortgagor cannot say that no relationship of landlord and tenant existed and the mortgage was not really usufructuary)]

[See however AIR 1968 Pat 222 (225) ILR 46 Pat 1202 (DB) (But where the lease and mortgage are parts of the same transaction and intention of the parties to the transaction is that the mortgagee should not get possession of the mortgaged properties but would only get interest on the amounts advanced by him at the stipulated rate every month and the document and the deed of lease back are nothing but merely devices to ensure regular payment of the interest the transaction cannot be held to be a usufructuary mortgage)]

16. AIR 1966 Guj 59 (61) ILR (1965) Guj 378  AIR 1964 Madh Pra 129 (132) (DB)  AIR 1961 J & K 85 (87, 88) (DB)  AIR 1959 J & K 103 (105), (Mortgage entitling mortgagee to have possession and enjoy property himself or to lease it out — Lease back of property to mortgagor — Even if both mortgage and lease back form part of same transaction it cannot be treated as a simple mortgage and hence mortgagee has no right to possession)  AIR 1959 Ker 112 (116) (DB), (Rent accrued is not interest which automatically becomes charge on property to be paid as part of mortgage money 20 All 401, Dissented from.)  AIR 1957 Ker 109 (112)  AIR 1956 Mad 434 (441) ILR (1956) Mad 983 (DB)  AIR 1953 Trav-Co 63 (64) ILR (1952) Trav-Co 696 (DB)  AIR 1935 Mad 813 (814), (Mortgagor in such case is merely a lessee)  AIR 1948 All 312 (314) ILR (1948) All 269 (DB) (Claim for rent reserved under lease is not claim for interest due on mortgage — (Per Malik, J.)  AIR 1944 All 221 (222) ILR (1944) All 346 (DB)  AIR 1940 Mad 946 (948, 949) (DB) (Though the mortgage and the lease back can and must in a case of this kind be taken to form part of the same transaction, effect must be given to each according to its terms and the Court cannot, by reading the two together spell out a transaction, totally different in character and incidents.)  AIR 1943 Mad 220 (221) (Do)

maintainable.(17) But where the mortgagee leases back the property on the same date to the mortgagor allowing him to remain in possession in lieu of rent the mortgagee cannot sue for possession if rent is in arrears, but his remedy is to sue for mortgage dues (18) Oral evidence is not admissible to show that the document was intended only to a simple mortgage as it will be contradicting the terms of the written document (19) Similarly, a mortgage does not cease to be a usufructuary mortgage by reason of the fact that actual physical possession is not delivered. It is sufficient if the mortgagor delivers such possession as the nature of the property is capable of (20) He may, instead of giving actual possession, direct the tenants of the mortgaged property to pay rent to the mortgagee.(21) Where a usufructuary mortgage is of a share of a common holding, the mortgagee is entitled to joint possession (22) Where the mortgagee is already in possession of the mortgaged property, it is not necessary that possession should actually be delivered at the time of creation of additional possessory mortgages on the same property in favour of the same mortgagee (23)

If the lessee becomes the mortgagee of the property under usufructuary mortgage the tenancy rights are suspended during subsistence of the mortgage unless tenancy is surrendered.(24)

The lessee's interest is inferior to that of usufructuary mortgage. Therefore, on lessee becoming mortgagee in possession, his interest as lessee merges in the superior interest of the possessing mortgagee. In the absence of contract to the contrary there will be an implied surrender of the lease hold right.(25)

It is however observed by Madras High Court(26) that though in law there is no merger when a tenant becomes mortgagee in possession whether there was implied surrender of tenant's rights when the usufructuary mortgage was executed in his favour, would largely depend upon what was the intention of parties at the time of execution of mortgage deed and the actual terms and condi-

[See AIR 1952 Trav-Co 92 (95) (DB) (Usufructuary mortgage and lease back to mortgagor held did not form part of same transaction — Recital in mortgage deed and lease deed that amount of rent represented interest on mortgage money — Mortgagee held could not rely on this recital, treat transaction as simple mortgage)]

[But see AIR 1952 TC 391 (393) (DB) (Mortgage with possession and lease back — Amount of rent was towards interest due — This held indicated that parties intended mortgage and lease to form a simple hypothecation and not as distinct and separate transaction — Case under S. 3 of Travancore Debt Relief Act (2 of 1116) similar to S. 58(d) of T.P. Act.)]

17. AIR 1979 All 8 (12) (1979) 1 Ren CR 114  AIR 1976 Pat 212 1976 BLJR 139

18. AIR 1972 Pat 295 : 1972 BLJR 871.

19. AIR 1933 PC 178 (180) : 60 IndApp 273  AIR 1937 All 478 (479) (DB) (AIR 1933 PC 178, Foll.)

20. ILR (1967) Andh Pra 1341 (1346)  AIR 1933 Oudh 35 (36) 8 Luck 190 (DB)

21. AIR 1943 Sind 59 (61) ILR (1942) Kant 452 (DB) (Mortgage of zamindar land — Direction by mortgagor to cultivators to give zamindari share to mortgagee is giving of possession)  AIR 1932 Mad 768 (769) (DB)  AIR 1915 Mad 382 (383) (DB) (Diggu Bhoghiam.)

[See also AIR 1928 Oudh 405 (405) (Where rent is increased by the mortgagor as lambardar, the mortgagee will be entitled to it.)]

22. (1936) 38 Pun LR 566 567).

23. AIR 1961 Guj 129 (130)

24. AIR 1977 NOC 119 : 1976 All WC 404.

25. (1990) 1 Kant LC 90 (93)  ILR (1987) Kant 3867 (3872)

26. (1988) 1 Rent LR 651 (655) (DB) (Mad).

tions of the mortgage transaction. Thus, where from the recitals of the deed, it was clear that the possession was handed over pursuant to the deed and the mortgagee could enjoy the property in the manner as he liked, and it was also provided that on payment of mortgage money the mortgagee would hand over the possession to the mortgagor, it was clear that the relationship of mortgagor and mortgagee had been created by putting an end to the relationship of landlord and tenant in the absence of positive recitals to continue the relationship of landlord and tenant (27) Tenanted premises if is mortgaged by landlord by way of usufructuary mortgage the usufructuary mortgagee thereunder would be entitled to receive rents and profits accruing from such property in his own right and on his own account. Therefore the expression 'landlord' is S. 13(1) of Bombay Rents, Hotel and Lodging House Rates Control Act, 1947, includes an usufructuary mortgagee.(28)

See also the undermentioned case, (29) to the same effect

The words "or expressly or by implication binds himself to delivery possession" were inserted in the section by the amending Act of 1929 in order to negative the view that in the absence of actual delivery of possession, the mortgage was not a usufructuary one (30)

A usufructuary mortgagee is entitled in fact to the exclusive possession of the property mortgaged and has the right to exclude others, including the owner, from its possession.(31)

A usufructuary mortgagee cannot deny title of his mortgagor, nor can he set up adverse possession unless he actually leaves the holding and re-enters under a different status.(32) If he does not get possession, he may sue for possession(33) or for damages for breach of the contract to give possession.(34) or for recovery of the mortgage money under S. 68(d) (35)

27. 2001 (3) Mad LJ 183 (187).

28. AIR 1993 SC 1712 (1717) : 1993 AIR SCW 1599 : (1993) 3 SCR 351. (AIR 1973 Guj 131 (FB) No good law in view of AIR 1979 SC 1745.)

29. AIR 1988 Kant 285 (293) : (1988) 2 Kant LJ 8 (FB). (Usufructuary mortgagee cannot be equated with agent or guardian or a receiver. He is a 'landlord' within meaning of Rent Control Act and is entitled to claim possession of premises for personal occupation — AIR 1981 Kant 190. Overruled.)

30. AIR 1952 Mad 856 (858)  AIR 1950 Ajmer 59 (60)  AIR 1942 Oudh 172 (174) 17 Luck 362 (Under the present definition it is sufficient if he binds himself to deliver possession.)

31. AIR 1938 All 577 (584) : ILR (1938) All 904 (SB). (The rights of usufructuary mortgagee are immovable property.)

[See also (1910) 8 Ind Cas 130 (131) (DB) (Usufructuary mortgagee obtaining merely a decree for sale does not lose his right to possession until sale)]

32. 2000 (1) Mad LW 425 (436).

33. AIR 1953 Hyd 231 (232) ILR (1953) Hyd 331 (DB)  AIR 1942 Oudh 172 (174) 17 Luck 362  (1881) 4 All 14 (16) (DB).

34. AIR 1964 Mad 201 (202). (Possession not delivered — Mortgagee entitled to interest equated to damages and charge upon mortgaged property for breach of covenant to delivery possession.)  AIR 1953 Hyd 231 (232) : ILR (1953) Hyd 331 (DB)  AIR 1921 Lah 351 (352) (DB)  (1882) 4 All 281 (283) (DB)  (1882) 4 All 245 (247, 248) (DB)

[See also AIR 1945 All 202 (204) : ILR (1945) All 676 (FB). (Breach occurs once and for all at the time when the mortgagee is first entitled to recover possession)]

35. AIR 1919 Mad 1164 (1165) : ILR 41 Mad 259 (FB)  AIR 1968 Pat 222 (230, 231) ILR 46 Pat 1202 (DB)  AIR 1961 Punj 477 (480) (Usufructuary mortgage — Possession taken back by mortgagor — Mortgagee entitled to sue for money)  AIR 1958 Mys 32 (33) . ILR (1957) Mys 125  AIR 1957 Raj 120 (121) . ILR (1956) 6 Raj 1070 (DB)  AIR 1956 Raj 312 (314) (DB)  AIR 1953 Hyd 231 (232) ILR (1953) Hyd 331 (DB)  AIR 1952 Mad 856  (1912) 17 Ind Cas 362 (362)

As to whether a mortgagee who does not get possession as stipulated can sue for sale, see Note 17 on S. 68

There cannot be two different usufructuary mortgages on the same land at the same time (36)

A usufructuary mortgagee who is empowered to take possession and appropriate the rents and profits in lieu of his debt is not bound to take possession. He has merely a power to do so and if he chooses to forgo the benefit it would have no effect as between him and the mortgagor to recover his debt. (37) The only effect would be when some subsequent incumbrancer comes in and the usufructuary mortgagee has notice thereof and the latter permits the mortgagor to receive the rents and profits, he exposes himself to the claim of the subsequent incumbrancer (38)

Until delivery of possession, the mortgagor's possession is not ipso facto unlawful (see S 65A, Note 3) Where at the time of a usufructuary mortgage the property is in the possession of a third person the mortgagor is entitled to sue for possession of the property in order to be able to fulfil his obligation under the law of delivering possession of the property to the mortgagee (39) Where after delivery of possession to the mortgagee he is deprived of possession by third person, the right to sue for possession would then be vested in the mortgagee and the mortgagor will not be entitled to sue for possession (40-41) A suit by mortgagor after redemption of mortgage, for possession of portion of mortgaged property wrongly sold by the mortgagee would not be barred by res judicata when the mortgagor was not a party in the earlier suit in which decree in favour of purchaser and against the mortgagee was passed. (42)

The mortgagor must authorise the mortgagee to retain possession until payment of the mortgage-money (43) If mortgagee is authorised to retain possession of the mortgage holding not only till the payment of the mortgage money but till payment of something more such a transaction is not a usufructuary mortgage, if compensation for or value of improvements made by the mortgagee is also payable by the mortgagor (44) Where the mortgagee is authorised to retain possession for a certain period only, the mortgage is not a usufructuary one (45)

So also, stipulation authorising the mortgagee to retain possession not only till the mortgage

36. AIR 1958 Pat 79

37. (1909) 32 Mad 281 (283) (DB)

38. (1841) 2 Moo Ind App 487 (600, 501) (PC)  (1903) 26 Mad 662 (668, 669) (SB).

[See also (1901) 23 All 338 (344) (DB) (Mortgagee leasing the property to mortgagor — Relations of landlord and tenant are created.)]

39. AIR 1939 Mad 887 (888)

40-41. AIR 1939 Mad 887 (888).

[See AIR 1927 All 567 (569) ILR 49 All 820 (DB) (Per Mukerji, J)]

42. 1983 All LJ 1206 (1209).

43. AIR 1963 SC 1041 (1042)  AIR 1955 Pat 505 (509) (DB) (Reversed on another point in AIR 1964 SC 1295)  (1955) 21 Cut LT 459 (461) (DB)  AIR 1954 Trav-Co 7 (9) ILR (1952) Trav-Co 438 (DB) (Under a deed the different branches of the tarwad had to pay particular amounts to A as value of improvements due to him and he was allowed to be in possession of the properties till he was paid those amounts. If the amount payable by each branch was not paid within 4 years the right to recover possession of the property allotted to the share of that branch was to be forfeited and A was to acquire full right to the same — It was held that the deed amounted to a usufructuary mortgage in favour of A)  AIR 1940 Cal 486 (487) ILR (1940) 2 Cal 573 (DB)  AIR 1929 Pat 603 (608) 8 Pat 16 (DB)

44. ILR (1974) 1 Ker 201 : 1974 Ker LT 879 (DB).

45. AIR 1955 Pat 505 (507, 508) (Reversed on another point in AIR 1964 SC 1295)  AIR 1929 Pat 605 (608) : 8 Pat 16 (DB).

money is paid, but for something more than that makes the transaction otherwise than a usufructuary mortgage.(46)

It is possible to have composite mortgage or anomalous mortgage. For example, it may be a mortgage usufructuary by conditional sale. In such a case, the property is put in possession of mortgagee as usufructuary for a fixed period and if the debt is not discharged at the expiry of the period, he can become owner under conditional sale. In such a case, the mortgagee can elect to treat it as usufructuary mortgage.(47)

(B) Appropriation of rents and profits.

The second characteristic of a usufructuary mortgage is that the mortgagor authorises the mortgagee to receive the rents and profits.(48)

(a) in lieu of interest or

(b) in payment of the mortgage-money, or

(c) partly in lieu of interest or

(d) partly in payment of the mortgage money. It is not necessary for the validity of a usufructuary mortgage that some amount should remain outstanding as principal.(49)

Where the rents and profits are not to be taken in lieu of interest or principal but are to be set off against the interest agreed upon and in a case of deficit the mortgagor is to be personally liable therefor, the mortgage is not a usufructuary one (50). Even where in usufructuary mortgage there is a term empowering the mortgagees in case their possession was disturbed to realise the money through sale of other property of the mortgagor the usufructuary character is not changed.(51)

The two classes referred to in items (b) and (d) are self-redeeming. A common instance of this kind of mortgage is the lekha mukhi in the Punjab in which the mortgagor undertakes no personal liability and, while he is competent at any time to claim redemption on payment of the amount, the mortgagee is not entitled to sue for his debt.(52) Where under a deed transferee takes possession of land agreeing to render land fit for cultivation, improve the existing wells, cultivate lands, take all the usufruct for 12 years without premium or rent and redeliver the land after the term it is a self-redeeming mortgage (53). The class referred to in item (a) above is not self-redeeming. The mortgagee is entitled to appropriate the rents and profits in lieu of the interest and is entitled to retain possession until such time as the mortgagor chooses to redeem on payment of the principal sum. This form of mortgage has been in vogue in India for a very long time(54) and is analogous to what

46. ILR (1974) 1 Ker 201 : 1974 Ker LT 879 (DB).

47. (1991) 3 Bom CR 105 (108).

48. AIR 1938 All 564 (566) : ILR (1938) All 781 (DB).

49. AIR 1950 Ajmer 59 (60).

50. AIR 1952 Trav-Co 391 (392) (Case under S. 3 of Travancore Debt Relief Act (2 of 1116)  AIR 1923 Mad 71 (71, 72) (DB).

51. 1969 All LJ 1049 (1025) (DB).

52. AIR 1940 Lah 401 (404) : ILR (1944) Lah 71 (FB). (The mortgagee is bound to keep accounts of the produce and, as such as principal and interest have been paid up therefrom, to surrender the property to mortgagor)  AIR 1931 Lah 498 (499) (DB)  AIR 1919 Lah 20 (21) : 1 Lah 89  1881 Pun Re No. 90, p. 194 (198) (DB).

Also see Note 37-A

53. (1979) 2 Kant LJ 282 : ILR (1979) 2 Kant 1897 (DB).

54. AIR 1940 Lah 401 (404) : ILR (1941) Lah 71 (FB)  AIR 1925 Pat 288 (289) (DB)  AIR 1917 Pat 14 (14) (DB)  1870 Pun Re No. 15, p. 51 (52) (DB)  1870 Pun Re No. 81, p. 208 (209) (DB)  (1868) 3 Mad HCR 363 (365) (DB)  (1865) 2 Mad HCR 382 (383) (DB).

[See also (1870) 2 NWPHCR 9 (10) (DB).]

is known as a "Welsh mortgage" in England, as to which see the undermentioned cases. (55) The mortgagee in such cases takes the chance of the rents and profits being greater or less than the interest. A mortgaged to B 12 villages of which he gave possession and stated in the mortgage deed . "until I pay the amount Rs. 5,600 on account of principal, the mortgagee shall continue in possession and occupation". Their Lordships of the Privy Council said "under such a mortgage the mortgagee takes his chance of the rents and profits being greater or less than the interest which might have been reserved by the bond, and the mortgagor is entitled to redeem on re-payment of the mortgage-money" (56) Where the mortgagee is put in possession of the mortgaged property in lieu of interest and it has not been found that he has ever been dispossessed, he is not entitled to any interest but is entitled to the principal only (57) Where the mortgage is security only for the principal and the mortgagee is to have the profits in lieu of interest which is not payable otherwise, the mortgagee is not entitled to interest if he fails to take possession from the mortgagor (58)

The fact that the document does not make any express provision for the appropriation of the usufruct for interest or principal does not make it any the less a usufructuary mortgage, if the necessary inference from the terms of the document is that it is to be appropriated to the one or the other (59) Where there is no stipulation to pay interest but possession is given, it must be taken as an implied part of the mortgage contract that the usufruct must be taken in lieu of interest (60) Even if the mortgage deed does not stipulate for payment of interest by the mortgagor as the mortgage was usufructuary mortgage and as the mortgagee was not placed into possession of the mortgaged property, the mortgagor is liable to pay mortgage debt together with damages @ 12% (61)

The document in instant case is styled as a usufructuary mortgage. Possession was surrendered to mortgage against loan of Rs. 25/- The term of mortgage was only one year. The mortgage was to take yield from the land and adjust it towards interest, held that the transaction was a mortgage liable to be redeemed and not a lease (62)

See also the undermentioned case (63)

55. AIR 1921 Mad 183 (192) 44 Mad 301 (DB)  (1889) 12 Mad 109 (112) (DB)  (1749-50) 27 ER 1106 (1109) 1 Ves Sen 402 Longuet v. Seawen  (1687) 23 ER 602 (602) 1 Vern 476, Fulthorpe v. Foster  (1745) 26 ER 962 (963) 3 Atk 278 Lawless v. Hooper. In Welsh mortgages there is no covenant to repay the money.  (1832) 34 RR 301 (302) Younge 610 : 2 LJ (NS) Ex Eq 17, Teulon v. Curtis.

56. (1902) 24 All 521 (531) : 29 Ind App 148 (PC).

57. AIR 1926 Cal 1239 (1239) (DB).

58. AIR 1921 Bom 28 (29) 45 Bom 523 (DB) (17 Bom 425 Foll)  (1892) 17 Bom 425 (428) (DB).

Also see S. 60 Note 10 and S. 68, Note 6

59. AIR 1921 Mad 12 (16, 17) : 43 Mad 589 (FB).

[See also 1954 Andh LT (Civil) 35 (40) (Held, that though the deed of usufructuary mortgage did not say whether the usufruct should be appropriated towards principal or interest, the recital therein clearly indicated that the intention of the parties was that it should be appropriated only towards the principal.)]

[See however (1949) 53 Cal WN 96 (98) (Assam) (In the absence of a plain expression that the rents and profits of the land were to be appropriated towards interest, the intention of the parties that they were to be so appropriated could not be taken into account.)]

60. AIR 1973 Mad 242 (244) 85 Mad LW 543  (1904) 6 Bom LR 630 (632) (DB)

61. 1996 (2) Andh LD 910 (912).

62. AIR 2001 Ker 210 (220) : 2001 (2) Ren CR 115.

63. 1968 Ker LT 449 (It is not correct to equate the holder of a life estate to a possessory

Where the mortgagor was given a choice of suing for mortgage money as also for any other monetary claim arising out of accounting made under the terms of deed, it renders the mortgage non-usufructuary. (64)

The words "or any part of such rents and profits" were added in 1929 so as to cover cases where the mortgagee retains part of the rents and profits in discharge of the debt, and pays the balance to the mortgagor. Such cases were regarded before the amendment as anomalous mortgages. (65)

(C) Absence of personal liability.

There is no personal liability on the part of the mortgagor to repay the mortgage-money to the mortgagee, in a usufructuary mortgage (66). Consequently, the mortgagee cannot sue the mortgagor personally for the recovery of the debt (67). It has been held in some cases that on this ground mortgagee. A possessory mortgagee is bound in law to account to the mortgagor for the loss sustained during the period he was in possession. Whereas life estate holders who are themselves donors have reserved to themselves the right of enjoyment of the property they are not accountable for the profit appropriated by them.  1954 Andh LT (Civil) 35. (It was held that though the deed of usufructuary mortgage did not say whether the usufruct should be appropriated towards principal or interest, the recital therein clearly indicated that the intention of parties was that it should be appropriated only towards principal.)

64. 1982 Pat LJR 446 (449) (DB).

65. AIR 1952 Punj 181 (183)  1931 Mad WN 595 (599).

66. 1982 Pat LJR 446 (449)  AIR 1963 Guj 280 (282)  AIR 1959 MP 178 (179)  AIR 1957 Pat 575 (578) ILR 36 Pat 323 (DB) (Overruled on another point in AIR 1958 Pat 630 (FB)  AIR 1956 Pat 312 (313) (DB)  AIR 1952 Kutch 65 (66)  AIR 1945 Lah 282 (284) (DB)  AIR 1939 Lah 235 (236) (DB)  AIR 1936 Pesh 48 (51) (DB)  AIR 1914 Mad 317 (318) (DB)  (1903) 5 Bom LR 119 (121) (DB) (Personal covenant by mortgagor to pay principal and interest — Mortgage not usufructuary)  AIR 1928 Lah 355 (356) (DB)  AIR 1915 Cal 376 (377) (DB) (Where a mortgage deed provided — "When I or my heirs shall pay Rs. 250, the amount covered by this deed, on 30th Magh of 1311 F.S. or of any other year after the expiration of the deed, . . . I shall take back this deed and enter upon possession" — Held, that there was no covenant to pay the money and the mortgagee could not give up possession and sue for the sale of the property)  (1901) 3 Bom LR 156 (157) (DB)

[See also AIR 1952 Assam 19 (21) ILR (1950) 2 Assam 444  AIR 1950 Assam 18 (20) : ILR (1949) 1 Assam 167 (DB) (Mortgage with possession containing stipulation for repayment within specified time — It is not out and and out usufructuary mortgage but anomalous mortgage.)

67. AIR 1968 Assam 10 (11)  (1956)-1 Mad LJ 385 (387) (In this case, however, longer period was fixed by vendee in order to enable vendor to repurchase property if possible after making up the funds)  AIR 1945 Lah 282 (284) (DB)  AIR 1938 All 564 (566) ILR (1938) All 781 (DB)  (1900) 2 Bom LR 201 (202) (DB) (If mortgagee has failed to obtain possession he can obtain a personal decree)  (1875) 24 Suth WR 426 (426) (DB) (Where by the terms of a zuripeshgee lease deed, the only lien which plaintiff has acquired over the property is to retain possession as lessee until the money lent is paid off, he has no right to bring a suit for the recovery of the money by the sale of property)  (1870) 14 Suth WR 29 (30) (DB)  (1866) 6 Suth WR 283 (284) (DB) (There may be a contract to the contrary between mortgagor and mortgagee and in such case mortgagor can be sued personally)

[See also (1870) 13 Suth WR 445 (446) (DB) (Where a lease gave the lessee the right to continue in possession of the land until the money which was due to him was liquidated, the relation between the parties is not that of mere lessee and lessor, but that of mortgagee and mortgagor, but the lessee is not entitled to have the property sold.)  (1873) 21 Suth WR there is no 'debt' at all in such a case (68) It is submitted that this view is not correct (69) It cannot, however, be attached as a 'debt' under O. 21, R. 46 of the Code of Civil Procedure as the terms of that rule, which provides for attachment by prohibition the debtor from making payment and the creditor from recovering the debt, are obviously inapplicable to a case where no payment by the mortgagor is contemplated at all (70) the proper procedure would be to attach it under O. 21, R. 54 as immovable property. (71) There is a difference of opinion as to whether the existence of a covenant to pay prevents a mortgage from being a usufructuary mortgage. One view is that the existence of a mere covenant to pay unaccompanied by a hypothecation of property (i.e. by a grant of the power of sale) does not change the character of what would otherwise be a usufructuary mortgage, (72) so as to enable the mortgagee to sue for sale (73) A contrary view namely that such a covenant renders the mortgage an anomalous one has been held in the undermentioned cases (74)

37 (38) (DB) (Zuripeshgee lease)  (1887) 11 Bom 475 (478) (DB) (Mortgage land sold by revenue authorities for arrears of Government assessment due upon other land of mortgagor — Mortgagee can recover debt from mortgagor personally.)

Also see Note 41.

68. AIR 1940 Lah 401 (405) : ILR (1941) Lah 74 (FB)  AIR 1945 Lah 282, 284 (DB)

[See also AIR 1941 Oudh 479 (481) 16 Luck 789 (DB) (Case of mortgage by conditional sale AIR 1940 Lah 401 (FB) Applied. NOTE — There is no covenant to pay in a mortgage by conditional sale — See Note 31.)]

69. See AIR 1960 Pat 196 (198) (DB)  (1949) 53 Cal WN (1 DR) 62 (64, 65)  (1949) 53 Cal WN (1 DR) 15 (17)  AIR 1938 All 564 (566) ILR (1938) All 781 (DB)

70. AIR 1960 Pat 196 (198) (DB)  AIR 1928 Mad 648, 650, 651 (1) (usufructuary mortgage — Held, on construction of the deed of mortgage, that there was no covenant to pay mortgage amount — No debt.  AIR 1916 Mad 434 (435, 436) 39 Mad 180 (DB) (Usufructuary mortgage containing also a covenant to pay — Held, debt could be attached under O. 21, R. 46.)  (1911) 35 Bom 288 (292) (DB)

See the A. I. R. Commentaries on the Code of Civil Procedure, 10th, 1985, Edn. O. 21, R. 46, Note 4

71. AIR 1960 Pat 196 (198) (DB)  (1911) 35 Bom 288 (292, 293) (DB)  (1962) 1 Mad LJ 397 (398)

72. AIR 1938 All 418 (421) : ILR (1938) All 714 (SB)  (1989) 1 BLJ 338 (343) : (1989) 1 BLJ 214 (FB). (Mere insertion of a term of personal covenant to pay the mortgage amount in an otherwise usufructuary mortgage deed would not convert it into anomalous mortgage)  (1955) 21 Cut LT 459 (461) (DB) (Stipulation that if loan be not paid on the date fixed mortgagee to continue in possession and enjoy the lands till mortgagor pays off the amount — Mortgage held usufructuary)  AIR 1951 Trav Co 154 (155) (DB)  AIR 1942 All 326 (327) ILR (1942) All 368 (DB)  AIR 1921 Mad 183 (192) 44 Mad 36, (DB)  (1908) 10 Bom LR 615 (617) (DB)

Also see S. 68, Note 17.

73. AIR 1938 All 418 (420, 421) : ILR (1938) All 714 (FB)  AIR 1942 All 326 (327) ILR (1942) All 368 (DB)  AIR 1933 Lah 151 (151) (DB)  (1908) 10 Bom LR 615 (617) (DB) (28 All 157 Foll)  (1905) 28 All 157 (160) (DB) (Madras view disapproved)

Also see Section 67, Note 15 and S. 68, Note 17

[But see AIR 1932 Lah 164 (167) : 13 Lah 259 (DB).]

74. AIR 1953 Mad 13 (14) ILR (1952) Mad 993 (DB)  1988 TLNJ 207 (213) (DB) (Mad) (No personal covenant in the mortgage deed — Mortgage otherwise usufructuary mortgage cannot be termed as anomalous mortgage)  AIR 1952 Assam 19 (21) ILR (1950) 2 Assam 444 (DB)  AIR 1942 Cal 55 (58) (DB) (12 Mad 109, 14 Mad 232, 26 Mad 662

It has been held that a usufructuary mortgage in which there is a covenant to pay is a "debt" which can be attached under O. 21, R. 46 of the Civil Procedure Code.(75)

A usufructuary mortgage does not create a debt as contemplated by S 7 of the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness Act (1934). Therefore, the mortgagor in such mortgage is not entitled to claim that the rate of interest be confined to maximum of 7½.(76)

(D) Time limit for redemption.

It is not necessary in a usufructuary mortgage to fix any period of redemption. A possessory mortgage providing that the mortgagee is to obtain possession of the property in lieu of a fixed sum with a condition that redemption is to take place whenever the mortgage-money is paid is a good usufructuary mortgage (77). The fixing of such time is not inconsistent with the nature of a usufructuary mortgage (78). In fact S 62 shows that such a term is contemplated. But the fixing of a term is not equivalent to a covenant to pay at the end of the term (79).

Under a deed a person has obtained possession of land from its owner on conditions that he will render the land fit for cultivation, improve existing well, take all the usufruct for a period of 12 years without paying premium or rent to owner and redelivery the land after the stipulated period. Held, that the document could be construed as a self-redeeming mortgage.(80)

Mortgagees whose mortgages are not with possession cannot resist a suit for possession by a purchaser of the equity of redemption.(81)

27 Mad 526, Rel on, 28 All 157, Diss. from.)  AIR 1935 Lah 103 (104) · 16 Lah 612 (DB). ("Usually a personal covenant to pay is held to have the effect of implying a right of sale" — Sale was, however, not asked for in this case.)

[See also AIR 1962 Mad 308 (308) (Usufructuary mortgage proscribing specific period for redemption — Recital to pay principal after expiry of period amounts to personal covenant to pay — Mortgagee can bring suit for sale.)]

75. AIR 1960 Pat 196 (198, 199) (DB)  AIR 1942 Pesh 66 (68)  AIR 1916 Mad 434 (435, 436) : 39 Mad 389 (DB)..

(NOTE — Also see A I R Commentaries on the Civil Procedure Code 10th (1985), Edn., O 21, R. 46, Note 4.)

76. (1978) 2 Rent LR 464 (468) (Punj)

77. AIR 1928 Oudh 1 (5) : 3 Luck 1 (FB), (NOTE — Possession appears to be in lieu of interest.)

78. (1902) 26 Bom 252 (258) (DB)  AIR 1981 Pat 172 (176) 1981 BLJR 361 (DB)  AIR 1940 Cal 436 (438) (DB)  (1955) 21 Cut LT 459 (462) (DB)  AIR 1940 Cal 426 (427) (DB)  AIR 1939 Lah 235 (236) (DB)  AIR 1938 Pat 388 (389) (DB) (Question whether document was lease or usufructuary mortgage — Fact that period was fixed does not preclude conclusion that it was usufructuary mortgage)  AIR 1934 Pat 217 (220) (DB)  AIR 1921 Mad 183 (191, 192) 44 Mad 301 (DB)  AIR 1921 Mad 517 (517) (DB) (No redemption within five years or after 20 years.)  (1908) 32 Bom 569 (571) (DB) (Deed providing that mortgagee was to take possession of lands for 199 years and to apply its profits in liquidation of the debt — Deed described as Valatdan patta — Held, it was a mortgage and not lease and hence could be redeemed.)  (1913) 16 Oudh Cas 56 (62).

[See also AIR 1940 Cal 437 (438) (Mortgagee in possession to enjoy usufruct in lieu of interest — In case mortgage nor redeemed within stipulated period, mortgagee to enjoy usufruct till payment.)  AIR 1933 Mad 672 (672) (DB).]

Also see S 62, Note 8

[But see AIR 1922 Pat 167 (169) : 1 Pat 350 (DB).]

79. AIR 1921 Mad 183 (192) : 44 Mad 301 (DB).

80. (1979) 2 Kant LJ 282 (285) ILR (1979) 2 Kant 1897 (DB), (W. P. 9347 of 1976) (Kant), Reversed.)

81. AIR 1929 PC 288 (289).

The addition of a condition that on default, the transaction should be treated as a sale does not, in an ordinary possessory mortgage, convert it into an anomalous mortgage (82) So also the additional covenants that the mortgagor would pay rent of the mortgaged land, that if, on any occasion the mortgagee had to pay arrears of rent he may recover the same from the mortgagor with interest, that if the mortgagor had already made a transfer or created a charge on the property the mortgagee can realise his amount from other property of the mortgagor, etc., are not sufficient to change the character of the mortgage as a usufructuary one (83) Liability to pay land revenue being a paramount charge on the property a direction in the deed to pay the revenue does not militate against the fullness of the grant as usufructuary mortgage (84) So also a further stipulation giving the mortgagee a right to sue for the mortgage money and sell the mortgage property in case of disclosure of any encumbrance on the property has been held not to change the character of the mortgage. (85) A mortgage is a transfer of an interest in specific immovable property for the purpose of securing the payment of money advanced/to be advanced by way of loan. On the other hand lease is a transfer of right to enjoy a property and is not a transfer of interest in a property (86)

(E) Distinction between usufructuary mortgage and lease.

Landlord mortgaged the house with the tenant and the terms of the mortgage deed in the instant case conclusively shows that there was implied surrender of the tenants rights (87)

In the instant case there was a registered mortgage deed, according to which the possession of the mortgaged shop was given to mortgagee by the plaintiff. The defendant alleged that the mortgage was a sham transaction and in fact he was a tenant of the plaintiff. There was no evidence to create any doubt about genuineness and authenticity of the mortgage deed. The plea of tenancy was found not maintainable and the plaintiff was entitled to redemption of mortgage (88)

82. AIR 1925 Mad 366 (366)  AIR 1985 Madh Pra 1 (3) 1984 MPLJ 518. (Where the terms of mortgage deed stated that the amount secured was to be redeemed within a stipulated period, the provision therein that upon failure to redeem within stipulated time, the mortgage shall be treated as a sale, would not have the effect of converting the mortgage from usufructuary to an anomalous one when possession was delivered to mortgagee and it was clear from the deed that it was usufructuary mortgage.)

[See also 1981 All LJ (NOC) 102. (The mortgage deed authorised mortgagee to retain possession of mortgaged property until payment of mortgage money by a certain date, and until that date the mortgagee was authorised to receive rents and profits accruing from property and appropriate same towards interest on mortgage money. The deed also contained a second condition that if mortgagor did not pay the mortgage amount on due date the deed shall be deemed to be a deed of absolute sale. It was held that such a transaction was extensively a usufructuary mortgage and not a sale.)]

83. AIR 1942 Cal 522 (523) · ILR (1942) 2 Cal 28 (DB). (A covenant to indemnify the usufructuary mortgagee in case of his dispossession does not affect the nature of the mortgage.)  AIR 1940 Cal 281 (282) (DB)  AIR 1940 Cal 436 (437) (DB). (Provision that in case of dispossession, mortgagee was entitled to principal and interest at certain rate, is an indemnity clause and does not alter the nature of mortgage.)  AIR 1940 Cal 426 (428) (FB) (Do)  AIR 1940 Cal 544 (544) (DB). (Provision that in case of dispossession mortgagee could sue for money with interest and in execution sell the mortgaged and other properties — Nature of transaction not changed.)  AIR 1937 Pat 94 (95). (Provision that in case of mortgagee's dispossession principal may be realized in any way and for that purpose the property is mortgaged — Usufructuary nature not altered.)

84. 1967 Ker LT 596 · ILR (1967) 2 Ker 190

85. AIR 1940 Cal 437 (438).

86. ILR (1999) Kant 4634 (4646).

87. AIR 1979 SC 280 (281) : 1997 AIR SCW 27 : 1996 (8) SCC 97.

88. 1999 AIHC 1055 (1057) : 1998 (119) Pun LR 68

A document was styled as a usufructuary mortgage. An amount of Rs. 1000/- was borrowed and a property was handed over as security in the deed. Possession was given to mortgagee. He was to pay Rs. 851 as excess profits. Interest was at 12% p.a. Mortgagee was not entitled to alienate, re-payment if not made within stipulated time, mortgagee could bring the property to sale. He was not given right to make improvements. Held, that the document was a mortgage deed and not a lease of the building. (89)

If a tenant is already in possession and he becomes a mortgagee of that property and if that mortgage is redeemed then, he would re-acquire the status of tenant. Putting an end to the tenancy rights by resorting to the contract that on redemption of mortgage tenancy shall cease, would be in breach of the provisions of Rent Control Laws, such contract cannot be enforced same would be the position vis-a-vis S. 83 of the T. P. Act. Section 83 cannot have overriding effect on Rent Control Act. (90)

On construing the various terms of the document in instant case it was found to be usufructuary mortgage and the provisions of the Kerala Land Reforms Act (1 of 1964) would not be applicable to the transaction. The mortgagor was held entitled to possession of the land on payment of certain sum for the improvements made by the mortgagee. The mortgagor's application under S. 51(2) of the Kerala Agriculturists Debt Relief Act (11 of 1970) was allowed. (91)

Where the deed showed that there was already a building in the property and that property was given as possessory mortgage and the deed also stated that if the amount was not given, it would be treated as charge on that property and also other properties of the mortgagor, and the mortgagee was also made liable for any waste committed in the property, the deed would be mortgage deed and not lease deed. (92)

See also Section 105, Note 67.

36. Zuripeshgi lease.

A zuripeshgi lease is a lease for a premium, usually, however it amounts to a mortgage (1) whether it amounts to a mortgage depends upon the question whether the premium is advanced as a loan and whether the land is intended to be security for such loan (2). If the original premium is not an advance which is re-payable, but is satisfied by the lease, the transaction is only a lease. Again, if there is no idea of giving any security for the loan the transaction would be a lease and not

89. AIR 1994 Ker 141 (148, 149) : (1994) 1 Ker LT 89

90. 1997 (1) MPLJ 412 (414, 419)

91. 1995 Supp (3) SCC 198 (199).

92. AIR 2002 Ker 313 (325) : 2002 (2) Ker LT 589.

Section 58 — Note 36

1. AIR 1933 All 929 (930) (DB) (Zuripeshgi leases have been held to be usufructuary mortgages in ordinary circumstances)  AIR 1924 Pat 580 (581) 3 Pat 465 (DB)  AIR 1921 Nag 161 (162)  (1875) 24 Suth WR 275 (278) (DB) (The Zuripeshgi lease in suit was regarded as a mortgage)  (1869) 6 Beng LR 563n (564n) (DB)  (1868) 3 Agra 146 (146) (DB)  (1867) 2 Agra 122 (122) (DB)  1864 Suth WR Gap No. 260 (261) (DB). (Accounts of collection are to be given by the lessees as mortgagees as required by law.)  (1864) 1 Suth WR 7 (9) (DB).
2. AIR 1959 SC 1303 (1309, 1310) : 38 Pat 702  AIR 1935 Pat 360 (364) (DB)  AIR 1928 Pat 410 (411, 412) 7 Pat 690 (DB)  AIR 1925 Pat 118 (119) 3 Pat 266 (DB)  AIR 1918 Pat 385 (386) (DB) (It is impossible to lay down any general rule as to the effect of a zuripeshgi transaction — Every case must depend upon its own facts)  AIR 1917 Pat 14 (14) (DB)  (1903) 16 CPLR 49 (51)  (1899) 12 CPLR 96 (100)  (1898) 2 Cal WN 758 (759) (DB).

Also see Section 105, Note 67.

a mortgage (3) The test, in other words is whether there is a secured debt and a right of redemption. (4) Once you get a debt with the security of land for its re-payment, it is a mortgage by whatever name it is called. (5) The usual form of a mortgage by zuripeshgi lease is a loan re-payable on the day the lease should expire, and the rent is either wholly the interest or partly interest and partly to be appropriated to the principal, the lessee to continue in possession till the loan should be paid. In Bengal Indigo Co v Roghobir Das, (6) under documents styled zuripeshgi ticc a putowa

3. AIR 1959 SC 1303 (1309, 1310) : 38 Pat 702  (1883) 7 Mad 203 (206) (FB), Reference under Stamp Act  AIR 1939 Pat 265 (266, 267)  AIR 1938 Pat 35 (36, 37) (DB)  AIR 1919 Mad 322 (324) 41 Mad 959 (DB) : Swamibhogam for 20 years executed by A in favour of B reciting that the amount paid by B with interest shall be realized by enjoyment of the Swamibhogam and B should pay A certain sum and paddy every year and should deliver land to A after 20 years. If the sum advanced was paid by A at the end of 8 years B was to give up possession and deed would stand canceled — Transaction Held, mortgage, not lease.)

Also see S. 105, Note 67.

4. AIR 1959 SC 1303 (1309, 1310) : 38 Pat 702  (1954) 33 Pat 955 (959) (DB)  AIR 1947 Pat 78 (80) (DB) (Thika lease — Possession of thikadar neither as security for re-payment of advance nor to continue after expiry of period of thika till re-payment. Transaction held lease and not mortgage. Overruled on another point in AIR 1949 Pat 278 (FB))  AIR 1941 Pat 296 (298) (DB) : (A document which is a kahuniyat with a provision for payment of rent in advance in a lump sum and which provides for the lessee remaining in possession for a fixed period of years in consideration of the advance paid and for payment of a rent at fixed rate after the period fixed. If the lessee wished to remain in the premises after the period can in no sense be described as a mortgage of any sort. It is merely a lease and the lessee is in possession only as a tenant and not as a mortgagee.)  AIR 1938 Pat 35 (36) (DB)  (1882) 6 Bom 674 (680) (DB) : (Zuripeshgi leases are placed on the footing of usufructuary mortgages only when there is a power of redemption redemption reserved to the lessor expressly or by implication.)  AIR 1925 Pat 319 (320) (DB)  AIR 1923 Pat 122 (128) : 2 Pat 217 (DB)

[See also 1950 All LJ 453 (454) : (In the case of a real zuripeshgi lease the lessor is entitled to recover possession after the expiry of the fixed period without payment of anything. In the case of the lease disguised as a mortgage the sum originally borrowed or whatever may be found to be due on accounting must be paid back before the lessee is asked to quit. (1931-12 Lah 161, Rel on)]  AIR 1937 Oudh 146 (148) : 12 Luck 161 : (The difference between a zuripeshgi lease and usufructuary mortgage is that in the latter the mortgagee is authorised to retain possession until the debt is satisfied while under the former the lessee is to retain possession for a definite time only. — Every zuripeshgi lease cannot be regarded as mortgage. — In the present case there was no intention to create relationship of debtor and creditor — No right of redemption was reserved but lessee was to quit without receiving any payment at expiry of the term of lease — Held, that there was no mortgage.)

5. AIR 1959 SC 1302 (1309, 1310) : 38 Pat 702  AIR 1958 SC 941 (943) : 37 Pat 1168  ILR (1954) 33 Pat 955 (959) (DB) : (There could be no complication by the use of words as "zuripeshgi thika" in the deed and in providing for payment of rent to the mortgagor.)  ILR (1949) 1 Cal 487 (494) (DB)  AIR 1941 All 56 (59, 60) : ILR (1941) All 17 (DB)  AIR 1938 Pat 388 (389) (DB)  AIR 1928 Pat 410 (412) : 7 Pat 690 (DB) : (Per Kulwant Sahay J)  AIR 1924 Pat 580 (582) : 3 Pat 465 (DB)  AIR 1919 Mad 322 (324) 41 Mad 959 (DB)  (1881) 3 All 1 (5) (DB)  1936 RD 461 (463) (DB)  (1933) 17 RD 270 (271, 272) (DB)

[See also 1961 Ker LT 970 (971)  (1879) 2 Mad 187 (191) (DB) : (A mortgaging land to B — The agreement was that B was to remain in possession for 8 years — Out of the rent a part was to be appropriated towards interest and part paid to A — Held, that B's possession was as mortgagee and not as tenant.)]

Also see S. 105, Note 67.

6. (1897) 24 Cal 272 (279, 280) : 23 Ind App 158 (PC).

pottahs, the tenants advanced at the commencement, to the lessor, a certain sum of money for the liquidation of debts due to his creditors the tenants being entitled to recover payment by retaining out of the rents payable by them, a yearly instalment of the sum advanced with interest at the rate of 6 annas per mensem.

The leases contained an express obligation by the tenants to quit occupation at their expiry Their Lordships of the Privy Council observed :

"The leases in question were not mere contracts for the cultivation of the land let, but that they were also intended to constitute and did constitute, real and valid security to the tenant for the principal sums which he had advanced, and interest thereon. The tenants possession under them was, in part at least, not that of cultivators only, but that of creditors operating re-payment of the debt due to them, by means of their security."

Illustrations

- (1) Where A received from B Rs. 250 not by way of advance or loan but as a deposit by way of security for the due payment of the rent, and executed in favour of B what was termed as a zuripeshgi, it was held that this was only a lease and not a mortgage(7).
- (2) A received a sum of money from B, and executed a zuripeshgi lease to B reciting that out of the rent, B was to appropriate a certain portion to the liquidation of the debt and to pay the balance of the rent to A. It was held that this was a mortgage(8).
- (3) Where A, an occupancy tenant, granted a zuripeshgi lease to B, by which B was to pay a part of the rent to the zamindar and was to set off the remaining part of the rent towards the money due from A to B, the transaction was held to be only a lease and not a mortgage(9).

See also the undermentioned cases(10).

7. (1869) 12 Suth WR 214 (215) (DB).

8. AIR 1926 Pat 77 (79) (DB)  AIR 1917 Pat 14 (14) (DB)  (1864) 1 Suth WR 52 (53) (DB).

[See also (1864) 1 Suth WR 144 (144) (DB) (In a case of mortgage by zuripeshgee lease, ordinarily a rent is reserved to the mortgagor. If the rent reserved is not paid, as agreed the mortgagor is allowed to debit that rent in his accounts to the mortgagee.)]

9. (1933) 17 RD 526 (528) (DB).

